Wendy Parsons was elected to the All-Star team for the fourth consecutive year. He is a senior from Eureka, Illinois, and was player-coach of the Indian team. Wendy finished third in individual scoring with 169 points in 10 games for a 16.9 average.

Jim Mitchell is a senior from Huntington, Indiana. Jim played forward for the unbeaten Trojan team and scored 76 points in 8 games for a 9.5 average. This is the third year that Jim has been a member of the All-Star team.

Jerry Petrie is a sophomore from Columbus, Ohio. Jerry returned to the Trojan society after serving in the armed forces to score 134 points in 10 games for a 13.4 average. Jerry is making his first appearance on the All-Star team.

Rolland Jakobitz is the lone freshman to be chosen on this year's All-Star team. Rolland is from Buffalo Lake, Minnesota, and played center on the Trojan team. In 9 games this year, he scored 126 points to average 14 markers per game.

Vern Fischer, a junior, is also from Buffalo Lake, Minnesota. Vern holds the individual record for a single game, which is 44 points. He is making his third appearance on the All-Star team. This year, Vern finished second in scoring with a 17.3 average, scoring 156 points in 9 games.

Jr.-Sr. Banquet

Dave Anderson, junior class President, has announced that the annual Junior-Senior Banquet will be held Saturday, May 12 at a place yet undetermined.

Cham-Ber Huang To Give Concert Next Friday Night

Cham-Ber Huang, harmonica star from China, will be giving a concert Friday, March 2, 1956, at the Olivet Howe Chapel at 8 P.M.

Mr. Huang, harmonica virtuoso, who has played in several of the larger cities of America, rates very highly in the concert field. He is a handsome young man, being somewhat slender in stature with a great personality to win the hearts of everyone who hears him.

We have had a number of great artists of the piano, vocalists, orchestras, etc. But as far as is known, Olivet has never experienced such a performer on the harmonica. Several news reports from many of the nation's top magazines and newspapers were amazed at his "Utilizing a manual and lip dexterity."

The Huntington (W.Va.) Advertiser wrote, "Mr. Huang really brought down the house when he returned to do an encore. The applause at the conclusion was almost thunderous." The New York Times wrote, "Cham-Ber Huang gave his first New York recital yesterday afternoon at Town Hall. Mr. Huang is certainly adept with his chosen instrument. Indeed, he is so skillful that he was able to go with great speed in a lively performance that did not miss a beat."

Curtiss Baxter, Director, Marshall College Artist Series stated, "Cham-Ber Huang was terrific." The Times-Herald, Washington, D.C., "A true virtuoso of the harmonica." The New York World Telegram and The Sun complimented him by saying, "Harmonica Star is China's Gift."

Present Rare Documents for Olivet Display

Mr. and Mrs. Bernie T. Smith recently presented a rare original letter of the great German composer, Felix Mendelssohn, to the Music Department for display in the library. Mendelssohn wrote, among other things, "the famous oratorio, 'Elijah.'" This letter is in exceptionally fine condition for having been dated August 25, 1843.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith also presented a fragment of original manuscript from the pen of the world's greatest pianist of all time, Franz Liszt. This manuscript is dated, Hamburg, November 9, 1840.

As far as is known, Olivet is the only library in the Nazarene denomination which possesses any original letters or manuscripts of world famous composers.

The world traveler and evangelist, Mr. Smith, is an alumnus of Olivet, class of 1948.

Northwest Illinois motorcaders will be on campus Apr. 20 with District Superintendent Lyle E. Eckley. Rev. Harry Hatton, District N.Y.P.S. President, will be in charge of this group.

The Missouri District young people will spend Apr. 23-24 here with Rev. Marion Holloway, N.Y.P.S. President, in charge. Rev. E. D. Simpson is their District Superintendent.

Olivet Lyceum Committee Schedules Trecker Film For Showing in Howe Chapel Mar. 9

The Haven Trecker motion picture photographer will be showing his newest sound color motion picture entitled, "THE STRANGE LAND," in the Olivet Howe Chapel auditorium, at 8 P.M., March 9, sponsored by the Lyceum Committee of Olivet College.

The picture was photographed in Monument Valley, Arizona, in the heart of the Navajo Indian Reservation. Mr. Trecker's new film shows many unusual and beautiful scenic spots, as he takes his audience for a trip through this remote, isolated section of America which has been the home of the Navajo for many years.

The 53 minute film, shows Navajo customs, living conditions, food preparation, and occupations such as rug weaving. The picture is of perfectly planned close ups, "zoom shot," and scenes.

Trecker's film, THE STRANGE LAND, was done entirely as a hobby, but is of professional quality, having a narration on the sound track of the film.

Heil Mr. Nietzsche

by Leonard F. Enniss

("Let the strong do what they will and the weak suffer what they must") — Nietzsche.

To you, Mr. Nietzsche, congratulations. You have carried the day. To prevent you, magnificent proclamations have been set forth and embodied in declarations and constitutions. Humanitarian concepts have found verbalization in emotional utterances and have been incorporated in these glorious documents which have been allegedly conceived and dedicated to the purpose of thwarting all such who hold to or practice such doctrines as yours. But again I say, "congratulations Mr. Nietzsche, for without care or intent the battle is to you!"

Is it not true that in our fair culture all men are guaranteed "Life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness?" If this is so every man therefore being thus protected from exploitation, you have lost. But have you? Let us see. What does this guarantee of "Life" mean to the vast majority of our happy population?

Mr. Nietzsche, sir, I find that a few so manipulate those things necessary to the maintenance of life that this "Life for the many is a life of toil." Toil that is rewarded by almost, but not quite, enough to pay for those necessities. So "Life we see is a somewhat complicated process of killing one's self off trying to make enough to pay for those things necessary for the maintenance of life for which we must pay more than we can make. Do we die bankrupt? Heaven forbid! We very honorably pass this deficit along with our funeral expenses on to our posterity.

But think not Mr. Nietzsche that it is then that you have carried the day. We, Mr. Nietzsche, have "Liberty." Yes, indeed, we the many have the liberty to toil at the building of the few for the privilege of not quite being paid enough to cover the cost of the maintenance of life; or we have the liberty to choose to be gentlemen of leisure. This last choice results in our being called bums (a most opprobrious epithet) in which case we are jailed for vagrancy, beaten for being caught, and run out of town for being in town.

Let us however not linger at this point for more important than all else we have an iron clad agreement here allowing us the pursuit of happiness. Ah yes, happiness, that delightful abstraction, that noun applied to an emotional ecstasy which we on rare occasions achieve (in minute approximation only) mainly in those instances when we succeed in escaping out the back door as a bill collector from the few crashes in the front. Yes, happiness, delightful, evasive you. You agile, elusive, elfish, abstraction.

And so we congratulate you Mr. Nietzsche for your "strong" have carried the day. But hold! One small reservation here. Life we concede to you, our liberty we surrender, but happiness we pursue and pursue and pursue.

Where Are They?

Bible reading is a lost art, if the experience of the Vicksburg, Miss., Post is any criterion. Recently in an editorial, parents were urged to encourage their children to learn "by heart" some of the invigorating and consoling passages of the Scriptures.

The editor recommended "a pleasant way to learn is to begin with the Psalms and work up to the Beatitudes, taking a little at a time and learning a few verses to keep in memory."

Shortly thereafter the Post began receiving letters from "far too many" puzzled readers. "Where," they wailed, "can we find the Book of the Beatitudes?" (from the "Adult Bible Class")

Winter

by Becky Holstein

The winter died —
With suddenness
Its fleecy coat
Turned sickish grey,
Its icy gems
Crowning each bush
In sorrow
Grieved themselves into
Some muddy little puddles.

The winter died —
A funeral tune
A weak, frail wail
Was lifted by
The slight, drawn frame
Of one once warmed
And rightly so,
"A boisterous wind"
From distant northern shores.

The winter died —
But in its place
Sprang beauty up
Precious and rare;
A breathless splendor
O'er the earth
Enveloped every tree and brook
When spring filled
Winter's worn-out shoes.

The Farmers' Almanac for 1956, regularly issued since its first edition in 1792, prints an early New England prayer:

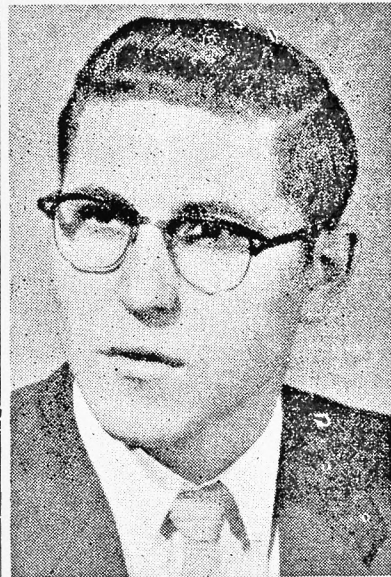

"O Lord, thou knowest we do not want thee to send us a rain which shall pour down in a fury, and swell our streams, and sweep away our hay cocks, and fences and bridges; but Lord, we want it to come drizzle - drozzle - drizzle - drozzle for about a week. Amen."

Meet Your Leader

by Lyle Krumrie

If you spend much time around Olivet's Philosophy Department, chances are you will find a friendly young man by the name of Marvin Thill there.

Marvin was born at Clayton, Wisconsin, on April 25, 1934, one of six boys of the William Thill family. He attended grade schools at Independence, Iowa, and Lena, Illinois, before his family moved to their present home at Stockton, Illinois. There he finished grade and high school.

MARVIN THILL

Marvin was very active in his high school activities. He was a member of the honor society and president of the Science Club. He also participated in sports, playing football and basketball. In 1952 he had the honor of graduating as Valedictorian of his high school class.

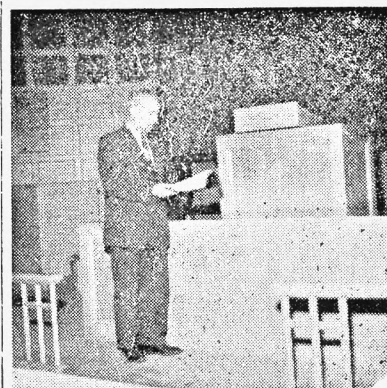

That September he enrolled at Olivet. Since being at Olivet, Marvin's most widely known achievement has been his consistently high grade average. For his high grades he has won the Nazarene, Greene, and the Faculty of Religion and Philosophy scholarships.

Marvin has also been active in extra-curricular activities. He was treasurer of his sophomore and junior classes. He is at present Student Body Treasurer and was President of the Platonian Philosophical Society last year.

Wedding bells rang on August 12, 1954, when Marvin married a hometown girl, Miss Betty Folkens. Betty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Folkens, and Marvin naturally were married at the hometown Church of the Nazarene in Stockton. At present they are residing in one of the Leist cottages.

Marvin's major is philosophy and he is at present doing honor study in the field of Philosophy of Science. For the future, Marvin plans to do graduate work and then enter the teaching profession. His plans are to teach on the collegiate level.

Marvin must tell the glories of Olivet when he is at home; for this year his bigger, but Marvin insists not older, brother Ronald also entered Olivet. Marvin describes these four years at Olivet as the most meaningful in his life. We certainly wish Marvin the best of luck as he continues in the preparation of his life's vocation.

I have a wonderful view from my office window. With scarcely moving from my chair I can look northward, and at a glance, take in the buildings of Olivet Nazarene College.

It is such an intriguing sight to look across our campus that the easy thing for me to do is just sit, watch and think. Here I sit in the office of a $275,000 church looking across a $4,000,000 campus. My what value is ours! A $285,000 Library, $400,000 girls dormitory and other buildings of equal worth. We have much for which to praise the Lord when we remember that all of this has been accumulated in the past 15 or 16 years. But the question comes to my mind — where is our real value?

It is not in these wonderful buildings. It is a well-known fact that according to the law of economics, an item for depreciation to the extent of two per cent of the appraised value must be put in the auditors report every year. This means that in 50 years time, technically, there is no worth at all, and, if the buildings are not properly taken care of, they will lose their value in less time than that.

Also, we know that these values can be swept away so rapidly. The history of Olivet Nazarene College has proven that fire can virtually destroy an institution overnight. Where is the real value?

I like the thought that was expressed in one of the discussion groups during youth week regarding institutions such as we have here. These are to be regarded as "middle principles." For instance, we desire to take care of the suffering people of our community, therefore we erect a hospital. The hospital becomes the middle principle, the avenue through which we can take care of physical needs. We desire to have a place where people can worship God, therefore we build a church. The church building becomes the middle principle — the avenue through which this motive and goal is accomplished. The real value is not in the hospital itself, but in the fact that suffering humanity receives physical aid. Likewise, the church does not have intrinsic value in itself. The real value is in the people who come to "worship God in Spirit and in truth."

Likewise, the college is a middle principle. The true value is not in the buildings, but in the success of the purpose for which they are erected. The first objective of our college as stated in our catalog is: "To assist the student in developing a wholesome and well-integrated Christian personality, thus preparing him for intelligent Christian citizenship." The value of the school and these buildings, to you personally, is measured by the accomplishment of this objective in your life.

Trojan Lassies Finally End Long Indian Jinx

by Bev Hickler

The final game between the Trojans and Indians proved to be the best game of the season. The Trojans stopped the two year winning streak of the Indians by a thrilling 60-58 win. It was also the first win the Trojans have scored over the Indians in four years.

The game measured up to expectations as a thriller all the way. At the end of the first quarter the teams were all tied up and the Trojans were showing their power with a two point lead at half-time. At the end of the third period the Indians were out ahead 42-40.

The baskets were chucked in at an even clip for both teams. It looked like the game would go into overtime but with nine seconds to go, Ardith Hunt tossed in the winning bucket.

For the Indians Barb Strong, who threw in 33, was the scoring leader, driving in for lay-ups for many of them. Martha Stitzle (17) and Pat Hecht (8) completed the trio in this offensive game. For the Trojans it was Bev Hickler ringing up 28 points followed by Hunt with 18.

Norma Blochberger, stand-out guard for the Indians, was out with an ankle injury.

After the completion of an enjoyable intramural season, I hope we are all taking part in the class tournament now in progress. Of course, I tell myself the seniors are going to win. The seniors are seeking an unsurpassable record after having the title the past three years.

Peters Defeated

The girls' ping pong tournament is progressing quite well with several close and exciting games. Last year's champion, Trojan Ruth Peters, was upset by Ruth Wyse, another member of the "Big Blue." The game was one of the best girls' matches I have ever had occasion to watch. The match went the full three sets with the score of almost every game going to 21-19. With last year's winner out of the contest, the possibility of a dark horse is even greater than first predicted.

The volleyball tournament is scheduled to start March 5. Many of the girls who didn't take part in basketball are urged to come out and support your team for the volleyball championship. Three rounds will be played and if you can

Three on All-Star Team Fourth Time

Three seniors appearing on the girls' All Star team for their fourth year head this year's array of top court talent. The team is as follows:

Edith Nichols—Bourbonnais, Illinois, Spartan forward. Although Edith is only a sophomore in high school, this is the second year she has been elected to the all-star team. This year Edith led again in scoring for her society.

Martha Stitzle—Center Point, Indiana, Indian forward. Martha gave the Indians much support with her aggressive spirit. She is only a junior in high school. She continued to be a scoring threat throughout the season.

Norma Blochberger—Leavenworth, Kansas, Indian guard. Norma's outstanding defensive play has warranted her a place on the all-star team all four years. She has also established the same record in softball.

Pat Hecht—Flint, Michigan, Indian forward. Pat was a great asset to the Indian lineup, always playing a consistent game. As a freshman she can now look forward to initiation.

Bev Hickler—Litchfield, Minnesota, Trojan forward. This is Bev's fourth letter in basketball. For the past two years she has won the tennis tournament, and has also placed on the softball all-star team.

Ruth Wyse—Greenfield, Indiana, Trojan guard. As a freshman this is her second letter this year, having also all-starred in softball. This past week in the pingpong tournament, she beat Ruth Peters, last year's champion.

Ruth Peters—Ogden, Illinois, Trojan guard and forward. This is the second year Ruth has been elected to the basketball all-star team. She also lettered in softball her freshman year. In pingpong Ruth was runner up her first two years and last year she won the tournament.

Barb Strong—Hamilton, Ohio, Indian forward. This is the fourth year Barb has been on the all-star basketball team. She holds the Birchard Gymnasium scoring record of 38 points. She has also lettered in both softball and track. Last year she was runner up in the pingpong tournament.

Carolyn Birchard—Bradley, Michigan, Spartan guard. A freshman member of the Spartan squad, she is well known for her vivaciousness on the basketball court. This is her first appearance on an all-star team.

Strait Shootin

The Olivet Olympians are to be congratulated for their fine performance at half-time of the basketball game on Feb. 16. We hope to be seeing more of the Olympians in the future.

George Garvin of the Indians and Vern Fischer of the Trojans are to be commended for their fine performance on the basketball court this past season. They finished as the two top scorers in the intramural basketball league.

The semi-finals of the class tournament are to be played tonight. The favorites for the class tournament are the sophomore and junior classes, but never underestimate the enthusiasm of the freshman class and the experience of the seniors.

The Indians "B" team won their respective league titles with 5 victories and 1 defeat. The Trojans finished second with a 3-2 record and the Spartans were third with a 1-5 ledger.

The men's ping-pong tournament is well underway. Defending champion is John Rose, who claimed the title last year as a freshman. Jim Mitchell finished second and Jim Knox third in the 1955 tournament. This year's crop of table tennis players should provide plenty of competition for the best of players.

It is our opinion that the 1955-56 basketball season was much better than the 54-55 campaign. Plenty of action and good basketball was provided at nearly every game.

With the basketball season completed and the class tournaments in their final rounds, let's survey the intramural activities for the future. Volleyball tournaments begin on March 5. Swimming meets will be held on March 14, 21, and 28, and with spring approaching it will soon be baseball time again.

Jakobitz Leads 'Blues' Victory

The Trojans "A" team made it a clean sweep of their ten game schedule on February 16, as they took a 74-52 contest from the Spartans.

The Trojans took a 39-22 half-time lead and were never in serious trouble in the second half.

Ten Trojans broke into the scoring column with Rollie Jakobitz leading the victors with 15 points. However, scoring honors for the evening went to Frank Bowers of the Spartans with 17 markers.

Erno Balogh Visits ONC; An American by Choice

by Eleanor Bolender

Erno Balogh, who delighted us all with his fine playing last Friday night, was born in Budapest, Hungary. He attended the University there and studied for six years under the well-known contemporary composer, Bela Bartok. He left Budapest for Berlin, Germany, in 1919 where he made his abode for four years.

berto and Catalina Valdez, did make their home in the Philippine Islands, but in the 1920's they moved to the Hawaiian Islands. She has one brother, Franklin, age 17, who is graduating from high school this spring.

Kathy can't remember just exactly what first influenced her to come to Olivet. She is a member of the Full-Gospel Pentecostal Church, and did not know any Nazarenes. However, she remembers seeing Olivet listed in the "Love-Joy Book of Colleges and Universities."

She sent for catalogs of Olivet, Pasadena, and Nampa because she wanted to attend a Christian college. She feels as though the Lord led her here. As things are now, her brother Franklin, is planning on coming to the States to attend college also, next year.

In her spare time, of which Kathy says she has little, she likes to knit and crochet. Majoring in secondary education, Kathy plans to return to Hawaii after graduation and teach.

The occasion of his first visit to the United States was a concert in 1923. Upon his arrival he liked our country so well, he decided to become a citizen. He tells us that he is an American by choice.

When asked if his family were musicians, he told us that he is the only professional musician among them, although his father and cousin play the piano very well.

Mrs. Balogh, a native of New Orleans, is a professor of biology at New York University, where she also does research work and is an advisory counselor. She enjoys music but does not perform any herself. They have no children.

Besides his concert piano work, Mr. Balogh is also a composer, having composed for orchestra as well as piano. The two numbers on his concert, "Dirge of the North" and "Caprice Antique" were his first works to be published in the United States, back in 1925. He is sentimentally attached to them because the great violinist, Fritz Kreisler, arranged them for violin and played them all over the world, thus introducing Balogh as a composer.

'Unbridled Murphy'

by Morrey Sideburn

"The night was hours old
As he trudged thru snow and sleet.

His nose was long and cold,
And his shoes were full of feet."

The words of this ancient verse ran thru my mind that night as I wended my way from the Nook to the dorm. It was raining. A normal, insipid night. Little did I realize that on that night I would start—the search for Unbridled Murphy!

As I opened my door, I came face to face with . . . Myron Codnowski! As I never had before met Myron I of course, immediately wondered what this furslinger was doing here. My roommate, Mel Haney, explained the situation. Myron was a distant cousin of Mel, (thru Mel's uncle, Mul) and was visiting for the weekend. As we unfolded the spare army cot, Myron told us of his unusual hobby. Years ago, in the Occident, he learned the strange power to cloud men's minds. Through this process, which he called Yogi Berra, (no relation to K. Yogi) he could actually cause people to see the future, experiencing experiences they were to experience in the experience. . . I mean, future.

Of course, I scoffed at this and demanded proof. "By George, I'll give you all the proof you want!" he said. Whereupon he proceeded to cloud the mind of my roommate, Mel. "So what else is new?" I queried. But at that very moment, Mel began speaking in a macabre voice. (Dave MacAbre, room 121).

Club News

by Joyce Mangum

Dave Burnham, three-time "Little All-American" football star, will be the main speaker at this year's "O" Club banquet, to be held Friday, March 16, at Mickelberry's Restaurant in Park Forest, Illinois.

Prof. Harvey Collins was the special speaker at the last meeting of the Future Teachers of America Club, Tuesday, Feb. 14. In his informative talk, "The Use of Visual Aids in Education"; Prof. Collins emphasized the need for more art teachers. Plans for a spring banquet are now being made by the club. The motion picture, "Freedom to Learn", will be shown at the next meeting, Tuesday, March 13. This will be the first showing of the film at Olivet, and it is a movie applicable to our age.

A new project, undertaken by the Student Missionary Band this semester, is the providing of a diesel plant to be sent to Guatemala. This diesel plant will generate electricity for our missionaries on that field.

the class tournament and the seniors are still ahead," he said. "Now it is time for mid-term exams. . . Now I am entering a classroom to take a test for which I have not studied."

"Are you worried?" Myron asked.

"What, me worry?" sez Mel. "Now it is election time and the new student body president and treasurer are: —Renfrew Zets and Malcom Fuid!"

"What year is it, Mel?" I probed.

"1972," responded Mel. "Egad!" I thought. "This is amazing! I believe I've found the true eureka!"

(Be sure to read the next issue of the Glimmerglass for an actual tape recording of a seance with Mel Haney.) (The Glimmerglass does not endorse or reject this story. . . It only publishes it as an interesting bit of phonas balognas.)
