DR. B. V. SEALS TO BEGIN SPRING REVIVAL APRIL 5

Dr. B. V. Seals, well-known speaker in the Church of the Nazarene, will be the evangelist for Olivet's fall revival this year. The revival services will begin at College Church this Sunday, April 5, continuing through the week with nightly services starting each evening at 7:30 p.m. and will conclude with the Sunday night service on April 12. Rev. Seals is in constant demand as speaker for preachers' meetings, conventions and revivals.

Born in Texas, Dr. Seals was working as a cow-hand when he was converted. He has pastored some of the denomination's strong churches — the last of which was First Church of the Nazarene, Seattle, Washington. He has been a district superintendent for twenty-two years and is serving in that capacity now on the Washington-Pacific District. He is also Chairman of the Board of Regents at Northwest Nazarene College where only this month he was the evangelist for their Winter Revival. He is a regular contributor to the Herald of Holiness and has authored several books. His most recent book of devotional readings is "Beside the Shepherd's Tent".

Those who have heard Dr. Seals recommend him highly.

Civic Music Features Harpist In Closing Concert Of Season

The closing concert of this year's Civic Music series will be tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. in Kankakee High School auditorium.

This concert, featuring harpist Mildred Delling, will also close the drive for next year's ticket sales. Anyone wishing to purchase a ticket for the coming year may do so and attend tomorrow night's concert free.

This year's civic music calendar featured several outstanding groups, including the duo-pianists Ferrante and Tiecher. Immediately following the close of this year's drive next year's talent is chosen, and as the committee sells more tickets it makes it possible for them to sponsor bigger and better civic music programs.

Michigan Motorcade Visits ONC Campus

Approximately 125 high school juniors and seniors with their sponsors were members of a motorcade that visited the Olivet College campus Thursday and Friday, March 12 and 13, from the congregations of the Michigan District Church of the Nazarene. These students were under the leadership of the Rev. Paul K. Moore, Grand Haven, Michigan, District Nazarene Youth President, and the Rev. Robert Waggoner, Grand Rapids, motorcade chairman. They were entertained by the students from the Michigan District with Spencer Jakeway, an Olivet junior from Lansing, acting as campus host.

The high school students were the guests of the college at a Thursday evening dinner and an evening of

Olivet Observes National Christian College Sunday

Throughout the United States Sunday, April 12, special recognition will be given to all Christian Colleges. Likewise, College Church will give the students of Olivet an opportunity to serve in most of the activities of the day. In planning for the future, experts in the field of education tell us that in twenty years the number of students enrolled in college will approximate more than seven million or twice the present enrollment. They also predict the cost of operating a college in 1978 will be double the cost today. They present the church with this challenge, "What the church college has to give to its students in the way of moral and spiritual values will be even more needed twenty years from now than it is today."

Olivet is striving to fulfill this challenge by offering to her students — wholesome living on a pleasant small-college campus; — a highly-trained, experienced faculty of consecrated men and women; — courses in twenty-three departments, leading to the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, or Bachelor of Theology degree; — a rich variety of extracurricular experiences in classes, clubs, prayer groups and athletic society activities.

The college also offers to parents — the assurance of a strong Christian College with a sanctified faculty to guide the spiritual and intellectual development of your children; — savings plans, earnings generous interest, to enable you to save for your child's future education; — a deferred time payment plan to fit your needs in financing your child's college training.

It contributes to the church — faculty and students available for week-end revivals, holiness and youth rallies and Christian Service Training Courses; — well-trained lay graduates available for public school teaching and other professions in your communities; — ministerial graduates who will be the pastors, evangelists and missionaries of tomorrow.

English Guild To Give School Play Middle Of May

The English Guild has chosen the "Servant In The House" by Charles Kennedy for their production on May 14 and 16.

This is a dramatic story centering around a servant who influences his master, a young minister, to bring up his everyday living to the level of Christ's teachings. He is also responsible for saving his own brother from a life of vagrancy.

LYCEUM COMMITTEE TO PRESENT ORGANIST, MARILYN MASON, AS FINAL PROGRAM OF THE YEAR

Coming to Olivet Nazarene College as the fourth lyceum program of the school year will be Miss Marilyn Mason, professor of organ at the University of Michigan. The program will be presented at College Church, Friday evening, April 3, at 8 o'clock.

Still in her twenties, Miss Mason is established as an important concert organist, and more important — an artist of stature and musicianship whose research and scholarship has enriched the field of organ literature.

A pupil of the late Palmer Christian, Miss Mason now is on the faculty of the University of Michigan, where she is permitted occasional leaves of absence to fill her rapidly-growing lists of concert recital engagements. In addition to her studies with Christian, one of the outstanding organists of modern times, Miss Mason studied in Paris with Nadia Boulanger and Maurice Durufle; later she was a pupil of Arnold Schoenberg. When Miss Mason performed Schoenberg's "Variations on a Recitative" in Los Angeles, the great composer attended and heard his organ work for the first time.

Schoenberg is not the only great modern whose works Miss Mason has performed. Her active repertoire includes works by Satie, by Milhaud, Paulenc, Messiaen, and others; among Americans, she has performed organ pieces by Virgil Thomson, Walter Piston, Douglas Moore, Ben Weber, Bingham, Delamarte, Sowerby, Haines, Wright and others. Several of these contemporary Americans have written and dedicated works to Miss Mason, whose chief interest is in making the organ a living instrument of our times and in bringing it to attention of living composers.

Nesbitt Hall Is Now Under Construction; To Be Completed By First Of Next Year

Construction began March 2 on Nesbitt Hall, a 150-bed women's residence, on the campus of Olivet Nazarene College. The $400,000 brick with stone trim building is being erected by the Ray J. Benoit Company of Bradley, Illinois.

The four-story building will be located beside Williams Hall, the present women's residence. It will contain seventy-five rooms, a house mother's apartment, study rooms, a small chapel, a kitchenette with a small dining room, a lounge, and laundry facilities for the residents. Overall dimensions are 168 feet by 37 feet with a 38 feet by 28 feet wing.

Nesbitt Hall is the first of five buildings to be erected on the Olivet Nazarene College campus in a ten-year, $3,000,000 development program. Other buildings planned are a men's residence, a science building, a chapel-fine arts building, and a student union.

Sophomores To Take Tests On April 14-15

Sophomore tests will be administered on April 14 and 15 from 8:30 A.M. to 12:30 P.M. in Rooms 306 and 307. The achievement tests which are very similar to those given during Freshman Orientation, will be administered to all sophomores who had a total of 42 hours or more at the beginning of the second semester.

A comparison of the freshman and sophomore scores will aid the administration in the measurement and evaluation of the student's General Education Course.

As the major field of study must be declared at the beginning of the junior year, this information may be of value in revealing to the counselor and student the areas of greatest interest and achievement.

A REBUTTAL TO THE REBUTTAL

by C. Zachary

Conformity versus nonconformity! Whence originated the question? Stated as such, it has no meaning. Conformity or nonconformity in what? Perhaps a long list of involvements could be cited. No matter what issue is adopted for argument (on the basis of whether or not conformity should be the rule), the idea of conformity has no value per se. Neither has the idea of nonconformity any value per se. The basis of any pattern of activity should reside within the heart and mind of each individual. To stop and consider whether or not this pattern "conforms" to that of someone else or of others is a superficial consideration, if the pattern holds any degree of significance for that individual. It is as much of a disparity, or even more so, for one to choose to follow a pattern of nonconformity just for the purpose of being different or of wanting attention.

Consider this premise: Each individual should seek prayerfully and intellectually to do everything the best way he can, and should follow this pattern regardless of social pressures. To do less than one's heart and mind dictates is to cheat oneself of some part of life.

Illustrating some possible violations of this premise on a college campus are occurrences in the realm of socializing. For instance, certain girls, thru a grapevine process of either fact or fancy, have acquired "names" in men's dormitories. Joe Doe comes on campus. He eyes Suzy Q and says to himself, "Pretty sharp. My style." He passes down the hall, catches a drift of gossip and immediately drops Suzy Q from his un-investigating mind. Perhaps for months he doesn't see anyone else who appeals to him; so, he treads the path between his dorm, his classes, the dining hall, and the library, emotionally starved, while the accused Suzy Q is never given a chance to prove herself. Meanwhile, having developed a complex, she becomes discouraged, and facing the fact that she can never be 5' 4" (arranged 34-22-34), nor afford plastic surgery, she decides that her personality will be of no value either. Accepting dates from Jim Racy, she finds herself hurdling down the path of degradation.

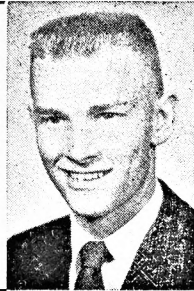

View John Tracy, whom everyone in the girls' dorm has discussed. John has a lot of potential, but he doesn't have ivy league clothes, nor much money. The girls don't really expect to be swathed in luxury, but John has never been known to associate with the right groups. He's rather diffident, and after having his offers of dates rejected by three or four co-eds, he resigns himself to life-long introversion.

Then there is Jane I.Q. who just never could get accepted by any clique and has always remained eccentric, not having received an opportunity to develop her social capacity. After all, the people in the clique might lose their standing if they acted too intelligently. It's not cricket to develop new ways of thinking or to delve into truth too deeply. Oh yes, one must glaze one's social relationships with a thick icing of sweetness, but those who are "out" must not be considered seriously. Keep close to those who are "in."

If reputation supersedes character, let him who will propagate his reputation and him who will improve his character.

P.S. A NOTE TO THOSE WHO ARE "OUT:" If your purpose is only to get "in," try setting your goals a little higher. You might not be worthy of the position, or it might not be worthy of you.

Thoughts On Religion

by Don Braselton

(Guest Writer - Dave Bowman)

"But as he which has called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation; because it is written by ye holy, for I am holy." (1 Peter 1:15, 16) God has not only willed that we might be and promised that we could be holy, but in this particular passage of scripture He has commanded us to be holy. The heart made new in regeneration is offered no alternative but to be obedient to this, God's imperative. Furthermore, the sincere Christian seeks no lesser way; he joyfully obeys.

Why should we be holy? It is quite simple. We should be holy because the Holy One, himself, has called us unto holiness. Surely God would not ask us to be something He isn't, nor would he urge us to seek after the unattainable. We can be holy because "He the great example is a pattern" for us.

In what ways can we be holy? That is a big question. Even though defective knowledge and liability to temptation will always haunt us, our hearts can be made and kept perfectly right in the sight of God. The scripture tells us "to be holy in all manner of conversation." This applies to more than our words; it involves our business dealings, our social contacts, and all aspects of our everyday life. Mistakes are common, but purposeful disobedience is condemned. God's requirements are stringent but not binding; they are strict but not galling.

The meaning of conversation has come to mean an exchange of words between persons. This is, in part, the scriptural meaning. We will someday have to give an account for every word that falls from our lips. If we don't discipline ourselves, our conversation often degenerates into gossip about personalities. Of course, malicious gossip is wrong. Many times, though, the injury of a reputation is the result of unthinking and careless words. Intentional or otherwise, it is just this kind of talk that splits church fellowships and ruins character. The evil or careless tongue has done more damage than this world will ever realize.

Much of the problem can be solved by just what we are talking about - the heart made holy in love. This eliminates the jealousies and envies that generate so much ill-will. From this point we must discipline ourselves that we might achieve freedom from a wagging tongue. This has a prominent place in the ethics of a holy life.

Holiness should be apparent in all speech. I think we need to carefully consider the slang expressions which can easily become a part of our vocabulary. Insults, even for the sake of fun, are often carried too far. Not that we should lay aside all humor, but rather, that we never indulge in speech inconsistent with holiness. This is a matter worthy of personal, prayerful consideration; another's standard will not suffice.

The commandments of our Creator should not grieve us. Should we not strive earnestly to be holy in everything, that we might enjoy fellowship with a Holy God? This is the highest and truest joy we can know. What a small price for such a great prize.

"Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and

by Rev. Forrest W. Nash

Where Christian holiness as a doctrine, an experience and a way of life is preached and taught, moral concepts are considered in the light of the highest possible denominator. Spiritual standards become vital, real and concrete. And they are such that they are not for sale at any price. This is why in such a circumstance many are conscious of inner disturbances. The light penetrates; it is no respecter of persons. But God's grace is such that one need not be constantly torn apart. Jesus said, "When He, the Spirit of truth, is come, He will guide you into all truth." In Paul's Hebrew letter, we read these words, "There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God . . . Let us, therefore, come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need." What an inheritance! Faith and obedience knows the reality.

He Is Risen!

by Dr. Leist

I have just finished reading the four Gospel accounts of the Resurrection of Jesus. Several things impress me.

First; their brevity. You can read all of them in ten minutes without hurrying. This is truly amazing when you stop to think that they are the only records of one of the supreme events of history. In all the long span of the centuries, nothing exceeds in importance, the resurrection of Jesus Christ. The essence of all four stories is summed up in three short words,

HE IS RISEN!

Second; their simplicity. They are a plain and clear narrative of facts. There is no speculation or hidden meaning. No effort is made to prove that the stories are true. The attempt to bribe the soldier-guard to suppress the facts is told and the result noted. The angels are present without any introduction. They brought heaven's sweetest message to earth,

HE IS RISEN!

Third; their certainty. Not a shadow of doubt darkens a single line. Those who came to the Tomb in sorrow to show their love to Jesus, whose death and burial they had seen, went away rejoicing to tell about an empty Tomb and a Risen Christ. Once convinced, they never doubted. "This Jesus hath God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses . . . Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ." They never ceased to proclaim,

HE IS RISEN!

Fourth; their importance. The value of these four Gospel stories to the world is beyond compare. Christian faith rests upon historic foundations. The facts recorded here have stood the test of time. They have never been disproved. The early Christians laid there very lives on the line rather than surrender one iota of the truths contained in these simple narratives. Armed with this truth, they cut their way through the darkness of paganism, proclaiming salvation from all sin because,

HE IS RISEN!

Fifth, their promise. Herein lies the seal of God's approval on the life and ministry of Jesus. The atonement is complete. "If Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins . . . But now is Christ risen from the dead." Herein also lies the guarantee of our own resurrection. "For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive." Let us all rejoice at this Easter time that, envies, and all evil speaking". (1 Peter 2:1) We should not hesitate, "Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Jesus Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot." Christ willingly laid aside His glory that we might be redeemed. Should we not lay aside all evil and vain conversation that we might be like Him?

HE IS RISEN!

A vocal minority in American politics is capable of influencing federal legislation and judicial pronouncements to a greater extent than often realized. The darker one-tenth of our nation's population is producing some quite able spokesmen of professional and political prestige.

Dr. L. H. Holman, Negro dentist from Joliet, delivered a thought-provoking lecture here on campus a few weeks ago. As area leader of the N.A.A.C.P. he is admittedly seeking equal rights for all Negroes in all areas of life. With admirable candor he stated the plight of the second class citizen. Here are some excerpts from his speech.

The N.A.A.C.P. is in the public eye only when it is protesting the actions of forces opposing the rights of minorities. The organization does much basic preparatory work before its counsels appear to plead cases. We usually hear of the argumentation only, and the sociological implications of research go unnoticed.

The rights of minorities must be protected. Reiterating the Supreme Court ruling of 1954, Dr. Holman stated that "separate but equal" facilities in education or any other phase of life are not in existence. He said that the . . . N.A.A.C.P. would be willing to press cases in defense of oppressed whites as well as Negroes. "If you (the white man) lose your rights today, I may lose mine tomorrow."

Dr. Holman believes that most Negroes would tend to marry within their racial group even if restrictions on racial intermarriage were totally erased. Darker-skinned Negroes usually desire to marry lighter ones as a step upward in social prestige.

Study the facts about integrated housing projects, the speaker urged. When a Negro moves into a desirable but previously all-white community, property values usually go up, not down. For the Negro who can afford such material advancement will probably make additional improvements on his property as its proud new owner.

I appreciate the frankness of this intelligent fellow American. I believe that all who heard him were impressed by his sense of direction and willingness to discuss controversial issues. I concur in his belief that a disease, of body or society, must be exposed and systematically studied if cure is to be effected.

"AN EAR FOR NEWS"

by Lowell Thomas

Due to the hustle and bustle of that proverbial "8th week" of the semester which just slipped by us, I could not deem it feasible to get out and gather up opinions for this issue's column. Instead, I figured that I would do a little bit of expounding on my own. Actually a question was suggested to me for this issue; and when I proceeded to gather opinions, a current campus leader (not Keith) informed me that it was a fairly touchy subject. I agreed with him. However, I liked this question and still do. It concerned the problem of letting a presidential candidate's "particular" religious faith influence us in making our decision at the polls. Well, I think you catch the gist of what I was going to ask. Let's go on to another subject.

Did you ever stop to take stock of what you expect to gain from four—or so—years of college life? Without a doubt you have arrived at the realization that you expect to mature socially and spiritually as well as mentally. You are probably anticipating that the end result of your "testing" years of college will be an individual fully prepared to meet the responsibilities of adult life. However, do you realize that there exists one all-important attribute or quality which has a direct effect on the degree to which an individual matures, especially while in school? What I am speaking of is "self-discipline." That which the dictionary defines as the "careful control and training of oneself."

You have probably realized, just as I have, that as young Christians extremely susceptible to influences around us, it is necessary to maintain regular devotions in order to keep the rapport of faith which became established between ourselves and Christ at our conversion. Of course we have within us the desire to carry on a life of regular daily devotions. But with the tendency to lean too heavily upon the Christian lives around us, and the fact that other things seem to creep in, it becomes very easy to put off our time of personal communion with God. When we approach a situation such as this, we must first ask for strength and then say within ourselves, "I will take time because I want to take time."

This same principle applies to the mental side of our character. If we expect to someday be an intellectually mature adult, we must take advantage of this opportunity as it is offered to us now to gain as much knowledge in as many different fields as possible. A good way to do this is by setting time aside to indulge in books and periodicals whose subjects go beyond as well as include those of our textbooks. We shouldn't be afraid to keep up on current events; to acquaint ourselves with the affairs of the outside world. Don't hesitate to head for the library now and then to indulge in a publication whose concept of thought takes your mind into a deeper realm than that in which it is accustomed to existing. Better, yet, set a period of time or so aside each day to do just that.

If we start disciplining ourselves now, in all phases of life, I'm sure that someday we will reap unforeseen rewards. At least discipline will help make us all the more mature. What's your opinion?

National Library Week, March 15-21, To Be Observed

National Library Week will be observed in cities across our nation this month, during the week of March 15-21. Among the purposes for the observance is the promoting of a librarians career for young people, deciding their vocation in life.

As one of the most rapidly expanding careers, there is now and will remain so in the future, a great need and demand for professional librarians and not only is this a need to be met in public libraries, but also in the fields of business, industry, and government. Many of these opportunities go unfulfilled because of the lack of workers. In 1955, for example, there were over 200 professional positions which remained open because there were no properly qualified people to

"I'm a silly little Freshman . . .", were the words sung by the freshman class last fall; however in the finals of this year's class tournament, it seems they were not quite so silly. After losing their first game to the Juniors, the Freshmen went all the way to win the big one on February 20, for this year's class championship. They defeated the Senior class by the runaway score of 81-61. This is the first freshman team in our history to win this tournament.

The evening proved very futile for the seniors. They were unable ever to really threaten once they were behind. The freshmen took command early and roared to a 41-25 half-time lead. In the second half, the seniors still could not "get going", and the freshmen continued their brilliant, well-balanced scoring performance to leave the seniors far behind.

We would like to commend the Class of '62 on their fine team play, spirit and even scoring. Owens led all scorers with 21 points and his teammates backed him up in championship team style. Pasko had 17, Hutchinson and Hendricks both contributed 15, and Figge tossed in 11. Dishong and Reiken turned in a fine performance for the Seniors at their guard positions. Reiken led Senior scoring with 19 points and Dishong added 15.

OLIVET TRIMS ANDERSON FIVE

The Olivet Tigers came from behind to defeat a "classy" Anderson team, 71 to 63, in an "inter-church" game Saturday night, February 28.

Anderson, with only six men, finally tired and had to relinquish their lead and go down to their second defeat in as many tries against our Olivet boys. Coach Ward with a strong bench, substituted freely, and it proved a major role in aiding Olivet to victory. Actually, Olivet won at the free-throw line, making 17 to only 3 for Anderson. Anderson scored 30 field goals to only 27 for Olivet.

The crowd was impressed by the all-around play of Dick Maynard of Anderson who scored 28 points for the evening's performance and took home the top scoring honors. Spence Hedrick was high for Olivet with 18.

The disappointment of the night was the lack of enthusiasm even though it was a close and interesting game.

SPORT TALK

by Sue Conrad

During the last few weeks, we have all been kept pretty busy with various activities, including studying for exams, working on the yearbook, planning for the motorcades, and arranging final details for our spring vacations, to say nothing of writing term papers! But during this same period of time, things in the sports world have slowed down to almost a standstill.

At the end of society basketball season, All-Stars were chosen. Then the class basketball tourney was held, in which the freshmen, sophomore, and senior women were all defeated leaving the junior women with an undisputed championship.

Now this inactivity has come to an end, for the volley ball tournament is underway. Heading up the society teams as coaches are Joy Pavy (I), Carolyn Birchard (S), and Marilyn Trimble (T). You girls who like sports but haven't participated as yet this year are urged to support your society during this tourney. Remember this, your participation points will certainly count towards your society's winning that trophy!

A word of congratulations to our All-Star cheerleaders of 1958-59 . . . you've done a tremendous job.

Hailing from Lapeer, Michigan, is our Sportrait for this week, Jim Mellich. Jim went out for football, basketball, and baseball in high school. He lettered in baseball his last two years. Jim was on the Student Advisory Committee his last two years, and he was also the president of the band and won the band award his senior year.

Jim attended Owosso Bible College for two years before entering Olivet. There he managed and played on the softball team and also participated in basketball and football. He organized the first band at Owosso with 25 members.

Jim came here last year and made "O" Club in softball, participating in both ends of the Spartan battery. His enthusiasm carried over from the ball field to the leader of the Progressive Party Campaign. He was elected president of the band and vice-president of Prayer Band. Jim is minister of music at Fairmont Church of the Nazarene.

Jim is studying for the ministry and is planning to go into evangelistic work. God bless you, Jim!

The prediction of the Freshman class that they would win the class tournament was not taken very seriously by the other three classes, for a freshman team had never won the crown before. When they lost their first game, it seemed sure they were no longer contenders. However, the class of 1962 refused to believe this and came from their initial loss to defeat the Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors, in succession, and win the class tourney crown. The final game was a runaway as the Freshmen defeated the Seniors by 20 points. The teamwork and spirit of the Freshman team were the contributing factors leading to their championship. It did not take long to figure out which class backed their team the most. The Freshman class's enthusiasm was certainly a boost to their team. So from the rest of the classes—"Congratulations Freshmen on being the first Freshman team to ever win the class tournament." These congratulations also extend to Coach Reglin for an excellent job. The coach of the "First Freshman Championship Team" awarded his team with a chicken dinner at his home and at his expense.

When I said I thought the Juniors would cop the tourney, I was only half wrong for the junior girls swept the tourney without losing a game. This is the third straight time that the class of 1960 has captured the women's title. I'm sure that taking the championship three years in a row would leave little doubt as to which class has the best women's team.

The defeat of the Chicago All-Stars by the Olivet "Tigers" marked the close of the 1958-59 basketball season, a year which saw the Olivet cagers go through an undefeated season. This is the first year that an Olivet basketball team has ever played in games against outside competition. Coach Ward is to be commended on such an excellent record. I hope that we will see more games against these and other such teams next year. The effect of Olivetians cheering for one team is much more gratifying than having them split into three separate cheering sections. Professor Ward has plans for a baseball team that will play other teams as the basketball team did. So boys, better oil your glove and sharpen your spikes for baseball season is just around the corner, and the competition is going to be rough.

Spence Hedrick grabs a rebound for Olivet in the game against the Chicago All-Stars. Other players taking part in the action are Tom Craig, Larry Hendrick, Jim Thompson, Kent Rollins, Howard Owens, Ken Rollins, and Jim Hutchinson. Olivet won the game 79-61.

OLIVET TEAM DEFEATS
CHICAGO STARS 79-61

One of the most exciting games of the year was played in Birchard gymnasium Friday night, March 6. This was the basketball game between a team of All-Stars from the Chicago district and our own Olivetian Stars.

The game got off to a fast start as the visitors moved out in front. They led throughout the first quarter as the Olivet "tiger" couldn't find the basket. However this did not last for long, as Olivet, behind the shooting of Howard Owens, came back and went ahead at half-time 39-29. Following Coach Ward's half-time instructions the boys in purple and white really began to roll. The Chicago Stars never could catch up as the fast-breaking "tigers" rolled to a 79-61 victory.

Howard Owens led all scorers as he ripped the nets for 35 points. Jim Hutchinson led the Chicago Stars with 16 points. Kent Robbins and Ken Robbins each added 15 points apiece.

The scoring was as follows:

Olivet All-Stars
	FG	FT	Pts.
Lobb	2	4	8
Craig	4	2	10
Hendrick	5	0	10
Pasko	1	1	3
Owens	14	7	35

Chicago All-Stars
	FG	FT	Pts.
Thompson	2	0	4

Ken Robbins	6	0	12
Kent Robbins	8	0	16

Total	27	7	61

Lobb Is High Scorer
In Class Tournament

Montez Lobb, who led the intramural scoring this year, also was high scorer for the class tourney. Monty averaged 21 points a game for the three games that the Juniors played. Howard Owens placed a close second with a 20.25 average Owens scored 81 points in 4 games. The top scorers are:

Player	Gms.	Pts.	Ave.
Lobb	3	63	21.00
Owens	4	81	20.25
Rieken	3	52	17.33
Hutchinson	1	59	14.75

Pasko	4	41	10.25
Dishong	3	29	9.67
Figge	4	38	9.50
Craig	3	27	9.00

Pat Wall Rallies
For Senior Team

Pat Wall scored 38 points in the two games the Seniors played to post a 19 point average. Marilyn Trimble and Roberta Hunter were second and third respectively. They averaged 16.00 and 15.67 points per game. The leading scorers were:

Player	Gms.	Pts.	Ave.

Trimble	3	48	16.00

Olivet. This year Olivet, in addition to having a baseball schedule is going to have a varsity baseball team. Coach Ward has sent out some fifty-five letters to teams in hope of scheduling games for the varsity team. The team will consist of the best players of the three intramural teams. Let's everyone make plans now to attend these games this spring. The team will need your help and I'm sure that you will enjoy the games.

"LET'S GET WITH IT"

by Jeanne Eckley

In answer to this statement you inquire, with what? The question is the current Olivet slang, or a more intelligent way of speaking? In case you haven't a broad knowledge of Olivet slang, I'll cite a few examples one might overhear in various conversations on campus.

"Cob dob it". I've really "goofed" this time. I just don't "dig" this history. Or, if I study now, I can "cool" it later. Well, I better "shag", I've got a class. "Yah", he's a real "gone cat" or, maybe he's a "bird", or a "cottonpicker", or an "oddball", or an "odd-lick". There are any number of ways to describe a person. A person engaged in deep conversation may be "shooting the breeze" or "chewing the fat", both very refined expressions you might note. It would take a little maneuvering to figure out this set of directions: Take this "jewel" here and place it on this "jobby" so that it won't fall off the "what-cha-ma-callit" and hit this "thing-a-ma-bob". But if you're well versed in this language, you've got it "sacked".

Recently, an Olivet speech class compiled a list of these commonly used slang expressions and gave reasons why we use slang and why we shouldn't use it. When finally completed, this vocabulary of slang and cliches reached a high total of 473 words. According to various students' opinions, people use slang mainly because of limited vocabulary of good expressive words, because of habit, because its a fast way of speaking, to be original and popular with the crowd, because it is used instead of foul language, and it is done without thought, carelessly and unconsciously. These students also observe that people shouldn't use slang because it shows lack of intelligence and is grammatically incorrect. It often sounds vulgar and may be taken for a foul word. It also cultivates a pattern and habit which may be hard to destroy when entering a future profession. Slang is termed improper and shows definite poor taste.

In view of these observations, what is your opinion as an Olivet student? Should we be afraid to let our intelligence show? Why not concentrate our efforts on improving our speech and lean not so heavily on this lazy way of conversing.

"Strictly Non-Personal"

by Phil Miller

Critics, heretics, tough intellectual clods skilled in their chosen specialties, but with an appreciation of all specialties, versus the usual type marriage mills and fun factories, devoted to beauty queens and autos rather than to higher education. This is the cry of one university professor who recently wrote an article published in Post. The title for those who have not read it is "Are We Making A Playground Out of College?"

Generally speaking this chap is excited by the level of scholarship he has observed throughout the ranks of sophisticated college boys and girls. Well, maybe the boy has a point but in all reality, who cares? To really be popular and "with it" you must do the following: (1) smile as if you were happy (2) look lost (3) always remain in the middle of the road (4) follow the crowd (5) wear the same clothes and styles everyone else does (6) never disagree (7) detest philosophy and courses that require thinking (8) be smart and get a system that has all the answers so you can drink coffee, and (9) be stamped out a finished product, which really means just play the role but don't live it.

In other words, the secret of success is calculated by how many clubs you belong to, what kind of car you are in debt for, and how sharp your beau is. Your interest should not rise above just mediocre. Now, clods, keep in this rut and groove and in the eyes of your fellows you will have mutual admiration.

The question is "to conform or not to conform" or be a clod and forget all about it.

NAE COLLEGES HOLD STUDENT SEMINAR IN WASHINGTON

Students of twelve evangelical colleges were given a close-range view of government operations through a Washington seminar sponsored by the National Association of Evangelicals in the nation's capitol, February 17-19. The participating colleges were: Asbury College, Wilmore, Kentucky; Bethel College, Mishawaka, Indiana; Calvin College, Grand Rapids, Michigan; Eastern Nazarene College, Wollaston, Massachusetts; Evangel College, Springfield, Missouri; Gordon College, Beverly Farms, Massachusetts; Houghton College, Houghton, New York; The King's College, Briarcliff Manor, New York; Providence-Barrington Bible College, Providence, Rhode Island; Taylor University, Upland, Indiana; Trinity College, Chicago, Illinois; Wheaton College, Wheaton, Illinois.

While in Washington the group met with several key figures in national affairs, including Senator Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill), minority leader of the Senate, Robert Kennedy, Chief Counsel, Senate Select Committee on Improper Activities in Labor and Management, Dr. Frederick Fox of the White House staff and Commissioner Barbara Bates Gunderson of the U. S. Civil Service Commission. Representatives of the secular and religious press—the fourth "department" of government—addressed the seminar and took part in the workshop periods. The program also included trips to the State and Defense Departments, the Supreme Court, the Capitol, the Library of Congress and the embassy section of the nation's capitol.

To participate in the seminar, students must be in good standing in one of the participating evangelical Christian colleges, must maintain a good scholastic average, must have completed a course in American government or American history and must have demonstrated an interest in federal service as a career opportunity.

Ninety students and faculty members attended this third such seminar sponsored by the National Association of Evangelicals. The purpose is to assist the student in becoming acquainted with major areas of government and their functions; to become informed on opportunities for careers in public service and the means by which one qualifies for appointment; and to secure an insight into the relation between political and Christian ethics.

Arrangements for the seminar program were handled through the Washington office of the National Association of Evangelicals which serves the churches of forty Protestant denominations in policy matters relating to government, and the bearing of international affairs on the work of Christian missions.

EVERY DAY PLEASURES depend so much on good seeing — Make sure you are really seeing well !
