Fall 2007

English 1001G - 038 Syllabus

Class Participation: One quarter of your grade is based on participation and in-class writing assignments.

Late Policy: Papers are due at the beginning of class and are marked down one letter grade per class period they are late. In an attempt to be flexible, but also because I don't want to deal with dying grandmothers, computer crashes, or Unofficial Saint Patrick's Day, I will grant each student a single two-day extension on any paper, no questions asked.

Grading

Project 1 (20%)
Project 2 (20%)
Final Essay (25%)
Participation and in-class presentations (20%)
Final Exam (15%)

Required Texts: Most of the readings and many of the images discussed in this class will be taken from Beyond Words: Reading and Writing in a Visual Age. You are expected to have this book with you every day. We may also refer to The Norton Reader for a select few texts—you will be informed when it is necessary to have in class. The 5th Edition Blair Handbook is a grammar manual—it is available to help you with citations and writing questions, and I will use it to augment our grammar workshops.

Attendance Policy: As this class draws heavily on classroom discussion and in-class writing, attendance is very important. You are allowed two unexcused absences before they will begin affecting your grade. After that, each absence will subtract 2% from your final grade. If, for example, you skip every Friday during this ten-week class, a solid A (95%) will become a C (79%).

Plagiarism: Any teacher who discovers an act of plagiarism—"the appropriation or imitation of the language, ideas, and/or thoughts of another author and representation of them as one's original work" (Random House Dictionary of the English Language)—has the right and the responsibility to impose upon the guilty student an appropriate penalty, up to and including immediate assignment of the grade of F for the course, as well as to report the incident to the university's Judicial Affairs Office. Respect for the work of others should encompass all formats, including print, electronic, and oral sources.
