

University of Rhode Island DigitalCommons@URI

Symposium Proposals

3rd Annual LGBT Symposium [1997]

1996

Walking the Walk vs. Talking the Talk:

Joy S. Whitman

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.uri.edu/symposium_proposals

Recommended Citation

Whitman, Joy S., "Walking the Walk vs. Talking the Talk:" (1996). Symposium Proposals. Paper 18. https://digitalcommons.uri.edu/symposium_proposals/18https://digitalcommons.uri.edu/symposium_proposals/18

This Proposal is brought to you for free and open access by the 3rd Annual LGBT Symposium [1997] at DigitalCommons@URI. It has been accepted for inclusion in Symposium Proposals by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@URI. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@etal.uri.edu.

PURDUE UNIVERSITY CALUMET

Holly J. Nichols. Chair 3rd Annual Symposium Women's Studies Program URI, Roosevelt Hall Kingston, RI 02881

Dear Dr Nichols:

r

October 22, 1996

I am writing in response to the call for papers/presentations for The 3rd Annual Symposium on Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender Issues Enclosed please find my proposal for a presentation on the relationship between heterosexism and sexism It is a presentation I believe would be relevant for this symposium and would provide an experiential opportunity for attendees to become more aware of their own heterosexism and sexism.

I look forward to hearing from you in regard to this proposal You may reach me at (219) 989-2693 or by e-mail at whitman@nwi calumet purdue edu Thank-you for considering this presentation

Sincerely,

S bulitman

Joy S Whitman Faculty-Department of Education Purdue University Calumet

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION Hammond, Indiana 46323-2094 (219) 989-2335 Proposal for The 3rd Annual Symposium on Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender Issues

Presenters: Joy S Whitman, Ed D, Cynthia J Boyd, Ph D, and Rob Ferguson, Ph D

Title:

"Walking the Walk vs. Talking the Talk: Confronting our Subtle Heterosexism and Sexism"

Nature/

Summary of

Presentation: The primary task of this presentation is to explore the ways in which heterosexism and sexism intersect and pervade interpersonal interactions and assumptions about others. The content of the presentation is informed by the social psychology literature on prejudice and stereotypes. It has been found that even among low prejudice individuals, regardless of sexual orientation, there can exist a discrepancy between what we think we should do and what we actually do when interacting with gay/lesbian/bisexual/transgender persons. This discrepancy is typically outside of our immediate awareness and therefore may affect interpersonal interactions in covert and insidious ways. This is particularly important for those in the helping professions, such as nursing, teaching, social work, counseling, and the like. The emphasis will be on the exploration and open discussion of one's own heterosexism and sexism, a subject appropriate for everyone, regardless of one's sexual orientation wassin?

The format includes both didactic and experiential components. The goals are twofold: First to increase awareness of the ways in which heterosexism and sexism all of us, particularly those in the helping professions and gay/lesbian/bisexual/transgender communities; and second to provide participants with an opportunity to experience the discrepancy that may exist between conscious and unconscious processes surrounding the issues of heterosexism and sexism The first goal will be attained through a short presentation of the literature in this area. The second component will be attained by having all participants complete questionnaires designed to highlight the attitude/behavior discrepancy. Small group discussions will be facilitated by the presenters followed by an open discussion among all participants

We expect to accomplish the above mentioned goals in approximately 1.5-2 hours. The only visual aids needed would be an overhead projector