Dean Scholes Named Vice-President of U Regents Approve New Men's Dorm

Pictured above is an architect's drawing of the new men's dormitory which will go into construction shortly. The project is scheduled to be completed by the fall of 1949 at an estimated cost of $1,250,000. 400 men students can be accommodated in the structure, according to Mr. J. G. Meem, the architect. It will be located at the Cibola-Coronado intersection near the University golf course.

New Department Heads Revealed

Several University professors, all on the faculty this past year will become heads of departments July 1, announced President-elect Tom L. Popejoy at the close of the Regents' meeting today.
Dr. H. G. Alexander, acting head of philosophy for the past year, is named to head the department for the coming session. He holds an A.B. from Pomona College, and a Ph.D. from Yale in 1934. He did graduate study for one year at the Sorbonne in Paris. He has published one book—Time as Dimension and History, which was published by the University Press.
Assistant Dean Howard V. Mathany, holder of A.B. and M.A. degrees from Washington State, will become Dean of Meant on July 1. Mr. Mathany was instructor in the NROTC program at the University of New Mexico during the war years 1942-1946. He was appointed acting dean of men upon the resignation of Dean Bostwick last year.
Dr. Hugh Miller, acting head of music for the past year will become head of the music department at the University. Dr. Miller holds his A.B. from the University of Oregon, his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard. He did his graduate work in musicology and musical library service. Dr. Miller is the author of numerous articles and one book—Music History Outline.
Dr. George M. Peterson, on the UNM faculty since 1933, will be the new head of psychology for the new school year. He holds three degrees from the University of Chicago, receiving his Ph.D. there in 1931. Author of various articles in scientific journals, Dr. Peterson is a member of the American Psychological Association, the American Association of University Professors, and a fellow in the AAAS. He taught at Iowa State and Denver University before coming to the University of New Mexico.

Best Golf Pros in the Country To Appear on University Links June 3-6 for Albuquerque Open

University students will have an opportunity to witness golf at its best on June 3-6 when the nation's top golfers gather at the University golf course for the $10,000 Albuquerque Open.
The Professional Golfers Association promotes the opens, in co-operation with local golf clubs, in 47 cities throughout the United States and supervises their operation. The PGA crew arrives prior to the meet and sets up its score boards and other equipment necessary for quick, efficient handling of scores. Generally they use walkie-talkie equipment for transmitting the scores by radio-telephone from the greens to the central score-keepers.
President Dick Hatten of the University Golfers Association, began a campaign in the spring of 1945 to secure an open tournament for Albuquerque and through his untiring efforts the Professional Golfers Association offered the dates of September 11-13, 1947 for the first tournament. The Executive committee of the U. G. A. obtained the necessary $10,000 from the Albuquerque business men and pushed the first open over the top. This year a non-profit corporation, Albuquerque Open Inc., came into existence insuring the open for the future.
The open is a good publicity booster for the University because news of the open and the resulting scores are broadcast to the entire nation and many thousands of people come to Albuquerque to watch the professionals play.
Complete information on the tournament is to be found in a 124 page magazine program published by Albuquerque Open Inc., and edited by Bill Hall of the University Alumni Association. The magazine contains everything from last year's scores and prize winners to a dictionary of golfing terms plus a map of the University golf course, articles on the history of the Albuquerque Open, the University, Albuquerque, and color pictures of New Mexico. 10,000 copies were printed and sell for fifty cents each. They will be sent throughout state and nation.
Students who wish to purchase a copy may do so in the Alumni Office in the Student Union Building. Admission is fifty cents a day to students and one dollar to all others. It is regrettable that the open occurs during final examinations, however, the dates are set by the P. G. A. and the local club has no voice in their selection.

1948 "Engineer" Off the Presses

The 1948 edition of the "New Mexico Engineer" is now being distributed. This issue, with a distinctive green cover designed by Frank Walker, contains several technical articles, pictures of all Engineering faculty and senior engineer students, and photographs of various events occurring during the year.
Engineers' queen, Barbara Haight, wields the slide rule scepter to dub Paul A. Wilson of the U. S. Engineers' office into the exalted order of "Knights of Saint Patrick" on the center spread. Her attendants, port Elizabeth Thomas and vivacious Marilyn Sell, assist.
Sgt. Forrester appears in a Saint Pat's day scene where he unhandcuffs a Coed after she has paid the tribute for not wearing green.
Group pictures and articles concerning the various technical societies, a resume of the year's activities, a special tribute to the students' wives, messages from Governor Mabry and Dean Farris, and the Dedication complete the contents.
This year, dedication was made to Prof. Ford's secretary, Mrs. Agnes Stone, for her cheerful, un-failing service to the Sons of St. Pat at UNM.
Wally Starr, business manager, announced that 2000 copies are being distributed to engineering students, faculty, and high schools and libraries throughout the state.
Photography was done by Tom Montgomery and Dave Lyon. John Baisley is the editor.

UNM Flyers In Air Meet May 14-15 At TCU, Ft. Worth

The Texas border officials were notified early this week that the "Thunderbirds" of the University of New Mexico Flying Club have accepted the invitation of the Texas Christian University to compete in the National Inter-Collegiate Air meet to be held at the Eagle Mountain National Guard Air Base on May 14 and 15.

SERMON FOR TODAY

Courage kiddies, there is less than one month remaining before spring semester 1948 goes into the books as final and irrevocable. Will the entry next to your name be red or black ink? It's pretty amazing what can be done in the last three weeks of a spring term...

ADULT EDUCATION

An adult education conference was recently conducted on the campus of the University of New Mexico which appears to have left some hazy ideas in the minds of some people who were in attendance as to what adult education is, what are its aims, and what is its place in the country's educational system. Since adult education is one of the things about which least is known by adults, it might be well to attempt to clarify it and to differentiate between it and the formal education of the young...

PALESTINE—IDEOLOGY OF A POWDERKEG

By Bill Cunningham

The Jewish claim to Palestine is born of emotion and supported by international declaration. By virtue of social pressure to a greater degree and by choice to a lesser degree, the Jewish people throughout the world have sought those of their own culture, race, and philosophy. In the majority of cases they have lived in a ghetto culture. As a race, the Jews have not been assimilated with and absorbed by the larger groups within which they have existed...

Furthermore, there is now a second generation in Palestine whose root is in the soil of the land. To these people this is truly a homeland as much as Germany is a Fatherland to Germans and England a Motherland to Britons. With large collective farms, great irrigation projects, and much sweat and toil they have converted a desert wasteland into a rich agricultural area. They have built light industries. The hundreds of thousands of homeless Jews in Europe to whom few and narrow doors are open have increased the pressure and demand for an independent state. If this pressure could be relieved in some other way the problem might be more leisurely approached.

How: Mr. Frlis, a leader par excellence, has cut expenses to the bone, not that he hasn't had to pay for every 16 cent copy of music for every 2 cents of music. The students give 4 hours hard work per week for every one hour credit.

Result: The best musical program of the year and as much support as a three year old girl. One music faculty member, Mrs. Ancona, came. Quite "superb" were the words of the new faculty member. The rest were too busy playing their particular brand of fiddly winks to do the only ethical thing and support a fellow professor. The fact that the program was excellent makes the year stand out with a matter. Why is it that when finally the school has a real musical organization that puts out good, quality music, the school outsiders organization is treated like an orphan child?

It is hard to get anything going on this campus and 'top hand' is very same music faculty mean away and say the students just won't co-operate. Don't wave any of that dirty linen around the choir members, dear people, you, the music faculty, are just plain lazy or uninterested in anything that doesn't concern you to put out any effort to help in the year's program now, make no mistake about it.

As it stands, the choir gets more support and encouragement, not to mention outside publicity, than outsiders than it does from its own people, or does the choir have any? Wake up, something good is going on. PAT OSTRANDER.

Editor of the Lobo, Dear Sir: I read all this nonsense about the pool not being open except from four to six p. m. every week, Monday through Friday? This is about the most absurd thing I have ever heard of. Don't let them tell you they don't have the funds to keep the pool open longer hours. We have more funds now than ever before.

Mr. Ed Glasser, Asst. Editor of the LOBO, Dear Ed: I saw in the LOBO, copies of which I frequently receive, that Hank Trewitz and you were accused of putting out the "green sheet." I had to laugh at the time I read it, because as they and you know, I was the guy who put that thing out and it's an out and out lie that you guys had anything to do about it.

Registration for state and county elections closes Monday. We urge all eligible students to register before the deadline, at the Bernalillo County Building. You can't register for USP or Combs, but state and county elections are important too.

Lettering

May 8, 1948

Dear Doug: It was good reading in Thursday's paper that somebody is watching out for the interests of the Lettering Club. I think it is wrong that news simply doesn't get in print. How right you are! Satisfying one "soon-bred" and the faculty to the Lettering Club is what is wanted, whether it's true or not. To do with this guy Goldberg and the ever-inquiring Miss. Me. I like LI Abner. Why don't you fill the first page with it, as well as the second, and give us all a break? Maybe that will give you a chance to rest up, too, and carry on to this magnificent work we've been missing out on for 2,000 years.

Editors, LOBO

Dear Sir: Sunday, the Capella choir opened music week with a program of classical choral music that far exceeded any other choir in the Southwest can produce. The best of the Southwest can produce, including Texas. If you don't believe it, better not say so, you won't be true. How: Mr. Frlis, a leader par excellence, has cut expenses to the bone, not that he hasn't had to pay for every 16 cent copy of music for every 2 cents of music.

FIRE

By "Scorchy" Mullen

A fire of undetermined origin gutted barracks No. 212 at Kirtland Field yesterday afternoon and left some 53 UNM students homeless.

At the time of this writing, the fire was still burning and it was not known whether all of the occupants of the building had escaped before it was engulfed in flames.

According to James Santoro, an occupant of barracks No. 212 was sun-bathing outside, "the fire started on the upper south end of the barracks and had swept the length of the building by the time fire fighting equipment arrived some four minutes later."

There was no chance for the occupants to salvage any of their personal belongings. Many of the students escaped from the building in just their shorts and shoes. Two students, who were in the shower when the fire was discovered, were seen watching the blaze with only bath towels wrapped around them.

Some of the students who live in barracks 212 were in afternoon classes on campus at the time of the fire and first learned of the loss of their possessions and room when they went to the field for their evening meal.

An unidentified student said that he was the only one that he knew of who had time to even grab his wallet.

Zorro Bradley, who was one of the first to notice the smoke, said, "I ran down the hall of the barracks yelling for the fellows to get out. Most of them ran into the smoke-filled hall and left the building without trying to save anything. I then ran to barracks some 50 feet away and grabbed a fire extinguisher and returned to 212. But by that time the inside was a mass of flames and I couldn't do much."

The fire started at 4:15 p. m. and was still burning 30 minutes later when this story was written. Six pieces of fire-fighting apparatus were pumping water into the charred hulk. Firemen had not yet entered the building.

State of the Campus Is Paralleled By State of the Union

"Guess I'll have to vote in the primaries this time," was a comment overheard during the recent showing of "The State of the Union" at a downtown theatre. The picture is timely for it is concerned solely with a presidential campaign.

Other comments ran: "Why can't there be a few more men who will run for office without catering to parties." "So we are lazy voters?" "Wonder how much truth there is in this picture?" "Good picture."

The campaign in the picture has as its hero an industrialist, self-made, whose honesty and integrity make him a favorite of the little people. But later he is drawn into playing politics, giving over his essential honesty merely to gain the backing of dishonest politicians. Finally with the aid of his wife he realizes what he has done and gives up the idea of becoming president if it must involve such means.

The picture draws many comments on its free use of the names of the prominent men now campaigning across the country for the Republican nomination and makes one wonder about the possibility of a dark horse candidate.

Is waiting in queues intriguing or are people really interested in "The State of the Union?"

Music Students Present Weekly Series of Recitals

For the past two semesters, the Music Department has held student recitals weekly in the recital hall of the Music Building.

These recitals, which are required of Music majors and minors, are designed to acquaint the student body with the work of the Music Department, and to give student musicians a chance to perform before others so that they may acquire stage presence and ease.

The programs, which are usually held each Wednesday at 5 p. m., are varied and anyone interested may attend.

In the Lobo Lair

By Will Power

Some 300 athletes from 8 districts will compete in the state high school track meet today and Saturday on Zimmerman Field. Preliminary heats will be run this afternoon with the qualifiers squaring off in the finals tomorrow. Tennis and golf championships will also be decided here this weekend, but most of the interest will focus on the track meet, where Albuquerque and Carlsbad are expected to fight it out for first place.

Two state records may go by the boards. Gordon Stout, of Silver City, has maneuvered the high hurdles in 15.1 seconds compared to the state mark of 15.4, set in 1941 by Bobbie Christensen, of Santa Fe. Joe Stell's 142 ft. 9 1/2 in. discus toss in 1946 may be eclipsed by Clarence Harris, of Rogers, who has done 148 ft. 2 in. All state records must be set in the state meet.

Curt Stevenson of Carlsbad, who won the 100 and 220 last year, pulled a muscle in his leg in the district finals and may not be in shape for the state meet.

After watching the Lobos take two pastings from Tempe this week, many observers are wondering what's come over the team that won six of its first eight starts. They just can't be as bad as they've looked in the last four games. Their fielding has been strictly of the sandlot variety, and its hard for a pitcher to work effectively when he has little or no support behind him.

Personally, I hope the Wolfpack has had its fill of fielding miscues, and will play a better brand of ball from here on out. Maybe their main trouble to date is that they're trying too hard. One good day might relax them a little, and then they may play better ball.

Hank Jacobs and Al Wright have been doing everything but keep score, as of late. "Hammering Hank" played left field, third base and first base in the Tempe series, and Al caught against Arizona, and covered first base and pitched against the Sun Devils.

Jacobs and Wright collaborated on the outstanding play of the Tempe series. Wright was on the mound and Jacobs at the initial sack, when a visiting batter hit a hard ground ball down the right field line. Hank went far to his left, made a back-handed pick-up of the ball and tossed to Al at first for the putout.

The Lobos travel to Santa Fe this afternoon for a game with St. Michael's College. The contest will be New Mexico's last outing before meeting Arizona at Tucson, Monday night, in the conference tournament.

Punch Program Planned By Polk

Men who want to participate in the intra-mural boxing meet, May 21 and 22, are asked to sign up in the gym, Gene Polk, promoter for the meet, said yesterday.

Polk said the meet will be run with Golden Gloves rules. This means three one-minute rounds and 14 ounce gloves.

The gym will be available for workouts every day after 3 p. m. Polk said gloves, heavy and light punching bags, and punching bag gloves are now available. Also there will be skip ropes, he said.

All entries must be in by Friday, May 14, and the official weights will be taken Wednesday, May 19, Polk said.

A special plaque for any organization having the most points at the end of the fracas will be given, Polk said. There will be individual prizes for the winners in both experienced and novice classes, and their various weight classes, he added.

The point system runs as follows: one point for each person participating; three points for the runner up in each weight division; and five points for the weight division champion.

The inexperienced boxers will have their own division, but may fight experienced fighters if they want, Polk said.

"The fights will be over in time for all who desire to attend the Greek Day dance," he said.

Alum Benefit Game Boosts Chapel Fund

Final figures from the athletic department on the Alumni benefit intra-squad football game show a net profit for the Alumni Memorial Chapel fund of $132, William E. Hall, Alumni director, said this week.

This amount is half of the overall profit from the game, Hall said. Besides the football game, he continued, the Alumni office is planning a song-fest by the University Men's Glee Club, to be held in Gallup May 14, and an intra-mural boxing meet, under the direction of Gene Polk and Fred Reynolds.

A barn-storming tour of the state to raise funds for the chapel was completed last week by Coach Berl

Huffman, Dr. Daryl Keefer, Brad Prince, G. Ward Fenley, and Hall. President-elect T. L. Popejoy joined the group in Carlsbad.

With the $132 from the football game, and the tour, the chapel fund has now gone past the $5,000 mark, said Hall.
