Mr. Ward's sketch time-table was then brought forward, and ordered to be recorded with the minutes of the proceedings.

Mr. Hall's motion, respecting contribution to be made by the colonies of Victoria, South Australia, Queensland, and Tasmania towards the the cost of the Panama service, pending the coming into operation of the general scheme of postal communication decided on, was postponed until next meeting of the Conference.

Mr. Verdon proposed that, after the resolution already agreed to by the Conference in favor of establishing a federal council, the following be inserted:—

"That, in the opinion of this Conference, other subjects of common interest, as they arise from time to time, may be advantageously referred to such a council."

Seconded by Mr. Boucaut, and agreed to by the Conference, that the resolutions stand as follows:—

"1. That it is expedient, for the purpose of carrying into effect the resolutions of this Conference, that a federal council be established, consisting of representatives of the Australasian colonies."

"2. That, in the opinion of this Conference, other subjects of common interest, as they arise from time to time may be advantageously referred to such a council."

The meeting then adjourned at 4.30 p.m., until 10 a.m. on Tuesday, the 19th March, 1867.

TUESDAY, 19TH MARCH, 1867.

The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed— The motion submitted by Mr. Hall on the 16th March was taken into consideration. Mr. Hall consented to the resolutions standing in his name being amended as follows:-

Mr. Hall consented to the resolutions standing in his name being amended as follows:—

"That, pending the coming into operation of the general scheme of postal communication decided upon by the Conference, it is expedient that a joint contribution should be made to the cost of the Panama mail service, in consideration of this service being thrown open for use by all the Australian colonies; and that the Colonial Governments should unite in their efforts to adjust the Panama service as at present carried on, so as to make it alternate as nearly as practicable within the Suez line.

"That in pursuance of the foregoing resolution, mails to and from all these colonies should be conveyed by the Panama steamers, free of charge; and that the colonies of Victoria South Australia, Queensland, and Tasmania, should furnish a joint annual contribution of £20,000 to the cost of this service."

The representatives of Victoria offered to contribute the sum of eleven thousand pounds (£11,000) per annum towards the maintenance of the Panama service, on the condition that the Victorian mails by that route are delivered at and despatched from Melbourne via Wellington, New Zealand, free of further cost, and that the service is made to alternate as nearly as possible as a fortnightly service with that via Point de Galle and King George's Sound.

Discussion ensued, and the consideration of Mr. Hall's motion was further adjourned until next meeting of the Conference.

meeting of the Conference.

The meeting then adjourned at 2 p.m., until 10 a.m. on the 20th March.

JAMES McCULLOCH.

WEDNESDAY, 20TH MARCH, 1867.

The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed.

Mr. Docker submitted the following memorandum for the consideration of the Conference in connection with the resolutions standing in Mr. Hall's name:—

Memorandum handed in by Mr. Docker.

"Under the general arrangement, the colonies have agreed to pay a moiety of the Panama line, as £13,750 13,750 13,750 7,858 4,584 Tasmania, 1-50th

"If, therefore, during the provisional arrangement, the colonies of New South Wales and New Zealand take upon themselves the payment of the Imperial moiety, the contributions will stand thus:

New South Wales ... ... £41,250

New Zealand ... ... ... ... ... ... ... ... 41,250

Victoria... 13,750 ••• ::: ... ... ... ... ... ... Queensland South Australia 7,858 ... ... • • • ... ... ... 4.584 ... ... ... ... ... ... Tasmania 1,100

But these proportional contributions included the provision for the branch services connected with this line.

"These branch services would be as follows:

Wellington to Melbourne ... ...

Sydney to Brisbane ... ... ...

Melbourne to Adelaide ... ... £6,000 say 2,400 2,400 ... ... ,, ... ,, Melbourne to Tasmania 1.000 to be defrayed out of the common fund.

"The proportion of the non-contracting colonies, supposing the whole of this portion of the subsidy was credited to them, would be—
Victoria, 1-4th... ... ... ... ... ... ... ... ... = £2,950

Queensland, 1-7th = 1,685 ... South Australia, 1-12th 983 ___ ... ... ... ... 236 Tasmania, 1-50th

"If, therefore, these branch lines were not carried into effect during the provisional arrangement, and each colony obtained its letters by the earliest opportunity, the proportion of each, founded on the joint agreement, would stand thus-

... £13,750 — 7,858 — Victoria... -£2,950 =£10,800Queensland ... South Australia 1,685 =6.173 ٠.. 983 = 3,601 ... ... 4,584 ... Tasmania 1,100 236 =864 £21,438"

Mr. Boucaut submitted the following memorandum:—
"If New Zealand it entitled to interior contribution for the Panama service, so is South Australia in an equal degree entitled to interior contribution for the cost of the King George's Sound branch service, which unjustly ignores her geographical position; although, in consideration of the general agreement assented to, South Australia waives her claim for any such interior contributions."

Mr. Hell proported promiseins to with the production contributions in figure and in force of the

Mr. Hall requested permission to withdraw the resolutions standing in his name in favor of the following, moved by Mr. Ward:

"That, until the amalgamated postal service proposed by the Conference shall be determined one way or other, it is reasonable and expedient that the Panama line of mail steamers at present existing should be jointly made use of and supported, in addition to the Suez service by all the colonies. service, by all the colonies.

"That it is desirable that the associated colonies should use their joint endeavors so to arrange the Panama and Suez services, as that the arrivals and departures of mails thereby at the several colonial ports shall fall as nearly as possible at equal intervals.

"That, in consideration of the varying circumstances and liabilities of the several colonies, it is expedient that the contributions of the colonies of Victoria, South Australia, Queensland, and Tasmania should be fixed at the total sum of £12,000 per annum, in equal reduction of the sums paid by New South Wales and New Zealand respectively; and that the four first-mentioned colonies should share such contribution between them in the following proportions viz:—Victoria, £9,000. One possible £2,000. South Australia.

that the four first-mentioned colonies should share such contribution between them in the following proportions, viz.:—Victoria, £9,000; Queensland, £2,000; South Australia, £550; Tasmania, £450.

"That the transit and other incidental expenses of the conveyance of correspondence, and the cost of all branch services, shall be borne by the colony concerned in each case."

Mr. Verdon moved the following amendment:—

"That, pending the commencement of the new postal arrangements agreed to by this Conference, the colonies which do not contract for the Panama service should contribute in proportion to the advantage that derived from it either in proportion to the advantage thus derived from it, either

1st. On the understanding that the service be made to alternate with the service via Suez, and the mails be delivered directly.

2nd. On the understanding that the service remain as at present.

In either case the payments to be made either in proportion to the extent to which the non-contracting colonies use the service, to be determined by the result, or in a fixed sum, to be agreed upon in either case between the contracting colonies on the one hand, and the non-contracting colonies individually on the other."

and the non-contracting colonies individually on the other."

Prolonged discussion ensued; and there being no prospect of unanimity, the motion and amend ment respectively were not pressed to a division.

Mr. Verdon proposed the following resolution—

"That, in the opinion of this Conference, it is desirable that direct steam communication should be established by way of the Cape of Good Hope, by means of large steamers carrying mails and passengers cheaply, quickly, and regularly, between Great Britain and Australasia."

Seconded by Mr. Powless

Seconded by Mr. Parkes.
The motion was not pressed to a division.

Mr. Ward withdrew the motion standing in his name.

Mr. Chapman moved-

"That, pending the coming into operation of the postal communication decided upon by this Conference, it is expedient that a four-weekly service viâ Suez be maintained."

Seconded by Mr. Verdon.

After a discussion, it was agreed to leave the question to be settled by the Home Government.

Mr. Parkes moved —"That, in order to give authorised and uniform publicity to the proceedings of the Conference, the following arrangement be agreed to, viz.:—

(1.) "That the Government of Victoria be at liberty to lay copies of the proceedings, as read and confirmed by the Chairman, on the table of both Houses of Parliament on Thursday, the 28th of March and confirmed by the Chairman, on the table of both Houses of Parliament on Thursday, the 28th of March.

(2.) "That the Governments of New South Wales, South Australia, Queensland, and Tasmania be at liberty to publish copies of the proceedings, in the same form, in a Gazette Extraordinary, or other manner to be decided upon by each Government, on the same day.

(3.) "That the Government of New Zealand be at liberty to publish a copy of the proceedings, in same form, in a Gazette Extraordinary, or other manner, immediately on the arrival of the representatives of that colony at Wellington."

Seconded by Mr. Docker, and agreed to by the Conference.

Proposed by Mr. Parkes:—

"That this Conference desire to leave on record their acknowledgments of the courtcous attention of the Honorable James McCulloch, in presiding over their proceedings."

Seconded by Mr. Macalister, and carried unanimously.

The proceedings of the Conference were then brought to a close.

The proceedings of the Conference were then brought to a close.

NEW ZEALAND.

The scheme of postal communication between the Australasian colonies and Great Britain, which appears to the delegates from New Zealand to present the greatest advantages, and to be most likely to prove satisfactory both to the Mother Country and to the colonies, is one under which the two services by way of Panama and Suez should be regarded as constituting one aggregate line of postal communication, so timed as to alternate as far as possible fortnightly with each other; the total cost of the joint services being divided equally between the Mother Country and the colonies, and the colonial moiety being allocated to the several colonies in proportion either to the amount of their correspondence, to the extent of their population, or perhaps according to a combination of both. It is assumed that the Imperial Government will agree to pay half the cost of the combined service: it is very assumed that the Imperial Government will agree to pay half the cost of the combined service: it is very improbable that, if the colonies are unanimous in support of such a scheme as that now proposed, and memorialise the Home Government to that effect, that Government will refuse to bear an equal share of the necessary expense.

The total expense may be taken as follows:-

* ESTIMATED COST of BRANCH SERVICES necessary to Connect the Amalgamated Suez and Panama Services with all the colonies:—

The apportionment of the colonial moiety, if made strictly according either to population or correspondence, would be, in round figures, as follows:

£9,600

			According to Population.	According to Correspondence.
Victoria	 		 £55,000	£48,000
New South Wales	 		 36,000	24,000

			£144,000	£144,000

But however equitable the above rules of apportionment may be, the delegates from New Zealand suggest that, having regard to existing obligations with respect to postal subsidies, and to the financial circumstances of the several contributing colonies, neither of these rules should be strictly insisted They propose, as a fair and reasonable adjustment, the following allocation of the Colonial moiety:

Victoria		 			 £40,000
New South Wales		 			 37,000
South Australia	• • •	 			 15,000

Western Australia*		 			 700
					£144 ,100

* In the absence of any representative from Western Australia, it has not been thought desirable to increase the charge upon this colony.

In the event of the colonial moiety proving to be either more or less than the total sum above-mentioned, the contributions from the several colonies to be proportionately increased or diminished.

It is submitted that the above payments cannot be complained of as excessive by the western group of colonies, considering that they will be thereby entitled to a full participation in the advantages of both the Panama and Suez services, without any extra charge for correspondence sent by either route. The payments are probably not at all heavier than would be the contributions to the cost of the Suez service alone, which would devolve upon the western colonies if the expense of this service were not shared by New South Wales and New Zealand. The above allocation is proposed as adapted to the existing circumstances of the colonies, and should be revised at stated intervals.

It is desirable that the attention of the British Post Office should be called to the fact, that if the mails proceeding from Great Britain to the eastward are in future to be despatched at weekly intervals, the mails to the West Indies, of which the Panama line is a branch, should also be despatched at intervals of four weeks, instead of a calendar month, in order that the two services may harmonize.

JOHN HALL CROSBIE WARD.

QUEENSLAND.

Melbourne, March, 1867.

WE, the representatives of the Government of Queensland at this Conference, and in terms of a suggestion on the part of the Conference that each colony should put forward its own proposal, beg to offer, for the consideration of the Conference, the two following propositions:—

There are three routes now before the Conference, viz., that from and to Galle and Melbourne; that from and to Sydney and New Zealand via Panama; and that from Galle by way of Singapore and Torres' Straits.

The first of our proposals is as follows:

That the Conference should recommend to all the colonies represented by it, to subsidise the whole of these routes, the contribution by each colony to be in proportion to its population.

In submitting this proposition to the Conference we do not do so because we think that for postal purposes these three routes are essential. We regard these lines as not wholly in existence for postal purposes, and we think them calculated to bring the various colonies into direct and immediate communication with every portion of the world. We submit this proposal in the hope that by a subsidy to the three routes an amicable and united recognition may be made of the claims and interests of all the

In the event of the above suggestion being acceded to, there will be no necessity for considering our second one; but should the Conference not concur in approval of the three routes, then our second proposition is as follows:

The Colony of Queensland, while hitherto paying her full share, at least, for the conveyance of the mails by King George's Sound and Melbourne, has practically derived little or no benefit from that line, for it very seldom happens that the incoming mail arrives in Queensland in time to have letters answered by the outgoing mail of the same month; and in no case does it ever arrive in time for answers beyond a circuit of a few miles around Brisbane.

We propose, therefore, that the Conference should recommend the establishment of a fortnightly mail from Galle; one mail to be carried as at present by Adelaide and Melbourne, the other to be conveyed by way of Singapore and Torres' Straits, the contract amount to be borne by the several colonies, as follows—one-half on the basis of population, the other half in proportion to the estimated number of letters forwarded and received by each respective colony.

This proposal commends itself for various reasons:—

(1.) The Peninsular and Oriental Company's steamers already carry the English mails to Singapore, where there are docks in which these steamers are regularly examined, and the probability therefore is, that that company would offer to convey the mails from Singapore to Australia, by way of Torres' Straits, at a less sum than any other company.

(2.) By the employment of good steamers, bound to a certain average speed, and on the completion of the improvements now going on in Torres' Straits, the mail by that route ought to be addirected in Melbourne, within a year, limited period beyond that at which the

to be delivered in Melbourne within a very limited period beyond that at which the present mail arrives, while the public intelligence, as announced by the electric wire, and much private and business information by the same way, would in connection with the mail steamer, reach the whole of the colonies much earlier than by any other route.

(3.) The line by Torres' Straits and Singapore is a smooth water passage, with natural advantages unknown to any other route, and must, when well opened, be the one preferred by tages unknown to any other route, and must, when well opened, be the one preferred by all passengers proceeding to England.

(4.) Regarding the Torres' Straits route as something more than a postal one to Europe, it opens up to these colonies a new and safe means of access to India, China, Japan, and California, in place of the stormy passage by the Leeuwin.

Having submitted the two foregoing propositions to the Conference, we would now add that, in the event of the rejection of both, or in the event of any modification in which we cannot concur, we reserve to ourselves the right of considering any other proposal that may be submitted, and of assenting or dissenting therefrom, either in whole or in part.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

FIRST PROPOSITION.

The colonies to move the Imperial Government to undertake the payment of a moiety of the lines via Panama, making an estimate of the contribution at present paid by the free conveyance of the Australian mails by the West Indian Mail Service.

To make the necessary provision for the carriage of the Australian mails, via Suez, as far as Galle, in conjunction with the China and Japan service.

The departure of the mails from Southampton and Sydney to be fixed respectively for the 1st and 15th of every month, making the conjoint services a fortnightly communication. The colonies to contribute to each line pro rata on the system now in force on the Suez line; each colony and England keeping its respective collections.

The colonies to call for tenders for the performance of the service once a month, from Galle to Sydney, calling at King George's Sound and Melbourne, with a branch service to Adelaide, New Zealand, and Brisbane.

SECOND PROPOSITION.

The Imperial Government to bear the expense of delivery of the Australian mails at Singapore, keeping its collections.

The colonies to call for tenders for a monthly service from Singapore via Batavia and King George's

The colonies to call for tenders for a monthly service from Singapore via Batavia and King George's

Response to Sydney delivering mails at Adelaide and Melbourne; The colonies to call for tenders for a monthly service from Singapore via Batavia and King George's Sound (known as the Western Passage) to Sydney, delivering mails at Adelaide and Melbourne; returning via Brisbane and Torres' Straits to Singapore.

Also, for a monthly service, alternating with the foregoing, from Singapore via Batavia and Torres' Straits to Melbourne; delivering mails at Brisbane and Sydney, returning via Adelaide and King George's Sound to Batavia and Singapore; branch mails to New Zealand and Tasmania.

Also, for an intercolonial service to leave Sydney on the arrival of the outward mail with the mail for Brisbane; and on the other line, leaving Melbourne with the mail for Adelaide. The intercolonial boat to leave Adelaide six days after the arrival of the outward mail, with the return mail, calling at Melbourne, and thence to Sydney, arriving there in time for the despatch of the departing mail via Torres' Straits; and, in the alternating passage, leaving Brisbane in the same manner, calling at Sydney en route for Melbourne, for the steamer returning by the western route.

The arrivals of each line-steamer to be fortnightly (say 1st and 15th); the departure, 5th and 22nd of the month.

The expense to be distributed pro rata on the Suez system, and each colony to retain its own collections.

In the event of this plan being adopted, it will be necessary to fix some plan of contribution from the colonies which are not at present contributing to the Panama line, to be apportioned by the extent to which they use it.

VICTORIA.

1. The representatives of Victoria, in the Postal Conference assembled at Melbourne, are of opinion that a monthly mail service by way of Suez and King George's Sound is essential for the interests of Victoria and the other western colonies.

2. That it is expedient that a fortnightly service between England and Australia be established.

3. That this service could be most efficiently and cheaply performed by way of Suez, but that to secure the collateral advantages to be obtained by the adoption of a second route for the fortnightly service, and to enable the Australasian colonies to act together in the matter of postal communication; they are prepared to entertain any proposal which will secure those advantages without entailing upon the western colonies a disproportionate cost.

A That if a general scheme he adopted by the colonies in common, it is desirable that the plan of direct communication by way of the Cape of Good Hope should be considered by the Conference.

Australasian Steam Navigation Company, Sydney, 23rd February, 1867.

Gentlemen,

I do myself the honor to imform you that this company will be prepared to tender for the "Mail Service to and from Galle," at a less rate than is now paid, and will undertake to perform it in the same time as the present service is limited to; or, if deemed preferable, would unite with owners of steamers in the sister colonies for the performace of the service.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

Your most obedient servant FREDK. H. TROWTON,

Manager.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

We support the Suez route, believing it to be the best for the interests of the Australian colonies generally. The ocean steamers to call at a port in South Australia.

Nevertheless, for the purpose of securing the advantages that would follow united action by the various colonies, we would join in a more general or federal scheme, on a just estimate of the resources and geographical position of South Australia.

JAS. P. BOUCAUT WALTER DUFFIELD.

Melbourne, 9th March, 1867.

RESOLUTIONS TO BE MOVED BY MR. PARKES.

1. That any scheme of ocean postal communication agreed upon by this Conference should, in providing for the general convenience, be so adapted to special interests as to secure the concurrence and support of all the associated colonies.

2. That any such scheme will be valuable to each of the colonies in proportion to the number of points of commercial intercourse which it shall be made to include, in combination with expedition and regularity of conveyance between Great Britain and Australia.

3. That the facilities for the transmission of merchandise and for passenger traffic ought not to be overlooked as collateral advantages.

4. That the contributions of the associated colonies to the cost of any such general scheme should be proportioned, not so much by calculations of the actual population or the post-office correspondence as on the basis of a compromise of interests and preferences in view of a common federal object.

5. That, considering our political connexion as dependencies of the Crown, and the interest of England as a commercial nation in the trade and progress of the colonies, one-half of the cost of any such aggregate scheme ought in justice to be borne by the Imperial Government.

6. That in the proposed federal action the colonies of Victoria, New South Wales, and New Zealand are considered as possessing equal interests, which may be approximatively estimated as follows:—

VICTORIA.—On the basis of population and commerce, with her general interest in Australian progress, and her special interest in the maintenance of the Suez route, from her undoubted priority of advantages derived from it.

NEW SOUTH WALES.—On the basis of population and commerce and the same general interest, with her supposed greater interest in the Panama route.

NEW ZEALAND.—On the same basis of individual and general interest, with her undoubted priority of advantages in communication via Panama.

7. That the interests of Queensland, governed by her geographical situation, require a special service which does not present any considerable advantages to the other colonies, but that it is not desirable that Queensland should be disunited from the other colonies in the settlement of this question.

8. That the colonies of South Australia and Tasmania, partly owing to specialities of social character, and partly to the limitation of their intercolonial relations, will be least affected by any new adjustment of the existing postal arrangements.

9. That in order to establish an aggregate system, affording regular monthly communication from the port of Sydney, via Brisbane and Torres' Straits, to Singapore, and via Melbourne and Galle to Suez, and via New Zealand to Panama, with the necessary branch services, the six colonies represented at this Conference should contribute a sum of £197,000 by the following proportions, or a larger or smaller sum, not exceeding £200,000 in the whole, by the same rate of apportionment, viz.:—

Victoria		 	 			50,000
New South Wa	les	 	 			50,000
New Zealand		 	 	•••		50,000
Queensland		 	 			27,500
South Australia		 	 			15,500
Tasmania		 	 			4,000
					£	197.000

10. That it is expedient that the six colonies represented at this Conference should act in concert in enforcing these views, and should join in a memorial to Her Majesty, setting forth the mutual advantages to be derived by England and Australia from their adoption.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

BRISBANE RIVER.

THE Dredge "Lytton" having been placed below the entrance to the Cleveland Boat Channel, for the purpose of deepening the water at that portion of the river, notice is hereby given that vessels are to pass on that side only of the Dredge from which a flag is exhibited by day or a red light by night.

Should no such signals be exhibited, the existence of some accidental obstruction to the navigation of some accidental obstruction to the navigation will be denoted.

G. P. HEATH, Lieut. R.N., Portmaster.

Port Office, 10th April, 1867.

THE following remarks respecting the entrance to the Albert River—which have been compiled from a report furnished by the Harbor Master at that port, and from other sources—are published for general information.

When making the Albert from the offing, the position of the entrance to the river is shown by three clumps of high trees; the easternmost of which—a clump of withered mangroves—is the west bush of Captain Stokes' chart, the other two are the high trees of Flinders. The coast line to the west of the mouth of the river is covered with mangrove, while the eastern shore is remarkable for being without mangrove, either on the beach or near the sandhills at the back.

The bark of the sandhills at the back.

The bar (which is apparently dry at low water) is one mile inside the one fathom line on Captain Stokes' chart, and is four miles from Kangaroo Point, on the east side of the mouth of the river. From the bar, Kangaroo Point bears S. by W. ½ W., and the high trees of Flinders S.W. ½ S.

To cross the bar, a vessel should steer for about ½ miles with the high trees of Flinders bearing S.W. ½ S., until the water deepens two fathoms—Kangaroo Point bearing about S. ¾ W.; then haul up and steer S. by W. for the mouth of the river, which will be open to view. The width of the channel is about a quarter of a mile, and the position of the banks on each side—which are dry at low water—can be distinguished by the lighter color of the water.

of the water.

A few yards above high-water mark on the sandy beach eastward of Kangaroo Point is a native well, from which a supply of fresh water may be obtained.

The navigation of the Albert above Saltwater Arm is more intricate than would be anticipated from the chart.

The har appears to be unplicated in my the regarders of the same and the chart.

The bar appears to be unaltered since it was surveyed by Captain Stokes in H.M.S. "Beagle," in 1841. The rise of tide was then estimated at from 10 to 13 feet at springs, and from 3 to 8 feet at neaps; and high water, full and change, at Kangaroo Point at 7h. 30m. It is now found that the tides during the N.W. monsoon are higher than those during the S.E. monsoon, when Captain Stokes took his soundings.

G. P. HEATH, Lieut. R.N.,

Portmaster.

Port Office, 8th April, 1867.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

MORETON BAY. - INNER BAR, BRISBANE RIVER.

THE Cutting through the Inner Bar—to the southward of the West Beacon—having been completed to a width of 200 feet, and a depth of 10 feet 6 inches at low water, two triangular Black Beacons have been erected on the East Banks—that to the north-eastward being inverted, and having a white stripe down the centre.

Vessels entering the port will, after passing the West Beacon, keep the Lightship open to the eastward of it, until the two Beacons on the East Banks are in line. When the top of the near Beacon is on with the white stripe on the Beacon to the northeastward, a vessel will be in the centre of the Cutting, and may continue that course until abreast of Luggage Point.

Masters of vessels are cautioned against anchoring in, or within a hundred yards on either side of, or to the north-eastward of the line of, the Cutting, or within a cable's length of its south-western entrance.

G. P. HEATH, Lieut. R.N., Portmaster.

Knowing the interest that your Excellency has always taken in the general welfare of this colony, we feel sure that this, the most favored part of Queensland, will secure your earnest attention.

Your Excellency will be pleased to observe the progress that has been made in Allora since your visit in the year 1860. The population, then nominal, has increased to upwards of 500 souls, and in place of the one but they existing we are shown. in place of the one hut then existing we can show the goodly array of buildings now around us. It is not too much to boast that our cereal products, our maize in particular, are celebrated throughout Queensland for their weight and value, while our wheat and oaten hay will bear a favorable comparison with those of any agricultural district in Australia. Australia.

In common with the rest of Queensland, we congratulate your Excellency on the rapid advance that has been made throughout the colony since your arrival as our first Governor, especially as regards the opening up the country and the extension of communication.

Wo humbly trust that the same Providence that We humbly trust that the same Providence that has hitherto directed your steps, may continue to protect yourself and your family, and that at a future day when Queensland shall have become rich and famous, you may look back with pride to the impetus which you gave its infancy by your energy, and by the great interest you took in the development of its varied resources.

REPLY.

Gentlemen.

I thank you for the address which has just been read, and for the hearty welcome with which you have greeted me.

I do indeed, as you anticipate, observe with surprise and pleasure the progress that has been made in Allora since my first visit to the Darling Downs in 1860. It is exactly seven years this month since I first rode over the site of your now flourishing township. The most absolute solitude then reigned over the spot where your prosperous homesteads now stand, while the land around them—now the scene of your busy industry, and rich with the scene of your busy industry, and rich with the promise of an abundant harvest, lay waste and silent.

It is universally acknowledged that the district of the Darling Downs is second to none throughout of the Darling Downs is second to none throughout the Australian continent in the fertility of its soil, and in the healthiness and amenity of its climate. An able public writer in England has recently remarked that there is really no sort of comparison between Australia and any other part of the globe, as a home for the hard working man and woman who find themselves overcrowded in Europe; "nor can we (it is added) enough rejoice that a territory is at last open fairly to the intending emigrant separated from the troubles and anxieties which beset the rest of the world; with a climate so mild that a laborer may work every day in the year; where fire is a mere luxury, and fuel is only absolutely required for cooking food; and where there are no wars or conspiracies to distract the onward progress of civilized man."

It has often been observed that the influence which has saved from anarchy our kinsmen in the great American commonwealth resides in the votes of the actual occupiers and tillers of the soil—of the "territorial democracy," (to quote the apt phrase of one of the leading statesmen and authors of our age, the present Chancellor of the Exchequer). Now in the vast territory of Queensland, there is ample room and verge enough for both pastoral and agricultural pursuits. So, in common with all the true friends of this colony, I rejoice to see springing up here by the side of the pastoral tenants of the Crown, (who have done so much for the application). Crown, (who have done so much for the exploration and settlement of the country,) and to the mutual advantage of all classes, a "territorial democracy," bound over to the cause of order and good government by that heavy recognizance, the ownership of land. The valuable qualities of prudence and moderation are usually fostered by the possession of fixed property, however small, and by that inde-pendence which is the legitimate reward of honorable industry.

In conclusion, gentleman, I thank you warmly for your kind wishes for my family and myself; and I assure you that to whatever higher place in the service of our Queen and country I may herethe service of our Queen and country I may hereafter be promoted, I shall always look back with interest to this young and rising colony—to the welfare of which I have devoted all my energies during seven of the best years of my life—where most of my children have been born—and with the history of which my name, as that of the first Governor, must be for ever and inseparably connected connected.

From the Mayor and Corporation of Warwick. May it please Your Excellency,

We, the undersigned members of the Warwick Municipal Council, beg to approach your Excellency with an expression of the sincere pleasure we feel on welcoming you once more to Warwick.

Since the time of your Excellency's last visit to Warwick, Queensland has suffered from one of those crises so difficult to guard against by legislation, and which appear to be incidental to every community; but the spirit and firmness of your Government, guided by your own great experience, which we hope to have the benefit of for many years to come, are causing difficulties to gradually disappear; while they give us a well-grounded confidence that a more healthy state of prosperity will soon be established among us.

established among us.

The rapid extension of agricultural settlement throughout this noble district, which cannot fail to be more fully developed by the completion of the railway now so satisfactorily progressing, together with the signs of steady improvement so visible in our town, must be gratifying to your Excellency, as testifying to the wisdom and liberality of your Government, as well as to the industry and enterprise of the inhabitants.

We are glad to be informed that a short residence on the Downs has contributed to the restoration of Lady Bowen's health, and we sincerely hope tion of Lady Bowen's health, and we sincerely hope that her Ladyship and your family, with yourself, may enjoy a long life of happiness and prosperity.

In conclusion, we beg to assure your Excellency of our continued attachment and loyalty to the throne and person of Her Majesty the Queen.

REPLY.

Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen,

I thank you heartily for the address which has just been read--for this fresh assurance of your continued loyalty to the Crown, which all Britons reverence as "the glory around the sainted head of freedom"—and for your expressions of goodwill towards my family and myself.

This is my third visit to Warwick and to the rich and beautiful district of which your town is the centre. You may well be proud of the great progress which has been achieved here and throughout Queensland, during the seven years which have clapsed since my first visit in March, 1860. Within that period our population has increased more than four-fold—from about 23,000 to about 95,000 souls; while our revenue, our trade (including exports and imports), and all the other chief elements of material prosperity have more than trebled, sugar and cotton have become staple products; a new line of ports has been opened along our seaboard from Keppel Bay to Cape York, a distance of a thousand miles; and pastoral settlement has spread over an additional area more than three times larger than the area of Great Britain and Ireland.

You refer to the commercial and financial depression, from the effects of which Queensland, in common with the United Kingdom and all other parts of the British Empire, has suffered during the last twelve months. I entirely agree with you in the opinion that the difficulties caused by the recent monetary crisis will gradually disappear; and that, by the blessing of Providence on the firmness and prudence of the Legislature, and on the energy and industry of all classes of the community, the trade and finances of this colony will be placed on a sounder basis than before. Temporary depressions of this kind are incidental to all countries, and especially to all young countries. In commenting on the national propensity of Englishmen to dwell somewhat too gloomily on the inconveniences of the present day, one of the most observant and thoughtful of English poets and philosophers—I mean Samuel Taylor Coleridge—has remarked: "It is a curious fact that the fancy of our calamitous situation is a sort of necessary sauce, without which our real prosperity would become insipid to us.

I thank you for the gratifying terms in which you, Mr. Mayor and gentlemen, the municipal representatives of this important community, have spoken of the manner in which I have discharged my duties here. From the addresses presented to me by both Houses of the Legislature, and by the municipalities and other public bodies in all parts of Queensland, it appears that the educated, independent, and dispassionate men, of every political pendent, and dispassionate men, of every political party and of every social class, are agreed that I have performed my part in the administration of your affairs with all the energy and perseverance compatible with the constitutional limits of my office, as the representative of the Queen in a self-governing British colony. The confidence of the Imperial authorities has already retained me in my present subore for longer than the usual duration Imperial authorities has already retained me in my present sphere far longer than the usual duration of the tenure of colonial Governors. Were the seven and a half years of my administration to come over again, I assure you, on deliberate reflection, that I should hold exactly the same political course, in every respect, that I have held heretofore, and which has reined for me the order approach of the property of the same political course, in every respect, that I have held heretofore, and which has gained for me the entire approval of our Sovereign, together with the commendation of the statesmen of the mother country, and with the constant and loyal support of the Queensland Parliament, the only constitutional exponent of the will of the people of this colony. It need scarcely be added that during the comparatively brief period which will probably elapse before my removal to another field of duty, I shall continue to follow exactly the same course as heretofore, looking only to the instructions of the Crown and to the wishes of the colonial Legislature, and regardless alike of the popular clamor and popular applause of the moment. I was sent here to administer the Government of Queensland in conformity with the local laws, and in the spirit of the well-known principles of the British constitution. The true interests of the colony can never clash with the interests of the Sovereign, together with the commendation of the the colony can never clash with the interests of the empire at large, of which the Governor is the especial guardian; and nothing shall ever induce me to interfere authoritatively with the mode in which the people of Queensland may, from time to time, think fit to spend their own money on public time, think fit to spend their own money on public works or otherwise, and generally to manage their own internal concerns through their own Parliamentary representatives, and by the agency of Ministers responsible to those representatives.

In conclusion, I again thank you, Mr. Mayor and gentlemen, for your address, and for the gratifying welcome which has been accorded to me on this, as on my previous visits to Warwick. I cordially reciprocate your good wishes, and earnestly pray that the blessing of Heaven may pour health and happiness on your homes. happiness on your homes.

Warwick, 27th March, 1867.

From the Inhabitants of Leyburn and its Neighborhood.

May it please Your Excellency,

We, the inhabitants of Leyburn and the neighborhood, beg to express our gratification at your Excellency's arrival in this town, and bid you heartily welcome, both as the representative of our Most Gracious Sovereign, and as a private gentleman.

We trust that your Excellency's stay will be sufficiently prolonged to enable you to become personally acquainted with the most pressing wants and requirements of this town, the progress of which from various causes has hitherto been much retarded. We are, however, sanguine in the belief that Leyburn, from its position and other natural advantages, together with the large amount of traffic which it commands, will ere long become a leading town in this important colony.

We regret that your Excellency is not on this we regret that your Excellency is not on this occasion accompanied by Lady Bowen, who, we feel assured, warmly participates in the interest which your Excellency has hitherto evinced in promoting the social and material welfare of Queensland. We sincerely hope that the cool and salubrious climate of the Darling Downs will have the effect of restoring your excellent lady to a state of complete and permanent health. of complete and permanent health.

REPLY.

Gentlemen,

I thank you for the address which has just been read—for the cordial greeting with which you have received mc—and for your kind expressions respecting Lady Bowen. She regrets very much that her health, though greatly improved by her sojourn on the Darling Downs, did not permit her accompanying me throughout my present tour.

I congratulate you on the position which your rising town, and the surrounding district already hold among the most important and richest in Queensland. A bridge, connecting the two divisions of Leyburn, appears to be your most pressing requirement at this moment. I trust that the improving condition of the Colonial Treasury will ere long enable the Government and Parliament to ere long enable the Government and Parliament to ere long enable the Government and Farnament to carry out, this and other public works. The creation of a local municipality would place you in a position to manage efficiently your own concerns, and to urge your views and wishes with energy upon the attention of the Legislature. It has been very gratifying to me to observe the rapid development of the great material recoverage of the Dayling ment of the great material resources of the Darling Downs, which has been effected of late by the exertions of the pastoral and agricultural communities. The steam engines, and other machinery, the excellent dwelling houses, and farm buildings, the reservoirs for the collection and storage of water, the thousands of miles of fencing on the pastoral stations, are not more satisfactory than the wide extension of agriculture. And here I may remark that the official returns show that breadstuffs and other agricultural produce, to the value of above three hundred and fifty thousand pounds sterling (that is, at the rate of about four pounds per head of all the inhabitants of Queensland, old and young, at the present day), were imported from abroad during the year 1866. All these imports might be supplied by our own colonies.

In conclusion, gentlemen, I again thank you for your hearty welcome, and for your loyal address. Distance, far from diminishing, appears rather to increase the attachment with which the people of Queensland, and of all the other Australian colonies regard our Sovereign and the free institucolonies regard our Sovereign, and the free institutions of the mother country. I trust that time will only add fresh grace and vigor to affections so natural and patriotic, and so productive of strength and of glory, both to Australia and to the Empire at large.

FROM THE MINERS OF THE TALGAI GOLD FIELD.

May it please Your Excellency,

We, the miners and others residing at the Talgai Gold Field, desire to approach your Excellency, and to tender our most respectful congratulations on the occasion of this, your Excellency's second visit to this gold field. visit to this gold field.

The material progress of a gold field of this description (being from its nature more tardy of development than ordinary alluvial workings, and requiring a combination of capital and skilled labor to produce a successful result), will, we believe, be greatly enhanced by the liberal rewards granted for auriferous discoveries, and for which, on behalf of auriterous discoveries, and for which, on behalf of the miners of Queensland, we beg most respectfully to thank your Excellency.

We beg your Excellency to accept this humble tribute of loyalty and respect, not only as the representative of our beloved Lady Her Majesty the Queen, but also as the urbane and accomplished gentleman, to whom our respect is justly due, irrespective of the position which he occupies; and we would also desire to offer our sincere good wishes on behalf of your Excellency's lady and family.

And whatever higher position in the service of the State, whether political or social, your Excellency may be called upon to occupy in years to come, we beg of you to believe in the assurance that your Excellency will carry with you the sincere if humble wishes for your welfare of the miners and residents of this gold field. miners and residents of this gold field.

NOTICE TO MARINERS. MORETON BAY.-MIDDLE CHANNEL.

IN consequence of the growth of the East Banks to the southward, masters of vessels using the Middle Channel are cautioned that by keeping the Cape Moreton and the Yellow Patch lights in one, a vessel will pass over the tail of the bank on the north side of the channel, in ten feet at low water. When crossing the East Banks, the Cape Moreton when crossing the East Banks, the Cape Moreton lighthouse must therefore be kept slightly open to the southward of the Yellow Patch light, in order to carry the deepest water over the banks. After crossing the East Banks the lights should be again brought in line, and the lighthouse brought to the northward of the Yellow Patch light before rounding the Inner Middle Channel buoy.

THE following remarks respecting the entrance to the Albert River—which have been compiled from a report furnished by the Harbor Master at that port, and from other sources—are published for general information.

When making the Albert from the offing, the position of the entrance to the river is shown by three clumps of high trees; the easternmost of which—a clump of mgi trees; the easternmost of which—a clump of withered mangroves—is the west bush of Captain Stokes' chart, the other two are the high trees of Flinders. The coast line to the west of the mouth of the river is covered with mangrove, while the eastern shore is remarkable for being without mangrove, either on the beach or near the sandhills at the back.

The bar (which is apparently dry at low water) is one mile inside the one fathom line on Captain Stokes' chart, and is four miles from Kangaroo Point, on the east side of the mouth of the river. From the bar, Kangaroo Point bears S. by W. ½ W., and the high trees of Flinders S.W. ½ S.

To cross the bar, a vessel should steer for about 11/4 niles with the high trees of Flinders bearing S.W. ½ S., until the water deepens two fathoms—Kangaroo Point bearing about S. ¾ W.; then haul up and steer S. by W. for the mouth of the river, which will be open to view. The width of the channel is about a quarter of a mile, and the position of the banks on each side—which are dry at low water—can be distinguished by the lighter color of the water. of the water.

A few yards above high-water mark on the sandy beach eastward of Kangaroo Point is a native well, from which a supply of fresh water may be obtained.

The navigation of the Albert above Saltwater Arm is more intricate than would be anticipated from the chart.

The bar appears to be unaltered since it was surveyed by Captain Stokes in H.M.S. "Beagle," in 1841. The rise of tide was then estimated at from 10 to 13 feet at springs, and from 3 to 8 feet at neaps; and high water, full and change, at Kangaroo Point at 7h. 30m. It is now found that the tides during the N.W. monsoon are higher than those during the S.E. monsoon, when Captain Stokes took his soundings tain Stokes took his soundings.

THE following remarks respecting the entrance to the Albert River—which have been compiled from a report furnished by the Harbor Master at that port, and from other sources—are published for general information.

When making the Albert from the offing, the position of the entrance to the river is shown by three clumps of high trees; the easternmost of which—a clump of withered mangroves—is the west bush of Captain Stokes' chart, the other two are the high trees of Flinders. The coast line to the west of the mouth of the river is covered with mangrove, while the eastern shore is remarkable for being without mangrove, either on the beach or near the sandhills at the back.

The bar (which is apparently dry at low water) is one mile inside the one fathom line on Captain Stokes' chart, and is four miles from Kangaroo Point, on the east side of the mouth of the river. From the bar, Kangaroo Point bears S. by W. ½ W., and the high trees of Flinders S.W. ½ S.

Point bears S. by W. ½ W., and the high trees of Flinders S.W. ½ S.

To cross the bar, a vessel should steer for about 1¼ miles with the high trees of Flinders bearing S.W. ½ S., until the water deepens two fathoms—Kangaroo Point bearing about S. ¾ W.; then haul up and steer S. by W. for the mouth of the river, which will be open to view. The width of the channel is about a quarter of a mile, and the position of the banks on each side—which are dry at low water—can be distinguished by the lighter color of the water. of the water.

of the water.

A few yards above high-water mark on the sandy beach eastward of Kangaroo Point is a native well, from which a supply of fresh water may be obtained.

The navigation of the Albert above Saltwater Arm is more intricate than would be anticipated from the chart. The bar appears to be unaltered since it was surveyed by Captain Stokes in H.M.S. "Beagle," in 1841. The rise of tide was then estimated at from 10 to 13 feet at springs, and from 3 to 8 feet at neaps; and high water, full and change, at Kangaroo Point at 7h. 30m. It is now found that the tides during the N.W. monsoon are tain Stokes took his soundings. tain Stokes took his soundings.

NOTICE TO MARINERS. BRISBANE RIVER.

THE Dredge "Lytton" having been placed below the entrance to the Cleveland Boat Channel, for the purpose of deepening the water at that portion of the river, notice is hereby given that vessels are to pass on that side only of the Dredge from which a flag is exhibited by day or a red light by night.

Should no such signals be exhibited, the existence of some accidental obstruction to the navigation will be denoted.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

MORETON BAY.—MIDDLE CHANNEL.

N consequence of the growth of the East Banks

IN consequence of the growth of the East Banks to the southward, masters of vessels using the Middle Channel are cautioned that by keeping the Cape Moreton and the Yellow Patch lights in one, a vessel will pass over the tail of the bank on the north side of the channel, in ten feet at low water. When crossing the East Banks, the Cape Moreton lighthouse must therefore be kept slightly open to the southward of the Yellow Patch light, in order to carry the deepest water over the banks. After crossing the East Banks the lights should be again brought in line, and the lighthouse brought to the northward of the Yellow Patch light before rounding the Inner Middle Channel buoy.

THE following Notice to Mariners, received from the Colonial Office, Natal, is published for general information.

J. DOUGLAS, Colonial Treasurer.

GOVERNMENT NOTICE No. 1, 1867.

His Excellency the Administrator of the Government directs the publication, for general information, of the following amended Notice of the erection of a Lighthouse on the Bluff, at the south side of the entrance of Port Natal, in correction of the notification given in Government Notice No. 122, 1866.

By His Excellence's Command

By His Excellency's Command, D. ERSKINE

Colonial Secretary.

Colonial Office, Natal, January 4th, 1867.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

A Lighthouse has been erected on the Bluff, at the south side of the entrance of Port Natal, at an elevation of 292 feet above high water, a light from which will be exhibited on the 23rd January, 1867.

The Lighthouse is in latitude 29 degrees 52 minutes 50 seconds S., and longitude 31 degrees 3 minutes 35 seconds E.

The building is an iron tower, in the form of a frustrum of a cone, 81 feet high, painted white; centre of light being 70 feet above the base, exhibiting a revolving white light of the second class (dioptric), attaining its greatest brilliancy once every minute.

It is visible in all directions from N. (round by east and south), to S. 59 degrees W.; and can be seen from a ship's deck 24 miles in clear weather.

The above light is not visible from the Aliwal Shoal, which is 25 miles S., 53 degrees W. from the Lighthouse: vessels should not, therefore, when coming from the southward and westward, approach the shore nearer than 4 miles, or shoal their water under 40 fathoms, using the lead freely, until they make the light well out from the deck, when they may stand in until it bears N. 59 degrees E.,—which bearing will keep them outside all known danger—until they are abreast of the Umlazi River (about 9½ miles below the lighthouse), when they must keep it more to the northward, as the land trends more to the eastward, giving the shore a good berth of a mile, and when the light bears about W.N.W., they can haul in to the northward for the anchorage: anchoring in 8½ to 10 fathoms, with the Lighthouse bearing S.W. to S.W. ½ S., distant 1 mile.

W. E. ARCHDEACON, Master R.N., Admiralty Surveyor.
N.B.—The above bearings are magnetic.

THE following remarks respecting the entrance to the Albert River—which have been compiled from a report furnished by the Harbor Master at that port, and from other sources—are published for general information.

When making the Albert from the offing, the position of the entrance to the river is shown by three clumps of high trees; the easternmost of which—a clump of withered mangroves—is the west bush of Captain Stokes' chart, the other two are the high trees of Flinders. The coast line to the west of the moun of the river is covered with mangrove, while the eastern shore is remarkable for being without mangrove, either on the beach or near the sandhills at the back. beach or near the sandhills at the back.

The bar (which is apparently dry at low water) is one mile inside the one fathom line on Captain Stokes' chart, and is four miles from Kangaroo Point, on the east side of the mouth of the river. From the bar, Kangaroo Point bears S. by W. ½ W., and the high trees of Flinders S.W. ½ S.

To cross the bar, a vessel should steer for about 1½ miles with the high trees of Flinders bearing S.W. ½ S., until the water deepens two fathoms—Kangaroo Point bearing about S. ¾ W.; then haul up and steer S. by W. for the mouth of the river, which will be open to view. The width of the channel is about a quarter of a mile, and the position of the banks on each side—which are dry at low water—can be distinguished by the lighter color -can be distinguished by the lighter color at low waterof the water.

A few yards above high-water mark on the sandy beach eastward of Kangaroo Point is a native well, from which a supply of fresh water may be obtained. The navigation of the Albert above Saltwater Arm is

The navigation of the Albert above Saltwater Arm is more intricate than would be anticipated from the chart. The bar appears to be unaltered since it was surveyed by Captain Stokes in H.M.S. "Beagle," in 1841. The rise of tide was then estimated at from 10 to 13 feet at springs, and from 3 to 8 feet at neaps; and high water, full and change, at Kangaroo Point at 7h. 30m. It is now found that the tides during the N.W. monsoon are higher than those during the S.E. monsoon, when Captain Stokes took his soundings.

TUESDAY, 7TH MAY, 1867.

[No. 35.

A T Noon, this day, His Excellency The Governor proceeded in State from Government House to the Legislative Chambers, to open the Fifth Session of the Second Parliament of Queensland, and delivered the following Speech:—

Honorable Gentlemen of the Legislative Council,

AND GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY:-

- 1. It is with much satisfaction that, at the usual period of the year, when it is most convenient for many of you to attend upon your Parliamentary duties, I again invite you to the consideration of the public business.
- 2. I have much pleasure in directing your attention to the result of the Postal Conference which has lately been held at Melbourne. Papers referring to the proceedings will be laid before you, and your sanction will be asked to the course of action agreed on. The Experimental Steam Service vià Torres' Straits, undertaken during the last year, has been conducted with moderate success, and its establishment as a permanent Postal Route is now recommended upon terms which may be considered advantageous to this Colony, and which will afford additional facilities for Postal and Telegraphic communication to all the Australian Colonies.
- 3. The Leasing and Agricultural Reserves Acts have been brought into active operation during the Recess, and the survey of Crown Lands has been vigorously prosecuted. Extensive areas have been proclaimed in the Districts of Moreton and Darling Downs. An ample supply of suitable land has thus been secured for agricultural occupation; while, at the same time, an almost unlimited amount will still be available for competitive purchase and pastoral investment. The public domain is, happily, of such vast extent, and of such a varied character, that there can be no practical difficulty in supplying the utmost possible demand for the possession of landed property. I invite your special attention to a Bill which will be introduced to consolidate and amend the Laws relating to the Leasing of Crown Lands. It is of the highest importance that leasehold as well as freehold tenure should be placed on the most favorable footing possible; and my Responsible Advisers think that this may be done without detriment to the Revenue, or without any sacrifice of those rights which it is essential to conserve for the public benefit.

- 4. The arrival on our shores during the last two years of considerable numbers of unsuitable Immigrants, whose passages were defrayed from funds provided by the Colony, has rendered it necessary to bring to a close a system sustained chiefly by borrowed capital, and liable in its operations to be abused. It is, however, important to keep in view the fact that no new country has ever advanced in material wealth and prosperity unless aided by the influx of an industrious population. A Bill on this vital question will be submitted for your consideration.
- 5. The authorised Public Works are rapidly approaching completion. Already the most important and most expensive of our Railway Contracts has been finished, and the line to Toowoomba is now ready for Traffic. It is confidently anticipated, that in a few months other Contracts will be brought to a close, and additional lines of Railway thrown open for public use.
- 6. Bills for the consolidation and amendment of the Law of Distress and Replevin; of the Law relating to Small Debts Courts; of the Police in Towns; of the Laws relating to Bills of Exchange, Promissory Notes, and Cheques; with other measures of public importance, will also be laid before you.
- 7. You will be requested to appoint a Joint Committee of both Houses to inquire into and report upon the Monetary Position of the Colony; the interests of trade and commerce require that the principles of credit and of the currency should be thoroughly understood and appreciated. I commend to your dispassionate judgment this interesting subject, which so intimately affects the welfare of the whole community.

GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY:-

- 8. The Estimates for the year 1868 have been prepared with the utmost economy consistent with the making due provision for the necessary expenditure of the year.
- 9. My Responsible Advisers are of opinion that the time has arrived when it will be necessary to place the Representation of the People on a footing commensurate with the altered circumstances of the country since the passing of the Constitution Act. Several populous places are now inadequately represented, while there are some extensive country Electorates which may conveniently be re-adjusted. It is, however, essential, before making any changes involving such important consequences, that a true estimate should be formed of the number, character, and distribution of the Population. With this view, a Bill to authorise the taking of a Census will be placed before you.

HONORABLE GENTLEMEN AND GENTLEMEN:-

10. Queensland, in common with the United Kingdom and the rest of the British Empire, has suffered severely from the Financial Crisis of 1866. Nevertheless, there are many encouraging features in the Official Returns. The Export of Gold during the past year amounted to £85,561. As compared with the neighboring Colonies, we do not at present rank high as a Gold Producing Country; but when it is remembered that but little capital has been hitherto invested in machinery, the amount just quoted tends to show that the employment of the methods adopted elsewhere would in all probability confirm the opinion entertained by scientific observers, that our auriferous deposits are both extensive and abundant. Rewards have been offered for the Discovery of new Gold Fields, and you will be asked to sanction the terms upon which they have been notified. In other new branches of productive industry remarkable progress has been made. The Cotton crop of 1866 considerably exceeded in value that of 1865, and the still larger increase of this year places it beyond a doubt that, before long, the export of this valuable commodity will prove an attractive feature for the intending Immigrant. The Sugar-cane also is being extensively cultivated; refining machinery is being erected in both the Southern and Northern Districts, and there is every reason to anticipate that at no distant date the amount of Sugar manufactured and of Rum distilled, will much more than meet the large demand for local consumption. At the same time, our Coal-fields are increasing both in number and in quality; and the rich Copper Mines of the North are being rapidly developed.

- 11. From the published returns, it appears that our Imports during the first quarter of last year amounted to £724,536, and our Exports to £463,768. The returns for the first quarter of the present year show, as nearly as can be ascertained, our Imports as amounting to £473,597, and our Exports to £645,572. This is the first period since the Colony was established during which the Exports have exceeded the Imports, and I have much pleasure in offering my congratulations upon this subject.
- 12. The matters to which I have directed your attention will, I am confident, receive your best consideration. I carnestly pray that your deliberations may promote the general prosperity and future progress of Queensland.

NOTICE TO MARINERS. MORETON BAY.—MIDDLE CHANNEL.

N consequence of the growth of the East Banks to the southward, masters of vessels using the Middle Channel are cautioned that by keeping the Cape Moreton and the Yellow Patch lights in one, a vessel will pass over the tail of the bank on the north side of the channel, in ten feet at low water.

When crossing the East Banks, the Cape Moreton lighthouse must therefore be kept slightly open to the southward of the Yellow Patch light, in order to carry the deepest water over the banks. After crossing the East Banks the lights should be again brought in line, and the lighthouse brought to the northward of the Yellow Patch light before rounding the Inner Middle Channel buoy.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

MIDDLE CHANNEL-MORETON BAY.

IN furtherance of a Notice, issued on the 16th ultimo from this Office, relative to the growth in the Middle Channel of a knoll having on it only ten feet of water at low-water,—Notice is hereby given, that on MONDAY, the 13th instant, and until further notice, a Green Light will, by order of the Marine Board, be exhibited from the Comboyuro Point Lighthouse, and will be visible through about half a mile of that portion of the course through the Middle Channel where the Comboyuro Point Light is now obscured. The Green Light will point out when the knoll has been passed, and when the change of course, referred to in the Notice of the 16th ultimo, is to take place. A Red Buoy will, as soon as practicable, be placed to the westward of the knoll.

DIRECTIONS.

Vessels entering Moreton Bay by night, after sighting the Red Light at Comboyuro Point, should steer with that light in sight so as to bring the Cape Moreton Light open to the southward of the Yellow Patch Light—a space equal to one-half the difference in height between the two lights; then steer to the westward, keeping the lights in this position, until the Red Light is obscured and the Green Light becomes visible; then haul to the N.W. by Westward, making due allowance for tide, and reverse the position of the lights—keeping the Cape Moreton light open to the northward of the Yellow Patch Light—a space equal to one-half the difference in height of the two lights. Keep the lights in this position until the Green Light is obscured, and the Comboyuro Point Light opens out as a bright white light, when vessels may proceed up the Bay as usual.

By Day.—Before rounding the Outer Middle Channel

sets may proceed up the Bay as usual.

By Day.—Before rounding the Outer Middle Channel
Buoy and crossing the East Banks, vessels should bring the Cape Moreton Lighthouse open to the southward of the Yellow Patch Lighthouse as by the above directions, and keep them in the same position until abreast the Red Buoy to the westward of the knoll; a N.W. by W. course should then be steered, making due allowance for tide, until the relative positions of the lighthouses are reversed, and the Inner Middle Channel Buoy is passed, when the usual directions for proceeding up the Bay are to be attended to. attended to.

By following these directions, the East Banks will be crossed in not less than three fathoms at Vessels can pass in the same depth of water to the northward of the knoll and the line of lights, by crossing the East Banks with the Cape Moreton Lighthouse in line with a roadway that may be seen on the western slope of the Lighthouse Hill.

PENAL ESTABLISHMENT, ST. HELENA ISLAND. GENERAL REGULATIONS.

By following these directions, the East Banks will be crossed in not less than three fathoms at low-water.

Vessels can pass in the same depth of water ot the northward of the knoll and the line of lights, by crossing the East Banks with the Cape Moreton Lighthouse in line with a roadway that may be seen on the western slope of the Lighthouse Hill.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

MIDDLE CHANNEL-MORETON BAY.

IN furtherance of a Notice, issued on the 16th ultimo from this Office, relative to the growth in the Middle Channel of a knoll having on it only ten feet of water at low-water,—Notice is hereby given, that on MONDAY, the 13th instant, and until further notice, a Green Light will, by order of the Marine Board, be exhibited from the Comboyuro Point Lighthouse, and will be visible through about half a mile of that portion of the course through the Middle Channel where the Comboyuro Point Light is now obscured. The Green Light Point Light is now obscured. The Green Light will point out when the knoll has been passed, and when the change of course, referred to in the Notice of the 16th ultimo, is to take place. A Red Buoy will, as soon as practicable, be placed to the westward of the knoll.

DIRECTIONS.

Vessels entering Moreton Bay by night, after sighting the Red Light at Comboyuro Point, should steer with that light in sight so as to bring the Cape Moreton Light open to the southward of the Yellow Patch Light—a space equal to one-half the difference in height between the two lights; then steer to the westward, keeping the lights in this position, until the Red Light is obscured and the Green Light becomes visible; then haul to the N.W. by Westward, making due allowance for tide, and N.W. by Westward, making due allowance for tide, and reverse the position of the lights—keeping the Cape Moreton light open to the northward of the Yellow Patch Light—a space equal to one-half the difference in height of the two lights. Keep the lights in this position until the Green Light is obscured, and the Comboyuro Point Light opens out as a bright white light, when vessels—are received by the Revenuel. sels may proceed up the Bay as usual.

By Day.—Before rounding the Outer Middle Channel, Buoy and crossing the East Banks, vessels should bring the Cape Moreton Lighthouse open to the southward of the Yellow Patch Lighthouse as by the above directions and keep them in the same position until abreast the Red Buoy to the westward of the knoll; a N.W. by W. course should then be steered, making due allowance for tide, until the relative positions of the lighthouses are reversed, and the Inner Middle Channel Buoy is passed, when the usual directions for proceeding up the Bay are to be attended to.

Vessels can pass in the same depth of water of the northward of the knoll and the line of lights, by crossing the East Banks with the Cape Moreton Lighthouse in line with a roadway that may be seen on the western slope of the Lighthouse Hill.

Colonial Secretary's Office,

Brisbane, 17th June, 1867.

THE following Addresses were presented to Governor Sir George Ferguson Bowen, G.C.M.G., on his recent official visit to Toowoomba. Subjoined are His Excellency's Replies.

By His Excellency's Command,

A. MACALISTER.

FROM THE MAYOR AND CORPORATION OF TOO-

May it please Your Excellency

We, Her Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the members of the Municipal Council of Too-woomba, desire to assure your Excellency of our continued loyalty and affection towards the person continued loyalty and affection towards the person of our Most Gracious Sovereign.

We desire to accord to your Excellency, as Her Majesty's representative, a cordial welcome on this your first entry into the municipality by the Southern and Western Railway. The event we celebrate to-day is one of a very important character, and cannot but evoke sentiments of a congratulatory nature. The youngest of the splendid group of colonies, which are slowly but surely laying the foundation of a second Albion in the southern seas, we are the first to perform the achievement of crossing we are the first to perform the achievement of crossing the "Dividing Range" at so great an altitude by rail-way, and have thus brought one of the most magnificent pastoral and agricultural districts in this or any other colony within a few hours communication of the shipping port.

It is impossible to estimate fully the advantages of such an event to this town and district. The progress of the railway system, generally, is one of the most marvellous histories in the world. Wherever railways have been established thebest of evidence has clearly demonstrated that the material and moral interests of the country have invariably improved. Possibly there are a few in this colony who will still sigh after the day of the familiar bullock-team, as in our mother country there were many, and among them philosophers and men of science, who sighed after the stage coach of their school-boy days; but the colonists generally will recognise in the improved system of transit the sure means of opening out new fields for the development of industry social and controlled.

sure means of opening out new fields for the development of industry, capital, and enterprise.

The district which your Excellency for the first time enters to-day by railway is, without doubt, one of the finest in Queensland. With a splendid climate, a soil unequalled in productiveness for the growth of cereals of all varieties, with ranges covered with the finest of timber, it only required the establishment of railway communication to render it additionally attractive to the agricultural settler, and afford strong inducements for the development of its varied resources.

development of its varied resources.

Your Excellency cannot fail to observe the great improvement that has taken place in Toowoomba since your last visit. In common with other portions of the colony, indeed, we may say of all the colonies, we have severely felt the effects of the late monetary crisis. It is with satisfaction, however, that we observe a gradual dissipation of those effects, and the infusion of a more healthy tone into our trade and commerce. The effects of local self government, which your Excellency so strongly supports ment, which your Excellency so strongly supports, are plainly observable in different parts of this municipality. There is, however, much yet to be effected in sanitary improvements, from our altered position consequent upon the completion of the railway; in the carrying out of which we hope to receive the liberal support of the Government and Legislature.

In conclusion, we desire to cordially welcome your Excellency and Lady Bowen to Toowoomba. We sincerely wish her ladyship and family, with yourself, the enjoyment of health, wealth, and prosperity, and devoutly hope that the auspicious event you inaugurate to-day may be long remembered by you, when in after years, should Providence spare you, you look back to the colony you have so well and faithfully governed.

[Signed by the Mayor and Aldermen.]

REPLY.

Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen-

I thank you in the name of the Queen for the terms in which you have expressed your continued loyalty and affection towards the person and government of our Gracious Sovereign; and I tender you my warm acknowledgments for the welcome which you have accorded to me on my present as on my former visits to Toowoomba. I congratulate you on the rapid increase of your population, and on your wonderful progress in every respect during the seven years which have elapsed since I was first here—a progress which is doubtless respect during the seven years which have elapsed since I was first here—a progress which is doubtless owing, in no small degree, to the energy and discretion with which the members of the Corporation have advanced the interests of their fellow-townsmen. You know that I have always been a warm advanta for the establishment of local self-governauvocate for the establishment of local self-government; and I am confident that it will be a pleasure as well as a duty to the central Government and Legislature to assist, by all the means in their power, your well considered efforts, as likewise those of the other municipalities throughout Queensland. advocate for the establishment of local self-govern-

I entirely agree with you, Mr. Mayor and gentlemen, in attaching high importance to the event which you celebrate this day, and of which you have pointed out a striking feature in that part of your address where you remark that the youngest colony of the Australian group has been the first to surmount by a railway the Great Dividing Range, or Cordillera, of Australia.

This railway is now open for full public traffic; and I earnestly hope that the ceremony of this day may prove auspicious to all concerned. May the work now completed realise all the hopes of the Ministers and Parliament that undertook it; may it reward the skill and enterprise of the engineers and contractors; may it endure throughout the great future of Queensland as a source of permanent and ever-increasing prosperity.

Finally, let me again, now, as at the opening of the first section, nearly two years ago, address a few words of friendly sympathy to the artisans and working men, who, by the successful labor of many a day's hard toil, have raised a structure scarcely more honorable to the heads that have planned them, than to the hands that have executed it. I trust that hundreds and thousands of the men who, with their families, have been temporarily employed on our railways, will become permanent settlers in this colony, on the wide and fertile lands now open for agriculture. I am confident that they will emulate their fellow-colonists in that respect for law and order which is one of the most prominent characteristics of our race. Let them recollect, moreover, that it was from their ranks that many of the chieftians of art and industry—the Boultons and Arkrights, the Telfords and Stephensons,—have sprung; and that, under the expansive freedom of our goldrid polity even more surely than in the our colonial polity, even more surely than in the parent isles, Britain opens for all her sons a cheering prospect of success and honor to genius combined with energy and virtue. Only let it never be forgotten, that what is needed here is not so much a new society, but rather the old society in a new country. On the broad and deep foundations of British principles, British feelings, and British institutions, let the fabric of the material prosperity of Queensland be erected, and over it let the spire of education, learning, and religion be raised towards Heaven.

Toowoomba, 14th June, 1867.

FROM THE MAYOR AND CORPORATION OF DRAYTON. May it please Your Excellency-

We, the members of the Municipal Council of Drayton, beg most respectfully to assure your Excellency of our loyal and devoted attachment towards the person and Government of our Most Gracious Sovereign, Victoria.

We also wish to assure your Excellency, as the representative of Her Majesty in Queensland, of our esteem for your person, our regard for your worth, and our cordial welcome on this memorable day, when, by your wise and good government of this favored land, you have come amongst us for the first time by rail—thus initiating and completing a movement that must prove the harbinger of incalculable benefit to the Downs, by more fully developing the agricultural riches of the district, and adding materially to the progress of this delightful portion of the colony.

Fully impressed, as we are, with the advan-

Fully impressed, as we are, with the advantages to be derived from speedy communication with the metropolis, and the importance of the terminus to the interest of our sister town, we canterminus to the interest of our sister town, we cannot but express our regret on so important an occasion as the present, that the district around Drayton was not devoted to a proper survey, with the view of bringing this important part of the Downs within greater proximity of railway advantages—a boon we anticipated, as being the older town, and possessing equally good natural advantages.

The recent addition to the agricultural reserves on the Downs has convinced us that the Govern-ment, under the auspices of your Excellency, are impressed with the importance of encouraging a middle class of yeomen, who, by combining agriculture with sheep farming, must contribute materially to our progress, and be the means of raising this to don progress, and we the heans of raising this colony to a position second to none dependent upon the British Crown.

We would also respectfully submit to your Excellency that, by reason of the close proximity of immense tracts of alienated land to the south and west, and the contiguity of several large fenced paddocks to the north and east of Drayton, it is impossible that the town can extend as it otherwise would; hence we respectfully trust, should the matter be brought under the consideration of the Ministry for the time being, and your Excellency has to offer an opinion on the subject, we may confidently rely that your Excellency has at heart the dearest interests of our town; and we feel assured it is your wish to promote a speedy connection with Toowoomba.

In conclusion, we have again to express our sincere and heartfelt welcome on this auspicious occasion to yourself and Lady Bowen, whose amiability of disposition, combined with the warm interest she ever manifests in every undertaking for the general welfare, have endeared her to all Queens-land; and we earnestly pray that both may long be spared to perfect the many good works you have so well and satisfactorily commenced, and live to see this beautiful land what Providence destined it to be—"the first and fairest of all creation."

[Signed by the Mayor and Aldermen.]

REPLY.

Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen-

I thank you for the loyal address which has just been read, and for your hearty welcome.

When this railway was first commenced, I did When this railway was first commenced, I did not expect to see it surmount the summit of the Main Range during my administration. But, as you are aware, the confidence of our Sovereign and of Her Majesty's Ministers has prolonged my tenure of office far beyond the usual term allotted to Colonial Governors, and has thus enabled me to congratulate the people of Queensland on the completion of several of the important public works undertaken by their representatives in the Legislature.

I amvery sensible of your appreciation of my official conduct; and I assure you that it will continue to be guided by exactly the same principles as here-tofore. From the addresses which I receive on my visits to every part of Queensland, it appears to be generally agreed that I have promoted the interests of this community with all the energy and perseverance compatible with the constitutional limits of my office. It will be remembered that the Crown, and its Representative in a self-governing Crown, and its Representative in a self-governing British colony, claim no authoritative control over the mode in which the Colonial Legislature may think fit to expend the public funds; and that the praise due for the construction of our railways should be awarded to the Parliament which sancministers who have carried them out with so much vigor. If the success of any public measure adopted here be, in any degree, owing to my personal exertions, in conjunction with those of my constitutional advisors and if any measure at the success of the success constitutional advisers, and if any reward at all were required for public labors, I have fully received that reward in the great progress which Queensland has achieved during the seven years of her political existence. Of course, it would have been impossible for any man, though better and abler than myself, to have performed his duty alike to the Crown and to have performed his duty anke to the Crown and to the colony with honesty and firmness, in the difficult and delicate position of the first Governor of a new community, without offending some individual opinions and prejudices. But I can state, in all sincerity, that the criticism—very trivial and uninfluential in my case—to which I, in common with all other public men, have occasionally been subjected will leave no painful or lesting impression. all other public men, have occasionally been subjected, will leave no painful or lasting impression on my mind. "Retaliation of injuries," says Lord Macaulay, "marks the furious and foolish partisan; forgetfulness of injuries, and conciliation, mark the statesman as well as the Christian." And if there be a single individual in Ornerland who charided any provinced vidual in Queensland who cherishes any personal unkindness towards me, I hope that such unkindness may be washed away in the first wave that will bear me from these shores to another sphere of duty in the service of our Queen and country.

After this personal digression, at once suggested and excused by the indulgent terms in which you, Mr. Mayor and gentlemen, have referred to my administration, to what you were pleased to describe as my "wise and good government of this favored land," I will conclude by assuring you of my earnest desire to forward your local interests to the full extent of my powers, and by again thanking you for your loyal address, and for the cordial greeting which has been accorded to me on all my visits to Drayton.

Toowoomba, 14th June, 1867.

FROM THE ODDFELLOWS OF TOOWOOMBA.

May it please Your Excellency,-

The members of the Loyal Darling Downs Lodge of Oddfellows, a branch of the great Manchester Unity, desire on this your first visit to Toowoomba by the Southern and Western Railway, to accord to your Excellency and Lady Bowen a hearty welcome.

Your Excellency is well aware that the principles of Oddfellowship are strictly consistent with a spirit of loyalty and devotion to our beloved Sovereign. From a small band of men met in a little room in the great manufacturing city of Manchester, our order originated. It now numbers upwards of three hundred and fifty thousand members, and is disseminating throughout the length and breadth of the British Empire a noble spirit of "friendship, love, and truth."

On such an occasion as the present, when your Excellency has been called upon, in your Vice-regal capacity, to inaugurate a great national work, we have considered it our duty, in common with our fellow-townsmen, and on behalf of our brother Oddfellows throughout the world, to celebrate the auspicious event with every becoming demonstration of satisfaction in our power.

We confidently anticipate that the pioneer railway of Queensland will materially assist the settlement of an industrious and happy population in the colony; and we believe that whatever tends to develop the resources of the colony also induces and promotes progress among the people, thereby contributing to the happiness of the whole community. In this we recognise a co-operation with those noble principles of philanthropy which we profess, and which are the fundamental doctrines of the order to which we esteem it a privilege and an honor to belong.

Although this is the first opportunity the Oddfellows of Toowoomba have had of addressing your Excellency, we have always felt what we now respectfully attempt to express, the most hearty wishes for the happiness and prosperity of yourself and Lady Bowen.

REPLY.

Gentlemen,

In thanking you for this loyal address, it is difficult to vary the terms in which I have expressed my acknowledgments for the addresses presented to me on fermer occasions by the branches of your society established in several of the other chief towns of Queensland.

I take an active interest in the progress of those benefit societies, formed by and for the English people, of which the great association to which you belong is the chief. From reliable statistics on the subject, which were published a few years ago, it appears that the Manchester Unity, founded in 1812, had spread itself in the course of half a century over every portion of the British Empire. The English benefit societies are stated, on high authority, to possess aggregate reserves of capital amounting to twenty millions sterling, and to distribute in relief among their members sums exceeding two millions annually, entirely provided by voluntary contributions out of weekly earnings. It has been truly observed that this result is the outgrowth, in a great measure, of the English love of independence and self-government; for it appears that, whereas in France only one person in seventy-six is found to belong to a benefit society, the proportion in England is one in nine.

tion in England is one in nine.

All institutions calculated to foster habits of industry and self-reliance among the mass of the population of every country, eminently deserve public encouragement. And here I may remark that the Acts of Parliament recently adopted in Queensland for the extension of savings banks, and for enabling the working classes to obtain annuities and life assurances guaranteed by the public revenue, were intended to supplement, not to supersede, the useful operations of the Manchester Unity, and of the other benefit societies already established in this colony.

In conclusion, gentlemen, I heartily reciprocate your good wishes for my wife and myself, and pray that the blessing of Providence may pour happiness and prosperity on your families.

FROM THE GERMAN POPULATION OF TOOWOOMBA AND ITS VICINITY.

May it please Your Excellency-

When important national works are carried out, annihilating time and space, and the rich country of the Darling Downs is brought within close proximity to the metropolis, it becomes us all, as loyal subjects of Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen, to offer to her Representative our homage of respect on the inauguration of so great a boon.

of respect on the inauguration of so great a boon.

Though far removed from our fatherland, we appreciate the benefits conferred by a wise and prudent Government, and we hail with satisfaction the measures which promoted the recent reservation of a large quantity of land for agricultural purposes, at a time that a railway is opened to bring us the future occupants of this country, and to convey our produce to a market.

It is now some years since your Excellency favored this district with a visit, on which occasion you were pleased to expatiate upon the capabilities of the soil, and the beauty of our climate. We may safely affirm, that were your Excellency to visit the surrounding district, you would find your predictions verified, and a large population established, amongst whom are many of our countrymen, who are desirous of expressing their sentiments in common with the townspeople of Toowoomba, on the occasion of your Excellency's visit.

The only regret we feel is, that at this season of the year we cannot present your Excellency with the produce of the soil, as our offerings of good-will, beyond the samples of wine we have now the beyond any doubt that however capable the land may be of producing the cereals required for domestic purposes, it is no less adapted for the culture of the vine.

When sufficient time has elapsed to find out the grapes best adapted for the soil and climate, we are of opinion that our wines will compete with the best Continental productions, and be the means of establishing a desire for light drinks, and abolishing the use of ardent spirits, so detrimental to the happiness of the people—a consummation in which we feel assured your Excellency will cordially concern.

With our best wishes for the health and happiness of your Excellency and Lady Bowen, we beg to subscribe ourselves your Excellency's most obedient humble servants.

Gentlemen-

I have received with much gratification this address from the numerous German emigrants who have adopted this district for their home, and have here become loyal subjects of the British Crown, and valuable members of our community.

You Germans inherit that love of enterprise and adventure, combined with that love of law and order, which are common to all branches of our great Teutonic family. As your native land possesses no colonies to receive its surplus population, you naturally prefer to settle among your Angloyou naturally prefer to settle among your Anglo-Saxon kinsmen, who are allied to you by so many ties of race, of language, and of national sympathy.

I thank you for the samples of the produce of your vineyards, which you have presented to me; and I entirely agree with you, that when there has been sufficient time to ascertain the mode of culture best suited to the soil and climate of Queensland, best suited to the soil and climate of Queensland, there is every hope that your wines will compete successfully with those of the Fatherland, and will supplant, in a great measure, the use of ardent spirits among your fellow-colonists. The official returns of 1866 show that spirits, wine, and ale, to the value of no less than £240,000, were imported into Queensland during last year. There is, consequently, a wide scope for your enterprise in this field of industry.

Gentlemen some of the happiest days of my life

Gentlemen, some of the happiest days of my life Gentlemen, some of the happiest days of my life have been spent in Germany. I have visited all your rich and beautiful provinces, and all your old historic cities, from Aachen to Wien, and from Berlin to Baden. I have quaffed with your countrymen in the old world many a goblet—in the phrase of your own Weihelied, Vaterländschen • Trankes voll; and I trust that you will revive on the hills of Queensland the fame of the vineyards that crown the banks of the Rhine and of the Danube. In a word, I would have you create here a new In a word, I would have you create here a new Germany, under more free institutions; under more sunny skies; and in a land where the wars and tumults of your native country sound but as distant thunder in your ears. You all know that your glorious national song, Was ist des Deutschen Vaterland, restricts the German Fatherland to no single region or even howingles but delines it to single region, or even hemisphere, but defines it to be wherever "the German tongue is heard, and sings hymns of praise to God in Heaven ":-

From the Residents at Highfields. May it please Your Excellency

We, the farmers and leaseholders of the High-fields Reserve, have the honor to bid your Excel-lency a hearty welcome on this your first visit to our prosperous settlements, not only for the honor bestowed upon us by your Excellency as the representative of our Most Gracious Queen, but for the gratifying proof we now receive of your Excellency's solicitude for the welfare and prosperity of the agricultural interest.

Your Excellency will be pleased to remember that scarcely four years have elapsed since the first line of settlement began its steady advance from Toowoomba, and that our settlements now run through some twenty-two miles of country, with numerous farms and homesteads stretching away in every direction, and which cannot all possibly come under your Excellency's observation. We trust, however, that your Excellency's impressions of the resources of our district will be sufficient to establish its claim to that position and consideration which your Excellency has been the first to indorse with an efficient prescription. with an official recognition.

Your Excellency will have noticed that although our soil is perhaps the richest and most fertile in the colony of Queensland, we have yet to employ a large amount of capital and labor in bringing our farms into cultivation, and when we inform your Excellency that every acre of land thus brought into cultivation is attended with an average outlay of from fifteen to twenty pounds, your Excellency will perceive the urgency of our claim to all the consideration and assistance that it may be in the power of the Government to bestow. Your Excellency will have felt the severe disadvantage under which our district is suffering, through the difficulty our farmers experience in bringing their produce to the town of Toowoomba. We trust, however, that since your Excellency's Ministers have brought within our reach that great source through which our produce may flow to the markets of the colony, they will yet complete its advantages by speedily placing the main highway of so important a district in a safe and serviceable

In conclusion, we have the honor to assure your Excellency, that in the years to come, when your Excellency may be steadily pursuing a higher sphere of successful government, and when our own wild lands shall be laden with their lusty harvest, we shall remember with the most sincere gratitude this first vice-regal recognition, now given by your Excellency to the agriculture of Highfields.

MR. EGERTON to THE UNDER SECRETARY OF STATE, COLONIAL OFFICE.

Foreign Office, February 15, 1867.

Sir,

I am directed by Lord Stanley to request that you will lay before the Earl of Carnarvon the enclosed copy of a report from the American Vice-Consul at Bradford, and published by his Government, calling attention to the extent to which China grass has come into use as a substitute for worsted in the manufacture of stuff goods in this country.

Lord Stanley has ascertained, through the Bradford Chamber of Commerce, that the importance attached by the writer of this report to the China grass is not exaggerated, and that nothing but the high price of the article prevents its being largely consumed.

Under these circumstances, Lord Stanley would recommend to the consideration of Lord Carnarvon, whether it might not be useful to forward copies of their report to such of Her Majesty's officers in the British colonies as reside in localities favorable to the cultivation and export of this grass.

I am, &c.,

REPORT BY MR. McCLINTOCK, AMERICAN VICE-CONSUL AT BRADFORD, RESPECTING THE MANUFACTURE OF "CHINA GRASS."

> Consulate of the United States, Bradford, December 15, 1865.

The Chinese have for centuries made, by hand labor, various descriptions of "grass cloth," well known in America and Europe, and often of great strength and beauty, from the fibre of the Boeh-meria Cordata, or Urtica nivea, known in commerce as Chinese grass.

Large quantities of the grass have at various times been brought over to England, and probably also to the United States, in the hope of finding a market among the dry goods manufacturers, who are always on the look-out for new materials; but it has hitherto been, and it is even now, found impossible to produce a true "grass cloth" by machinery. The fibre is rather brittle, through very strong, and it is found that the China grass cloth of commerce is only to be woven by hand labor, in which, of course, the Chinese themselves are beyond the reach of competition. Large quantities of the grass have, therefore, been in store in London and elsewhere for years. Some enterprising manufacturer would occasionally purchase a few tons with which to make experiments, but the only result for which to make experiments, but the only result for a long time was, that he who experimented the most lost the most. Thousands and even tens of thousands of pounds were sunk by one and another, who each fancied for a time that he had discovered the true method of working up this intractable substance. Whether it was tried in the United States or not, I do not know; but the concurrent testimony of my American friends in the trade is, that no one is now successfully working it at home. that no one is now successfully working it at home. Within two or three years past, however, several firms in this neighborhood have succeeded, by chemical means, in bringing the fibre into a state most closely resembling the best mohair or other bright worsted, and have worked up great quantities of the refined material as a substitute for worsted in many kinds of stuff goods, always, however, in combination with cotton (the warp being of cotton and the west of the China grass), as they have not yet been able to work it properly alone.

The manufacture of worsted goods-that is, of goods made of long-staple wool, as distinguished from short-staple or ordinary wool—has become an immense trade, of which Bradford has at present almost trace, or which bractord has at present almost a monopoly, although the manufacture has lately been extending in many parts of New England. Four-fifths of these goods are of mixed material, that is, are made with cotton warps. And for many articles of the kind, especially for those requiring a stiff, strong, and cool texture, combined with a glossy, silky appearance, it is found that the prepared China grass makes the very best material.

Of course, the grass manufacture is yet in very few hands, but its development already, even within the last few months, has been signally rapid. The market value of the raw material has for some years past maintained itself at the very high rate of about £80 per ton, which price it is supposed cannot be much lessened for many years to come. Two things are certain in this respect: one, that there is now, and will be, here, a practically limitless market for all the raw "grass" that can be imported, at from £70 to £80 per ton; the other, that under any fluctuations of the market the material is intrinsically so valuable that it will always in the future command a price as high as that of cotton, and nearly or quite as high as that of worsted itself, if not even higher.

Here, then, is a great and rapidly increasing market for a certain vegetable production at a very high price. In America we have, on the other hand, vast tracts of country which, being in the same latitude and with very much the same climate as those districts of China of which the grass is native, should be able to grow this production to great advantage. Why not then introduce its culture ?

It seems certain that the manufacture of the grass fibre will be established in our country at no grass nore will be established in our country at no distant day; but in the meantime there is a market in England for all that we can conveniently grow. It is for our planters, simply a question of experiment with the seed, having in view the market price of the raw product. Successful experiments have been made very recently in Java and in India, proving that the grass will grow in any climate warm enough for the culture of cotton and sugar, provided the ground chosen he sufficiently moist. provided the ground chosen be sufficiently moist.

I venture to suggest that further information, as well as quantities of the seed, &c., can doubtless be furnished by our Consular Officers in China, especially, perhaps, by the Consul at Hankow, that place being the chief market for the grass, which is brought thither from the interior, and often from a great distance.

Dr. Hooker to Mr. Adderley.

Royal Gardens, Kew, March 8, 1867.

In reference to your letter of March 5th, I have to inform you that the value of the China grass fibre was recognized by the late Director of these gardens in 1851, who then introduced plants, and distributed them to the colonies and elsewhere. There was then, however, no demand for the fibre, and I am not aware whether any plants remain in the colonies.

The China grass cloth is the Rheea of India, a shrub closely allied to the nettle. It is extensively cultivated in Assam and East Bengal; grows so rapidly that it is cut for fibre four or five times a year, and requires little skill or labor in produc-

I should recommend that the cultivation of this plant be recommended at such of our colonies in warm, temperate, and hot latitudes, as have botani-cal gardens, especially Natal, Trinidad, Jamaica, Mauritius, Ceylon, Queensland, &c., and that the respective garden superintendents be instructed to report concisely to the Governor, six months after the receipt of plants, the results of the experiment.

The Rheea has for many years been cultivated at Kew in the open air; but I fear that last January's cold may have killed it. I shall write by next mail to India for young plants, with the view of transmitting them to our colonies and foreign possessions, and at the same time make inquiries of the colonies themselves, as to which still possess the plant, and direct their garden superintendents' attention to its cultivation. attention to its cultivation.

Yours, &c., (Signed) JOS. D. HOOKER, Director.

THE following communication, from Commander Nares, R.N., offering remarks on the treat-ment that the natives of Bet Island, in Torres' Strait, complain of having received at the hands of a ship's crew, is published for general information.

HENRY PARKES.

Commander G. S. Nares to Captain John P. Luce, Senior Officer.

H.M.S. "Salamander," Fitzroy Dock, 18th May, 1867.

In forwarding the enclosed particulars, relating to new dangers on the north-east coast of Australia, for the information of the colonial trade, I have to remark that the natives of Bet Island, in Torres' Strait, complain that, in the autumn of last year, a ship fired at and killed several men, who were stripping the masts of a vessel wrecked sometime before, a short distance from their village.

As I found these men to be well disposed, when kindly treated, and as the inhabitants of the Darnley and Stephen's Islands in the neighborhood are now very friendly, I believe, if the masters of ships passing through the Great North-east Channel, whilst taking all through the Great North-east Channel, whilst taking all due and necessary precaution to guard against treachery, were to show more forbearance towards the natives, and at the same time take every opportunity of establishing a good understanding with them, that there would be every chance of a wrecked crew being assisted; whereas if the practice of firing upon natives, who are found doing what any captain of a ship would do himself had he time at his disposal, is continued, the natives must be expected to retaliate on any unarmed wrecked men forced to land on their shores.

I have, &c.,

G. S. NARES,

Commander.
