Dead Child Worst Case of Bruising I Ever Saw

VANCOUVER (CP) — A verdict of homicide was returned Wednesday by a coroner's jury in-vestigating the death of a 22-month-old child who a month earlier had displayed what a veteran physician called the worst case of bruising he had ever seen.

The jury, looking into the death Nov. 23 of Jason Alfred Loverock in an East End Vancouver apartment, also decided that on the evidence, which was chiefly medical, further investigation of the case is justified.

Nine defence witnesses testified that the mother, Katherine Loverock 18, was a gentle and loving parent and that both her current boyfriend and the child's natural father had treated Jason kindly. But Dr. Kurt Gott-The doctor added t schling of Burnaby, B.C., who delivered Jason and who for 14 years was Miss Loverock's physician, told of examining the child Oct. 18 when he was brought innby his mother

. Why changes in assessment law?

Assessments had become outdated. They had become inequitable in terms of their actual value relationships, Properties having identical market values were assessed at widely differing amounts. This resulted in some owners paying more than their fair share of taxes and others

The new law required production of the 1978 assessment roll based on fixed percentages of actual value for each class of property. This means that the inequities will be removed, and that each class of property will be assessed on the same basis. In all, it provides a fairer way to share the cost of essential local services.

What will happen to taxes?

The assessment roll provides the rate base used by municipalities, school boards and other local governments to raise the funds necessary to provide essential local services.

The costs of these services determine the overall amount required to be raised by local property taxes.

The purpose of the change in assessment law is NOT to raise more taxes but to provide a fairer basis upon which to apportion the costs of essential local services more equitably between property owners.

Since assessments are now directly related to actual value, your assessed values may be higher or lower than in previous years. An increase fairness can be measured by actual value comparisons.

The Assessor's estimate of your property's actual value (market value) is shown on your 1978 Assessment Notice.

The fairness of your assessment may be determined by comparing the Assessor's estimate of actual value of your property to your own estimate of its current market value as well as by comparing it to the current market values of properties of similar worth.

The percentage of actual value at which each class of property will be assessed is:

Residential - 15% (includes apartments, condominiums, mobile homes, etc.).

Business and Other-25% (includes commercial, some industrial).

Industrial, Utilities, Machinery and Equipment, Forestry-30%.

The Assessor and his staff will give you every assistance necessary to properly check your assessment.

What appeal do I have?

Your Assessor is prepared to provide you with a detailed explanation of how your assessment was determined.

If you are dissatisfied with the assessment and wish an independent review, a right of appeal is available to you. The procedure to complain is simple and is fully explained on the reverse of your 1978 Assessment Notice. The deadline for any written appeal is January 20, 1978.

The new assessment method is fully explained in the brochure that will accompany the mailing of your individual Assessment Notices.

It now shows both the actual (market) value and the assessed value on which your 1978 taxes will be based.

week now this newspaper has had a "new" Managing Editor. (You'll find his name above this editorial). Over a period of time, HERALD readers will undoubtedly notice differences in the selection of news, in the "slant" of news, and other indications of personal choice, as no two editors are alike.

Any "emphasis" will be on the publication of as much LOCAL news that space and time will permit. We are hopeful that the amount or percentage of local news will increase until it is at least half the total news content. The remaining half we would like to have divided equally between news andWorld news.

The "new" editor is extremely interested in "issues". Issues that effect the person out of work who finds his unemployment benefits running out with little hope of a job coming up. He ("we") will be interested in the issues facing the local businesses, struggling to survive government red tape, higher taxation and uncertain markets; the issues of the high school and college graduates with no jobs to go to; the perpetual frustrationof the elderly, the hard of hearing (of all ages) the blind, the chronically ill • not "sick" enough for hospital yet almost too handicapped by illness to find work. These are the kidney cases, the diabetics, the heart cases; those with MS and muscular dystrophy - the list is endless.

We shall be interested in the issues of those who do not fit into society - the genius living in a society of ""average" minds; the budding poet everyone looks at as being "queer" but who has beauty in words to offer a beauty-starved world yet for whom the majority has little time for.

Other issues? There are so many the list could sound boring: The "single parent" tied to her maleless home by her children and ready to crack up at the next sound of a screaming infant.

Logging along ...schulbuckhand Creek Less than a mile south of Lakelse Hot Springs, Schulbuckhand Creek (or Skully as it is locally known, crosses Highway 25. At the hiway crossing there is nothing special about the creek, — but as you follow it downstream via an old Fisheries Research Baoard access road, a change seems to take place, — you notice the extreme clarity of the water — every pebble and stick can be seen as though they were in an aquarium. What exaggertes the clearness are the many white rocks and sand on its bottom. One day last summer my family and I had been swimming where Skully Creek empties into Lakelese Lake. On the way back we took a closer look at the screek and realized then what a gem it is. On tht particular day we also saw numerous spawning crimson red sockeye salmon con-trasting aginst its bottom. As well as the at-traction of the creek, we couldn't help but notice and marvel over the very beautiful, almost pristine seeting that surroundedus. In harmony with the creek and its salmon were huge first growth cedars. Logging along ... schulbuckhand Creek

I said to my wife, such a valuable park setting must have some special Park status protecting it must have some special Park status protecting it from human encroachment. Being very cynical of our system and its priorities, she disagreed, saying that with a logging road so close by (logging road crosses hiway arppros. ¼ mile south of creek), it would inveitably be logged. I have just recently learned it is indeed going to be logged. What a loss. Surely my wife and I are not the only one who so the value of the area of the not the only ones who see the value of the area as a Park??

Even with the Provincial camp and picnic sites along Lakelse Lake, the addition of a relatively small lineal Park along Skully Creek would not put an excessive number of acres of crown land into park status, compared to that which is allocated to timber extraction. Once the first growth treeses are gone the opportunity to preserve an almost pristine salmon spawning stream with an undisturbed land base will have disappeared forever in the Terrace area.

park for the KELSE River? On a similar vein — the Northwest Chapter of the Steelhead Society of B.C. is researching the feasibility of establishing a class 'A' Provincial Park along the Lakelse river. The Society believes and justifiably so, that the unique values of this river must be preserved. The Lakelse river is home to the largest populationsof pink and coho salmon in the entire Skeena river system. Pink salmon runs haave exceeded 1,000,000 fish and coho runs, at times number more than 30 000 As coho runs, at times, number more than 30,000. As well thre are excelleant runs of summer and winter steelhead, cuthroat tout, chinook salmon, sockeye salmon, dolly varden , char and whitefish. The river valley boasts a bountiful supply of water fowl and birdlife, mergansers, mallard duck, loons, blue herons, turmpeter swans, eaglgles, to bname a few - black bear, grizzly, wolves, coyotes, foxes, moose, mink, otter and beavers are some of the animals thag freauent the valley. Along with the fish and wildliffe gnarled spruce and cedar that dot the banks of the river. During the summer the river valley is a jungle of greenery almost too dense to walk through in many places. I should mention that the river is alive with insect life, which in turn accounts to a large extent for the abundance of the higer life forms. It is the opinion of the Steelhead Society that the Lakelse river is one of the most productive rivers in B.C. This productivety and the integrity of the river can only be protected if a lineal park is established along both banks of the river from Lakelse Lake to its confluence with theSkeena river.

RĚGINA  $(\mathbf{CP})$ Prime Minister Trudeau has sold provincial premiers on a federalblueprint that could mean massive spending on projects ranging from fish plants to heavy oil refineries in hopes of getting jobless Canadians back to work.

"I sense resolve in all

What emerged from the tour was the germ of a major economic development program that will likely mean greater provincial say in federal spending in return for increased help managing the economy.

Instead, the federal government would take no advantage of its power in those and other fields until he and provincial leaders talked over power-sharing arrangements in the hopes of finding ad-ministrative solutions to constitutional dilemmas.

The round of talks provided Trudeau with his first chance to meet privately with premiers Rene Levesque in Quebec and Sterling Lyon in Manitoba.

Both have been bitterly critical of the Trudeau administration, yet both agreed to go along with the prime minister's economic plan.

Reduction in the Fish and Wildlife Branch Bget

It was announced on Dec.6th that the Fish and Wildlife Branch must return $500,000 of the1977 bu;dget back to the Provincial treasury. It's incredible that the Fish and Wildlife Branch, whic chronically short of staff and money is getting this sort of treatment. Isn't it ironical that there is enough money to build a suuper four lane hiway through the Coquihala Pass from Hope to Merritt, yet there isn't $500,000 in the treasury for the Fish and Wildlife and the protection and managemnt of our fish and wildlife in British Columbia!

The list of priorities are somewhat out of balance, but it is not surprising — the Social Credit Government was never noted for its respect and consideration for fish and wilflife.

The cut in t;he budget is testimony of the liservice paid to this resource by our Privnicial Gov't, since they were elected.

My understanding is that the Branch has been haveing a very difficult time performing its functions prior to thebudget cut. I would guess with this budget cut, conseration Officers will be doing very little if any field work until the end of the fiscal year which is March 31st.

The Mair Report, which has recently been received by the Minister of Recreation and Conservation, recommended that thBranch budget be raised to $20,000,000 over, I believe, the next 4 years. It is now $9,500,000 down from $10,000,000.

Our present Pronvicial Government was elected on the promise of a blanced budget and they are indicating they will live up this promise regardless of the consequences upon the people and resources of B.C.

Surely a modest deficit by our Provincial Government in order that it may meet its responsibilities is more important than a surplus at the end of the year for political gain come election time.

Tips for a safe Christmas

The Christmas season is a very merry time in almost every home, but fire has no respect for Happy occasions. It can strike with fury when least expected.

So be particularly careful with your christmas Tree and other decorations during the festive season.

Here are some safety hints that, if followed, will help ensure a safe holiday for you and your family.

Select a tree that is still green and has not dried out.

Keep the tree outside until you are ready to use

Cut the Bottom of your christmas tree at an angle so that there is a large surface area to allow the tree to absorb more moisture.

Keep your christmass tree in water at all times while it is in your home. This will extend the life of the tree and prevent it from dryi prematurely. drying out Quinn's own life is a dramatic story worthy of filming. He wrote it as The Original Sin, which earned him "a whole lot of money" and has had 18 translations.

STARTED HUMBLY OfMexican-Irish parentige, he cante out of the east Los Angeles barrio, started humbly in films, married Cecil B. DeMille's daughter and won two supporting-actor Oscars (Lust for Life'and Viva Zapata).

"Every fim actor faces a crisis in his late 40s and early 50s," Quinn said. "That's when he can no longer be the rugged leading man and win the girl. If you can't win the girl, they won't pay you as much money. So what can you do?"

"Other people don't handle things properly." But no West German alitities in West Berlin's large foreign-worker troops are allowed in West Berlin and neither population.

Abortions For The Poor A Recurring Congressional Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Congress is ending its debate over government payments for poor women's abortions, but members already are predicting that the issue will come up again.

After more than four months of bitter argument, the House of Representatives and Senate agreed Wednesday on conditions for a b o r t i c through the Medicaid program, which serves mostly poor people. The agreement freed a $60.2-billion ap-government's major social-service agencies of and guaranteed that the 240,000 employees involved will receive full r paycheques before Christmas. Without an agreement on the measure, their cheques would have been cut in half as the agencies ran out of payroll money. The dispute arose in connection with the spending authorization for the departments of labor and health, education and welfare in fiscal year 1978. Ten smaller agencies also depended upon the by legislation for their pr budgets. REPORTS REQUIRED pr The compromise calls fo for abortion payments he

THE BREATH ALCOMOL TESTING MOBILE UNIT.

Right now, a fleet of new police breathalyzer vans is prowling the streets and roads of British Columbia.

These new vans will greatly assist police in the fight against drinking drivers.

They'll be on duty all year 'round. All over B.C. The way the breath alcohol units work is simple. And very effective. Remember that police officers are extremely adept at spotting impaired drivers. There are all sorts of clues. And once a suspected driver is stopped, he or she can now be asked to take a breathalyzer test immediately in a mobile unit.

BREATH ALCOHOL TESTING

If anyone refuses, a criminal charge will result. A blood/alcohol reading over .08% means a driver is legally impaired. Conviction means a criminal record. Three months or more without a driver's licence. A fine of up to $2,000, or even jail. Just for a first offence. Penalties for second offences are even more severe. Sound tough? For drinking drivers, it's going to be tough.

AND HERE'S WHY.

British Columbia has the worst drinking-driving record in Canada. Fifty percent of all drivers killed are legally impaired. Every year, over 300 lives are lost. And many more individuals are disfigured, disabled or crippled. Every year, drinking-driving accidents cost us, the taxpayers of B.C., millions and millions of dollars. Something simply has to be done. And it has to be done by responsible, socially-conscious citizens.

And as many as one out of every 10 is drunk.

What constitutes drunk? In Canada the legal definition of impairment is a blood/alcohol reading of over .08%. That means the proportion of alcohol is over 80 milligrams of alcohol in 100 millilitres of blood. A person's size, weight, emotional state, metabolism and number of drinks consumed over a period of time determine how quickly the legal limit is reached. Bear in mind that a person with a BAC (blood/alcohol content) of .08% will not necessarily feel drunk. Or even giddy. or in some way arrange for the driver not to drink. Consider the cost of a cab or bus fare as a necessary expense for the evening. Remember, it isn't an offence to be an impaired passenger! If you are the host or organizer of a home or office party—plan ahead. Be responsible for getting your guests home safely. If you see a car weaving down the road, fading over the double line or otherwise indicating the driver might be impaired...get to a phone. Call the police.

liquor stabbing

Life for

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — Richard Magiera, 19, of New Westminster was convicted Wednesday of second-degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment.

The British Columbia Supreme Court jury deliberated for 4½ hours before fcnding Magiera guilty of the Feb. 10, 1977, stabbing death of Alex Sol, 76.

Under provisions of the Criminal Code, Magiera will not be eligible to apply for parole for 10 years.

Asked by Mr. Justice J. A. McDonald if he wished to make a statement Magiera said: "I don't think justice was done in this court room today. I am going to appeal it."

The Crown said that Magiera fatally stabbed Sol after being interrupted while stealing a television set from the man's New Westminster home.

ACCUSED TOO DRUNK Defence counsel Jack Harris argued that the jury should find Magiera guilty of manslaughter because on the night of the killing Magiera had been so drunk he was unable to form the intent to commit an illegal act.

Testimony during the trial indicated Magiera had drunk at least two cases of beer and half a bottle of rum the afternoon and evening of Feb. 10.

Feb. 10. Sol was discovered dead from multiple stab wounds in the kitchen of his home about noon Feb. 11.

Testimony from Magiera's sister, from a family friend and from

had had a severe drinking problem since he was 15.

VULCAN MACHINERY& EQUIPMENT LTD. Cowart Road Prince George 564-0101 564-0230 Your sense of social responsibility is one of the first things alcohol affects. Drinking drivers simply don't care. Alcohol is a drug with subtle and varied effects on the mind and body, and is dangerous because so few people actually understand it.

For instance, one drink, combined with some types of medicines, can cause impairment five times greater than just one drink alone.

Alcohol also distorts eye focus by relaxing certain eye muscles. It affects a driver's ability to judge distance, distinguish colour, and to see potential dangers to either side of the car, through a phenomenon known as tunnel vision.

With a drinking driver's sense of responsible action reduced, his vision clouded, and a lethal weapon like a car barely under his control —just how much chance do you, the responsible citizen, have to avoid an accident?

The odds are not on your side. Statistics show that if you're driving between the hours of midnight and 3 a.m., one out of every three drivers that approach you on the road has been drinking. But his vision, reaction time and sense of social responsibility are seriously affected.

And the facts are that drinking drivers simply do not sober up that easily. Black coffee will not help. Nor a cold shower. 95% of the alcohol in the system is eliminated through the liver. And that takes considerable time.

So what can we do? We've got to be more socially responsible. All of us. HERE'S HOW YOU CAN HELP COUNTERATTACK THE DRINKING-DRIVING MENACE.
