Clichés

‘Which car do the spies usually ride in?’

‘Spies? Yeah.’

‘This wouldn't by any chance be the Orient Express, would it?’

‘Oh, look, I didn't know they had little hallways like this. I thought they all, they all had compartments that opened on the outside.’

‘That's only in those foreign movies you've been seeing.’

Physical features

'He's carrying a gun.'

'A lot of people carry guns.'

'You don't.'

'It's a good thing I don't.'

'Oh! Probably a detective.'

'No! No! No! That's a criminal type if I ever saw one. Close-set beady eyes and a weak chin. Detectives have wide-set eyes and a strong chin. Oh.'
