Introduction

When using the Greek-English Lexicon of Liddell-Scott-Jones (LSJ), readers face the problem that many citations of the early Greek poets are to editions which are out of print and have been superseded by works which give different numbers to the fragments. Although their comparationes numerorum provide helpful 'back bearings' to the earlier editions, they do not constitute a convenient method of linking from citations in LSJ. In addition, users of the Thesaurus linguae Graecae (TLG) CD-ROM may have no access to them.<sup>1</sup>

Yet LSJ remains the most widely-consulted Ancient Greek dictionary. It would therefore be useful to have a unified way of linking its citations of the poets to the modern editions. This listing undertakes the task. The authors and works covered are summarised below, grouped approximately by genre.

Lyric and iambic poets:

Mappings are given for Alcaeus, Alcman, Anacreon, Archilochus, Bacchylides, Callimachus (Aet., Epigr., Hec., Hymni, Iambi, fragments), Carmina popularia, Corinna, Hipponax, Ibycus, Ion, Lyrica adespota (in Page PMG listed as Fragmenta adespota), Philoxenus, Pindar (Paeanes, Parthenia, Dithyrambi), Praxilla, Sappho, Scolia (Carmina convivalia in PMG), Simonides, Stesichorus, Timocreon, and Timotheus. Pratinas and the Carmina Anacreontea are not listed, since the LSJ numbering is retained in modern editions.<sup>2</sup>

Epigrams:

Epigrams by lyric and iambic poets are included with their other fragments. Citations from the Anthology (AP, APL., and App.Anth.) retain the same numbering in most modern editions, apart from the collections of Gow & Page and FGE. An appendix links the LSJ numbers to these volumes.

Bucolic and elegiac poets:

Poets are not listed if their LSJ numbering is retained in modern editions. These authors include: Callinus, Demodocus, Mimnermus, Moschus, Semonides, and Theocritus.<sup>3</sup> However, references are given for Theoc., Beren. and Syrinx; and mappings are given for the fragments of Solon and Tyrtaeus which differ in West IEG, and for the minor poems and fragments of Bion. The division of Theognis into Books 1 and 2 is also given.

Epic fragments:

Citations of Cypria, Epigoni, Il.Parv., Il.Pers., Nosti, and Titanomachia are quite rare in LSJ, but all the fragments are mapped, as are the Homeric hymns. For Hesiodic fragments, readers are directed to the concordance in Merkelbach-West.

Comic fragments:

While most fragments of Aristophanes and Menander have the same numbering in LSJ and TLG, much new material has been discovered, and fragments have been extensively renumbered in modern editions. References are given here to Kassel-Austin's PCG III.2 (for Aristophanes) and VI.2 (Menander).<sup>4</sup> For Menander, mappings are given for line numbers of plays which are named in LSJ, and for fragments which appear in Sandbach.

<sup>1</sup>Citations in Montanari's GI - Vocabolario della lingua greca and the Diccionario griego-español (DGE) often correspond to those in LSJ, but cannot always be so matched.

<sup>3</sup>The fragments of Callinus, Demodocus, Mimnermus, and Semonides are collected in Bergk II and IEG II; and those of Moschus and Theocritus in Wilamowitz Bucol. and Gow.

<sup>4</sup>The other Attic comic fragments are collected in PCG II, IV-V, and VII, with adespota in VIII (comparationes with Kock I-III). Doric fragments are in PCG I (comparatio with Kaibel, pp.333-5).

Philosophical fragments:

LSJ cites from Diels Vorsokr. or PPF.<sup>5</sup> As the same numbering is retained in Diels & Kranz and KRS, it is not given here. The editions are, however, cited in the bibliography.

Tragic fragments:

LSJ citations of Aeschylus and Sophocles have the same numbering in most modern editions, so these are cited, and mappings are given to Diggle TrGF Sel. Mappings are also given for citations of Aeschylus from Weir Smyth AJP, and, for Euripides, from Arnim to Page (Select Papyri), to Bond, and to Diggle (Phaeth).

Reader notes:

- 1) This map is primarily designed to be used for reference when consulting LSJ. It does not, therefore, always give a full listing of each poet's fragments. Individual lines are sometimes given when citations are restricted to those actually appearing in LSJ.
- 2) Authors are cited by the abbreviations used in LSJ, and reattributions are listed under the heading of the author as given by LSJ (notably including many reattributions from Simonides). Authors and works are additionally identified by their numbers in the TLG Canon, to avoid any possibility of misidentification.
- 3) LSJ citations are always listed in the leftmost column, and numbers of the modern editions to the right.
- 4) Marginal numbers are given for fragments in LP. Numbers in PMG are given firstly as those at the head of each fragment (which correspond to the TLG citations), and then as the running numbers in the margins (cited by most editions, including the revised edition PMGE). For Alcman, the first author in PMG, these numbers are the same.
- 5) Double citations are used in two other circumstances: where TLG cites Athenaeus by Kaibel rather than Casaubon number, and Eustathius by volume and page (rather than margin) numbers of Stallbaum.
- 6) Volume numbers are given in Roman numerals. The formatting of letters indicating sub-fragments corresponds to that in the relevant edition. In citations of modern editions, however, line numbers follow commas, so "112, 10" indicates fragment 112, line 10. The abbreviation adn. (for adnotatio) denotes the note to a fragment, rather than the text.

Context and acknowledgments

This map was collated by comparing the editions cited by LSJ with the texts and comparationes of the modern editions. Citations were further checked, and reattributions discovered, with the help of the TLG CD-ROM (E).

Professors Colin Austin and James Diggle and Dr Martin West generously gave of their time to read drafts of the document, and their comments have enabled me to make substantial improvements.

The project was undertaken as part of the development of an electronic database of lexicographic 'slips', designed by Professor Jeffrey Rydberg-Cox of the University of Missouri at Kansas City, for an Ancient Greek-English lexicon being written at Cambridge University under the editorship of Dr Anne Thompson.

Most citations in LSJ are from Nauck, and retain the same numbers in TLG (as work 020). They include most of the passages in Diggle Phaeth. (many of which also appear as TLG work 023).

Frr. collected in CCL have Nauck numbers in the text and apparatus, and follow Diggle for Phaeth. Some recent frr. are published in Austin. See the complete editions by Kannicht, who generally follows Nauck numbering, and by Jouan-Looy (who cite the numbering of Kannicht and Mette E.).

Frr. are organised here in four groups: from Nauck to Diggle, Hyps., other named plays, and plays cited only in the LSJ Authors and Works listing.

Hymns 2-5 are always cited by name, as below, though h.Ven. is once referred to as h.Hom.5, and there is a citation of 'h.Hom.5.19' which actually refers to h.Hom.6 (for glukumeilichos).

h.Hom.1 and 6-33 are cited as such, though 1, 7, 8, and 19 are also cited by name, as below:

h.Ap. (ad Apollinem) Hymn 3h.Bacch. (ad Bacchum)almost always Hymn 7 (explicitly so at 'h.Bacch.7.1'). Men. = MENANDER Comic.

TLG 0541

Plays are collected in Sandbach (whose 2nd edition gives an appendix of recent fragments, pp.341-56) and Arnott.

Pompella gives a glossary of words from Sandbach and Koerte II. Editions of individual plays include Jacques (Aspis, Dyscolos, Sam.) and Martina (Epit.).

LSJ citations are organised here in six groups:

1) Men.Epit.[etc., line...] = Passages of named plays from Koerte, with line numbers matched to Sandbach, with TLG work numbers (note that numbering is from Koerte, not Koerte I). Arnott generally follows the numbering of Sandbach, except for Mis.
