1. Overview

This research report updates DFE-RR235 – Pupils not claiming free school meals. The main objective is to present the most recent estimates of the number of pupils who are entitled to receive free school meals (FSM) but are not claiming. This new report uses Tax Credits and Benefits data from Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs (HMRC) for December 2012 along with statistics from the Department for Education's School Census for January 2013. It outlines the data used, how the statistics vary from the previous year and provides a table outlining registration rates at local authority (LA) level.

1.1 Terminology

- Entitled to FSM – if pupils live in a household that is claiming at least one of the qualifying benefits the pupil is judged to be entitled to FSM
- Registered and claiming FSM – These pupils meet the entitlement criteria and register at the school to claim their FSM. This is reported in the School Census and described in DfE publications as “known to be eligible for and claiming FSM”.
- Under-Registration rate – This is the number of pupils who do not claim FSM, even though they live in a household that claims at least one of the qualifying benefits, as a proportion of those who are entitled. It is calculated by the formula given below:

$$\text{Under – Registration rate} = 1 - \frac{\text{Number of Eligible (claiming) pupils}}{\text{Number of Entitled Pupil (HMRC)}}$$

1.2 FSM Criteria

As of December 2012 the qualifying benefits that allow a pupil to claim free school meals were:

- Income Support
- Income-based Jobseekers Allowance
- Income-related Employment and Support Allowance
- Child Tax Credit (provided the claimant is not also entitled to Working Tax Credit and has an annual gross income of no more than £16,190)
- Support under Part VI of the Immigration and Asylum Act 1999
- Guaranteed element of State Pension Credit

Any pupil who lives in a household that claims one or more of these benefits are defined as Entitled to FSM.

1.3 Data

The data from Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs (HMRC) gives the number of all 4 to 15 year-olds who live in a household that claims one of: Income Support; Income-based Jobseekers Allowance; Income-related Employment and Support Allowance or Child Tax Credit (who are not also entitled to Working Tax Credit and have an annual gross income of no more than £16,190). This covers 99% of the pupils entitled to free school meals. The information is produced at local authority level from a 10% sample (approximately 2.4m records), and covers December 2012.

The School Census contains records of all pupils in maintained schools as of January 2013. The number of pupils who claim free school meals is recorded and this report uses the number of pupils receiving FSM for each local authority as calculated by the pupil's home address.

2. Differences from 2012

Under-registration has fallen overall from 14% in 2012 to 11% in 2013. This is due to a decrease in the number of pupils entitled to free school meals between 2012 and 2013 as estimated by HMRC, while the School Census shows a slight increase in numbers claiming.

The local authority figures from HMRC (number of entitled pupils) for these 2013 statistics are of a better quality than the data that was supplied for the 2012 version. For local authorities with low numbers of children entitled to FSM, the 2012 data would slightly underestimate the total number of entitled pupils. This is no longer true for the 2013 data. National and regional totals are unaffected by these changes.
