

New Mexico Quarterly

Volume 38 | Issue 4

Article 46

1968

For a Valentine

Robert Creeley

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/nmq>

Recommended Citation

Creeley, Robert. "For a Valentine." New Mexico Quarterly 38, 4 (1968). <https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/nmq/vol38/iss4/46>

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by the University of New Mexico Press at UNM Digital Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in New Mexico Quarterly by an authorized editor of UNM Digital Repository. For more information, please contact disc@unm.edu.

ROBERT CREELEY

FOR A VALENTINE

The so-called poet of love is not so much silent as absorbed.
He ponders. He sits on the hill looking over. . .

A day late—your love was still there.

Little bits of it.

They are useful people.

No sense one should do different.