

STATEMENTS/STELLINGEN bij het proefschrift

"LIVING THE LIFE: prostitutes and their health"

Claire E. Sterk

- * Although written documents are papers that frequently disappear in piles, one can not ignore their importance. The constitution --in itself not more than paper-- regulates many aspects of life.
- * The services of a counselor are sufficient for a person who has a problem with one human being. The person, however, who has problems with all human beings needs more help than is available.
- * If the fall of socialism and the expansion of capitalism mark the end of history, we should ask ourselves what history is all about.
- * In the country of the blind the one-eyed woman is the queen, but it is the seeing-eye dog who wears the imperial crown.
- * An efficient way to get over boredom is to do anything, even if this means thinking about being bored.
- * Sometimes survival takes precedence over principals, and in so doing one saves one's life.