Zwareeb

for
Violin, Erhu, Kamancha
(2014)
dur: 5'

This piece has been especially written for the Atlas Ensemble to be workshopped in Amsterdam in August 2014.

Performance Notes

The violin part is mostly written, with the Chinese erhu blending improvisations with notation and Azeri kamancha is predominantly improvised.

All should be interpreted according to the instruments' idiomatic style.

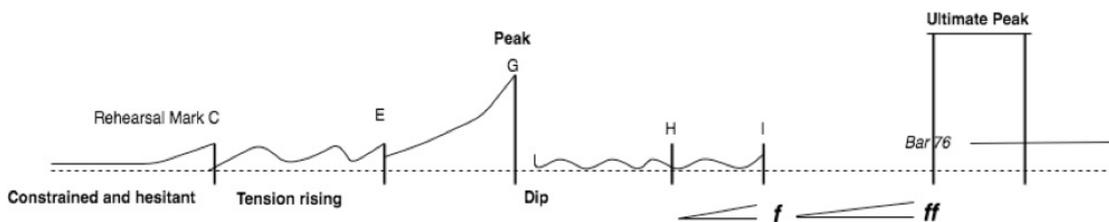

Key:

quarter sharp three-quarter sharp gliss. upto note gliss. into note tremolo gliss. upto highest possible note gliss. trill (slightly sharper)

mf

Form of Zwareeb - where the peaks and troughs reside

Beginning to C - contained and hesitant

C to E - tension rising (C to D cresc. And D to E cresc.)

E to F - Fiery - the ritenuto is a peak. At E, the kamancha is an octave lower.

G dips - it is contained and bubbling underneath.

- After which point, the scurry of D-E-F#-E-D is playing peak-a-boo

- Peak

H gradually cresc. to forte at I

Bar 76 is the ultimate peak.

Program Notes

Zwareeb signifies alleys. In a sense, it is a development of Dramaticule IV's, 2012's Atlas Festival commission, erhu and violin dual.
