

POSSIBLY THE MOST UNIQUE Cenotaph in Canada is the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 13, "monument of remembrance" which now stands on the grounds of Terrace Municipal Building, and was dedicated Sunday, November 6. The Cenotaph is fashioned from materials indigenous to the area—aluminum from the Alcan plant to the south; cedar from Terrace area, that boasts the "world's longest cedar pole," and lava from the Nass River Valley to the north. The Cenotaph is a credit to the community and the fulfilment of a long-cherished ambition of Terrace Legionnaires. See story on page 13. (staff photo)

Girl Gets Gash In Car Mishap

Terrace RCMP are currently investigating a traffic accident which sent one girl to Mills Memorial Hospital and caused minor bruises and abrasions to several other young people on Monday evening.

Linda Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Williams of Terrace, required several stitches to a gash in her forehead after she lunged through the windshield of a small car in which she was a passenger, when it collided with the rear end of a parked car on Cott Avenue. Her condition is reported as good.

The mishap occurred at about 30 Monday evening, in front of Eystone Apartments.

Driver of the vehicle was reported to be Richard A. Glaim of Terrace. Other passengers in the car were Monique Therrien, Roland Therrien, Kenneth Jost and James Reeves.

Three Small Fires During The Week

Terrace Fire Department was called to the home of J. Hamilton, 2808 Molitor, last Wednesday at 11:15 p.m. when fire broke out in some cardboard boxes stored underneath basement steps in the residence.

Damage to the house was light and mostly due to smoke.

On Thursday evening the fire department answered a call to the alley behind the Lazelle Shopping Centre after an unidentified person reported seeing flames.

Fire department officials said today the blaze consumed several empty cartons, believed to have been placed outside for garbage pickup. It is believed that a passer-by may have dropped a lighted cigarette or match into the debris, setting off the fire.

At 3:15 a.m. on November 4th, firemen were called to the home of T. M. Henderson, 4404 Sparks St. to extinguish a chimney blaze.

Bridge In Offing For Exchamsiks

The Department of Highways has announced that plans and site specifications for a new bridge at Exchamsiks have been deposited with the Minister of Transport at Ottawa.

The proposed new bridge will be built approximately 150 feet upstream from the Canadian National Railways bridge, and its estimated cost has not been revealed.

Notice of the bridge proposal has been posted and approval of the site and plan will be sought from the Minister of Transport one month following official publication of intention.

The Exchamsiks River is located about 35 miles west of Terrace on Highway 16. It flows past the geographical point commonly known as "Hole-In-The-Wall" which is also the site of a Government camping and picnic grounds.

Zoning Bylaw Still In Question

A bylaw which would amend zoning bylaw 401, ran into a setback Tuesday night when Municipal Council could not agree over recommendations from the Advisory Planning Commission.

Councillor Norton stated that Municipal Council should follow the advice of the Commission, but other members of Council were not prepared to accept the terms of the amendment without further study.

Municipal Council would prefer to have the placing of terrace or row housing in the community, left to their discretion, but the Advisory Planning Commission recommends that terrace or row housing be left as a specified use in R3 zones, which is the way the bylaw reads at present.

Council will hold further meetings with the Advisory Planning Commission and with the Municipal Building Inspector before giving final sanction to the amendment.

Pollution Control Now Under Control

Terrace's pollution control centre is now operating on a single eight hour shift basis following the ironing out of several kinks in its operation, which at one point were costing the municipality as much as $80.00 per day.

At a recent meeting between Municipal administrator J. Poussette, works superintendent H. Buncombe, assistant superintendent G. Holmes, K. Pedlow of Sanitherm Engineering and M. Holden and R. Noble of Willis & Cunliffe Engineers it was learned the plant should be and could be maintained on a one shift basis (4 to 6 hours long).

Some of the conditions at the new plant were outlined as follows: barminutor and main pumps are working satisfactorily; there is a defect in the electrical control system which will be repaired as soon as it is located; sludge is apparently thicker than anticipated and in order to maintain an eight hour one-shift operation, sludge removal will have to be automated; boiler problems have been rectified but it was suggested that a vent be installed in the boiler room door due to a shortage of combustion air evident in the boiler room.

Among other recommendations, Mr. Holden of W & C urged that a stand-by power source be installed at an estimated cost of $7,500 with an additional $2,500 for installation charges.

Rotarians Hear Scales On Sweden

Terrace and Kitimat Rotarians—about 60 in number—gathered in Gim's banquet room on Monday evening to hear an address by Dick Scales of Quesnel.

Mr. Scales, who was one of six members of Rotary on a study exchange team that spent nine weeks in Sweden, was an eloquent and informative speaker.

"Sweden," Mr. Scales told his audience, "is one half the size of British Columbia and the country is very similar. Its natural resources are iron ore and forests. It has a population of 7½ million. Sweden has lived in peace as a neutral country for 150 years, yet it is equipped for any wartime emergency, with numerous nuclear shelters and a number of hiding places for aircraft. Military service in Sweden is compulsory."

"There are only three large cities in Sweden, mostly small communities, clean and neat. — Never did we see a slum area."

"The people of Sweden," the speaker went on, "emphasize cultural development, and physical recreation centres abound designed for both young and old. Each town has its own 'town square,' with lawns and flowers and reclining chairs. All centres boast indoor swimming pools," he said, "And the people show a great deal more civic pride than we do in B.C."

"Industry is located in the smaller centres," he went on to say, "There is tremendous development taking place. All plants are modern — all post war and the only difference we noticed was the apparent lack of safety devices.

"Art is carried through industry — in one industrial plant, valued at six million dollars, only one million was spent on equipment, the rest went for the elaborate finishing and furnishing of the building."

Mr. Scales was impressed with the co-operative relationship that existed between the management and labour.

"The Government has not taken over," he said, and continued, "Ninety percent of industry is privately owned. During the last 30 years Sweden has become well

Rupert Suspect Found Here

Terrace RCMP are holding Laszlo Nagy in custody in connection with a recent safe cracking attempt in the Government liquor store in Prince Rupert.

Nagy was taken off the east-bound C.N. train by police at noon today.

A SPECTACULAR PLUNGE over a 100-foot embankment Tuesday morning brought this car to rest mere feet from the cold waters of the Skeena River. Driver of the vehicle, Mrs. Peter Schmidt of Thornhill, escaped with nothing more than a severe shaking up, after riding the car to the bottom of the boulder-strewn bank. The accident occurred at the northern approach to Terrace Bridge. Severe snow conditions and poor visibility caused the car to skid out of control, jump the Kitimat railway bridge and slither down the riverbank. Mrs. Schmidt was alone in the vehicle.

Melting Pot . . .

THE LIGHTS DIMMED, there was a hush of expectancy and the strains of O Canada filled the Terrace Community Centre. Never before have four hundred voices blended together in such patriotic urgency as they did on Saturday night when O Canada was played at the wrong speed. Actually we rather like, the speeded up version — it sounds more like Canada-a-gogo and less like a funeral dirge.

TOP YOUR CHANGE into muscular Dystrophy collection posters you'll spot throughout town. Terrace Firemen are in charge of this year's campaign. There's no hard sell. It's just a simple plea for a worthy cause.

ADIAN WESTINGHOUSE LTD. recently held a contest whereby parents of twins born during the 24 hour period between 10:15 a.m. October 18 and 10:15 a.m. October 19 would be presented with automatic laundromat and dryer sets. Just to celebrate the company's two-millionth major appliance. Well — Mr. and Mrs. Peter McMillan of Alyansh became parents of twin girls on Oct. 20. They were just one day too late. Didn't even get a free light bulb!

THE AMERICAN ELECTIONS have produced some interesting developments. Reagan is in and Egan is out. We'll miss the genial Alaska Governor, and we're wondering if they'll stop running Reagan's corny old movies on television now that he has California in his pocket.

SPEAKING OF ELECTIONS — anyone for Municipal elections?

WHAT — NO LIVE TV for the north? Just color TV for Victoria?

Has Remembrance Day lost its meaning?

IF OUR FREEDOM means nothing to us any longer; if the oppression of smaller nations, the desecration of human rights means nothing to us any longer; if freedom to gather in groups and speak as we please, worship as we please, read what we please and work as we please means nothing to us any longer; if free choice by secret ballot of our elected representatives means nothing to us any longer — then it's a certainty, Remembrance Day HAS lost its meaning.

As for the editor and staff of this newspaper, certainly we shall not forget those who gave their lives. Nor shall we forget those who were terribly maimed. Nor shall we forget the hard-working members of the Royal Canadian Legion whose efforts serve in large measure to ease the misery of wounded veterans in beds row on row in hospitals throughout the nation.

Our daily vigilance and dedication to preserving freedom without force of arms or further human sacrifice is all that we can offer in return for the supreme sacrifice of those who fell in war or of those who suffered unspeakable injuries.

THEY SLEEP THEIR LAST LONG SLEEP IN FAR OFF LANDS

Hillbilly bands and cowboy hats . . .

WITH EVENTS FAST moving toward a climax, the United States is in the last turbulent weeks of its current election campaigns. As in other elections, we are struck by the vast differences in the quality of campaigning evident in the various congressional, gubernatorial, and lesser races.

In some contests opponents manage to address themselves to the significant issues and engage in meaningful and forthright debate. But in other races the contenders seldom discuss the pertinent issues. Instead, they make slashing personal attacks on each other, hurl charge and countercharge on matters largely or wholly irrelevant to their respective competency in office, and play upon emotion rather than addressing reason. This kind of campaigning is an insult to many voters. Yet it is not uncommon.

If candidates sacrifice principles to expediency, heed the latest public opinion poll in disregard of their own personal convictions, and substitute invective (or mudslinging), for rational discussion of the issues, who is at fault? The candidates cannot be made to shoulder all the blame.

If they did not know that they could win votes by these tactics, campaigns would be fought on a higher level.

Unfortunately, some voters like it hot. They prefer fireworks. Some go for the images created by the mythmakers hired to sell candidates as if they were selling soap. Some fall for the gimmick — the clever slogan, the hillbilly band, the cowboy hat. And some buy the false charges and fatuous promises.

Knowing all this, the parties are tempted to look for the candidate with a glamorous past or a charming personality be he football coach, television announcer, military hero or movie star. He may or may not have the qualifications to make public policy or administer the complex affairs of government.

In constantly improving education lies hope for the future. Only as more voters come to see the importance of thinking through the issues involved and of dispassionately choosing the candidate best equipped to serve will the nation have better candidates, better campaigns, and better government.

Building Decline In October

Value of building permits issued for the year continue to show an increase over 1965, but a slight decline has been noted in permits issued during the last month.

In October, 20 permits valued at $170,102 were issued as against 25 permits valued at $173,460 during October of 1965.

To date building permits issued in Terrace tally at $2,670,574 as against $2,356,072 up to the same time in 1965.

In October five of the permits issued were for houses, six for alterations, three for garages, four for miscellaneous construction and two for industrial buildings.

Ten plumbing permits and nine occupancy permits were also issued in October.

GUIDE, BROWNIE, RANGER NEWS

Kitsumkalum Guides held their regular meeting in Knox United church on November 7 with Commissioner Mrs. K. Tucker in attendance.

Commissioner Tucker presented Golden Hands and Wings to Debbie Noel, Cheryl Stanyer and Leslie Lee. Terry Sheasby received her Brownie house orderly badge.

Nina Christl and Cathie Orr were hostesses for the group and their guests.

Brownies and Guides reported a successful bakesale and would like to thank all those who made contributions and donations for the event.

On Sunday morning at Knox United Church five Girl Guides were presented with Religion and Life Emblem badges by Reverend G. Keeleyside.

The receipt of the badges followed six weeks of instruction and intensive study by the young women.

Those receiving badges were: Gail Smith, Marilyn Rugg and Diane Both all of Second Skeena Company and Margaret Ann Morrison and Nancy Sparks from First Skeena Company.

The First Skeena Company also had their Canadian flag dedicated.

Five Brownies took the Girl Guide pledge on Monday evening in Clarence Michiel auditorium during a special "fly-up" ceremony. They were Katherine Porter, Barbara Chemko, Melissa Litchenfeld, Chelan Lennox and Margaret Jones.

Following the flag raising ceremony, Captain Mrs. H. Smith welcomed guests and introduced Commissioner Mrs. Sparks who spoke on the importance of being good citizens through Guiding.

Following the graduation ceremonies and a round of games, hostesses Margaret Ann Morrison, Laurie Hallock, Gina May and Adele Dallaire served refreshments to Guides, visiting parents and friends.

Greece has decided not to emphasize its glorious past at Expo 67. Instead of lecturing the visitor on the great philosophical principals, its pavillion will feature a 20th century illustration of Plato's observation, "How pleasant Man can be when he is Man."

Kitimat Teacher Back from U.S.S.R.

The teaching profession is held in so high regard in Russia that there is a waiting list for people wanting to enter the profession, says the president of the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

Harley Robertson, of Kitimat, who has just returned from a three-week tour of Russian educational institutions said he was impressed with the high priorities given education in the Soviet Union.

He added: "The general shortage of teachers that is found in Canada is not evident there. The teaching profession is held in such high regard that the teacher training institutions we visited could only accept fewer than one-fourth of those who wanted to enter."

"Salaries were increased by 25 per cent. two years ago in order to maintain a good supply of teacher. Thus teachers earn as much as doctors and engineers. Moreover, in rural areas they receive free housing and other benefits."

"Although students go to school between 24 hours (Grade 1) and 34 hours (Grade 10) per week, teachers need spend only 18 hours in offering instruction — having the balance of their time free to prepare their lessons."

"We saw schools where the teacher-pupil ratio was 1 to 12

(compared to 22 or more in secondary schools and in excess of 1 to 30 in elementary schools in British Columbia.)"

Robertson, accompanied by William Allester, director of professional development for the federation and eight other Canadian educators spent four days in Moscow, five in Kiev and seven days in Leningrad.

They saw a variety of different types of educational institutions, including kindergartens, elementary and secondary schools, technical institutions and universities.

The Canadian educators were amazed to see the degree of emphasis given to educational research in the USSR. In Canada very little government support has yet been given to research in better teaching methods and for the development of new materials

In contrast, the USSR pours personnel and resources into educational research. In the field of programmed instruction for example, the delegation saw carefully prepared materials and ingenious teaching machines being used on a scale unheard of in this country.

Peace Project Stops For Winter

The annual freeze-up has come to the Peace River and construction of Portage Mountain Dam has stopped for the winter. The massive structure is nearly 80 percent complete and has already reached an average height of 450 feet above the Peace River Valley.

Underground and unaffected by winter weather, work will continue on a 'round-the-clock basis in the underground powerhouse where first Peace River power will be generated in October, 1968.

During the 1968 construction season, the giant dam has grown at a pace that has set records throughout the construction industry. In the 164 working days since fill placement began last April 4, a total of 23 million cubic yards of sorted, sized and compacted earth-fill have been hauled and placed.

In 1965 during a comparable season, B.C. Hydro's contractors, the consortium of Kiewit-Dawson-Johnson, placed 18.5 million cubic yards. At the time this figure was considered to be a record.

Since late 1964, when construction of Portage Mountain Dam began, a total of 45.2 million cubic yards have been placed leaving less than 12 million cubic yards to completion.

With a reasonable early spring start-up in 1967, it is estimated that Portage Mountain Dam will reach its full height 600 feet by the end of July next year, several months ahead of schedule.

Meanwhile, work continues on the 574-mile, 500,000-volt Peace River transmission line from Portage Mountain to Vancouver. The 205-mile-long section between Prince George and Kelly Lake, near Clinton, was completed this summer.

Foundations have been installed along most of the 173-mile segment of the powerline between Prince George and Portage Mountain. Tower erection is also underway in this area, with stringing of conductor expected to begin in early 1967.

Foundations and towers are being constructed between Kelly Lake and Boston Bar in the Fraser Canyon, a distance of 88 miles. Hydro has called tenders for a contract to construct the final 108 miles of the powerline, between Boston Bar and Ingledow Substation, in Surrey, terminus of the transmission line.

Measles Program Well Attended

The recent Measles Vaccination Program held in the Skeena area the week of October 24th was very well attended by parents who took the opportunity of protecting their children with the vaccine.

The attendance throughout the area was: Prince Rupert 260, Kitimat 298, Terrace 265, and Smithers 193.

This represents a significant proportion of the children in the target age group and when it is realized that there were so many exclusions this turn out could be considered excellent. The success of the program was due in large measure to the help received from the press, radio and TV stations and the willing volunteer workers in the country.

It is hoped that parents are keeping a check and recording the events on the questionnaire which is due fourteen days from the time of the vaccination.

Parents are also reminded of the follow-up dates: Prince Rupert November 21, Kitimat November 22, Terrace November 23, and Smithers November 24.

Badminton Club Names Officers

Terrace Badminton Club met on Sunday, November 6 in the Community Centre with over 20 in attendance.

Election of officers took place as follows: President — Mike Stewart; vice-president Bernard Champoux; secretary-treasurer — Bill Symington.

It was agreed to hold more tournaments this season.

RCMP Issue Warning Against Stray Dogs

RCMP have issued a warning to residents of Thornhill stating that in future all uncontrolled dogs, found on the streets of the area, will be destroyed.

These measures have become necessary because the problem has reached the point where only drastic action can rectify the situation. Reports are received daily of children who have been bitten or knocked down by packs of dogs, of extensive property damage, and of animals being injured or killed by automobiles. Because Thornhill has no dog pound to shelter the animals until owners are located, all dogs picked up will be destroyed.

Though the RCMP regrets the necessity of these measures, the present problem must be dealt with before a child is permanently injured or killed by the dozens of dogs now roaming the area.

Alaska Preacher To Visit Thornhill

The Reverend Virgel Chron of Anchorage, Alaska will be visiting with members of Thornhill Baptist congregation between November 14 and 20.

Rev. Chron's church in Anchorage has taken on part of the financial burden of the Thornhill Baptist Mission. He will conduct worship service at 6:45 p.m. in Thornhill School on Sunday November 20.

Fiddling Festival Due In December

The British Columbia Centennial Committee has decided to do some fiddling around during December, it was learned here this week.

An Old Time Fiddler's Festival is planned for that month, and preliminary contests will be held in various communities throughout the province, preparatory to one final fiddling session in the Lower Mainland.

Terrace fiddlers are invited to fill out application forms which are now available at Terrace Photo Supply and forward them to Mrs. Rose Sharples, P.O. Box 584, Terrace.

The Terrace preliminary will be held in Clarence Michiel auditorium and the December date will be announced later this month. The public is invited to attend the contest.

Contestants will be required to play a waltz, a jig and a hoedown in that order and failure will mean disqualification.

Tunes selected must be accepted old-time type and accompanists will be permitted.

Judging will be done on presentation and deportment, timing, bowing, fingering and tone.

Prizes will be awarded to regional winners as well as to provincial winners.

Columbia Cel Co. Profits Down

Columbia Cellulose Company, Limited reports a net profit for nine months ended September 1966 of $1,645,748. This is equivalent to 12.1 cents per common share after providing for dividends on preferred shares.

In the corresponding period last year, earnings per common share on the same basis amounted to 7.7 cents.

The report reflects the major portion of the effect of the walk-out which took place at the company's Prince Rupert pulp operations between September 8 and October 11, 1966.

Farm Forum . . .

By D. HARVARD
District Agriculturist

Smithers, B.C.

I've been leafing through pages of the Grain Grower, a farm business digest. It is published as an information service by United Grain Growers and comes in the form of a loose leaf binder. Material is divided into topics, each ear-marked with enumerated coloured tabs. Pages within the book are coloured corresponding to the tab colour marking a division. A decimal system is used for further separation of subjects within a division. This system makes it simple to find information quickly on a specific subject once you have become familiar with the major headings of the index.

The book has great value as a handy reference for farmers. It deals with every imaginable subject related to farming, but most important, these subjects have been condensed into a very readable form. Material condensed comes from a variety of sources, such as agricultural colleges, governmental departments of agriculture, farmers, magazines, technical journals and staff of United Grain Growers. And because it has been condensed, it is possible to put it all in one looseleaf book.

Naturally there is much material in this book which is generally applicable to prairie farms only. It is collected by a prairie based company. But there is still a lot of information which can be used to advantage here. Many topics are dealt with under the divisions of Beef Cattle, Crops, Farm Buildings and Equipment, Farm Machinery, Farm Management, Feeds, Fertilizers and Soils, Hay and Pastures and Livestock.

It would be easy to use material from articles in the Grain Grower for articles in this column. It would be tempting too, to take credit for their content. But without doubt, for the sake of getting the most useable information to you in the shortest time and in a most convenient form there is no alternative. I recommend the Grain Grower for your use. The price of $4.50 gives you the loose-leaf binder plus all material for it issued since 1963.

If I'm criticized for "plugging" a commercial firm, my defence is simple. United Grain Growers doesn't function to any extent in this area and to my knowledge no other competing company provides an information service of this nature. But most significant, the material is good and deserves to be brought to your attention.

Chamber of Commerce Hears Director

The monthly meeting of Terrace and District Chamber of Commerce was held in Gim's banquet room on November 2 with 25 persons attending, including visitors from Kitimat

John Gray of Kitimat, secretary-manager of the Northwest B.C. Chambers of Commerce reported that the annual meeting of the Associated chambers would be held in Juneau, Alaska on April 13 and 14, and the mid-year meeting in Hazelton some time in December.

The subject of weather readings for Terrace — aside from airport statistics — was discussed. It was understood the Forestry Department would be willing to cooperate. The committee was instructed to further pursue the matter.

The Chamber went on record as not wishing to see the outside of the proposed Centennial building changed in any way from the original plans. The chamber has pledged $1500 toward the building.

On behalf of the industrial committee Vic Jolliffe outlined a proposed map of Terrace and area which would be available for publication in outside magazines.

In an interview with O'Toole District Superintendent of the Dept. of Highways, the parks committee was assured that the viewpoint on the airport road would be completed this year. It is the intention of the Chamber to have the 140 foot cedar pole erected on the site.

C. J. Norrington reported for the nomination committee the following members willing to stand for office: Frank Skidmore for president; R. J. Jephson for first vice; D. L. Currie for second vice; Willy Schneider for treasurer. The December meeting will be open for further nominations from the floor.

The placing of a wreath on the Cenotaph November 11 was approved.

GUEST SPEAKER

Bob Harvey introduced guest speaker Ken Strachan of Kitimat, past president of Kitimat Chamber and director of the B.C. Chambers.

Mr. Strachan gave an interesting resume of the levels of Chamber activity.

The Canadian Chamber has as its directors one from each province, who, along with the president, form the directorate. All segments of economy are taken into account by this body, such as health and welfare, finance, transportation, foreign investments and resources.

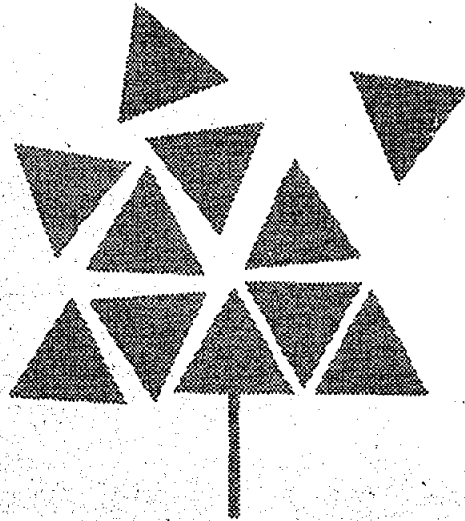

The B.C. Chamber, of which Bill Harrison is president, is made up of 133 provincial chambers and boards of trade, which in turn have 29 regional directors.

Mr. Strachan spoke on the B.C. policy booklet, a copy of which had been presented to the B.C. Legislature cabinet.

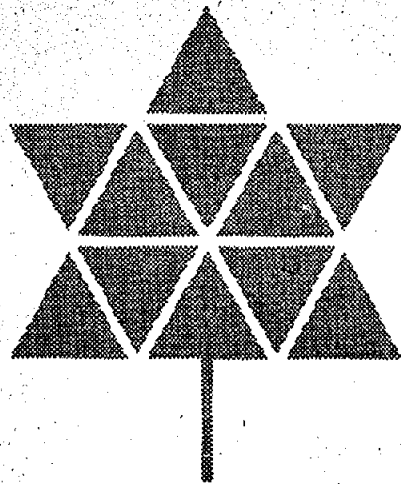

Then, down the line, to the individual community chambers with chairmen for various committees such as: civic affairs, industry and tourism. These are the basis of the promotion of the economic growth of the area, which is the chamber's function.

Mr. Strachan pointed out that resolutions to the B.C. Chamber must be submitted by March 25.

Willy Schneider thanked speaker for an informative and interesting address. President Christl was in the chair.

What does Centennial mean to you?

What are you planning for Centennial?

1967. This is the year for Canadians everywhere to stop and think about Canada. To look back on how far this nation has come since its rough and rugged beginnings. To think about Canada as it is now: free, prosperous, and with an unlimited future for growth.

To celebrate, magnificent projects are in the works. The Confederation Caravans will bring Canada to millions in rural and tiny out-of-the-way places. The Caravans unfold an exciting colourful story of Canada: from early beginnings right up to the present. Festival Canada brings Canadians the largest entertainment package ever: from western music to opera, musical comedy to drama. Two companies of 300 servicemen each will travel Canada to put on a magnificent stirring Military Tattoo, portraying Canada's past 300 years of military history!

These are just three of hundreds of Centennial events planned for you in the coming year. But what are you doing for Centennial? What is your own personal project? Other Canadians are painting their homes, flying the Canadian flag, planting Maple trees, hooking Centennial rugs, reading up on their Canadian history. What will you do? It's not important how large or how small your project may be. What is important is that you have stopped and thought enough of your country and what it means to you to take up a Centennial project of your own.

The Federal/Provincial events planned will be magnificent and thrilling. But to each of us, the truly exciting and most meaningful projects will be the ones we create ourselves.

What does Centennial mean to you? And what are you planning for Centennial?

The Centennial Commission
Ottawa, Canada.

THE LASER is among the most exciting developments ever to come out of the laboratory. The initials stand for Stimulated Emission of Radiation. It is based upon projection of an extremely narrow and concentrated beam of coherent light, which can be focused and directed over long distances. Invented in 1960, this beam of light has the potential to slash through steel, vaporize a diamond in an instant, remove an eye tumor or track a missile in mid-air. It can also be employed in telephone transmission to carry thousands of long-distance telephone conversations over a single beam and this is the application demonstrated by the model being shown in Prince George by B.C. Telephone. The unit will be set up to create a circuit carrying music and visitors will be able to break the circuit by passing through the LASER beam.

Resolution Destroyed Following Stalemate

A resolution which would have outlawed the bringing into Terrace of used whole or partial buildings from outside the Municipality was destroyed Tuesday night in Municipal Council.

The resolution came after considerable dissension on the part of Gair Avenue property owners over the recent appearance in their neighborhood of Kitimat H-huts which are apparently destined for re-construction and eventual occupancy.

A delegation of Gair Avenue property owners approached Municipal Council in a body in recent weeks to protest the practice which allows buildings to be moved into the municipality for re-construction.

On Tuesday night, a motion by Councillor Harry Smith to have the resolution tabled until there is a full Council sitting, was defeated for want of a seconder.

The Reeve ordered the resolution destroyed when it became apparent that no decision on the matter could be reached.

Councillor Dorothy Norton stressed that need for housing in Terrace should make Councillors give careful consideration to a resolution which would, in effect, discourage the provision of family accommodation.

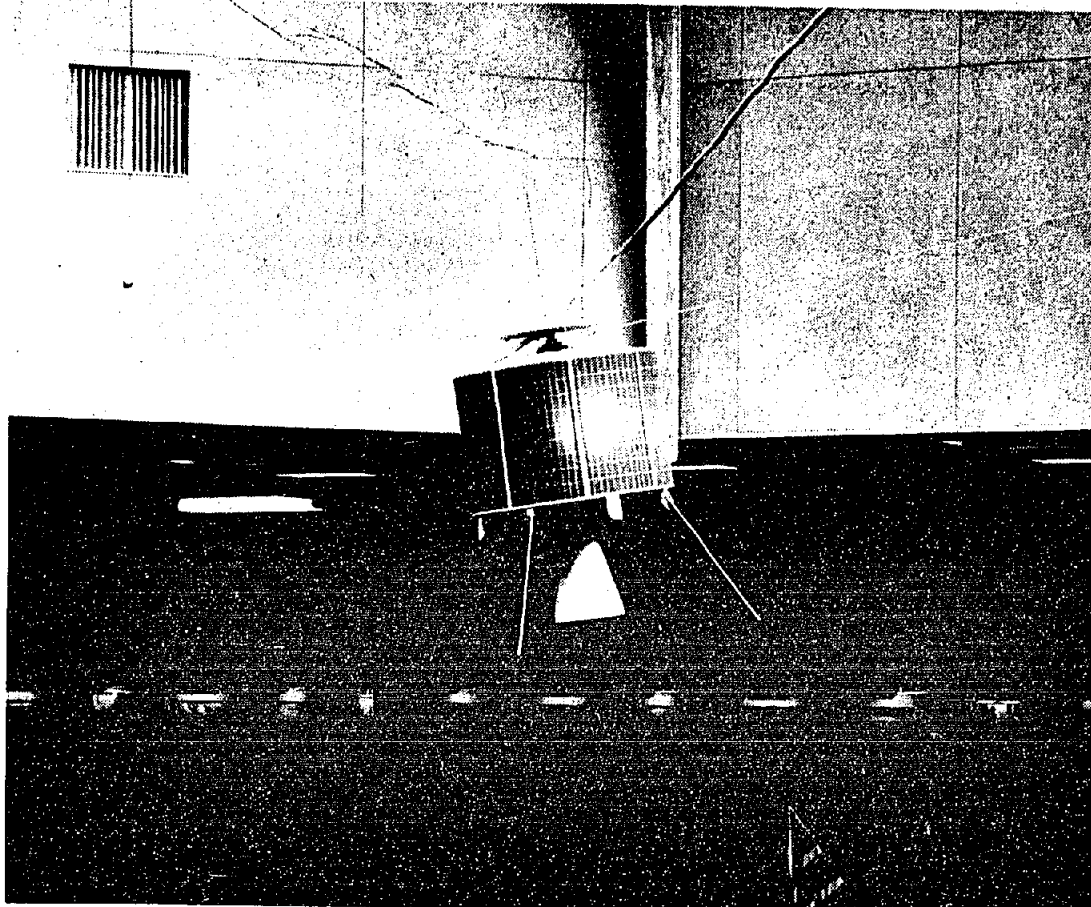

She pointed out that the buildings in question, though unsightly at the outset, conform in every way with the National Building Code, and can be made very attractive.

Grant Pay Over Approved By Council

Municipal Council resolved Tuesday evening to pay over a grant of $9,600 to the Terrace Centennial Committee as the Municipality's share of the initial cost of the Centennial Library-Museum-Tourist Bureau building.

The resolution also called for the authorization of inspections by the building architect as specified by the clerk of the works. Clerk of the works will be appointed by Council and it is expected he will be the regular Municipal building inspector or his deputy.

Third clause of the resolution was the request that insurance be provided on the building during the period of its construction.

THE "SYNCOM IV" model satellite on display in Prince George this month, will rotate and emit light flashes to simulate the appearance of the satellite in orbit around the earth. The model was constructed by B.C. Telephone craftsmen to dimensions supplied by the Hughes Aircraft Company of El Segundo, California, which designed and built the three Syncoms now in orbit. Exterior dimensions of the model are the same as those of the orbiting satellites.

Hillcrest Couple Entertain Friends

Dr. and Mrs. Ian Mudie were "at home" to about forty of their friends last Saturday night, November 5, when a pleasant evening was spent and a delicious buffet supper served by the hostess.

Last July Dr. and Mrs. Mudie purchased the house previously known as Hillcrest Farm. The home is now part of the Hillcrest sub-division.

It had been a year from the date of the party that Mrs. Mudie and three daughters had come out from England to join Dr. Mudie, who arrived a few months previously.

Ian Mudie, M.B., Ch. B., D. T. M. & H., L.M.C.C. is in partnership with Dr. J. R. Nicholson in the medical clinic in the Lazelle Shopping Centre.

Busy October For Salvation Army

October was a very active month for the Terrace Salvation Army, with a Home League Rally being held in Prince Rupert and several Terrace delegates attending.

Home League Leader for Canada and Bermuda, Mrs. Colonel Alma Pindred conducted the rally. She also presented Canyon City with first prize in an apron-making contest. Terrace Home League took second place in the contest.

During the rally, Terrace Home League members presented the visiting Colonel Pindred with a hand-stitched cushion made by Amy Scott, formerly of Terrace.

AROUND the TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. G. Kirkaldy, who now make their home in Victoria, are visitors to town. Mr. and Mrs. Kirkaldy who were active Legionnaires here for many years, came north for the Cenotaph dedication ceremony, and Remembrance Day Service on November 11.

OBITUARY

JACOB DeJONG
Terrace, B.C.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, November 2 for the late Jacob DeJong who died October 30 at the age of 53.

Reverend H. Jost conducted funeral rites from Terrace Evangelical Free Church at 3:00 p.m.

The late Mr. DeJong was born in Maassluis, Holland in 1913 and came to Canada in 1953. After living in the Okanagan valley for a year he came with his family to Terrace where he established Green Acres Farm on North Eby.

In April he was forced to retire due to ill health and until the time of his death spent much time hospitalized in Mills Memorial Hospital.

The deceased was well known in the community for his work with the Tptem Saddle Club in which he served as vice-president for a time. Much of his time was spent in gardening which he particularly enjoyed.

The late Mr. DeJong leaves to mourn, his wife Pietronella, four sons, William, Leo, Jacob and Albert and a daughter Elsie all of whom reside in Terrace. He is also survived by four grand children.

Interment was made in Kitsumkalum Cemetery. Pallbearers were the Messrs: H. Wyatt, H. Pache, F. Vandenboer, P. van Westren, J. Mantel and L. Bruggeman.

School Will Need Boarding Facilities

Terrace's new vocational school will be anything but quiet once it begins operations here, it was learned Tuesday.

In a letter to Municipal Council, designed to assist with planned zoning for the Vocational School area, it was pointed out that a building construction course will be constantly underway during the daylight hours and that, of necessity, the yards used for the course will, "not present the most attractive front on which the residents of the area might have to look."

The letter from planner-architect for the school, W. D. Lougher-Goodey stated that some landscaping will be carried out at the school however, in an effort to keep everything as pleasant as possible for neighbours and visitors.

The letter also stated there will be night classes throughout the year, which will introduce a noise factor. In addition he pointed out that daylight hours will produce even more of a noise factor as diesel shops and automotive repair shops conduct classes.

The letter estimated that when the school is opened it will have a daytime enrolment of 700 students for the first year and a night enrolment of approximately 500.

The annual increase in enrolment was estimated at between 15 and 20%.

Dormitory facilities for those attending the school are included in the long range development plan but for the first few years it is estimated there will be a strong demand for student boarding facilities in the neighborhood of the school site.

"ROTARIANS"

known for its stability in lab relations."

"In 1938 a basic government agreement was reached when one body would settle disputes consisting of three from labour and three from management. An impartial chairman was never required.

"Sweden has had only major strikes since 1938," speaker said, but also recalled the strike of teachers now in progress.

"There is a shortage of labour in Sweden, people from all southern Europe are being imported."

He compared the Canadian home pay of $11,500 on a $14 salary — in Sweden the home would be $7,000.

Mr. Scales spoke at some length on Sweden's "elaborate welfare system" and its "lavish method of giving old-age pensioners assistance.

He told of the legal system in Sweden — no jury and eight judges. He touched on the education program, which boasts tuition, facilities and books up to university grades.

The nine weeks in Sweden was a full program of 12-14 hours a seven days a week "but necessary if we were to gain some understanding of how Swedes work and live and think," he said.

"We were given a privileged view that no tourist would ever see," he continued, "We did visit a museum, without a director to show us around, nor a case without a count as guide."

"We attended an important celebration in the small town of Bpur. Imagine our feeling when over the loud speaker we suddenly heard the speaker greet 'my friends from the New World,' and hear that they hoped we would enjoy visiting their little town and that we were very welcome to return some day. And all in our own language and with such friendly tones. This did more than anything else to make us realize how meaningless are oceans and political boundaries.

"We witnessed a graduation ceremony in an ancient square beneath the steeples of great cathedrals, where they sang old student songs and welcomed this year's graduates into the ranks of those with white caps.

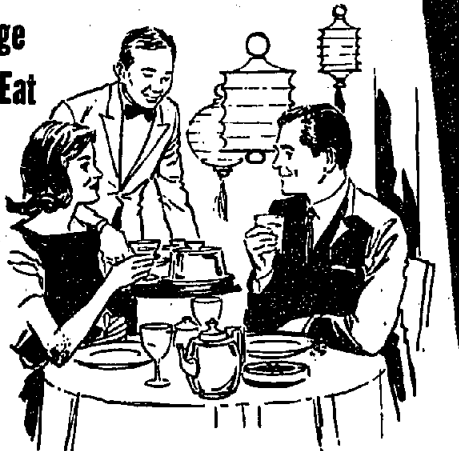

"We stood on the deck of a 75,000 ton tanker the day before her sea trials, we enjoyed a smorgasbord in the hold of an old schooner and listened to tales of Viking heroes; we visited glass factories; we went adrift in the Baltic in an old tug, that lost its propeller in the ocean — and so on it goes."

"One thing is sure," Mr. Scales concluded, "We lived an experience of a lifetime. Our horizons have been considerably broadened — each one of us on the team brought back, something of Sweden with him — we hope we left a little of Canada in exchange."

One of the world's largest fountains — 1,600 jets shooting 100 feet into the air — will play nightly at Expo 67 to musical scores synchronised with exotic color patterns. A virtuoso fountain player will conduct the water music from a master console.

Cenotaph Unveiled At Impressive Ceremony

An important day in the history of the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 13, and the Municipality of Terrace was marked on the quiet Sunday afternoon of November 6 when an impressive ceremony of dedication was solemnized with the unveiling of Terrace's "Cenotaph" — a beautiful and lasting tribute to the fallen in World Wars one and two and in Korea.

A colorful parade marched from the Legion headquarters to the Municipal Hall grounds to take part in the ceremony. In the parade were veterans of the Royal Canadian Legion, members of the Legion Auxiliary and their standard bearers, representatives of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the Terrace Air Cadets preceded by the Terrace Pipe Band assisted by Kitimat pipers. Parade Marshall was Comrade Jack Sharples.

Reeve A. Goulet, members of the Council and local citizens took part in the service, singing "O Canada" and "O God Our Help in Ages Past," Mrs. P. Davies presided at the organ. The Reverend A. P. Horsfield read the scripture.

DEDICATION ADDRESS

In making the address of dedication Legion president Nick Nattress included all Legionnaires when he said "This should be a very proud moment in our lives." He considered it an honor that the dedication should happen during his term of office.

"Many people have been involved in the erection of this Cenotaph," Mr. Nattress said, and particularly mentioned, the Legion executive, the Municipal Council, Comrade Art Bates who designed the structure and Comrade Sid Sheasby who has chaired the committee since its formation.

He expressed thanks to all who were taking part, including those who had come from Kitimat.

Mr. Nattress in concluding his remarks, said, "I hope that this memorial will be a constant reminder to us, the living, of those who paid the supreme sacrifice for freedom — and that in some way to each of us, both young and old, it will influence our thoughts and deeds when we pass this way, and help us through the turmoil of our modern living. And as our own tribute to our fallen Comrades, it can strengthen our own resolve for stronger friendship and understanding towards each other."

"If this can be so, then their sacrifice for us will not have been in vain."

THE UNVEILING

Comrades Bates and Sheasby stepped forward to unveil the monument of remembrance. The Reverend Horsfield pronounced the prayer of dedication followed by the "Last Post" by buglers A. Cameron and W. McIntyre. Two minutes silence preceded "Reveille."

President Nattress placed the wreath on the Cenotaph, accompanied forward by Comrade S. N. G. Kirkaldy and Comrade Pat Wright of Kitimat, while Comrade P/M Keith Tutt and P/S Allan Tutt sounded the "Lament."

Following "The Queen" the parade marched back to the Legion hall where refreshments were served to all taking part.

Magistrate F. H. Adames presided over the following: J. McPherson fined $250 for impaired driving; Paul Nagy fined $75 for violation of the Fisheries' regulations.

Benefit Dance For Fire Victims
 Mr. and Mrs. John Almgren, who lost their trailer home and all their possessions by fire recently, are the recipients of a cheque for $700. This was reported by Libby Anderson, who spear-headed a fund in their aid.

There was a good turnout of friends and well-wishers of Mr. and Mrs. Almgren at a dance held on their behalf on Friday, November 4.

With Art Bates acting as genial master of ceremonies the crowd enjoyed dancing to the music of Scott Easton and his Silhouettes.

A portable radio, raffled to help swell the fund, was won by Ruth Magnus.

Mr. Anderson would like to thank the businesses, organizations and individuals for their generous support.

Letters to the EDITOR

The Editor, Terrace Herald:

I would like to comment on our November 11 celebrations.

In the year 1931 the day was changed from Armistice Day to Remembrance Day. It is now a day set aside to honor the war dead from World Wars I and II and the Korean War.

My father gave his life in World War II. I take it as a personal affront that the way his death is remembered is by dancing and celebrating. It is no longer a day to celebrate the war's end, but is a day set aside to pay our respects to those who gave their life for us.

This day should either be changed back to Armistice Day and let there be celebrating, or observe the day as one of respect for the war dead.

Mrs. C. Glen, Terrace.

Christian Workshop To Be Held Here

A Christian education workshop, which will be of interest to all Sunday school teachers and Good News club teachers in the area will be held on Thursday, November 17th at Bethel Baptist Church on Kalum Street.

The training session will be held from 1 to 4 o'clock. The course will be conducted by Miss Barbara Bingham, of Prince George, area director for Child Evangelism Fellowship International.

Subjects to be covered will be: Bible story telling; singing in the Sunday school; qualifications of the Sunday school teacher, and other topics. It is hoped that interested teachers from all Sunday schools in Terrace will attend this beneficial meeting.

In the evening, at 8:00, Rev. Carl Smith, Canadian director for child evangelism, will be present to outline the work of C.E.F. and to show the latest film depicting the activities of this organization. The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting, which will also be held in Bethel Baptist Church.

TK Radio Highlights . . .

PROJECT '67 (Sunday, November 13, 4:03 p.m.) Berlin '45: A Pile of Bricks — part one of a two-part documentary by Charles Wassermann that traces the life and times of Berlin from a beleaguered war-time city, through destruction and reconstruction, to the time of The Wall. Wasserman and producer Dita Vadron were given access to East German archives not ordinarily open to western visitors. This material, including speeches by Nazi propaganda minister Josef Goebbels and S.S. chief Heinrich Himmler, shows the desperation of Nazi leaders during the last days of the war.

CBC SHOWCASE (Sunday, November 13, 5:03 p.m.) Eve Smith in Concert. From Vancouver, Eve Smith sings in a concert recorded at the CBC Festival of Music in the Queen Elizabeth Playhouse. Conductor and arranger Doug Parker.

Tonight the topic is The Morality of Scientific Technology: "People submit to inhuman routine out of fear and helplessness," says Goodman. "And such routine is not of the essence of scientific technology." He calls for a return to the conception of science as an activity of "wonder, disinterested curiosity and esthetic construction" and to a technology which is under social control and not allowed to develop haphazardly, often with unforeseen and destructive effect.

CHRISTIAN FRONTIERS (Tuesday, November 15, 7:30 p.m.) Lord of the Dance: The Split-Bearded Kings combo from St. Paul's School, Concord, Mass., under the direction of Rev. Peter Allen, Folk Chaplain of the University Church, Cambridge, Mass., sing portions of

Available Facilities At Vancouver Indian Centre

H. C. Castillou, director and head of the Publicity Committee of the Vancouver Indian Centre outlined some of the facilities available to persons of Indian origin at the new quarters of the Centre at 1955 West Broadway, Vancouver.

The program of the Centre is managed by an executive director Miss Joan Adams, former director of the Winnipeg Indian Centre, who has, apart from volunteer help a paid staff of one House supervisor and secretary.

Ross Modiste, an Indian from Duncan has recently been hired as a full time paid employee to manage parole, probation and court work for Indians, together with helping in the general duties of counsellor for Indians coming to Vancouver regarding housing, education, employment, schooling and recreational activities.

The Vocational training Branch of Indian Affairs has around 150 young Indians in Vancouver. The Centre serves as a focal point for these and other young Indians in Vancouver.

An Adult and Youth Council composed of Indians, together with a Board of Directors of Indians and non-Indians carry on the programs and policy of the centre.

Recreational activities, (dances, games, softball, basketball, roller skating, bowling and music) forms a focus of interest for over 125 young people weekly with the present facilities hardly adequate for the number using the centre in this respect.

Regular educational programs are also included with study evenings for student courses in public speaking, a Home Aid course and leadership lectures and discussions.

Another aspect of the Centre's work is that of counselling, referral and court work. Not a day passes without two or three requests for help.

A new group in the centre, recently formed has undertaken the publishing of a newspaper.

The helping of destitute Indian girls in the poorer districts of Vancouver has been most successful, with counsellors responding to help every week.

A number of girls have been rehabilitated, with sponsors and jobs found for them and substitute homes located.

On Wednesday a committee from the Centre visits the Penitentiary at New Westminster and attempts to review parole matters respecting Indian inmates and the Indians from the Board of Directors and Adult and Youth Councils visit Oakalla Prison Farm to give help as best they can.

The new hall consists of a main meeting room that can hold 75 or 80 people. The Indian people have also redecorated the downstairs facilities so that two meeting rooms are available.

An Adult Indian Council caters to the adult Indians in the City and arranges dances and social events, together with helping in housing and employment referrals.

The month of September has seen a terrific influx in young Indian people using the Centre so that the facilities are over-strained, both momentarily and space wise.

Any group or individual wishing to contribute monetarily or in any other way to the Indian Centre in Vancouver should contact Joan Adams, 1655 West Broadway, Vancouver if they wish to help.

"CALL OF THE MONASHEE" — filmed in living color and sound, is the product of extended excursions made over a five-year period into an area which is almost legendary. Big game guide, Eugene Foisy and photographer Ernest Lavolette, take you pack-train into spectacular Peters Lake region of British Columbia's mighty Monashee Mountains. You will share the excitement of a two-month wilderness camp trip, fish virgin lakes for world famous rainbow trout, and explore the wildlife and mysteries of one of the last unspoiled regions of North America. "Call of the Monashee" will be showing in Terrace Community Centre November 21 — two shows 7 and 9 p.m.

Canadian Medical Assoc. . . . Health Tips

MEDICAL REHABILITATION

Medical rehabilitation starts on the very first day of injury or disease, and is a continuous process carried out to the time when the patient is able to resume gainful employment or return to his normal daily activities, says the Canadian Medical Association.

In its broader medical sense, medical rehabilitation implies the restoration of the handicapped to his fullest physical, psychological, social and vocational status, compatible with his age and disability.

In the past, medical rehabilitation was mainly the concern of the patient's family doctor, but in recent years the specialist in physical medicine is assuming a greater part of this responsibility. Working closely with the attending physician, he contributes his special skill in the application of physical methods of treatment to achieve the best functional result in the shortest time.

Methods of treatment aim at the patient's physical restoration by means of remedial exercises, massages, heat, hydrotherapy and occupational therapy. Other important factors must also be considered. The experience of the medical social worker, of the psychologist, of the vocational counsellor, and the services of private and governmental agencies interested in the field of rehabilitation, all contribute towards the solution of the patient's problems.

The C.M.A. suggests that labour and management should help contribute to rehabilitation of the disabled, accepting them as useful and productive members of working force. This helps the patient regain his dignity and gives him an opportunity to contribute to the good of the community. The patient's determination to make a come-back is the most important part of the whole process of rehabilitation, and next to this is the determination of the attending doctor and therapist.

The colony of British Columbia had its own mint at New Westminster prior to Confederation. Coins issued included $10 and $20 gold pieces.

Gyrotron, the spectacular ride at Expo 67, will introduce the intrepid explorer to a series of adventures. In one of them he will spiral upwards past planets, falling meteorites, astronauts and space vehicles.

Our Founders . . .

JOHN TOD

Armed only with a surgical knife, fur trader John Tod was credited with saving Fort Kamloops from Indian attack in 1847. Riding out to meet a war party, Tod told the Indians there was smallpox in the fort. Then with his lancet (some writers called it a tobacco knife) and lymph, he began to vaccinate the warriors and told them to carry their right arms in slings. The ruse took the steam out of the raid.

This is one of the best known tales of Tod. He was one of the early Hudson Bay Company traders west of the Rockies and in 1828 had charge of Fort McLeod.

Tod was born in Scotland in 1794 and joined the company while still in his teens. He served in isolated Hudson's Bay Company eastern forts before being sent west. Made a chief trader in 1834 he returned briefly to England and married the same year. He left the service in 1852 after a leave of absence during which he settled in Victoria. Soon after, he was appointed to the Legislative Council of Vancouver Island. He served on a committee which saw the first school built and became a justice of the peace. He died in Victoria in 1882.

WHAT'S IN A HOUSE

SLAB FOUNDATIONS

Special insulation is required for basementless houses. The edges of the slab should be insulated to prevent rapid loss of heat and to avoid condensation at the base of the walls inside the house. A very tough material is required which will keep moisture out and at the same time not be susceptible to rot or deterioration. This insulation requires protection and this is done by fastening an asbestos board to the exterior face of the insulation. The fasteners penetrate through the insulation into nailing blocks in the thickened edge of the slab. The depth of this thickened edge depends on the requirements of the local governing by-law for frost penetration in the area. The floor slab itself can be insulated over its entire area, there will be at least a vapour-barrier under it, generally a polyethylene film. While the slab is, in effect, solid, it does contain certain built-in features. The heating ducts, plumbing pipes and electrical conduits are buried in the concrete slabs. Steel reinforcement is embedded in the concrete slab where required by the structural designs.

The most exciting child playground in the world will be featured at Expo 67. Tub bobs will bob across a small lake guided by invisible wires. Miniature cars will pass model landmarks like the Eiffel Tower and the Mahal.

CRITIC'S CORNER

Just The Right Touch In Little Theatre Play

—by Ruth M. Hellock

Terrace Little Theatre opened the current amateur season with an excellent production on Friday and Saturday evening. The play, a three-act farce, designed as a spoof on hectic modern-day living, attracted a small audience Friday but Saturday night produced a full house.

"As Long As They're Happy," written by Vernon Sylvaine is a play that might well prove disastrous on stage if not handled in proper manner and with just the right touch of lightness.

Director Loreen McColl managed to get "just the right touch of lightness" into the production and the overall result was extremely entertaining and in many spots most hilarious.

Perhaps one of the most important things to watch for after curtain time is the very first audience reaction. This usually sets the tone and is often accomplished through careful planning of the set. No comment about last weekend's production would be without a genuine pat on the back for Tess Fenger and her assistants who established an intimate air of gaiety with a bright, lively set.

After that it was up to the cast and they came through in fine style.

Baron Lynch as "Gwendoline" is a delightful, pseudo-adult sixteen year old. Her projection was excellent. The audience missed not a word of her dialogue and she managed to produce reminiscences of those days when all the world went out of step except the part reserved for teenagers.

Projection is vitally important in any stage production, and particularly so when there are priceless lines of humor which might be lost amidst audience laughter. Sylvia Johnson, as "Linda" the maid has a marvellous voice for theatre work and she used it to complete advantage in "As Long As They're Happy." Her facial expressions and general movement on the stage completed the success of her performance which was thoroughly enjoyable.

Betty Munson, cast as "Patricia" had a most difficult task inasmuch as she was required to play a role within a role. This she accomplished convincingly, portraying a pathetic picture of a young bride trying hard to keep up appearances for which she was ill-suited. Miss Munson's performance, though rehearsed to a point of finesse, fell slightly short because her naturally light voice failed to carry to all corners of the auditorium.

If ever there was a scatter-brained socialite with theatrical aspirations and left-over memories it was "Stella Bentley" one of the central figures in the play, performed by Fergl Kamp. Cast as the mother, and rather a Modigliani at that, Fergl was charged with the responsibility of keeping the whole production light but believable. Her projection, tonal distinction and general stage presentation were excellent and the ease with which she moved on stage showed without a doubt that a great deal of effort and concentration during rehearsals had paid off in smoothness.

Equally as important as projection in any stage production, and particularly in comedy, is timing. It is said that Dave Simons, a Terrace newcomer who played "John Wiley" the father, is a past master at timing, would be rather mild description. He had many lines to deliver and he held the audience in joyous expectancy exactly the right moment he was delivering those lines. His ability to portray frustration without appearing hammy came through with perfection. We hope to see more of this actor in local productions.

John Hitchcock as "Bobby Dan" the singing idol, was well cast, only slightly too youthful in presentation, thus appearing like a 20 year old trying to pass for 37, than as a 37 year old trying to pass for 20. His projection was good, his delivery slightly fast in some areas, but his overall performance convincing and polished. Hitchcock had a difficult extra chore to do, as his role required several vocal solos with guitar accompaniment. These interludes we found to be enjoyable and they left us hoping we will hear more of this young man's musical talents.

Paul Fenger as "Herman Schneider" a phoney psychoanalyst, was convincing and kooky, completely at ease and in absolute control.

Robin McColl, cast as the inimitable beatnik "Peter Fember," did full justice to his role. His very appearance was enough to produce gales of laughter from the audience, indicating, aside from Robin's proven ability as an actor, that Terrace Little Theatre had an excellent make-up and costuming crew at work backstage. McColl took what the make-up people had given him and parlayed it into what might well be termed the top performance of the entire production. His characterization was flawless and when it called for an about-face, he portrayed the role of a down-to-earth young husband with convincing tenderness.

John McAllister's infectious laughter made "Michael Kenley" the "sometimes newspaper reporter" quite believable. In fact we are still not sure whether McAllister was actually acting or whether he was publicly enjoying some hilarious private joke. In any case, he did it very well.

The sextet of the production "Pearl" played by Pat Davy bordered on perfection. There was no difficulty in hearing her lines and they carried exactly the right inflection. For a first try, this young actress deserves full marks. She managed to inject a delightful touch of cheesecake into the overall performance and did so without being gawky or graceless.

No comedy should ever end on a quiet note and the finale provided by the bolsterous and completely uninhibited entrance of Mildred Wagenaar and Roy Frank cast as "Corinne" and "Barnaby" could audience wishing for a sequel. It was obvious immediately that "Corinne" and "Barnaby" could provide the means for an hilarious three-act farce all by themselves.

Our general opinion of the play is that it was extremely well done by all concerned. There were a few loose areas, particularly in blocking, but this might be partially attributed to the size of the Community Centre stage. Some attention was lacking in upstage motion, leaving certain movements slightly awkward in the eyes of the critical viewer.

But who wants to be critical when there is so much to be enjoyed?

"The Spirit of the Flight" is the theme of the Air Canada pavilion at Expo 67. The pavilion will consist of 23 blades spiraling upward.

She works uninterruptedly 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 52 weeks a year. She always answers the phone immediately; tells the caller where you are or when you'll be back; takes down his message for your return. Her name: the "ELECTRONIC SECRETARY" from B. C. TEL— invaluable if you don't yet have a real secretary and still worth her weight in gold if you do.

During hectic working sessions, when it's helpful to cut out the phone for a time, just switch over to your "Electronic Secretary." No frustrations for customers or other callers. No interruptions of the working session. As soon as you're ready, just switch on the play-back and catch up on what's been happening right away.

For the small one-man business, which must frequently be left unattended for varying periods, the "Electronic Secretary" is a particular boon. The recorded message (in your own voice) answers the phone, explains your absence and invites the caller to leave his own message for you to hear on your return.

No jealousy between these girls! Your real secretary will be as enthusiastic as you are about her electronic counterpart. It solves lunch hour and coffee break problems, copes with after-hour calls and holds the fort for her on those rare mornings when her bus is delayed. # Wedding Principals To Live In Vancouver

A late afternoon wedding was solemnized on October 22, when Linda Laverne Easton, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Easton of Terrace, became the bride of Donald George Winterbottom of Austin, Manitoba.

Reverend G. W. Keenleyside conducted the 4:30 p.m. ceremony in Knox United Church, which was tastefully decorated with large baskets of giant yellow chrysanthemums.

Robin Thomas of Terrace, was bestman and two of the groom's brothers, Mel and Kenneth Winterbottom, shared ushering duties with the bride's brother, Scott Easton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a floor length white silk velvet gown of Princess styling, featuring a floor length wedding coat of delicate floral lace. A triple tiered nuptial veil misted from a snow white silk halo headband and she carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemum, white stephanotis, bronze Garnet roses and eucalyptus greenery with gold ribbon streamers.

An added touch of tradition was provided as the bride wore an engagement ring with a blue stone borrowed from her Grandmother Easton; and as something new, a single pearl on a fine gold necklet, gift of the groom.

Warm fall colors were predominant in the gowns of the bridal attendants. All were fashioned on floor length Princess lines with matching muffs, each of which was adorned with yellow chrysanthemums, trailing ivy and ribbon streamers. Matching self bows were worn as headpieces.

Matron of honour, Mrs. T. Jarvi, sister of the bride, was gowned in autumn gold velvet, while bridesmatron, Mrs. Janet Easton, selected apricot velvet; and bridesmaids Judy Mabley and Karen Calvert, both cousins of the bride, chose brown velvet and moss green velvet respectively.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the banquet hall of the Lakelse Motor Hotel.

To receive guests, the bride's mother selected an afternoon suit of pink silk knit with navy accessories and a corsage of yellow 'mums.

Assisting in the receiving line, the groom's mother chose an afternoon gown of pearl grey boucle with black accessories and a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums.

Floral arrangements and tables decorations for the reception were created by Mrs. N. Douglas. They featured giant yellow chrysanthemums on background tables with dainty clusters of baby mums in bronze, gold and yellow tones with sprigs of ivy, placed at focal points along the banquet tables. Head table candles carried through the fall color scheme in tones of deep orange.

An heirloom linen cloth made by the bride's grandmother over 50 years ago, covered the table on which a three tiered wedding cake, beautifully decorated by friend of the family Mrs. W. Bailey, was resplendently displayed.

Mrs. Nev Calvert was in charge of the brides guest book during the reception.

Master of ceremonies for the evening, Mr. N. Douglas, proposed the traditional toast to the bride, and the groom made an appropriate response.

Bestman, Robin Thomas, toasted the bridesmaids and the response was spoken by Mr. Mel Winterbottom.

Mrs. N. Douglas, paid tribute to the bride's parents and the bride's father Ralph Easton gave the response.

Several congratulatory telegrams were read during the sit-down dinner for fifty.

Following dinner, the bride

The Dutch Will Remember . . .

There are few periods in the history of the Netherlands of which the tragic significance has been more deeply impressed in the hearts of the Dutch people than the occupation years of World War II which lasted from 1940 to 1945.

The people of the Netherlands were ill prepared for the sudden relentless onslaught of the enemy. They fought valiantly for five days but were soon overrun by the oppressor. Following their brave battle, the Dutch settled in for five of the longest and bitterest years of their history.

During those years, old people died of exposure and absolute heartbreak. Children died by the hundreds because there was not sufficient food to maintain their growth. Men, desperate to provide warmth for their families during the cruel months of winter, broke up chairs, tables, bedsteads and even pried off woodwork from the walls in order to assure some protection from the wild winds of the sea.

Babies were born without benefit of medical assistance and then tried vainly to survive, gaining meagre sustenance from already undernourished mothers. Many died.

One three year old child, now a grown man living in the Terrace area, sat cringing on his mother's knee while the oppressors stormed into the home of his parents looking for someone who was reported to be in the Dutch Underground. The child could not speak because his mother's hand was held firmly across his mouth in great measure of fear.

Those were the years of the occupation; the years when coffins were lowered into huge graves, eight and ten at a time. Coffins that contained not bullet-ridden bodies, but bodies wracked with disease, brought on through starvation and deprivation and in many cases sheer exhaustion and loss of hope.

The bombardment of Rotterdam, the looting of the country, the terrifying SS raids, the unspeakable suffering are all a thing of the past for the Netherlands today.

But the Dutch do not forget. Each year on Remembrance Day they travel in quiet groups to the cemeteries where Canadian soldiers are buried. They pray silently in gratitude for their final liberation — a liberation that cost many Canadian lives. It started with Nijmegen and Arnhem and continued with the conquest of Zeeland and the eastern provinces.

How wild and wonderful was the day on which the Canadian forces paraded through Amsterdam, victorious, laden with food supplies for the hungry hordes, intent on returning the treasures of the land to their rightful owners.

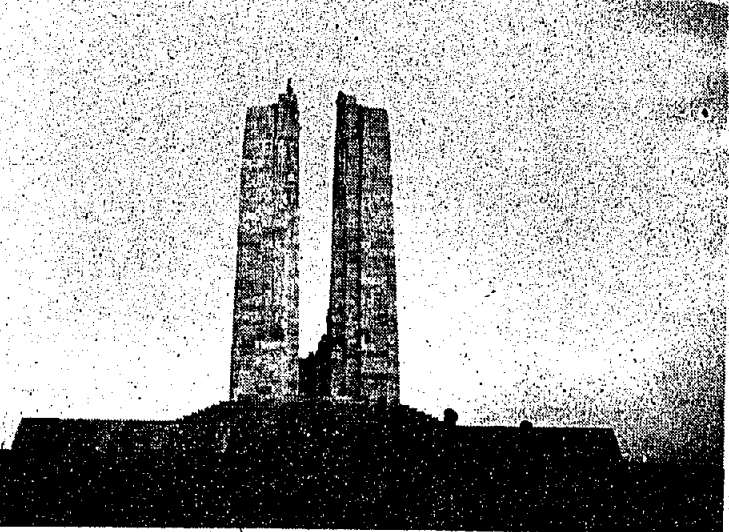

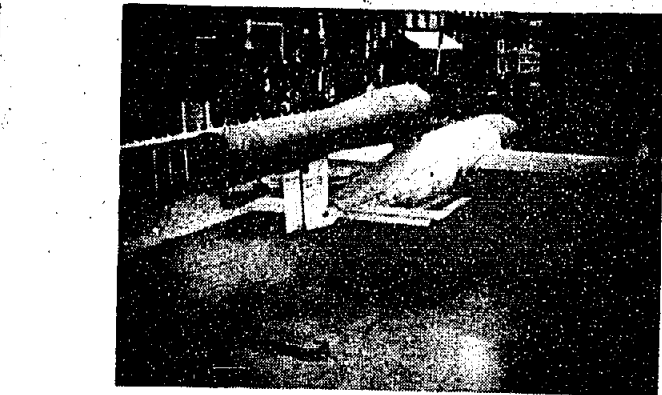

It was a day of exultation not sadness. Those who gave their lives to free the Dutch people were not forgotten in the happiness of the moment. Nor are they forgotten today.

Nor will they ever be forgotten — for theirs was the ultimate sacrifice.

Indeed, on this Remembrance Day, November 11, 1966, the Dutch will remember — As will all the people of Free Europe.

In Flanders Fields

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe,
To you from falling hands, we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high;
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep,
Though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.
