Deans to Answer Student Queries At UNM Bitch-In

Students who have wanted to vent their wrath in front of those who are largely responsible for the running of UNM will have their chance Wednesday beginning at 10:30 in the Union.

The annual Conference on the University is assuming the same general format as the highly successful "Bitch-ins" held at several major universities.

Answer Complaints

Administrative officials, including the Dean of Students and Deans of Men and Women, will join with the heads of the Graduate School, Arts and Sciences, and Education to answer the expected barrage of complaints and questions.

Students may be excused from regular classes to attend the Conference by asking permission from the instructors.

Open Sessions

The administrators will hold an open "bitch-in" type session in the Union Cafeteria from 10:30 to 12:30 then break up into smaller discussion groups in the afternoon.

The conference planners emphasized that no subject is taboo and both students and faculty members are encouraged to ask questions or make comments about any aspect of UNM.

A special edition of the LOBO on the conference will come out on Tuesday.

Dancers Receiving Memorial Awards

Two members of UNM's Modern Dance Workshop were named by its director, Elizabeth Waters, as recipients to share this year's Barbara Kiker Memorial Award in the field of modern dance.

This year's recipients are Mrs. Andy York and Miss Helen Leach, both of Albuquerque, who took prominent roles in the recent spring concert of the workshop.

tation in shirking the responsibility of using his own reason, said Dr. Faruki.

Speaking of the intolerance of some people toward other religions he said that those who do not have any fear of their own faith do not fear any other faith. The reason he named why people try to force others into their religion is that "Misery loves company."

THE FIRST UNIVERSITY Folk Festival will be held Sunday, May 15 at 7:30. Both groups and individuals will perform. Admission to the festival is free, and it will be held in the Union ballroom.

Draft Questions Compiled by SDS

Students for a Democratic Society at UNM have made up a set of joke questions concerning the draft deferment exam to be given May 14, 21, and June 3.

Ex-Chairman of SDS Philip Nicholson said that the questions are to make people think a little more about the draft and the serious Viet Nam issue.

Some of the questions are these:

1. I am taking this exam because:
 - a. I am anxious to do my part in defense of my country.
 - b. It is a token of support for the boys dying in Viet Nam.
 - c. I thought I was safe in college but was ill advised.
 - d. If I don't I've got everything to lose.
2. If I fail this exam I will:
 - a. Wish I had never taken it.
 - b. Pressure my professors for higher grades.
 - c. Claim a football injury.
 - d. Enlist for an extended hitch in the Peace Corps.

"SDS feels that it is strange that the people who say they support the Viet Nam war are not signing up to join the army," Nicholson said. "This is especially odd in a society that is supposed to be democratic."

Next Saturday National SDS will distribute questions at Selective Service Centers.

May 15 Deadline to Order Textbooks Nears

Unless professors get their orders for textbooks in early for the fall semester, UNM might have a critical shortage of books.

Director of the New Mexico Union William R. Bierbaum said that the reason for the rush is because book printing stocks are running short of paper.

Since huge enrollments are expected all over the country, it will be impossible to put out enough books to meet the large demands.

The Associated Students Bookstore has asked all teachers to get in orders by May 15.

"If orders are put in early enough, UNM might come out ahead of other schools in the rush," Bierbaum said. "But many colleges have already placed their orders."

U Music Student Presents Recital

A UNM student majoring in music, Stan Thomas, will present his senior recital in voice Friday, May 6, at 4 p.m., in the Fine Arts Center Recital Hall. He is a tenor.

Thomas will be accompanied by Beth Ertz. The program includes a recitative and aria from Handel's "The Messiah"; a recitative and aria from "Elijah" by Mendelssohn; five songs from Schubert's "Winterreise" or "Winter Journey"; and an aria from La Boheme by Puccini.

12 Bills Get Okay Recommendation From Committee

Student Senate Steering Committee has given a "do pass" recommendation to the following twelve bills from Senate.

Senate Bill No. 11 reads that no member of a judicial body shall serve concurrently on another judicial body.

Bill No. 5 states that no committee or government body be allowed to function with less than a quorum. Steering Committee defined a quorum as a majority of the membership.

Bill No. 6 states that the AS-UNM treasurer shall make monthly reports to Senate.

Executive Committees

Bill No. 7 states that students appointed to executive agencies shall serve a term of one academic year, taking office at the beginning of the academic year in the fall. Spring appointees will serve as ex officio members of their committee or board until gaining status in the fall.

Bill No. 8 makes the stealing of or mutilation of UNM library materials a Student Standards offense.

Revise Law Books

Bill No. 9 establishes a law book revision committee. The original bill stated that the committee make needed revisions every five years. Steering Committee recommended that the revisions be made at least every three years.

Bill No. 16 is a resolution of support for the $44 million ten year bond issue which comes before New Mexico voters in November. Bill No. 10 creates an ad hoc committee to work with the Action for Education Program in support of the bond issue.

Bill No. 12 re-ratifies the constitution of the New Mexico Association of College Student Governments.

Bill No. 14 and No. 15 establish Fiesta and Homecoming as ASUNM celebrations. The two bills incorporated the celebrations into the constitution.

Civil Liberties Talk

Dr. Corliss Lamont will speak on "Humanism and Civil Liberties" in Room 250-C of the Union at 8 p.m., Thursday, May 5. The talk will be sponsored by the department of philosophy and the Humanist Society of Albuquerque.

Committee Applications

The Ad Hoc Committee of the Union Program Directorate for the summer program is now being formed. Applications should be turned in to the Activities Center secretary by Friday, May 13.

Committee OK's Two Money Bills

A "do-pass" recommendation yesterday by the Senate Finance Committee for Bill No. 1 will allocate monthly educational grants of $50 for the ASUNM Attorney General and $35 each for the two executive assistants.

The educational grants totaling $540 will come from the Student Senate reserve fund for a nine months period unless student government can receive matching funds from the federal work-study program.

Senator Lenny Miele, a member of the Finance Committee, questioned taking the money from the reserve fund since the grants had not been approved through the regular budget referendum.

The Finance Committee will also give a favorable recommendation for Bill No. 2 which grants the ASUNM President the sole responsibility for employing or dismissing the student government secretary.

Bill No. 2 will provide a bi-monthly salary of $125 for a 30-hour work week.

Faruki Says Reason, Faith Are In Accord

"Why I am a Muslim" was the topic of the speech given by Dr. Zuhdi T. Faruki last Friday night to an audience of about a hundred people.

Dr. Faruki, who was the first sponsor of the Islamic society on this campus and now teaches philosophy at Texas Tech, said that everything you do in society is based on your concept of God.

He continued with a contention that religion forms the basis for not only the conduct but also the personality of the modern man.

"To accuse anybody's God of being a falsity is a challenge for a fight," he said.

Some of his other comments on the subject were: "All religions teach the same things." "I find Islam adequate though I don't say it is the only religion so adequate." "I come from a tradition and I belong to it and am part of it."

The basic requirement of religion—faith in God—does not necessitate that man do away with his reason, he said. Part of the Scriptures of Islam, he continued, state that knowledge and faith must go together. Islam supposes the dignity of the human mind.

"Each person has the choice to interpret the scriptures as that individual's reason prescribes." To accept someone else's interpretation

Education Office Seeks Race Data

WASHINGTON (CPS) — The U.S. Office of Education is again seeking to determine the extent to which colleges and universities have complied with the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Earlier this year when the Office's National Center for Educational Statistics asked for race information on its general enrollment questionnaire, it received approximately 100 refusals plus criticism for requesting such data.

A questionnaire, now being prepared by the Office's Equal Education Opportunities division, is designed strictly to elicit race information.

To Show Treatment

The questionnaire is intended to show whether Negro students are being treated equally in regard to housing, fraternities, other social organizations, social regulations, scholarships, athletics and recruiting.

A spokesman for the EEO division said the questionnaire would be mailed "probably within the next month" to the presidents of all colleges and universities and should be returned within 30 days.

The spokesman explained that the Statistics Center did not have the authority to request race information as the EEO does.

Basic Job

The EEO's basic job is to see that all educational institutions adhere to Title VI of the Civil Rights Act or otherwise lose their federal financial assistance.

The barring of race data to the Office of Education by universities left the Office in a quandary over how to obtain information which it claims it needs to determine how minority groups are doing in higher education.

Typifying the complaints against the Statistics Center's questionnaire was that of Syracuse University's registrar who accused the Office of Education of wanting him to "play God in determining who was black, yellow, red or white." He said it would be a violation of state and Federal law to obtain the race of each student "not to mention a higher moral law."

Among other universities that barred racial data were Cornell, St. John's, Rutgers, Columbia, and the University of California at Berkeley.

Complaints Isolated

The EEO spokesman explained there is substantial compliance

among higher education institutions compared with elementary and secondary schools and that the office expects only a few isolated complaints about the questionnaire.

The ones who really get annoyed, the spokesman said, are the institutions who have traditionally pursued an open policy and who probably do not keep statistics on numbers of non-white students in various activities. The EEO Office expects to allow these institutions to estimate figures in its answer.

The EEO office feels, however, that Southern institutions will still be so self-conscious about non-white students on the campus that they will have little trouble in answering the questionnaire.

'Quiet Warriors' Needed To Fight in Asian War

WASHINGTON (CPS) — Limited opportunities are available to college students and June graduates who want to fight "the quiet war" in Viet Nam.

Although the government needs what it terms "the quiet warrior" to work in community development, refugee assistance, rural construction and in various other areas, it prefers to hire a person who has been working in his field for several years.

Stanford Is Permitting Liquors on Campus

STANFORD, Calif. (CPS) — Stanford University students over 21 will be permitted to drink alcoholic beverages in campus residences and eating clubs after May 10, President Wallace Sterling announced last week.

Acting under authority of the Board of Trustees, Sterling said, "The university believes that the development of self-discipline, individual responsibility, and respect for law will be enhanced by entrusting to the students a greater responsibility for compliance with state law and by the removal of complete prohibitions which are not enforceable in practice."

conducted at Stanford in the past six years.

In addition, a five-year study of student development at Stanford concluded that for more than three out of four students "drinking is well established," even at the time they enter Stanford, and is apparently sanctioned by their peers, their parents, and society.

"Abstainers do not feel that social pressures require them to drink," the study said, "except possibly in fraternities."

Freshmen and sophomores still have to report to their residences by 2:30 a.m., but their 35 late leaves per quarter were increased under the new regulation.

President Sterling has said that the new regulations are part of a three-year experiment and that no more changes will be made during that time.

However, some groups are "pushing for doing away with women's hours all together pointing out that the new regulations make hours more of a nuisance than a protection."

Another amendment earlier this year gave the University of California permission to sell beer and wine in the faculty club at Berkeley.

Although as a private university Stanford was never covered by the law, the new rules there are viewed as a sign that the law may go altogether in the next few years.

NEWS ROUNDUP

By United Press International Bombings Paying Off

SAIGON — American military spokesmen say the persistent U.S. bombings of the Hanoi area are beginning to pay off. They said the capital of North Viet Nam is virtually isolated because of the methodical destruction of roads, highways, and bridges leading into the city.

Only secondary routes are reported open, but they are limited to slow travel. The only alternatives for the Communists are the sampans. But U.S. jets have sunk hundreds of the small vessels trying to bring supplies into the capital in recent weeks.

The tightening of the noose around Hanoi began March 17 when U.S. Navy and Air Force bombing strikes knocked out vital bridges northwest of the city.

No Help Available For GOP Hopeful

Edwin L. Mechem, Republican national committeeman, could not help David F. Cargo, the Republican nominee for governor, congressional candidate Dob Davidson told a small group of students at the Young Republicans' meeting last night at Mitchell Hall.

Davidson is seeking election as a Republican for position two in the House of Representatives.

"Mechem said he didn't help Cargo in the pre-primary election because of his position as national committeeman," Davidson said when asked about an apparent division in the Republican Party.

Mechem was quoted yesterday in the Albuquerque Tribune by A. C. De Cola as saying that he did not have the "slightest idea" whether or not he would support David Cargo.

In the article Cargo had been asked if Mechem "had offered any help in the campaign."

SUGGESTIONS

The Manager, The Student Union Building, Dear Sir:

We would share with you a concern regarding the overcrowded conditions at noon in the Cafeteria of the Student Union Building.

We realize that the present great number of persons tax the capabilities of the facilities and work a hardship upon the staff as upon the students.

Also such crowds with the few restricted exits present a difficult and serious safety problem.

Looking, however, to the conditions which might be expected next fall with the anticipated increase in the number of students on campus, the present inconvenience and hazards will seem slight unless greatly increased dining facilities are then available.

No announcement of such an expansion has come to our attention.

Therefore, we suggest for your consideration that:

1.—The cafeteria be enlarged to include the present facilities of the Faculty Lounge.

2.—The Faculty Lounge be moved to utilize the present facilities of the Desert Room.

3.—The Desert Room be located on the second floor of the Student Union Building.

4.—If more space seems needed for the cafeteria, a portion of the present student lounge on the main floor be utilized for dining space, and additional student lounge space be provided in presently little used areas of the second floor of the Student Union Building.

We would appreciate learning of any plans you may have for the immediate expansion of the dining facilities, and for your response to the suggestions above.

Sincerely yours, Ise J. Gay, M. H. Gruensfelder, Lois Benham, W. David Brennen, L. K. Kerlow, E. Bruce Potter, Jon M. Tolman, David Cole, Ernie Simpson

Varsity's New Look Attack Mashes Lobo's Alums, 41-17

By PETE KENDALL
After holding off the wide open offense and two platoon system employed by an eager varsity crew, the veteran alumni squad broke down in the second half, losing finally 41-17.

"The main difference," began alum standout Jack Abendshan, "was our poor physical condition. This is understandable though, since we were together only a week before the game to work out. We didn't really have our plays and timing down, and if we had been better organized, we could have given them a much better game."

The varsity's play was characterized by what UNM fans must consider the most exciting Lobo strategy set forth in a long while. "Of course," Abendshan continued, "(Doug) Hendrick played a good all-around game, and (Rick) Beiler looked good for a freshman. And (Joe) Casas ran some good plays. But where they hurt us was not on the ground, but through the air."

Malnar Shines "Steve Malnar threw real well for us—particularly well when you consider that our offensive line's pass blocking assignments were thrown off by the varsity's stunting defense. This can make it awfully hard for the quarterback to keep a good passing attack going."

As for Stan Quintana's injury that sat him out of the latter stages of the contest, Abendshan reflected, "When you lose a good defensive back it's got to make a difference. But," he added jokingly, "I don't think I lost the game for us. We just wore out in the second half."

"Paul Smith was one of the top men in their defensive line. Their whole stunting 6-2 defense kept the pressure on our line all the time. When we finally got adjusted to it, we were too tired to do anything about it."

The polished place kicker now in Canadian pro ball announced that even though he did add one 3-pointer to the alum cause, "I wasn't kicking nearly as well as in a regular season. You have to practice under pressure and game conditions to be at your best."

No Hard Feelings Concerning the rumor that a good deal of bitterness was present on both sides throughout the contest, the ex-Lobo revealed, "There wasn't any real animosity on either side toward the other. It was simply a case of tempers flaring as in a regular season game."

With a little work, it could definitely be a real fine season."

THE COLLEGE PRESIDENT: HIS CAUSE AND CURE

Oh, sure, you've been busy, what with going to classes, doing your homework, catching night crawlers, getting married, picketing—but can't you pause for just a moment and give thought to that dear, dedicated, lonely man in the big white house on the hill? Refer, of course, to Prexy.

(It is interesting to note that college presidents are always called "Prexy." Similarly, trustees are always called "Trixie." Associate professors are always called "Axy-Fixy." Bursars are called "Foxy-Woxy." Students are called "Algae.")

But I digress. We were speaking of Prexy, a personage at once august and pathetic. Why pathetic? Well, sir, consider how Prexy spends his days. He is busy, busy, busy. He talks to deans, he talks to professors, he talks to trustees, he talks to alumni. In fact, he talks to everybody except the one group who could lift his heart and rally his spirits. I mean, of course, the appealing, endearing, winsomest group in the entire college—delightful you, the students.

It is Prexy's sad fate to be forever a stranger to your laughing, golden selves. He can only gaze wistfully out the window of his big white house on the hill and watch you at your games and sports and yearn with all his tormented heart to bask in your warmth. But how? It would hardly be fitting for Prexy to appear one day at the Union, clad in an old rowing blazer, and cry gaily, "Heigh-ho, chaps! Who's for sculling?"

No, friends, Prexy can't get to you. It is up to you to get to him. Call on him at home. Just drop in unannounced. He will naturally be a little shy at first, so you must put him at his ease. Shout, "Howdy-doo, sir! I have come to bring a little sunshine into your drear and lighted life!" Then yank his necktie out of his vest and scampers goatlike around him until he is laughing merrily along with you.

Then hand him a package and say, "A little gift for you, sir."

"For me?" he will say, lowering his lids. "You shouldn't have."

Single tickets for the May 12 concert will be available at the door for $1.50. Admission is also on season tickets and UNM student activity cards.

"Yes, I should," you will say, "because this is a pack of Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades, and whenever I think of Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades, I think of you."

"Why, hey?" he will ask curiously.

"Because, sir," you will say, "though you are no longer a young blade, still you gleam and function. Full though you are of years and lumps, rheumy though your endocrines and flaccid your hamstrings, still you remain sharp, incisive, efficacious."

"Thank you," he will say, sobbing.

"So it is with Personna," you will continue. "Naturally you expect a brand-new blade to give a close, speedy shave. But how about a blade that's had hard and frequent use? Do you still expect a close, speedy shave? Well, sir, if it's a Personna, that's what you'll get. Because, sir, like you, sir, Personna is no flash-in-the-pan. Like you, sir, Personna abides."

"He will clasp your hand then, not trusting himself to speak.

"But away with gloom!" you will cry jollily. "For I have still more good news to tell you of Personna!"

"How is that possible?" he will say.

"Hearken to me," you will say, "Personna, in all its enduring splendor, is available not only in Double Edge style but also in Injector style!"

He will join you then in the Personna rouser, and then he will bring you a steaming cup of cocoa with a marshmallow on top. Then you will say, "Good-bye, sir. I will return soon again to brighten your dank, miasmic life."

"Please do," he will say. "But next time, if you can possibly manage it, try not to come at four in the morning."

Varsity's New Look Attack Mashes Lobo's Alums, 41-17

After holding off the wide open offense and two platoon system employed by an eager varsity crew, the veteran alumni squad broke down in the second half, losing finally 41-17.

"The main difference," began alum standout Jack Abendshan, "was our poor physical condition. This is understandable though, since we were together only a week before the game to work out. We didn't really have our plays and timing down, and if we had been better organized, we could have given them a much better game."

The varsity's play was characterized by what UNM fans must consider the most exciting Lobo strategy set forth in a long while. "Of course," Abendshan continued, "(Doug) Hendrick played a good all-around game, and (Rick) Beiler looked good for a freshman. And (Joe) Casas ran some good plays. But where they hurt us was not on the ground, but through the air."

Malnar Shines "Steve Malnar threw real well for us—particularly well when you consider that our offensive line's pass blocking assignments were thrown off by the varsity's stunting defense. This can make it awfully hard for the quarterback to keep a good passing attack going."

As for Stan Quintana's injury that sat him out of the latter stages of the contest, Abendshan reflected, "When you lose a good defensive back it's got to make a difference. But," he added jokingly, "I don't think I lost the game for us. We just wore out in the second half."

"Paul Smith was one of the top men in their defensive line. Their whole stunting 6-2 defense kept the pressure on our line all the time. When we finally got adjusted to it, we were too tired to do anything about it."

The polished place kicker now in Canadian pro ball announced that even though he did add one 3-pointer to the alum cause, "I wasn't kicking nearly as well as in a regular season. You have to practice under pressure and game conditions to be at your best."

No Hard Feelings Concerning the rumor that a good deal of bitterness was present on both sides throughout the contest, the ex-Lobo revealed, "There wasn't any real animosity on either side toward the other. It was simply a case of tempers flaring as in a regular season game."

Trackmen Sweep 16 Events

By CHUCK LANIER

The UNM Lobos, topped by the third fastest collegiate time ever in the nation for the mile relay, took first places for all 16 events to win Saturday night's quadrangular track meet at UNM stadium.

The mile relay team of Art Carter, Rene Matison, Ken Head and Bernie Rivers posted a 3:06.6 time which puts them in second place nationally behind Arizona State and Southern University who are tied for first with times of 3:04.5.

Lobos Get 116 Points

During the meet, the Lobos blasted the three visiting teams by piling up an amazing 116 points to Houston's 17, Abilene's 16, and 6 for Texas Western College.

Both Houston and TWC did not enter full squads and ACC entered only half a squad while the other half was left in Abilene to rest after a meet held last Thursday.

In the mile run, Lobo John Baker ran the event in a time of 4:05.8 to post the second fastest time ever for that event at University stadium. The stadium record of 4:03 was set by Oregon State's Morgan Groth in the NCAA championships held here in 1963.

Ace miler Charlie Christmas of ACC trailed Mike Thornton who took second place with a time of 4:06.9. Baker hung back behind the pair until the final lap and kicked by Thornton after Christmas quit the event in the final gun lap. Thornton finished about three yards behind Baker after running the first lap in :59 and the second in 1:02. By the three-quarter mile mark Thornton had posted a time of 3:04. Baker outkicked Thornton in the final lap to win the event. The mile relay was started by Art Carter who ran his leg in a time of :46.6. Sophomore Rene Matison posted a time of :46.6 for the second leg and was followed by Bernie Rivers who turned out a :47.6 leg. Freshman Ken Head ran the last leg in :45.9 to give the New Mexico squad its victory.

Marks Wins Discus

Lobo Burt Marks won the discus and took a second in the shot put. His throw of 162-11½ is his season's best for the discus as was his heave of 56-9½ in the shot-put.

Other winners for the Lobos were Clarence Robinson and Fred Knight. Knight posted a time of :51.7 in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles and won the high hurdles with a wind-aided time of 14.0. Robinson won both the long and triple jumps by going 25-5½ in the long and 50-8¼ in the triple.

School Record Tied

The time posted in the 880-yard relay tied the school record of 1:23.6. The effort by Carter, Caminiti, Matison, and Head is one of the times nationally for the event.

Jeff Branon jumped 6-9 to win the high-jump while teammate Joe Powdrell won the pole-vault by clearing 15-0 in his best vault for the season. Darrell Rich won the shot-put for the Lobos with a heave of 57-0, his career best.
