Stories from the collection at Leeds Beckett University

Karen Fisher & Rob O'Brien

Showcasing Leeds Art Libraries: Stories from the Collection The Tetley, Tuesday 17th April, 2018, 2-3.30 p.m.

Archive and Special Collections

The Archive and Special Collections of Leeds Beckett University are currently held at the University's Library situated at our Headingley Campus.

We collect, describe and preserve material for future generations while seeking to promote knowledge of, and access to, this rich heritage for educational, professional and research purposes.

The Archive and Special Collections are open to the public by appointment only

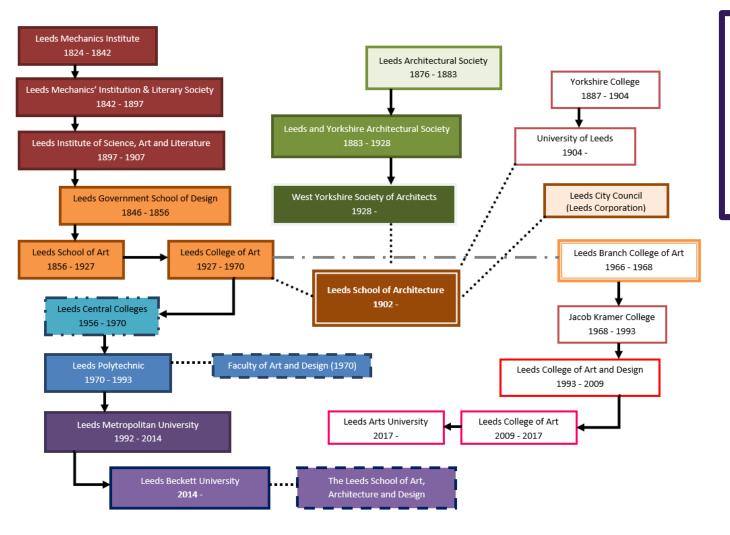

http://libguides.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/archives

Leeds College of Art Archive

- Includes prospectuses, newspaper cuttings, pamphlets and letters
- Collected over a long period beginning in the early 1920s
- Leeds College of Art (1927–1970) grew out of the Leeds Mechanics Institute and went on to become a faculty of Leeds Polytechnic (later Leeds Metropolitan University and now Leeds Beckett University) and Jacob Kramer College (later Leeds College of Art and now Leeds Arts University)

Arts education in Leeds

Diagram created by Keith Rowntree, Principal Information Assistant – Archives

Leeds School/College of Art newspaper cuttings book (1922–33)

Leeds College of Art newspaper cuttings book (1966–73)

Coverage of the police raid of the Lovers and Romances exhibition at the Leeds Institute Gallery in 1966, and the subsequent trial (for obscenity) of Stass Paraskos (student, 1956–58, and, later, teacher at Leeds College of Art).

The Pursuit of The Beautiful-Yes! Even In Leeds.

By Mr. HAROLD H. HOLDEN. A.R.C.A., A.M.C., Principal of the Leeds College of Art.

"To create beauty is within the | If then we all possess this desire for it also. Mr. Holden makes practical ing of the beautiful things of our city,

T HAS often been said "there is ing and the only way to improve it is city would be to imagine which buildto burn it to the ground and rebuild ings we like best. Although only a few it." Such a saying may be amusing but buildings may have been selected and it certainly does not savour of much although one's selection may not be too thought. It is not so much a question good, we have at least begun the process of rebuilding our city, for it is doubtful of analysis and selection. whether we are in such a condition To begin by boldly judging archimaterially to improve upon what has I tecture might seem rather beyond most already been done. Rather is it a of us, but there is no reason why this question for us all to educate ourselves process of analysis cannot be carried out to understand and appreciate what is in the home. good in what we already have, so that we will demand in the future better and ing the useless things about us, we more artistic things. It may be that might start a campaign for simpler, the beauty of our city is of a very low homes, homes containing honest furnistandard and that we have very few ture, pottery that is really useful, and examples of real beauty in our architec- hangings that fulfil their purpose. The ture and streets, but it must be difficulty will always be to free ourselves remembered that in almost every from our previous training and environinstance where a building has been ment, but if simplicity and usefulness erected, the desire of the architect has are made the keynotes of the new order, been to create something that not only these things alone will bring into being answers its purpose, but which, by the a new meaning to the word beauty. judgment and taste displayed upon it, improves the city artistically.

We may say the desire has not always Although, so far, I have only men-power of everyone." And to cherish beauty, let us respond to the finer feelby giving much more thought to them.

One method of bringing about a better nothing in our cirx worth cherish- appreciation of the best buildings of our

By this inexpensive process of destroy-

CREATING BEAUTY

been followed by success. This may be tioned the appreciation of the beautiful,

Yes! Even In Leeds.

1927 newspaper article by College Principal Harold H. Holden, who argues that the citizens of Leeds have the power to appreciate and create beauty.

Holden suggests imagining which buildings one likes best, simple arrangement of household objects, not littering the streets, protesting the cutting down of trees, and asking for more open spaces.

Notification of the appointment of 24-year-old Loris H. Rey as head of the sculpture department in 1927.

MR. DOUGLAS S ANDREWS,
Principal of the Sheffield College of Arts and Crafts, who has been appointed Principal of the Leeds College of Art, in succession to Mr. H. H. Holden, who has been appointed Director of Art Education at Birmingham.

Notification of the appointment of Douglas S. Andrews as Principal of the Leeds College of Art, at a salary of £900 a year, in 1928.

The Observer, in 1973, reports on the absorption of arts colleges into the new polytechnics.

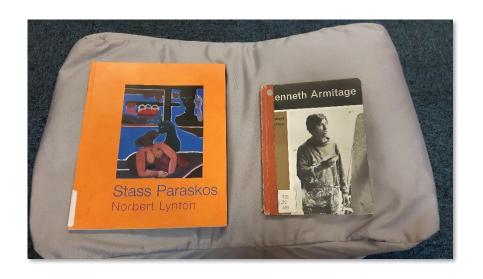

Design lecturers at Leeds welcome the new contacts with engineering and commerce departments.

Fine arts lecturers point out that their retreat has been "invaded by organisation men with their schedules and their committees". Our correspondent wonders if by injecting a sense of humour into higher education the fine artists will "find themselves being tolerated as the court jesters to our modern palaces of technology".

From the Archive: books

Books by Norbert Lynton (1927–2007), art historian and critic, who lectured on the History of Art and Architecture at Leeds College of Art from 1950–61.

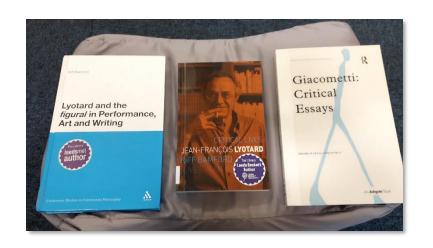

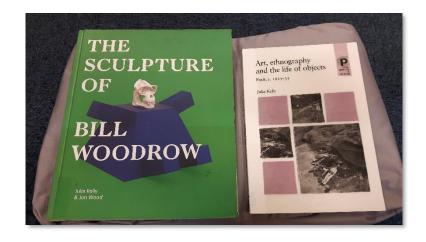

The Library's main collection

Located in the University's Leslie Silver Building in its City Campus, the Sheila Silver Library contains the collections of print books and journals (along with extensive online collections) for the School of Art, Architecture and Design.

Main collection: books

Books, indicating a diversity of research expertise, by current lecturing staff Dr Kiff Bamford and Dr Julia Kelly.

Main collection: articles

Journal of Writing in Creative Practice

Volume 9 Number 3

© 2017 Intellect Ltd Article. English language. doi: 10.1386/jwcp.9.3.237_1

ALAN DUNN

Leeds Beckett University

FOUR WORDS (January, 2016)

Keywords

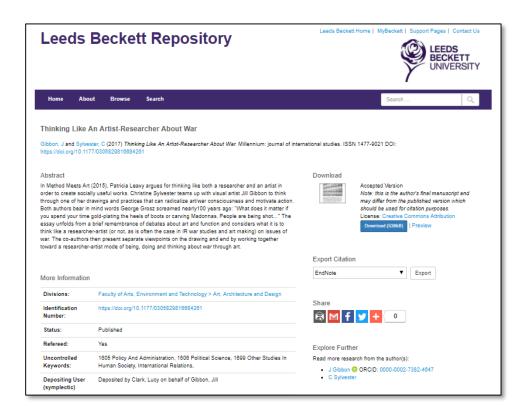

digital billboard curating Liverpool media wall public art FOUR WORDS

Abstract

FOUR WORDS was curated by Alan Dunn in collaboration with Metal Liverpool as part of their series of January urban provocations. FOUR WORDS presented 100 ten-second text animations on Europe's largest digital screen opposite Lime Street Station in Liverpool. Contributions came from local community and youth groups, alongside more recognized practitioners including Gerhard Richter, Shaista Aziz, Douglas Coupland, The Andy Warhol Foundation, Paul Morley and a priest, retired seafarer, radio station and David Fairclough (Liverpool FC striker, 1975–83). See www.alandunn67.co.uk/fourwords.html for documentation of the project. Article by Dr Alan Dunn (Senior Lecturer at the School of Art, Architecture and Design), published in the Journal of Writing in Creative Practice, accessible from the Library's online journal collection.

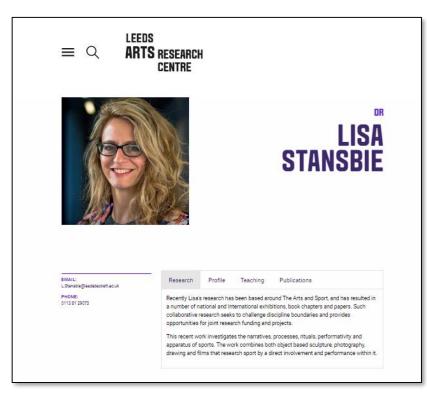

Leeds Beckett Repository

Article by Dr Jill Gibbon
(Senior Lecturer at the School of Art, Architecture and Design) and Christine Sylvester (University of Connecticut) available from the Leeds Beckett Repository.

Lecturer research profile

Profile of Dr Lisa
Stansbie, Dean of School – School of Art, Architecture and
Design, on the Leeds
Arts Research Centre
website.

Contact details

Karen Fisher & Rob O'Brien

Academic Librarians for Art, Architecture and Design

fisher.obrien@leedsbeckett.ac.uk

0113 812 1106 / 0113 812 4240

@LibFisherObrien

