Hampton To Head Foundation; Board Votes Twenty Members

New officers and members of the Eastern Illinois State College Foundation were elected at the annual meeting of the organization June 1 in Pemberton Hall.

Maurice Hampton, '15, Charleston, was re-elected president for the coming year, and Chenault Kelly, '25, Charleston, was re-named executive secretary.

Lewis Linder, '11, Charleston, was voted vice-president, succeeding Arthur L. Richie, ex-'07, Freeport, Ill.

Twenty persons were elected or re-elected to five-year memberships in the Foundation. All are residents of Illinois unless so noted. They are James Garner, '57, Charleston; Kenneth Hesler, '51, Charleston; Mrs. Francine D. Elder, '58, Lincoln; Esther McCrory, '10, Charleston; Mrs. T. E. McMeekan, '37, Mattoon; Thomas Petty, '37, Oakland;

Earnest Pricco, '34, Maywood; Edith E. Ragan, retired faculty member, Charleston; Bruce Rardin, '10, Charleston; Perry G. Rawland, '22, St. Cloud, Minn.; Daniel R. Reedy, '57, Urbana; Harry Read, '50, Charleston; Mrs. Harvey Rechnitzer, '09, Charleston; Cyril D. Reed, '29, Wheatridge; Emily C. Reid, '13, Maywood; Richie; H. Nolan Sims, '30, Mattoon; Linder; Mary Blance Traylor, '43, Decatur; and Carol Lee Wagner, '57, Decatur.

Ogden Brainard, current president of the Eastern Illinois University Alumni Association, Linder, and Mrs. Rechnitzer were named to the board of directors.

The board of directors also adopted a resolution to change the name of the organization to that of Eastern Illinois University Foundation.

Joe Patridge Has Leading Role In Network Television Series

Joe Patridge, '52, former Eastern football and track star and more recently a student of acting at Pasadena Playhouse, Pasadena, Calif., has assumed the lead role in the nationally televised Jim Bowie series.

In a recent letter to his parents, who reside in Arcola, Patridge said the show was completely new except for the legendary Bowie knife and the horse that has carried Scott Forbes, the former Jim Bowie, through his adventures.

Upon graduation from Eastern in 1952, Patridge accepted an assistant coaching position at Paris High School, where he coached successful squads for one year before moving on to Hollywood to pursue a career in acting.

During the past two years, while studying at the Pasadena Playhouse, he has made numerous television appearances, including "Highway Patrol," a series starring Broderick Crawford.

Business Education Majors Earn Achievement Awards

Five business education majors at Eastern have won awards for outstanding achievement during the 1957-58 school year.

The awards were made at the annual Pi Omega Pi banquet. Pi Omega Pi is the national business education fraternity.

Dale McHenry, Kansas, was named outstanding business graduate for 1957. McHenry completed his degree during the fall quarter 1957 and is now enrolled in the Purdue University graduate school.

Alice Herman, senior from Olney, received the Smead Award. The award is given to the business graduate showing greatest promise in the field of teaching.

Rose Mueller, senior from Ramsey, received the Journal of Business Education award. The award is made for scholarship and interest in further study.

Wallace Kelly, senior from Charleston, received the Wall Street Journal Award. The award is made annually for scholarship and interest in the fields of finance and business administration.

Kenneth Allen, freshman from Mattoon, received the Outstanding Freshman Award. The award is made annually to the freshman business education major with the highest scholarship average.

Roberts, Ex-'News' Editor, Moves Into New Quarters With 'Shetland Pony Journal'

The American Shetland Pony Journal, edited by Jim Roberts, '46, has moved into new quarters at Aledo, Ill.

More than 800 persons from all sections of the country were guests during the May 24 and 25 dedication and open house of the offices.

Roberts, who began his journalistic career with a three-year term as editor of the Eastern State News, was with the sports department of the St. Louis Star Times and editor of Aledo Times Record before entering the magazine field in 1953.

Concerning the new quarters, the Shetland Journal says:

"Once a blacksmith shop, the building at the corner of Eighth and Walnut had later served as a school shop and then had been abandoned to the elements. With its roof falling apart and the bricks needing pointing, it was considered of little value when the club (American Shetland Pony Club) purchased it last fall at public auction for what was soon to be considered a bargain price. At the time, its principal value to the Journal lay in its location adjacent to the U. S. Post Office.

"Renovation started in early January when it was re-roofed, the interior was partitioned and office quarters were finished in redwood paneling, tile floor and acoustical ceilings. A central heating-cooling unit was installed, the mailing room was finished, the exterior covered with Nu-Stone. As a final touch, cast aluminum letters and carriage lights

Cutlip, Barrick Receive Lord Scholarship Honors At Spring Commencement

Gitzen Earns Widger Award

ton C. Lord Scholarships for the 1958-59 academic year. Julian Gitzen of Rankin, a senior, was presented the Howard DeF. Widger Award.

Granted annually in honor of Eastern's first president, the Lord Scholarships are presented by the University's alumni association to students who give highest promise of outstanding success as teachers. The scholarships were established shortly after the death of President Lord in 1933.

The Widger Award is given in honor of Howard DeF. Widger, a member of the English department at Eastern for 41 years and head of the department from 1945 to 1953. Dr. Widger died in 1953. The Award goes annually to the junior or senior English major selected by Eastern's English department as the most outstanding student.

Miss Barrick won the award given to the outstanding student majoring in elementary education and planning to teach in the grades. Mrs. Cutlip, a speech major, won the award presented to the outstanding student in a secondary school teaching field.

Gitzen, who received the Bachelor of Science in Education Degree June 1, plans to begin graduate study next year in the school of fine arts and sciences at Harvard University.

"The interior provides working quarters for both the editorial department and the business office, while the west half of the buildings, with an overhead door for easy entrance of trucks and tractors, houses the assembly and mailing operations of the magazine."

Photographer Fred Ryan Retires After 34 Years And Some 100,000 Photos

By Jim Garner, '57
Staff Writer
Charleston Daily Courier

Fred Ryan, Charleston photographer for 34 years, has announced his retirement effective June 6 and has sold the Ryan Studio to Pete Bertram of Mattoon.

Bertram said the studio will remain at the present location on the south side of the business square.

Fred started here in 1924 in the same location above the Mack Moore shoe store. He had worked with an Olney photographer one year after graduating from the Illinois College of Photography at Effingham in 1922.

Through the years, Fred became known as the "college photographer" from the work he did for Eastern. He was awarded the yearbook contract in the fall of 1924 and except for one year, Fred did all of Eastern's yearbook and newspaper photography.

100,000 Pictures

Although he never attempted to make an exact count, Fred estimates that he has taken "about 100,000 pictures" in the 34 years.

He concentrated mainly on college and high school work but also found much interest in taking baby pictures.

"Taking baby shots was interesting because of the unique poses some of them would offer," he said. "However, in the last few years, the business has dropped off to almost nothing because of the prevailing "bargain buy" outfits which specialize in baby photography."

His memories of picture taking at Eastern are many, but an incident with Livingston C. Lord, Eastern's first president, is still the most memorable.

Mr. Lord always conducted chapel services for the entire student body each morning. Fred convinced the president that a picture of the group would be worth having.

Fred said all was well until he loaded up the old flash powder tray and climbed the ladder to get a good angle shot.

"I must have had a bit too much flash powder because when I fired, it sounded as if a cannon exploded, and a large cloud of smoke rose to the ceiling," he said. "When that cloud started down, I headed for the door. Mr. Lord stopped me and requested that I never take another such picture!"

The chapel services were dismissed due to a heavy smoke screen, Fred said.

The changes in equipment have been tremendous since he started. The flash bulbs and electronic

Eleven Faculty Members Get Leaves During Coming Year

Eleven members of the Eastern faculty will be away from the campus during the 1958-59 academic year on sabbatical leaves and leaves of absence.

Seven persons will have sabbatical leaves. They are Roscoe F. Schaupp, head librarian, who will take a world tour; Carolyn Ryle, instructor of health education, who will do graduate study at the University of Michigan; Ken Hesler, assistant director of public relations, graduate study at the University of Illinois; Virginia Tate, laboratory school instructor, graduate study at the University of Missouri.

Dr. Harris E. Phipps, head of the chemistry department, study on a National Science Foundation fellowship; Dr. Russell H. Landis, professor of industrial arts, research during the fall quarter on teaching methods in printing; and Dr. Eugene M. Waffle, head of the English department, visiting university and college English departments.

Four persons have been granted leaves of absence. Miss Gertrude Hendrix will continue her work as project teacher coordinator of the University of Illinois Committee on School Mathematics. Lawrence Allen, library instructor, will do graduate study at the University of Chicago under a grant from the Fund for Adult Education.

Maurice Allard, instructor of music, will do graduate study at the University of Southern California; and Miss June M. Krutza, assistant professor of art, will continue her graduate study at Ohio State University.

flashes have eliminated the powder tray, and today's fast speed film makes any picture possible.

Afternoon Portraits

Portrait work was done entirely in the early afternoons because the sun had to be directly overhead to allow enough light through the skylight. Fred boarded up his skylight when the flash blubs came into use.

Now 67, Fred decided to quit this summer and will remain in Charleston with his wife, Doris. They were married in 1917 just before Fred left for France with the army. He still carries scars on his right shoulder where three machine gun bullets took him out of action.

It was during recuperation in an army hospital that he became interested in photography.

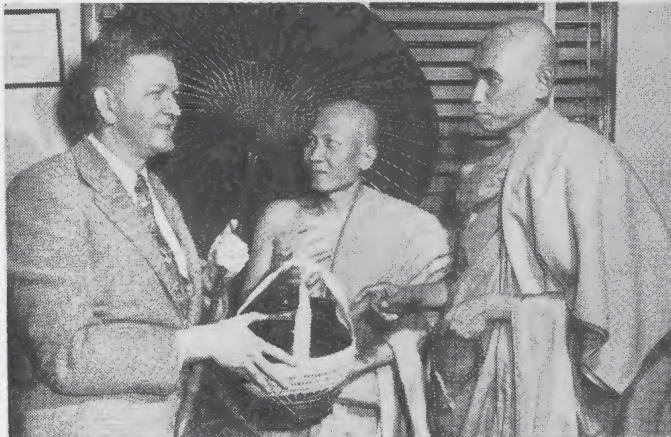

After the war Fred returned to his bookkeeping job in a grain elevator at Bridgeport. Five years later he gave up the figures and enrolled in photography school. Even today he can't stand bookkeeping and Mrs. Ryan fell heir to the job of making out statements.

"I decided it was time to quit after grandchildren of people I had photographed in grade school started coming in for pictures," he said.

Eastern Graduate Entertains Buddhist Monks From Burma

Owen Harlan, 1941 graduate of Eastern, had two somewhat unique visitors in his New York home recently.

and his family before continuing their tour of the United States. Harlan is an industrial arts instructor at Buffalo State Teachers College.

The monks, the Ven. U. Addica Ransi and the Ven. U. Thila Wunta, arrived in this country with begging bowls, beads and wearing the customary robes. Those articles comprised their entire worldly possessions.

One newspaper report said it was the first visit made by any Buddhist monks to the United States.

After taking the usual tour of supermarkets, schools, and churches, the monks left for Washington to visit the Burmese Embassy.

Dr. Harlan is the son of Mrs. John O. Harlan, 1314 Madison St., Charleston. His father, worked at Eastern as Custodian of the industrial arts building until his death.

The Harlans have two children, Ronnie, 8, and Suzy, 6. They reside at 181 Windermere Blvd., Buffalo 23, New York.

Eastern Receives PTA Funds

Eastern has received $2,000 from the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers to be added to the PTA Teacher Education Scholarship Fund, according to Dr. Elizabeth K. Lawson, dean of women.

The only stipulation which the organization makes for the awarding of the scholarships from the Fund is that the recipients be in teacher education and must be in need of financial assistance.

Eastern's Financial Grants Committee awards the scholarships late in June each year.

New Teacher Education Admission Policy Set

Beginning next fall, students enrolling at Eastern must meet certain new standards before being admitted to the teacher education program.

Students seeking teaching degrees must apply for admission to the teacher education program no earlier than the quarter in which they will complete 40 quarter hours of credit and before they have earned a total of 100 quarter hours of credit.

Admission to a teacher education curriculum shall be determined by a Committee on Admission to Teacher Education after consideration of a student's application and evidence on certain points.

To be considered by the committee are a student's overall grade-point average, a report from the University physician, a report on English usage, a report on speech and hearing, scores made on entrance and subsequent tests which may be administered to Eastern students, a statement from the dean of students, and a statement by the student's major department.

The student will be required to have an overall cumulative grade-point average of 2.1 (A equals 4 points), a recommendation from his major department, and a recommendation from the University physician.

With rare exception, the student seeking admission to a teacher education curriculum will be required to demonstrate proficiency in English usage and have satisfactory recommendations in speech and hearing.

At the end of the 1958-59 winter quarter, the program will be reviewed with a study of a possible increase of the required grade-point average to 2.2.

Graduation Hits New High; Six Awarded High Honors

Three hundred twenty-eight persons received degrees June 1 at Eastern's fifty-ninth annual commencement ceremonies. The number was an all-time high.

Bachelor of Science in Education degrees led the parade of graduates, with 274 persons receiving the teaching diploma; Bachelor of Science degrees went to 40 persons; Master of Science in Education, 40; and Bachelor of Arts, 3.

Six seniors graduated with high honors and 30 with honors. Requirement for graduation with high honors is a cumulative grade-point average of 3.75 and for honors, 3.40. A grade of "A" has a value of four points.

Receiving high honors were Sue Ella Edwards, Effingham; Glendora Plath, Charleston; Richard Polancyak, Westville; Martha Louise Reid, Mattoon; David L. Walter, Edwardsville; and Carol Joann Wilhite, Litchfield.

Eastern Netters Lose Title; Golfers Go Up In League

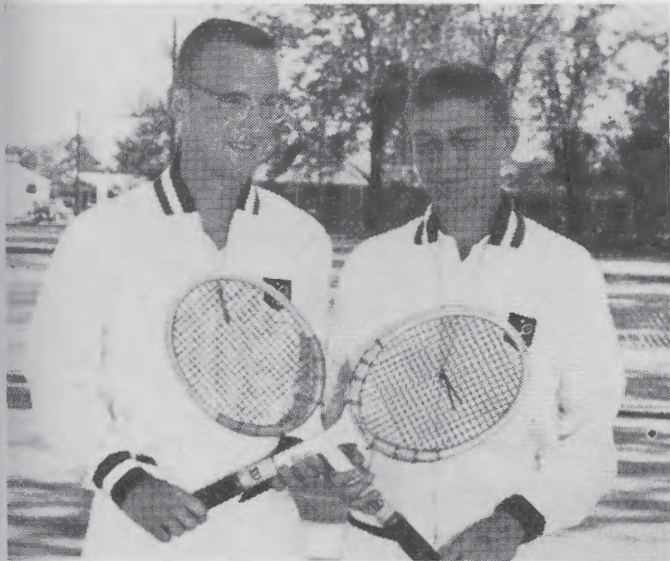

Tracksters Finish In Loop Cellar

Eastern's tennis team was stripped of its share of the IIAC championship, and the Panther golfers escaped the cellar for the first time in eight years, as spring sports teams wrapped up their 1958 seasons at the annual Conference Meet in Normal.

Coach Rex V. Darling's netters were nosed out by Southern Illinois, the Salukis winning by a single point. Illinois Normal, which shared the crown with the Panthers in 1957, finished third, three points behind the leaders.

Dennis Konicki, sophomore from Hinsdale, retained his No. 1 singles title by defeating Southern's Jerry Budzelek, 3-6, 6-1, 6-1.

Other Panthers gaining individual championships were Dick Woodfall, No. 3 singles, and John Whitehead, No. 6 singles.

In doubles action, Konicki and Clark Nelson teamed to successfully defend their division title.

The netters finished the 1958 season with a 9-4 overall record.

In post-season competition, Konicki and Nelson traveled to Beaumont, Tex., to participate in the NAIA national tennis tournament, June 4-7. Both men lost out in first round singles competition. They advanced to the semi-finals in the doubles division.

Eastern's golf team finished the season with a 5-5-1 record and tied for fifth in the IIAC with Illinois Normal. Western Illinois captured the golf crown for the eighth consecutive year.

Wolf Named Most-Valuable

Frank Wolf, who has earned seven varsity letters in intercollegiate sports at Eastern, is the second Panther athlete ever to be named most-valuable in two major sports in one year.

Wolf, a senior from Benson, was voted most-valuable on Eastern's 1957-58 basketball squad and was accorded the honor for the second time by his teammates on the Panther baseball team. He earned three letters playing guard on the cage squad and four letters as a shortstop and outfielder in baseball.

The first Eastern athlete to be awarded the honor twice in one year was Neal Hudson in 1946-47. Hudson, formerly of Olney and now coaching at Sycamore, won most-valuable honors in football and basketball. Wolf has accepted a position as basketball coach and commerce teacher at Sullivan, Ill.

Milholland Takes Position

John Milholland, basketball and track star at Eastern, has accepted a coaching position at Chesterton (Ind.) High School.

Milholland, holder of all individual basketball scoring records at Eastern, will assist in basketball and track and serve as head coach in baseball.

The Westville senior scored 1,655 points during his three seasons of varsity basketball at Eastern to set a new all-time scoring record. He also holds the single-season mark of 653 points, set in 1956-57, and the single-game record of 40 points, set against Illinois Normal in 1955-56.

Milholland has earned three varsity letters in basketball and four in track. He recently won the broad jump event at the Illinois State College Track and Field Meet.

Pacing the Panther golfers to their most successful season in recent years was junior Bob Burgess. Burgess compiled a 147 total in the IIAC meet.

Coach Maynard O'Brien's track team placed a disappointing last in the IIAC meet, as powerful Eastern Michigan, with the invincible Hayes Jones, posted an easy first. Six records fell and one was tied in the Meet.

Dave Fields, junior from Danville, placed second in the shot put, to account for four of Eastern's 13 points.

The tracksters compiled a 3-2-1 overall record in dual meet competition, and finished third in the State College Meet, held at Charleston.

The baseball team finished the 1958 season with a 7-13-1 overall record. Coach Jack Kaley's charges slipped into the IIAC cellar with a 2-7-1 record.

Frank Wolf, senior centerfielder from Benson, led Eastern hitters with a lofty .393 average. Wolf recently had a tryout with the Detroit Tigers baseball team.

Keiser Earns IIAC Honor; Five Seniors Get Blankets

John Keiser, senior from Mt. Olive, was named the recipient of the 1957-58 Interstate Conference Scholarship Award at Eastern, according to Dr. John W. Masley, athletic director.

The award is made annually to the senior athlete in each of the seven conference schools who has the highest cumulative grade-point average. The graduating senior must have earned at least two letters in one sport or three letters in a combination of sports to be eligible.

Keiser, a social science major, earned three letters in baseball and two in football. His cumulative grade-point average, with an "A" rated as four points, is 3.41.

Five other seniors have earned monogrammed blankets, Eastern's highest athletic award. Blankets go to graduating seniors who have been awarded four letters in any one sport or six letters in a combination of sports.

Receiving blankets are Dave Decker, Champaign, four letters in wrestling and one in football; Michael Harvey, Paris, four letters in track and three in cross country; Ed Madix, Tuscola, four letters in track; John Milholland, Westville, four letters in track and three in basketball; and Frank Wolf, four letters in baseball and three in basketball.

Jackets, awarded at the beginning of the senior year, will go to 16 additional Eastern athletes. To earn a jacket, the athlete must have earned two letters in any one sport or three letters in a combination of sports.

Receiving jackets are Don Arnold, Charleston; Jim Becker, Princeton; Ken Christiansen, Rossville; Dave Fields, Danville; John Goddard, Windsor; Ger-

Clipping Recalls Chapel Address By Mr. Lord

In a recent letter to Dr. Chenault Kelly, of Eastern's English department, D. F. Fleming, '12, included a clipping from a Charleston newspaper, reporting on a chapel talk delivered by Livingston C. Lord, Eastern's first President.

Now a research professor of International Relations at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., Fleming was the Eastern Illinois State Normal School reporter for the Charleston Plain Dealer when he was in school.

Following is a reprint of Mr. Lord's talk.

Mr. Lord returned last night from Springfield and spoke on the subject of "Human Nature" in chapel this morning. Some of the things he said follow:

"The most profitable of all nature study is the study of human nature. The study of men is just as practical as making two blades of grass grow where only one grew before, and the reading of good novels, or any other study which betters our judgment of human nature is very practical. Anything which helps us to judge character correctly is as practical as corn judging is. The study of Shakespeare or anything that assists us to know human nature, is worth dollars and cents to us. It is easier to judge corn than to judge human nature, and he who tries to show us how to look into the human soul does more than he who teaches us how to make money.

"The assertion that at the bottom, human nature is sweet and sound, is everlastingly true. It is far better to hold the view that all men are weak than to say that all men are bad.

"It is just as shrewd to discover a latent virtue as it is to uncover a latent vice. Why are people so prone to find faults? Don't always look for faults, and don't think it is sharp to discover defects.

"Most people are honest. Most business men and nearly all doctors are honest. Trust people in the main. Don't think it smart to discover a fault in someone, either mental, moral, physical, or intellectual. Many people will listen to a great lecture and when it is over talk about one word that was mispronounced. Don't hold a cent up before your eye and let it obscure all the rest of the world.

"If you are trustworthy yourself you are not likely to be distrustful. Trust others and most people will trust you. Every chain has a weakest link, but no chain should be judged by that link."

Patridge

He was featured in the Playhouse's production of "The Death of Billy the Kid," last year.

In addition to his television performances and work at the Playhouse, Patridge has had roles in 14 stage plays during the past two years.

Patridge, who won varsity letters in football and track in his four years as Eastern, achieved his greatest success on the gridiron. He played quarterback his freshman year, but was switched to end the next season when Coach Maynard "Pat" O'Brien considered him too valuable to understudy quarterback Ed Soergel.

When the regular fullback graduated in 1950, burly Joe, who stands 6' 2" and weighs 195, was switched to the fullback post, he led the team in scoring for the campaign. He handled the ball 98 times out of the 365 total team carries.

To add to Patridge's personal laurels, he was selected "most valuable player" and honorary co-captain of the 1951 squad.

In 1951, he teamed with Soergel, J. D. Anderson, Dave Cohrs, Jerry Osmoe, and Paul Foreman, under the tutelage of Rex V. Darling, to compile a 4-2-2 record, the most successful Panther effort in recent years.
