INTRODUCTION

OVERVIEW

The Alaska Criminal Statute Cross-Reference Guide was created by the Alaska Justice Statistical Analysis Unit (SAU) to be a computerized reference for Alaska's criminal statutes. The Guide is located on the Justice Center computer network and can be accessed using the askSam¹ computer program. Hard copies are also available through the SAU for manual use. The purpose of the hard copy is to inform researchers about the Guide's contents. It is not meant to be used as the primary means of locating information since the electronic version is more efficient.

The Guide provides a cross-reference between Alaska Criminal Statutes and NCIC, UCR, AK-OBTS and BJS codes. Also included in the Guide are brief annotations of each statute. Each state statute, cross-reference and annotation constitutes a single "record."

The SAU generated the cross-references using past editions of the Alaska Peace Officer's Association Field Manual, the Alaska Department of Public Safety's Conversion Guide, materials from the Bureau of Justice Statistics, and the current NCIC, UCR and OBTS manuals. (All of these resources are also available in the SAU for further analysis and assistance.)

AskSam is an information storage and retrieval system through which key words anywhere within a document can be accessed without using fieldnames. The Guide contains fieldnames because they make reading the entries easier, not because they are necessary to find a particular record/statute. For example, if you are looking for the NCIC code for AS 04.11.010, simply type "04.11.010" at the QUERY request line and all references to that statute will appear including the specific statute of that record containing all the corresponding codes and the annotation.

It is also possible to type key words at the QUERY request line and all records with that word (or phrase) will be retrieved regardless of where the word appears in the record. For example, if you wish to look up statutes containing the word alcohol, type "alcohol" at the QUERY request line. All records which contain "alcohol" will appear on the screen. AskSam also allows you to sort by field numerically or alphabetically and to arrange the records in any format.

UNDERSTANDING THE FIELDS

A basic description of each field is given below. Please see the references listed at the end of this introduction or contact the SAU for additional information.

1. AK-STATE-STATUTE

The Guide contains the complete Alaska Criminal Statutes including supplements and will be updated periodically. The first edition of the Guide was published in May, 1990. Some of the statute numbers in the Guide have additional numbers or letters added to the original statute number. These were added to differentiate between sub-sections in the statute. The cross-reference codes and annotations are unique for each sub-section of the statute, should this be appropriate.

The listing of each statute by its relevant subsections allows the assignment of corresponding codes more specifically. The statute numbers ending in alphanumeric characters are subsections, while the numbers ending in "NS" (non-specific) denote the entire statute to include each subsection. Statutes ending in "(OLD)" are statutes that have been repealed, but have been included for research purposes.

Some Alaska Administrative Codes (AAC) and other statute titles have been included at the end of the listing, in order to correlate with the Department of Law's PROMIS translation, and are assigned appropriate codes.

2. TITLE

The descriptive titles were taken directly from the statutes except when further explanations were needed to clarify the differences between the degrees or sections. Accordingly, some descriptive titles were slightly re-worded in order to reflect these variations.

3. TYPE

The TYPE field indicates the classifications assigned by the legislature for violations of the statutes. These classifications were taken directly from the statutes, and where the statutes did not specify the type, this information was obtained from the Legislative Information Office. Unless otherwise specified by the statute or the Legislative Information Office, a penalty of one year or more in prison was assumed to be a felony.

Alaska's Criminal Statutes can be broken down into the following categories. These have implications for the type or length of sentence which can be imposed, which sometimes is "presumptive."

Level of Seriousness		Class
Felony	U	-(unclassified) most serious felony
	A
	B
	C	-least serious felony
	F	-(the class is not specified in the statute)
Misdemeanor	A	-most serious misdemeanor
	B	-least serious misdemeanor
	M	-(the class is not specified in the statute)
Violation	V	-not broken into sub-classes
Infraction	I	-not broken into sub-classes

Some statutes can have multiple classifications and also multiple levels of seriousness depending on the circumstances of the case. Whenever a statute can have these multiple designations it is indicated. For some statutes the class of the offense is not specified and therefore the general seriousness level is the only indicator.

4. UCR

The codes in this field reflect the F.B.I.'s Uniform Crime Report (UCR) code (and title) for use in completing the "Return A" form (offenses known to the police). This is the primary form used for the F.B.I. annual Crime In The U.S. report.

5. NCIC

The National Crime Information Center (NCIC) offense codes are often used in reporting crime at the national level because they allow a degree of comparability between the states. For example, federal standards for OBTS reporting require their use.

A common problem with attempting to convert state statutes to NCIC codes is that many of the states' statutes describe behavior which does not fit neatly into the established NCIC codes. As a result many states, Alaska included, are forced to use the "free text" category for many offenses and thus lose the detail which distinguishes one type of offense from another. Roughly 50% of our statutes are given "XX99" (free text) codes. The NCIC TITLE field corresponds with the codes assigned by the National Crime Information Center and the National Drug Consortium.

The National Drug Consortium has created additional NCIC type codes for certain drug related offenses, and these non-standard codes are indicated by an asterisk (*). Most of the National Drug Consortium codes would have the official NCIC designation of "3599-Drug Offense (free text)."

6. ARB

These codes and their titles were created by Dr. Allan R. Barnes, Director of the SAU, for use with the Alaska Offender-Based Transaction Statistics (AK-OBTS) database. These codes collapse NCIC codes into conventional offense categories, i.e. homicide, assault, rape, burglary, etc.

7. BJS

These codes and their titles were created by the Bureau of Justice Statistics to aid researchers in collapsing all NCIC codes into four broad categories, i.e. violent, property, drug and other.

8. ANNO

The ANNO field provides a basic description of each statute and alerts the reader to important additional information, such as alternative codes used by the Department of Public Safety. The ANNO field for those statutes with an "NS" suffix summarizes the entire statute. For a complete description see the official Alaska Statutes.

For access to the askSam database version of the Guide or a hard copy, please contact Allan Barnes at the UAA Justice Center by phoning (907) 786-1810.

CONVERSION TABLES

To aid researchers in the use of the Guide, the SAU has prepared "Conversion Tables For Use With the Alaska Criminal Statute Cross-Reference Guide and the Alaska OBTS Database." The purpose of the "Conversion Tables" is to allow users of the Guide to quickly convert statutes to their corresponding codes manually. The tables are sorted by statute, NCIC, UCR, ARB and BJS codes. Also included are appendices that show which crime each code represents. The CONVERSION TABLE is also available in hard copy from the SAU.

NOTE:

Approximately 95% of the Alaska Criminal Statute Cross-Reference Guide was funded by the Bureau of Justice Statistics, U.S. Department of Justice from a $50,000 grant to the Alaska Justice Statistical Analysis Unit.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This has been a long and involved process for the SAU, and its success is due to the dedicated individuals who have contributed their talents over the years. James Messick was the first to begin the process of translating state statutes to NCIC codes. Lydia Heyward, Marcia Reed, Serena Partch, Christine Kendrick, Darren McShea, Richard Curtis, Amy Dellinger and Rhonda Horn have all contributed. Teresa Sexton, however, was largely responsible for creating the Guide in its present form. Hers was a truly herculean accomplishment. The current SAU research assistant is Julie Watson who has pushed the quality of our efforts even higher. As always, I accept full responsibility for any errors or omissions. Please give me a personal call at (907) 786-1819 if you feel that I have made an error, no matter how slight.
