FEVER AND AGUE.

Dr. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear bir.—I feel very grateful for what your valuable medicine, Vegetine, has done in my family. I wish to express my thanks by informing you of the wonderful course of my son; also, to let you know that Vegetine is the best medicine I ever saw for Chills, Shakes, Fever and Ague. My son was sick with measles in 1873, which left him with Hip-joint disease. My son suffered a great deal of pain, al of the time; the pain was so great he did nothing but cry. The doctors did not help him a particle, he could not Hift his foot from the floor. he could not move without crutches. I read your advertisement in the "Louis ville Courier-Journal," that Vegetine was a great Blood Proof. I tried one bottle, which was a great benefit. He kept on with the medicine, gradually gaining. He has taken eighteen bottles in all, and he is completely restored to health, walks without crutches or caue. He is twenty years of age. I have a younger son, fifteen years of age, who is subject to Chills. Whenever he feels one coming on, he comes in, takes a dose of Vegetine and that is the 'art of the Chill. Vegetine leaves no bad effect upon the system like most of the medicines recommended for Chills. I cheerfully recommended Vegetine for such complaints. I think it is the greatest medicine in the world.

THE PHANTOM.

BY BAYARD TAYLOR. Again I sit within the mansion In the old familiar seat, And shade and sunshine chase each othe O'er the carpet at my feet.

But the sweet-briar's arms have wrestled upwar In the summers that are past, And the willow trails its branches lowe Than when I saw them last.

And still her footsteps in the passage, Her blushes at the door, Her timid words of maiden welcom Come back to me once more.

And, all forgetful of my sorrow, Unmindful of my pain,
I think she has but newly left me. She stays without, perchance, a moment, To dress her dark brown hair;

I hear the rustle of her garments. Her light step on the stair O fluttering heartl control thy tumult, Lest eyes profane should see My cheeks betray the rush of rapture

She tarries long: but lol a whisper Beyond the open door, And gliding through the quiet sunshine A shadow on the floor Ah! 'tis the whispering pine that calls me.

The vine, whose shadow strays;

Her coming brings to mel

Nor chide her long delays. But my heart grows sick with weary waiting, As many a time before: Her foot is ever at the threshold Yet never passes o'er.

And my patient heart must still await her,

BRIGHAM YOUNG'S HEIRS.

ALL SCRAMBLING FOR HIS PROPERTY -THE LAW TO BE INVOKED FOR ITS DISTRIBU-TION-BRIGHAM'S WIVES-WHO THEY ARE AND HOW MANY CHILDREN EACH HAD-SEVERAL PHILADELPHIA LADIES IN THE RING.

[Special Correspondence of the Phila. Times.]

SALT LAKE, February 18.

The publication in the New York Herald some time since of an article on Brigham Young's widows attracted wide attention, and I observed it was largely quoted from, both in your paper and many others. Permit me to furnish you with something interesting for The Times concerning Brigham's numerous family. The contestants at law for Young's large estate have employed an eminent legal gentleman from the East, who has for several days past been in Salt Lake quietly taking notes and arranging a forthcoming trial. The lawyer, it is said, came here at the instigation of some of the heirs, of Brigham Young, and although the Church asserts there will be no trial. little hope is entertained of an amicalikely the courts will be invoked to di- like wife, Lizzie Canfield, and they are vide the property. Mary Ann Angell as genteel and handsome a couple as Young was not, after all, the first wife one would see anywhere. of much-married prophet, as it appears Brigham was married prior to 1834 to one Miss Miriam Works. This woman lived in Cayuga county, New York, and was married to ber at at Auburn. He was at that time quite young, a Methodist exhorter, and worked at his trade of glazier and day-laborer. Mrs. Young the first, nee Works, died early, but left two daughters, Elizabeth and Vilate, both of whom, or their heirs, are said to be still living, Elizabeth, the elder, married a Mr. Edmund Elsworth, and the younger, Vilate, married Charles F. Decker. Elisworth went West, entered polygamy and had three wives besides Elizabeth. Decker also embraced polygamy and had three

Of Mary Ann Angell Young, the first living wife and legal heir, little can be said in addition to the information already given. Should she apply under the the Gentile law for her widow's of her just rights, but it is believed she is too good a Mormon to do that. This long-suffering and much abused woman is still as patient as she is noble, and no trouble in the division of the estate need be apprehended from her. It can be shown that as she became old Brigham greatly neglected her and at one time removed her from the Bee Hive house to an old school house, little better than a barn, where she was scantily provided for the Prophet. If all her wrongs coul be submitted to a Gentile court, there is little doubt it would give her a full third of the estate. She was married to Young at Kirtland, Ohio, in 1834. Her living children are Brigham Young, Jr., John W. Young and two daughters, Alice and Luna. Her eldest son, Joseph A.

Young, died two years agc. Joseph Young had four wives. Mary his first wife, had several children, and mother and children are still living. His second wife, Maggie, was on English girl and is still living, with one child. His third wife was Thalia Grant who left him; she is probably still living but has no children. The fourth wife, Clara Stenhouse, daughter of the famous Mrs. Stenhouse, is still living. Although Joseph had three living wives for many years past he only resided one, Clara Stenhouse. This woman, for the love of her, induced him to give up all others and ' practice the ways of a monogamist. His wife, Maggie, was left to shift for herself, but the other wife, Mary, being a woman of spirit. compelled Young to provide for her and the children. Joseph was a wild fellow and gave his father much trouble. It is said when quite young the Prophet sent him on a mission to England to convert the heathen, but when be got as far as St. Louis Joseph went on a terrible spree, visited houses of prostitution and behaved so badly as to scandalize the whole Mormon Church. He was at times quite abusive of his favorite wife, Clara, and Ann Eliza, Brigham's seventeenth wife, says he, on one occasion, chased her about the house and pointed a pistol at her.

THE FAVORITE SON.

son, and destined to succeed him as Nettie, Nabbie and Lulu. Nettie is the head of the Church. He used to carry "Briggey" about with him and show him to the people of Utah as their future prophet. Brigham Jr., is about thirty-six years of age and a Brigham disowned him and spoke of quiet, steady, good-tempered sort of of him as "that reprobate." Oscar man, but not bright or smart. He has three wives. His first marriage was to Kate Spencer, and his second wife was Jane Carrington. Both of these ladies are living, but I do not think either of left him. them have children. Brigham Jr.'s third wife was Miss Lizzie Fenton, of three daughters, Dora, Susan and Philadelphia. She came out to Salt Toolie. Dora is married to a Gentile, Lake with John Young's wife on a visit to Mrs. Wilkinson, saw Brigham, fell in love and married him. She was a very bright, pretty girl, and Brigham Sr. wanted her. The old man used to go courting her in the forenoon and young Brigham in the afternoon. There was quite a rivalry between father and son, but the young fellow won her heart and the girl with it. Miss Fenton has two children by Brigham Jr., and is a favorite wife. Soon after her marriage she made him give up his other two wives and live with her John W. Young, the third son of Ann Angell and Brigham, married for his first wife Lucy Canfield, and had

by her several children. His second wife was Clara Jones, but I never heard of any children. For a third wife he married Lizzie Cantield, of Philadel-phia, a cousin of his first wife. He was on a visit to his first wife's relations in the City of Brotherly Love, saw Miss Canfield and persuaded her to accompany him to Salt Lake, where, according to the Mormon creed, he espoused her. The first wife was greatly shocked at the conduct of her cousin-as well she might be. The Philadelphia wife soon had things her own way-as they say all Philadelphia wives doand compelled John W. to give up his other wives and live with her alone. The Philadelphia girls seem to have the knack of making monogamists out of Mormons, and, it is said here, one Philadelphia woman is as much as any man can manage. John Young wish-ed the first wife (Lucy) to kiss the third wife (her cousin Lizzie) goodnight, which Lucy refused to do, and to punish her, John locked the rebellious Lucy up in a dark room, away from her children, until she yielded She, however, soon afterward left the house and applied to the Prophet for a divorce, which he readily granted. John Young is "President of the Salt Lake State of Zion"-a very high of fice. He is also a very promineut railroad and business man, and the smart ble set lement, and it is altogether ten goes East with his pretty and ladyest of all Brigham's children. He of-

BRIGHAM'S DAUGHTERS. Alice, the eldest daughter of Ann Angell and Brigham is married to Hiram B. Clawson. She was pice, very pretty and bright, and a great favorite with gentlemen. When a girl she was engaged to a Mr. Tobin, who went on a visit to Californie, and, while he was absent, she flirted outrageously, which Mr. Tobin, hearing on his return, broke off his engagement. The young gentlemen with whom she had the flirtation was ordered off by the Prophet to the Sandwich Islands to convert the heathen. Soon afterward Brigham. who it seems was greatly displeased with the affair, gave Alice for a wife to his confidential secretary, Clawson, who already had two wives. This brought gay Alice's single life to a sudden termination. She had several children by Clawson but was not a very good mother. She died two years ago unthird it would be hard to deprive her der circumstances of a very sad nature Alice was a very dressy and showy woman and liked to set off her pretty face and fine figure with good clothes. She was sometimes even loud in her style and this her father disliked exceedingly. One day he meet her on the street dressed to kill for calling, and looking at her from head to foot the Prophet replied: "Good heavens, Alice! What are you rigged out in that style for? You look like a prostitute!" "Well, sir," replied the spirited daughter, "what else am I? And whose teachings have made me so?"

She stood facing him with an expression so like his own the old man absolutely quailed before her and passed on without another word. This proud, ambitious, handsome woman hated polygamy, and soon afterware was found dead in her bed with a bottle beside her labeled "poison." was a splendid actress and often played in her father's theatre to crowded houses With all her freedom she was virtuous, amiable, kind hearted and bright. What might not have been made of such a woman, had her lot been cast out of polygamy and under different circumstances?

Luna, the second daughter of Brigham and Ann Angell, was a bright, beautiful blonde, self-willed and gay as a bird. It required all of Brigham's skill to manage her, and she often got the better of him. She was almost im perial in her self-will and beauty, and the Prophet loved this wayward child better than any of the rest. She is the plural wife of George Thatcher, a leading Mormon.

Lucy Decker, the first wife in polygamy, had two children before she married Brigham, and by the Prophet she had seven, Brigham, Heber, Fanny, Ernest, Arthur, Mira Feramorz, and Clara. Her sons are in the mercantile business. Heber and Ernest are both married, but have one wife but among so many it does not matter much where she is set down. each. Fanny is married to George Thatcher, to whom Brigham's daughter Luna, by his first wife, is also the only wife of Henry Snell.

Harriet Cook, Brigham's fourth wife, had one son by him, Oscar, now thirtyone years of age and a hard case .called the Prophet "Dad" and "the old man," and often expressed a belief that he was "a damned old humbug." Oscar had a wife, but a few years ago she

Lucy Bigelow, the fifth wife, has Morley Dunford. She greatly scandalized the Mormon Church by going to an Episcopal clergyman to get married. The Prophet was terribly en-raged and called her some ugly names. According to the Mormon law she is not married at all, but living in "fornication and lewdness," but it does not seem to trouble either her or her good husband. Susie, the second daughter, is married to Mr. Almy Dunford. Lucy Bigelow married Brigham when quite a young girl, and for a long time has lived in St. George, Southern Utah, where the Prophet and a favorite wife or two went to spend a part of each winter. He always stopped at the house of Lucy Bigelow, while in St. George, and was often insolent and overbearing in his conduct toward ber. On the occasion of one of his very last visits with Amelia, the favorite, both the Prophet and Amelia behaved in so insolent a manner that the usually quiet Lucy was aroused to anger and, it is said, she routed the "head of the Church" and his carrot-topped spouse out of the house. Lucy was very pretty when young and her daughters are said to be bright and handsome

The sixth wife is Mrs. Twiss, who has no children of her own, but has an adopted son whom, it is said, Brigham also adopted to console her for her barrenness. Martha Bowker, the seventh wife. has long been sickly. She has no children of her own, but an adopted daughter of whom she is very fond .-It seems that—according to the Mormon creed-every woman must ap pear in eternity with children or be a nonentity. If they cannot have children of their own they must adopt and raise some other woman's children -so they can claim them in the great hereafter. A woman with ten or a Zion. All her children will belong to her in heaven, and as the generations multiply on earth, die and follow her to the New Jerusalem. Gentle, lovely Harriet Barney, whose charms of person are only excelled by rious home to join the Mormons. She her graces of mind, is the eight wife .-d when she married Brigham, and she brought these children to Salt Lake "that they may be brought up," as she said, "in the true religion." does indeed seem incredible that such a woman should be led into the ballucinations of Mormonism. She had one child by the Prophet, a son named Eliza Burgess, the ninth wife, has one son by the Prophet, whose name is Alphilus Young.

Ellen Rockwood, the tenth wife, I believe is dead. She had no children. Susan Snively, the eleventh wife, was a German lady, and married Brigham when she was quite a young girl. She managed one of the Prophet's farms, and never had any children of her own. She has an adopted daughter, bright, attractive girl, of whom she 18 very fond.

Jewima Angell, the twelfth wife, was not, as before stated, a sister of Mary Ann Angell, Brigham's first living wife, but only a near relative.— Neither was she a full wife, but only a "proxy." She was sealed to the Prophet for the purpose of saving her and her children from damnation. She had three children by her first hus band, one of whom married a Mr. Frazier and has a large family. Jemima died several years ago.

A MISSING WIFE.

It is said at the same time Brigham was married to Lucy Bigelow he was sealed to her younger sister, a very pretty girl. For a time he was very fond of her, and she had a child by him. Suddenly Brigham either did, or pretended, to discover she was untrue to him, and heaped all sorts of abuse on her. She protested her innocence, but Brigham cursed her and sent her to her parents. The parents received her, but were crushed by the disgrace of their child. The poor girl pined away and died of a broken heart. Some say she left two children. I have seen a picture of this woman, which represents her with two children, a boy and a girl, standing by her knee, but I do not know if the story be true or false.

Margaret Alley, the thirteenth wife, died many years ago. She had two children by the Prophet, Eva and Mahovin-Monan-charmer.

Margaret Pierce, the fourteenth wife, was a widow when sealed to Young. She had one child, a son-Morrisbut whether by Brigham or her former husband I cannot tell. Mrs. Hampton, wife No. 15, had no daughter by her first husband, Mr. Wife No. 16 was Mary Bigelow, mentioned above, who Brigham charged with adultery and sent home to her paren's. She ought properly to be called wife No. 6, after her sister Lucy, the only wife of Walter Conrad and Louise the only wife of James Harris, Esq. One of the sons, Hyrum, is married but has only one wife.

Eliza Roxy Snow, the poetess, is the eighteenth wife. She was one of Jo seph Smith's wives and is only married by "proxy" to Brigham. "For her bodily comfort and the welfare of her soul" she was sealed to Young for 'time," but is to belong to Smith in "e:ernity." She is now an old woman and has no children as I can learn.

Ann Eliza Webb Young is the nineteenth wife. She was first married to James Dee, an Englishman, by whom she had two children, but never had any by the Prophet. Zing Huntingdon Jacobs, the twentieth wife, has one child by the Prophet, named after her mother, Zina .--She married Thomas Williams, an Englishman, who now is dead. He had one other wife besides Zina. When Williams came to ask for Zma Brigham said "he could have her if he would take the mother, too." Williams agreed to this, and the mother went to live with her daughter, but Brigham afterwards sent for No. 20 and gave her a house and lot in Salt Lake City. Soon after Williams had married Zina Young and brought her home to live his first wife's baby died, and the husband insisted on the second wife attending the funeral, to which wife No. 1 objected. Williams compelled her to submit, but she would not sit in the room with Zina, where the dead child lay. Williams died suddenly, while sitting at the table in Zina's house .--The first wife, as was her right, had the body brought to her house and prepared for burial, but would not allow the second wife to ride in the carriage with her to the funeral.

Emily Partridge, wife No. 21, was Joseph Smith's wife, and married by "proxy" to Young. She had five children by Young, Emily, Carlie, Don Carlos, Mary and Josephine. Her daughter Emily is one of the plural wives of Hiram B. Clawson; also a Laif sister of Alice's husband. Carlie and Mary both married Mark Croxall, the Western Union telegraph operator at Salt Lake, but Mary is now dead. A BOSTON QUEEN.

Wife 22 is a Boston woman, Mrs. Augusta Cobb. She has no children by the Prophet, but had several by her first husband. Brigham first met her at the "Hub," where he was on a misdozen children is much respected in sion. He converted her to Mormonism and induced her to abandon her husband and children and follow him to Zion, where he made her his wife. Incredible as it may seem, this woman left a fine social position and a luxu-Christ so she could appear in eternity as his wife. The Prophet, after cou sidering the matter, said his authority did not extend so far as that, but he would seal her to Joseph Smith, who would be the first king in the New Jerusalem. It was done and so we are all to have a Boston woman for our first queen in New Jerusalem when we get there. Mrs. Smith, heretofore set down as wife No. 23, is no other than Emily Partridge, No. 21. She is called both Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Young and so was duplicated. Mrs Van Cott, not heretofore men tioned, is properly wife No. 28 of the Prophet. She had one child when she married Young and has since had one. a daughter, by the Prophet. This little girl, now about six years old, is called "Baby Young," and I believe is the youngest of all Brigham's numerous children. Clara Chase, the "Maniac," is called wife No. 24, but she ought to have come further back, for she certainly was married to Young before either Ann Eliza or Mary Van Cott was. She had four children by the Prophet-Mary, Maria, Willard and Phoebe .-Mary is dead; Maria is the only wife of William Dougall; Phoebe is the only wife of Walter Batie. Her son Willard is the young gentleman who recently graduated at the West Point Military Academy with high honors. Amelia Folsom, the twenty-fifth wife and last favorite of the Prophet had no children. She is still young and handsome, but said to be very high-

The above, I believe, are all of the 'Prophet, Seer and Revelator's" children, but there may be others of whom I have no account. It is doubtful if Young knew, when he died, how many children he had or where they all lived. He caused more suffering in this world than any man of modern times, and the misery he planted will live long after the present century has expired.

Teacher (who is trying to explain the meaning of repentance)-"Suppose a bad boy were to try to steal an orange, and his good mother should catch him with it, and take him by the hand gently and tell him how wicked it is, and how very, very grieved she was, don't you think now that the little boy ought to feel sorry?" A Disgraceful Scene in the State Senate.

In the State Senate on Friday last Mr. Massey arose to a question of privilege, quoting from the Dispatch's report of a speech of Mr. Smun, of Nelson, reflecting on him (Massey.) In the course of his remarks the Person

I think I am strictly in bounds when I say that for unrefinement, indelicacy, coarseness, misrepresentation, defamation, and vindictiveness, it surpassed anything I ever heard in the

As Mr. Massey continued he was several times called to order by the chair and members. Mr. Massey (proceeding): I will not offend my brother Senators by any reference to the past history or life, either public or private, of the Senator from Nelson. Nothing of that kind is necessary to render his attacks powerless to damage me or any other Senator in the estimation of those who have observed his course since he has been in the Senate. We all know his constant habit of making offensive attacks upon other Senators, and then declaring, with the next breath, "Of course I don't mean anything by what I say; I take it all back," &c. Mr. Smith (interrupting): It is a falsehood; a deliberate lie. If the Senator is not called to order when he is unparliamentary I will do so. I de nonnce him here and before the world

Mr. Massey: I'll try to maintain my equilibrium. Mr. Massey proceeded: We know was very ambitious and asked Brigham | that it is his habit to write landatory She had two children by a former if he could not seal her to Jesus articles of himself, either anonymously or over a fictitious name, and have them published as communications, while he pays for them as advertisements. Mr. Smith (interrupting): That's another lie-a base lie-and comes from a scoundrel and dog. The Senate was soon in an uproar, both parties having been called to order. The difficulty, with its disgraceful outcome, was referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections, who on Saturday reported in favor of bringing the offenders before the bar of Senate for public reprimand. Mr. Brooks offered a substitute for the report of the Committee requiring a retraction by both parties, which was adopted and carried out by Messrs.

Massey and Smith. Mrs. Owenslagle, of Oregon, Comes to Life in Her Coffin Just Before Burial.

Particulars of a very singular occurrence have just come to light. It aptears that a Mrs. Owenslagle,, who ives about five or six miles southwest of this city, was taken suddenly and violently ill several days ago, and in a short time died to all appearances. The remains gave every indication that the vital spark had forever flown. The friend and relatives were convinced that the lady was dead, and preparations were accordingly made for the interment of the remains. Saturday, the body was dressed for burial and placed in a coffin. The friends began to collect at the residence of the bereaved family. Suddenly a slight moan was heard to issue from the coffin in which the body had but recently been placed. This very unexpected noise greatly startled the assembled neighbors and the people were about to rush from the room, when the husband of the supposed deceased lady approached the coffin and was astonished to find the body moist and warm. A closer examination disclosed the fact that the woman was breathing. Restoratives were applied and the supposed dead came back to life and soon was able to sit up and converse. It is needless to add that the father and other members of the family were overjoyed to have the wife and mother restored to them. Singular as this circumstance may seem we are assured that it is true in every particular.

The law is magnificent. It would hang a man on a technicality though it knew him to be innocent, and it would clear him on the miss, elling of a word, though he were so loaded down with crime that he couldn't arise for his own protection.

THE COMPROMISE BILL.

FULL TEXT OF THE BILL FOR THE PAYMENT OF STATE DEBT AS PASSED BY BOTH BRANCHES OF THE LEGISLATURE AND SIGNED BY THE GOVERNOR.

Whereas, it is believed by the General Assembly that the rate of interest heretofore agreed to be paid by the State on the rublic debt is greater than can be borne without destroying the industrial interests of the State; and whereas the Council of Foreign Bondholders of London, England, and the Funding Association of the United States of America (limited), have, in view of this belief, expressed their willingness to jointly endeavor to obtain the consent of the creditors to an abatement in the rate of interest; and whereas it is highly expedient, in the best interest of the State, to secure an amicable settlement with the creditore, by which the credit of the State may be restored and enhanced, and the aggregate amount of interest payable by the State reduced within limits which will not be too onerous to the population; therefore

1. Be it enacted by the General Asdiscover their eternal fitness for this sembly of Virginia, That to provide for very place, and come into the field, so | funding the debt of the State, the Governor is hereby authorized to create bonds of the State, registered and coupon, dated the first day of January, 1879, the principal payable forty years thereafter, bearing interest at the rate Revenue are running double. CATTLE MARKETS.

BALTIMORE, March 31, 1879.

BEEF CATTLE.—The market has been slow to-day and prices a strong to off as compared with last week. In some few instances 3% bower prizes were accepted to effect sales. The quality will not quite compare with that of last week, for though there were a good many very good cattle there were not as good tops as last week, and more common cattle. We quote at 2 75a $7 5 per 100 lbs.

MILCH COWS.—There is a fair demand for good Ows, but coamyon are bard to sell. We quote at 20s $60 per head, more at and near the former than approaching the latter price.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Moving-Day in Harrisonburg---Remeniscences of Old Stands.

The first of April being moving-day in Harrisonburg, everybody who felt called upon to move did so. There was considerable changing about and there are no vacant houses left. The fixing up in new quarters by new occupants, repairing of fences, cleaning of yards, laying out of vegetable patches and flower beds, whitewashing, house cleaning,&c., have kept all the Uncles and Aunties busy, early and late, fetching and carrying, scrubing, scouring and performing the thousand and one chores incidental to the general reconstruction and renovation of the early spring time. All these transpirings have given the town a migratory, or frontier like appearance, during the past few days. Various business changes are taking place. Ben. Long closes out his merchandizing affairs. Simon Oestreicher has diagonalized to the building formerly occupied by the recent Mr. Pinkus of Poland, who for years conducted a flourishing business in millinery and molasses at this old stand, amassing an immense fortune-mentally. It is related of Mr. Pinkus that rather than suffer a customer to pay more somewhere else, for what he could get for less at his establishment, he would lock the door until conviction came. Logan, the whiskey man, has gone towards the depot, in the new Gay but not gaudy frame building recently erected for store and dwelling. Mrs. Pollock has opened her new boarding house in the Billhimer building on East Market Street. The old Pollock house on Main Street, will be occupied by Rufus McCeney with a high-toned bar and French cafe, about the first of May. John Wallace, the medicinal Clemmer man, will, at the same time, fill the void made by McCeney, occupying the old Spotswood bar, long and favorably known for its convenience and devious ways of ingress and exit. No man was ever known to come out of the Spotwood at the same door he went in. Many ludicrous instances of accidental and painful meetings between father and son, deacon and vestryman, toper and templar, have occurred in its labyrinthian passages, grapevine turns and bracing-up pigeon holes. The restryman in his embarrassment has cost, so help me gracious. asked if the minister was in the ten pin alley, while the deacon would call in a loud voice for oysters in July. Political slates have been made and broken in the old Spotswood alcoves. Undying fealty to person and party has been drunk over its bar, and candidates have set them up for the sovereigns from morning till night, while other candidates were doing likewise for the same stalwarths somewhere else. After Mac. had turned the crank a dozen or more times for Judge Harris and some friends one day last fall, the Judge asked Mac. who he "was for." "Well, Jedg," says Mac. "when I'm waiting on a Harris man I'm for Harris, and when I'm waiting on a Paul man I 'rahforpaul." Daniel O'Donnell, well known as the head dispenser in McMahon's late saloon, will, it

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE. - About 3 o'clock on Wednesday morning of last week, a fire broke out in the Shenandoah Valley Flour Mill at Timberville in this county, entirely consuming it together with the dwelling of Mr. C. A. White located close by. In the mill was a quantity of flour, wheat, corn, offal, &c., amounting in value to about $1.500 which loss falls chiefly on patrons of the mill. The loss to the mill property is estimated at about $5,500; insurance, $1,700. Mr. White saved most of his household goods, but sustains a loss of about $1,000 by the destruction of his dwelling. The cause of the fire is unknown, but is supposed to have arisen from friction of the wheel.

PERTURBED SPIRITS .- A party of moonshine dragoons under command of Lieut. John Dorovan consisting of Messrs. Lawson, Blume, McChesney, Smith and Barksdale, returned home on Wednesday of last week from a ten days scout after illicit distillers through Giles, Craig and Montgomery counties. The party tramped about 800 miles; scaled Bald Knob to the tune of "Bonapart crossing the Alps," and came home flushed with the conquest of two distilleries and several mash tubs. SALES OF PEESONAL PROPERTY .- On Friday there was a large sale of the personal property of Thomas Moore, deceased, at his late residence on the Valley Turnpike, in the Northern part of this county. A great deal of property was disposed of and at satisfactory prices. Fine young work horses brought as high as $145 and $166.25, the latter price for a splendid black, five years old this Spring, about seventeen hands high. and just such an animal as would bring large figures in a city market, for dray or ex press-wagon purposes. , On Tuesday last, D. A. Heatwole, administrator of John P. Good, deceased, sold at the late residence of the decedent near New Erection church, the personal property of his estate. This was also a large sale, and property of all kinds brought good prices, corn selling up to 53 cents per bushel, and stock and implements all going at high fig-

Both of the above sales were well attended, large crowds being present at each, and the caudidates for the various county offices were well represented. But this seems to be a good year for sales as well as candidates.

FOR SALE BY ALL DEALERS. (6) H. Bailey Peyton, of Loudonn counThe New Liquor Law.

IMPORTANT AMENDMENTS TO THE MOFFETT REGISTER SYSTEM ADOPTED BY THE LEG-

The first section of the new law provides that retail license shall not allow the sale of more than five gallons at one time to one individual, none of which shall be drunk on the premises. Appeals from County to Circuit Courts are allowed in cases of refusal by the former of license. Bond and security from $100 to $1,000 are required from all dealers for faithful observance of the law, All Registers must be fixed on the counter or bar-dials facing the customer. . Where both spirituous and malt liquors are sold the former must be painted black and alcoholic, the latter painted red and marked malt, and the registers to be placed not less than six feet apart. Painting of registers now in use to be done at expense of the dealer. All sales must be registered whether paid for or not. The tax on alcoholic liquors is reduced to 11-2 cents, while the rate on malt drinks remains at 1-2 cent. Specific license tax on retail dealers or bar proprietors shall be paid advance. In towns of less than 2,000 population, $30; over 2,000, $60, where both kinds of liquors is sold, or $25 for malt and $50 for alcoholic. separately. If the dealer desires to retail and sell drinks he shall pay $50 in towns of less than 2,000, and $100 in towns of over that population. The dealer on getting a register must pay $10 for the same. The retailers shall pay 12 cents on one-half gallon; on one gallon 24 cents, and on each additional gallon, up to five. 20 cents: and onehalf cent for each half pint of malt. If the law is violated the Court must revoke the license. For each conviction a fine shall be imposed of from $50 to $100; one-third to go to the informer, for which the dealer and his sureties shall be liable. The specific tax on wholesale dealers shall be $150 and $100 additional for the retail privilege. All dealers shall keep a record of all sales of over one gallon in a book for inspection of revenue collectors, and shall affix to each package of over one gallon a tag certifying he has complied with the law. They shall also make report monthly, under oath, to the Court. Whereupon, if correct, the Court shall approve the same and the Commissioner of Revenue shall certify to the amount of tax to the Auditor of Accounts and to the County Treasurer, who shall collect the same. The penalty for any fraudulent return shall be not less than $200 or more than $1,000; and if violation is repeated the license shall be revoked. Manufacturers or distillers are taxed specifically according to their capacity or product. This does not apply to manufacturers or distillers of 1875. Distillers may sell in quantities less than five gallons subject to the same tax rate per gallon as retail dealers. All from fruits, who remain subject to the law dcalers, barkeepers, proprietors, employees, etc., are required to make oath that they will carry out the provisions of the law.

The House passed the bill incorporating he Keezletown Cemetery Company. On Wednesday the Senate passed the mended Moffett law by a vote of 22 to 13.

The Debt Bill discussion on Wednesday vas confined chiefly to the Allen amendment, Johnson, Fulkerson, Paul and Massey in opposition, and Daniels, and Koiner in favor of it. After defeat of various amendments and substitutes, the Alien amendment was finally passed by a vote of 23 to 15. The Senate on Wednesday agreed to the House joint resolution providing for adournment of Legislature April 2d. Among other House bills passed by the Senate was one authorizing the counties of Madison and Greene to subscribe to the stock of the Fredericksburg and Piedmont railroad on certain conditions.

On Friday in the Senate Fulkerson moved to repeal and Phlegar moved to recommit the Debt Bill recently passed. Voted down. Bill leasing Penitentiary and hiring convicts to the Washington, Cincinnati & St. Louis railroad, passed the Senate.

The Senate bill allowing the town of Goodson special license tax was rejected. The House passed the Senate bill amending the Valley Railroad charter. Also the Moffett liquor law bill with all amendments, one of which provides for a reduction of tax on alcoholic drinks to one and a half cents .-

In the Senate on Saturday Fulkerson asked leave to report unanimously from a minority of the Committee on Finance, at which he and Mr. Paul alone were present, a resolution for the repeal of the debt bill.

(Laughter.) , Senate passed House, bill probibiting tax for payment of subscription of Highland county to the Narrow Gauge Railroad until certain conditions are complied with. Senate on Monday adopted resolution for

Mr. Paul proposed an amendment so as to include cost of tuition in female seminaries in this State as compared with other States. He cited the case of a man who paid $600 for a year's tuition at Staunton for his daughter, while it cost him but $400 for two daughters at an institution in New Jersey. Brooke, Koiner, Marshall and Daniel opposed the amendment. Mr. Koiner defending the Staunton schools, stating that young ladies could be well educated in Staunton druggists. for $200 or $300 if desired.

Mr. Bland offered a substitute practically to the same effect, which was adopted. The House passed the Senate bill to incorporate the trustees of the U. B. Church, Dayton. Also the bill for relief of T. W Rhinehardt, of Rockingham, from payment of a fine. The bill exempting firemen from jury service went to a third reading. Speaker Allen gave notice that he would leave the city on Monday night, and that he had designated Mr. Bocock, of Appomattox, to preside in his absence.

Mr. Robinson in behalf of the members presented the Speaker with a beautiful gold eaded cane, which was received by Judge Allen in a neat speech.

At Dauphin, Penn, on the evening of the 29th as Amos Gaynor, proprier tor of the Heltzell House, was walking down the street be met a young girl named Hadessah Douglass, and asked if he might accompany her. Receiving a cold reply he drew a Colt's revolver and fired. The first shot took effect, and while she was reeling he fired again, but missed. Before she fell to the pavement, however, he succeeded in sending a second bullet into her breast. He then pointed the pistol at himself and fired, falling to the ground by the side of his victim A crowd gathered, and medical aid was summoned, but both died in a few minutes. At the inquest it was shown that Miss Douglass had been in the employ of Mr. Gaynor at his notel until about six months ago, and that he had become jealous of the attentions bestowed on her by a young man in the town, he bimself baving a wife and three children. Miss Douglass was but 16 years old.

Railroad from Hancock to Stanton; but the cars mu t be CAREFULLY and CLOSELY piled and FILLED FULL—all that can be gotten in them—in order to save freight and cartage here, which are so much per car, whether the car contains much or little.

DIRECTIONS:—Commence taking the Bark as soon as it will pedi well—run freely—and sewure to take the bark from the upper part of the free and limbs, for the young bark is more flesky and better than the old bark, which is mostly rest, the bark should not be broken up too much, and must be of average thickness as the heavy but bark by fiself will not be bought at full price. THE OUTSIDE OF THE BABK MUST ALWAYS BE KEPT UP. A good way is to rest one and on the log, with outside up, which will prevent its curling, also protect the inside from the weather, which heing the part used, must be kept bright and not allowed to get wet or mould, which injures its strength and color, the all-important parts. The Bark must not be brought in until direct enough to stack up closely—nor when wet or damp for it will not keep—as we have, to place it when received.

THE FARM AND HOME.

The erroneous notion, still current in various quarters, that something can come of nothing by the gracious aid of sheep, is successfully combatted by a practical flock-master, who, writing in the Cincinnati Times, presents in sprightly fashion a few truths for whom they may concern: "We fre-000 to 80,000 head each. quently see absurd statements to the effect that 'the sheep's foot turus all to gold,' and that there is no steadier or Haver way to fertilize a barren field than to put a flock of sheep to pusture upon the briars and weeds in it; that, in effect, sheep will live upon the poorest food and make the richest manure, and are thus the very best stock a farmer can keep on his farm. But those 'who have been there' know better. 'Sheep are always an unhappy flock' -aves semper infelix pecus-wrote the old author, Virgil, and many a man who has been deluded into keeping sheep in the vain hope of finding gold in their foot-tracks has found out 'the truth about it.' Now, having been through the mill, and baving turned defeat into victory by disabusing my mind of the fallacies about sheep, I warn intending shepherds that there is no other domestic animal that needs better care or food for profitable thrift than sheep; that out of their finely. grinding manure mill comes nothing that is not first put into the hoppers; that with proper care and skill, a wellselected flock of the right kind of sheep, in the right place, can be made to pay 100 per cent. on their cost every year. It is true that a flock will clear a field of weeds, briers and rubbish and will enrich it; but it will not live upon these. To relish this rough herbage, the sheep must be fed liverally upon supplementary food, such as bran, meal, cut clover, grass or green corn fodder, and always a pint a day per head of linseed oil-meal, bran or other grain feed. Then with this alloy, the sheep foot will take on a golden tinge, and will edge with gold the farmer's pocket, by making his poor lauds rich; giving him at the same time a lamb or two and a fleece ever year. A field may be enriched, too, by sowing rape seed, at the rate of a peck per acre. and when the crop is of thrifty growth, the sheep may be turned in to eat it down through the late fall and early spring; thus fitting it for a crop of corn, oats or roots, next year. But the sheep must have their pint per day of years ago, sheep are still among the bran or oil meal even then. The fact is, sheep are manure spreaders, rather than manure-makers. We feed tham with the material; they take their pay out of it, and give us back the remainder, transformed into a substance of equal value-because it is more available-with that which they receive, and they get fat meanwhile in doing it. Just as we give the mint a bag of gold dust and we get back exactly the same
