MISS BLACK EIU

Wayne wins the crown

Freshman beats two other contestants for title

By Gregory McElroy
STAFF WRITER

An audience of over 200 witnessed Tracey Wayne become 2004's "Miss Black EIU."

"It feels so great considering that I have never won anything of this magnitude in my life," Wayne, a freshman finance major, said.

Wayne was one of three contestants. LaDonna Murphy, a junior marketing major, and Samantha Lampton, a junior special education major, also competed.

Pageant contestants were judged based on four categories. The first category is titled "creative expression" where the women were to convey an important message to the crowd. Next was the African garment category where each of the contestants adorned an authentic-appearing African garment. Contestants then displayed their unique talents in the talent portion, which was followed by the evening gown part of the event. During the evening gown portion, contestants were asked an impromptu question.

Wayne dazzled the crowd with her performance Saturday evening at the 33rd annual pageant in each of the categories.

From Wayne's display of the African garment to her creative expression message urging people to vote, she displayed the poise desired in Miss Black EIU.

"As far as the creative expression section," Wayne. "I was constantly changing things I wanted to say every time I was saying it."

"But I really wanted to focus on encouraging people to vote because so many people don't realize the importance of voting and they neglect their right that so many of our elders have fought and died for."

UB requests $250,000 for '05

◆ Desired budget for next year $1,000 fewer than funds given for this year

By Brian O'Malley
STUDENT GOVERNMENT EDITOR

The University Board made a budget request to the Apportionment Board Thursday for more than $250,000 for fiscal year 2005.

UB Vice Chair Erin Miller said UB is asking for $251,702, which is a decrease from this year's budget.

"It's about a grand less," Miller said.

UB Chair Jenn Kieffer said a large amount of UB's income comes from the student activities fee included in student bills.

"The student activity fee is our main source of income," Kieffer said.

Every year UB attends the National Association for Campus Activities, which is where the organization acquires most of the ideas for acts to bring to Eastern, Kieffer said.

"We get to see the entertainment before we bring it," she said.

An item UB added to the budget this year was an 18 ft. by 24 ft. inflatable movie screen.

Kieffer said other schools have used the screen for outdoor movies and laser shows. With a projector included the screen costs $6,995. The price was added into the Movies Committee's budget of $23,895.

One idea brought up was that maybe the screen could float on water and be used in the swimming pool in the Student Recreation Center, Kieffer said.

"There's a lot of possibilities with it," she said.

A total of $12,705 was budgeted for the annual "Quak'n in the Quad" event, which is held early in the fall semester. The amount is an increase of $2,687 from the event held last semester.

"It's such a large event that we have to do every year," Kieffer said. "It brings 3,000-4,000 students every year."

Large inflatables and a laser tag game were budgeted at $10,000, which takes up a majority of the event's costs. The rest of the costs include prizes, a catering service, a popcorn machine and a cotton candy machine, among other items.

The budget includes a $24,380 request for the Mainstage Committee, which puts on multiple events every year.

The budget will pay for a freshman mixer, one major event, one semi-major event and 16 minor events.

Miller said the Mainstage Committee has had trouble getting a coordinator.

"Mainstage has had a tough time trying to get a coordinator to stay in the position," she said.

Kieffer said the budget, if approved, should produce a good year for UB activities.

"You're looking at the future of campus activities," Keiffer said.

Larry Ward, student vice president for financial affairs and AB chair, said AB funds five groups on campus: AB, UB, Student Government, Student Recreation Center and the Dramatic Player's Club. Ward said he would like to discuss each of the funded groups' proposed fiscal year 2005 budgets.

The Apportionment Board will discuss the budgets at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Arcola/Iuscola Room of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

"7902662! 7902662!" That is what was heard around 5:30 p.m. Sunday when Becky Spoon, event coordinator of Chili Jam, read off a raffle number with which a lucky winner won a prize of gift certificates, savings bonds or a free night's stay at a hotel.

"There are about 150 people here to support this good cause," Spoon said.

The cause Spoon is talking about is the campaign for better health care.

Spoon is a member of the Eastern Illinois chapter of the campaign.

The campaign for better health care also works to assist people without insurance.

Local bands volunteered their time at Roc's Blackfront to help raise money for the campaign.

"I came up with this idea because when I was starting my own small business, it was almost impossible to get affordable health care," Spoon said.

There was a silent auction that included cakes, pies, shirts, a handmade bird house, a free one-hour plane ride from Sky's the Limit in Casey and more.

Sandy Staszak, owner of Sky's the Limit, said she was more than willing to donate something for the event.

"We are having a great time and the chili is excellent," she said.

"I support the cause for better health care," Mattoon resident John Staszak said. "I am looking forward to seeing Mother Load playing."

People who attend the event could pay $2 for one ticket or $5 for three tickets and participate in the raffle with a chance to win a goodies basket with a blanket, coffee, gift certificates and more.

Shuttle Bus drivers provide feedback on route efficiency

◆ Suggestion to stop route earlier will save nearly $1,000

By Brian O'Malley
STUDENT GOVERNMENT EDITOR

Adam Howell, Student Senate chair for the Shuttle Bus Committee, met with several Shuttle Bus drivers last week to give them a chance to input ideas to the Shuttle Bus system.

"Obviously the drivers are the first ones that hear from the students."

Adam Howell
Shuttle Bus
Committee chair

Howell said there are six regular bus drivers and each attended the meeting in the crosswalk lounge in the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

"Obviously the drivers are the first ones that hear from the students," Howell said.

An item of discussion was that on weekday mornings, the current schedules have the buses going up and down Seventh Street, but the drivers said many students want buses going to Fourth Street.

Several drivers said they've gone to Fourth Street before just to see if they could get there and remain on time.

"It'd be so much more efficient that way," Howell said.

Another area Howell said was discussed is the weekend route bus No. 2 follows. Howell said he decided to let the drivers choose if they want to pick up students from bars and drive them home.

"I want to give the drivers more discretion to pick up and drop off wherever they please," he said.

Howell and his committee have been working on a designated driver program for two semesters, and letting the drivers participate on the weekend is a good way to start.

"It's putting a Band-Aid over a wound before you can sew it up," he said. "The drivers can only do so much because they deal with quantity."

Howell said drivers have told him that no one rides bus No. 1 after 11 p.m. because it only goes to educational buildings such as Buzzard Hall and Art Park West.

The bus is scheduled to run until midnight, but Howell said cutting the last hour off of every day of the week would save $924 to pay for the new schedules.

"It'll free up so much money that wasn't being used," he said.

Many drivers said they have had no negative encounters with students for as long as they can remember.

"The drivers had no complaints about students riding buses," Howell said.

Don Tanner, manager of the Eastern Shuttle Bus System, said the drivers have been very open with their opinions this semester.

Howell said meeting with the drivers was very helpful.

"They gave me tons of input," he said.

Events kickoff women's history month this week

Monday

◆ Women's History and Awareness Month: Keynote speaker Laurel Prussing will speak at 7 p.m. in the Charleston/Mattoon room of the Martin Luther King Jr. Union.

Tuesday

◆ Health Fair: The last event of Black History Month will be a health fair. From 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. The Sickle Cell Disease Association of Illinois will be at the student recreation center.

◆ Booth Library Film Series: At 4 and 7 p.m. in Room 3202 in Booth Library the film "Boys Will be Men" will be shown. The spate of school shootings in 1998 and 1999 amplified a warning being sounded by social scientists. After 20 years of concern over the status of girls being raised by the women's movement, some experts say we now must turn our attention to boys. Disturbing statistics tend to back up this contention: Four boys are diagnosed as emotionally disturbed for every one girl. Six boys are diagnosed with attention deficit disorder for every one girl. Boys kill themselves five times more often than girls. Boys are four times more likely to drop out of high school than girls. Girls now outnumber boys entering college. How do boys become men? How do they learn courage, the difference between right and wrong and the meaning of love? What hurts them, makes them violent and sometimes kills them? "Boys Will be Men," a film about growing up in male America, seeks to answer these questions.

Wednesday

◆ Explorations in art: The deadline for explorations in art is Wednesday. Through a variety of two and three-dimensional art projects, elementary school age children will be introduced to different principles and elements of art using a wide variety of media. The class will be 10 - 11:15 a.m. starting Saturday through April 10. The cost is $24 for Tarble Arts Center members and $30 for non members.

Friday

◆ The Student Recreation Center will be holding a lifeguard certification class Friday through Sunday. The cost of the class is $85 and is open to everyone interested. Contact Alison Swango at the student recreation center, 581-3961.

◆ Introduction to Art: The deadline to register for Introduction to Art is Friday. Designed for the preschool set, this class will offer students the opportunity to explore a variety of art media and processes. Each lesson incorporates the use of different materials including clay, watercolor and tempera paint. Terry Hyder will instruct the class, going from 4-5 p.m. on Tuesdays from March 9-13. The cost is $20 for Tarble Arts Center members and $24 for non-members.

Extra day keeps seasons in order

By Michael Schroeder
CITY REPORTER

For the first time in four years, datelines and newspapers around the world had the date of Feb. 29 on them.

Leap Year emerged this weekend to place a balance in our calendar.

If the calendar did not have this adjustment placed in it, the upcoming spring break could be accompanied by a snow front with a temperature in the teens.

"Basically, instead of there being 365 days in a year; it is 365 days and one-fourth," said James Conwell, an Eastern physics professor.

According to the U.S. Naval Observatory Web site, "the cycle of the seasons, known as the tropical year are 365.2422 days long."

The extra .2422 days, over the course of many years, could shift the winter months to summer and the summer months to winter, Conwell, who also is the adviser of the astronomy club, said.

To prevent the beginning of spring from shifting from March 20 to April 13 within a century, the Romans introduced the Leap Year in 46 B.C. with the Julian Calendar being introduced by Julius Caesar.

"There was a slight modification since then — It's not quite a quarter (of an extra day); it's about about .24," Conwell said. "about 400 some odd years ago we redid the calendar to Gregorian, and we skip a few leap years."

In 1582 Pope Gregory XIII, introduced the Gregorian Calendar, which fixed the 12 day glitch that the Julian Calendar had. From the time of Caesar to 1582, the beginning of spring had changed from March 23 to March 11, according to the U.S. Naval Observatory.

The new calendar, instead of having a Leap Year every four years, has 97 leap years every 400 years. The calendar therefore skips the Leap Year when it falls on a century mark, according to Wolfram Researches Science World. This rule does not apply however when the century is also divisible by 400.

This is why the year 2000 was a leap year despite it being a new century year.

The present calendar will take 3,300 years for the it to be off by more than a day, the U.S. Navel Observatory said.

Charleston landlords still renting for next academic year

By Jennifer Smith
STAFF WRITER

Although the rental possibilities have drastically narrowed, off-campus apartments and houses for the 2004-2005 school year are still available.

According to Jim Wood, manager of Wood Rentals, it is not too late to find a good apartment. Most of the apartments and houses with locations next to campus are rented for the fall; however, options are still available.

Ryan Smith, a junior geography education major, said location is not a factor for him when searching for an apartment.

"It's a small town," Smith said. "It doesn't really matter where you are, the walk won't be that bad."

Jim Wood said he has been in the business 15 years and works for 30 different property owners.

"There will be lots of apartments left to rent for quite a while," Wood said.

Wood also said students need to trust their landlord in order for them to be happy.

"Maintenance is the name of the game in the business," Wood said. "If the tenant can't feel confident that their maintenance problem will be fixed, they will not want to pay their rent."

Gale Poteete, landlord manager of Poteete Rentals, said she has 60 units and between 300-375 tenants. Poteete is 80 percent rented for next fall and is happy with her progress.

"I'm ahead of the game, and I'm thrilled about that," she said.

Poteete has an overall good reputation with her tenants but said approximately 5 percent of her tenants are not happy with her. She said tenants that party have a hard time with her as a landlord because she does not tolerate it.

Poteete said she has been in the renting business 25 years and believes her success comes from word of mouth.

"Some of my tenants have stayed a full four years and sent their siblings to me," Poteete said.

Unique Properties said they are 90 percent rented for next year.

Unique has between 500 and 600 tenants, and claims to be popular with students because of their locations, large apartments and numerous building options.

"This is a family owned and operated business, and we are very devoted to keeping our buildings in the best shape possible," said Melissa Phillips, Unique Properties property manager.

Unique has been constructing a new complex on Ninth Street and Johnson Avenue. This complex might be the last multi-unit complex on Ninth Street because of a zoning law proposed by Mayor Dan Coughill and passed last summer, Phillips said.

Under the new law there cannot be more than 10 units on the same land. The building being constructed now will have 23 units.

"Currently, there seems to be an abundance of student housing,"

Phillips said. "However, if EIU's enrollment increases and supply becomes short, additional housing will solely have to come through EIU."

The new apartment complex was started in August 2003 and will be completed in July. Phillips said there have not been any delays. In fact, she said the building is ahead of schedule.

Phillips said the new building is far from an ordinary college complex. It will feature two entertainment rooms which will have televisions, a hot tub, pool table and exercise equipment. The third floor will have skylights in all of the living rooms.

"This building is going to be exceptionally nice because we are going to be doing a new contemporary interior design using dark blues and charcoal gray with modern-contemporary furniture and fixtures," Phillips said.

The new apartments are being leased for $750 per month for each two-bedroom apartment and $1,050 per month for each three-bedroom apartment, Phillips said.

According to a random survey given out to numerous anonymous Unique tenants in different buildings, Unique has perks as well as downfalls.

Renters complained Unique does not take care of maintenance in a timely manner and fines tenants whenever possible.

The survey also indicated residents are happy with their staff and large apartments. Most tenants said they would recommend Unique Properties to their friends.

Those who said they would not recommend Unique said their apartments are expensive and they have had problems with maintenance.

Some Unique tenants at the Atrium said they were unhappy because they were recently charged $20 per apartment in response to broken glass. Unique Properties gained $540 by charging each apartment $20.

Unique Properties has security cameras in the complex, and tenants said they could have caught the person who broke the glass if they wanted to.

Janet Terlecki, a junior marketing major, said, "If I had known they were going to charge me $20 for broken glass, I would have gone out there and cleaned it up myself."

The three landlords evaluated all had positive and negative aspects.

Wood said he is willing to make personal relationships with his tenants and fix their maintenance needs right away. However, he may not have as many building options as the larger businesses.

Gale Poteete has a successful business and good reputation with her tenants. Parties are not tolerated, though.

Unique has modern facilities but tough policies.

Since they have so many tenants, they are not lenient with fines and may not have enough maintenance staff to serve all of their tenants right away.

Michael Marino, a junior industrial technology major advised choosing a landlord that isn't preoccupied with numerous tenants.

"I live in a house where the landlord only operates two houses," he said. "I believe that he is able to serve us better; because, we aren't lost in the shuffle unlike other students that rent from landlords that deal with a large number of tenants."

Choosing a landlord is as important as choosing a location. It is essential to make sure landlords are not giving "empty promises" when they show houses or apartments.

Important issues to research include:

- ◆ The length of the lease. Leases often come in either 10-month or 12-month contracts.

- ◆ Read all of the contract before signing the lease. This will help avoid unpleasant surprises on expectancies as tenants. Show the lease to a professional.

Steve Davis, of student legal services, can go over leases with students.

Black history events need participation

The ideas promoting equality and diversity brought forth by Black History Month should not be left behind with February's close.

Eastern's African American Cultural Heritage Month supplied a wide range of events honoring the accomplishments of blacks throughout history as well as the trials and tribulations faced on the quest for civil rights.

The African American Cultural Center, African American Studies, University Board and the Black Student Union's lectures, forums, movie series and other cultural events offered new historical perspectives to the campus.

Gospel performances, soul food samplers and pageants reflecting the advancement of black women offered the opportunity for members of the campus community to become involved in celebrating history beyond reading a textbook.

Speakers such as Fred Hord, chair of black studies at Knox College, spoke on contemporary issues and their changes over time. Hord's discussion, Understanding Black Male/Female Relationships in the Hip-hop Generation covered popular culture's effects on contemporary dating.

Charles Eberly, professor in the department of counseling and student development, hosted a forum celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Supreme Court Brown v. Board of Education decision, discussing progress since schools were desegregated.

Students were involved on the planning committee for helping Eastern celebrate black heritage in February, but not enough are involved in the actual events, said Joycelynn Phillips, this year's chair of the African American Heritage Celebration.

She said she would like to see more students on the committee and at the events next year.

The University Board sponsored comedians and films in honor of Black History Month.

Efforts by Student Senate member Jeff Collier, members from the Pan-Hellenic Council, the National Pan-Hellenic Council and the Black Student Union to celebrate Martin Luther King Jr. Tribute Week and raise funds for a display in King's namesake union should be commended.

These campus groups united to honor Black History Month and their efforts are appreciated.

February could have served as a time for all campus groups to unite and educate themselves and others with all black history has to offer.

The entire Greek community, the Student Senate and various other campus organizations could have taken advantage of February as an ideal time to sponsor other diverse events.

Black History Month concludes.

Our stance

The efforts of campus groups which united to honor the celebration are appreciated, but more groups should have participated.

OPINION

Scholarships should be color blind

Matt Meinheit

Managing editor and semi-monthly columnist for The Daily Eastern News

Meinheit also is a junior journalism major

He can be reached at mmeinheit@yahoo.com

Scholarships are something sought after by almost everyone who attends an institution of higher education. It doesn't matter if the awards are for athletic talent, academic achievement or social contributions. Students looking for ways to pay for tuition, fees and room and board want and need scholarships to continue their education.

I am fortunate enough to have parents who are able to afford to pay for my education, on the condition I earn good grades. Even though my parents pay for my education, I still apply for whatever scholarships are offered to me. My mom and dad work hard enough as it is and I will do what I can to relieve some of the financial stress of putting my butt through school.

Adam Noska, a junior communications major at Roger Williams University in Rhode Island, is like most college students. He was looking for whatever help he could get in paying for college and applied for a scholarship offered by the College Republicans on his campus. The catch: the scholarship he applied for was for whites only.

The College Republicans announced last month it would give away a $50 scholarship to a white student. The group's president, Jason Mattera, has repeatedly been quoted in newspapers around the world for saying the scholarship was a parody of scholarships offered only to minorities, and it was intended to make a statement against affirmative action.

Mattera was quoted in East Bay Newspapers, saying (Bristol, R.I.) "It's parody, definitely.

"If it isn't appropriate for Noska to keep his scholarship, then the recipients of the four scholarships Roger Williams offers exclusively to minorities should also donate their awards to charity."

Students on campus can understand parody. They watch Comedy Central more than CNN; they know what parody is."

Parody or not, the scholarship garnered not just national, but international attention from the media. The College Republicans began to receive contributions to the scholarship and the award increased from $50 to $250.

When Mattera announced Noska was the recipient of the scholarship at a Feb. 18 ceremony, several members of the audience from Roger Williams' Multicultural Student Union stood up and turned their backs to the presentation in protest.

Mattera said they selected Noska, a member of the university's Student Government, for his 3.9 grade point average and his convincing essay on why he is proud of his white heritage.

Following the award ceremony, Noska was surrounded by reporters. He said, "I may not be in favor of a scholarship. But if I qualify for it, you can bet your bottom dollar I'll apply."

Noska said he planned to use the money to buy a new science textbook.

That was not the end of the story.

The Associated Press reported Noska received criticism for accepting the scholarship. Instead of buying a textbook, he donated the money to a fund benefiting The Station nightclub fire survivors' and victims' families.

Those who pressured Noska into giving away the money should be ashamed. Noska proved he was worthy of receiving a scholarship for his hard work. If it isn't appropriate for Noska to keep his scholarship, then the recipients of the four scholarships Roger Williams offers exclusively to minorities should also donate their awards to charity.

Although the scholarship was meant to be a parody, it was awarded to a student proud of his heritage. Is Noska supposed to be ashamed of the fact he's white? Is he not allowed to get help paying for his education because he's white? If the scholarship wasn't meant to be a statement against affirmative action, but just to celebrate white heritage, would it have made a difference?

My parents raised me to believe you get ahead in life through talent and hard work. Scholarships award those two virtues I was raised to regard with great respect.

Excluding people from the chance to receive these awards based on race or sex tells me these virtues are not as important as I was raised to believe. It tells me people are more concerned about the color of my skin or what's between my legs than what I'm capable of doing.

YOUR TURN: LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Gay marriage is not right step

In the Feb. 19 edition of the Daily Eastern News, Editor in Chief John Chambers stated that Mayor Gavin Newsom of San Francisco took an "encouraging step" by endorsing gay couples to be married.

As the saying goes, "Me thinks not." The mayor, as well as county officials, have broken the law of their state and therefore these unions are void. As a matter of fact, what they are doing is not by definition, a marriage. By 99.9 percent of the dictionaries and tradition, marriage is defined as a religious and/or civil union between a man and a woman. Which takes me to my next point.

Not only does the Bible condemn this type of action, if you want to get technical, none of the religions that would be considered mainstream accept same sex unions either. I'm sure by now someone is thinking "Those who are without sin be the one to cast the first stone." Jesus did say that. He also finished it by saying, "Go and sin no more."

As for the science aspect, male plus male does not equal baby. Female plus female does not equal baby. Yes, there are, in rare cases, when a man and woman cannot have a child. However, that goes with the idea of we had the perfect package and we messed it up.

If we are going to accept same sex unions, why stop there? Let's allow four women to marry three men or two men to women and then for insurance purposes, they can marry each other. Why stop there? In the name of alternative lifestyle, let four adult women marry a 14 and 16-year-old boy, and then to make sure it's equal and all, the same can go the other way for men. Is this sick? No, it's an alternative lifestyle.

Did Mayor Gavin take an "encouraging step?" Not hardly. Let's call it the beginning of an avalanche. It is an avalanche that will not only continue the moral decline and confusion, it will be the thing that buries us so deep that no one on the face of this earth will be able to dig us out of it.

By the way, before I'm labeled as homophobic, I ask you to consider that you may be a Christophobic.

African-American Heritage Month closes on note of community

By Julie Bourque
CAMPUS REPORTER

After a month of scheduled events, the African-American Heritage Celebration has come to a close.

Eastern hosted 24 events during the celebration, all geared toward educating the campus and community on African-American heritage.

"We wanted to celebrate African-American history, which is a big part of American history, as more of a community this year, and I think we were successful in doing so," said Joycelynn Phillips, academic adviser for minority affairs and the 2004 chair of the African-American Heritage Celebration. "The mayors of Charleston and Mattoon, community police officers and Sen. Tim Johnson's party were all represented at our dinner banquet, where Linda Gorham talked about the Little Rock 9."

Phillips said Minority Affairs coordinates the celebration with a combination of academic departments, committees, students and faculty.

"A few groups that really helped us put the celebration together were women's studies, the early childhood elementary and middle level education department, which was supervised by Mildred Pearson, African-American studies department, University Board, speech and communication department, Booth Library, Ollie Ray and the department of continuing education and Student Life," Phillips said.

Movies reflecting African-American culture, readings of African-American literature, various speakers, an open mic night with comedian Leon Rogers, the Miss Black EIU pageant, displays at Booth Library and a blood and bone marrow drive were just a few of the events scheduled for the month-long celebration.

Though the Miss Black EIU pageant is traditionally has biggest turn out for the celebration, Phillips' highlight event was the alumni panel.

"We had four African-American Eastern alumni back on campus who were the people here when the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union and Afro-American Culture Center first opened," Phillips said of the event. "The panel really inspired us to highlight the Culture Center and its openness to the community, which the office of Minority Affairs will be working to do during this next year."

One thing the celebration committee is looking to accomplish next year is getting more students actively involved. Phillips said there are students on the planning committee, but not enough actually involved in the planned events.

"We'll try to get more students on the planning committee in hopes of helping student attendance at the events," Phillips said. "Another thing we are attempting is tailoring our events to what other universities are doing, but of course, keeping an Eastern flavor."

Phillips said if any students have ideas or want to volunteer for next year, she can be reached at 581-6692.

Plans for next year's celebration are accumulating, but Phillips said Minority Affairs' main concentration is getting more students involved and continuing to open the event up to all cultures on campus and letting them know that "African Americans did make contributions to the United States and are a party of American history."

Other prizes from the raffle included E.L. Krackers and Domino's Pizza gift certificates, an overnight trip to Eagle Creek State Park, three $50 savings bonds and a number of other treats.

The concert itself consisted of seven local bands playing a variety of music ranging from folk to blues and rock.

Althea Pendergast, bassist for the Charleston-based band Mother Load, described the group's sound as blues, folk and some rock and roll mixed with a Celtic element.

"We have always been involved in playing for social issues," Pendergast said.

The band has been together for 14 years and consists of a violin player, bassist and acoustic guitar player.

Spoon said she called bands and told them what Chili Jam was all about and asked them to play.

"After I told them that Mother Load was playing, it was easier to get them to play," Spoon said.

Mother Load's second to last song of the set, "Summer Time," made attendees sway back and forth and sing to the music.

"This song (Summer Time) is the best song played all night," Lori Gedraitis, from Orland Park, said.

After the group's last song, people were screaming for them to play one more.

Other performing musicians included Miscellaneous Jubilee Jam Band, Rural Kings, Rumble Shack Orchestra, Rockford Barns, Ryan Groff and Reverend Robert.

"I know the people that support this cause," said Bob Bley of Charleston. "I do, too, and I had it on my calendar so I decided to come."

Spoon said she hoped to raise $1,000 for the campaign for better health care in Illinois. At each table, Spoon had a petition for the health care justice act of 2004 out for attendees to sign.

She also posted health care facts on the wall; facts that she came across while researching for the event.

Spoon said she wanted to do something to make people aware of the health care problem.

"Over 19 percent of Coles county does not have health care," she said. "And the ones who do spend 30 percent of their income on it."

Spoon said the original name for Sunday's event was Hot Food, Cool Tunes and they were going to serve fish instead of chili.

Coordinators decided fish was too hard to make, so they made chili instead. There were seven five-gallon tubs of chili made.

Colleges cooking up something different

◆ Grills, pizza ovens replacing 'mystery meat' in college cafeterias

NORMAL (AP) — Fast-food counters dwarf the traditional lineup of stainless-steel tubs of meat and vegetables in Illinois State University's busiest dining hall, where the air is thick with a fresh-cooked blend of burgers, pizza, tacos and stir-fry.

Cafeteria-style tables have given way to padded chairs and booths arranged around projection screens that show music videos, newscasts or ballgames. Steps away, there's a Ben & Jerry's ice cream stand and a coffee shop with a bank of Internet-ready computers.

Food courts, delis and even sit-down restaurants are popping up on campuses across the country as colleges try to hold onto student diners who have little appetite for the institutional, take-it-or-leave-it serving lines of years past, food service officials say.

"This is kind of the have-it-your-way generation. They're used to picking from a menu and not being stuck with whatever you give them," said Leslie Aun, a vice president for Sodexho USA, a leading food service company that offers expanded menus at more than 700 colleges nationwide.

At Western Illinois University, the menu can include lobster or crab legs, cappuccino or espresso. Northwestern University students have a choice of kosher foods. At Southern Illinois University, chefs cook omelets to order.

"I like it. This is more like a mall than a cafeteria," Andrea Moshkin, a freshman from Wheeling, said of the food court at ISU's Watterson Towers, which also has a Chick-fil-A franchise, bakery and a Freshens stand that mixes fruit smoothies.

But other ISU students complain that food is too bland, too greasy or too predictable, despite more than a half-dozen eateries.

"It gets to the point that it's so much the same that you do laps around the food court deciding what you want to eat," said Josh Heidkamp, an ISU junior from Libertyville.

Aun said she's confounded by the criticism, after spending her own college years eating "mystery meat gloggmed on a tray."

"Maybe it's just tradition to complain about college food," she said.

Students have little quarrel about costs, which have increased about 3 percent a year for room and board since ISU expanded menus and dining hours in the mid-1990s. In most cases, a meal from the fast-food shops is comparable in cost to the traditional cafeteria dinner.

Food service officials say the marketplace controls costs because students are no longer captive diners. At many schools, part of the dining fee now goes into a discretionary account and is spent only if students buy food on campus. Any unspent money is refunded.

"It's a competitive situation. The students have the option of eating with us or eating somewhere else," said Allen Nemeck, a vice president of dining services at WIU.

Competition was part of the reason ISU revamped its dining halls, said Arlene Hosea, the school's interim director of dining services. Fewer than half of on-campus students were using the old cafeterias in the early 1990s, a rate that has rebounded to more than 80 percent, she said.

Menus also were influenced by changes in society.

"Our students aren't used to the old 'everybody sits down and there's one meal.' They're used to dining at a lot of different locations. Our students are more sophisticated consumers, so we need to be able to meet their needs," Hosea said.

NATIONAL NEWS BRIEF

Man drives SUV into Maui airport

KAHULUI, Hawaii (AP) — A man drove a sport utility vehicle into the ticket lobby of Maui's main airport Sunday, then set the vehicle on fire, grounding outgoing flights for hours.

No one was injured in the incident, which the FBI said was not an act of terrorism.

The man set the Dodge Durango on fire after driving it into Kahului Airport's open-air terminal, said Lowrey Leong, the director of the Transportation Security Administration on Maui.

"I went to knock on the window and he just lit it up," baggage handler Kalani Hoopii told the Honolulu Star-Bulletin. Hoopii said he saw a can of gasoline and a man flicking a lighter.

Flames rose to the ceiling out of the vehicle, which was about 20 feet from the United Airlines ticket counter, Leong said.

STATE NEWS BRIEF

Farrakhan criticizes Bush, Kerry

CHICAGO (AP) — In a speech peppered with criticisms of President Bush, Nation of Islam leader Louis Farrakhan on Sunday pressed for America and England to grant slave reparations.

Farrakhan, speaking to the final session of the Nation of Islam's annual meeting, also voiced his support of Michael Jackson and Democratic presidential candidate the Rev. Al Sharpton, and warned blacks against supporting Sen. John Kerry.

Farrakhan accused Bush of wanting to go to war with Iraq from his first day in office, and of knowing Saddam Hussein didn't have weapons of mass destruction.

The president continues to defend his decision to go to war, even though former chief weapons inspector David Kay has concluded Iraq didn't have weapons of mass destruction. The Bush administration has established a commission to study the issue.

Women win 3rd straight over N. Iowa

◆ Men's team, No. 1 player Weber lose second straight match

By Kurtis Allen
STAFF WRITER

The Eastern women's tennis team had a big victory this week-end, while the men suffered a tough loss.

The Eastern women handily defeated the Northern Iowa women's team 5-2 Friday. Becky Brunner and Sarah Freeman won their doubles match and both of their singles matches. In doubles action, Brunner and Freeman defeated Jamie Noyce and Meredith Esbeck 8-0. Meanwhile, in singles action Brunner defeated Noyce 6-1, 6-0 and Freeman defeated Puske 6-4, 6-2.

Also in doubles action, the team of Amber Lenfert and Jill Wirtz won a hard-fought match over Kelly Maifield and Marcia Willis 8-

6. In their respective singles matches, Lenfert defeated Quaye 6-1, 6-1, and Wirtz fell to Maifield 6-4, 6-1.

The lone loss for the women's team in doubles went to the team of Madina Mambetova and Constanza Comacho, as they fell to Agnese Pukse 8-3. Mambetova did pick up a singles victory of Esbeck 6-2, 6-3, while Comacho had a tough loss against Muraca 6-0, 6-3.

The Panthers have rebounded after two straight defeats to pick up three straight victories over IUPUI-Fort Wayne, Cleveland State and Bradley. Taking 17 of the possible 19 points.

The Panther men suffered their second straight loss in a row on Saturday against Bradley University 5-2.

In doubles action, Eastern's Colin Priestner and Brandon Lenfert fell to Bradley's Wil Lofgren and Alex Roby 8-1. Also, the team of Ryan Blankenbaker and Charles LeVaque fell to Mario Paznic and Matt Metully 8-4.

The match of the day was in singles action as C.J. Weber lost a tough match to Bradley's Marko Marevic. Weber won the first set 6-4, but lost the next two 6-2, 6-4.

Weber, who was considered for a national ranking early last week, has now lost two consecutive matches at Indiana State and now against the Braves.

Eastern's suffered two other tough losses. Bradley's Wil Lofgren defeated Eastern's Brandon Blakenbaker 6-1, 6-2, and Alexy Roby defeated Brandon Lenfert 6-1, 6-2.

All was not lost as Ryan Blankenbaker and Charles LeVaque won both their respective singles matches.

Eastern head coach Brian Holtzgrafe was unavailable for comment.

The women move up to 3-2 this season, while the men fall to 4-4.

For nearly, a month I've been preaching Eastern dug its own grave on this one.

Here's a little tip for the Eastern players: the reason you have this awful taste in your mouth is because you managed to tick off the opponent while losing badly at home.

At some point, it should've clicked in the heads of Cortez and Gomes that making a team mad who is 22-5 and should be given at large consideration for the NCAA Tournament simply isn't smart.

Personally, I'm surprised Cronin didn't beat Eastern by 40, 50 or 60.

Now, Eastern's season is over and, honestly, they will be better next year but I have to believe that they've probably learned a lesson and will never make that same mistake again.

A show for the fans is nice but a light bulb proclaiming not right here and not right now needs to light up. The one fact is coaches remember every detail of a game especially when they perceive that they've been shown up.

Pinch-hitter Jason Pinnell came to the plate and hit a ground ball to second that was misplayed by Pummill, allowing Cammann to score from second. The Panthers then added an insurance run. Kuntz held the Bears scoreless in the bottom half of the inning to pick up the victory.

Unfortunately for the Panthers the rest of the weekend didn't go as well with two straight losses to host Louisiana-Monroe and Kansas State.

The Indians set the tone early against the Panthers when Louisiana-Monroe outfielder Kade Eady robbed Uhle on a leadoff home run to start the game. The Indians then scored four runs in the first inning and won 15-4.

The pitching trouble continued in the finale of the tournament as Kansas State pounded out 10 hits and scored 12 runs off four Eastern hurlers. Sophomore Matt Hall took the loss giving up three runs (two earned) in 2.1 innings of work.

Racers jet past Panthers in 31-point drubbing

◆ Eastern's ninth-place finish lowest since joining OVC in 1996

By Matthew Stevens
SPORTS EDITOR

The understatement of the weekend would be to say Murray State had fun on its Senior Night.

The Racers never allowed the Panthers (8-19, 5-11) to gain control during their 84-53 blowout of Eastern Saturday night.

In fact, for the first seven minutes one might be confused on whether or not Eastern had made the bus trip to Murray.

In a game the Panthers never led, the Racers took the opening tip and rattled off 18 straight points to start off the contest and never trailed from that moment on.

"I am very proud of this team," Racers head coach Joi Williams said. "We came out with intensity in a very emotion-filled day."

Eastern fought back, outscoring MSU 18-3 over the next eight minutes to close to within 26-20, and matched that when Meggie Eck put in a three to close the Murray State lead to 31-25 with 3:22 left in the half.

The Lady Racers closed the half outscoring the Panthers 8-2 over the last three minutes, taking a 39-27 lead at halftime.

In the second half, Murray State used a 10-0 run when junior guard Rebecca Remington put in a layup, senior guard Stacy Holmes sank a basket and Fuqua popped in back-to-back threes to give MSU a 54-31 lead with 14:53 left in regulation.

Williams was happy to see this group of seniors perform so well in their final game at the Regional Special Events Center as it's the first class she is directly related to.

"This was my first senior class as a head coach, and I couldn't ask for a better group," Williams said. We had good leadership, and that's what being a team is all about."

One of those seniors managed to break a record from beyond the arc Saturday night as Megan Fuqua made her final game memorable.

Fuqua scored 17 points on six of 19 shooting, which included five of 18 from three. Her 18 three point attempts set a school record and she broke her own record for made attempts by nailing five Saturday.

The Racers (13-14, 9-7) as a team also broke season highs with its 84 points, 23 assists and 31-point margin of victory.

This loss guaranteed the Panthers would finish ninth in the Ohio Valley Conference standings, their lowest finish since joining the league in 1996.

In her final game in a Panther uniform, senior guard Lauren Dailey scored 11 points shooting three of 10 from the field.

Fellow senior forward Katie Meyers got her third start of the season and had three rebounds in 13 minutes of play.

The Racers now prepare to travel to Cape Girardeau, Mo. and face Southeast Missouri in the first round of the OVC Tournament.

"I hope we can build on this emotion," Williams said. "I hope we can be cutting down some nets and getting a ring."

Hyper-active Murray State blanks Eastern

By Aaron Seidlitz
SPORTS REPORTER

Eastern was not given a warm welcome as it went on the road to Murray State for their final game. The Panthers dropped the game by 30 points, 81-51, as the Racers dominated the game throughout.

In just about every key statistical category the Panthers were outdone by the Racers. This was especially the case in turnovers, which is the one category Murray State coach Mike Cronin pays attention to most because of his love for the pressure defense his team utilizes.

With 18 steals in the game for Murray State and only eight assists for the Panthers, the Racers defense made its mark against Eastern. With the 18 steals and a few other errors by Eastern, the Panthers' turnover total reached 26.

"To play an up-tempo game like we prefer, you've got to play up-tempo defense first, and we were able to do that tonight," Cronin said. "We had 61 deflections on defense, which is the second highest we've had all season long."

The Panthers had no response to the defense that Cronin's team uses, and thus the Panthers only had 13 field goals all game long. That is why the Panthers were only able to shoot a little over 32 percent from the field.

For the Panther players who took five or more shots only senior center Jesse Mackinson ended up shooting at or above 50 percent from the floor. The one bright spot offensively was Eastern's ability to get to the free throw line on a consistent basis. By the end of the game, the Panthers had made 30 trips to the charity stripe and were able to convert on 24 of their chances.

This Eastern loss ended the season and brought the reality forth that the Panthers are not going to be playing as the Ohio Valley Conference starts its tournament

Eastern knew they weren't going to make the tournament before this final game, but as the season ended, the reality that no basketball will be played by this team during March sunk in.

But Murray State looks forward not only to the conference tournament but also to the NCAA Tournament as Cronin feels that his team should garner some attention for at least an at-large bid.

Cronin feels that if his Racers don't win the OVC tournament, they should still be looked at as one of the mid-major teams to represent the OVC in the NCAA Tournament.

"Whether we get in or not is up to the NCAA selection committee, but I do think that we should get a look at the very least," Cronin said.

Stout's close victory excited the crowd

Going into the final 100 meters of the race, Stout, trailing by approximately five meters, started a kick that pushed him past Korir, edging him out in a nearly photo finish. The crowd exploded as Stout sprinted though the finish, beating Korir by only one seven-hundredth of a second.

On the women's side of the 3,000, Simone put in another strong effort finishing second.

"We moved some of our mile runners to the 3,000 to put our athletes in the best chances to score points," Wallace said. "We just had to do what we could do and hope someone else screws up."

In the end, though, Wallace and the women didn't get the breaks they're hoping for and settled for third place.

"I was very pleased," Wallace said. "I thought it was a good showing from everyone who competed."

OVC INDOOR TRACK CHAMPIONSHIP

An OVC dynasty? Men four-peat

Women finish 3rd, but Harris wins 2 events, co-athlete of year

By Dan Renick
STAFF WRITER

The Eastern men grabbed their fourth straight Ohio Valley Conference indoor track championship over the weekend at Lantz Fieldhouse, while the women had a strong showing finishing third.

Southeast Missouri passed up defending women's champion, Eastern Kentucky, and won its fourth conference championship in eight years. Each of the winners dominated their competition, winning by 60-plus points.

Overall, Eastern had six individual champions on the men's side and three on the women's. Junior Alicia Harris shined this weekend as she won the 200- and 400-meter runs, breaking the Lantz Field House record in the 400. Harris received OVC female track co-athlete of the year honors with SEMO's shot and weight thrower, Heather Jenkins, who shared the award last year as well.

Tennessee State's Nick Horton won the award on the men's side for the second year in a row.

Eastern began the meet strong on Friday when sophomore Jason Stark won the men's high jump, and junior Denise Jones took first in the women's.

Stark couldn't build on his strong start after he strained his hamstring on his first attempt in the long jump. Eastern sophomores Marcel Morgan and Monty Buckley picked up the slack, finishing first and third respectively in the long jump.

"Marcel gave us a big lift by stepping up and getting it done," head coach Tom Akers said, who won his fourth straight OVC men's track coach of the year.

Eastern's men distance medley relay of Dan Strackeljahn, Jake Stout, Jermaine Jones and Kevin Atkins took first. In the final event of the day, senior Angie Simone took first in the women's 5000 meter run.

At the end of the first day, Eastern's men had a 25-point lead over second-place SEMO.

"If you don't take care of business on Friday, then you can't compete on Saturday," Akers said. "But we knew Saturday would be a whole new track meet."

The women found themselves in third place at the end of the first day, trailing first-place SEMO by 11.

"SEMO had a lot of qualifiers after the first day," women's head coach Mary Wallace said. "We were looking to try and grab second."

The men's field athletes on Saturday continued to step up and fill in for the injured Stark when freshman Obe Eruteya took first in the triple jump, and sophomore Justin Smith placed second.

In the afternoon, Strackeljahn, a sophomore, took first in the mile run with a convincing victory over Eastern Kentucky's Steve Maina, who won OVC track co-athlete of the year in 2003.

"There were really good battles in nearly every event," Akers said.

In the men's 3,000 meter, Stout, a sophomore, electrified the Fieldhouse when he took first over Murray State's Wesley Korir.

Eastern shocks 2003 College World Series participant

By Michael Gilbert
ASSOCIATE SPORTS EDITOR

Opening its 100th season of play, a young and unproven Eastern baseball team pulled off one of its biggest upsets in recent years during the first game of the Holiday Inn and Suites/Citgo Classic in Monroe, La.

Eastern may have needed extra innings, but the Panthers started the season with a stunning 6-4 victory over 2003 College World Series participant Southwest Missouri State last Friday.

In a meeting between two former Mid-Continent Conference rivals, it was SMS who dented the scoreboard first on designated hitter Justin DePriest's RBI single to left field in the second inning.

Held to one hit through the first three innings by SMS starter Derek Drage, the Panthers broke out with three runs in the fourth.

The Bears cut the deficit to one off Eastern starter Kyle Haines in the bottom half of the fourth when Depriest picked up his second RBI of the day, this time with a single.

Eastern added to its 3-2 lead in the seventh off SMS reliever Chris Krawczyk when Chris Uhle took a two-strike offering to left field scoring Marcus Jackson.

Up by two runs in the bottom of eighth, the Panthers were unable to hold the lead as SMS connected for two runs off Eastern reliever Erik Huber.

SMS had another golden opportunity to end the game when the Bears had the bases loaded with just one out in the tenth. However, Panther reliever Andy Kuntz got out of trouble by striking out pinch-hitter Daniel Webb and Pummill to end the threat.

Each team left a runner on base in the 11th inning before the Panthers took the lead for good in the 12th.

Cammann led off the frame with a single through the left side and advanced to second after Haines grounded out.

Encounter at Steak N' Shake foreshadows Panther future

The final memory Eastern's men's basketball team will have of its season is a 30-point loss at Murray State. Panthers head coach Rick Samuels must be under the impression that the "Welcome to Murray" sign is an oxymoron.

It's also ironic that I bring up a memory when referring to the current rivalry against the Racers. For its a memory that led Murray State to turn Senior Night into a never ending blowout.

I remember walking into the Mattoon Steak N' Shake last month after Eastern got smoked 85-67 at home against the Racers. To resemble comedian Lewis Balck, I needed to put my teeth in a steak burger before they reached around my head and started to eat my brain.

As I was going in, I saw and introduced myself to Racers head coach Mick Cronin who had two very important things to stress to me. I agreed with his first point which was basically that he could've beaten this Eastern team by much more but decided against it. His second point was a tiny bit more vague but just as effective.

"And by the way, that dunk, I'll remember that." Cronin said.

The first-year Murray State coach was referring to the play when Eastern was down by 20 and backup point guard Joey Cortez tossed the ball off the backboard on a two-on-one break finishing with sophomore guard Josh Gomes getting a video game like dunk. For further reference, as Mr. Gomes ran back down the floor and Lantz Arena quieted down, the Panthers were still down by 18.

After Cronin made his comment, I instantly got the feeling that he was the most irritated man who'd ever gotten a 17-point road victory. And by the way, he was planning an old-fashioned woodshed beating down in Murray, Ky.

Final Score: Murray State 81, Eastern 51. Yup, I'd say Cronin and crew made sure justice was served.

Honestly, Eastern didn't have a chance.

I can imagine Cronin playing the game tape to his players and "that dunk" being the only thing he shows them.

The weekly practice had to of been similar to when former Illinois head coach Bill Self put on the military fatigues and ran his new players silly.
