

WARM, TREMBLING, ETC. FIONA SCHICHO

How is your mom? I thought I saw her brief but maybe just.

I add it to my grocery list of Ideas to Ruminate On a budding pine cone sporks the eventual heat death of the universe which brings me to this. I wish I could study the lines on your palm, the scar on your left elbow, one eyelash.

But this is not a song that could begin in hello and end with goodbye and so I will return to my cave, warm, trembling, etc. fresh from my self-inflicted wounds, from scrubbing the you off of me.