

Asian Social Science 2015 vol.11 N11, pages 193-197

Structural changes in Russian economy and objectives of investment policy

Toumashev A., Toumasheva M., Valeev E., Miasnikov D.
Kazan Federal University, 420008, Kremlevskaya 18, Kazan, Russia

Abstract

© 2015, Asian Social Science. All rights reserved. Issues of Russian economy development in the period of economic reforms, tendency of sectorial structure change of national production on different stages of market reformation, reductions of production volumes of advanced technology products in the industries with a high value added are examined in the article. The influence of government policy on the state finances of Russia is considered, the criteria applied for the estimation of reforms realization success are exposed. The analysis of lack of internal credit resources reasons in an economy, forming of national and corporate external debt, and also strengthening of technological dependence of the Russian producers on foreign partners and insufficient stability of the Russian economy in a global competition is conducted.

<http://dx.doi.org/10.5539/ass.v11n11p193>

Keywords

Economic development, Government economic policy, Investment Policy, Russian economy, World crisis