

New Mexico Quarterly

Volume 6 | Issue 4

Article 11

1936

Nancy Hanks

Glen Baker

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/nmq>

Recommended Citation

Baker, Glen. "Nancy Hanks." New Mexico Quarterly 6, 4 (1936). <https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/nmq/vol6/iss4/11>

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by the University of New Mexico Press at UNM Digital Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in New Mexico Quarterly by an authorized editor of UNM Digital Repository. For more information, please contact disc@unm.edu.

Nancy Hanks

By GLEN BAKER

Nancy Hanks dressed in the firelight,
Not yet had she been wed;
What were her thoughts in the firelight
The hickory back-log fed?

Did she see a looming event
In shadows cast before?
Was there perhaps a man-child
Playing upon the floor?

Duerme en Paz

By MAY REES

Duerme en paz .
La madre mia.
Las manos lindas
Quietas son.
Duerme en paz.
A la tempestad de la vida
Sigue la calma de la gloria.
Y duerme hoy la siesta
Que será la siesta mia
En la tierra la interró,
El cuerpo solo. El espíritu—¡ No!