

Telling this story, because I'm feeling very vulnerable, but I think vulnerability is fine. It's kind of weird that we think so much about ourselves, when we're all just a cog in a machine, I know that sounds kind of deep, but it really hits home with you. Realize how small a human being is. Part one done.