April 1974

To the Class of 1974:

Yearbooks are among the most curious of publications. They capture only one year in the lives of a college community, and the mere paper the pictures are printed on undergoes far less aging as the years progress than the people who inhabit those pictures. Depending on the moment in time we happen to open them, yearbooks graphically remind us of what we were compared to what we are, and the comparisons can evoke any number of emotions: laughter, nostalgia, fondness, regret, thankfulness, - the list goes on. Most of all, yearbooks remind us that the past can be remembered, but not relived. Hopefully, this book will be a record of happiness and pride for each of you; hopefully it will bring forth memories of a time of togetherness, of accomplishment, of growth of mind and spirit, of a college that helped you discover yourself and your place in the eternal scheme of things, of a year that was crucial - in the best sense - in the development of the person you have become.

This book will never be more compelling to you than the first day you receive it and leisurely page through it, counting the number of times you were captured on film in a variety of situations, savoring your graduation portrait. Years later when your children or grandchildren haul it out of some dusty attic, be prepared for some fun - especially as you try to give them a logical explanation for the 1974 phenomenon of "streaking." My greatest hope personally is that whenever this book is opened in the indefinite future, you will be impressed not so much by the fact that you have changed in the intervening years, but what kind of change has taken place, and what role Saint Francis College played in focusing the direction of that change. If you are continuing to learn, to seek new challenges, to extend your devotion to God and the betterment of the lives of those around you, we hope that your undergraduate years with us will have provided the basic impetus for the ongoing vitality of your life. That is our reason for being.

It is also my personal hope that your senior year will have proved to be a turning point in the history of Saint Francis College. This was a year marked by the introduction of wide-ranging changes in curriculum, the addition of energetic, forward-looking people to the staff of the College and the design of distinctive new major programs. In short, it was a year when Saint Francis College mapped a future for itself that would ensure growth and progress while other colleges were experiencing a slow decline, or even vanishing. The key to all of our changes was the challenge of meeting the needs of our students better. And you, the Class of 1974, played a vital role in it all - both directly and indirectly. Your cooperation, understanding, and suggestions for improvement were invaluable in helping solve the problems that wide-scale curricular transition inevitably brings. In student life, you helped generate an enthusiasm, unity, and sense of personal responsibility to each other and the College that might have seemed impossible when you were freshmen. We thank the Class of 1974 for that contribution, and we shall never forget it.

Finally, the year was marked by the greatest personal tragedy I have ever known in the drowning of our son Bobby last July, yet it has also provided some of the greatest professional challenges and satisfactions I shall ever know. I hope that the past year will ultimately be one which is distinguished by the strength that results from having met uncommon challenges and overcome them - both for myself and for the College.

Thank you for everything you have done for Saint Francis College. I hope that we will merit your loyalty and support in the years ahead.

Sincerely,

Robert L. Horn
President

To the Saint Francis Community,

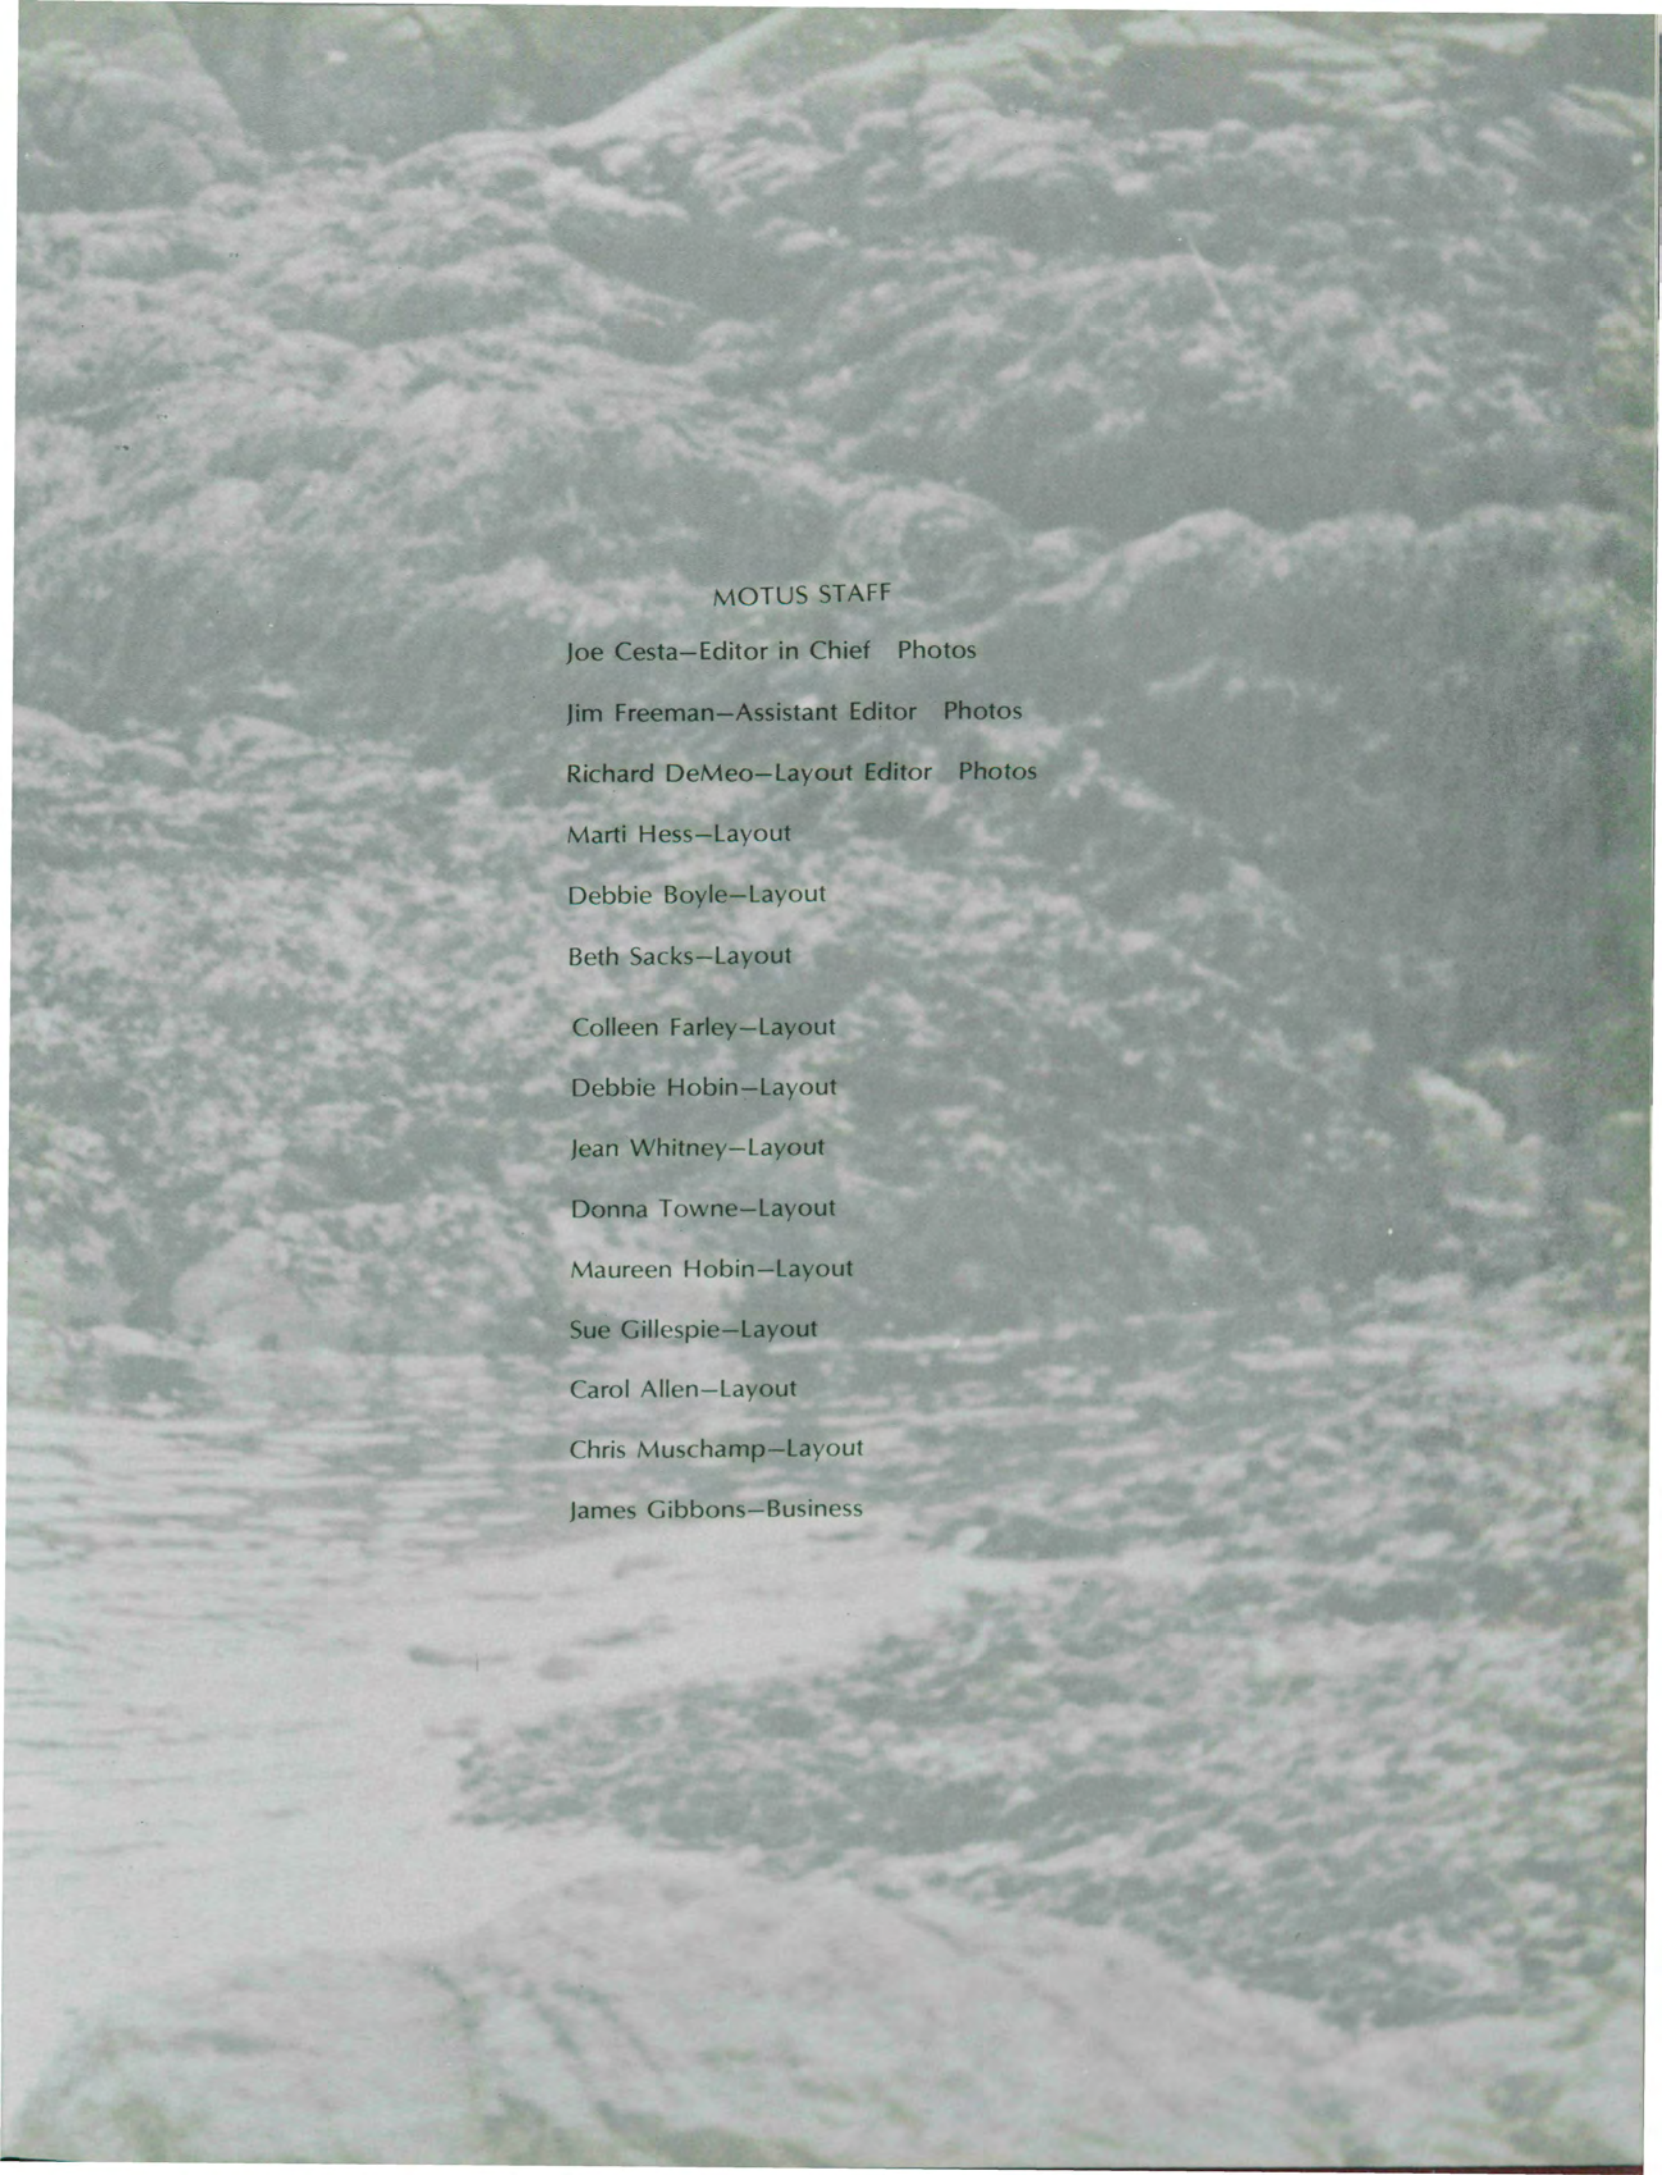

As you view the contents of this book you will eventually discover the verse "Fantasy End" which we (the Motus Staff), have chosen to be the theme of the 1974 Motus.

The short lived, four year career we have spent at St. Francis has now come to an end. With the termination of this stay, so ends the fantasy of the far removed world we have been existing in. We must admit that our view of the world from our small and usually happy environment, sometimes strays from reality. It is for this reason that the staff felt it appropriate to choose the verse we did.

Casting our fantasies aside however, we must recognize the realities we have gained. The realities of friendships that will certainly not be forgotten and hopefully never be lost. The reality of the knowlege we have gained, not only in the academic world but about ourselves and others. But most of all, the reality of the confidence we have gained in ourselves as people who are able to achieve the goals we have set. These realities will hopefully lead us all to success one day.

The Motus Staff used a good deal of their spare time putting together this account of the 1973-74 academic year. The entire group deserves a great amount of credit for putting their best effort forward and working together as a team. For this I can only say thank you. To those who don't fall into that category I say thanks for helping me discover some realities.

DEDICATION

This year the Motus staff is proud to dedicate the yearbook to Dr. Robert Horn. He has shown a great desire to help not only the college but the community around him. In two short years he has brought about changes that have improved the quality of St. Francis and is on the road to initiating more advancement. To this hard working and dedicated man we extend our gratitude. For a true achiever, what St. Francis actually required.

IN APPRECIATION

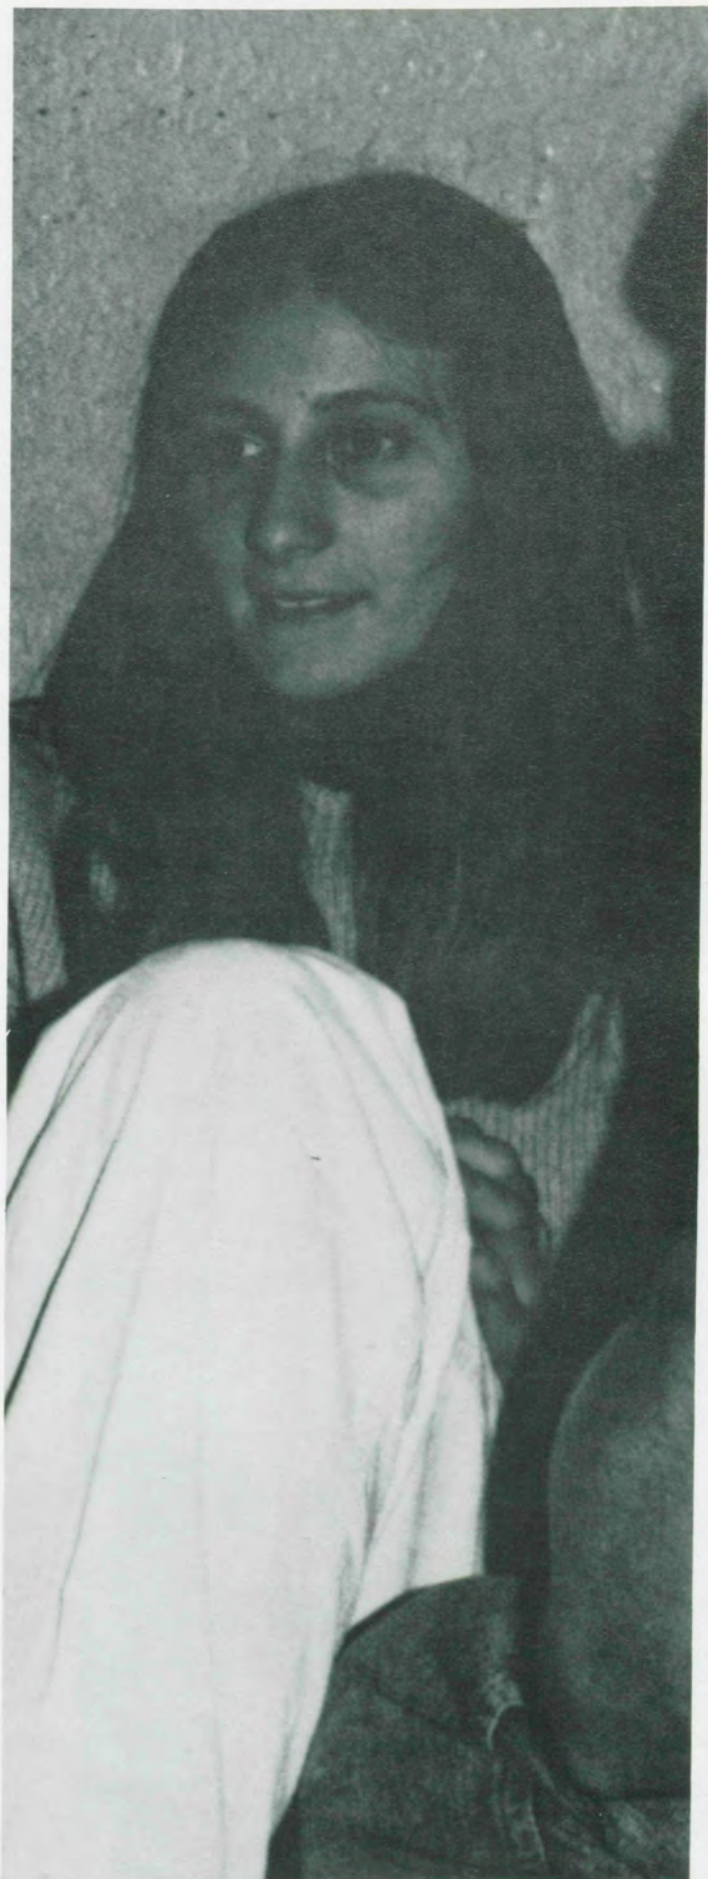

Unfortunately a yearbook may be dedicated to only one person. This person is one who has shown an extraordinary effort to serve the school. We feel our choice was a good one. However there were many other people who were considered and we think that they deserve a sincere thank you for helping us out.

Now that I've expressed my soul
I'll step back into my real-life role
And hope I've brought you back across the line
You may think there's nothing you can do
To change what's all too true
But all you have to do is use your mind
In fantasy you can be anything you want to be
And someday our reality will be as good as never never land.
