

Hendrik Spruyt, Norman Dwight Harris Professor of International Relations at Northwestern University, presented "Contracting States: Incomplete Contracts in International Relations" on Friday, March 13, 2009, at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies.

Graduate students and faculty posed questions and provided feedback about Hendrik Spruyt's working paper "Contracting States: Incomplete Contracts in International Relations."

Erin Graham (right), Ph.D. Candidate in Political Science at The Ohio State University, speaks with Hendrick Spruyt (left), Norman Dwight Harris Professor of International Relations at Northwestern University, and Alex Wendt, Ralph D. Mershon Professor of International Security. Graham was the lead discussant for Spruyt's paper presentation.

Assistant Professors of Political Science Sarah Brooks (left) and Alex Thompson (right), organize the Globalization, Institutions, and Economic Security (GIES) workshop series. Hendrick Spruyt (center), Norman Dwight Harris Professor of International Relations at Northwestern University, was the second presenter in the 2009 GIES series.