

Article

An Innovative Approach of Minimizing Uncertainty of Sediment Load Boundary Conditions for Modelling Sedimentation in Reservoirs

Sardar Ateeq-Ur-Rehman <sup>1,*</sup> , Minh Duc Bui <sup>1</sup> , Shabeh ul Hasson <sup>2,3</sup> , and Peter

Rutschmann <sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Chair of Hydraulic and Water Resources Engineering, Arcisstr. 21, D-80333, Technical University of Munich; sardar.ateeq@tum.de (S.A); bui@tum.de (M.D.B); p.rutschmann@tum.de (P.R)

<sup>2</sup> CEN, Institute of Geography, University of Hamburg; shabeh.hasson@uni-hamburg.de (S.H)

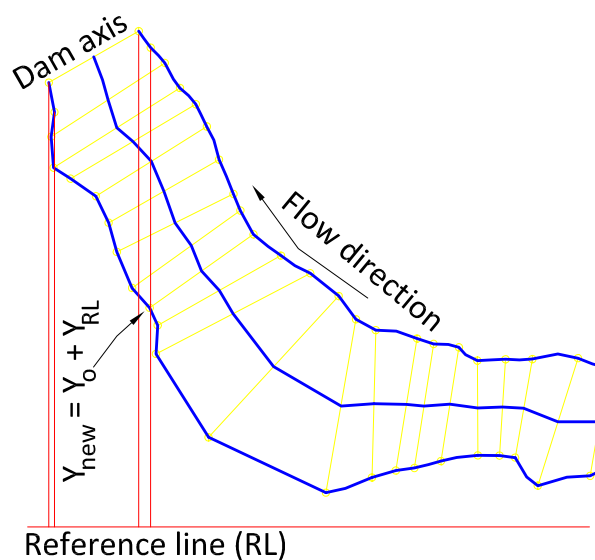

<sup>3</sup> Department of Space Sciences, Institute of Space Technology, Islamabad, Pakistan

* Correspondence: sardar.ateeq@tum.de; Tel.: +49-89-289-27161; Fax: +49-89-289-23172

Academic Editor: name

Version October 9, 2018 submitted to MDPI

1. Supplementary Material

Figure S1. Transformation of Tarbela Reservoir Sedimentation Survey's local coordinates to global coordinates (Cartesian coordinates system) using AutoCAD Civil 3D 2018

© 2018 by the authors. Submitted to MDPI for possible open access publication under the terms and conditions of the Creative Commons Attribution (CC BY) license (<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>).