Sir James Ferguson and the Fishery Question.

Salisbury and Phelps hold a Conference.

The Quebec Government have been defeated.

Fifty Thousand 'Longshorem' on Strike at New York.

Crew of Schooner Charles Graham Saved—But Captain Coleridge Lost.

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 29.

Sir James Ferguson, in answering a question on the subject of the fisheries, said that the British Government were conferring with the United States Government on the subject of the Canadian fisheries. He said the present government will follow the example of their predecessors, and will maintain the rights of Canada, with every desire to conciliate the United States. A dispatch has been received of a pacific character, affording material grounds for a final settlement of the dispute. Minister Phelps had a cordial conference with Salisbury.

The Quebec Government have been defeated and have resigned. The majority of the Opposition was eight. Mercier will form the new Cabinet.

Forty thousand men are on strike in New York including 'longshorem' and coal freight handlers.

The crew of the Charles Graham have escaped and only Captain Coleridge was drowned.

CAPE RACE, to-day.

Wind westerly, strong and mild; severe snow storm, but of short duration, raged this morning; changed to rain at noon; clearing off now; nothing sighted.

COFFEE CUSTOMS—When Sir John Malcolm, the famous Indian statesman, was sent as ambassador to Persia, he found much that was interesting and peculiar in the customs of the people. It was astonishing, he said, how much depended upon coffee and tobacco, men being pleased or offended according to the manner in which these things were offered to them. If the visitor were of higher rank than the host, the latter presented the refreshments himself, and did not himself partake of any till ordered to do so. If the rank were equal host and guest exchanged pipes, the former presented the first cup of coffee, and took the next himself. If the visitor were of somewhat inferior rank, he was allowed to smoke his own pipe, and the servant at a certain not, gave him the first cup of coffee; but if he were of much lower rank, the host asserted his position by taking the first cup, and then commanding the servant, by a wave of hand, to help the guest. When a visitor arrived coffee and pipes were called for to welcome him, but a second call for them was a sign that he might leave, though this part of the etiquette varied according to the relative rank and intimacy of the persons concerned. Considering how slowly custom changes in the East, some of these habits probably exist in Persia at the present day.

Pleasant Hour at Athenæum.

THE CONCERT IN AID ST. MICHAEL'S ORPHANAGE.

The concert last night in the Athenæum Hall was a decided success. The committee, as promised, kept the performance strictly within an hour. The hall was not quite full, but a fairly large gathering was present. The seating accommodation was tastefully arranged. In the front of the stage a semi-circular row of chairs was placed; at the middle of the arc of the semi-circle arm chairs were placed for His Excellency and Lady and Secretary, S. W. Bethel, Esq. On either side of the Governor sat some of the prominent men of the city with their ladies, Sir Ambrose and Lady Shea, Sir W. V. and Lady Whiteway, Hon. Robert and Mrs. Thorburn and Miss Thorburn, Rev. J. Brown, Rev. M. A. Fitzgerald, Rev. P. J. Delaney, Rev. J. St. John, Rev. E. Crooke, Rev. W. S. Lalor, and many others. On the entry of His Excellency the Governor and party the audience rose, and Professor Bennett's Band, stationed in the gallery at the rear of the hall, played God Save the Queen. At 8.30 the performance was opened by the playing of the Mikado Overture, by Mrs. Bradshaw and Mr. Hutton. The piece was splendidly rendered, and was finished with a dash, without which all medleys fall flat. "The Moon and I," by Miss Fisher, was beautifully sung, but the graceful fan posing of the fair singer at the Opera a few weeks ago, being left out, it took considerably from the song. "Young man's despair," a trio from the Mikado, by Messrs. Shea, Barron and Dr. Rendell, was sung with fine effect, the voices of the three gentlemen harmonizing well. "Our great Mikado" brought out Mr. Barron's rich bass voice to advantage, the chorus by the company was rich and true. "When the wind bloweth in from the Sea," by Miss Fisher and Dr. Rendell, was one of the best efforts of the evening. The song is plaintive and sweet, and suited admirably the voices of the two singers. Dr. Rendell's singing was evidently his best since appearing in public. The sixth part of the programme was a recitation by Miss Kenny—a flaxen-haired little miss of about twelve years old. The piece given by her was entitled "Somebody's Mother," and was rendered with a clear and slow enunciation, with accompanying appropriate gestures. The rendition elicited bursts of applause. The Maypole dance was the next part of the programme, and was joined in by Misses Bradshaw, Knight, Branscombe, Hutchins, O'Mara and Foran. The little ones, as they tripped it round the May-pole, looked like veritable fairies, in their pretty costumes. Undoubtedly the appearance of the little ones all through was one of the most attractive parts of the performance. "The Storm," an instrumental piece, by Miss Jordan, was the piece de resistance of the evening. Miss Jordan is in the front rank of pianists in Newfoundland. "The Storm" is considered one of the most difficult of pieces; but at Miss Jordan's hands it received full justice. The solo and chorus of "The Mikado," by Mr. Flannery, was sung with fine effect, though Mr. Flannery was just a little flat in the first part. In the second part, however, he redeemed himself and sang in his usual inimitable style. The trio, "Here's a how-de-do," by Miss Fisher, Dr. Rendell and Mr. Hutton, was rendered in the style that produced so much cheering and encoring in the Star of the Sea Hall. One or two more selections from the Mikado closed the performance at 9.20. The amount realized was one hundred and twenty dollars.

CHARITY BALL.

The Ladies of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, at their meeting last evening, decided, in view of the prevailing distress amongst the poor this winter, to have Charity Ball on the 9th Feb., in aid of their funds; and they trust that a generous and charitable public, who always patronized similar entertainments, under the auspices of the society, will again kindly assist for this benevolent purpose.

NOT AMBITIOUS.

A PEACEFUL JOURNALIST WHO DID NOT CARE TO HANDLE A GUN.

The editor of the Rustler, says the St. Louis Whip, having published an article concerning Col. Bowser, which the latter seemed offended at, was both astonished and dismayed to receive a challenge to a duel, signed by the colonel, in which he was offered his choice of weapons, as well as locality.

He did not answer by mail, as he was requested to, but the ensuing issue of his paper contained the following.

"Readers of the Rustler will remember that in our last issue we described Col. Bowser as a man who would not hesitate to rob his father's grave to get the filling from his teeth. We said this in our own innocent way, and merely in the light of a metaphor.

"Had we meant anything of the kind, we would have been deterred from saying it by a knowledge of the fact that Bowser's father had no filling in his teeth, unless they are padded with zinc, as that gentleman died at the county poor farm, and was buried in a dry goods box.

"We were surprised that any one could imagine for a moment that we should distort the facts seriously; we know that the colonel is an expert at thinning out hen roosts when the midnight bells are tolling, but we give him credit for more sense than to dissect a grave for the purpose of securing a few fragments of zinc.

"In regard to the duel, we must say that such a proceeding is not compatible with our moral training. We were raised on the elevating and ennobling atmosphere of a St. Louis boarding house, and we have never known a harsher note than the tinkle of a dinner bell, and never struggled with anything tougher than a buckwheat cake.

"A man who has walked the paths of peace all his life is naturally averse to taking up a shot gun when the snows of fifty winters have whitened his hair. The colonel was raised in the midst of powder and shell, as he worked for 25 years as a porter in a powder magazine, and consequently he knows more about that business than we do.

"We may be accused of cowardice, but will take the chance. People may sneer and look at us with cold, chilling glances, and, perhaps, spurn us entirely; but we would sooner be spurned until the cows come home, and frozen with glances, than found stretched out in a hog pasture with our toes turned to the bleak midwinter heavens and a hole in our bosom big enough to put a gate post in.

"There isn't much glory in being spurned, but we'd rather be spurned and be able to eat three square meals a day than to have our name heralded by paid obituary notices while we lay out in the moist night air, with the silvery moonlight streaming through an aperture in our system.

"If the colonel will meet us in our own back yard, and leave his guns at home, we will endeavor to wear a hole in the ground with him, as we have always been used to wrestling and pounding sand and other healthy exercises, but when he desires us to hold a gun and stand the chance of being filled with powder and gravel, we must firmly, but respectfully, decline."

DINNER FOR SIXPENCE.

A few weeks ago, says a London correspondent of the Albany Journal, a prospectus appeared in the daily papers announcing the formation of an association entitled the British Dinner Company, its object being to furnish the working classes, both in London and the provinces, a good dinner for 12 cents, or sixpence in English money. Passing through Oxford street a few days ago, I found that the first dining room of the company had just been opened, and being familiar with every restaurant in the metropolis of any importance, I ventured to test the humbler bill of fare offered by the new company. For sixpence there was the choice of soup or fish, roast beef, two vegetables and bread ad libitum. Sweets are charged two-pence, and tea coffee or cocoa one penny per cup. The viands are exceeding good and well cooked, and the attendance (by a respectable looking set of girls, uniformly attired in black, with snow white caps aprons), excellent. The meals are served at separate tables on the ground floor, and in the galleries also, which being designated as special, command an extra charge of one penny.

POINTS OF POLITENESS.

In the street—Hat lifted when saying "Good by" or "How do you do?" Also, when offering a lady a seat or acknowledging a favor.

Keep step with any one you walk with. Always precede a lady up stairs, but ask if you shall precede her in going through a crowd or public place.

At the street door—Hat off the moment you step into a private hall.

Let the lady pass first always, unless she asks you to precede her.

In the parlor—Stand till every lady in the room, also older people, are seated.

Rise if a lady enters the room after you are seated and stand till she takes a seat. Look people straight in the face when they are speaking to you.

Let ladies pass through a door first, standing aside for them.

In the dining room—Take your seat after ladies and elders.

Never play with your knife, ring or spoon.

Do not take your napkin up in a bunch in your hand.

Eat as fast or as slow as others, and finish the course when they do.

Do not ask to be excused before the others, unless the reason is imperative.

Rise when ladies leave the room, and stand till they are out.

If they all go together, the gentlemen stand by the door till ladies pass.

A NEW METHOD OF GLAZING SASH.

It is well known that all glass now (both in portable sashes and fixed greenhouses) is simply imbedded in putty and kept in place by glazier's points, no putty being now used on top, as was formerly done. It has been found that when the glass lays on the sash-bar thus embedded the putty soon rots and wears out, and water gets in and not only loosens the glass but rots the bar as well. A most simple plan to obviate this is to pour along the junction of the bar with the glass a thin line of white lead and oil, over which is shaken dry white sand. This hardens and makes a cement that effectually checks all leakage. It is quickly done. I have seen glass, so cemented, that has stood for ten years more without further repair. This plan, which is but little known as yet, is of the greatest importance; had I known of it thirty years ago, I would have saved many thousands of dollars in repairing, besides having the paint under this watertight glazing in better condition.—Peter Henderson.

KILLING AND DRESSING POULTRY.

Food in the crop injures the appearance, is liable to sour, and purchasers object to paying for this worse than useless weight; therefore, keep from food twenty-four hours before killing. All poultry, but more especially turkeys should be killed by bleeding in the neck, and picked while the body is warm; and in no case should poultry be scalded; wet-picked poultry is not wanted, in the market, and will not sell for more than half price. As soon as the poultry is picked take off the head at the throat, strip the blood out of the neck, peel back the skin a little, remove a portion of the neck bone, just then before packing, except in warm weather, draw the skin over the end and tie and trim neatly. Draw the intestines, making the incision as small as possible, and leave the gizzard, heart, etc., in. Pull out the wing and tail feathers clean.

A DROLL PREACHER.

One day a Persian preacher ascended the pulpit of the Mosque and thus addressed the congregation: "O, true believers, do you know what I am going to say to you." "No," responded the congregation. "Well, then," said he, there is no use my speaking to you; and he came down from the pulpit. He went to preach a second time, and asked the congregation. "O, true believers, do you know what I am going to say to you." "We know," replied the audience. "Ah! as you know," said he, quitting the pulpit, "why should I take the trouble of telling you." When next he came to preach the congregation resolved to try his powers, and when he asked his usual question, replied: "Some of us know and some of us do not know." "Very well," said he, "let those who know tell those who do not know."

ST. JOHN'S NEWFOUNDLAND.

En Marchant Road, St. John's, N.F., June 6th, '86. Dr. J. G. BENNETT, Dear Sir—It is now two years and a half since myself and daughter were cured by your treatment. I suffered for years with Chronic Dyspepsia and my daughter had lost her speech, smell and the use of both legs, for which we could get no relief elsewhere. Had it not been for some silly friends, I should have had the treatment long before I did, but I feel now so deeply grateful to think that for the last two and a half years we have remained perfectly well, and that we should not be doing right unless we let people know by publishing it.

Yours faithfully, JOHN MAYNARD.
PARIS, France, Nov. 22nd, 1886.—The Comte De Bourgoine, in a letter of the above date to Dr. J. G. Bennett, says: I am feeling well for your appliances and am happy to give them my distinguished patronage.

A lady at Carbonara, says: Dr. Bennett's appliances cured me of Dropsy.

Dr. Troke, Upper Isle Mote, near Channel, says: Dr. Bennett's Appliances has completely cured my wife of Dropsy. She can walk about at her own ease—a thing she has not done for fifteen years.

A lady well known in St. John's, now at Harbor Grace says: I am better than I have been for fifteen years. It is now some time ago since I called at your house, Lazy Bank Road, St. John's. I believe yours will be the leading remedy when more known.

WITHOUT REASON, WITHOUT ACTION AND WITHOUT SPEECH FOR THREE YEARS.

PUBLICO, Yarmouth, Nov. 17, 1886.—Dr. J. Gordon Bennett, Halifax.—After the remarkable cure you made in your treatment of my son, I would be doing wrong not to make it known to the public. He was confined to his bed three years without Speech or Action. He can now work, has a good appetite and reason returned. Age, thirty years. JOHN UARLAND.
P. S.—Mr. Carland is one of the oldest settlers, is a J. P. and no one better known in the district.
