20th Annual Presentation Of Immortal Handel Oratorio

The Orpheus - Apollo Choir and the Kankakee Community Church Choirs presented Handel's immortal "Messiah" in two performances on Sunday, December 11, 1955.

Featured as soloists in the 20th annual presentation of the oratorio were Helen Greenlee, soprano; Naomi Larsen, alto; Daniel Liddell, tenor; and Bruce Foote, bass.

Although this was the 20th annual presentation by the Orpheus Choir, it was the first time that the choirs of several of the churches of the Kankakee area had participated. The choirs of College Church, First EUB, Central Christian, Immanuel Baptist, First Baptist, St. Paul's Episcopal, First Methodist, First Nazarene, West Side Nazarene, First Presbyterian, Trinity Methodist, Bradley Methodist, and Bradley EUB were represented in the community group. They augmented Orpheus-Apollo in the last three choruses of the program.

The audience at each performance was an overflow crowd, estimated at more than 1,000 persons.

For many years, the lack of a suitable auditorium in campus necessitated using the First Methodist Church of Kankakee for the presentation. This year, it was a distinct pleasure to be able to hold the performances on campus—in our new College Church building.

The Spirit of X-mas

It's on store windows, you'll notice it in the shops, the papers are filled with it, the billboards emblazon it, the merchants cash in on it, the kids get the most from it—but there is little lasting virtue in it.

The "Spirit of X-mas." This thing begins before Thanksgiving and ends in the middle of January.

Store windows say "Merry X-mas"—come in and buy our merchandise." The shop advertisement says "Merry X-mas—big party all night, fun for all." The newspapers say "Merry X-mas—patronize our advertisers." Billboards say on one side, "Merry X-mas—drink Big Booze for the Happy Holidays," on the other side—"Merry X-mas—Drive safely—in the new Nausee Eight."

The spirit of X-mas—sell, sell, sell, money, money, money. Competition—who gets the most expensive gift, or the most gifts or cards. Strictly an economic fete or a time to get drunk—or even just stuffed with food. Or spend all of your money—just to make people think better of you. Selfish—egocentric.

The "Spirit of X-mas." Is this the spirit which should be prevalent on the commemoration of the Holy birth.

Are we guilty of this attitude? Does X-mas cross out Christmas?

Regal Retrospect

Can you think back to November 11th? Do you remember what event took place on that date?—that's right!—the 14th Annual Homecoming and Tip-Off.

On this night, Mrs. Lois DuVall Knox was honored as queen of the year's biggest event. As Lois and her court (Pat McGuire, Pontiac, Michigan; Monagail Kennedy, Flint, Michigan; Janet Storer, Springfield, Ohio; Darlene Barker, Portsmouth, Ohio) came down the aisle during the beautiful coronation, there was instilled within the Tip-Off crowd a feeling of pride and respect for the queen and her court.

This reporter wondered just how it felt to be queen of the year's biggest event, so he interviewed Mrs. Knox to find out. Here is the information I acquired.

Lois said, "I have never experienced anything like it before. I wish every student could experience the thrill that comes at such a time." For Queen DuVall Knox, being elected by her fellow students was completely unexpected. She said, "I was surprised to hear my name was even on the ballot (which meant she was a member of the court), but didn't expect to be elected queen because of my married status."

The highlight of the day's festivities came for Lois in the evening. She said, "I believe I was most thrilled when Ruth Peters (last year's queen) placed the crown on my head and the audience applauded."

As you think back to November 11th, I am sure you will say, "We as a student body were proud of our queen, Mrs. Lois DuVall Knox."

Brass Choir Concert Is Varied Program

The Brass Choir, assisted by the Trombone Quartet and French Horn Trio, presented a program of music for brass instruments, Saturday, December 3, in Howe Chapel.

Professor Carl Bangs led the choir in both modern and early compositions—some written especially for a brass choir, some arranged.

This type of music was popular around 1600 and has been revived in the past few years. There has been renewed interest in the field which has led to the composition of much new literature for brass choirs.

The program included three major types of music for brass choir; new editions of 16th and 17th century compositions, by Johann Pezel and Giovanni Garbrelli; arrangements of chamber and orchestral music; and modern music for brass.

Included in the second group were compositions by Ludwig Van Beethoven and Hector Berlioz. The third group featured Randolph Ganz and John Hartmeyer.

"Negev: Tone poem for Brass" by Hartmeyer, and the "Brassy Prelude" by Ganz were probably the favorites of the audience.

Both of these numbers reflected modern classical music form—moving, usually full bodied, and with an efficient use of the capabilities of the brasses in unusual harmonies and progressions.

The encore was the popular "I Got Plenty of Nothin'", from "Porgy and Bess", by Jerome Kern.

$300,000 GIVEN TO NSA PROGRAM

ST. PAUL, MINN. - (ACP) - The Ford Foundation granted the National Student Association (NSA) $300,000 for its foreign student leader exchange program, it was announced at the regional NSA meeting at Macalester College here.

The funds will be used primarily for student leader exchange in the Far and Middle East and Latin America, according to the Mac Weekly, student newspaper. NSA considers these areas of greatest "growth potential," Joel Sterns, NSA vice president from Northwestern University, said.

The purpose of the conference was to discuss the problems of the campus and to exchange ideas with other colleges.

HAPPY HOLIDAY!

It hardly seems possible that we have come down to the Christmas vacation period. The days of the fall term have gone so swiftly. Mrs. Reed joins me in wishing for each of you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. I trust you will have a safe and enjoyable journey home. Undoubtedly you are anticipating the pleasure of seeing the family and folk of the local church, and they, of course, are anticipating with joy your return for the vacation period.

There is one favor that I would like to request of one and all. Please plan to be a real blessing in your local church. Teach a Sunday School class—lead a youth program—give a vital testimony for our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. I know you will be glad to grant this request.

God bless you one and all.

Harold W. Reed, President

Afraid To Study

by MARGARET BEINOR

The current trend in education is to glide by with as little effort as possible. Our entire culture is anti-intellectual; we pride ourselves in doing things the easy way! Those who study are "stupid."

Where is our pride? Can we be complacent in today's world? Or are we just afraid to work?

Did you ever throw all caution to the wind and decide to study? This rash act is guaranteed to lose you a few of your more superficial friends. But let's explore its possibilities.

Now you're prepared—you read your assignment. You walk into class with your head high. No nervous tension here! No thought of skipping class today—after all, you're prepared.

Today the lecture makes sense. Prof's words ring bells. Why sleep when you know what he's talking about! This is as good as a review.

The picture is even brighter at final exam time. Your review is a snap—after all, you've been here before. Confidence replaces panic. You're relaxed and ready to do a good job.

Could this be you? This is actually the "easy way." I'll grant it takes courage to start; but you'll never regret that start. Soon you'll be proud of your work, proud of yourself, and you'll feel strong.

We have so many gifts. They should be used to the fullest. Or would you settle for mediocrity?

International Headache: What About German Reunification?

The problem of Germany today stares the world in the face. Actually the problem is not a simple but a multiple one.

First of all Germany is divided. Also she has the problem of the Saar Basin. Then too, both the east and west are trying to tie Germany in with them politically.

Hope for Reunification

Germany looks forward to being reunited some day. There are family and national bonds between the various parts of Germany just as between Illinois and California in our country.

Economically, Western Germany needs the Eastern Zone. The Western Zone is steadily industrializing and therefore needs the food of the Eastern Zone, Germany's "bread basket", to feed its industrial workers.

The Saar

Closely related to the question of reunification is the problem of the Saar Basin which has pushed itself into the headlines during the last few weeks. In a recent national election the people decided by a 2-1 margin to continue their ties with Germany instead of becoming an independent state.

This coal mining and farming state of 1,000,000 persons is important to the future of France as well as Germany. The French are afraid of a re-armed Germany and did not like to see their late foe receive this prize package.

At What Price Unity

The West is trying to tie Germany in with them politically and militarily through NATO. Russia has dangled the idea of unity before the Germans in exchange for withdrawing from NATO. There is a danger that the longing and need for unity in Germany might cause them to play into Soviet hands. Even though the average German favors Democracy, he is not as fearful of Russia as we are.

Despite the disappointment over the last Geneva Conference, the consensus of opinion is that the German problem may have been helped by it. Russia's selfish intentions were laid bare to the whole world. She clearly showed that no unification of Germany would be possible except on "Red" conditions.

Of course the western powers rejected the Russian plan. It therefore looks as if Germany will stay in NATO. The German crisis may be calmed for the present, but the problems that I mentioned are certainly not settled.

NEWS FROM ABROAD

(ACP) - A recent issue of the Student Mirror included these bits of news about student activities in other parts of the world:

INDIA -- Seven prominent student leaders in India recently expressed their views on the causes of student unrest in Indian universities. According to these leaders, the reasons for the unrest and lack of discipline are unemployment, frustration, the actions of political parties, the examination systems, the attitude of authorities, and the restrictions on student unions.

LEBANON -- An Arab students conference in Lebanon has recommended giving women students the same educational opportunities as the men throughout the Arab world. The conference also called for the creation of a regional organization for Arab students and the establishment of a national university in each of the Arab countries that does not have one.

Dr. Reed Attends White House Conference on Education in U.S.

Over the Thanksgiving holiday our college president Dr. Reed, accompanied by his wife, made a trip to Washington D.C. as a delegate to the first White House conference on education.

Six questions were discussed on the local, state, and national levels. They included: (1) "What should our schools accomplish?" (2) "In what ways can we organize our school systems more efficiently and economically?" (3) "What are our school building needs?" (4) "How can we get enough good teachers — and keep them?" (5) "How can we finance our schools, build and operate them?" (6) "How can we obtain a continuing public interest in education?"

guard wants 'separation.' The dispute is a factional one, not one of faith.

The Central Committee of the World Council of Churches, meeting at Daves, Switzerland, were informed that officials of their Commission of the Churches on International Affairs were to confer with the Big Four foreign ministers, prior to the October meeting "with a view to encouraging a prompt action as possible" on German reunification and European security. Something unusual on the part of a modern church council.

The Senate subcommittee is sending out questionnaires to see if the religious freedom of the Bill of Rights is being properly observed and interpreted. Questions are asked on state aid to churches or sects, propagation of atheism, instances of violation of the clause, etc. Hearings were scheduled to begin October 3, for all interested.

What's In A Name?

MORGANTOWN, W. VA. — (ACP) — This isn't a "stop the presses" item or anything like that, but we pass it along for what it's worth. West Virginia University's Daily Athenaeum gleaned the following information from a Social Security administration report:

Vice-President Richard Nixon delivered the keynote address to 1800 delegates, 700 representatives, and 1200 observers. A film address was given by President Eisenhower. Dr. Reed states that the President looked "well and vigorous."

A vote taken at the conference resulted in a two to one margin for Federal Aid to Education. Dr. Reed also states, "It has stirred general interest in education from one end of the nation to the other."

According to the latest figures, the administration has issued social security cards to 149 people named Davy Crockett and 221 people named Daniel Boone. That apparently means the Boones have it all over the Crocketts when it comes to replenishing the earth.

At last report, no figures were available on Napoleon Bonaparte or Donald Duck.

Old News - 'O' Men Stop Alumni

The "O" Club men crowned the festivities of Tip Off day by soundly thrashing a good Alumni team 99 to 84, this being a new scoring record for the contest.

Coach Vail's All-Stars jumped to an early lead in the first quarter, 28-16, and were never headed. The "old men" were weak in team play and needless to say were not in the best of condition, as were the winners.

Dave Brown, shifty guard for the home team, lead the scoring with 20 points. Jerry Petrie contributed 18. The scoring punch for the Alumni was fairly well balanced with four men hitting for 12 or more. John Strahl was the standout with 19 points and a yoeman performance on the boards.

Brown, playing one of his better all 'round games, showed excellent teamwork and sportsmanship, which won him the most valuable player trophy.

Wundt's Wonders Hear 'Foremost Authority'

One of the numerous Christmas parties this week was entertained by the Psi Chi Omicron last Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in the Student Union Room.

The Psi Chi Omicron, better known to the Greek students and other scholars as the Psychology Club of Olivet, is the first club of this type to be organized in Olivet's history. Twenty students are now enrolled as charter members.

Special speaker for the evening affair was "The World's Foremost Authority" (otherwise known as Ron E. Smith). Smith's subject was "The True Verity of Psychotic Induction." This presentation concerned the relation of the aberrational synapse of the SQ3R method with specific emphasis on schizophrenia of the internal environment.

The celebrity went further to elaborate on a chart compiled by the Wayne Gallop Poll Service which showed the correlation between the psychological improvement record of Mel Haney and the cost of living.

Smith's final statement was, "As I close, I would like you to remember one thing. . . !"

After various "collegiate" games were played, gifts exchanged, and before the refreshments of cake, candy and cool-aid were served, a psychological experiment was conducted.

Mr. R. E. Smith performed an experiment with the "World's Most Intelligent Ape," Paul M. Bassett. The ape demonstrated his intelligence by rejecting a sign marked "banana" because it was spelled incorrectly.

Members serving on the program committee responsible for the entertainment and refreshments were Michael Hutchens, Don McDowell, Sue Ryan, and Marie Ulley.

Purpose of the Psi Chi Omicron include: becoming informed of contemporary psychological thought, provides opportunity for exchange of ideas among the members, and to sponsor a yearly research project which would be of benefit to the College and the Church.

Executives of this "mindful" group are: Michael Hutchens, president; Don McDowell, vice-president; Marie Ulley, secretary-treasurer; and Dr. A. Bond Woodruff, faculty sponsor.

More Stale Stuff 'O' Girls Win Too

This sports editor is happy to acknowledge that he was wrong in his prediction that the Alumni girls would defeat the "O" Club girls in this year's Tip Off game. However, the contest was an exciting one, with the result hardly evident until the last quarter. In fact, the Alumni lassies were leading going into the second half, 16-13. But, sharpshooting Barb Strong and Bev Hickler hit the bucket for 20 points between them in the last two quarters to clinch the win.

Marilyn Starr was high scorer for the game with 18. Hickler was high for the "O" Club with 14, and Barb Strong collected 13.

ELEPHANT BOY

RICHMOND, IND. - (ACP) - One of the foreign students at Earlham College is Nicholas Assare, whose home is in the town of Mamfe on Africa's Gold Coast. When he first arrived at Earlham, he was immediately besieged with questions from arm-chair explorers all asking about the wild animals of his native land.

To everyone's surprise, Nicholas confessed that he had never seen a wild animal in Africa, indicating that at least part of the country is more civilized than most people think. His American friends made up for Nicholas' lack of knowledge, though. They immediately trotted him off to a local zoo to show him some of the ferocious beasts that are supposed to be so prevalent in Africa. The zoo-keeper even let him ride an elephant so that he would have something exciting to tell the folks back home.

14 Students Named to 'What's This?'

Fourteen members of the Olivet family were this week nominated to "What's This? In American Colleges and Universities?" These join with others all over Kankakee county who also have made the best contributions to their irrelative colleges. The following students were selected by the committee, composed of the school Onery Society and the local janitors union.

Harold Keech: Harold has been head soda jerk at the Nook for months now. He has broken a record in swimming and also Spike Jones' record of Riders in the Sky. He is a member of Orpheus Choir and sings Base. He has compiled an average grade of 4.913. (Which is good, since our point average system only goes to 4.)

Nancie Davis: Nancie is an accomplished musician and has served as State President of the Illinois Barbers' Union. She is a member of Art Gum's Rubber Band, famous for its recording of "Erasable You." Despite her grade average of 4.235, she has found time for such activities as ping pong and shuffleboard, and is at this time secretary of Sky Kicktma Toe.

Lauren Larsen: Lauren will graduate next year with the lowest point average in the history of Olivet—4.002! Besides this distinction, he lists to Art Hillier every morning; which really takes fortitude. This year he is president of Sky Kicktma Toe, which will next semester buy a new bird-bath for in front of Chapman Hall. He has received the Black and Blue scholarship.

LaVonna West: A member of WRA for the last two and one-fourth years, LaVonna has won the admiration of the students by her outstanding readings of Walt Kelly poems in Hill-billy dialect. She enthralled members of the Fundamentals of Speech class last year with her rendition of "They Tried to Sell Us Egg Foo Yung." Her average of 6.768 is also outstanding.

Darrell Trotter: President of MDA this year, Darrell has been the first president to play miniature football in his room. (With football cleats.) He has sung in Morpheus and in various quartets, such as the Trunk Keys, and is famous for his rendering of the well-known Vivace Pizzacato Poco Allegro Moderato from the First Movement of the Andante Allegretto. An avid student of Sackology, he has an assistantship in basketball. He has a grade point average.

Sallie Davis: Nancie Davis's sister.

Arthur Davis: No relation to Nancie or Sallie, but is a second cousin to Melvin Strudley. Art is a true collegian, a really well rounded, happy-go-lucky, on-the-ball, hepped-up collegian. He has had experience as an undertaker and always reserves a chair for Rigor Mortus to set in.

Horace Rishell: An up and coming Sophomore whose outstanding performance at Tip-Off was outstanding. (The triangle player in Guess Conductor.) Horace is a quick-witted person, and when asked where his get-up-and-go was, he answered: "I guess it got up and left!"

David Levi Brown: Our most valuable player, Dave will assist in the Tip-Off game this year, maybe. Maintaining an average of 7.6938 $\frac{1}{4}$, he has served as president of the Avid Sackrat Society for two years, and has been elected as the first president of Chi Sigma Rook. He is trying to win honors in philosophy.

Edward Davis: An outstanding musician with an average of -12, Ed has written such books as Hadacol—The Super-tonic, and The Neurotic Sub-dominant. Ed plays the B. F. Goodrich tireless tube and can do various footnotes on the shoe horn.

Phillip Petrie: A hardy young man, Phil is this year's president of Omega Lotsa Fracas. He has just returned from an educational tour of Siberia, and has found conclusively by independent laboratory tests that it gets cold up there. Phil has had to reduce his number of hours to 25 in order to devote more time to his presidency, but hopes to resume his normal load next semester, when Burley Smith becomes president.

Burley Smith: Next semester's president of Omega Lotsa Fracas, Burley is an outstanding player of outstanding basketball outstandingly. He has taken one and one fourth years of P.E., and is the originator of that profound statement: "Don't be guilty of errors—Think."

James Mitchell: Jim is a transfer from Ab Normal Tech., where he won honors in volleyball and modernistic painting. The president of the Try-jam society, and an Oh Club member, he is now working at his dissertation on the Ming Dynasty. An excellent mimic, Jim has astounded many with his perfect imitations of Aristotle, Genghis Khan, and Alfred L. Neuman.

David Anderson: President of the Junior class, Dave is Bob and Ray wrapped up in one multifaceted personality. With a point average of E equals mc², a scholarship in archery, and a wide range of interests, (such as handball and Mad magazine,) it's no wonder he was elected to What's This.

THE BARD ON COLLEGE LIFE

MANHATTAN, KAN. - (AC P) - Someone at Kansas State College did a little digging and came up with these Shakespearian comments on college life:

Studying in the library: "More light, you knaves; and turn the tables up, and quench the fire, the room is grown too hot." Romeo and Juliet.

Cramming at 3 a.m.: "How weary, flat, stale and unprofitable seems to be all the uses of the world." Hamlet.

Olivet Olympians Omnium - Gatherum

"Twist when you tumble," "Pin that man," "Hit me with a left," and "How much can you press?" are just a few of the expressions describing the Olivet Olympians, a new athletic organization on the college campus formed at the beginning of the first semester.

As indicated by the previous phrases, the Olympians engage in wrestling, tumbling, boxing, and weight lifting. Up to date, 25 "possibilities" have enlisted for active service as charter members.

Conditioning, recreation, and a means for the outlet of extra energy, make up the purposive foundation of the club. During the second semester plans have been formulated by the group to exhibit the "half" of the mens' basketball games. Another consideration in mental process is to perform at the high schools in the Kankakee area.

The Olympians, besides attempting to practice regularly, have been active in promoting projects to acquire means for "financial backing" of the organization. A coffee and hot chocolate machine has been installed in Chapman Hall under the sponsorship of the O. O. The concession stands at the past "Tip-Off" game were managed jointly by the "O" club and the Olivet Olympians. Under the auspices of this new club, coffee and donuts were sold for a week in the other projects will be used to purchase uniforms and necessary

Redmen Edge Green In Season's Opener

In the first roundball game of the season, the Indian red men the Spartan bid for their first athletic victory of the season by edging them 76-72.

"Lefty" Matson led the scoring with 21 points, while Scotty Gardner contributed 20 for the winners. Wayne McGuire was high for the losers, splitting the nets for 19. Both teams were effective at the free throw line—The Indians showing a big 75 percentage and the Spartans a solid 60 percent.

Winegar Sticks Foot In Mouth - Big 7 Best

by Bill Winegar

This article has nothing to do with mathematics. However, I will concede that it deals with a problem. This problem being: which conference turns out the better basketball teams—the Big Seven, or the Big Ten. Being from Missouri, yours truly is naturally unprejudiced! I only ask all of you from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Illinois, to remain similarly untainted in examining this question.

Looking at the results of last Saturday and Monday's games, I find that Big Seven teams played 7 games and won 4 of them, all 4 being non-conference foes. The Big Ten while playing 10 non-conference were also victorious in four contests.

In summary, we see that up to this week the Big Seven might be said to have a slight edge—we'll see how it stands at the next writing.

By the way, Hoosiers, a team from Missouri, St. Louis U. beat a good team from Indiana. Must have been a fix! Also, I'd like to apologize for Missouri's one point win over Illinois—it just wasn't fair!!

equipment such as weights, mat covers, boxing bags and gloves, etc.

Individual measurements for uniforms were taken at the last three practice periods. Each regular participating member is furnished with tights, trunks, and a T-shirt. Jackets, with the club name on the back, will also be purchased. Having and wearing the jackets will be a means of publicizing the club and also as a symbol of commemoration after graduation.

Trojan Team Boasts Mighty Scoring Punch

Deft ball handling and sharpshooting enabled the Trojans to win their second and third games of the season, thus remaining undefeated.

In their second game, against the Spartans, Vern Fischer scored 17 points, in the last quarter to make his game total a record breaking 44 marks. Wayne McGuire not only did a fine job on the boards, but led the Green Men in scoring with 22—Dave Brown was a close second with 18.

In their third game, with the Indians, the Trojans were victorious by an 11 point margin. Petrie and Mitchell shared scoring honors in this tilt with 18 a piece. Fischer, high scoring forward for the Blue was held to 3 buckets from the field—however, he contributed 10 from the free throw line. Parsons again led the scoring for the Indians with 14. George Garvin was close to Parsons with 13 points.

GOOD WILL TO MEN

The eternal promise of Christmas finds living expression in the professional services of the physician and pharmacist. This spirit is plainly evident in our Prescription Service because the profession of Pharmacy, more ancient than Christmas, is dedicated to the good of mankind. It is the star that guides us in all our dealings with the community. We practice good will to men by having the will to do good for them.
