At Olivet Nazarene University, the year passes from event to event. From games lost to games won. From chapel services skipped to chapels attended. From freshman move-in to senior graduation. From break-ups to wedding dates. From Sodexo food consumed to banquets held. From homework assigned to tests taken. From this perspective, Olivet appears very similar to every other university.

However, what if we were to view one year at Olivet Nazarene University not as the mere passing of time but as eight months of our lives during which we have the opportunity...

Man exists for one purpose: to discover the image of God. All of God's creation truly displays His image and His glory. Snowcapped mountain ranges and glorious sunsets grace this earth with the presence of God. Surely the gracefulness of an eagle and the radiance of a flower offer a taste of the awesomeness of the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

But if we see God's face in only the outward riches of this world we have lost our understanding of that which we seek. We have looked outward but failed to look inward. We have seen what God created but have failed to see the Creator.

Only when we see the image of God in ourselves has the face of God been realized.

We need only to read His word to discover the source of His image in our world. Genesis 1:27 tells us that He “created man in His own image” (NKJV). Nothing else God created at the beginning of time can claim such a complete imprint of the Creator. Having been made in the image of God, man stands distinct among all of creation. He is very much the crowning point of God’s creation and in every meaning of the word, God’s masterpiece.

The story of creation in Genesis tells us that God spent five days shaping the wonders of this world. He used perfect technique to paint the night sky with stars. He created the trees and animals to define color theory. He formed the mountains and rivers to announce the richness of his artistic style. And in the course of these five days God prepared to sculpt His masterpiece.

On the sixth day, God set to work on His masterpiece. How did He go about this monumental task? On this final day of creation, how did God—as an artist—envision His masterpiece—the piece that would define His entire collection of work? Genesis 1:27 tells us that God looked only to Himself for inspiration and the result was truly glorious. God made man in His own image, crafting our fingerprints, painting our faces and shaping us in His hands—man became a self-portrait, a revelation of the Divine Being.

The story presented in Genesis took place thousands of years ago, and yet God’s masterpiece has survived through the ages—cracked and tattered—but still complete. As man obeyed God’s command to “be fruitful and multiply [to] fill the earth and subdue it,” the glory of God spread to every corner of the world.

And through man, we see the image of God.

To see the image of God among the cracks.

Yet man cannot help but realize the tattered nature of God's image within him. The remains of what was once beautiful and perfect in the early days of the Earth are scratched and dirtied. For as God sculpted His masterpiece, the forces of evil plotted and schemed.

Satan's destruction of God's masterpiece resulted from man's growing dissatisfaction with being made simply like God. Complying with Satan's scheme of deception, man soon desired to be God and with the first bite of the forbidden fruit, the image of God shattered.

Yet, God did not abandon His masterpiece. Instead, our Creator gathered the broken fragments and through His Son, Jesus Christ, painstakingly restored His image within us.

And through Jesus Christ, we see the image of God among the cracks.

To see the image of God restored in man.

God used simple tools to restore His creation: a cross, some nails and a crown of thorns; but our salvation required more than the skill of the Master Artisan—it required the love of a Father. Therefore, because "God so loved the world...He gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not His Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through Him might be saved" (John 3:16-17 NKJV).

Christ's death does more than bind the wounded and patch the broken; Christ's death makes new the original beauty of God's creation. Just as God "created man in His image" the first time around, belief in Jesus Christ brings forth once more this glorious image. Thus, man becomes a new Creation in Him.

Hence, despite the continuing forces of evil, the image of God remains evident, manifested daily by His people. By looking inward—and upward—man can accurately define his purpose:

To see the image of God.

At Olivet Nazarene University, the year passes from event to event. From games lost to games won. From chapel services skipped and chapels attended. From break-ups to wedding dates. From Sodexho food consumed to banquets held. From homework assigned to tests taken.

However, at Olivet, a game won represents more than another victory, but also a moment for the team members to reflect the image of God to the visiting athletes. A chapel service attended is more than a break in the daily routine, but a moment to cultivate the image of God within us. Dinner in the dining hall provides more than a chance to gather with friends, but yet another opportunity...

To see the image of God.

STUDENT LIFE

A shapeless piece of steel, that's all I claim to be
This hammer pounds to give me form
This flame, it melts my dream
I glow with fire and fury, as I'm twisted like a vine
My final shape, my final form, I'm sure I'm bound to find

So dream a little dream for me in hopes that I'll remain
And cry a little cry for me so I can bear the flame
And hurt a little hurt for me, my future is untold
But my dreams are not the issue here, for they, the hammer holds

The water, it cools me gray, and the hurt subdued somehow
I have my shape this sharpened point, what is my purpose now? And the question, it still remains, what am I to be?
Perhaps some perfect piece of art displayed for all to see

A hammer pounds again, but flames I do not feel This force that drives me helplessly through flesh and wood reveals
A burn that burns much deeper, it's more than I can stand
The reason for my life was to take the life of a guiltless man

So dream a little dream for me in hopes that I'll remain
And cry a little cry for me so I can bear the pain
And hurt a little hurt for me, my future is so bold
But my dreams are not the issue here, for they, the
hammer holds

This task before me may seem unclear, but it, my Maker holds

And He has made from one blood every nation of men to dwell on all the face of the earth, and has determined their preappointed times and the boundaries of their dwellings, so that they should seek Lord, in the hope that they might grope for Him and find Him, though He is not far from each one of us; for in Him we live and move and have our being, as also some of your own poets have said, "For we are also His offspring."

Moving In

Olivet officially welcomed the class of 2009 to campus on Saturday, August 27. As parents parked in front of Williams and Chapman, "Woody's Moving Crew" bombarded the "newbies" and helped carry clothes, TVs and furniture into the dorms. Shortly thereafter, returning students stepped onto campus and once again, ONU bustled with activity after four months of summer slumber.

"Through the welcoming spirit of my RA and other students on campus, God gave me a peace about being away from home as I moved into my new dorm."

first Week

The evening before classes start, the Decker Quadrangle came alive as students gathered for the annual Quad Party. Located just outside of Ludwig Student Center, the Quad plays witness to a host of events throughout the year. On this particular evening, a climbing wall, euro-bungee and karaoke distracted students' minds as they attempted to ignore the fact that summer was all but over.

Ollies Follies

Fun and foolishness marked the annual festival known as Ollies Follies held the first week back to school. The week-long event of crazy competitions and class pride kicked off on Friday afternoon with a fierce round of athletic games such as volleyball, ultimate frisbee and dodgeball. Saturday, students continued to enliven the campus with the "bring the noise competition" and human pyramid at the first football game of the season.

The first two days of Ollies Follies served only as a precursor to the excitement of Sunday night when students took to the stage at the Skit and Talent Show. Frequent renditions of Star Wars, Star Trek and MIB parodies highlighted the outer space theme only to be amplified by the Seniors' inclusion of an action-packed lightsaber battle in their skit. The class of 2006 finished the night as two-time Ollies Follies conquerors and all students went home with memories of a weekend filled with out-of-this-world experiences.

friends and family Weekend

"I liked the family being able to come up to see where we're living and what our dorm looks like now that they are all made up and 'lived in.' I just thought it was really neat."

Sarah Neidel, freshman

For three days at the end of October, Olivet burst with activity as friends and family of students stepped foot on campus to experience a "Day in the Life of Olivet." For many students, the weekend marked a time to receive some much-needed tender loving care—or at least a free meal. Not apt to leave guests bored, Olivet scheduled special events for all to enjoy. Friday evening, parents and students alike shared laughs when The Village Idiot Joby Saad and illusionist Danny Ray performed in Chalfant. Later that same evening, the dining hall came alive with the sound of music as John Booko performed melodies on his guitar while all feasted on ice cream sundaes. Football and soccer games held Saturday gave friends and family a sense of the Tiger's ferocity and Sunday church services offered a relaxing finish to a weekend filled with kisses from mom and dad.

Dorm Life

"Recently, I got into a shaving cream fight which proved to be a really good time. If you want something that's not as messy, I highly recommend turning up the music and dancing it up. My friends, on the other hand, play a lot of video games and play their guitars. So there's always something fun to do, you just have to be a little creative sometimes!"

Aaron Cantrall, junior

Every year, students trade the plush carpet, single bedrooms and delicious meals from home for the classic college housing: dorms. For several students the dormitory marks the locale of many memories—a fact that remains no less true for Olive-tians. This past year, first year students found their home in Chapman Hall and Nesbitt Hall (men) or Williams Hall and Parrott Hall (women)—dorms marked by traditions of early curfews, minimal visiting hours and lobby birthday parties. Sophomores and upper-classmen lived in Grand Apartments, University Place Apartments and, for the first-time ever, select men called Olde Oak Apartments home.

Weekends at Olivet

"I guess you could say I'm not typical. I like to go on random road trips during weekends at Olivet. And I mean random. I've already been to Canada twice in the past year!"

Katie Michels, sophomore

At Olivet, Friday not only brings the end of classes, but also a new feel to campus as students either head home for the weekend or relax in their dorms. Only 50 minutes away from Chicago, students often entertain themselves with city attractions but good-ol' fun in Bourbonnais is not hard to come by. Students enjoy sharing meals with friends, watching a football game or two and, when the mood catches them, catching up on homework. With the many fun events of weekends at Olivet, Monday morning always comes a bit too early.

Costume Party

"The Costume Party is a fun time to dress up, eat candy and see who comes dressed the craziest."

Kristina Larner, sophomore

October brings many things to the campus of Olivet: fall break, changing colors, and football. However, one thing in particular that tests the students' creative side here at Olivet is the campus Costume Party. From Ghostbusters to country bumpkins, students dress up in what they think will get them a good look from the judges during the costume contest. It used to be that students would pile into Chalfant Hall and partake in games and treats. In more recent years, Hidden Cove Family Fun Park hosted the event, where students had the opportunity to play putt-putt, compete in a game of mini-bowling or simply chat with friends about their costumes over a slice of pizza and a beverage.

Homecoming

For students, Homecoming is a time to show their school spirit and support the Tigers during the different sporting events that take place. For alumni, it is a time to take a walk down memory lane and enjoy events such as class reunions, concerts and maybe even a little dessert. It's an opportunity for such returning alumni to catch a glimpse of where this campus is going and for current students to understand their collegiate heritage. Young or old, this annual celebration brings life to the campus in every facet, whether it be the Coronation ceremony or the home football game.

"Homecoming provides something for everyone. Between the athletic competitions, Homecoming coronation, and social activities, the weekend is something I look forward to every year."

*"Being nominated queen is such an honor, but my prayer is that the reason people felt I was worthy of their vote was not because of what they see in me, but because they see Christ in me. To those who have never been, Homecoming Coronation seems like nothing more than a ceremony. However, those who have had the pleasure of attending the ceremony can certainly attest to the emotion that fills the walls of Chalfant Hall. It's not just the Homecoming Court walking the stage and finding out the year's queen, but it's a glimpse of what makes the individuals of the Court who they are. Along with a slide show from the yester-years of each student, the parents of the five queen candidates recorded a personal message for their daughters, each contributing a personal touch that made Coronation more than just "another ceremony."

facebook frenzy

In May 2005, Facebook.com officially welcomed Olivet Nazarene University to its database and the campus—or rather, computer screens—of Olivet students forever changed. Students' online time surged as freshmen through seniors found hours of amusement searching through the profiles of friends, crushes and ex-boyfriends/girlfriends. Some students prided themselves in their personal "friend" list while other students intentionally abstained from the study-time usurper. All in all, Facebook not only augmented the lingo of Olivet students (what is poking, anyhow?) but also redefined the Olivet community through its ability to connect students from across campus—even if only with a Facebook photo.

Fall Play

"God delights in gifting us with special talents, probably even more than we delight in receiving them. We can show our Creator no greater honor than when we use our gifts for His glory."

Hannah Jackson, sophomore

Who knew that a bluegrass hoedown could retell the story of Jesus' life? All hands were clapping on Nov. 17-19 during the fall production of "The Cotton Patch Gospel." The musical was a country-style retelling of the Gospel in which everyone was a storyteller. The ten actors took turns narrating the story or taking on a different character each time they spoke. All hearts were captivated by watching Jesus, played by Steve Cargile, grow into a young man. To add spark to the stage, four band members blasted out hearty bluegrass with instruments which included the bass guitar and the mandolin. "The Cotton Patch Gospel" was a lively event that brought all a good laugh by tickling the country-lovin' side of us all.

Messiah

The Christmas season at Olivet Nazarene University showcases several delights for the students and community alike. This year, on December 2 and 3, the musical talents from on and off-campus came together and performed George Frideric Handel's "Messiah." The musical piece, composed in 1741 and lasting a full two and a half hours, chronicles the Christmas story through the use of choir voices and instrumental accompaniment. This year, the audience enjoyed a special treat from Olivet alumni Stacy Knefellkamp and Rachel Smith, with faculty Dr. Neal Woodruff and Dr. Jeff Bell on Friday night. On Saturday Kristy Burrows, Hahnah Jackson, Chelsea McKay, Valerie Saff, Samuel Griggs and Jacob Chastain led as student soloists. After several weeks of practice and several hours of performance, students and faculty delivered two wonderful shows to packed crowds. And once again, Olivet celebrated the reason for the season.

3. Dr. Jeff Bell provides a strong bass during a solo.

4. The violinists harmonize, keeping their eyes to the music so as not to miss a note.

5. Dr. Neal Woodruff directs his attention to the sheet music and gives the orchestra some instruction during a practice.

6. Lauren Kehl contributes her violin voice to the giant ensemble that fills the Kresge stage.

"It's amazing to know that we serve a God that hasn't changed over the years and that His love remains the same. Performing in "Messiah" was a reminder of this great truth for me."

Christmas Banquet

The Christmas Banquet, an annual tradition at Olivet, offered students a chance to celebrate the Christmas season with close friends. Held the weekend of final exams, guys and gals donned in glitter and top coats gathered in a fully decorated Chalfant Hall for a fine meal catered by Sodexo Food Service. Guest musical group Trio de Hoy offered a Latin flair to the evening with melodious renditions of Feliz Navidad. Opening up the stage to University President, Dr. John Bowling and other administrators, the group garnered wide applause from the audience. Not wanting to end the evening too soon, many students traveled to Chicago after dinner to partake in the many offerings of the Windy City. As Saturday evening turned into Sunday morning, students returned to campus filled with holiday cheer.

SPIRITUAL LIFE

POST CARD
The more a person loves, the surer he approaches the age of God."

artin Luther

You make me want to be like You / Your holiness I will pursue / I want the heart of Jesus / Show me the meaning of your grace / I want to give the world a taste / Of the love of Jesus

Make me salt / Make me light / Let your holy fire ignite / Reveal Your glory in my life / I am not ashamed / To lift up your holy name / Make me salt / Make me light

As a city on a hill / A lamp on a stand / Mold me into Your image / The work of Your hand

"Salt and light" by Jami Smith

The Kingdom of God is not a matter of outward appearance but of inward reality. It is a matter of the heart. It is a matter of the soul. It is a matter of the spirit. It is a matter of the mind. It is a matter of the will. It is a matter of the love. It is a matter of the faith. It is a matter of the hope. It is a matter of the charity. It is a matter of the grace. It is a matter of the mercy. It is a matter of the kindness. It is a matter of the gentleness. It is a matter of the patience. It is a matter of the self-control. It is a matter of the peace. It is a matter of the joy. It is a matter of the love. It is a matter of the life of God. Everyone that is born of Adam is born of sin."

Let's take our place outside with Jesus, no longer pouring out the sacrificial blood of animals but pouring out sacrificial praises from our lips to God in Jesus' name. Make sure you don't take things for granted and go slack in working for the common good; share what you have with others. God takes particular pleasure in acts of worship—a different kind of “sacrifice”—that take place in kitchen and workplace and on the streets.

Hebrews 13:15-16 (The Message)

Christ is the most perfect image of God, into which we are so renewed as to bear the image of God, in knowledge, purity, righteousness and true holiness.”

Makom

Under the direction of student leadership, the on-campus revival known as Makom Festival took place the first weekend of Spring Semester. Continuing the tradition started five years ago by Olivet students hungry for God, this year's Makom Festival provided a time for the student body to dedicate the semester to God and His glory. Guest speaker Matthew Paul Turner and guest worship band led by Michael Cook participated in the three services held Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings in Chalfant. Aside from the services, students participated in community service projects and daily after-glow events to complete the Makom experience.

"I witnessed God through the speaker's [Matthew Paul Turner] willingness to be real with the audience. His openness convicted me about becoming vulnerable myself. I believe there are so many people at this university who struggle with being real; at Makom, the Olivet community was privileged to witness vulnerability in Turner's messages."

Chapel

Any person familiar with the Olivet culture knows all-too-well about chapel. It is that early morning 50-minute window of time during which the entire student body gathers in Chalfant Hall to worship God, listen to speakers and, for some, sleep. This past fall Chaplain Benson focused each chapel service on what it means to serve God “between Sundays,” hosting guest speakers from all walks—and workplaces—of life. The services directed the students’ attention to the call of the Gospel to act as Jesus would, not only on Sunday morning, but also during the nine-to-five window commonly known as the “workday.” The series edified the student body and emphasized the Olivet Mission: “Education with a Christian Purpose.”

Local Churches

This past year students from across campus awoke each Sunday morning to attend a local church of their choosing. Many elected to worship at College Church of the Nazarene located on-campus while others selected churches as far as 50 miles away. Students also volunteered in these churches throughout the week, serving as Sunday School teachers, worship leaders, media supporters and ushers. Through this involvement, the local church became as much a part of campus as the dining hall—the best (or cheapest) place in town for Sunday Brunch.

By the time most kids reach college they are more than ready to leave the drama-queen (or king) life typical of the high school years. But for approximately 50 students at Olivet, high school is what it's all about. These students explore their passion for teens and Jesus Christ by volunteering for either Young Life or Youth for Christ. Both parachurch organizations focus all of their resources to sharing the Gospel with kids in the 13-19 age bracket. This year, volunteers met weekly with younger students, embracing them with love and offering a listening ear. All involved enjoy weekend retreats, movie outings and a good dose of the Good News.

On August 29, 2005 category 5 Hurricane Katrina hit the Gulf Coast with force, leaving a trail of destruction in its path. When the waves subsided and the wind ceased, national news showed gripping images of families left homeless, buildings left roofless and hearts left hopeless. The students of Olivet Nazarene University gathered together in prayer and support for their southern sisters and brothers. With the help of ASC, Student Education Association collected Crisis Care Kits filled with toiletries; the group managed to collect over 5,000 bags, all of which were shipped to the coast. Senior Emily Franks furthered the relief efforts of Olivet students, leading a group of 25 students to Louisiana over Fall Break to help with clean-up. Katrina Relief Efforts continued through Christmas Break when 40 students traveled with MIA to further help rebuild people's homes—and hearts.

ose Christianity is not a n but a way of life, a fall-love with God, and,
gh Him, a falling in love
our fellows."

Phillips

But what we really need is God. What we really need is somebody who loves us so much that we don't worry about death, about our hair thinning, about other drivers pulling in front of us on the road, about whether people are poor or rich, good-looking or ugly, about whether we feel lonely or about whether or not we are wearing clothes.

We need this, we need this so we can love other people purely and not for selfish gain. We need this so we can see everybody as equals, we need this so our relationships can be sincere, we need this so we can stop kicking ourselves around, we need this so we can lose all self awareness and find ourselves for the first time, not by realizing some dream, but by being told who we are by the only Being who has the authority to know, by that I mean the Creator.

from Searching for God Knows What by Donald Miller

"We have been taught that we are all made in the image of God. As such, we have an obligation to approach every conversation, every communication, as if we are approaching God."

Rabbi B. Allison Bergman

All things were made through Him, and without Him, nothing was made that was made. In Him was life, and the life was the light of men... There was a man sent from God, whose name was John. This man came for a witness, to bear witness of the Light, that all through him might believe. He was not the Light, but was sent to bear witness of that Light.

That was the true Light which gives light to every man coming into the world.

John 1:3-4, 6-9 (NKJV)

...ust be God first, God second, and God third, until the life is faced steadfastly with God and no one else if any account whatsoever."

"To bear the image of God is to be Christlike. One of the goals of Olivet is to provide a learning environment where Christ's likeness is fostered. It doesn't happen automatically here; but it can and does happen as we live, work, study and worship together. The more we focus our minds as well as our hearts on God, the more we will bear his image."

To See the Image of God (Junior Spotlight)

1. While he may appear to be the average student that graces the campus here at Olivet Nazarene University, Chris Sanders is much more. A native of Chicago and White Sox fan, Chris leads not only a life dedicated to his friends and his studies, but also a life dedicated to God. A business major who also studies art and music, Chris uses his talents and personal desire to reach out to those who do not know Jesus. Most notably, Chris partners with fellow artist and friend Blake Gardner in a rap-duo called Pushmode. Through Pushmode Chris hopes that not all Christians are standoffish and that it's 'cool' to be a Christian. With already one CD released, the duo worked on another album due this year. Chris hopes that this CD will speak to his nephews, using the lyrics to tell his family the Gospel story and perhaps bring them to Christ.

"One way that I really see Jesus on our campus is through giving. I needed to raise 400 dollars for a mission trip and all I did was tell my friends and asked people to donate 1 dollar. Within four days God used the generous, obedient hearts of people here to provide more than enough for my mission trip to Louisiana."

To See the Image of God

1. "The summer following my freshman year at Olivet, I felt God calling me to some type of ministry. I had so many ideas of places I could go for the summer and work for Him. Then, much to my dismay, I ended up at home for the summer. Since I was coming home, a church in the area asked me to help them as a ministry intern. I was involved in so many different areas of ministry and was amazed at how much there was to do. I grew so much while ministering to others close to home. My experiences at church inspired me and a couple of others to start a new ministry in my hometown with the hopes of starting a new church someday. It has always astounded me how much God can use the average person, but after this summer, I was even more amazed at His ability to use us where we are. When you allow God to not only use you, but give Him your circumstances, He just might surprise you and use you in an even greater way than you could ever think or imagine."

"It's been awesome, being at Olivet this past year and doing life with hundreds of other students and professors who have a hunger for more of God and who daily encourage and challenge me and my walk with Christ. It's so cool to be able to listen to other students pour out their hearts and share what God is doing in their lives. God is definitely Alive and Moving at Olivet, and has really brought the verse from Hebrews 12:29 alive: 'For our God is a Consuming Fire!'"

To See the Image of God (Freshman Spotlight)

1. "Every Saturday we get up nice and early to have one motivation, and that is to encourage Hispanic parents or adults that there is no barrier that comes between communication and understanding. I think this ministry is a great way to give parents who are willing to put in the effort to learn the language and assimilate with the American culture. English is a difficult language; no one can deny that. I have worked with my people in the past and it's a great feeling when you know that they are trying to do the right thing and trying so hard to adapt to life here. It is also a great ministry to be able to help these adults (as well as children) get to know God. It is a great way to start ministering to them about the Word of God. They see me as a respectful person and do take into consideration my belief and how God has helped me in my times of difficulty. I think it gives us as students a great reward of understanding where they stand in society. Often people have stereotypes against Hispanics that come to the USA and don't learn the language. This ministry proves this statement wrong and only goes to show that there are Hispanics that are willing to sacrifice their time to at least learn the language."

"What we have in us of the image God is the love of truth and justice."

Demosthenes

I know you're poor, and your clothes are old and torn/You've been rejected since the day you were born/In this world you feel useless and unknown/You could die here in this wilderness/And no one would ever know

But there's a point to your existence/far beyond what you can see/for I've made you in my image/And you are useful...to Me

You are useful to me, not just another face/Drowning in a sea of people/In my heart you hold a place/though at times you feel abandoned/And fear your voice cannot be heard/I want you to know that I hear every word/You are useful...You are useful/You are useful...Useful to Me

You may be young but your dreams are large and real/It seems so hard to express the way you feel/In this world's eyes, you're insignificant and small/But I've placed these hopes within you/In my hand I hold them all

And there's a reason for your life that goes beyond what others see/You're not just some worthless soul/You are useful...to Me

"Useful" by Mark Oliver

The handwriting and signature of the Westminster Abbey...
Date & location of the document...
...in our records and dated 1911

"And only where God is seen does life truly begin. Only when we meet the living God in Christ do we know what life is. We are not some casual and meaningless product of evolution. Each of us is the result of a thought of God. Each of us is willed, each of us is loved, each of us is necessary."
Pope Benedict XVI

Since God has so generously let us in on what he is doing, we're not about to throw up our hands and walk off the job just because we run into occasional hard times. We refuse to wear masks and play games. We don't maneuver and manipulate behind the scenes. And we don't twist God's Word to suit ourselves.

Rather, we keep everything we do and say out in the open, the whole truth on display, so that those who want to can see and judge for themselves in the presence of God.

2 Corinthians 4:1-4 (The Message)

"Every human life is a reflection of divinity, and... every act of injustice mars and defaces the image of God in man."

Graduate Studies

"During my first semester of graduate school, God has shown His faithfulness more than anything. The work is hard, and I often felt like I couldn't really handle it. Several times in class I didn't really understand the subject matter. Still, God saw me through and I relied on his strength. He took me deeper in my understanding of who He is and how much He loves us."

Outside the Classroom

"Ministry of any kind shouldn't be just a career choice. As Dr. Leth says, 'You should only go into ministry if there is nothing else God will let you do.'... Things can get really hard when working with teens. I am specifically in charge of worship; that is my passion. I get really down when others don't share that passion. Knowing God called me there—that He didn't just call me to leave me stranded, even when I feel alone—is the greatest comfort."

2. Working as a camp counselor for an organization called Kultural Kids, Bekah McCoy uses her teaching and Spanish speaking skills to change the lives of youngsters; career prep is just an added bonus for Bekah.

3. Education major, Liz Collins enjoys daily story time with her class of first grade students at Edison Primary in Kankakee. At Olivet, education majors spend their final semester student teaching at community schools.

4. As a music performance major, Nathan Evanson takes every chance he gets to practice his skills on stage.

5. Political science major, Angela Beauvais dresses for success for her internship at a local law firm where she had the opportunity to witness first-hand numerous courtroom proceedings and trials.

6. Emily Minnis, a communications major, tests her mic before going on air for Access ONU.

At Olivet, students are eligible to take up to 18 credit hours per semester. And yet, many students step outside the classroom to pour time and energy into career-building opportunities that go beyond the textbook. Through internships, summer jobs and community involvement, Olivetians prepare for the day when they will leave "The Bubble" and enter the Real World.

New Clubs

This year six new clubs and organizations made their debut to the Olivet campus, including Biology Club, Dialog (Theology Club), Film Club, International Justice Mission, Invisible Children and Publicity Council. Leaders of these groups first met with Associated Student Council to solicit approval after which they formulated mission statements, nominated council members and recruited members. With dedicated leaders and frequent publicity, these select on-campus groups made a great addition to ONU student life.

Funds to aid Sudan refugees

ONU students hold yard sale for suffering people

By Joseph Cochran

Why? Mission's Chosen? These people do work many of us ask ourselves. "What should we do about them?" But the thought of them will not stay in our minds. We are blessed enough to live in a country where even those who are struggling are given assistance from charitable organizations.

But what about those who aren't as lucky? For those living in the Sudan, finding food and shelter is a daily struggle. Many have been forced to leave their homes due to ethnic and political violence in the Sudan since 1983.

These million people have been affected, including families with children in need of basic necessities who are staying in overcrowded makeshift refugee camps. At least 140,000 people have died as a result of disease.

One-third of the entire population of Sudan will most likely be completely dependent on aid until October of next year.

But the Sudan is a source of ethnic unity and some people are too busy with the happening to think of their own. It is the responsibility of Olivet students though, this is not the time.

This group of young men, Christ's mission is to work in unmet needs and bring on legislation taking place in the world today.

"We are disappointed with the way Christianity is going, we formed this group with the intention that we don't have to be disappointed, and also hope that Christianity isn't just a religion that says 'Tyler Mowry is a pastor at ONU'."

Being on a limited budget, most college students are generally unable to sell their own possessions in a campus-wide yard sale to raise funds for the people suffering in Sudan. Several Olivet students not associated with the group who donated items.

Funds circulated

From were circulated with a memo taken from a Bible that says that can be found in the book of Acts. It reads, "Sell your goods and possessions, then give to anyone as he has need. Nothing but good, Your love is what we really dedicated us to trying to practice more to become greater money for people who follow Jesus Christ. We wanted to do something that would Christ's promise of abundance and compassion with the suffering, making justice."

A steady stream of people stopped by throughout the day and made donations. Some donations were made for the people suffering in Sudan. According to Rosemary Collins, she has been working on this for some time. It is a steady stream of people who are trying to make a difference in the lives of people who are suffering in Sudan and providing them with the necessities of life.

Stacy O'Boyd, a junior at Olivet Nazarene University, is asking the students who hold a yard sale to donate to help fund the help refugees in Sudan who do not have the necessities.

POST CARD
people see God every day,
just don't recognize him."

rl Bailey

Where this discipline of the tongue is practiced right from the beginning, each individual will make a matchless discovery. He will be able to cease from constantly scrutinizing the other person, judging him, condemning him, putting him in his particular place where he can gain ascendancy over him and thus doing violence to him as a person.

Now he can allow the brother to exist as a completely free person, as God made him to be. His view expands and, to his amazement, for the first time, he sees, shining above his brethren, the richness of God's creative glory. God did not make this person as I would have made him. He did not give him to me as a brother for me to dominate and control, but in order that I might find above him the Creator.

Now the other person, in the freedom with which he was created, becomes the occasion of joy whereas before he was only a nuisance and an affliction. God does not will that I should fashion the other person according to the image that seems good to me, that is, in my own image; rather in his very freedom from me God made this person in His image.

I can never know beforehand how God's image should appear in others. That image always manifests a completely new and unique form that comes sole from God's free and sovereign creation.
from Life Together by Dietrich Bonhoeffer

"Our deepest fear is not that we are inadequate. Our deepest fear is that we are powerful beyond measure... We ask ourselves, who am I to be brilliant, gorgeous, talented, fabulous? Actually, who are you NOT to be? You are a child of God."

Marie

If you've gotten anything at all out of following in Christ, if his love has made difference in your life...then do me a favor: Agree with each other, love each other, be deep-spirited friends.

Don't push your way to the front, don't sweet-talk your way to the top. Put yourself aside, and help others get ahead.

Don't be obsessed with getting your own advantage. Forget yourselves long enough to lend a helping hand. Think of yourselves the way Christ Jesus thought of himself.

Philippians 2:1-5 (The Message)

...ay to mankind, be not curious about mankind. For I, who am curious about each, am not curious about God—I hear and behold God in every object, yet understand God not in the least."

Head Coach:
Mike McDowell

Team Captain:
Carmin Green

Number of Players:
17, with 2 countries represented.

Bet You Didn't Know:
The team lifts weight hardcore; Coach McDowell's favorite thing to say is, "Girls, we may not be the fastest team, but we're the strongest. If we don't beat 'em on the course, we'll beat 'em in the parking lot!"

1. "But those that rest in the Lord shall renew their strength...they shall run and not be weary..." Isaiah 40:31

2. Dina Nacey is relentless in her efforts to finish with top honors.

3. Carmin Green and Bethany McCoy travel side-by-side in hopes of bringing glory to God.

Men's Basketball

"The men's basketball team reflects God by the example they put forth to the rest of the campus, while being in the spotlight of athletics. Their attitude is centered around JOY: Jesus first, others second, and yourself last. The Tigers are a great group of guys and a group that glorifies God."

Nick Birkey, junior

One Body, One Church

Head Coach:

Ralph Hodge

Team Captains:

Zach Birkey, Stan Chismark, Phil Howell and Zach Johnson

Number of Players:

16, representing
4 states

Bet You

Didn't Know:

Coach Hodge has coached in nearly 1,000 games over the course of 26 seasons.

1. Travis Meeks leaps over his Memorial opponent and hand delivers the ball to the hoop.

2. Towering above the competition is something in which the 2005 Men's Basketball Team delights.

3. As part of the pregame ritual, the team huddles and chants before charging onto the court.

4. Phil French and Phil Howell wait under the rim for yet another rebound.

5. Zach Birkey, along with Zach Johnson set up the defense while thinking ahead to their next offensive play.

1. Beautiful smiles mask the fierce competitiveness of the Women's Basketball Team.

2. Colleen Callen braces herself to snatch up a rebound off of Poppy Miller's shot.

3. Concentration leads to "string music" as Jessica Mateer sets up for a free throw.

"God has blessed each one of us with many individual gifts and brought us together with the one common gift of being able to play the game we love. In our devotionals we have been focusing on playing through adversity, knowing that our blessings and gifts come from God and realizing that through Him our lives are a success."

Alynn Vanden Bosch, senior

Women's Tennis

"One of my favorite parts of the road trips was the team devotionals. That was always an opportunity for us to learn about each other on a deeper level and help us to all grow as sisters in Christ."

1. Lady Tigers Laura Ringenberg and Michelle McFadden look for another point with the block of this oncoming set.

2. Hand-in-hand, the Tiger women focus themselves on the task at hand and prepare to bump, set and spike their way to a victory.

3. The Lady Tigers smile with pride as they pose for their team photo in the Weber Center lobby.

4. Set to return a volley, Michelle McFadden keeps her eyes to the sky as she follows the path of the ball.

5. Chelsie Roundtree prepares to serve another ace.

It is my prayer that these simple words of gratitude will communicate to the listed individuals a fraction of my thanks for their life and their friendship; it is in these individuals that I have had the great joy of witnessing the manifestation of the image of God.

First, I thank my Savior, Jesus Christ. Thank you, Father, for being faithful in Your promises and for guiding me with Your wisdom. I praise You, for You are indeed worthy to be praised.

I am also most grateful to my incredible staff. Thank you, all, for being such a wonderful crew. It has been a privilege to lead and direct you in this project and I am so grateful for each and every one of you. I love you! JoDee Baker, Rachel Buller, Lindsay Carroll, Brianna Robbins, Jonathan Swigart: Thanks for sticking with me, writers! I am encouraged by how much I have seen you grow this year and know God has great plans for each of you. Jennifer Chambers-Schwob, Ronald Gibson, Colleen Witte: We did it! Thanks to all of you for going to event after event (at a moment's notice) to capture a year at Olivet. Thank you for being faithful in your assignments and for sticking it out until the end. Well done, my friends! Emily Claus: Thank you for your willingness to learn the "how-to's" of graphics and for faithfully completing every assignment. Thank you for being such a gentle woman of God and for walking in His ways daily. You are a beautiful example of Him. Susan Fleming: Your sense of humor got me through so many days; thank you! Thank you also for being my "go-to" girl when I needed something done and done fast. You are awesome. Ryan Grigsby: Without you, this yearbook never would have happened. Thanks so very much for your advice throughout the year, for keeping tabs with me and for being so faithful with the business-side of things. If you ever need a recommendation, you've got it! Denton Hird: You are honestly one of my favorite people. Thanks for stepping up to the plate and filling in as Executive Photographer. You did a great job.

Melissa Keagle: Thank you for pushing the deadlines and getting things in. I greatly enjoyed getting to know you and wish you all the best in your marriage! Julie Monroe: Amidst your busy schedule, thanks for squeezing in yearbook! The ads look great and you took a load off my mind. Thank you! David Moore: No matter what or how much I say, I could never express enough of my gratitude for all you did to make this yearbook happen. Thank you for working hour after hour, even after I went home for the night. Thank you for caring so much that you made sure every detail conformed to the theme. Thank you for expecting nothing less than the best and most of all, thanks for your friendship. Promise me that we'll stay in touch after you graduate! Sarah Parker: Thanks for always taking it "just one day at a time" and for hanging in there with me. I so enjoyed getting to know you and I learned so much about art from your expertise. You are invaluable! Chris Sanders: You are a quality man of God and I admire you so very much. Thank you for sharing a part of your life in my midst. God is most certainly pleased. Laurryn Trojanowski: Thanks for helping me stay sane this year and for your endearing smile. You are such a joy!

Lastly, I wish to thank many of those who offered love and support throughout the year. I wish to thank personally: Jill Bowling, Becky Lyle, Stephanie Miller, Tricia Miller, Mom and Dad, Julie Parisi, Julie Trout, Andrew Twibell, members of ASC and Woody Webb. Thank you, all, for being a part of my life and for always pointing me to Jesus. My life would be incomplete without you!

Dedication

"Some people, they have a mission to go outside [their] country and be a missionary, but God sent me to America as a missionary. Here at Olivet I help kids grow up; that's my mission from God."

Ghedam Sultan, 2006 Aurora Dedication Honoree

It is with great honor that the Aurora staff dedicates Imago Dei to Mr. Ghedam Sultan. Having completed his 23rd year on Olivet's staff, the Aurora staff selected Mr. Sultan for his continual portrayal of the image of God through the years.

Mr. Sultan grew up in Eritrea, a small country in northeast Africa. After living through several years of war in his homeland due to Eritrea's struggle for liberation from Ethiopia, Mr. Sultan immigrated to the United States in 1975. First settling in New York, Mr. Sultan moved to Kankakee, Illinois. One year later he began work at Olivet as a member of its custodial staff.

As primary custodian of the Chapman Hall, Mr. Sultan's duties on campus are focused on keeping the freshman male dormitory as clean as possible. While his daily chores include cleaning the restrooms and study areas, Mr. Sultan views his portrayal of a Christ-like attitude to up-and-coming men as his most important job. Surrounded by hundreds of freshmen boys in his daily routine, Mr. Sultan views his work as a mission. "I want to help the boys grow into men in a positive way," he said of his relationship with Olivet students throughout the years.

For former Chapman Hall resident, Jonathan Swigart, Mr. Sultan provided a father figure in his home-away-from-home. Swigart says of Mr. Sultan: "The man is steadfast, fair, truthful and caring." According to Chapman Hall Resident Director Kyle Ireland, students return year after year to Olivet after graduation asking for Mr. Sultan. "It's an honor to be able to see what the boys I helped become when they are men. I get to see how God has worked in their life," Mr. Sultan said.

Mr. Sultan is married to Viola, a 1976 graduate of Olivet and has three children. His son, Abiel, graduated from Olivet in 2004 and his daughters, Elsa and Ellen, attended Olivet this year.

Thank you, Mr. Ghedam Sultan, for your faithful service to Olivet and for making real the meaning of "imago Dei."

2. The Sultan's pose for a family portrait.
3. A younger Ghedam looks into the camera for a formal shot.
4. What a merry Christmas! Ghedam Sultan surrounds himself with his kids, Abiel, baby Ellen and Elsa on Christmas morning.

At Olivet Nazarene University, the year passes from event to event; this year was no different. The Tigers lost games and won games. Students skipped chapel and attended chapel. Couples broke-up and couples married. And students ate food—at Sodexho and at banquets.

But the question remains: In the midst of all the events, did you see the image of God?

In the strenuous activity of practice after practice, did you see God in the stands during the basketball championship finals? While meeting your chapel buddy for the first time, did you happen to notice Jesus sitting beside you, too? In looking for a place to sit in the dining hall, did you realize God always saved a spot for you at His table?

But remember, God created man not only to see His image, but to reveal His image as well. The story of creation tells us that God created us, male and female, to reflect His own nature. And so, in the midst of the attacking forces of Satan, we—God's creation—must continue to not only look for His image, but manifest His image as well.

The complete manifestation of His image is an impossible task for fallen man. But God, in His love and mercy, provided us with a Savior who guides us in our broken journey of becoming more like Him. We must fix our eyes upon this Savior, Jesus Christ, as we strive to become more and more like Him with every passing day.

And just as Jesus prayed, we too must pray:

"I do not pray for those [my disciples] alone, but also for those who will believe in Me through their word; that they all may be one, as You, Father, are in Me, and I in You; that they also may be one in Us, that the world may believe that You sent Me. And the glory which You gave Me I have given them, that they may be one just as We are one: I in them, and You in Me; that they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may know that You have sent Me, and have loved them as You have loved Me.

Father, I desire that they also whom You gave Me may be with Me where I am, that they may behold My glory which You have given Me; for You loved Me before the foundation of the world. O righteous Father! The world has not known You, but I have known You; and these have known that You sent Me. And I have declared to them Your name, and will declare it, that the love with which You loved Me may be in them, and I in them."
(John 20-26 NKJV)

And as we pray, may we not only see the image of God but become imago Dei.

created the Heavens and Earth - all you see, all you don't see. 2 Earth was a soup of nothingness.

3 And light appeared. 4 God saw that light was good and separated light from dark. 5 God separated the waters; separate water from water." 7 God made sky. He separated the water from the water. 9 God spoke: "Separate! Water-beneath-Heaven, gather into one place; Land, appear!" And God spoke: "Earth, green up! Grow all varieties of seed-bearing plants, Every sort of fruit-bearing tree."

12 God saw that it was good. 13 It was evening, it was morning - Day Three. 14 God spoke: "lights! Constitute lights in the sky to give light to Earth." And there it was. 16 God made two big lights, the larger to take charge of the day and the smaller to take charge of the night. 17 God spoke: "Be fruitful and multiply, fill the sky with birds, fly through the sky over Earth!" 21 God created the huge whales, all the swarm of life in the ocean. 22 God spoke: "Be fruitful and multiply, reproduce on Earth!" 23 It was evening, it was morning - Day five and there it was. 25 wild animals of every kind, Cattle of all kinds, every sort of reptile and bug. God made the animals responsible for the fish in the sea, the birds in the air, the cattle and wild animals on Earth. God made the animals responsible for the fish in the sea, the birds in the air, the cattle and wild animals on Earth. God

made the animals responsible for the fish in the sea, the birds in the air, the cattle and wild animals on Earth. God

made the animals responsible for the fish in the sea, the birds in the air, the cattle and wild animals on Earth. God

God created human beings; he created them godlike,
