THE LOMA LINDA UNIVERSITY WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

Dr. Lemon Will Study Cancer Incidence Among Adventists

A grant to study the incidence of cancer among Seventh-day Adventists has been made by the American Cancer Society to Frank R. Lemon, SM'50, associate professor and chairman of the University School of Medicine department of preventive medicine.

Dr. Lemon will center his investigation on 28,000 California Seventh-day Adventists. The question of incidence of various types of cancer among this group is of interest, states the cancer society, "because their religious beliefs lead them not to use tobacco and alcohol. Coffee, tea and meat products are used sparingly, if at all," comments the society administration.

Previous reports have indicated there is a significantly reduced total mortality in this group, particularly death from arteriosclerotic heart disease and cancer, notably of the entire respiratory tract, the urinary bladder, the stomach and uterine cervix.

However, recent analysis of data suggests there may be increased risk for cancers of the pancreas and liver and for leukemia as compared with the general population.

Dr. Lemon's work in the past and his present plan will be done in collaboration with Guyler Hammond, MD, and Lawrence Garfinkel of the Statistical Research Department of the American Cancer Society. They will aid in the processing, storage and duplicating of data as well as some aspects of future analysis.

Richard T. Walden, SM'52, associate professor of preventive medicine, and Robert W. Woods, MD, associate professor in the department, are associated with Dr. Lemon in his research.

Dr. Tatro to Serve On Council of U.S. Examiners

Raymond F. Tatro, SM'28, assistant clinical professor of surgery, has been selected to serve on the Council of Examiners, United States Section, of the International College of Surgeons,

The council examines surgeons who wish fellowship in the college.

Dr. Tatro will act in his new capacity during examinations to be September 8, 1964, in Chicago, Illinois, prior to the 29th annual Congress of the North American Federation of the International College of Surgeons also to be in Chicago.

In addition to his University affiliation, Dr. Tatro is a practicing surgeon in San Bernardino.

To Spring Council In Washington, DC

Attending the Spring Council of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists April 14-16 in Washington, D. C., will be Godfrey T. Anderson, University president, and Robert L. Cone, vice president for financial affairs.

Dr. Anderson will attend also some pre-meeting committees beginning April 12.

The council is conducted to transact business occurring between the annual fall councils.

Professor Attends Washington, DC, Meeting

Theodore J. Curphey, MD, clinical professor of pathology, attended a meeting for the discussion of establishment of a national center for the study of sudden deaths in infants recently in Washington, D.C.

Dr. Curphey is also Los Angeles County's chief medical examiner and coroner.

Weeks of Prayer to Feature James J. Cox, Pastor Duffield

The Spring Week of Devotion will begin on both campuses April 13 with C. L. Duffield, pastor of the Alhambra, California, Seventh-day Adventist Church, speaking in Los Angeles, and James J. Cox, acting chairman of the department of religion at Columbia Union College, Washington, D. C., in Loma Linda, Pastor Duffield will speak at services from 7:30 to 8:15 each morning Monday through Friday, except Wednesday when there will be no morning meeting. Evening services will be from 6:30 to 7:15 Monday through Thursday, and will begin at 7:30 Friday night.

His topics will be "God's Message for Modern Man," "Christ's Power Analyzed," "Can We Know God," "How Well Can We Know Him," "Bondage or Freedom," "What Is Truth," "Why I Became a Seventh-day Adventist," "Courage" and "Love or Perish."

In Loma Linda, meetings will begin each day at 8:10 a.m. and end at 9. Evening meetings will be from 6:30 to 7:15, except on Friday evening when the service wil start at 7:30.

Mr. Cox will speak also for an 8:15 a.m. Sabbath service April 18 at the University Church. There will be no Sabbath school or 10:45 services that day because of an all-day campmeeting of the Southeastern California Conference of Seventh-day Adventists on the National Orange Show grounds in San Bernardino.

As the dominant theme for his messages for the week, Mr. Cox has chosen "Indicative and Imperative."

Contributors to the cause of Loma Linda University may yet eat the cake of their gifts and keep it, if they act before July 1, 1964. A contribution deduction will be allowed for transfers of tangible personal property made before that date.

This means, according to D. Ordell Calkins of the University Corporation office, that donors may accomplish three things if they desire to make a donation before July 1. (1) They will help the University by their gifts. (2) They may enjoy the use of their contributions as long as they wish. (3) They will benefit from the tax deduction that is presently allowed for gifts to a charity such as Loma Linda University.

Mr. Calkins stated that the University would be interested in books, equipment and other tangible personal property (art collections, to mention one group). The gifts must have future interest for the University. These interested in making arrangement of this kind should contact Godfrey T. Anderson, University president, or the development department.

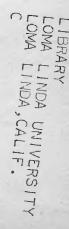

"A donor may still give property to a charity retaining either for his life (or the life of others) the use or enjoyment of the property. He receives a contribution deduction at the time of the gift of future interest for the present discounted value of that interest," states the Internal Revenue Service.

Under the new law the donor gets no contribution deduction "while he (or relatives of his) retains the right of possession and enjoyment of tangible personal property such as works of art, sculpture, etc."

After July 1, no deduction for contributions will be allowed until all rights to possession or enjoyment of the tangible property have expired or are held by a person other than (1) the donor or (2) relatives of donor.

Field Day Culminates With Nearly Clean Sweep for Loma Linda Teams

Loma Linda campus students nearly made a clean sweep in last Sunday's annual Field Day activities but lost a six-man volleyball game and a softball game, the climax event, to students from the Los Angeles campus.

When all points were totaled the Loma Linda campus registered 1050 to 400 for the Los Angeles campus.

Los Angeles, with the scales already tipped against them because of the preponderance of students on the Loma Linda campus, managed a 3-2 win in softball with Donald B. Brown, SM'65, as pitcher, and Robert M. Irwin, SM'65, catcher.

Other students on the team were: John E. Hodgkin, SM'64; Norman R. Gay, SM'65; Richard L. Norman, SM'64; Richard L. Norman, Duane S. Bietz, SM'65; Clyde M. Ikuta, SM'64; Robert E. Bond, SM'64; and David F. Walther, SM'64.

On the defeated Loma Linda team were: Larry D. Bennett, PT'64, pitcher; Edward P Brown, SM'66, catcher; William O. Smith, SM'66; Jerold E. Beeve, SM'66; Helmer E. Swenson Jr., SM'67; Robert N. Grosboll, SM'67; Dale E. Kearbey, SM'67; Robert K. Henrichsen, SM'67; and C. Douglas Lord, SM'66.

Umpires for the game were Herbert I. Harder, SM'51, instructor in pathology; Gayle H. Nelson, PhD, associate professor of anatomy; and Charles E. Winter, PhD, professor of microbiology.

In basketball Loma Linda squeezed out a 33-30 victory with a team composed of: Michael A. Crane, SM'66; Douglas C. Smith, SM'66; Thomas C. Denmark, SM'67; Warren G. Harding III, SM'67; Thom-Mitchell, SM'66; and Bennett.

Defeated were Bietz, Ikuta, Gay, Norman, Irwin and Douglas J. Wear, GS, who is a Loma Linda campus student, but was borrowed to fill out the Los Angeles team, as were students for some other events.

Victorious Loma Linda students in the water polo event Burton A. Briggs, Kenneth R. Noel, were: SM'66; SM'67; Elvin Adams, SM'67; David W. Bailey, SM'67; Jim D. Bowen, SM'66; Kenneth C. Lay, SM'66; Levy D. Kuhn, SM'66; Arnold L. Petersen II, SM'66; E. Charles Hackett, SM'66; Gerald G. Krueger, SM'66; and Clark Braman, SM'67.

In two-man volleyball games Denmark and Beeve defeated Ikuta and Walther, and Kenneth T. F. Ing, SM'66, and Jon A. Cutting, SM'67, defeated Andrew S. Boskind, SM'65, and

Each campus took a victory two six-man volleyball games. The winning Los Angeles team included: C. Don-ald Silver, SD'65; Lynn F. Greenley, SM'65; James E. Crosby, SM'64; Wear, Gay, Swarner and Rouhe.

They defeated Hines, Bennett, Grosboll, Ing, Douglas Smith and Darrell J. Ludders,

all tennis and table tennis events.

In tennis singles Crane defeated Irwin, and Brown defeated Hodgkin.

In tennis doubles it was Crane and F'. Karl Gregorius, SM'67, over Hodgkin and Carter Noland, SM'64; and Brown and Paul H. Shenk, SM'66 over Bond and Samuel M. Chen, SM'65.

Playing at singles in table tennis, Gregorious defeated Bond, and Swenson defeated Leonard C. Riley, SM'65.

In table tennis doubles Swenson and Gregorius defeated Bond and Hodgkin. It was Ing and Donald C. Tan, SM'66, over Riley and Theodore W. Y. Chung, SM'65.

PANEL OF JUDGES kept track of scores for Field Day events. In charge were John M. Reeves, (far left) assistant dean of students; Walter B. Clark (wearing cap), dean of students; Charles E. Winter (right of Dean Clark), professor of microbiology; and Herbert I. Harder (far right), instructor in pathology. Also assisting with coordination of the Field Day was Gayle H. Nelson, associate professor of anatomy. - Staff photo.

Physicians Honor Pettis for Public Relations Activities

California Medical Association last week presented a gold plaque to Jerry L. Pettis, assistant professor of cultural medicine in the University School of Medicine. The citation followed an announcement that Mr. Pettis has been nominated Public Relations Man of the Year by Los Angeles Area Chapter of Public Relations Society of America.

The annual convention at its breakfast meeting resolved to express appreciation to Mr. Pettis for the Audio-Digest Foundation, an organization which he designed, developed and donated to California Medical Association.

The House of Delegates of that association resolved to "memorialize Jerry Pettis for his creative product and for his far-sighted generosity in turning it over to the profession which it serves in the dual capacity of providing both an educational service and surplus funds which are devoted to the furtherance of medical educa-

Needs of Vital Program

Members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church will be invited on April 11 to participate in an annual offering for the advancement of medical education at Loma Linda University.

There are times in the history of movements and organizations when financial aid has especially far-reaching results. Such times may include, for example, a turning point in organizational procedures, a new task to perform, or an important building program.

At this very time Loma Linda University is making one of the most significant moves in its history — consolidation of its program and the erecting of a major new medical center which will greatly increase its ability to University and church leaders unite in inviting every member to contribute as liberally as possible in the April 11 offering. Such contributions, given now, will be of special significance in moving forward this program which is so vital to our common objectives.

Book Talk University

By ALICE GREGG

The story of Dr. Percy Magan in the book FOR GOD AND CME by Dr. Merlin L. Neff (Pacific Press Publishing Association, 1964) is more than the story of the man. It is also the story of Andrews University (Emmanuel Missionary College), Madison College and Loma Linda University (the College of Medical Evangelists), since much of their history took place during Dr. Magan's incumbency as dean or president of the schools.

Dr. Neff, who is chairman of the division of language and literature and professor of English at La Sierra College, has researched thoroughly into the life and letters of one of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination's most colorful and controversial figures, drawing from Dr. Magan's voluminous correspondence (much of which is resting in the historical records room of Vernier Radcliffe Me-morial Library at Loma Linda), from the recollections of Dr. Magan's friends, relatives, students and business associates, and from Dr. Neff's own experience with him as a personal friend and as a collaborator in the publication of the HEALTH Magazine, Dr. Magan as editor and Dr. Neff as managing edi-Each incident that Dr. Neff selects to draw the story of Dr. Magan's life together is carefully documented.

Dr. Neff sacrifices some of the spontaneity of Dr. Magan's flowing Irish wit or wisdom for details on dates, specific persons, specific places (which are of interest to those studying the history of Seventh-day Adventist institutions, but which sometimes overshadow the protagonist's claim to the story). He nevertheless does bring out much of the warmth and vitality of the great and untiring Irish educator, minister and doctor of medicine.

With the experience of a Dr. Neff paints the life of no ordinary man, no Organization Man, but a man hewn from the old protestant ethic, an individual, a forger of trails. He shows him against his family background and the society in which he moved to give his actions credence and motive.

Dr. Magan's life was long and rich. Born in Ireland on November 13, 1867, educated in England at Arnold House School and St. George's in his early years, and sent to the United States at the age of 16 by his somewhat errant father, Percy Magan arrived in Red Cloud, Nebraska, to begin life of another sort. Two years later he joined the Seventh-day Adventist Church and became an indefatigable worker until the time of his death December 16, 1947, at the age of 80.

The activities in between are told without sentimentality and without rancor.

SN Alumni News

EVELYN TRUPP NEUEN-DORF, SN'56, and her husband are anticipating the challenge of opening a new mission station in the jungles of Peru, which will be known as the Perene station, after the Perene River in that area. Nothing less than a 35 horsepower boat will be safe.

They write, "There are many interested people living along the river waiting for us. It will be wonderful to do some pioneer work and start from scratch. It will mean we will build our home, our school and church, organize baptismal classes, conduct weeks of prayer and teach.

"At present Siegfried is teaching sewing every afternoon and directing construction of a new school at Nevati. Practically the whole village turned out to haul rocks from the river bed in their dugout canoes. We shall also use adobe blocks and calcamine which the natives know how to burn. They do with enthusiasm what they know how to do.

"Today is the 35th day without mail and weeks without radio contact with Lima, but life goes on and we hope and pray that our stay will prove a blessing to these friendly natives and that we will make gigantic progress in learning the Spanish and Campa languages before we enter our field of opportunity in Perene."

Students Study Medical Clinic Events Calendar Emphasizing Christian Efforts CHURCH

A group of students from the University School of Medicine last week toured Bakersfield Medical Clinic, an alumni-operated institution, and spent the Sabbath with the physicians of that clinic.

The tour, which has become a semi-annual excursion, began six years ago, according to Frank A. Moran, associate professor of religion in the University Division of Religion, He said the Bakersfield clinic is the only institution of its kind that so far has been organizing a program for medical students. Representing the Division was Dalton D. Baldwin, instructor.

Addressing the students in a Friday afternoon program was Marion C. Barnard, SM'44-A. He explained the organization of the clinic, which presently has four physicians, each with four examination rooms.

Dr. Barnard told about the threefold aim of the clinic, stating that the work is based on healing of man's physical, mental and spiritual ailments. No one in the clinic-physician, nurse or office help-will ever forget that, the doctor pointed out. It is a requirement, therefore, that every staff member lives in accordance with Christian standards.

Bible Class, Cooking Too

Many of the patients come to our Bible classes or take part in our nutrition classes, said Dr. Barnard, who recently returned from a trip to New Guinea where he was a counsel for the University Division of Public Health and Tropical Medicine program.

A recent class in nutrition for those who must change their eating habits attracted 100 patients in Dr. Barnard's home, where Mrs. Barnard served wholesome vegetarian food and explained the importance as well as the preparation of it.

The students, who are members of the University Medical Evangelism Seminar, also had time to visit with Dr. and Mrs. Barnard in their home and enjoy the vegetarian fare which they serve their patients during the nutrition classes. They were also guests of Dr. and Mrs. John W. Kizziar, SM'44-A, a radiologist of the clinic who also works for Loma Linda University Hospital.

Discussions and talks during the two-day sessions covered problems of church and community association and public relations. It was pointed out that a new physician to a church or community must be careful and tactful in offering his services and financial aid. He can be of much greater assistance if he considers all angles in human behaviour.

James F. Barnard, SM'36, a twin brother of Dr. Marion, also participated in the talks throughout the Sabbath. The team also includes Wayne A. Fenderson, SM'44-A.

Dr. Kent Presents Keynote Address

Deryk R. Kent, EdD, assistant professor of psychology in the Graduate School, presented the keynote address for a group of dental hygienists recently at a meeting of the American Association of Dental Schools in Los Angeles.

The title of Dr. Kent's talk was "Pre-Professional Interviewing and Counseling."

Also attending the association meeting were several faculty members from the School of Dentistry.

Dr. Kent also will present a paper in September at a meeting of the American Psychological Association. It will deal with varying levels of stress in male adolescent stutterers.

Before accepting the pastorate of the Alhambra Church, he was in Philadelphia and Long Beach, in addition to entering evangelistic work for one year.

Among his baptisms are Carl Hemp, a former Mr. America who is now a Seventh-day Adventist minister, and a Catholic priest.

Pastor Duffield's outside interests include golf, for which he holds two trophies, both for left-handers.

The success of Audio-Digest is seen in the fact that there are subscribers in "all 50 states and in every corner of the globe. United States Army and Navy and the Department of State send them (the subscription rolls) to such isolated stations as the South Pole and Saudi Arabia. . . . American Pharmaceutical Association traveling representatives even report seeing Audio-Digest boxes at the Pavlov Institute of Russia," relates CALIFOR-NIA MEDICINE.

Consultant to Television

It was noted in connection with the nomination of Mr. Pettis for the Public Relations Man of the Year that he is the public relations counsel to the American Medical Association. As such he has served as technical consultant to national television producers, notably with such programs as Dr. Kildare, Ben Casey, Donna Reed, Eleventh Hour, Breaking Point and Medic, the latter a rerun.

"Pettis was the man who, more than any other, first persuaded the physicians to participate in these weekly fictional excursions into their sacred realm," writes TV GUIDE. "He obtained the first 'cooperation' for the first medical show, Medic, in 1954. He did this by convincing the physicians that, as medical shows of some sort were inevitable, they might as well put the profession in the best possible light."

It was further observed that television industry has made use of Mr. Pettis' counsel. Producers and directors thus make more than 200 telephone calls a week to the AMA office for advice and guidance. As a result, "television and motion pictures are practicing good medicine," says Dr. Eugene Hoffman, a member of Mr. Pettis' advisory committee.

In addition to his activities as public relations counsel for the state and national medical associations as well as Los Angeles County Medical Association, Mr. Pettis has served Loma Linda University as vice president for public relations and development.
