Center for Marine and Wetland Studies to host land use planning forum

To promote the exchange of information and discussion of pressing environmental issues facing the Grand Strand, the Center for Marine and Wetland Studies will host part two of the annual Fall Forum, Land Use Planning, on Thursday, Oct. 8 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the Myrtle Beach Martinique Hotel, 7100 North Ocean Boulevard, Myrtle Beach. The forum is free and open to the public.

Panelists for Land Use Planning include Dana Beach, director of the South Carolina Coastal Conservation League; David Essex, assistant planning director of the Waccamaw Regional Planning and Development Council; Jack Walker, planner for the city of Myrtle Beach; Birney Blind, director of the Horry County Planning Department; Ken Driggers, executive director of the Palmetto Conservation Foundation; and Roy Mann, of Roy Mann and Associates of Austin, Texas. The forum will be moderated by Susan Libes. The panel will accept questions from the public.

The final segment in the 1992 fall Forum, Wetlands as Filters, will be held Thursday, Nov. 19.

The Center for Marine and Wetland Studies is partially funded through the Horry County Higher Education Commission. The center's mission is to facilitate research of the marine and wetland environment of the area. Ongoing projects include studies of coastal erosion, relative sea level changes, mineral resources and geological framework, wetlands, and water quality.

For information, call Steve Berkowitz. ~

On Campus is published biweekly on Monday by the Public Relations Office. Information to be included should be submitted by noon the Tuesday before publication.

Coastal Carolina College is an affirmative action, equal opportunity institution. ~

Faculty/Staff Dining Room open

For a relaxing luncheon break, faculty and staff should try the facilities in the new Faculty/Staff Dining Room located in the cafeteria adjacent to the Student Center overflow area.

Furnishings have been provided by the Horry County Higher Education

Commission and include a dining area with tables for six, when combined will seat 36 people. A conversation/relaxation area is furnished with love seats and occasional chairs.

The Faculty/Staff Dining Room is designated for faculty and staff use only. ~

Fellowships for future teachers announced

The James Madison Memorial Fellowship Foundation, a federally endowed program designed to strengthen instruction about the Constitution in the nation's schools, will award generous fellowships in 1993 for graduate study of the framing and history of the U. S. Constitution. Outstanding college seniors and recent college graduates who intend to become secondary school teachers of American history, American government, and social studies are eligible for awards.

Through nationwide competition, James Madison Fellowships will be awarded to at least one legal resident of each state, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the other U.S. territories. After completing study under a fellowship, James Madison Fellows are required to teach American history, American government, or social studies in a secondary school for a minimum of one year for each year of graduate assistance they receive.

Fellowships carry a maximum stipend of $24,000 (up to two years of full-time study for recent collegians), which can be used only to cover the costs of tuition, fees, books, and room and board. Fellows may enroll in graduate programs leading to master's degrees in American history, political science, or education offered by any accredited university. Participation in an accredited four-week summer institute on the principles, framing, ratification, and implementation of the Constitution and Bill of Rights is required of all fellows during the summer after completion of the first year of study.

Details about the program may be obtained on campus from Dennis Wiseman or from the James Madison Memorial Fellowship Program, P. O. Box 4030, Iowa City, Iowa 52243-4030. ~

Balancing Your Priorities, presented by Sarah Ann McDearmon, will conclude the four-part series on Wednesday, Oct. 21 at 1:30 p.m., in SC 205.

All programs are free and open to everyone.. For more information, contact Vicki Gardner. ~

Coastal administrator gets leadership award

Sally Z. Hare has received the 1992 Distinguished Leadership Award for exhibiting leadership, accomplishment, and spirit in her community.

Sponsored by Sprint, the world-wide supplier of voice, video and data services, the award was presented Sept. 15 at the Community Leadership Annual Conference in Orlando, Fla.

Hare was nominated for the award by Leadership South Carolina, a community leadership program administered through the University of South Carolina in Columbia. A 1988 graduate of Leadership South Carolina, Hare serves as vice-chair of the Leadership South Carolina program and a member of the selection committee.

In 1991, Hare was the recipient of the Martha Kime Piper Memorial Award for leadership in higher education. The award is presented annually by the South Carolina Women in Higher Education Administration to those showing exemplary commitment to women in higher education. She was president of SCWHEA from 1987 to 1991.

Hare received a $35,000 Kellogg Fellow grant in 1990 to fund a three-year self-designed plan of study.

In 1989, she was named Outstanding Continuing Educator in South Carolina and won the National Award in Community Development from the National Continuing Education Association. The University of South Carolina named her Outstanding Woman Administrator in 1987.

She joined the Coastal faculty in 1973 as instructor of education. She has since held the positions of assistant professor of education, coordinator of Graduate Studies, and associate vice chancellor of Academic Affairs. She earned all of her degrees in education from the University of South Carolina: bachelor's degree, 1969; master's degree, 1971; and Ph.D., 1975. ~

Two scholarship recipients named

First recipient named for Thomas J. Trout Scholarship

Kimberly Parrott, a senior majoring in English, is the first recipient of the Thomas J. Trout Scholarship. The scholarship was approved in August 1992 by the Horry County Higher Education Commission as a tribute to the late Distinguished Professor.

The $1,000 annual scholarship is awarded to a rising junior or senior who is majoring in English. The scholarship is renewable through the recipient's senior year providing eligibility requirements are met. The scholarship recipient must be a full-time student and maintain at least a 3.0 grade point average. Selection of a recipient by the Coastal Scholarship Committee is determined on the basis of individual motivation toward higher education and potential for academic achievement. Preference for the scholarship is given to applicants from Horry County.

Parrott was nominated for the award by faculty in the Department of English. She plans to graduate in May 1993 with a double major in English and English education. Parrott said she hopes to teach in the Sumter or Columbia area following graduation.

Originally from Atlanta, Parrott and her husband, John, live at Shaw Air Force Base in Sumter, where he is a staff sergeant. ~

Sandy Island resident is Forsythe Scholar

Cotielia Herriott, a freshman majoring in education, is the recipient of the Ruby M. Forsythe Scholarship. Herriott lives on Sandy Island in Georgetown County. She is a 1992 graduate of Waccamaw High School and is the daughter of Douglas and Ida Herriott.

Established in 1990 and administered by Coastal Educational Foundation, Inc., the scholarship is a tribute to the Pawleys Island educator who died May 29, 1992. Preference for the scholarship is given to applicants from the Waccamaw Neck area of Georgetown County.

Scholarship holders must be full-time students and maintain at least a 2.75 grade point average. Selection of recipients by the Coastal Scholarship Committee is determined on the basis of individual motivation toward higher education, potential for academic achievement and financial need. Students who qualify for the scholarship may be eligible for up to full-tuition for a full year. Awards are made annually.

The Ruby M. Forsythe Scholarship has been made possible with the assistance of Litchfield residents Margaret Forbes Grant and Alexander M. Grant, and Murrells Inlet resident and Coastal Educational Foundation, Inc. Director Dr. R. Cathcart Smith. ~

New faculty treated to community tour

As an introduction to Horry County, new faculty members were recently treated to a day-long tour of the county – from Loris tobacco warehouses and Playcard Swamp to the plentiful golf courses and resorts of the beaches.

The group of 10 departed from campus with historian and former Horry County Librarian Catherine Lewis aboard a van bound for the western reaches of the county. Lewis also was named an Honorary Founder of the college in 1990. The first stop was the Conway Chamber of Commerce where Debby Brooks, the chamber's executive director, introduced the group to services Conway provides, the city's downtown revitalization program, and the Riverwalk project.

While Lewis related stories of Horry's humble beginnings and the founding of the college in 1954, the group soon headed to Playcard Environmental Education Center in the western reaches of the county for an overview of the vast environmental activities the center provides for Horry County youth. The college plays an active role with and provides consulting services to the Playcard center through its faculty resources and the college's Center for Marine and Wetland Studies.

At Brick Warehouse and New Loris Warehouse in Loris, the group was treated to a late-season live tobacco auction in the golden leaf belt of the Carolinas. Harvey Graham Jr., Loris agri-businessman and owner of Brick Warehouse, led this leg of the tour.

Loading the van before noon, the group headed east to the coast. While lunching at Myrtle Beach's Sea Island Inn, Cecil Brandon, executive director of Golf Holiday, recapped the history of Myrtle Beach and gave the group a taste of how the golf business developed on the Grand Strand.

At the Myrtle Beach Area Chamber of Commerce, Anne DeBock finished the day's activities with a discussion of the scope of the tourism industry on Horry County and South Carolina.

According to June Brown, the tour was arranged to introduce new faculty members to the dichotomy of Horry County – from its rural heritage to bustle of the tourism industry. "The tour was intended as an introduction to the community that these new professors will call home. Also, through their interacting in the community in this way, we hoped to give the faculty a taste of the intense community support Coastal Carolina College enjoys." ~

College Theater to present Woody Allen's "Don't Drink the Water"

As part of the 1992-1993 Wheelwright Passport season, Woody Allen's comedy, Don't Drink the Water, will be presented by Coastal Theater on Friday, Oct. 9 and Saturday, Oct. 10 at 7:30 p.m.; and Sunday, Oct. 11 at 3 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. Tickets are $8 and $5 for students and may be charged to VISA and MasterCard.

Don't Drink the Water is a situational comic love story about a small American embassy in an equally small country. Ambassador Magee is returning to the United States on a political mission and leaves his son Axel, an inept career diplomat, in charge of the embassy. As soon as the ambassador's plane takes off, the embassy becomes embroiled in an international incident. Bumbling Axel Magee precipitates a diplomatic uproar when he suggests that a family of tourists accused of taking pictures of military installations are probably American spies. The secret police keep the Hollander family under house arrest in the embassy, while demanding the return of one of their spies. Amidst the chaos, Axel finds love with the beautiful Susan Hollander.

Director David Millard said the play is a hilarious display of Woody Allen's comic genius. "The local audience will find this play about tourists and their mishaps and remarkable adventures familiar territory," he said.

The cast of Don't Drink the Water includes the following students:

- Michael Matthews is a junior theater major from Johnsonville
- Christi McCray, a freshman English major from Conway
- Matthew Bohling is a senior majoring in marine science from Owego, N.Y.
- Kenneth Campbell, from Green Sea, is a freshman majoring in secondary education with an emphasis on math
- Michael 'Sculley' Deakins, a freshman majoring in theater from New Orleans
- Eric Lavoie, a sophomore from Little River with an undeclared major
- Jennifer Okola, from Queens Village, N.Y., graduated from Coastal in 1992 with a degree in marketing and has returned to pursue a second degree in theater
- Byron James Ryan, a freshman theater major from Myrtle Beach
- Jason Daniel Vail, a junior theater major from Lancaster
- Dargan Baldwin, an Horry-Georgetown Technical College student from Pawleys Island

Faculty members in the cast are Bob Nale and Glenda Sweet. Jim Collins from Long Island, N.Y. will also appear in the production.

For more information, call the Wheelwright Box Office which is open weekdays from noon to 5 p.m. ~

Passport to feature German film "The Nasty Girl"

The Wheelwright Passport Film Series will feature the 1991 German film The Nasty Girl, Sunday, Oct. 18 at 3 p.m. in Wheelwright Auditorium. Admission is $3 and $1 for students.

Director Michael Verhoeven brings to the screen the true story of a young girl in a small German town whose decision to write a competition essay about her hometown during the Nazi years turns her life upside down. What she tries to uncover would rather be left unseen by most of the populace and she faces lies, evasions, bureaucratic confrontations, and even threats to her life. In Verhoeven's hands this all comes off as an ironic black comedy that shakes the bones in collective closets.

For more information, contact the Wheelwright Box Office. ~

National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week observed on campus

To kick-off the National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, the Alcohol and Drug Prevention Program is sponsoring Violence in Relationships, a lecture presented by Joyce Steinbrecher from CASA (Citizens Against Spouse Abuse.) The program will be Monday, Oct. 19 at 1:30 p.m. in SC 204 and is free and open to the public.

October is also Domestic Violence Awareness Month.

The schedule for additional activities to be held during National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week will be announced in the next edition of On Campus and on flyers distributed on campus.

For more information, contact Vicki Gardner. ~

Important notes . . .

- As mandated by the Motor Vehicle Management Act of South Carolina, the University must annually rescreen the driving record of all drivers of University vehicles. The state requires that all out-of-state drivers and all student drivers annually provide a copy of their driving record from the state of issuance. If your department/club/organization plans to hire a new student or has returning students who might drive a University vehicle, they must obtain a copy of their driving record, complete the screening form TS-100, and sent it to the Transportation Services Office. No one will be allowed to drive a University vehicle until an up-to-date driving is provided. Questions should be directed to Wanda Lewis.

- The location for the Graduate School and Career Information Fair, to be held Tuesday, Oct. 13 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., has been changed to the Student Center overflow area. For information, contact Mollie Starbuck.

- The Physical Education Center will be closed Saturday, Oct. 10 and Sunday, Oct. 11 for painting and repairs. ~

A reminder from the P. E. Center

Faculty and staff are invited to visit the Physical Education Center and obtain information concerning programs and family memberships offered by the center.

If you are in a full-time faculty or staff position, you are automatically a member of the center. Memberships are available for additional family member's use of the facility for an annual fee of $50. Last year's family memberships expired Aug. 31, 1992 and must be renewed for this year's facility use by family members.

For more information, contact the P. E. Center. ~

Coastal Carolina People

David Barnwell and James Blackburn attended the fall meeting of the South Carolina Council on Foreign Languages Placement and Curriculum held Sept. 19 in Columbia.

Doug Nelson recently received a contract renewal for surveying beaches in the Grand Strand region. Nelson has been responsible for gathering beach erosion data for South Carolina Coastal Council since 1986. This contract will give dozens of marine science majors the opportunity to learn new skills while receiving monetary compensation and will be able to take on the responsibility of gathering data used for beach management decisions. The contract involves surveying during the fall and again in the spring.

Sandi Shackelford recently read a sampling of poetry written by Archer M.

Huntington to the accompaniment of classical Spanish guitar performed by Tom Yoder. The performance, presented at Brookgreen Gardens Education Center, was based on a work by the Brookgreen Gardens founder who had a life-long fascination with Spain. While frequently traveling in Spain, Huntington collected cultural artifacts and was deeply moved by the land and its people and produced scores of poems which preserve Spain's heritage.

Charles Joyner will lead a discussion of the southern classic, A Woman Rice Planter by Elizabeth Allston Pringle under the pen name of Patience Pennington, Saturday, Oct. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the Brookgreen Gardens Education Center. The book, first published in 1913, offers insights into a broad spectrum of southern life after the civil war. ~

Phi Alpha Delta sponsors event to present congressional candidate

Phi Alpha Delta invites students, faculty, and staff to meet District One Congressional candidate Bill Oberst on Thursday, Oct. 8 from noon to 1:30 p.m. in Spadoni Park. Participants will be able to speak to the candidate in an informal setting and learn how he stands on important issues. Bring a bag lunch; iced tea will be provided.

Phi Alpha Delta is a national law fraternity established to promote the principles of liberty and equal justice under law for all citizens and to stimulate excellence in scholarship.

The group also encourages faculty, staff, and students to vote on Nov. 3.

For more information, contact Deborah Pittman-Page at 293-4924. ~
