Dear Carole,

I've just finished a letter to the student outreach committee regarding our activities for this year. As I mentioned earlier, we are contemplating a mailing to students. Sarah Hall said she could do this from the ASC office (printing, stuffing, labeling, posting) at no additional cost other than printing and postage. My question to you regards money.

Printing a one-page letter and putting postage, even bulk rate, could run close to $75, and will go over that if we need to print up new brochures. Do we have the money, any money at all, to devote to this? If so, how much? Another question: if we decide it's best to write the letter over your

Another question: if we decide it's best to write the letter over your signature, do we have your permission to do that? I ask for 2 reasons. It's probable the letter will not be completed prior to your leaving the country. That means you won't be able to see it or sign it. Would we have your permission to sign your name without your even seeing the letter? I can certainly understand if you think that's not something you want to do. We can send the letter out under the committee members names. That might be a better idea as we can include our phone numbers and offer ourselves to students. The committee has not decided what we want to do about this but I did want to give you an opportunity to comment on it.

That's all for now...don't want to keep you because time is short and no doubt you've got lots to do before leaving the country.

Take care, Carole.

Mona

Carole,

I've a question for you about the results from the survey on long range planning for the division. The "Summary of Survey Results" (prepared by Meda, I think) states "With reference to the most popular events and activities, the respondents favored a mentoring committee....(See Table 2 and Figure 2)." As I read the Table the second ranked item is "Establish a committee to monitor the progress of women faculty in criminology and CJ." The 9th ranked item is "Establish a mentoring program especially for younger women and for minority women."

Sue Mahan wants to fold her mentoring committee into the student

Sue Mahan wants to fold her mentoring committee into the student affairs committee and is asking me how we should proceed. As I was preparing a note to my committee and checked back to the survey results I found the above discrepancy. What to do? The monitoring and mentoring activities mentioned are very different. Student affairs is not the place for monitoring; mentoring makes some sense for the committee, although I've no desire to take on that task at this time. SWS (Sociologists for Women in Society) put a great deal of effort into putting mentoring partners together; it's more time and effort than I have in the present and several-year future. I'm going to share all of this with Sue but also wanted to mention it to you.

This suggests the question: Have you notice the discrepancy or do you not see it as a discrepancy? Secondly, how should the executive board pursue dealing with the issue of monitoring? It's something we might need to begin thinking about (if you see the discrepancy).

that's it for now.....sorry I'm so long-winded in my notes to you....I want to get everything said...need to learn to be more concise (geez, there's so learn).

take care of yourself Carole, your absolutely right...monitoring and not mentoring is the priority. Mentoring is a distant 8th or something as I recall. Meda and I did not think to much should be done on mentoring....and felt the student outreach committee basically did what was needed. Sue Maham was going to (before the survey) take on a bigger project....she never did. If something more can be part of the Student outreach committee that she wants to add that's fine...but there's no mandate that I can see for more. As to monitoring the progress of Women...we've been doing that informally and tangentially as part of our LSexual Harrassment efforts.... and in our awards, etc reports. Were also working on that with the NIJ initiative to get more women on the review panels. Survies of where women are go out periodically...perhaps we should do one more consistently. ASC is doing a survey of its membership....RICHARD ROSENFELD, 314) 553-6717 OR FAX (314)553-5415 IS
