Building on strengths

- The scrapbook project
 - Archivists (selection, description)
 - Catalogers (metadata creation and standardization)
 - IT/Digital Projects (imaging standards, metadata and discovery planning)
- Who acts as translator?

Carnegie Library Scrapbook, Unprocessed

Challenges

- Terminology and “translation”
- Reporting structures
- Physical proximity and new means of communication

Aerial view of Jackson Library, 2000: <http://libcdm1.uncg.edu/u/?/ui,1347>

Benefits

- Learning opportunities for all!
- Design workflows and best practices
- Build relationships; set stage for future collaboration
- Learn new skills

Postcard of pageant characters on May Day, 1912:
<http://libcdm1.uncg.edu/u?/ui,1784>

Teamwork is the assumption

- New positions will likely work in all three worlds to some extent
- Greenhouse Project graduate assistant position
 - Reports to Electronic Resources/IT (Digital Projects)
 - Works closely with Cataloging and Special Collections
 - All three departments collaborated on proposal and job description

Moving forward

- Collaborate
- Educate
- Demonstrate value
