

Tuition Requirements For Students Attending New Anthony-Seeger School

This is the last in the series concerning the Anthony-Seeger Elementary school.

The School Board of Harrisonburg did not accept the proposal of the administration of Madison College, but agreed to submit to the College the ADA allotment received from the State, plus $5.00 for each child assigned by it to the Anthony-Seeger School.

This sum amounts to approximately one-third of the per capita cost for educating a child in the elementary schools of Harrisonburg. Consequently those children from the City of Harrisonburg who attend the Anthony-Seeger School and those children from Rockingham County (not included in the group of sixty from the Pleasant Hill School area) who are admitted to the Anthony-Seeger School will be charged tuition based on the following schedule:

Tuition Charges

Rockingham County pupils for whom tuition is not paid by the School Board, grades 1 - 6, $13.50 per month, or $60.00 per semester.

Harrisonburg City pupils — supplemental tuition payments by parents, grades 1 - 6, $10.00 per month, or $45.00 per semester.

Kindergarten pupils from County and City for one-half day sessions — $8.00 per month, or $36.00 per semester.

Nursery School children from County and City for one-half day sessions — $12.00 per month, or $54.00 per semester.

A Further Word of Explanation — Changes have been made in the student teaching arrangements by which the six supervisors of student teaching in Keister School will be transferred to the Anthony-Seeger school. Also the reimbursements on salaries of supervisors in the Harrisonburg High School from the College to the Harrisonburg School Board have been revised to bring such payments more nearly in line with current national practice. Therefore the Harrisonburg School Board will face a difficult financial problem since it will receive approximately $25,000 less from the College for the 1958-59 session. The City School Board has agreed to reconsider the matter of tuition payments to the College after a year of experience in the operation of the campus school. It is hoped that beginning with the 1959-60 session, the City School Board will increase its

YWCA To Sponsor Big Sister Program

By Virginia Moffett

Would you like to be a "Y" Big Sister for some lucky frosh? Here's your opportunity. The rising junior class, the sister class of the frosh, will have priority in signing up for Little Sisters, and the sign-up sheets will be posted on the "Y" bulletin board in Harrison Hall lobby from May 19 through May 21. There will be another sign-up sheet posted on Thursday, May 22 for those in addition to the rising juniors who would like Little Sisters for 1958-59.

The Big Sis-Little Sis program affords upper classmen an opportunity to become familiar with the incoming freshmen and to serve our campus in an advisory capacity. Each big sister has a great responsibility to fulfill for she is expected to correspond with her "Little Sis" during the summer, welcome her at the beginning of the fall session, escort her to the Big Sister-Little Sister program, and assist and advise her in all possible ways. You know what a pleasure it has been for you, in the past, to have a "Big Sis" so please do everything within your power to make this program one of satisfaction and success for all Madisonites.

This is a project sponsored by the YWCA and we welcome all suggestions which you wish to incorporate in the Big Sister-Little Sister Program. Don't forget to sign up for your "Little Sis" real soon.

tuition payments to the College so that the supplement tuition payments by parents may be reduced or entirely eliminated.

In addition to funds derived from tuition provided by the school boards of Rockingham County and Harrisonburg and private tuition paid by parents, it is estimated that there will be provided from Madison College funds approximating $170.00 per session for each pupil who attends the Anthony-Seeger School. Thus, it is apparent that the College will be paying from its own funds more than fifty per cent of the cost of operating the campus school.

Educator To Speak At Commencement

Dr. Dabney S. Lancaster, chairman of the State Council of Higher Education, will speak for the commencement exercises June 1, at 3:00 p.m. in Wilson auditorium.

He is a distinguished educator and much in demand as a speaker. Dr. Lancaster received his B.A. degree from the University of Virginia, M.S. from Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and worked on his doctorate at the University of Missouri. The University of Richmond awarded him an L.L.D. degree in law.

He was secretary of the State Board of Education until 1929 when he accepted the position of Dean of Students at the University of Alabama. In 1939 he returned to Virginia as secretary of the Board of Trustees at Sweetbriar College.

The governor appointed him Superintendent of Public Instruction in 1941. He resigned in 1946 to become president of Longwood College until June 1955.

In 1956 Dr. Lancaster was appointed a member of the State Council of Higher Education and was elected chairman.

Committee Alters The Point System

The Student Organizations and Activities Committee, after consulting the presidents and chairmen of campus organizations, would like to announce the following changes in the point system:

1. Presidents of organizations (except those listed otherwise) shall now receive 5 points instead of 7.
2. The president of Kappa Delta Pi shall receive 6 points.
3. The secretary of the sophomore class shall receive 3 points instead of 2.
4. The chairman of the Recreation Council shall receive 7 points instead of 6.
5. The members of the YWCA Council shall receive 3 points instead of 4.

Reminder

For those who have not done so, the Director of Admissions requests students who are eligible and wish to apply for State Teachers Scholarships for the 1958-59 regular session and the 1958 Summer Session to file applications immediately.

Application blanks may be secured in the Office of Admissions. May 17th is the deadline for those who would like their applications to be mailed to Richmond with the first group to be approved and sent in.

Moving Up Assembly Traditional Occasion

Wednesday, May 21, at the noon assembly, the annual moving up ceremony will take place. Following the processional, the Reverend Earl D. Roberts will give the invocation and President Miller will deliver the major address.

After closing remarks by Charlotte Robertson, each class will present the class banner to the incoming president and then each group will change sections, moving up as an incoming class.

Charlotte Robertson will present the senior banner to Ann Carol Younkings; Jean Harrison will receive the junior banner from Ginny Moffett; Martha Duke will present to Alma Brown the sophomore banner, and Mary Wood will give the freshman banner to Jean Harrison, who will in turn give it to the freshman president next year.

Moving up day—that occasion which brings tears to the eyes of the seniors, marks the end of another school year. As the seniors leave to make way for the incoming seniors, and so on, our thoughts turn back once again to the beginning of the past year with all its joys and sorrows. Perhaps sentiment finds its place in this traditional assembly.

The recessional will close the assembly.

In Memoriam

For each person with whom we share life's joys, there is a reserved spot in one's life, a place which cannot be filled by any other person or material thing. So often this person, through an act of God, leaves our earthly association and we suffer a great personal loss.

May each of us be comforted by the assurance that the warm, welcoming arms of our arisen Lord have been extended to our loved ones who have so suddenly passed from our earthly home.

Education Convention To Discuss Science

Among the features of the summer session at Madison will be the Annual Institute on Public Education to be held July 8 and 9. This occasion will mark the fifteenth consecutive year in which the Institute has been presented to interested laymen and professional workers in the field of education throughout the State of Virginia.

The controversial question of whether the curriculum of our secondary schools should provide more mathematics and science and less English, Social Science, Art and Music will be considered during this two-day event. The theme of the conference is "Education in an Age of Science: The Need for a Balanced Curriculum."

Among the outstanding speakers who will develop this theme is Dr. Arthur Mizener, Professor of English at Cornell University, whose biography of F. Scott Fitzgerald "The Far Side of Paradise" is a best seller. The college is also fortunate in having obtained Dr. Anne Gary Pannell, President of Sweetbriar College, whose topic will be "Let's Keep the Humanities in Orbit, Too." The scientists appearing on the program include Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, well known author and lecturer; Dr. Paul Brandwein, Science Consultant to Schools; and Dr. Reuben Gustavson, former President of the University of Nebraska and a member of the U. S. Commission for UNESCO.

All sessions of the program are open to students and the public at large.

Notice

Library books are due Thursday, May 22. You can help by returning books you are not using. Renewals can be made for books needed during examinations. Grades will not be issued to students who have failed to return books.

Plans Made For Graduation Weekend Include A Full Schedule Of Activities

By Mary Frances Tyler

For the seniors and graduating sophomores, the weekend of May 30—June 1 will be a weekend comprised of many sad ceremonies and joyful activities. It will terminate their student-days here at Madison. But even though they will be graduating, Madison will remain a part of their lives; and its old familiar traditions and rules will not be deserted in the closet in their rooms.

Pat Rogers adjusts the mortarboard that Carrie Lou Jeter will be wearing for the last time. These two seniors will be joining their classmates in a full schedule of graduation activities beginning Friday afternoon, May 30, with a get-together at Hillcrest.

During the past four years the senior class has worked hard to reach their high goals. They have witnessed the erection of new dormitories, the passing and coming of old and new faculty members, and the changing of rules and regulations. Together, they have presented four class night productions and have proven in many other ways that they shall achieve that which they desire.

Dr. and Mrs. William L. Menger, the class sponsors have willingly given their time and assistance to their class, and each member has grown to love the Mengers, whom they chose as their sponsors four years ago.

The class project of planting the rose bushes around the circle by Senior Hall has been skillfully conducted. Future students will benefit by the added beauty which these roses afford the campus.

Although the graduating sophomores have only two years of Madison life to remember, they have willingly exerted their time and effort to accomplish their own goal. Their class will miss them next year when it's time to produce their class night.

To begin the weekend festivities, on Friday at 4:30 p.m., President Miller will honor the graduating students at a Garden Party. This will be a very informal get-together at Hillcrest, featuring an atmosphere of ease and friendliness. Faculty members, relatives and friends will be present.

At 7:30 p.m. Friday, the Concert Choir will present a music program for the seniors. Deviating a little from the standard pattern when the Choir comprised the entire program, this year's program will include individual performances by members of the senior class.

The YWCA will present a vesper program at 8:30 p.m. After a brief talk by the Reverend Earl D. Roberts, of the Presbyterian Church of Elkton, the seniority service will take place. During this very impressive service, the graduating students will carry lighted lanterns and form an "M" on the quadrangle. When the "M" has been formed, the Choir will sing the Lord's Prayer, after which the playing of Taps will break the solemn silence of the night.

Beginning Saturday's gala activities bright and early, the seniors will breakfast at 8:30 a.m. in Junior Dining Hall. Among the guests who will be present are: Dean and Mrs. Percy Warren; President G. Tyler Miller and his daughter Elise; Dean Wilkins; Dr. and Mrs. Menger and family; Dean and Mrs. Tolbert, Miss Helen Frank, and all of the housemothers of the senior dormitories.

At 12:00 noon in Wilson auditorium, the much anticipated class day exercises will take place. This occasion is truly a commencement of the four previous years at Madison, for excerpts taken from their four class nights will be presented. These skits will not be as polished as they were when presented to the entire student body during a class night, but they will be symbolic of the four long years during which the class has worked as a whole. This class day exercise will be the time to joke and reminisce over their college escapades.

The fun will continue at 1:00 p.m., but the site will shift back campus for a gala picnic. No doubt many memories will return to those who have often before journeyed back campus for a jolly picnic.

At 7:00 in Wilson the movie, "Pajama Game" will be shown. The Madison tradition of a Saturday movie is one that can not be crowded out—even in a graduation weekend.

From 9:00-12:00 Reed gym will echo with the smooth dancing music of Tommy Hall and his Combo, as the graduates enjoy their graduation dance. After the dance, coffee hours will be held from 12:00 p.m. to 2:00 a.m. in the sorority houses and dorms.

Sunday, June 1, will be the really, long-awaited big day—Graduation Day! At 11:00 a.m. the Commencement Service sermon will be delivered by Dr. Frank Bell Lewis. Dr. Lewis is the dean of the Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Virginia.

At 1:00 p.m. dinner for the graduates, their parents, other relatives, and friends, will be served in Blue-stone Dining Hall.

Beginning at 3:00 p.m. will be the highlight of the weekend. Delivering the address to the graduates will be Dr. Dabney S. Lancaster, who is chairman of the State Council of Higher Education. He is a former president of Longwood College. After Dr. Dabney's speech, President Miller will present the graduates with their diplomas.

And so will end the gala weekend. As each graduate marches up to receive her diploma, she will no doubt experience mingled emotions, thinking of the past but eagerly anticipating the future. Madison has attempted to prepare each for the adventures which lie ahead. Now it's up to you, Graduates. Good luck, and may God be with you.

Honor Council Speaks

A very large majority of us students are to be commended for their support of the Honor System regarding cheating this year. There have been fewer cases of cheating this year as compared with the past few years. This shows the strides taken in strengthening our Honor System by each individual student. So let's each remember to keep the torch of honor burning throughout the approaching exam period.

Good luck to each of you on your exams.

Harriet Harnsberger, President
Honor Council

Your Day

September 19, 1954, may have been just another day to most of the world, but to 447 girls, it was a day never to be forgotten, for on that day when you entered Madison College as freshmen, a new life began for you. Perhaps you didn't realize then, that once having left home to enter college, your life would never be quite the same again.

With new surroundings, many of your conceptions of life have altered. Before you knew it, you had become a part of Madison, and Madison consisted of more than a campus of grey stone buildings with terra cotta tile roofs — it became a place for healthy growth toward maturity. Through the curriculum, Madison has endeavored to train you to meet the challenges of your chosen vocation; through campus life and activities, you have become better prepared to meet the challenges of life.

June 1, 1958, may be just another day to most of the world — but to you who will be leaving the campus of M. C., it is another day to be remembered, for it marks not only the end of a part of your life, but the beginning of a new part. You will leave behind the grey stone buildings, but Madison — the real Madison which is so much a part of you, will be with you always.

M.F.G.—B.J.C.

Dont Procrastinate

"Necessity is the mother of invention." Along this line when a situation arises we always have a million suggestions about improving the situation. This is the case now.

Year after year we put off thinking about exam time, then when it is upon us we have suggestion upon suggestion and plan after plan on how it could be improved.

I realize that it is too late to do anything about it now, but what about exam time next semester? If at all possible it would definitely be an advantage to allow more time between the end of classes and the start of exams.

Professors, just as students, seem to put off things until the last minute. As a result the work students have put off plus the work professors have put off assigning, all hit the student at one time. The result of this is complete frustration. The student, in an endeavor to become a superman, stays up late at night, skips meals and develops a chronic nerve case.

We observe that in other institutions of higher learning a longer time is afforded before exam period. If this could be worked out, the students would be able to exemplify, more correctly, what they have learned during the course of the semester.

True, some students would continue to procrastinate but on the other hand some would not. I believe that if this plan could be worked out, the benefits would far exceed any limitations that could be cited.

If this suggestion meets with the general approval of the students then I would suggest that we keep it in mind and investigate the possibilities of bringing it about before exams sneak up on us again.

Meanwhile, the moral can easily be concluded — DON'T PROCRASTINATE.

Helpful Roommates Assets To Campus

Dear Little Sis,

Please don't have any qualms about the gals in college — especially here at Madison. They're really great; they're so eager to be of help — you'd be surprised! Why, just the other day I got a new pair of shoes, and do you know what? One of my friends who wears size 6A shoes too broke them in for me! Wasn't that sweet? What's really fabulous is this type thing happens all the time.

You're sure to have a swell roommate. It wasn't just luck that my roomie is so nice, most of them are — especially if the two help each other in every way possible. There are many instances I could tell you but the most helpful has to do with man problems. Everytime I'm not quite ready for my date when he arrives, who goes to entertain him until I get there? Good ole Roomie! When I had Asian Flu she even went out with him for me. You know how much help that was! I didn't want him dating just anybody. (You know it's funny but now when she's ill, she won't let me go out with him — oh well, that's the way the ball bounces during engagements!).

The gals are terribly nice about telephone calls, too. Like today, a gal down the hall, Pat, got a call. Trying to find her, the girl who answered, asked in our room where Pat was and said that some man wanted to speak with her. My roomie, Marilyn, jumped right up and said she didn't know Pat's whereabouts but would be glad to take the call for her.

"Thas as Mar-i-lyn," she cooed into the receiver, "Pa-it's aout rite nauw. Cud ah ta-ik -uh mess-ah?"

"Yes," came the masculine voice, "tell her to meet me in an hour! — By the way, This is her English teacher."

Marilyn's really a friendly girl (when she's not disappointed!).

The professors get a lot of help from the gals, too. I've had much experience with this myself — I always go assist my biology instructor in filing slides every Saturday. This is a sorta' double-barrelled good deed 'cause I go Saturday afternoon so I won't be in the way while Marilyn cleans the room.

Well, Little Sis, I hope this clears up that misunderstanding about the audacity of college gals! I just know you'll love it here — especially if you never buy new clothes, don't date, and have a big feather duster. See ya' in September

Today's Prayer

Dear Father in Heaven, we thank Thee for life and the fulfillment of it. Give us wisdom that we may know how to use this life to its most humble and worthwhile means. Give us knowledge that we may seek to know the truth. Give us love and patience for our fellowman. Give us ease of heart and mind that we may be good workers in the land that Thou hast provided.

We praise Thee in song and prayer and acknowledge all works to Thee. Keep us in Thy watch and care, Father, that we may be ever near Thee in mind and spirit.

We thank Thee for each new day and we ask that Thou wouldst guide us in the use of each of these for the betterment of those around us.

As we receive the blessings of each day, may we not forget to give thanks and appreciation for all things which are done for us.

In Thy name's honor and glory we pray.

Amen.

Members Of Faculty Plan Varied Activities

As the days grow warmer and warmer, each student here on campus is no doubt thinking ahead to the quickly approaching summer vacation time. Akin to the students in this respect, the members of the faculty are also looking forward to the summer months when they will have the time to go on that long-planned trip.

Dr. Caroline Sinclair, will pass the summer months touring Europe. Leaving in late June, Dr. Sinclair will return the first of September.

Also planning a lot of traveling is Mrs. Bernice Varner, who will visit relatives in Salt Lake City and go on to California. Upon her return from California, Mrs. Varner plans to set up a workshop in home economics.

Dr. Charles Caldwell has the summer months planned very efficiently. After spending the first part of June as chief consultant in a work-shop in Southeastern Louisiana College, he will teach during the summer session here at Madison. Dr. Caldwell will take a brief vacation in Florida before tackling the winter session.

Mr. Cecil Eby will spend the summer months vacationing in Maine.

Also visiting in Maine will be Miss Marjorie Berkley, who plans to teach tennis and land sports at Camp Waldon in Denmark, Maine.

Miss Dorothy Savage will travel to Columbus, Ohio, for a brief visit. After this, she has tentative plans of traveling to North Carolina to attend a driver education course. Miss Savage is also planning a return trip to Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Mona Coffman has not yet made definite plans for the summer, but she hopes to make a trip to either New England or Florida.

Dr. Raymond Dingleline will spend the summer working on his book about the history of Madison College.

What's New In Stu-Gu

As a result of the large turnout for the Woody Herman Concert, SGA has in its treasury approximately $250. proceeds from this program. We are now in the strange predicament of needing suggestions on how to spend this money. Of course, we have many ideas, but feel everyone should have the opportunity of expressing their opinions. Please send any suggestions to P. O. Box 1. We would appreciate hearing from you.

One of the brighter duties of SGA is returning to campus several days early to attend a retreat at Riverwood. The purpose of this retreat is to plan the program for the coming academic year. Following the retreat, the council returns to campus to greet the incoming freshmen and help with orientation.

The old council wishes to express their appreciation for the interest and support the student body has shown during the past year. We hope you will do equally as well or better for the new council.

Just Me... Nick

When I walked in the tea room the other day and found the occupants silent with books spread from one table to another I suspected something was up. I proceeded back to the dorm and passed several people with their noses in a book. When I entered the dorm and found the TV set off and several people in the hall digging into huge boxes for "free and inexpensive" material, I put all the facts together and came to the definite conclusion that something was different. In an air of confusion, I entered my room. The sight that met my eyes confirmed my conclusion. My roommate and several kids (that I usually don't see except over a bridge table or across a dish stacked table in the tea room) were reclined on the beds and on the floor studying.

After putting all these facts together and thinking for a few hours I remembered that exam time was drawing near once again. My mind was slightly relieved — for a few short minutes I thought everyone was sick, especially my roommate and our "neat" friends.

No joking, since exams are almost here this will be the last issue of the BREEZE this year. It is hoped that you have enjoyed the BREEZE during the year and that next year we will all come back with new ideas to improve our paper.

To say goodbye always seems so final. So to the graduating seniors and sophomores, I'll just say that our thoughts and best wishes go with you. We shall be looking forward to your return visits soon.

I guess that's it until next year. Good luck on your exams!! Behave yourselves over the summer and come back with much enthusiasm and even tanks.

God bless and keep you —

Stately Seniors Leave Their Marks Behind

By Ellen Raines

It's easy to recognize them. There is a certain air of dignity and finality about a senior. When they put on their caps and gowns, one somehow gets the feeling that they were born in them—as though no one else had ever worn them before. You can spot them a mile away. The stately seniors are the certified, Madison inspected, end product of a pinch of "frivolous freshmen," a dash of "silly sophomore," and a touch of "jolly junior" well-blended by housemothers, professors, dormitory life, and boys' schools.

Most of the seniors can't realize, themselves, that they have finally reached the goal that their parents, four years ago, had tearfully deposited their baby girls here to attain. It is not certain whether too many of them had well-fixed goals in mind that year—it was hard enough to figure out plans for the next day, and planning for four years was an impossibility.

As sophomores they had adjusted to the thought of college life—not college life itself, just the thought of it. The future was not as vague as it had been, and amazingly enough they found that with a little effort they could even pass courses.

By the time they were juniors, they were in the swing of things. They had become experts in bridge, getting term papers in on time, sleeping in classes with their eyes open, and fighting mobs to get to the Junior Dining Hall.

They entered their senior year a little dubious of the title of "stately."

Now the year is almost over. They are thinking now of all the little things they have done in past years. These little things are the ones they will remember in later years when they look back on college. All these little things add up to a great big warm spot in the hearts of all who follow for the class of '58.

Business Fraternity Elects New Officers

Officers for the coming year of Beta Nu chapter of Pi Omega Pi, national business honor fraternity, will be installed on Tuesday, May 20, by the outgoing president, Merlin See. The new officers are: president, Ann Benesek; vice president, Sandra Early; secretary, Joan Bennett; treasurer, Robert Miller.

On April 23, the club climaxed the year with Pi Omega Pi Day, including the sponsoring of Mr. John H. Noyes, Manager of the Southern District for the DuPont Companies, Extension Division, who spoke in assembly on "Chemistry in Progress." During this assembly the annual award to the sophomore in business with the highest scholastic average was awarded to Ellen Raines.

The annual Pi Omega Pi banquet was held that evening at Shenandale, with Representative Charles Wampler as guest speaker.

Greek Organizations Hold Open Houses

Sorority Open Houses

On Wednesday, May 21, all the sorority houses will throw out the welcome mat for freshman visitors. The freshmen may visit any of the sorority open houses from 3:30 until 5:30 that day.

Here is a wonderful chance for freshmen to see what sorority life is really like. It will also be a good opportunity for sorority girls to get to know the underclassmen.

Prior to the open house, members of the Panhellenic Council, sponsors of this function, will visit the freshmen dorms to clear up any questions that girls may have.

All girls in sororities are asked to be at their houses for this function. It is also hoped that as many freshmen as possible will be able to attend the open houses.

By Shirley Jacobs

The Class of 1960 have elected the officers for their incoming junior year.

Presiding as president will be Jean Harrison, a native of Harrisonburg and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Harrison. She is a member of Sigma Phi Lambda, Westminster Fellowship and vice-president of the sophomore class.

Barbara Jacobs will serve as vice-president. Hailing from Williamsburg, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Jacobs. Barbara is a member of the German club, Association for Childhood Education, Pi Kappa Sigma social sorority and the Panhellenic Council.

Serving as the new secretary is Ellen Raines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Raines of Keezletown. Ellen is a member of the Cotillion club, Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority, Student-Faculty committee, Future Business Leaders of America, and feature editor of the BREEZE.

Martha McManaway, the new treasurer, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McManaway and comes from Moneta. She is a member of Sigma Phi Lambda, Alpha Rho Delta, Future Business Leaders of America and the Cotillion club.

College Bids Faculty Members Farewell

Now that the 1957-58 session of Madison College is almost at an end, the students will leave with mixed feelings. Happy thoughts of courses completed and anticipation of the summer are in the minds of many. Also, the not so happy thoughts of saying goodbye to the good times and good friends leaves most of us somewhat saddened.

Among those friends are some of our faculty who have come to mean much to us.

Miss Margaret Anderson of the Biology Department is leaving us to pursue graduate study.

Miss Marjorie Berkley, Miss Marion O'Neill and Miss Emmie Evans, all of the Physical Education staff have decided on other positions in other institutions of higher learning.

Dr. Morris Blair, who so ably replaced Dr. Turille in the Business department, will retire at the end of this year.

Miss Frances Grove of the Art department will be an exchange teacher to England.

Miss Margaret McClellan, of the Speech Department will return to the University of Florida where she was granted a leave of absence so that Mr. Ralph Lahaie could do graduate work.

A professor who has grown to mean much to Madison's students is Dr. Paul Houchell. Dr. Houchell has for twenty-two years been a member of Madison's faculty having first become a member in 1936. Dr. Houchell has, however, been in education for some forty-seven years. Upperclassmen, now and in past years, have learned to look at this still-youthful prof, not only as a teacher, but as a friend.

He received his Bachelor of Arts Degree in 1911 at Georgetown College in Kentucky, while in 1928 he received his Ph.D. from Peabody College in Nashville, Tennessee. Dr. Houchell retires at seventy years of age.

To all of you we say, "Thanks" for your help and encouragement. We wish you luck in whatever you undertake.

Looking forward to a successful 1958-59 our freshmen — soon to be sophomores — elected an outstanding student to lead them. Alma Brown who comes to Madison from Portsmouth is the new sophomore president. In addition to her various activities on campus, German club, Junior Y, and Sigma Phi Lambda, Alma worked untiringly as director of class night. Alma, confident that we will profit by this year's mistakes, plans the class project as the main objective for the coming year.

Assisting Alma during the year as vice president is Billie Jean Cook from Staunton. Having served the class during the past year as treasurer, Billie hopes to be a help to Alma and her class.

Also returning to an officer's role is June Stinson from Roanoke who will serve the class as secretary. A Sigma Phi Lambda member, June is the newly elected vice president of Literary Club.

Sport's Flash

With Ash

Well kids this is it for another year. Next week at this time, we will be in the process of taking and studying for exams. A not too pleasant thought to say the least. For the class of 1958 these will be the last ones taken at Madison College. An enviable state, I'd say.

Seriously though, before we finish another chapter of our lives let's look back into the past year for a few minutes.

Speaking from the world of sports, this year at Madison has been an eventful one. With fall came hockey. At the first of school you may have seen many students nursing aches and bruises that were a result of a week at hockey camp. As the season progressed they became toughened—conditioned is the more professional word—but were not able to top their competitors. However, at the tournament the team won one game and tied another. The coach? — Miss Marion O'Neill.

As the snow began to fall, thoughts turned to warmer quarters and basketball. After several weeks of try-outs, Miss Marjorie Berkley selected those twenty-four girls that she felt would do justice to the purple and gold. The teams had a rather successful season.

Mr. Long was as proud as a new father when his boys brought home a victory for the Dukes this year.

After quite a period of indecision, the sun peeked through and melted the snow and sports fans thoughts turned to tennis and lacrosse.

Miss Berkley's tennis squad has an undefeated season! Don't get too happy though, kids! The weather has kept them from having any matches.

Can you ever forget the wonderful job the Porpoise club did this year under the direction of Miss Leotus Morrison, their sponsor? How about the Orchesis recital? Miss Monica Gutchow is to be commended for her fine job with that and with May Day dances.

Dr. Caroline Sinclair was proud of the extramural fencing team, even though they were unable to win their two matches this season.

Many M. C. students were classified as "Robin Hoods" by Miss Morrison, the archery coach, when the extramural archery squad won their match.

As we look back, we also remember Miss Evans' golf classes, with a slight interruption for the flu; Miss Savage's swimming classes and her undying patience; Mrs. Strough's health classes and writer's cramp and; Dr. Tate's folk dance classes and her enthusiasm.

Of course, wound into the memories of the year is May Day. We sure paid for those few hours of sunshine with interest though, didn't we?

This year we are losing not only many of the seniors from the extramural field but also some of the coaches that have led us. To you we say, "So long and good luck!" You will not be forgotten by those of us who remain behind.

And thus we close the section headed 1957-1958. May we add a post script. In spite of flu, etc., in all it has been a fine year.

'Til then—study hard. See some of you in September.

Sports Personalities For Year Chosen For Outstanding Work

A class that rates! That's the class of 1958. Yes, this class has more than its share of talented and gifted people. Many of these are to be found in the world of sports. In recognition of their outstanding contributions to sports at Madison, we would like to take this opportunity to pay tribute to the sports personalities of the year. For four consecutive years these girls have represented Madison on the extramural playing field in one or more sports.

Sara Jane, "Sam," Welch from Ohio will be remembered not only for the fine job she did as president of the Athletic Association, but also for her fine defensive tactics as fullback in hockey and her unique fencing style.

How soon will you forget Nancy Talman's, "Talman," from Richmond, solo number in the Porpoise show? Nancy is not only noted for her excellence as a swimmer but also for her composure on the basketball court.

Doris Ann Talbert, "Dodie," is a physical education major from St. Paul, Virginia. Dodie will be remembered for her just play and close guarding on the basketball court. She also played extramural hockey her junior year.

Swish! Two more points for M. C. Shirley Stewart, "Stu," from Front Royal, was responsible for numerous points for the Duchesses within the past four years. Stu will also be remembered for her speed on the hockey field.

Waynesboro, Virginia, is where Patricia Schultz, "Schultzie," calls home. Can you ever forget her powerful drives in hockey, her identifying overhead shot in basketball or her hard, spinning serve in tennis?

A goalie had an added sense of security on the hockey field when Frances Schottroffe, of Falls Church, was playing fullback. Anyone who ever got in the way of one of her drives will vouch for its power.

Vera Elizabeth Roberts, "Robbie," is a physical education major from Baltimore, Maryland. Many will long remember Robbie's speed and ability on the hockey field and her proficiency at getting rebounds in basketball, not to mention her excellence in modern dance.

West Virginia proudly claims Jacqueline Poe, "Poe," as one of its daughters. Poe's ability as a halfback will long be remembered by many.

Interception! That's the key word used in describing Jane Painter's, "Painter," of Pearisburg, play on the basketball court. She is indeed a speedy little guard.

To those of you who have worn the purple and gold on the playing field for the last time, we dedicate this article. Congratulations on four years' good work.
