Title: [Final Report]Water in the West: Challenge for the Next Century
Keywords: Western Water Policy Review Advisory Commission
 Western Water
 Water Law
Issue Date: Jun-1998
Publisher: Western Water Policy Review Advisory Commission
Abstract: The Western Water Policy Review Advisory Commission was charged with a comprehensive review of federal activities in the western states which affect the use and allocation of water, and the review of numerous aspects of water resources, management, institutional and legal matters, and the performance of federal agencies. Its work was done through public meetings, research and symposia, and with the assistance of experts. [Reports submitted by experts are included elsewhere in this collection.] The final report of the Commission provides an overview of the status of water in the Western United States as of 1998. The report recommends that the federal government support watershed and basin innovation, and shift management toward stakeholder involvement and coordination of agencies along hydrologic rather than political lines. Existing federal programs should be integrated at the watershed and basin level. While continuing to respect existing property rights, federal policies must change how we address tribal rights, aquatic ecosystem degradation, land use, protection of farming and ranching communities.

New Mexico Bar Examination
July 2004

QUESTION NO. 2
(Answer this Question in Book No. 2)

Tim got himself into a fix. After he had an affair with Ann, she demanded $500 from him. He convinced her that he did not have that much cash on hand. She then asked him to sign a note. When he refused, she told him that she would tell his wife if he did not sign the note. Not wanting his wife to find out about the affair, on October 20, 2003, Tim signed and delivered a note to Ann that read:

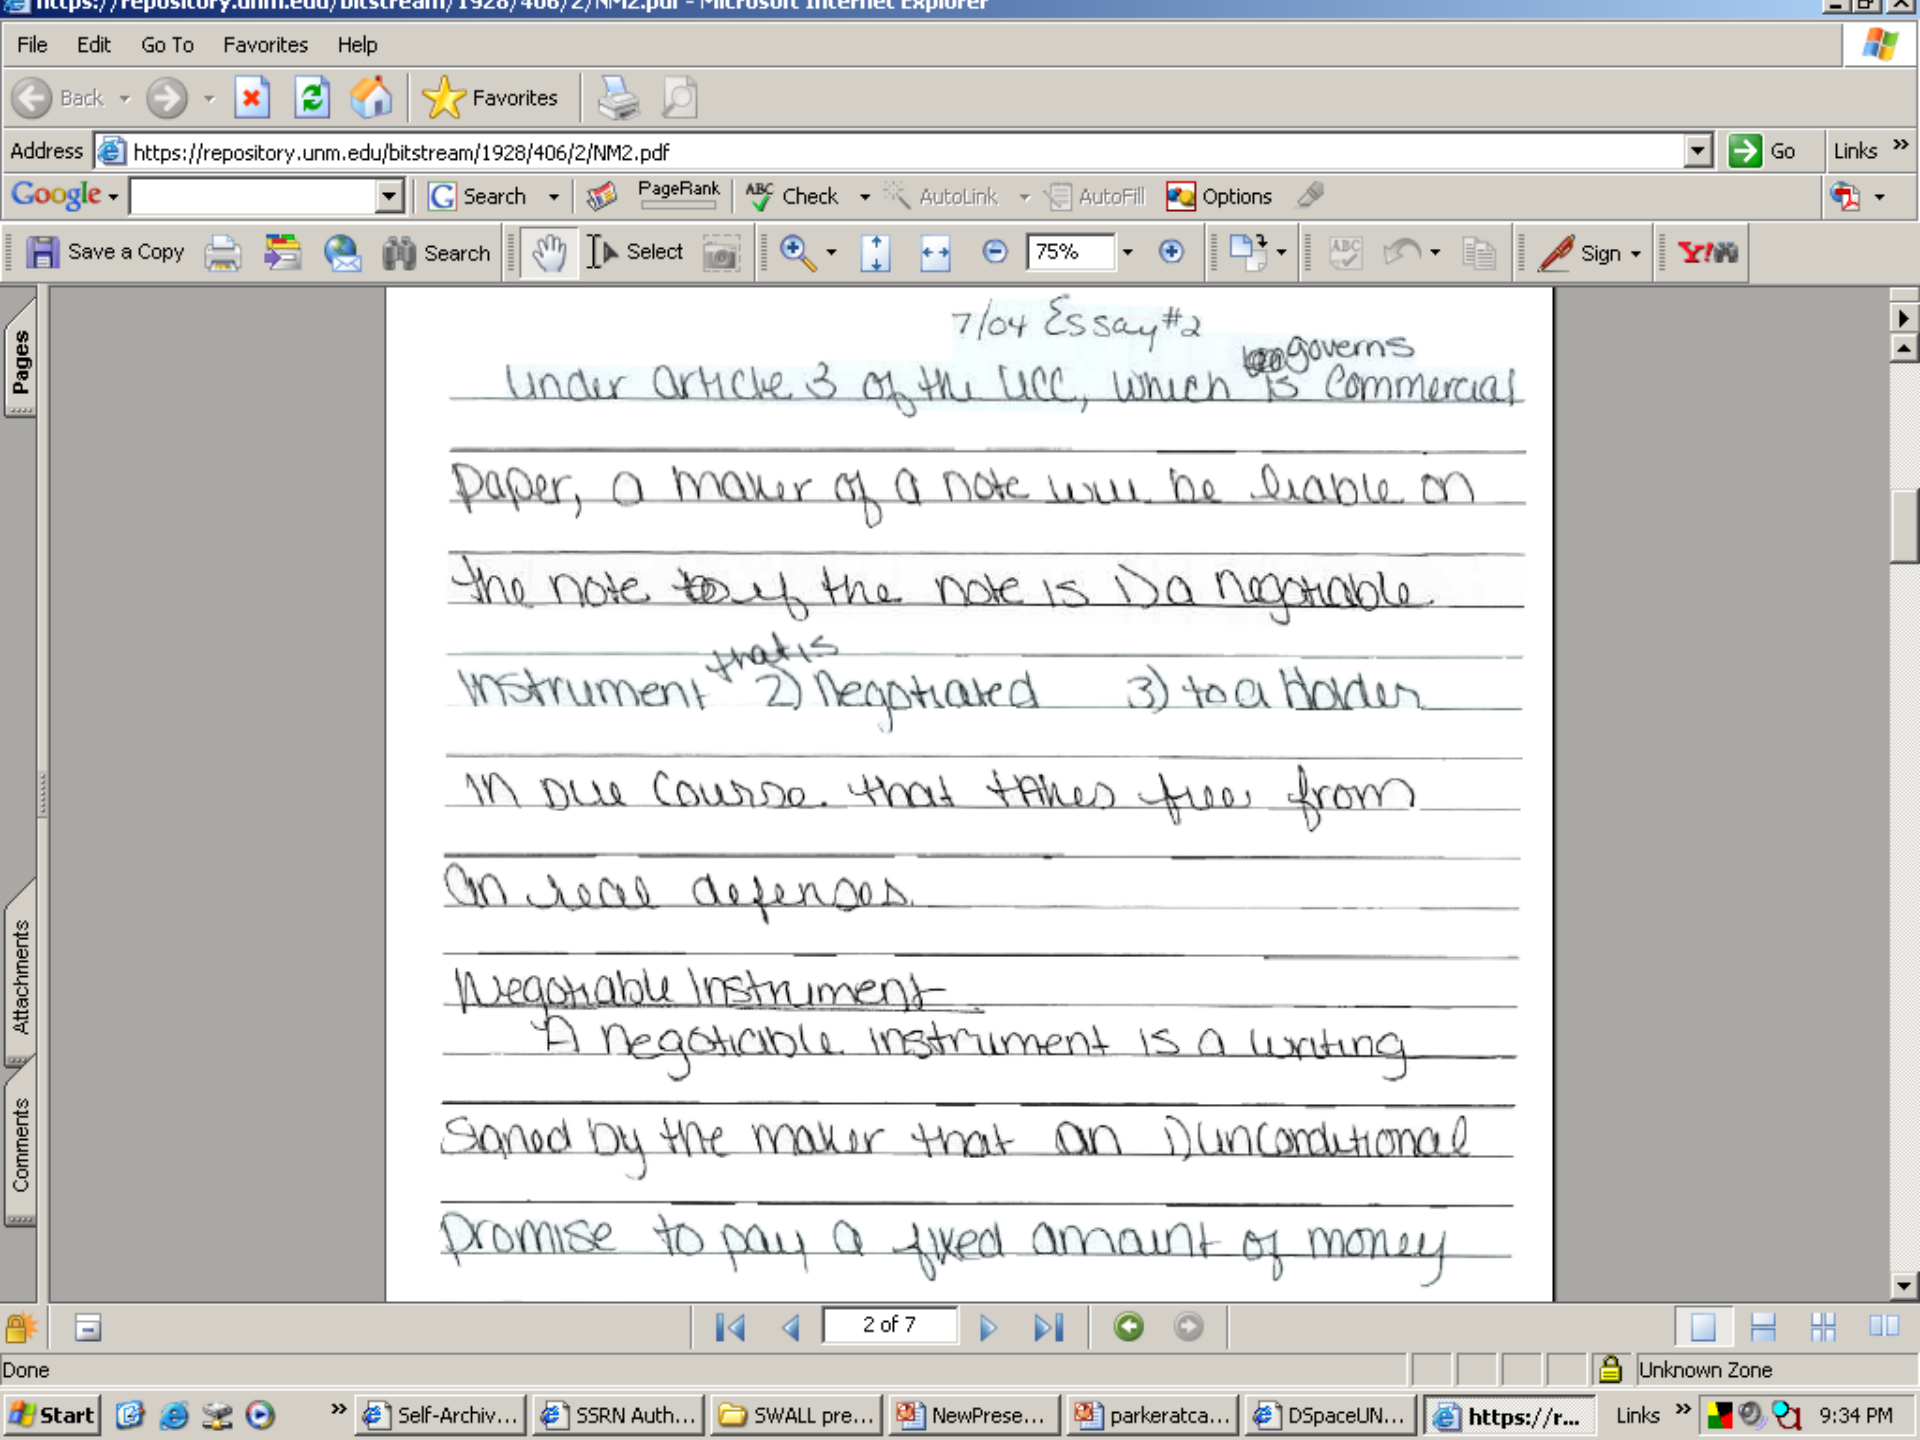

Bern, Anystate, October 20, 2003

On December 24, 2003, after date, I promise to pay to the order of Ann, Six Hundred Dollars with interest.

/s/ Tim

On October, 21, 2003, Ann sold the note to ABC Loan Company for $575, signed her name on the back, and delivered the note to A.B. Cole, the owner of the loan company. The note slipped off Cole's desk and into his wastebasket where it was discovered by the cleaning woman, Bea. She gave it to her husband, Joe. On November 18, 2003, Joe gave it to Sam, a saloon keeper, in return for "drinks all around." Sam brought suit to collect on the note on December 26, 2003.

Under the Uniform Commercial Code, analyze the rights and obligations of Ann, Cole, Joe and Sam and advise Tim of the defenses, if any, he might have in defending Sam's lawsuit.
