

Bilateral pyogenic psoas abscesses with inferior vena cava thrombosis.

ABSTRACT

Psoas abscess is a rare clinical entity. Rarely, it is associated with thrombosis of the inferior vena cava. This report is of a 36-year-old woman with bilateral pyogenic psoas abscesses with spondylodiscitis complicated by thrombosis of the inferior vena cava. The pathogenesis and imaging features of this condition are discussed.

Keyword: Discitis; Infection; Psoas abscess; Thrombosis; Tomography, X-ray computed; Vena cava; Inferior