Viscount Grey Wants Ireland Herself Composed

LONDON, Nov. 24—While the House of Commons was engaged in an important debate of the Irish situation this afternoon, the House of Lords returned to the discussion of the Home Rule Bill, Viscount Grey, former Foreign Minister, being the first speaker to take the floor. Grey declared the real cause of failure in obtaining a settlement was the differences of opinion in Ireland itself. Until these differences were composed, he asserted, there could be no settlement and the Bill before the Lords, to put it mildly, had not made the difference less. It had conciliated Ulster, Viscount Grey said, but had brought southern Unionists and Nationalists into opposition.

ASQUITH SAYS STOP REPRISALS

Urges Resolution To Bring About Peace.

LONDON, Nov. 24—The eagerly awaited debate in the House of Commons on the Irish question was inaugurated this afternoon when former Premier Asquith, leader of the opposition, moved his resolution expressing abhorrence of the recent Dublin assassinations, the condemnation of reprisals and urging the taking of immediate steps to bring about Irish pacification. The motion was a composite resolution combining Independent Liberal and Labor motions and sponsored by Asquith, Donald MacLean, Arthur Henderson, Asquith amplifying the subjects set forth in the resolution, condemned what he terms the Government's policy of reprisals which he said had driven moderate Nationalists opinion in Ireland into an attitude of not of sympathy with, at least of supine indifference to an- other Irish people and of the Crown break action. The former Premier declared there was only one way for all.

Tables Turned on Asquith And His Motion Rejected

LONDON, Nov. 25—An amendment by Col. John Ward converted Asquith's motion into an expression of admiration for courage and devotion of Crown Forces in Ireland. This was later adopted by three hundred and three to eighty three, and the motion as thus amended was adopted by acclamation amid ministerial cheers.

LENGTH OF ANIMAL LIFE

Man is a Privileged Being in This Respect.

Domestic animals seldom attain the age that nature allows them, writes Jean Henry Fabre in the Story Book of Science. We grudge and do not give them proper shelter. And then we take from them milk, fleece, hid, flesh, in fact, everything. How can you ever grow old when the butcher is waiting for you at the stable door with a knife. Useless to speak to these poor victims of our need, to give us long life, they do not live out their time. Supposing that an animal is well treated, that it suffers neither hunger nor cold, that it lives in peace without excessive fatigue, without fear of knacker or butcher; under these good conditions, how many years will it live?

A dog, at twenty or twenty-five years, can no longer drag himself along; a pig is a tottering veteran at twenty; at fifteen at the most, a cat no longer chases mice—it says goodbye to the joys of the roof and retires to some corner of a granary to die in peace; the goat and sheep, at ten or fifteen, touch extreme old age; the rabbit is at the end of its skein at eight or ten, and the miserable rat, if it lives four years is looked upon among its own kind as a prodigy of longevity.

The pigeon may live from six to ten years; the guinea fowl, hen and turkey, twelve. A goose lives longer; it is true that in its quality of goose it does not worry. The goose attains twenty-five years, and even a good deal more. The goldfinch, sparrow, birds free from care, always singing, always frisking as happy as possible, with a ray of sunlight in the foliage and a grain of hemp-seed, live as long as the gilt-tonous goose, and longer than the stupid turkey. These very happy little birds live from twenty to twenty-five years.

As to man, if he leads a regular life, he often lives to be eighty or ninety. Sometimes he reaches a hundred or even more. But should he attain only the ordinary age, the average age, as they say, that is about forty, then he is to be considered a privileged creature as to length of life. And, besides, for man, my dear children, length of life is not measured exactly according to the number of years. He lives most in the work of spreading Bolshevism who works most. When God calls us to Him, let us take with us the simplest cere esteem of others and the consciousness of having done our duty to the end, and, whatever our age, we shall have lived long enough.

SOVIET RUSSIA'S WIDESPREAD PLOT TO PENETRATE U.S.

Spy and Courier System Surpasses that of Former German Staff.

25,000 AGENTS.

United States Moving to Check Gigantic Campaign.

ROTTERDAM, Nov. 9.—Determined efforts are being made by agents of the Russian Bolshevick Government to send "missionaries" and agitators to the United States, according to evidence collected by United States diplomatic officials in Europe. The spy and courier system for the Moscow Government is said to have been developed to an efficiency and extent superior to that of the German general staff before the outbreak of the war, and on lists of Soviet agents are said to be the names of many men who, before 1914, acted as spies for the Central Powers of Russia.

Against this campaign the United States has arrayed its agents and officials at foreign ports. Associated with them in Holland are the Dutch police, who have in their possession documents showing that Lenine, the Soviet leader, looks to Rotterdam as a "world clearing house" for Soviet finance and propaganda. Huge index files have been filled with the names and records of upwards of 25,000 Bolshevick "missionaries."

New passport regulations have been adopted and difficulties await the Bolshevick agitator who attempts to secure a visa from a United States representative. Despite these regulations and constant vigilance it is believed some Bolshevick agents have in the recent past succeeded in finding means to cross the ocean. Scores are thought to have shipped as seamen on board trans-Atlantic liners. Certificates have been secured by various means and it is said a brisk trade is carried on in stolen or counterfeited certificates as well as fake passports. Clever alterations and forgeries have been detected by officials whose duty it is to examine the papers of travellers wishing to visit the United States.

Attempts are made to secure places in ships' crews for Bolshevick agents, and often outright bribery is tried. An attaché of a United States consulate recently was offered the equivalent of $250 a day if he would assist in getting through to the United States six Soviet agitators daily. Stewards of liners are declared to have sometimes yielded to alluring offers for hiding Bolshevick agents on their vessels during trips across the Atlantic. Failing to get passage to a port in the United States, the Bolshevick try to reach Canada, whence they can easily get across the border. United States authorities abroad are said to have advised Washington that many Soviet couriers are believed to have sailed from here to Canadian ports recently.

Men of virtually every nationality and of every profession are engaged in the work of spreading Bolshevism who works most. When God calls us to Him, let us take with us the simplest cere esteem of others and the consciousness of having done our duty to the end, and, whatever our age, we shall have lived long enough.

He Talked Wildly About Ireland and Was Expelled

THE PRESIDENT OF THE AUSTRALIAN IRISH LEAGUE PUT OUT OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

LONDON, November 12.—President Mahon of the Australian Irish League, has been expelled from the House of Representatives for a wild speech, describing the situation in Ireland as a "saturnalia of murder, arson and plunder by a foreign army of occupation."

The motion to expel Mahon was made by Premier Hughes, who maintained that the speech was incompatible with the oath of allegiance.

According to a cable to the Times, Mahon, who was elected as a labor member, had previously told Premier Hughes that he could go to the devil, and the house could do what it liked.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 11. Mr. Mahon, labor member of the house of representatives, and former postmaster of Australia, has been expelled from the house on motion of the premier who charged disloyal utterances at a demonstration in behalf of the late Lord Mayor MasSweeney of Cork. The vote was 34 to 17.

The Christian Brothers Collection

Sir.—After the announcements in the Cathedral and other city churches, Sunday last, as well as kindly references in the press on Monday, it would seem superfluous to remark that the annual collection for the Christian Brothers will take place on Sunday next. Nevertheless, most of us, especially those who formerly were pupils at St. Patrick's Hall and Holy Cross, look forward with pleasurable interest to this annual event. The collection affords all, ex-pupils and Catholic people generally, the opportunity of paying a small portion in deed of the debt due these splendid educationists and benefactors of a large and important section of the public; and enables one and all to show some appreciation of the noble work performed in past years and still being conducted and amplified by the Brothers as time progresses. Any former pupil viewing in retrospect the activities of the Christian Brothers in St. John's must be imbued with an intense feeling of gratitude to the former teachers and with a sense of security for the educational well-being of the present and future generations of the people to whom the Christian Brothers have in a very special manner devoted their lives and to help whom they give unstintingly of the great talents with which they are endowed. And this feeling of gratitude must be extended to the deserving institution which made possible their advent. I refer to the Benevolent Irish Society, which erected and endowed the Monastery of Mount St. Francis as well as the splendidly equipped class rooms in St. Patrick's Hall and at Holy Cross. This retrospective view will also suggest to the thoughtful philosophic past-pupil some other considerations which will increase the feelings of gratitude, respect and esteem which we all must entertain for these educators of our youth. Before their arrival in 1876, I think it was, education, at least amongst the poorer classes of the Catholic population, was at a low ebb indeed. A few private schoolmasters, earnest men all, and some of them, erudite though they were, held classes in their own homes, lacking many necessary educational facilities and handicapped by the embryonic conditions generally prevailing at the time; one of the most difficult of which to overcome, was an apathetic attitude towards educational improvement. But with the coming of the Brothers, in a very short time there was a complete metamorphosis, an educational stimulation which had surprisingly beneficial results. In a few short years the talented Rev. Brother Holland, who had as his associates learned men like Brothers Prenderville, Mitchell, O'Hurley, Toland and others, began sending out young men who were fitted for commerce, the professions, and avocations generally which earned for most an independent competence and for many, both at home and abroad, that regular expert service in public, professional or commercial life which ensured them a future of ease and affluence. One can imagine what the fate of those beneficiaries of the zeal and charity of the Brothers must have been had they (the Brothers) not been introduced into Newfoundland at this opportune period. Only people possessed of ample means could properly educate their sons and the less fortunate masses, but for the Brothers, would have been condemned to spend their lives in the most servile and poorly awarded avocations. Another feature, generously conceded, was the effect which the new impetus to educational effort introduced by the Brothers, had on the people of other denominations. It impelled them to revise their methods, so that to-day all classes if they have not achieved the educational ideal, are at least immeasurably in advance of what they were some 45 years ago. And the good work of the Brothers, who have gone to their reward, is being perpetuated by the gentlemen now here, men like their revered predecessors of the highest attainments. All one can do is to wish them God speed and all future success in the work to which they have devoted their lives. With them it is a labor of love and whether their tenure of life is long or short, they ask no recompense, they look for that, and surely will receive it, in a brighter, happier sphere. They ask merely for a subsistence and as an earnest of our gratitude, if for no better reason, we will accord them that. Let Sunday's collection then be a tangible proof of the esteem in which these kindly gentlemen are held by all, especially by their past pupils, old and young, so that an aggregate will be gleaned at the churches which will afford all pupils extreme satisfaction and these benefactors of the people, the comforting knowledge that they are highly appreciated in St. John's. The enthusiasm of the past pupils and the well known generosity of the people should be a combination sufficient to make the collection of 1920 a record one, away ahead of even last

Wesley Church Sale

The Wesley Methodist Church Ladies' annual sale was opened yesterday afternoon by R. A. Templeton, Esq., in the basement of the church. Mr. Templeton was very happy in his remarks and as usual made a splendid speech. He congratulated all concerned on the splendid efforts that had been made by the ladies of Wesley Church and exhorted those present to patronise the sale to the best of their ability. He hoped that during the sale many others would come along to show their appreciation of the efforts of the ladies. He declared the sale open amid much applause. During the afternoon much purchasing was done and from 6.30 till the close the tea tables were very much patronized. Splendid high teas were served by the ladies in charge and during the evening many patrons outside of the Wesley Congregation were noticed among the gathering. The sale and teas will be continued this afternoon and evening and another opportunity will be given for those who have the welfare of Wesley Church at heart to prove such by their support of such a worthy cause especially the members of the congregation who worship at the church under whose auspices this sale and tea is held. At 8.30 this evening a concert will be held when the leading musical talent of Wesley Church and also some from the outside will take part in helping to further the work of the ladies. We congratulate Mrs. (Rev.) Bugden, the President of the Aid, and her assistants on the success attained last night and bespeak for them even greater success this afternoon and evening.

Lieutenants Reid and Lance Hayward looked after the ball room arrangements and a splendid programme of dances was gone through, which was thoroughly enjoyed by those present. During the interval supper was served by the following ladies under the supervision of Mrs. Herbert Outerbridge, Mesdames T. A. Hall, F. Alderice, J. R. Bennett, I. F. Perlin, Angus Reid, R. B. Rob. House Breaker Sentenced

At 2.30 a.m. yesterday Wm. Coady of Holyrood was awakened by hearing a noise at his bedroom window and proceeding to investigate found a man just in the act of raising the sash evidently with the intention of entering. Immediately under the window was a small table in one of the drawers of which was $180 in cash. Had Mr. Coady not been aroused the marauder would have had a nice haul. He made a quick getaway but Const. Matt Grouchy was on the job early and, by 10.30 a.m. had jailed the right man. He pleaded guilty before Magistrate O'Toole at noon and received a well deserved 3 months in the penitentiary. Const. Grouchy brought the prisoner here last night.

Last Night's Concert by Cartwright Mission

The annual concert of the Cartwright Mission Circle under the direction of Mrs. H. W. Stirling, took place in Canon Wood Hall at 8.15 o'clock last night. There was a large attendance and an enjoyable evening was spent. The following programme which was well rendered by the performers and heartily received by the audience was gone through.

1. Duet—U. Noel and P. Pitcher.
2. Recitation—T. Noseworthy.
3. Song—M. Martin.
4. Recitation—M. Grouchy.

12. Recitation—L. Noseworthy.
13. Recitation—M. Taylor.
14. Song—G. Oke.
15. Playlet—The Girls.

The playlet which was given as the last item was a very pretty act, illustrating how by means of a dream a little girl's indifference to mission work was speedily overcome. The principal parts were taken by Misses Mina Brown, Maud Oke and Marian Cooke and great praise is due these young ladies and the other performers for the manner in which they acquitted themselves. In passing special mention must be made of the very pretty tableau presented at the conclusion of the playlet, which was a very fitting close to such an enjoyable entertainment.

POLICE COURT

Two young men charged with attempting to break into the Club Rooms of the employees of the Ropewalk a few nights since and who were arrested yesterday, were tried by Judge Morris this morning. One of the two gave evidence which the Judge cautioned him was bordered on perjury. He fined both $20.00 or 30 days, it being their first offence. Up to noon the fines had not been paid.

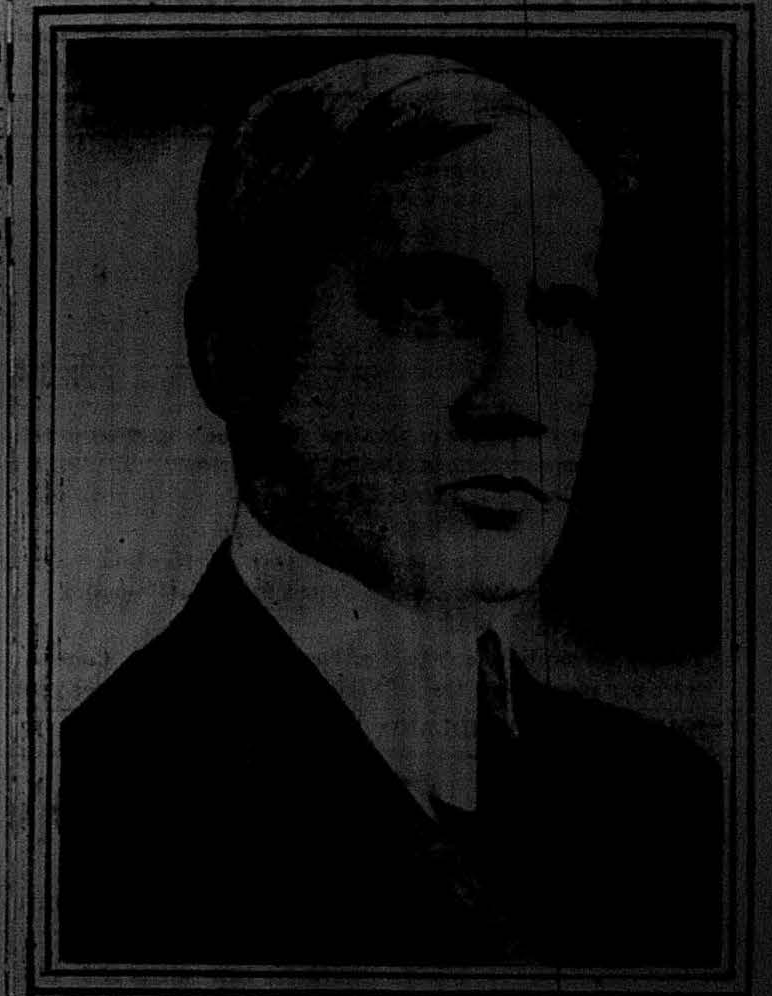

ANOTHER FATAL ACCIDENT

A message to the Justice Dept. from William Mitchell, J.P. of Sound Island, P.E., states that Alex. Gilbert, son of Wilson Gilbert, of Swift Current, was drowned on the night of the 23rd inst. while skating on the ice. The body has been recovered.
This is the second accident of the kind to be reported within a few days. Yesterday boys and girls could be seen skating on Burton's Pond and other nearby ponds. Parents, and even the boys and girls themselves, should realize that there has not been sufficient frost yet to make ponds safe. Wait a few days and avoid accident. A suggestion to the Inspector General might be in order and that is that he detail a few of the younger men of the force to visit the nearby sections during afternoons and evenings and see that careless youths and wild maidens are deterred from rushing into dangerous places, such as ponds covered with the thin skid of ice now on them.

F. P. U. CONVENTION

Advices from Port Union are that the Convention will not open until to-night. The day, however, will be taken up with meetings of the shareholders of the different Union companies and probably some district meetings.

On Friday night, the Convention will be addressed by the Rev. Dr. Jones, Rev. W. W. Cotton, D.S.O., of Elliston, and Dr. Barnes, Minister of Education.

Coaker Gets the Praise

The Telegram completely threw up the sponge yesterday and admitted that Coaker was the means of getting the fishermen $8 for Labrador fish. Whilst admitting that fact, however, its chagrined editor simpers that the Tory bunch is very much wronged when the "Advocate" and "Star" charge them with an endeavour to force prices down to the starvation mark. There is no need for the Telegram or any of its brothers in political iniquity to explain away their conduct regarding fishery matters. Their blue-ruinist campaign has arrived to such corrupt depths that the least observing can discern the very devilry behind it all; and, during last week, the whole gang of political pirates were caught red-handed at their work, and are now relegated to a position from which no amount of camouflage will remove them.

Whatever they choose to say, it is only necessary for the fishermen to remember this fact: The Tories wanted to fool them for their own political benefit. They offered them $10.50 for their fish if there were no regulations. They then refused Coaker's challenge of $9.00 and they even told the fishermen to sell for $7.00, but they would not buy at that figure.

But the fishermen got $8, through Coaker. The anti-regulation bluff was called, and yet that personification of consistency, Mr. James, contends that the fishermen should get more than $8. The Advocate contends that $16 would not be too little, considering the high cost of living, but if conditions warrant a higher price than $8, why did not the anti-regulation merchants pay $9; or why did they refuse $7? Let the Telegram answer.

Further showing the insincerity of the Telegram, that paper says in one breath, "Coaker rose the price of fish because of Wednesday's meeting"; and then, when he gets his second wind, he hollers, "Coaker rose the price of fish because the Convention was opening in Port Union." Which is it, Mr. Telegram? Well, anyhow, COAKER ROSE THE PRICE OF FISH! There is no contention on that score; and if the Convention caused the rise to $8, "Three cheers for the Convention!"

But, James suddenly gets wise and thus saith: "When the Convention closes fish may drop. We do not say that present prices will drop simultaneously with the closing of the Convention, but there is a prospect that they may."

Words of WISDOM drop from JAMES, as rain out of a blue sky!

The fishermen can see the Tory game; but they won't be caught in their clutches.

MORE FLOUR FOR NORTHERN CENTERS

The S.S. Clyde arrived here early this morning and immediately began loading a cargo of Union Flour for centres north, part of the 25,000 barrels which Coaker has to supply northern fishermen. Come on 231 James. Here is another opportunity to object to taking the Clyde off the route. Get your big Three together—steam up the Fern and the Edmund Donald and help feed the fishermen of Trinity, Bonavista and Notre Dame Bays—not forgetting White Bay. Capt. Abe Kean is interested in St. Barbe, put him on the bridge. He's rich and will invest some of his surplus wealth. Be good boys now, Mr. Charlie, the two Johnnies and Sir P. T. Call the contest of prevaricators off for a while, say until Christmas—will do you three good and may do the people you profess to serve some good also.

We would thank any subscribers having in their possession Weekly Advocates for April, May and June to forward to the Union Publishing Co., Duckworth St., St. John's.

Insult Upon Insult is Put on Fishermen by the Telegram

The "Telegram" repeated last night a gross insult to the Fishermen in one of its vulgar paragraphs.

There was no notice taken of the insult when it appeared first, but last night in its editorial columns the "Telegram" came out flat-footed in a spite article and informed all and sundry that all who supported Coaker were fools who would never have any sense. The "Telegram" acknowledges that Coaker would be elected in Bonavista Bay, but puts this as the reason: "There are some d—d fools who will never have any sense knocked into them."

That is at once a tribute to the loyalty of the fishermen to Coaker and an insult that will be resented by every fisherman, not only in Bonavista Bay but throughout the Island.

It will be bitterly resented by the delegates who are now assembled at the F. P. U. Convention at Port Union. They will not hesitate to condemn the Telegram for its vulgar abuse, but will remember that nothing better can be expected from a paper which printed a libellous and grossly insulting article last fall in which the North is spoken of as the most ignorant and bigoted section in the country, because it backed Coaker. The Fishermen remember also how when Capt. Jones, member for Twillingate, drew attention to this article in the House of Assembly, the Telegram overstepped the mark completely in its reply to his remarks, and went to wing in a general outcry against the audacity of a fisherman having any opinion on the matter at all.

These things rankle in the minds of the Fishermen, and they turn with greater loyalty than ever to the man who is spending his life to make conditions better for them. They have seen that the "Telegram," aided by letters said to come from Mr. A. B. Morine's office, has attempted a campaign to injure Coaker in the eyes of the toilers. They have witnessed the great fight of last week, in which Mr. Coaker has whipped the whole Tory bunch into silence. They see that the despicable attempt to bring Labrador fish down to $5 has failed and now find even the Tory bunch paying their eight dollars per qtl.

And they see how angry the "Telegram" and its abettor are when fishermen are described in such choice language as "d—d fools," "with no sense."

The Fishermen have shown the Tories what sense they have, and they are prepared at any minute to express their opinion again, at the polls. They will never be "fools" enough to take the lead of the Telegram-Morine faction and can well afford to laugh at the hysterical abuse of those who have been brushed aside in the triumphant march of the Fishermen's Great Friend—W. F. Coaker.

The Tories' Horror of Helping the Fishermen

(To the Editor)
Dear Sir,—If you will permit me I will use a portion of your space in addressing, through the Advocate, a few rambling thoughts on the mental turpitude of the "Daily News" and the "Telegram" these days. The depraved and vicious campaign which those Tory destructionist journals have been waging against the Colony's best interests and welfare for months past having been foiled by the fishermen's champion leader, Mr. Coaker, these yellow scribblers are now attempting to crawl back on the side of an outraged public by professing their anxiety and voicing their horror, that the Government has given, or may give, assurances that Labrador fish is worth $8.00. I ask, is it not safe business and the highest form of statesmanship to see to it that the finances required by the Trade to purchase it are put into circulation?

An assurance or guarantee that has been or may be given the banks is to me of little concern. Personally I know of none. But, this much I will assert, without fear of successful contradiction, that it would be criminal negligence on the part of any Government to sit back and allow the market value of our staple product—codfish—to depreciate in value $3.00 or $4.00 a quintal, if by giving such a guarantee as has buy, sell or work for a living, are benefited: business activity gives place to commercial stagnation, and everybody is happy.

Again I put the question, is not this form of governmental aid preferable to the assistance which the Tory organs shouted from the hill-tops would be necessary this Fall and Winter—when relief works would have to be started to enable the people to tide over a hard winter?

Every fisherman and working man in this country prefers to live independent of Government assistance. That $8.00 Labrador fish is essential to give the producers a fair and only a living return for their season's work is also recognized by every sane and reasonable business man, and that Coaker has turned the trick is also a verity.

Messrs. Currie, James and Sir P. T. will I fear, have to bottle up their fears as to just how the wheels of commerce have been greased so as to move smoothly along. Don't worry, ye men of little faith, and believe me this old country is moving along into calmer waters and forward to renewed prosperity and contentment.

From a British Miner's Wife

THE KIND OF HOME SHE WAS PROVIDED WITH.

The British miner has forced the British Government and the mine owners to install baths for him at the pitheads, and he is happy. His wife has not yet obtained to any extent, what she has been clamoring for—a family bath at home. During one of the many conferences on better housing in the neighborhood of the British collieries the wife of a miner described conditions in her type of home and the remedies for them demanded by her class.

Her house, she said, had one living room, which served as well as a kitchen for cooking and a dining room for eating. A family of six sons and their father came home from the mines each night. They sat down at once and ate in their miner's clothes, with their blackened hands and faces. There wasn't room upon the stove, she added, to get supper and heat water for their washing at the same time.

There was no facilities for this bathing, no privacy. It had to be done in the kitchen-living room, with the wife at her dishes and the younger children under foot; and the men took turns at it in a basin set upon a chair. Some of them were so tired that they fell asleep before it came their turn. When did the woman folk bathe? Well, in the middle of the day, in the kitchen, if their work was done, and none of the children were sick, or they were not too tired.

"Bay Man" Also Notes the Insult

On its editorial page of yesterday, the Telegram had this to say regarding Bonavista Bay Union men: "There are some d—d fools who will never have any sense knocked into them."

This is another insult added to the number which the "Cornwall" Morine clique have hurled in the faces of the men who support the Union and Coaker.

The phrases "too green to burn," "silly asses," "deluded creatures" and "low creatures of the baser sort" have now been replaced by a few diction, which the more keenly applied to men of the James calibre.

It is sufficient to say that Mr. Coaker occupies his present high position both in the F. P. U. and in the commercial and political life of this country, through the confidence and support of the fishermen. He defeated Morine in Bonavista District last fall because he had the fishermen at his back. Coaker's vote was 3732 against 155, polled by Morine. The individual who himself was ignominiously licked, in Burgeo and LaPoile expresses the opinion that there are not 1500 Union men in Bonavista Bay; but the public can rest assured that James knows as much about Bonavista Bay as he knew about Burgeo and LaPoile.

when he was nominated as a Cash-in candidate for that district.

There were 3732 voters who backed Coaker, and if there are less than 1500 F. P. U. men in the district, as James avers it goes to show that Coaker has not only the confidence of Unionmen but of non-Unionists as well, and that Morine has the confidence of neither.

The idea may appeal to James that, after all, the "Cornwall" man was a weak opponent. His record was against him, his insulting tongue was against him and the "Greenspond" letter was not an over creditable document; and it is just possible that James, himself, might have swung the district, and as per the Telegram of yesterday might have knocked some sense into the heads of some of the "d—d fools in Bonavista Bay."

Well, this individual might try a trip North when next he fares abroad. It will be farther away from the West, but he will secure the opinion of the men whom his paper has so wantonly insulted; and he may think twice before allowing the Telegram sheet to be soiled by effusions of such a de-based nature.

THE LABRADOR BOUNDARY

Tuesday's public despatch from London contains the announcement that the long standing boundary dispute between this country and Canada to determine the territorial rights of both countries, has finally been submitted to the Privy Council for settlement. The Hon. Mr. Warren, our Attorney General, puts the case concisely when he says "It is a case of most historical importance; almost incalculable wealth in water power, forests and mineral property is in dispute and the territory makes possession thereof a question of tremendous importance."

Mr. Warren, K.C. in conjunction with the Prime Minister, Hon. R. A. Squires, assisted by eminent English counsel, have been actively engaged during the past three months preparing the Colony's case. In their hands we feel that every interest of Newfoundland has been safe guarded, and when our case is finally adjudicated upon by the Privy Council, Newfoundland will have reason to be proud of the manner in which our rights in Nfld.-Labrador have been settled for all time. This boundary question, besides being a bone of contention between us and the sister Dominion, has been a prolific source of income to the legal gentlemen who have held office (and some who have not) for the last half century. Everybody will be heartily glad to learn that the end is at last in sight.

Belgian Flour Market.

Prospects for Importation at Present Are Not Encouraging—Wheat and Flour Still Under Control

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 30—The prospects for importation of flour into Belgium are not encouraging. At present wheat and flour are still under government control, and all purchases are made through a New York firm. As Belgium has some large and important mills, the policy of the government is to buy wheat mostly, and only very small quantities of flour from time to time.

From information obtained during a recent visit to the Belgian markets, it seems most probable that, when wheat and flour are decontrolled, the import duty on flour will be reimposed, under much the same conditions as existed in pre-war days. The policy of the present Belgian government is to do all it can to protect and build up its own industries, therefore it is only natural to suppose that the Belgian mills will receive protection against the imports of foreign flour.

Now that the Holland market is free from control, those firms in Belgium which import flour can sell their imports in Holland, and considerable business is being done in the export of flour from Antwerp, but owing to certain public demonstrations against the return of Germans into Belgium, the German government, as an act of reprisal, is buying as little as possible through Antwerp, obtaining supplies through Rotterdam instead.

There is no country in Europe that is recovering more quickly than Belgium. The nation is working hard, and the people seem determined to re-establish their industries and commerce as quickly as possible. The Belgian people appear to be contented, and no trouble has occurred through large strikes. Towns and villages that were damaged during the war are rapidly being reconstructed, as are also the railways, and as one travels through the country he is impressed with the way in which the land is tilled and with the number of people working it. C. F. G. RAIKES.

FOURTH RED CROSS ROLL CALL

STILL the GREATEST MOTHER in the WORLD

MATE'S NARROW ESCAPE

While the schr. Admiral Drake swung to her moorings in the fairway Tuesday her mate, Mr. Thomas Carroll, had a narrow escape from drowning and but for his strength as a swimmer, might have lost his life. He was out standing on one of the ice covered jib boom stays stowing away some gear when his feet slipped and he went overboard. The vessel, flying light, presented a high hull to the strong wind and the fall he received, and which caused him to hit the chains hurt him severely about the body. A high tide ran and no boats were about quick enough to reach him. He is a good swimmer and had to go a considerable distance to get the chains of another vessel anchored in the stream. These he caught and some of the crew who saw the man in the water near the vessel swimming for life were ready to receive him, and throwing a bight of a rope to him he quickly fastened it to himself and was drawn on deck, receiving the kindest treatment on board. He was laid off at his home for the rest of the day through the effect of the chill of the water and the injury received and is now getting better. It he was not a good swimmer he would have quickly drowned.

A QUICK RETORT

A conversation occurred in an uptown store this morning between an Advocate man and a keen critic of the Government. "Well," said the latter, "times are pretty bad ain't they? Men are being laid off everywhere in Nfld." "Coaker times are hard times," "Well," said the pressman, "we read of 4,000 men being laid off at Sydney and thousands of others in other parts of the Dominion of Canada, of course you ascribe that to Coaker also. He is a wonderful man according to your verbiage, because we're not by our lonesome in matters of depression. If Coaker can rule the destinies of Nfld., and influence those of Canada also, whether for bad or good, he must be a man of some ability." The other made no retort and the hearers of the conversation laughed heartily.

GREAT REFINER STILL ON WATCH

Consoling Message To Those Left Behind.

(Hamilton Spectator)
"It seems to me that in these days we need a great deal more of worship and silence, so that we may get the strength to do really great work," declared Very Rev. Daan Derwyn T. Owen, in the course of an earnest address delivered during the service and sacred recital which marked the second anniversary of the signing of the armistice, in Christ's church cathedral last night.

"It appears to me rather inappropriate to make any sort of an oration on an anniversary such as this is," he told the very large congregation which filled the church to capacity. "Since the signing of the armistice there have been very many orations delivered—some great and helpful, and others not so great or helpful. Nothing steadies a man more than coming into the presence of God and praying deeply. I take it that the congregation here gathered have come seeking help and strength from God.

"I want just to say a word about God and suffering—God and loss—God and the inexplicable. In many hearts here to-night I know that there is a little cry over that loss—a loss which touched us all during the years of the war. That loss was our gain. Some who might have been here, and of the work they might have done for Canada. But we are thinking, too, glad thoughts of them—the work they did for Canada when they died."

"He shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver, and He shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver, that they may offer unto the Lord an offering in righteousness," was the text from which the preacher spoke. Of suffering and loss, which had long ago been probed to the depths of man's capacity, Dean Owen said that he would say nothing new. But when he thought of suffering, he thought of the story of the silversmith who took out from the furnace a once rough and discolored piece of metal so smooth and perfect that he could discern his image in it.

Still on the Watch.

"I shall leave with you that thought. The Great Refiner is still on watch. It is a great thing to remember on a night like this that things do not happen to men and women by chance. And one of the many good things about the Christian religion to remember is the fact that our Refiner went through the fire Himself. Things that really seem a hindrance are often really a help. We found that out in the war, when retreats turned out to be in really advances. And so in every life to-day—the flames that leap above the silver serve to make it bright and pure.

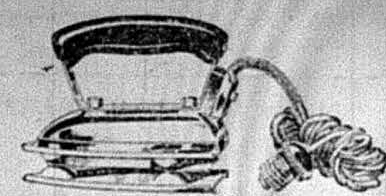

"So there is a purpose in the things that happen to men and women. If men and women believe that God has a purpose and a plan, I think that they are free from the bitterness that weakens life. There is a purpose in hardship—in the things we cannot understand. That purpose is that we should become like him. There is wisdom, sympathy, purpose and progress in the things that happen to us. God still purges and purifies men and women."

CELEBRATION AT MOUNT ALLISON

On Armistice Day: Tribute to Founder of Institution.

SACKVILLE, N.B., Nov. 12.—Mount Allison University celebrated simultaneously, Founder's Day and Armistice Day with ceremonies well befitting the occasion. The program for the day opened at 10.30 a.m. with a procession headed by the Regents of the Institution, followed in order by the relatives of the Founder, Professors, Alumni, Alumnae, visitors and students, who marched in solemn order to Fawcett Memorial Hall where the morning's program was followed out. The services were opened with the march from Alma, by Verdi played by the University orchestra, followed by the anthem, "Lift Up Your Heads," sung by the Choral Class. Responsive prayer was then led by Rev. B. C. Borden, D.D., President of Mount Allison University. Chairman Rev. George Steel, D.D., with a few appropriate remarks, introduced the principal speaker of the day, the Hon. Justice Russell, D.C.L. of the Province of Nova Scotia, and a graduate of Mount Allison, who in an eloquent address, paid a glowing tribute to the Founder of the Institution, Charles F. Allison.

At the close of the ceremony, the procession again formed and proceeded to the cemetery, where each member, in passing, uncovered, dropped a spray of evergreen upon the grave of the Founder.

In the afternoon, the Board of Regents met in the Board Room of the University residences, in their semi-annual session, and among other matters of pressing importance, discussed plans for the promotion of the half million dollar endowment campaign to be held some time during the month of February.

For some months, the Board of Regents has considered a short-period intensive campaign for the raising of funds to provide an endowment with which to carry on the good work of the Mount Allison Institutions. The financial statement of the University shows the imperative need for a more adequate endowment if the extension program proposed is to be carried through during the next few years.

It has been pointed out that with the constantly increased cost of maintenance, it is practically impossible to even continue on the present basis of operations unless the cost of tuition was increased and this step is one that will not be countenanced by the Regents governing the Institutions since the primary purpose of Mount Allison is to supply the means of acquiring a higher education particularly to those lacking great financial resources.

The actual date of the intensive campaign was selected and it was decided that the week of February 7th to 14th should be set aside as Mount Allison week, by the various conferences and districts of the constituencies served by that institution. This embraces every Methodist Conference and District within the Maritime Provinces and the campaign will be carried on as extensively in the more remote quarters of the provinces as in those adjacent to the University for it is from Mount Allison that the majority of the Methodist pastors of the provinces have received their theological training.

ONE OF THE GREATEST BLESSINGS OF HER LIFE

St. John Woman Says She Has Not Been Sick A Day Since Tanlac Restored Her Health A Year Ago.

"No one ever comes into my home without hearing me talk about Tanlac for it has been one of the greatest blessings of my life," declared Mrs. George A. Dunham, a life-long resident of St. John, N.B., who lives at 71 Lombard Street.

"For sixteen years I have suffered awfully from indigestion and during the last five years have been getting worse rapidly. I kept on giving up things I could not digest until there was hardly anything left I could eat. I was growing weaker fast and often became so faintly I couldn't stand up. All the time there was a bloated, distressing feeling in my stomach and my heart would beat so fast I just had to struggle for breath. At night, especially, I felt like I was smothered and was often afraid to lie down for I thought I might suffocate. I have suffered all my life from constipatation and frequently had such severe headaches that I had to go to bed. My back ached awfully and I was getting worse in spite of everything I could do.

"About a year ago I began taking Tanlac on the advice of a friend and in just a few days I felt lots better. In less than two months I was free from all my troubles and I haven't been sick a day since. My appetite and everything I eat digest perfectly. I have gained a lot in weight and can do my housework without tiring one bit. I will never have anything but praise for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, in Musgrave Harbor by T. W. Abbott, in Badger's Quay by John T. Hackett, in New Perlican by E. J. Green, in Point aux Gauls by Edgar Hillier, in Dildo by Samuel J. Pretty, in Glovertown by Daniel Burton, in Old Perlican by Moses Bursey, in Lewisporte by Uriah Freak, in Holyrood by William Coady, in Morton's Harbor by A. W. Brett, in St. Brendan's by Wm. A PORK BARGAIN

We are quoting the Trade a very low price on the 150 barrels of Family Back Pork we have in stock. It is the finest cut from the hog, being made from rib backs cut crosswise into about five pieces. It is vastly superior to Ham Butt and costs about ten dollars a barrel more, though to clear we are offering it at a great deal less.

Ayre is heard in support of the application, and reads affidavit in support of same. J. G. Higgins for defendant consents to the order going as asked for. It is ordered accordingly. In the matter of the petition of John J. Rossiter of St. John's, Commission Merchant, alleging that Charles W. Johnson, of St. John's, Baker, is insolvent.

R. John Co. for $456.73. That on the 15th day of June, 1920, he wilfully made or caused to be made, a false statement of his business with intent to conceal the state of his affairs. COMMON TO ALL

(The Editor Evening Advocate)

Dear Sir,—I have been interested in noting that what some of your critics describe as a "sugar blunder" of the F.C.B. is duplicated in other lands. For instance England is still making her people pay 24 cents a pound for sugar, as she had bought heavily of high-priced sugar. That country is also increasing the price of bread not alone because of dropping the bread subsidy, but because she had stocked up with high priced wheat.

You will notice also that the Canadian Refiners and large sugar dealers in the United States, stand to lose scores of millions of dollars because they judged sugar was not coming down in price. This should be ample proof to the people that if the Food Control "blundered" it was a "blunder" that all the great countries and all the biggest handlers of sugar made throughout the world.

It is with sugar as with practically all other commodities just now: Money is being lost in all countries because of decreasing prices. Dry goods will sink a great deal of money for many firms here. It is a period in which all should co-operate to make the best of the situation. Let us work together and I believe another twelve months will find us thankful we had passed through these trying times, which will have brought us to normal.

Thinking this would be interesting to your readers, I am,

Yours truly,

CITIZEN,
St. John's, Nov. 25th, 1920.

The First Question

A startled cry rings out in the silence of the night, as someone discovers the house is on fire. Soon despite the efforts of the gallant firemen, the house is destroyed, and the first question is: "Is it insured?" Suppose it was your house, what would the answer be? If in the negative, why not see me about a policy?—Percie Johnson, The Insurance Man.

WEDDING BELLS

KENNEDY—COSTIGAN.

Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Convent Chapel of Our Lady of Mercy, Military Road, Mr. Rivlyn Costigan of Bell Island, and Miss Lilian Kennedy, of St. John's, were united in the bonds of holy matrimony in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. The Rev. Fr. Savin, cousin of the groom, performed the ceremony. The bride, who was costumed in orchid satin with white fox fur and pearl necklace, looked charming and was given away by Mr. Bert Channing. Miss Margaret Bearn, who was very pretty in a rose velvet costume and black picture hat, acted as bridesmaid, while the groom was supported by Mr. Ralph Burnham, of Bell Island. After the conclusion of the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of Mrs. J. Channing, Theatre Hill, the aunt of the bride, and usual toasts were proposed and honoured. The groom presented the bride with a rope of pearls, and the best man and bridesmaid with a signet ring and silver mounted handbag. The presents were handsome and many, testifying to the high esteem in which the young couple are held by their large circle of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Costigan left by the evening train for Holyrood where the honeymoon will be spent, after which they will proceed to Bell Island, their future home. The Advocate joins in wishing the newly wedded couple many happy years of conjugal bliss.

MISSING SCHOONER SAFE IN PORT

During the past few days much anxiety was felt for the safety of the schooner Helen M. Gould, which left Pettit Forte for this port nearly two weeks ago. The Marine and Fisheries Department were asked to make enquiries as to the whereabouts of the schooner and all the different telegraph offices along the coast where the schooner might shelter, were asked for tidings of the missing vessel but no information was received. Yesterday morning the vessel's owner at Merasheen wired for information in connection with the schooner, but news of the Gould was had until yesterday evening when it was learned that the vessel was safely berthed at a West End pier discharging her cargo of fish. The schooner arrived here on Sunday morning last and Captain Houlihan and his crew were unaware that there was so much trouble and worry being experienced on their account, however, "alls well that ends well."

The express with the Kyle's mails and passengers is due here at 5 p.m.

GOOD SEA BOATS

To the Editor of Evening Advocate.

Dear Sir,—A short time ago I saw in one of the catch-ery Tory Rags something in reference to the ships "Daisy" and "Watchful"; that they were white elephants and were not good sea boats. Mr. Editor, I state as one who has personal knowledge and for the benefit of those outside of the city, that this is a low, contemptible action and an insult to the present Government and also to Hon. W. F. Coaker and without foundation, for two better boats could not have been secured. As for the Daisy, this little ship certainly proved a seaworthy boat only a short while ago when towing a disabled ship in a storm from Trepassay. I refer to the S. S. Bassan U.S.A. I think also the captain and crew of the Bassan can endorse this. I thought, Mr. Editor, I could not let this pass unnoticed. I like to give credit where credit is due.

Thanking you for space, I beg to remain,

Sincerely yours,

L. M. K.

Loses Arm at Sydney

Yesterday the relatives of Mr. Martin Hickey, of Outer Cove, received word from Sydney that he had met with a serious accident which would in all probability cause him the loss of an arm. Mr. Hickey was a sailor on Messrs. Job Bros. schooner Netherton which is loading coal at Sydney for this port, and from the information received it seems that he got his arm entangled in one of the ship's winches with the result that it got badly lacerated. He was immediately taken to hospital and everything possible is being done to save the injured limb. The injured seaman left here with Capt. Faulkner early in the month to join the Netherton, and it is very unfortunate that he should meet with such a serious accident.

WILL COME AGAIN

By the express to-day Messrs. Lindsay Crawford and T. R. Donovan left for Toronto via Sydney. Mr. Crawford's excellent lecture on the Irish situation will be remembered for years. Both had a hearty send off from all the representatives of the Irish and Irish-Newfoundland citizens of St. John's who were in force at the railway station. Both gentlemen expressed the pleasure they felt at the hearty reception given them and the kind treatment received at the hands of all classes here. They intend to return again in August next (D.V.) and only regret they could not stay longer in the capital of Terra Nova.
