Diggle aide Hardt resigns post

By Mke Springston
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

John Hardt has resigned his position as executive assistant to the student president for what he termed academic reasons.

Hardt, a senior in political science, said his student government job was taking up too much of his time and interfering with his studies.

"The job got in the way of my academic career," Hardt said. "That's supposed to come first so I had to make a decision to change directions."

"It's not the kind of job that you can walk away from after four hours. You have deadlines to meet and sometimes you work here (student government of-rice) when you should be in class."

Student president Doug Diggle said Hardt would be extremely difficult to replace.

Hardt resigned after the first of the year but stayed on over break to handle unfinished business.

Diggle said a replacement for Hardt has not been found. Hardt said he did not plan to return to student government.

He served as an executive assistant since fall 1974. Before that he was the treasurer-manager of the credit union for the 1973-74 school year and chairman of the student welfare commission during the 1972-73 term.

Student government lost another officer Tuesday when Lloyd Haims resigned his position as chairman of the Campus Judicial Board.

Haims, a graduate student, quit his position to become the night manager of the Student Center. The Student Government constitution prohibits University staff members from holding positions in student government, Haims said.

Haims was the first graduate student to sit on the campus J-Board when he joined the board last March. He became chairman in June.

Paul Risk, acting chairman pro tem of the board, will become the acting chairman until a replacement can be found for Haims.

University approved housing surplus seen

By Peggy Sagona
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The cramped quarters and temporary housing problems experienced by students last fall, will not be a problem this semester, James Osberg, supervisor of off-campus housing, said Tuesday.

"From what I see, there seems to be a decrease in enrollment. It should be no problem for people to find a place to live. There is adequate housing on and off campus," he said.

There are about 63 university-approved facilities off-campus with a capacity of 2,900, Osberg said.

"The type of housing most in demand are the apartments, houses and mobile homes and there are a shortage of these," he said.

Kirby Browning, director of admissions and records, said, "There have always been fewer students in the spring than there are in the fall." Spring enrollment figures will not be available for two weeks.

There are 59 vacancies in the single student housing areas on campus, according to Sam Rinella, director of University Housing, but Evergreen Terrace and Southern Hills are completely filled and there are long waiting lists.

There are also no vacancies at University Courts or Elizabeth Apartments, according to Oma Jacobs, secretary for University family housing.

Joe Gasser, assistant director of University Housing, said he has talked to a number of students living in on-campus dormitories who want to get out of their housing contracts to return home to work or attend junior college.

If the empty spaces do not fill up, students will have the option to move into a single room "once everything settles down," he said.

At the Baptist Student Center there are seven rooms empty in the men's dorm and 15 that are empty in the women's dorm.

"Although the rooms are for two people, if during the semester there is a vacancy and one person wants to fill it, they can," said Pam Ritzel, manager of student accounts at the Baptist Student Center.

Virginia Hopkins, secretary at Beming Real Estate says that they have no vacant apartments and have been filled up for over a month.

SIU readies for "street fight" on MP4

By Ray Urchel
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

SIU has promised a "street fight" on Master Plan—Phase Four (MP-4) when the Illinois Board of Higher Education holds the last in its series of public hearings on the document in Carbondale Wednesday.

The hearing is scheduled to be held in Ballroom B of the Student Center from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

MP-4 is the IBHE's plan for the future goals and guidelines for higher education in Illinois. It has been labelled the "Mein Kampf of Illinois" by SIU-E President John Rendleman.

At its December meeting, the SIU Board of Trustees promised a "street fight" on the MP-4 recommendations which include limiting tuition waivers and increasing tuition rates to one-third of instructional costs.

Persons wishing to testify will be able to sign up at a table in Ballroom B on a first-come, first-served basis.

When the IBHE approved the hearing dates earlier this month in Chicago, James Furman, executive director, said anyone who wanted to testify at a hearing would be allowed to do so within a certain time limit. However, several persons were prevented from appearing before the IBHE in Rockford last week when the board decided to adjourn one hour early.

No one from the IBHE was available for comment Tuesday either in Belleville, where a hearing was being conducted, or at the IBHE's offices in Springfield.

Students also complained about being denied time to speak at the hearing Jan. 13 in Elmhurst.

Although the IBHE has not approved the MP-4 document, it has recommended tuition hikes in its higher education budget for fiscal year 1977.

SIU President Warren W. Brandt said Tuesday that, should Walker accept the IBHE recommendation and ask the General Assembly for a tuition increase, college students and their families may be able to exert their opposition at the ballot box.

"There are a lot of students and if they can get their parents (to vote for legislators who oppose the tuition increase), that's a lot of votes," Brandt said.

Brandt estimated that there are between 200,000 and 300,000 students enrolled in Illinois universities. "If each of those (families) has a couple of votes" they should be able to "rustle up three-quarters of a million votes," Brandt estimated. "That's a pretty potent force," he added.

Brandt said "at this stage of the game" no one knows whether Gov. Daniel Walker will follow the recommendation of the IBHE and recommend a tuition increase to the legislature.

Citing the Association of Illinois Student Governments (AISG) lobby in Springfield as another means of fighting the tuition increase, Brandt said, "These really don't become avenues unless it becomes an issue in the legislature," Brandt said. "At this stage of the game we don't know whether it will or whether it won't."

Walker is scheduled to submit his budget requests to the legislature on March 3.

SIU awaits ruling on CIPS increase

By Ray Urchel
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

SIU and six Central and Southern Illinois companies are awaiting a ruling by the Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) which will determine whether the Central Illinois Public Service Co. (CIPS) will be allowed to raise its electricity rates, John W. Huffman, SIU legal counsel, said Tuesday.

Oral arguments were heard in Chicago last week and a ruling is expected in about two months, he said.

CIPS is asking for an increase of "about 20 per cent," Huffman said, which would cost the University an estimated $450,000 annually.

Huffman said the University is affected substantially "in the amount of money we have to pay" for electricity when increases are granted. "Only so much is appropriated for utility costs (in the University budget)," he said. "And we have to make up the difference elsewhere."

"We have been faced with two rate increases in the last two years," Huffman said. Last year the ICC granted CIPS a 9 per cent increase, with SIU as the only objector. In 1973 CIPS got a 12 per cent increase.

Dick Higgerson, member of the University's legal staff, said CIPS also has a "fuel adjustment clause" in its contract with the University which allows the electric company to raise the cost as of electricity when fuel costs increase.

The combined impact of the rate increases by CIPS and adjustments in the fuel adjustment clause "has been considerable in the last two or three years," Higgerson said.

Huffman said the University can anticipate a 35 per cent increase in its electric bill, estimated at about $1.3 million "if the full CIPS request is adopted."

Huffman said the cost of coal for the steam plant has increased 300 per cent in the last three years with an additional fuel adjustment hike of 500 per cent.

Huffman said the ICC can either grant the entire request, allow a portion of it, or reject it.

Officials for CIPS were unavailable for comment Tuesday afternoon.

Counsel search begins with 12 applications

By Ray Urchel
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Twelve persons have either been nominated or have applied for the position of SIU legal counsel, Hollis Merritt, special assistant to President Warren Brandt, said Tuesday.

Merritt said SIU has placed advertisements in a higher education newspaper and have two ads scheduled to be printed in law journals. The University has also written letters to some presidents of several land grant colleges and universities soliciting nominations for the post held by John Huffman since 1972.

"I would guess that it will be after these two law journals go to press that we will receive substantial response," he said.

The deadline for submitting applications or nominations for the position is March 1, Merritt said.

"We won't start the screening until the deadline has been reached," he explained. "After that the screening process should move quite rapidly," Merritt added.

Some previous experience in higher education is desirable, he said, but not mandatory. Candidates for the position must either be practicing law in Illinois or eligible to practice in the state when they take the position.

The salary for the legal counsel, who reports directly to the president, is negotiable and will depend upon the amount of previous legal experience, Merritt said.

Brandt said he was uncertain when a new legal counsel might be appointed.

"I don't know. It depends how fast the committee moves," he said. "It certainly takes a few months," he added.

Huffman announced last June that he wanted to resign so he could return to private practice. He is continuing to serve as legal counsel until a replacement is named.

No shortage foreseen for approved housing

"The students are just begging for places to live," she said. "It really irritates them when I say that there are no vacancies, they swear, slam up the phone and seem very disappointed," she added.

"I feel sorry for them, but don't know where to tell them to go," Hopkins said.

Carbondale Mobile Homes have been filled up since July with not much turnover except for those students who have graduated, said Don Beatrice, manager of the Carbondale Mobile Homes.

"It definitely seems that students prefer mobile homes over the dormitories and some move in because of apartments being too noisy."

"People really don't know what they want, they wander around here, leave and then come back because the dorm here is cleaner and newer than some of the others," said Jim Conwell, manager of Forest Hall.

"Because we haven't advertised there are twelve vacancies," he said. "The coed dorm holds 80 residents, but there are rooms still available."

"Very little turnover takes place at the beginning of the second semester, possibly because people are fearful of not finding something else along with pressure from the landlords to decide whether the tenants are going to stay at their present location," Osberg said.

Angolan peace talks rumored, fighting goes on

(AP)—Rival Angolan factions, fighting with Communist and Western backing for control of the strategic African country, were reported in possible decisive battles on three fronts Tuesday. Speculation grew that peace talks would soon be held in Kenya.

Reports from battlefronts within Angola said Cuban-led MPLA forces, making strong thrusts into the southern regions, were meeting tough resistance from UNITA and several thousand white troops believed to be South Africans. The Johannesburg Star of South Africa reported that Jonas Savimbi, leader of Angola's pre-Western National Union UNITA forces, met with leaders of neighboring Zambia to discuss a peace settlement for the war-torn country.

The newspaper quoted informed sources as saying 23 moderate black African states, seeking an end to the year-long Angolan conflict, have agreed the Communist-backed Popular Movement MPLA should take the leading role in a MPLA-UNITA coalition government.

Justices hear housing discrimination case

WASHINGTON (AP)—A landmark housing discrimination case which has been in the courts for nearly 10 years was placed in the hands of the Supreme Court Tuesday.

The court heard arguments on a challenge to the system of site selection for public housing projects in Chicago. Its decision will affect other cities as well. The issue boils down to whether federal courts may require the location of low income housing in predominantly white suburbs to break up inner-city segregation. The justices are expected to decide the case during their current term, which will probably end late in June. The government appealed the case to the high court last February after the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago ordered the formulation of a "comprehensive metropolitan area plan" for housing desegregation.

Budget Act urges cost ceilings, timetables

WASHINGTON (AP)—When Congress gets President Ford's budget Wednesday the new machinery the lawmakers constructed to give themselves a better grip on the nation's fiscal plans will go fully into effect for the first time.

The Budget Act not only invites Congress to set spending ceilings for itself, but it imposes a tight timetable on all legislative actions that have to do with money. The schedule is so demanding that some members question whether it can be followed, but publicly the budget committees of the House and Senate insist it can and will.

House Speaker Carl Albert in an interview said budget items will take precedence and all general legislation will have to stand aside until the early deadlines are met. The House Budget Committee has scheduled two weeks of hearings on the budget. They begin Monday. The Senate committee is to begin its deliberations Feb. 3.

Jimmy Carter takes lead in Iowa

DES MOINES, IOWA (AP)—Candidates and observers were guarded Tuesday in their assessment of Iowa's pre-empt caucus in which former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia finished ahead of other Democratic presidential contenders in the campaign's first test of grass-roots voter sentiment. Republicans made no attempt to tabulate returns from their precinct caucuses, but in a random sampling of 62 precincts, President Ford edged former California Gov. Ronald Reagan 264 to 248. Both camps, however, said the sampling was of limited value in indicating the relative strength of the candidates.

Carter won 27.6 percent of the delegates to 13.2 per cent for Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana. But with reports from 88 per cent of the precincts counted, 37.2 per cent of the delegates were not committed to any candidate.

Wallace begins Illinois primary campaign

CHICAGO (AP)—Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, opening his Illinois presidential primary campaign, said Tuesday that welfare funds and not a tax increase should be used to bolster the Social Security system.

At a series of airport news conferences, Wallace said he opposes a plan of President Ford's to increase Social Security taxes. He said stricter enforcement of welfare eligibility rules would furnish money to support the system "until it became actuarially sound."

"Billions of dollars of welfare money goes down the drain in states like Illinois and others throughout this nation," Wallace said. "I would transfer some of these funds if necessary to the Social Security Trust Fund. We must step the continuous increase of taxes on the middle, class, which is the working man."

Wallace stopped first in the state capital of Springfield and flew on to Peoria and Chicago after which he left for Boston.

State court halts coal pollution controls

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The Illinois Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that Pollution Control Board regulations limiting the discharge of sulfur dioxide from coal-burning power plants may not be enforced until further study is made. The court ordered the delay in ruling on a suit filed by Commonwealth Edison, which said 83 per cent of the fuel used to fire its generating units is coal.

The high court upheld a lower court ruling that the "technical feasibility and economic reasonableness" of the 1975 PCB regulations had not been proved.

Notified of the decision, PCB Chairman Jacob D. Dumelle said the ruling could result in action by the federal government to enforce sulfur dioxide regulations. "Those are federal regulations too," he said. "The only question now is whether the feds will enforce them."

Local man faces rape charges in California

A 28-year-old former Carbondale man was ordered in Jackson County Circuit Court Tuesday to be placed in the custody of the Jackson County sheriff so he may be extradited to California to face criminal charges pending against him there.

Kenneth Hanson, currently in custody in the Jackson County Jail, is charged with rape in Monterey County in California. Hanson's attorney, Dennis Hogan, said he will appeal the order.

Hanson was acquitted of a rape charge in Jackson County in a jury trial in October. He is also charged with battery of an SIU coed last April and with unlawful use of weapons, both misdemeanors. Those charges are pending in Jackson County Circuit Court.

U.S. will not concede superiority-Kissinger

MOSCOW (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew here Tuesday night for critical nuclear arms talks, pledging to the American people that "we will never concede strategic superiority to the Soviet Union."

With a dark-brown fur hat perched on his head, Kissinger stepped from his jet into a light snowfall at subzero Vnukovo Airport. "I've come here for serious talks," he told reporters. "I wouldn't have come here if I didn't mean it."

The top-level discussions begin Wednesday with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev at the Kremlin. Even if there is an agreement in principle on a new treaty to limit offensive nuclear weapons, there will be a long interval before it could be implemented, a senior U.S. official said.

A break-through could lead to a visit by Brezhnev to Washington for a treaty signing with President Ford.

In Washington, a Senate subcommittee was told that the United States is not living up to the spirit of existing treaties limiting the testing and spread of nuclear weapons.

Adrian Fisher, the chief U.S. negotiator of the 1968 Non-Proliferation Treaty and now dean of the Georgetown Law Center, said the nation has lost sight of the true goals of the 1968 pact and the 1963 Nuclear Test Ban Treaty. He said the test ban included a commitment "to work as hard as we could to eliminate the production and testing of all nuclear weapons" but that this has not been done.

During a stop in Copenhagen,

Kissinger told a news conference that the Ford administration would not be influenced by political concerns in trying to achieve a nuclear agreement.

"The necessities of world peace will not be affected by our electoral process," he said.

The principal hangups at this point are whether to count the Russian Backfire bomber and the American Cruise missile against a ceiling of 2,400 strategic delivery vehicles for each power agreed to by Ford and Brezhnev in 1974.

The United States has offered a compromise that basically would exempt the Backfires, provided they are positioned beyond striking distance of the United States while limiting the range of Cruise, a low-flying drone descendant of World War II German buzz bombs.

The civil war in Angola figured to loom large in the talks. Kissinger intends to probe for a way to end all foreign intervention in the former Portuguese colony while warning the Russians that continued support for the Marxist faction in the civil war could imperil detente.

Negotiations with the Soviets about ending the war are conceivable, newsmen were told, but this would still leave the unsolved problem of gaining the withdrawal of the Cubans fighting alongside the Popular Movement—MPLA.

As the war looks now, a senior official said glumly, the Marxists could win within weeks.

City Council awards wastewater contract

By Terri Bradford
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Carbondale City Council awarded a $1,130,235.75 contract for the Northwest Wastewater Treatment Plant to Shawnee Constructors, Inc. of Marion in its formal meeting Monday.

Funds will be used to build an outfall line to distribute waste and a line to Southern Illinois Airport, said Bill Boyd, director of the Carbondale Public Works Department.

Boyd said the project concurs with state and federal Environmental Protection Agency regulations. Construction is scheduled to begin around March 1 following securing of approximately 25 property easements.

Commissioners also approved financing a $115,000 expansion of University City parking spaces with available revenue sharing funds.

The action was chosen instead of an alternative proposal to finance the parking improvements by borrowing funds from local banks and repaying the money during a 10-year period from parking rental revenue.

A dedication of 0.478 acres of land for utility purposes from William Budstick Sr. was accepted by council members. Located in the Southerly extension of Twinbrook Blvd. off Tower Road, the land will be used as an easement for extension of the sanitary sewer main south from the main on Pinewood Dr. to a point where a service main can be constructed to the Budstick home. The property will also provide a portion of the street network which will be required if the area develops as anticipated.

Council members awarded a $15,781.52 contract for a crime prevention support vehicle to North Shore Motor Homes of Glenview. The award may be increased by $1,215.25, should city funds become available.

An $8,787.42 contract for a school bus was awarded to Superior Coach Sales, Florissant, Mo. The 16-passenger bus will be utilized by the Child Care Center of the Eurma C. Hayes Center.

Council members approved the purchase of two fire department vehicles. An intermediate station wagon will be used as a captain's response car or business car, while the cube-type van will be used to transport necessary utility equipment to fires.

Normally tire equipment requests are considered with the annual budget, but because of a recent wreck involving the utility truck, the request gained precedence.

In other action, council members authorized modifications of the traffic lights at the intersections of Poplar and Main streets and at Oakland and Main streets to conform with Illinois Department of Transportation specifications. The project will be funded by the Department of Transportation.

Moslems increase control in Lebanese war

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Leftist Moslem militiamen apparently won control of large Christian areas of Lebanon Tuesday. A powerful Christian leader called for intervention by the United States, the United Nations or Western Europe.

U.S., Lebanese, Syrian and Israeli government and military sources denied reports of massive Syrian armed intervention in the war but indicated that an estimated 1,500 troops of the Palestine Liberation Army had crossed Lebanon from Syria to fight on the Moslem side.

U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger warned against outside intervention, and Arab League Secretary-General Mahamoud Riad called for an immediate Arab summit to settle the war.

State-run Lebanese television announced that Syrian Foreign Minister Abdul Halim Khaddam and the Syrian army and air force chiefs were due in Beirut on Wednesday to try to work out a settlement. Informed sources said Lebanese Moslem leaders had proposed Syrian Army Chief of Staff Gen. Hikmat Shehabi as a neutral negotiator.

A police spokesman said communications were out with much of the country but that Moslem forces appeared to have added most of northern and eastern Lebanon to the southern area they already controlled. "The last messages received reported scores of tiny Christian villages besieged by Moslem tribal warriors in the north and east," he said. "Hundreds of Christian families there have already fled to neighboring Syria."

Right-wing Christian forces held onto an area along the coast and mountains between Beirut and Tripoli and part of the capital itself. They were cleaning out Moslem pockets, including the last Palestinian holdout in the corpse-strewn Karantina slum of Beirut.

Police said more than 200 people were killed, most of them combatants, in the previous 24 hours. That raises the death toll since Jan. 1 to more than 2,050, in addition to the estimated 8,000 killed last year.

Interior Minister Camille Chamoun, 76-year-old leader of one of the private Christian groups fighting Moslems and Palestinians, called for the foreign intervention after he was evacuated by helicopter from his besieged seaside mansion south of Beirut. Chamoun, who as president in 1958 called in U.S. Marines to end another civil war situation, charged Monday night that up to 15,000 Syrian army troops had crossed into Lebanon. The Syrian government and Palestine guerrilla leaders denied it, and U.S. State Department and Israeli military officials discounted Chamoun's charge.

Palestinian and Lebanese military sources said Syrian-trained units of the Palestine Liberation Army—the official military wing of Yasir Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization—had moved into Lebanon. Intelligence sources here estimated their number at 1,500, and U.S. and Israeli officials agreed with it.

Israeli military sources said the Palestinian army could tip the balance to the Moslems in the battle for Beirut. Palestinian sources said that Israel was massing troops along Lebanon's southern border, but Lebanese authorities denied it. Israeli Defense Minister Shimon Peres toured the border and said the presence of large numbers of Palestinian guerrillas in the neighboring country had "direct implications on Israel's security."

Israel has previously indicated it will intervene in Lebanon if Syria does so, but has not said whether it considers Syrian-trained Palestinian army units to constitute Syrian intervention. Kissinger issued his warning against outside involvement in "the tragedy now befalling Lebanon" during a stopover in Copenhagen on his way to Moscow. He said the war "has the potential for drawing in outside powers" and warned against "any unilateral action that could lead to an expansion of hostilities."

In Washington, White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the State Department had sent warnings through diplomatic channels for all outside parties not to interfere in Lebanon.

Chamoun, whose home is in an enclave of four Christian villages under attack by Moslems and Palestinians for several days, issued his plea for intervention after talking with President Suleiman Franjeh and top military commanders. The president, a Christian, was left without a government when Premier Rashid Karami, a Moslem, resigned Sunday.

"The situation is developing rapidly," Chamoun told newsmen. "This requires an immediate internationalization of the crisis and an immediate intervention or we will end in catastrophe."

"The whole area is threatened," he added, "and this is why I ask the United Nations Security Council to intervene at once either through the United States or the European Economic Council."

Arab League Secretary-General Riad asked Arab governments to respond within 72 hours to his call from Cairo for a summit, which he proposed should take place before the end of the month.

IBHE must know tuition hikes have got to go!

By Lenore Sobota
Student Editor-in-Chief

While students are rushing around campus buying books, rearranging schedules, attempting to find places to live and generally losing their minds, the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) is working on an end to their misery: raising tuition levels so high that students will be unable to afford attending college!

The IBHE is holding a public hearing Wednesday in Carbondale on Master Plan—Phase Four (MP4) a document which, among other things, recommends increasing undergraduate tuition to one-third of instructional costs by 1980—a formula which could double SIU tuition within five years. But how many students will have time to shout their objections during this hectic period?

Is this timing merely a coincidence?
Denis Drake, a student at Northern Illinois University and member of the Student Revolutionary Brigade doesn't think so. He said the timing of the budget recommendations and master plan hearings was "pretty calculated."

"They know students are busy with books and the first few days of school. They are banking on the fact that students will be too busy to do anything about this. They were hoping people would just overlook it," he said.

Drake was among 20 people who protested the proposed tuition hikes at the IBHE meeting Jan. 6 in Chicago. The group walked to the meeting from the University of Illinois—Chicago Circle Campus, a distance of several miles, braving brisk winter winds whipping off the Lake Michigan shoreline only to be told when they arrived that the board had already approved a budget recommending an across-the-board $60 increase in undergraduate tuition at all the state universities.

Stuart Strong, spokesman for the Student Revolutionary Brigade, told the IBHE that students are prepared to organize statewide if necessary to fight the hike.

"You tell us it's too late, but we don't think it's too late. We're going to fight this thing that's coming down on us," Strong shouted with a fervor reminiscent of the anti-war movement of the early '70s.

Strong's speech was met with cheers of "Right on" and "Yes sir" by his followers, but IBHE members stared blankly, some inattentively. A few of the system representatives in the room chuckled and shook their heads.

The group, protest signs held high, marched out chanting, "We went to the board to let them know the tuition hike has got to go." After they left, the meeting continued as if the students had never been there.

The IBHE has gone too far.

Not only is it ignoring the objections of students and university officials with these proposed tuition hikes—it is exceeding its statutory authority, blatantly placing itself above the law through the use of budgetary clout.

By recommending tuition hikes in the Fy77 budget prior to soliciting citizen input, the IBHE has turned the master plan hearings into a farce.

But even if the IBHE is not listening to the testimony being given during the hearings, hopefully the governor and the legislature are and they are the ones who approve the final budget.

Students must go to the IBHE and let them know tuition hikes have got to go.

Abortions scarce

By William C. Wertz
Associated Press Writer

More than half of the Illinois women seeking abortions last year could not obtain them in their home state, according to a report by the Planned Parenthood Federation.

The national, nonprofit family planning group estimated that between 33,000 and 60,000 Illinois women who wanted abortions in 1974 could not obtain them in the state's medical facilities—apparently because many hospitals were reluctant to perform the operations.

Nationwide, Planned Parenthood estimated that between 500,000 and one million women were unable to have the operations performed last year.

The report said that since the 1973 Supreme Court decision making abortions legal during early pregnancy, the number of reported abortions performed in Illinois jumped from none reported in 1972 to 32,730 in 1973 and 53,670 in 1974. Nationwide, 587,000 abortions were reported in 1972, 745,440 in 1973 and 892,380 in 1974.

Most Illinois abortions, the study said, were performed in metropolitan areas. Of the 32,730 abortions performed in 1973, for example, nearly 31,000 were performed in Chicago, and only 160 were performed in non-metropolitan areas.

The Planned Parenthood study contends that most hospitals—public hospitals and hospitals in non-metropolitan areas, in particular—had failed to provide any abortions at all.

It argued that as a result, many women were being forced into "illegal or self-induced abortions or unwanted or mistimed births."

It said the default of hospitals also had led to the formation of "a separate, specialized clinic system, generally outside the mainstream of health care and often on a profit-making basis, which very rapidly provided services to a large number of women seeking them."

Of the 32,680 abortions performed in Illinois in 1973, the study said, 26,710 were performed in clinics, 3,300 in private hospitals, 2,620 in public hospitals and 160 in doctors' offices.

Illinois was one of nine states in which fewer than 5 per cent of all public hospitals provided abortions, the study said. Only in four states—Hawaii, New York, North Carolina and Oregon—did half or more of public hospitals report providing abortions in 1973, and in 11 states no public hospitals reported performing the operation.

Javits faces powerful foreign lobbyist—his wife

By Arthur Hoppe

I'll bet you could've knocked Senator Jacob Javits over with a feather when he discovered his wife, Marian, was a $67,500-a-year lobbyist and registered foreign agent for the Government of Iran.

"In our respective professional activities," he explained to the press when the story broke, "my wife and I lead independent lives."

This sounds as though he only learned the news when he picked up the paper at breakfast last week. ("By George, Marian, I was wondering why you hadn't been sorting my socks lately.")

But only the naive would believe a tale like that. After all, Mrs. Javits is a highly-paid lobbyist for a foreign government. Mr. Javits is an important member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Mrs. Javits would be cheating her employer if she didn't lobby Mr. Javits—but only in a proper businesslike way, of course.

"Excuse me, Senator, but there's a lobbyist to see you from the Government of Iran."

"Those militant, greedy Moslems who are always leading the fight in OPEC to hike oil prices? Throw the no good bum out!"

"She says her name is Mrs. Javits."

"Say, that's an amazing coincidence. Maybe you better show her in—if I know what's good for me. By golly, Mrs. Javits, so you're the new lobbyist for Iran. That sure is a pleasant surprise. What can I do for you?"

"Well, Senator, you know how we lobbyists operate. I thought I might take you out and buy you a drink or two."

"Gosh, I'd love to, Mrs. Javits, because you're a very attractive woman. But I'm a happily married man and I certainly wouldn't want to get in trouble with my wife."

"Yes, I hear you have a wonderful wife, Senator. A loyal helpmate like that should be rewarded. How would you like that should be rewarded. How would you like a nice mink coat for her as a token of your appreciation? I could put it on my expense account."

"That's awfully nice of you, Mrs. Javits. But my wife's a good Republican. And I know she wouldn't be caught dead in anything but a good Republican cloth coat."

"Take my advice and try her. Meanwhile, would you care to reconsider your anti-Iranian position in the United States Senate? I am authorized to promise a magnificent contribution to your campaign: The Shah, himself, will address a rally in your honor in the heart of New York's garment district."

"The Shah? Speaking for me? In the garment district? What kind of a promise is that?"

"Well, it's not exactly a promise, Senator. It's more like a threat."

Of course, maybe it didn't happen like that, either. Let's give the Senator the benefit of the doubt. She probably told him about the job in advance and he just covered the whole thing up.

But she shouldn't quit now. He should. After all, she's worth $22,875-a-year more to Iran than he is to America. And in politics these days you get what you pay for.

Stop execution of ten Iranian defendants

To the Daily Egyptian:

An AP dispatch from Tehran on December 31 stated that the government of Iran is planning to execute ten political opponents of the Shah by firing squad. They are charged with belonging to an urban guerrilla group and were allegedly instrumental in assassinating two U.S. Army colonels in Tehran last spring and another in June 1973.

Prior to AP's dispatch, the Iranian government-controlled press ran a series of sensational stories about the arrests the government had made in connection with the assassination of the two American colonels. Altogether, the names of seven individuals were given by the government, and there was no mention of a trial, military or otherwise. (Ettela'at, August 12, 1975) The only evidence cited by the government against the seven was based on "confessions" extracted by the SAVAK, the Shah's secret police, from the defendants.

While the arrests were apparently made last summer, the only mention of a trial came when the press was informed of the death sentences. It is doubtful if a trial actually did take place. At best, a secret military tribunal was convened where the prosecutors and court-appointed "defense" lawyers received their instructions from SAVAK after the defendants were made to "confess" in SAVAK torture chambers. This has been the pattern of previous trials, as has been noted in the international press. (London Sunday Times, January 19, 1975).

Although the names of all of the 10 defendants have not been disclosed, the AP dispatch contained the name of Ms. Manijeh Ashrafzadeh Kermani as one of those condemned to death. Another woman, Tahereh Sajjadi Tehrani, was sentenced to 15 years in prison. In the Iranian context of the growing number of women who have stood up in political opposition to the Shah's repressive regime, the execution of a woman political prisoner is a new and ominous sign. This is the first time that the Shah's regime has marked a woman political prisoner for execution.

Human decency and respect for life dictate that the Shah stay the execution of the ten Iranians. We urge that the Iranian government stop the execution of the ten defendants and permit the case of the ten to be remanded to the custody and protection of the United Nations Human Rights charter, of which Iran is a signatory. Telegrams and letters of protest should be sent to: Shah of Iran, Niavaran Palace, Teheran, Iran, or Ardeshir Zahedi, Ambassador, Iranian Embassy, Washington, D.C.

Please send a copy of the letter to Committee For Artistic and Intellectual Freedom in Iran, 853 Broadway, Suite 414, New York, N.Y. 10003.

SIU grad can't take it

To the Daily Egyptian:

For a moment, please indulge me. I'm a recent SIU grad who can't take any more.

"I'm not just a number—I'm a person!" Trite, but familiar. Sure it's a hassle, but just pay your money, follow the rules, don't flunk out, pay your money, register on time, take the right courses, pay your money, and you'll get that coveted piece of paper sooner than you think. Then, the bleak days of anonymity will be over, for the University really takes an interest in its graduates.

As a lowly undergrad, the only mail I ever got from the University always turned out to be bills, schedules, grades and overdue library notices. But now that I've got my "B.S." hardly a month passes without my finding something exciting from Carbondale from my mailbox.

"Pay your money and join the exciting Alumni Association," says the expensive University-printed pamphlet. "Pay your money and join the Alumni Book Club! Pay your money and join us for the Alumni Carnival Cruise! Pay your money right now for your exciting SIU license plate frames!"

Since I'm suddenly an Illinois taxpayer, too, it's really big of the University to spend money to print and send me "The News of the Campus." Look at the new 1.2 million dollar jail (oops, "security complex"), the million-dollar football stadium (the coach fired himself), the million-dollar portable parking lot ("long needed for...uhhh..."), and of course, look at ex-President Derge (oops), still on the University payroll (sshh), who led SIU backwards to semesters (oops), and abolished textbook rental ("a ridiculous free service to students"). Top SIU executives have even been free from indictments lately. I'm truly awed by these recent improvements.

Seriously, though, cynicism is only for the young and foolish, because the University really cares about its alumni. My heart warmed as I read the latest blurb from the "second jewel." Tears of emotion blurred by vision, but I managed to read the letter, which offered me free (free?) tickets to the "Alumni Recognition Basketball Game." The letter was signed by George (Student Fee Experimenter) Mace, who had apparently been promoted (?) to Vice-President of University Relations.

"Where do they find the money to do such wonderful things?" I pondered in gratitude. Then I noticed that the game was already played on Jan. 10, three days before I got the letter. "What an ingenious scheme," I marvelled. "It could've only been conceived by an SIU grad!"

So if the old education factory makes you feel dehumanized, take heart. When you graduate, it'll all be worth it. Worth at least the increased tuition you'll probably be paying next year.

Guns product of society

To the Daily Egyptian:

In the Dec. 13 Daily Egyptian, Jim Ridings implores the shallow image of an opponent of gun control to "think real (sic) hard." In view of the one-dimensionality of Ridings' articles and cartoons on gun control, I believe it is fitting to ask him whether he has seriously studied the matter himself as far as the roots of the problem are concerned.

Mr. Ridings would have received a somewhat different education had he studied "hard" five years ago at Jackson and Kent State Universities. I have not yet heard Ridings propose to disarm the Army, police, or National Guard.

Guns are ugly and dangerous. Violence is ugly and dangerous. Guns and violence are not products of, as Jim Ridings suggests, a lack of preventative legislation by the government. Rather, they are the legitimate products of a violently competitive social system. Sometimes this violence is subtle, like when children starve while agriculturalists are paid not to produce food. Occasionally, social violence is blatant, when women are raped by men or as evidenced in 1970 over the dead bodies of people who were not kin to the ruling class which controlled the government and directed the Indochina War.

What we need to do is eliminate the competitive system built upon violence which inherently exploits wage labor and oppresses women. To legislate weapons out of the hands of individuals within the context of the current system is to hand a blank check to the Duponts and Rockefellers signed with our blood.

Chess player wanted

To the Daily Egyptian:

I would like very much to play correspondent chess with some of the members of your Chess Club.

I have been told that some of the players there have come and played chess with the fellows in the general division, but this is the psychiatric center and no one came to play chess in this place. If you assign me a correspondent player, I am sure you will never regret it.

Security police incapable

To the Daily Egyptian:

Congratulations to the SIU Security Police for another job well done, in their own inimitable fashion. With dash and daring, they managed to swoop down on a "meeting" of suspicious characters and, with their usual efficiency, apprehend several dangerous characters.

The meeting was sponsored by the La Leche League—a group of nursing mothers—and was held at Evergreen Terrace on Thursday night, Dec. 11. With expert police procedure the SIU Security Police managed to disrupt the meeting without finding out who was there or what it was all about. Again, using all those hard years of learning and experience for which they are famous, they proceeded to impound several cars, not worrying about who owned them or how their owners might be contacted, and, by calling several of the local towing companies, who responded with alacrity to this "bonanza of towing business" on anotherwise "slow night," descended on these dangerous women and proceeded to tow away these suspicious vehicles.

Following through, the SIU Security officer on hand at the time of the incident managed to keep from talking to any of the women. He was not about to tell them what it was all about, where their cars were being taken, or how they might be recovered. The mere fact that several nursing mothers were left standing on the sidewalk at 9 o'clock at night with their babies in their arms had no bearing on his duty. He was going to "teach someone a lesson."

With all the tax money we pour into "police training" with extensive community relations programs that are conducted each year, it is amazing, to me at least, that these officers could not communicate with the women and at least attempt to "solve" the problem in a less arbitrary fashion.

The fact that both community and University wives were involved makes this an even more serious "blackeye" for your SIU Security Police.

I might suggest you teach a course in "elementary courtesy," and I have a third grade primer at home I would be glad to loan to your staff so that they might learn basic English in case the situation arises again.

I am aware of the many problems your force must face and in most instances handle "on the spot." In this case at least, everyone involved, from SIU Security Police to tow truck drivers, were inconsiderate, incapable and in competent.

It is standard procedure that, when a car is being towed off, if the owner arrives on the scene he may reclaim his car by paying a "service fee" to the tow truck driver.

I can assure you that, in the future, I will have a difficult time defending the SIU Security Police when they are criticized for their methods and actions.

Sincerely,

Larry Doyle

WCIL Radio sales manager

Editor's note: Virgil Trummer, chief of the SIU Security Police, said the action about which Doyle complained was taken in response to complaints by residents of Evergreen Terrace whose assigned parking places were occupied, apparently by cars of persons at the meeting.

Sonny defends father

To the Daily Egyptian:

I have been waiting to respond to your article, "Police officer son charged with murder," although I'm sure after reading this you will not publish it. My father, Clarence Harrington is a damn good police officer and he does his job, it's people such as yourself who should realize that by publishing an article such as that you are in your own smooth way harassing him, you make it sound as though he committed the crime or was the suspect. I feel you and your paper owe my father an apology for the way you included him in the article of something I'm charged with.

Clarence "Sonny" Harrington

Editor's Note: Clarence "Sonny" Harrington III pleaded guilty in Jackson County Court Monday to a charge of murder. His father, Clarence Harrington Jr. is an SIU Security policeman.

Kidney Foundation organizes chapter in Southern Illinois

By Scott Caldwell
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Southern Illinois chapter of the Kidney Foundation of Illinois, Inc., officially opened Sunday at its organizational meeting.

Membership in the chapter is free for anyone living in the 31 counties south of I-70 excluding the East St. Louis area.

The Kidney Foundation works for public and professional education regarding kidney problems and for patient services to provide easier access to treatment for persons with kidney problems, said Bruce Davis, a member of the chapter's public education committee.

Davis said one of the most common treatments is to have a person put on a dialysis machine for treatment once a week for four to six hours.

There are seven dialysis machines at Doctors Memorial Hospital that are to be moved to the Murdale Shopping Center in about

Grants offered for dissertations

Grants ranging up to $10,000 are being offered for doctoral dissertation by various agencies.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development is offering up to $10,000 for research related to housing and urban studies. Application deadline is March 1.

The Administration on Aging is offering grants of $5,000 to encourage research in areas of aging and the aged. Application deadline is March 31.

The Eagleton Institute of Politics is offering grants from $5,000 to $10,000 for research concerned with women and local government. Application deadline is March 31.

The Argonne National Laboratory is offering summer internships of $125 per week to graduate students in chemistry, biology, environmental science, energy research, mathematical and computer science. Application deadline is February 25.

two weeks.

Currently there are 19 people in the Southern Illinois area that use the dialysis machines.

Davis said that one of the aims of the foundation is to educate doctors about how to spot potential kidney patients and to keep them informed about progress in research.

The foundation sponsored a drive that has made it possible for potential kidney donors to have it noted on the back of their drivers license that in the event of accidental death their kidneys may be transplanted.

The drive was successful a month ago and Illinois is one of about 14 states that now has such a designation placed on drivers licenses, Davis said.

The success rate for transplants involving unrelated donors has been about 50 per cent Davis said. But if the donor and patient are related the rate has been about 90 per cent because of the ease in matching blood types and tissue formation.

With more research into techniques the rate will go up, Davis said. Kidneys can currently be kept outside of a body for about three days which allows time to find as close to a matching donor as possible.

Although more research is needed Davis said, "We can see the light at the end of the tunnel."

Father Nielson Rudd of Mount Vernon is president of the Southern Illinois chapter of the foundation.

Female novice stockbroker finds acceptance by investors

Kathy Drew
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A female stockbroker is a first in Southern Illinois, but the sex factor isn't much of a shakeup to investors according to Gayla Forby, 30, novice broker.

Forby, of Carbondale, broke into the brokerage business after working 12 years as a secretary for I.M. Simon & Co., a Carbondale brokerage house. Forby said exposure to the business inspired her and gave her a good background in the field. She pursued it by taking a correspondence course offered by the New York Institute of Finance, passed an exam and a month later was employed by I.M. Simon & Co. as a broker.

The Carbondale brokerage house sponsored her while she worked towards her certification, Forby said. A sponsor is required for all aspiring stock brokers, she said.

After working with Forby for 12 years, the five male brokers in the office adjusted naturally to their new colleague. Forby said there are always wisecracks, (like "Hey, Forby, why are you getting all this attention?") and "Don't tip that desk over, Forby," as she sits on the edge of it) but it's all very innocent.

I.M. Simon & Co., an extension of a 102-year-old firm in St. Louis, was begun by Charles Joseph Lerner 20 years ago. Lerner is not surprised that a woman would hold a broker's position. "There's a substantial number of women working in all aspects of this field," he said. Forby said she is surprised that no other woman has gotten into the field in Southern Illinois.

Still, there are surprised voices over the phone when people ask for a broker and Forby responds with, "Yes, I'm a broker." "They're not expecting to call here and find a woman as a broker," Forby laughed.

Forby, who sympathizes with equal pay and other aspects of the women's movement said she hasn't found her sex to be a disadvantage in getting clients. "They don't stress the fact that I'm female. No one has said, 'I don't want you as a broker because you're a woman,'" she said.

Forby said she likes the atmosphere of a small town stock exchange. People come in to visit, watch the ticker tape (which she also watches ardently as she chats) and talk casually about their investments with the brokers.

As a wife, a mother of two, and a contributor to the family income, Forby said she can't afford to work only for the commission acquired from advising investors. Until she attains a good commission level, Forby will maintain her secretarial job and jump between the responsibilities of a secretary and broker throughout the day.

Undergraduate press plan stalled

By Chris Gronkiewicz
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

"It hasn't move very far," said Vernon Sternberg, director of the Southern Illinois University Press, about a proposal he submitted to George R. Mace, vice president for University Relations, last September.

The proposal, which is still under consideration, would establish an undergraduate press to aid students in publication of their manuscripts. Sternberg said nothing has happened because he hasn't pushed the proposal since last fall. He cited his busy schedule as the reason. He did say that Mace is receptive to the idea, but wants more time and details.

Sternberg said the press is an "innovative experimental program." Students would bring their material to the office for help with all aspects of publication, including editing, advertising and promotion. Publishing costs would be as much money as the student wanted to invest.

Sternberg said he has no basis for knowing how much the press is needed. He said that it enough students approached him about it, he would then be encouraged to push the proposal.

No additional funding has been requested for the proposal because present resources would be utilized. "We'll assimilate costs in our present budget," Sternberg said.

He indicated that the staff is willing to answer any questions or problems about publishing.

If the proposal is approved, the undergraduate press will be located in the offices of the University Press, west of campus on McLafferty Road.

Police report armed robbery

Two men held the employees of the Farm Fresh Milk Store, 102 S. Wall St., at gunpoint and robbed them of an undetermined amount of cash about 8:30 p.m. Monday, Carbondale police said.

Lloyd Halliday and Mary L. Nooris, cashiers at the store, told the police that one of the men displayed a small calibre, blue steel revolver. There are no suspects.

Jay Lawrence, 21, 820 W. Freeman St., reported Monday evening that while he was on vacation someone entered his residence and took clothes and an AM-FM radio. The items were valued at $630.

Chester Chostner, 25, of Brookside Manor Apartments, 1200 E. Grand Ave., reported Monday that someone broke into his storage area and took three fishing poles, a pair of cross country ski poles, a backpack, a tent, two sleeping bags and two tool boxes. The items were valued at $630.

SIU Press marks 20 years of growth

Vernon Sternberg, director of the SIU Press, checks the book jacket of one of the more than 1.2 million books distributed by the press during its two decades. The SIU Press will celebrate its 20th anniversary with an open house and tea Friday.

When Vernon Sternberg was hired to organize the Southern Illinois University Press, he was the director and only employee of the organization. The SIU Press made only $361 in book sales during its first six months.

It has been 20 years since then. Sternberg is still the director of the SIU Press, and its fortunes have risen dramatically. Over 1.2 million books have since been sold.

The press published 40 to 50 new titles and sells about 100,000 books annually. The sales volume puts it among the top 15 university presses in the nation.

"The quality of the works put out by the press has achieved an international reputation. Ten per cent of each year's output is sold abroad.

Before taking on the job as director, Sternberg was an associate editor at the University of Wisconsin Press. "I was ambitious and wanted to run my own show. You don't get a chance very often to start a university press," he said.

The SIU Press started in a converted house on campus. With the aid of a secretary-bookkeeper, Sternberg began by selling the four books that had been published or planned for by an editorial board of the University.

"I typed invoices, shetyped invoices, and we both wrapped books," Sternberg said. The first major job the press undertook was a projected 11-volume study of the London stage, a seminal work in the field.

"It was foolhardy of us to undertake that series so soon (four years) after we started. The betting around the league was that we'd fall on our faces and have to drop it. It's like the difference in writing a sonnet and writing an epic poem. Anybody can write a sonnet," Sternberg said.

Despite the lack of confidence on the part of its peers, the SIU Press completed the work on time. The last of the 11 volumes was published on schedule in 1970. Sternberg said that revised editions of the first two volumes may be published.

Multi-volume works and series have become routine at the SIU Press. It has published 656 original titles in hardbound or paperback books and phonograph records. The largest undertaking was the Crosscurrents/Modern Critique series on modern world literature.

"We've published 116 titles in the Crosscurrents series," Sternberg said.

Another milestone was the publication of the five volume series on the early works of philosopher-educator John Dewey. SIU is the major center for Dewey studies in the world. The first two volumes of the 15-volume middle-works of Dewey will be published in 1977.

Despite its name, the Press doesn't print books. The work is done by printing firms under contract, which is the case for most commercial and university publishing houses. The press distributes books from a warehouse facility in its headquarters. There is an overseas warehouse near Amsterdam to distribute books to buyers in Great Britain and continental Europe.

"When our scholars go abroad, they can see our works in foreign libraries and hear about our books from foreign scholars. They know that our imprint, the SIU Press imprint, is recognized abroad," Sternberg said.

The SIU Press will mark its 20th anniversary with an open house and tea at its headquarters on McLafferty Road from 3 to 5:30 p.m. Friday.

Counseling Center schedules workshops to assist couples

St. Louis; 10 p.m.—Uninterrupted progressive music until 6 a.m.

The cost-free workshop is open to married couples and couples living together, including same-sex couples. One of the couple must be an SIU student, faculty or staff member. It will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. Mondays Feb. 2 through March 8.

The workshop will offer couples a chance to see how other couples handle the same problems, said Cheri A. May, counselor.

Activities will include discussion and communication exercises, she said. One such exercise is role reversal, in which partners switch and exaggerate the other person's role to experience how the other feels.

"We'll also be working on increasing sexual enrichment, resolving conflicts and defining personally satisfying roles within the relationship rather than traditional role," May said.

Other activities will include goal setting and couple assessment. Enrollment will be limited to seven or eight couples. Interested persons should contact Zimmerman or May at 453-5371.

Palmer, Little Feat make quality disco

By Keith Tuxhorn
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Pressure Drop
Robert Palmer
Island ILPS 9372

Finally, disco music with quality and innovation. Britisher Robert Palmer has teamed up here with Little Feat to produce an album that's great to listen to and easy to dance to.

"Pressure Drop" carries two distinct styles within it: a semi-soft, orchestrated sound that threatens to sound, at times, like Barry White, and a very funky sound that has its base in reggae.

The three songs that fall under the first style come off best here, and what makes them shine are the orchestrations, which never fall to the mundane level of the aforementioned Mr. White. Outstanding is "Which of Us is the Fool," an up-tempo piece with soaring strings and vocals that is at once involving and exciting.

The only flaw with the remaining six cuts is that too often they become repetitious and nearly become boring. The title cut, "Work to Make it Work" and "Fine Time" all have catchy riffs, but they're repeated to the maximum and soon lose their appeal. Happily, "Here With You Tonight," Lowell George's

A Review

"Trouble" and Allen Toussaint's "River Boat" avoid this fault and really shine.

Rounding out the satisfying elements of this performance is the playing of Little Feat. Their funky sound fits perfectly into Palmer's style, and their work here is nearly as good as that of any of their own albums. It's a pity none of the cuts here have been released as singles, because their affinity to today's trends would undoubtedly make them hits. At an rate, "Pressure Drop" is worth listening to.

Indiscreet
Sparks
Island ILPS 9345

Sparks has gone over very big in England. They have numerous albums and singles that have reached the top ten there, and they sell out concert halls every time they tour. But even though they've displayed five albums' worth of work in the States, they've yet to gain any popularity.

Well, the British must be more attuned to good sounds than us, because "Indiscreet," Sparks' latest effort, is very impressive and deserves recognition.

Essentially the band's style is totally unpredictable. None of the thirteen songs on this album, save one, fall under any one musical genre, and often they don't fall under any at all. There's rock, blues, pseudo-ballads, swing, chamber music and even marching music. All these styles are blended within the album, and it comes off both credible and exciting.

While listening to and reviewing "Indiscreet," one can only laugh at its lyrics about high society (the album's theme) and marvel at the complexity of the smorgasbord sound the band presents. Brothers Russell and Ron Mael lead their band through intricate and skillful playing, and Russell's vocals are both versatile and exact.

If you're not afraid to listen to innovative and experimental music, or if you don't buy albums just to dance to them, then "Indiscreet" would be a good investment. Sparks' five albums should be as well-known in America as they are in Britain.

Unions offer research internships

Two research internships are being offered by the AFL-CIO Washington offices for this summer. The internships are for research in economics or occupational safety

Police to tow cars with fines

Students with three or more unpaid parking tickets will have their cars towed away, SIU Security officials said Tuesday.

Lt. Marvin Braswell said that warning tickets will be issued first, but if the car is on campus after the warning and the tickets haven't been paid, the vehicle will be towed.

Persons are allowed to have three tickets before their cars will be towed, Braswell said. The towing procedure was started last semester.

Regular driving rules are in effect on campus, and they will be enforced by Security, officials said.

Cars parked illegally or in forbidden zones such as faculty or handicapped parking will be towed regardless of the amount of tickets the driver has, Braswell said.

and health and economic issues related to natural resources. Application deadline is March 15.

The Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute is offering internships to science or engineering students with an interest in oceanography. Application deadline is Feb. 16.

The Indo-US Subcommittee on Education and Culture will be offering 10 grants for study in India. The awards will be primarily at the doctorate level but exceptions will be made for dissertation research. Application deadline is Feb. 2.

The National Endowment for the Humanities is offering Youthgrants from $2,000 to $10,000 for projects concerned with disseminating the values of the humanities. Application deadline is Feb. 1.

The Institute for Socio-economic Studies is offering a $6,000 prize for a student essay on the problem of "Income Supplementation—A Solution to America's Welfare Crisis." Application deadline is March 1. Further information on the internships and grants is available from Helen Vergette, room 230B Woody Hall.

CLEP to offer language test

The College Entrance Examination Board, a non-profit membership association of schools and colleges, announced the introduction of three modern language examinations in its national College-Level Examination Program (CLEP).

The new tests include college French, college German and college Spanish, all with freshman and sophomore levels.

In addition to the new tests, 44 subject examinations and five general examinations measuring knowledge of general liberal arts are available monthly.

CLEP, a national program of credit by examination, offers individuals of all ages and backgrounds an opportunity to gain recognition for knowledge gained on the job, in school and through independent study, said Glenn Martin, of the testing division of Career Planning and Placement Center.

SIU professor joins state pollution board

By George J. Haas
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Donald P. Satchell, SIU associate professor in forestry, is Southern Illinois' first representative on the Illinois Pollution Control Board (IPCB), following his recent appointment by Gov. Dan Walker.

The IPCB, created in 1970 by the Environmental Protection Act, is comprised of a five-member panel appointed for their expertise in a particular field. Each member serves a three-year term. Satchell, a soil chemist, fills a vacancy in the agricultural post, succeeding two University of Illinois appointees.

Satchell, who had not applied for the job, was singled out by the IPCB search committee because of his broad background. In addition to 14 years of teaching plant and soil sciences at SIU and Penn State, Satchell had ten years of practical experience working in industry and technical services.

"Besides satisfying their agricultural needs and being from Southern Illinois, I feel I was picked because I have viewed the problems I'll be studying from both sides," Satchell said.

Satchell said the role of the board is to act in a judicial and legislative manner on cases coming before it. "The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) acts as an investigating tool for us by reviewing complaints," Satchell said. "We hope for a voluntary compliance of the offenders with decisions by the EPA, but if they do not comply the cases are brought to the board for judicial action."

Satchell said the number of cases brought before the board has decreased every year, but there are still too many for the board to handle.

"By law the IPCB only has to meet once each month, but last year alone 600 cases came before the board," Satchell said, "so now the board meets every Thursday."

The $30,000-a-year job is far from a one-day-a-week operation. The rest of the week is taken up reviewing cases that are to be brought before the board. Satchell said each case has a time limit that it has to be heard by. If the board is not ready, the case will be dismissed.

It is for this reason that many board members hold law degrees in addition to their specialties. In Satchell's case, he has picked Leatrice Polityka, wife of SIU assistant law professor Thomas Polityka, as his law assistant.

Although officially on leave of absence from the University, Satchell said he would like to remain in contact with the resources the university affords.

"Hopefully my office can be located on the campus if possible," Satchell said.

Shakespeare film series set

By Mary L. Heeren
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A series of Shakespeare's plays done on film is scheduled to begin 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Davis Auditorium in Wham building and will be presented each Wednesday evening until May 5.

The movies shown are a "broad survey—a representative sample of the Shakespearean films," said Robert Griffin, associate professor of English and organizer of the series. "We chose the best films we could afford," he said.

The series begins with, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," done by the Royal Shakespeare Company, and continues, featuring "Henry V" on Jan. 28; "Julius Caesar" on Feb. 4; "Chimes at Midnight" also called "Falstaff" on Feb. 11; "Othello" on Feb. 25; "Macbeth" directed by Orson Wells on March 3 and directed by Roman Polanski on March 10. Also to be shown are "Hamlet" directed by Laurence Olivier on March 24 and directed by Franz Peter Wirth on April 7; "Romeo and Juliet" directed by Renato Castellani on April 14 and directed by Paul Czinner on April 21; "King Lear" on April 28; and "Thorne of Blood" on May 5.

Griffin said "Chimes at Midnight" has never been released in the area. Czinner's "Romeo and Juliet" stars ballet dancers Margot Fonteyn and Rudolf Nureyev with the Royal Ballet Company of England.

The only foreign film included is "Thorne of Blood" which is a Japanese film based on Shakespeare's "Macbeth."

The series was scheduled to be used with a class, but the class was cancelled, Griffin said. "We also wanted to make the films available to the university community because films are the next best thing to a live performance."

The films are being sponsored by the SIU English Department with funds from the president's Academic Excellence Fund, the College of Liberal Arts and the Learning Resources Services. The series will cost about $1350, he said.

The series is free and open to the public. Griffin expects between 200 and 300 people to see each film.

SIU-E faculty to vote on bargaining

By Kathleen Takemoto
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The SIU-E Faculty Organization on Collective Bargaining (FOCB) has scheduled a collective bargaining election for sometime between Feb. 21 and March 5. FOCB President-Elect Robert Hildebrand said Monday.

Hildebrand, an assistant professor of Foundations of Education, Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co., a certified public accounting firm in Chicago, will conduct the election.

The election will be two-staged, Hildebrand said. The first ballot will ask faculty members if they favor collective bargaining, he said.

If a majority of the faculty favors collective bargaining, a second ballot will be presented at a later date to determine which organization would be the bargaining agent for SIU-E faculty members, Hildebrand said. Choices on the ballot would include the FOCB, the American Association of University Professors and no agent. The FOCB in November asked the SIU Board of Trustees to recognize it as the bargaining agent for SIU-E's faculty, but the board refused to take action.

Board Chairman Ivan A. Elliott Jr. said previously that the board will not authorize or recognize the FOCB's collective bargaining election.

Hildebrand said the election will be held even if the board does not authorize it.

"We have invited each board member to discuss the election with us," he said.

Hildebrand said more than half of Edwardsville's 500 to 600 faculty members have signed cards authorizing the FOCB as their bargaining agent. The group presently has about 150 dues-paying members, he said.

Pie people score hits

SAN ANSELMO, Calif. (AP)—If you have someone you want splattered by a pie in the face you can get such action for a fee from a group of four girls in this area.

While there supposedly are four other groups in the United States who will score a "hit" for a fee, the four girls, who refuse to be identified, say they are independents. The standard price for a "hit" is $15, but they claim that's not high. A group in Florida charges as much as $50 to $300 to do the job.

"Our motto," the girls say: "No persons stands so tall that he cannot be put down by a pie."

The pie arsenal includes lemon cream, the standard hit; chocolate cream, cheesecake, rhubarb, pumpkin, chocolate layer cake, banana cream, Mom's apple pie and raspberry (for ex-lovers).

Workshop for candidates set

The Illinois State Board of Elections will hold a workshop Jan. 22 in the SIU Student Center Ballroom A for local candidates who have filed for public office.

"The purpose is to help give information to candidates about requirements of the Illinois Campaign Financing Act," said Jackson County Clerk Robert Harrell. The workshop is one of 10 being held throughout the state in January.

The act requires that a candidate who either receives or expends $1,000 or more in any 12-month period file a statement of his organization, Harrell said. The candidate must then keep an account of the monies he receives and expends, and periodically file a report with the county clerk's office of the state board of elections.

"The workshop will give candidates the opportunity to ask any questions they have and to find out whether or not the act applies to them and, if so, what they have to do," he said.

The seminar will be broken into two sections. The first will be held from 9:30 a.m. to noon and the second from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

New citizens group opposes pot-sex study

MORTON, Ill. (AP)—A newly formed citizens group that stands for "God, home and country" is marshaling forces to block a planned experiment at SIU on the sexual effects of marijuana, a spokeswoman said Monday.

"As I understand the law, a citizen could not show pornographic movies and charge for it, but under this the government is paying for it and showing them free," said Rosemary Thomson of Morton, state director of Eagle Forum. "Now what kind of logic is that?" Eagle Forum is a national organization formed last fall in St. Louis, and has Illinois chapters in Danville, Decatur, Springfield, Peoria and Morton, said Mrs. Thomson. She said the Morton chapter has about 100 members.

The organization opposes the Equal Rights Amendment, forced busing and abortion, and is for voluntary prayer in public schools and laws supporting strong family units, she said.

The proposed sex-pot experiment, to be conducted by SIU psychologists Harris Rubin, is immoral and a waste of taxpayers money, said Mrs. Thomson.

"We don't think this is a legitimate experiment," she said. "You could not print in the newspaper a copy of the grant application, it is, in my opinion, just obscene."

"The federal government is billions of dollars in the red," she said. "Why should we expend taxpayers money on an experiment that has little or no redeeming value."

Rubin has said an important element of his study is the effect of marijuana on sex hormone levels. In addition, he has said, some individuals use marijuana in the belief it will improve sexual performance but Rubin suspects marijuana does just the opposite and believes tests must be made to determine the effect. Rubin last spring obtained a $121,000 grant from the federal National Institute of Drug Abuse to administer marijuana to paid male volunteers and test their response and hormone levels as they view stag films. Test subjects will get $10 to $20 a day.

forms of human activity, such as the ability to reason. She said she objects to the male volunteers being shown the sexually stimulating films.

"I don't think what he is testing will have any bearing on whether it's safe to legalize marijuana," she said.

Rubin has said that millions of Americans are known to have used marijuana but the scientific community lacks basic information about its clinical effects. He does not endorse the use of marijuana and has taken no public stand on whether the drug should be legal.

Graduate art students display works

By Michael Mullen
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Over 150 people attended the public reception opening a special exhibit of the work of 28 first-year graduate students in art.

The exhibit, housed in Mitchell Gallery in the Home Economics Building, marks the first time the University museum and art galleries have scheduled this type of exhibit. The showing is a preview of the Master of Fine Arts (MFA) thesis exhibits scheduled for 1977, when many of the students now showing will receive their degrees.

Thirteen sculptures in wood, metal and other materials include pieces cast in the University foundry, carved or welded in other studio areas or fabricated in shop areas on campus.

The jewelry and metals program in the School of Art is represented by works forged in the blacksmithing shop or crafted in the metals studio.

The two-dimensional area includes 26 paintings, drawings and prints. The ceramics and glassblowing students are showing eleven works and the weaving area includes three fabric pieces. A total of 56 pieces are on display. Many of the works are for sale.

Among the pieces on display are Joel Schwartz's "Mailbox" sculpture in steel, brass and copper; Howard Halle's "Untitled" drawing; Karyn Kozak's glasswork; Maurine Farmer's "Changes" lithograph; Linda Greaves' ink drawings and Bill Un-derwood's "Untitled no. 1" acrylic.

The School of Art has on-campus studio and shop facilities at four different locations. Many of the advanced students work in their own studios in Carbondale and the surrounding area. The graduate program currently has an enrollment of nearly sixty MFA students, making it one of the five largest graduate art student groups in the state. The exhibit will remain on display from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday until Feb. 13.

Newman Center begins classes

The Newman Center of SIU-C will begin one of its educational classes on Tuesday, January 27 at 7:30 p.m. The class is open to converts and to those who wish to increase their knowledge of the Catholic religion.

The class will cover many aspects of the Catholic Faith. The program is being coordinated by Father James A. Genisio. Weekly classes will begin on Tuesday, January 27 at 7:30 p.m. and be held on Tuesdays through April 6. The Newman Center is located at 715 South Washington at the corner of Grand and Washington in Carbondale.

Six graduate from law school

The SIU School of Law will award degrees this month to its first six graduates. They are Terry W. Finley, 35, of Moline; David N. Barkhausen, 25, of Jonesboro; Bruce Burkey, 30, of Walnut; Donald Lowrey, 28, of Mackinaw; Gary D. Sibley, 25, of Rochester; and Gary L. Smith, 24, of Sycamore.

The six graduates plan to take the bar examination, required before they can practice law in Illinois, in February. However, they will not receive their diplomas until May since SIU holds graduation exercises only after the spring and summer semesters.

The school enrolled the six graduates, along with 81 other students, when it opened in August 1973. The six finished ahead of their classmates because they attended summer sessions, said Hiram H. Lesar, dean of the school.

Glass recycling program to open

By Scott Caldwell
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Resource Reclamation, Inc. will be starting a glass recycling program for Carbondale Saturday.

Bill Mitchell, board of directors member, said that the group started to organize after the last program closed down in July.

The group has been able to take over the equipment and facilities of the old program and was able to get a $6,000 grant from Carbondale to buy a truck.

Mitchell, graduate student in community development, said the group hopes to get a truck within a month but until then will rent a truck to get the glass to East St. Louis where it is recycled into beer and soft drink bottles.

The group will have bins placed out every other weekend at the Murdale Shopping Center, Lewis Park Mall and at Evergreen Terrace.

Mitchell said that they hope to collect about four tons of glass over the weekend at first and to increase to about 12 to 14 tons a weekend within a year.

The group needs to send a truckload a month to East St. Louis in order to break even. Mitchell said. A truckload is 24 tons.

The last program had good cooperation and was able to process about 175 tons of glass a year but the group needs to build up to 275 tons a year.

Mitchell said they hope to get the bars and restaurants to donate their glass as soon as the group can get a truck to pick up the glass.

Within a year they hope to be able to provide house to house pickups and collections from the dorms.

"We have a good cross section of Jackson County working with us. Blue collar workers, politicians, housewives, students and teachers are all involved and it's just a question of getting all the glass in one place," Mitchell said.

Beg your pardon

The Daily Egyptian erred in a news story that stated Keith Leasure, former vice president for academic affairs, had been granted immunity from prosecution for his testimony as a witness in an upcoming trial of a former faculty member accused of accepting a kickback from a student worker.

The erroneous statement, which appeared in a story on Page 10 of the Tuesday issue, implied that Leasure was subject to possible prosecution in the case. As vice president for academic affairs, Leasure aided in the investigation of the case and there was no allegation of any sort of wrongdoing on his part.

Leasure was listed in court records as a witness along with other witnesses, some of whom have been granted immunity from prosecution. The error occurred because of a Daily Egyptian reporter's misreading of notes made from the court record.

Professor named to health council

By Lucky Leo Ogojafor
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Brockman Schumacher, professor and coordinator of rehabilitation counselor training, has been appointed to the Illinois Citizen's Advisory Council of the Department of Health and Developmental Disabilities.

Schumacher said the council is responsible for reviewing and re-evaluating decisions made by the department regarding grant-in-aid applications submitted by community agencies. The council makes recommendations to the director of the department on the applications and also advises him on the department's five year plan, Schumacher said.

At its first meeting Schumacher said the council resolved to spend the bulk of its time reviewing, critiquing and giving advice on major policy and operational decisions made by the department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities.

In order to be more effective, the council is establishing a set of criteria to identify major policy issues. The review process will gather data and clarify those policy issues, Schumacher said.

"Only secondarily does the council attempt to correct possible inequities, oversights and special situational problems," he said.

Intensive efforts are being made by the director of the Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities to increase citizen and community awareness and encourage participation in the effort to improve mental health services and developmental disability services through the state, Schumacher said.

Schumacher is the only member of the advisory council from Southern Illinois. Members of the council are chosen to represent a broad spectrum of interests, backgrounds and geographic locations, he said.

Student jobs available from 'Y' in Rockies

The YMCA of the Rockies is seeking college students to fill almost 300 job vacancies next summer.

Positions are available in food service, housekeeping, programming, grocery store, gift shop, bookstore, maintenance and office.

The staff member will receive $120 per month salary plus room and board and the use of recreational facilities. At the end of the season, each employee receives an equal share of gratuities and tips accumulated in an "Appreciation Fund."

Selection of college students for the summer jobs is based on character, background and interests and on the dates the student is available to work. The season extends from Memorial Day through Labor Day.

More information can be obtained from the Career Planning and Placement Center on the third floor of Woody Hall.

Cairo woman joins prosecutor's staff

A Cairo woman has been hired as an assistant to Jackson County State's Atty. Howard Hood and will begin work Feb. 1 at an annual salary of $7,000.

Mary Robbins Collina was hired for the part-time position to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Rodney Clatts, who worked in Hood's office for two years. He is entering private practice in Anna.

Collina will work primarily on traffic cases, Hood said.

She was graduated from the John Marshall Law School in Chicago last February and is married to an attorney who works with the state's attorney's task force.

The jury trial of a former SIU professor of government accused of accepting a kickback of public funds in 1973 has been continued until March 8 in Jackson County Circuit Court.

Judge Richard Richman said the trial of Samuel Long was continued at the request of Long's attorney, H. Carl Runge Jr., of East St. Louis. Runge is to represent in circuit court on Feb. 9 three men named in murder charges in the shooting deaths of three men, on Halloween night. Long was indicted July 22, 1973, by the Jackson County grand jury on a charge of theft by deception over $150. He is now a professor in the Dept. of Political Science at Yale University.

The grand jury charged that from Feb. 19, to Oct. 10, 1973, Long obtained $505.89 by placing a student on the SIU payroll with the agreement that he would perform no work and return the amount received as wages to Long.

Flight to Memphis to resume

Air Illinois has announced that it will reinstate service from Carbondale to Memphis, Tennessee effective Feb. 1.

Gene Dzendolet, Air Illinois president, said the airline reached an agreement with Texas International to provide substitute air service between Jonesboro, Arkansas and Memphis for Texas International. As a result of this agreement the restoration of the Memphis service will be accomplished from Carbondale to Memphis via Jonesboro, Arkansas, he said.

Flights will depart from Southern Illinois Airport at 6:40 a.m., 10:15 a.m. and 4:40 p.m. on weekdays, 10:15 a.m. on Saturday and 10:15 a.m. and 4:40 p.m. on Sundays.

Flights will depart from Memphis for Carbondale at 8:50 a.m., 12:20 p.m. and 8:20 p.m. on weekdays, 12:20 p.m. on Saturday and 12:20 p.m. and 8:20 p.m. on Sundays.

'Quarter Night' auditions set for three one-act productions

Auditions for the theater department's "Quarter Night," an evening of three one-act plays written by students within the theater department, will be held 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Laboratory Theater, Communications 1045.

Any student can audition for the seven male or five female roles to be cast for the three plays. No acting experience is necessary. Scripts for the plays are available in the theater department office, Communications 1033.

"Quarter Night" will feature "Sik the Magician," a farce by Italian playwright Eduardo De Filippo, about a third-rate vaudevillian magician. The play was translated by Frank Caltabiano, a graduate student in theater. The one-act play has one female and three male characters.

The second play chosen is "The Assassin," written by Jim Spurrier, a graduate student in speech. This period piece, under the direction of Jane Killingsworth, a junior in theater, is about a plot to assassinate President Andrew Johnson. The play has two female and two male characters.

The third play is "A Day in the Night," a light comic play about a love relationship. John Kunik, a graduate student in theater, wrote the play which has two male and two female characters. The play will be directed by Bernard Schwartz, a senior in psychology.

Auditions for all three plays will be held Wednesday evening, but other arrangements for auditions can be made through Jane Killingsworth in the theater department office.

New gynecology program to begin

By Peggy Sagona

A new gynecology program will begin Feb. 2 at the Family Practice Center at Doctor's Memorial Hospital.

The program is a cooperative effort between the SIU Health Service and the center, which is a branch of the SIU School of Medicine.

A portion of the activities at the Center on Monday afternoon will be set aside for SIU students being seen for gynecological conditions only, said Dr. Don Knapp, medical director at the SIU Health Service.

Appointments are to be made through the Health Service appointment desk, but patients will be seen at the Center during afternoon working hours.

Patients will be seen by resident physicians supervised by gynecologists, said Dr. Allan G. Bennett, clinical associate of the SIU School of Medicine.

There are several advantages to the new program, Knapp said. "It will be an extension of the services already provided by the Health Service. It will provide women with an opportunity to have an IUD inserted at a minimal cost and the resident physicians will receive more experience in the field of gynecology."

All gynecological services will be offered during this special time, including pap smears, fitting for diaphragms and advisement on using birth control pills.

Each session will be limited to about twelve patients, Knapp said.

Follow-up appointments will be arranged for pathological conditions that are discovered as a part of a routine examination, he said.

Knapp emphasized that students must make their appointments in advance, through the Health Service appointment desk, by calling 536-2391.

Beg your pardon

Leonard DeClue Jr. of Carbondale, a graduate student in the SIU Master of Public Affairs program, is a delegate candidate committed to Jimmy Carter. His name was omitted in Tuesday's article.

Howard H. Olson was incorrectly listed Tuesday as having filed a petition as a delegate alternate to the Republican convention. Olson has filed as a delegate, committed to Gerald Ford.

Traffic office lists appeal steps

The Traffic and Parking Hearing Office has announced the procedures for appealing tickets given by the SIU Police.

Persons receiving tickets can appeal them by going to the office within 14 days and filling out a Traffic Violation Appeals form and presenting the form and ticket to a hearing officer.

The hearing will be conducted informally by an officer who will review the ticket and appeals form and allow a statement.

The officer will then make a decision, either confirming or voiding the ticket.

The officer's decision can be appealed to the Traffic Appeals Board by giving the appeals form and ticket to the officer, who will forward the documents to the board.

The board will then notify persons of its decision or when it will meet to allow a personal appearance.

Student employment available

Fifty openings are available on campus for typists along with a few openings for bookkeepers, accounting clerks, food service workers, key punch operators, cashiers and library workers, according to James E. Moore, coordinator of student employment.

To be eligible for student employment, an undergraduate must carry 12 semester hours and a graduate must carry 8 semester hours. The student must also have a current ACT-Family Financial Report on file in the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance.

Journalism scholarship contributed

A 1973 graduate of SIU has made a $1,000 scholarship contribution to the School of Journalism to show his gratitude for skills learned and professional help received from the journalism faculty while he was an undergraduate.

The donor, who has asked to remain anonymous, says he expects to make additional annual contributions to the initial award fund. The gift will be known as The Golden Quill Award and will be presented each year during SIU-C Journalism Week to an undergraduate journalism major who is in good academic standing, needs financial assistance and indicates an intent to enter the field.

This is the first journalism scholarship given through the SIU-C Foundation, according to J.C. Garavalia, director of the Living Endowment program for the University. "There are other journalism scholarships and grants," he said, "but they are either given directly from private corporations to the School of Journalism or come through the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance."

Women's IM plans include men

By Jerry Tucker
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

The women's intramural program has a busy spring schedule planned—beginning this week with badminton, dancing, fencing and gymnastics. Basketball and bowling team tournaments are slated to begin next Monday and Tuesday, respectively, but entries are due this week.

There will be a captain's meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Davies Gym for all female students interested in entering a basketball team of six or more members. Bowling team rosters (at least four members) should be turned in at Davies Gym by Friday.

Many of the spring activities are open to males too, including fencing and gymnastics. Both sports will be extramural as well as intramural this year, according to Jean Paratore, coordinator of women's intramurals.

The fencing club will duel both Indiana State University and Principia College while the gymnastics club will face Southeast Missouri twice and then compete in the southern sectionals, to be held at SIU. The gymnastics competition will be limited to females only, but men are offered the use of limited facilities, Paratore said.

A coordinated swim meet is scheduled for Jan. 31, in which the men's and women's clubs will swim in an alternating-event format.

February events include a badminton singles tournament open to all students and a women's gymnastics meet, as well as continuing club activities and open recreation, primarily on weekends.

Two of the most popular events, according to Paratore, are the co-ed volleyball and softball tournaments in March and April. A basketball freethrow contest and a wrist and leg wrestling contest for females will be held in March.

Besides softball in April, there will be a racquetball tourney, a billiards tourney and a track and field meet. All are for women. The tennis and golf clubs also begin meeting in April, the latter open to all SIU personnel.

A two-person canoe race for women and a frisbee contest open to all students highlight the May schedule for those who can break away from studying for finals.

Anyone interested in the spring intramural program should call 453-5208 for further information.

Prep cage poll sees changes

Venice moves into third spot

By The Associated Press

Defending champion Venice moved up a notch in the Associated Press Class A Illinois high school basketball poll but Eldorado retained its stranglehold on the No. 1 spot.

Venice whipped Marissa and Waterloo by lopsided scores last week to hike its record to 12-1 and the Red Devils collected 262 poll points to edge ahead of Buda Western by a scant two points to the No. 3 spot.

Eldorado, boosting its record to 16-0 with rocking chair triumphs over Vienna and Carterville, was named No. 1 on 13 of the 21 ballots cast and totaled 324 out of a possible 336 poll points.

Lawrenceville, receiving three first-place votes, remained No. 2 and totaled 304 points. Venice picked up one first-place vote and undefeated Buda Western was named first on four of the ballots but didn't get the overall backing provided Venice. A first-place vote is worth 16 points, second place 15 and on down.

Port Byron Riverdale, Winnebago and Cairo remained fifth, sixth and seventh, respectively, while Mount Pulaski and Effingham St. Anthony changed places with Mount Pulaski taking eighth place and St. Anthony dropping to ninth.

The next four places remained the same with ROVA 10th, Girdly 11th, Carmi 12th and Bloomington Central Catholic 13th.

Watska, 16th last week, made the biggest jump and climbed into 14th place after posting victories over Westville and Herscher. Ottawa Marquette dropped a notch to 15th while Pleasant Plains, 15th last week, fell out of the running after suffering a 72-66 loss to Divernon. It was the only loss suffered by ranking teams in the Class A poll last week.

Replacing Pleasant Plains was Madison as the Trojans took over the 16th spot with an 11-2 record.

Carbondale falls from top 16

By The Associated Press

Powerful Peoria Richwoods finally took over the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press Class AA Illinois high school basketball poll.

Second to defending champion Chicago Phillips in the first two polls of the season, the undefeated Knights gained the top spot after Phillips was upset by Chicago King.

Richwoods boosted its record to 14-0 with a 76-50 victory over Peoria Manual last week while Phillips, now 15-2, dropped all the way to fifth place.

East Leyden, 16-0, climbed into second place and was only seven points behind Richwoods.

Richwoods had 13 first-place votes from the pans of 21 sportswriters and broadcasters throughout the state. The Knights totaled 310 of a possible 336 points on the basis of 16 points for a first-place vote, 15 for a second and so on.

East Leyden had six first-place first-place votes and a total of 303 points. Joliet Central climbed into third place and Aurora West into fourth place.

Phillips had one first-place vote and undefeated Normal Community had the other. Chicago Heights Bloom retained the No. 6 spot, one notch ahead of Normal.

Sterling and Thornridge retained the No. 8 and 9 spots, respectively, while Decatur Elsenhower took over 10th place from Marist which dropped to No. 11.

Gordon Tech and Galesburg remained 12 and 13th with McHenry climbing from 16th to 14th after a pair of victories. Climbing into the top 16 for the first time this season were Elgin, 12-2, and Peoria Central, 10-2. Elgin took over 15th place and Peoria Central, having lost both of its games to Richwoods, grabbed the 16th slot.

Dropping out of the top 16 were Chicago Dunbar and Carbondale. Dunbar, like Phillips, was upset by Chicago King and Carbondale's record slipped to 8-5 following a 74-63 loss to West Frankfort.

Milwaukee, Yankees to play first AL game

NEW YORK (AP)—The Milwaukee Brewers and New York Yankees open the American League season, which will include a record 640 night games, Thursday, April 8, in Milwaukee, AL President Lee MacPhail announced Saturday.

MacPhail said the 25 1/2-week 1976 season will include 54 more night games than in 1975.

Eight more AL teams see their first action April 9, two in day games—Boston at Baltimore and Kansas City at Chicago—and two in night games—Minnesota at Texas and Oakland at California.

The second round of openers gets underway at Boston when the defending AL champions host Cleveland April 12. Later that day, Milwaukee is at Detroit, Chicago plays at Minnesota and the California Angels travel to Kansas City.

Women's basketball squads prepare for SEMO opener

By Scott Burnside
Daily Egyptian Sports Editor
The women's basketball squad opens its season Thursday at Southeast Missouri State University, Cape Girardeau with a freshman dominated roster.

Four out of the eight potential Salukis starters will be freshmen, but that doesn't diminish Coach Mo Weiss' enthusiasm. "They (the freshmen) are very, very talented, but they do need the experience, although they are very quick learners," Weiss said with a satisfied smile.

Freshmen tabbed by Weiss as potential starters are Bonnie Foley (center), Jeri Hoffman (forward), Sue Schaffer (guard), and Helen Meyer (guard). Hoffman and Schaffer are recovering from sprained ankle injuries suffered last week. Weiss said both players starting chances depend on their injuries. If Hoffman doesn't start, her place at the forward position will be taken by junior Pan Towry. Hoffman is 6 foot, while Towry tops out at 5-8.

The guard position is still up in the air between Meyer and an ex-high school competitor from the St. Louis area, Schaeffer. Both of them are 5-4.

The other guard spot, according to Weiss, is nailed down by senior Pam Berryhill (5-5). Another senior, Jan Winkle, will start at the other forward position.

Weiss has picked either Kathy Vondrasek (6-1) or Folyd (6-1) to fill the center slot for the team.

The deej reserves for the Salukis will be seniors Vicky King and Sue Hinrichson in addition to freshman Theresa Burgard.

According to Weiss the team will be a quick, good shooting team. She also said the defense has looked really good in practice. Weiss plans to utilize both man-to-man and zone defenses.

Before the 8 p.m. varsity game, the junior varsity teams will pair off at 6 p.m. The JV players are:

Jackie Lot, Kathy Escue, Denise Kelly, Dee Stull, Lisa Millar, Cathy Lies, Margaret Winsauer, Diane Ellison, Kim Andrews, Ellen Norton, Donna Maas, Sue Visconage and Kaye Kelly.

This weekend SIU travels to Memphis for a pair of games. Friday SIU meets Union University at 6:30 p.m. and Saturday the Salukis match up with Memphis State University at 2 p.m.

The first home game will be Jan. 28 against Grandview College.

Stram signs contract with New Orleans club

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The New Orleans Saints Tuesday announced the signing of Hank Stram to a five-year contract worth "in excess of $1 million" as head coach of the National Football League team.

The selection of Stram to be the Saints' next coach has been professional football's worst kept secret for more than a month.

"Hank and I have been talking for four months," said Saints owner John Mecom Jr.

"We've talked to a number of other coaches, both in the college and professional ranks and the best man has emerged. His record speaks for itself."

Stram served as an assistant coach at Purdue, Notre Dame and the University of Miami before entering the professional ranks as head coach of the Dallas Texans of the old American Football League.

During his college coaching career, he was credited with developing four All American quarterbacks—Dale Samuels and Lennie Dawson of Purdue, George Izo of Notre Dame and Fran Curci of Miami. Dawson was Stram's quarterback in the AFL.

Stram won an AFL championship at Dallas in 1962 and added two more in 1966 and 1969 after the Texans moved to Kansas City.

Indoor track season opens; strong freshman members show 'some real good stuff'

By Mark Kazlowski
Daily Egyptian Sports Editor

Track competitors are like quality watches—they just keep on running. SIU Coach Lew Hartzog's thin-clads have been practicing since school began in the fall, and most of them worked out on their own during the summer and Christmas break. But other than those runners who were on the cross country team in the fall, none have seen intercollegiate competition since the last meet of last spring semester.

Hartzog got his first chance to see just how well those runners had been working out when they competed in the Indiana Invitational at Bloomington, Ind., Friday and Saturday. It was the start of the indoor track season for SIU.

The meet was a United States Track and Field Federation sanctioned meet. No team scores were kept in the competition that was open to everyone.

Hartzog admitted it is rare when he feels his team looks good in its first indoor meet, and the Indiana adventure was no exception.

"We don't usually look good in our first indoor meet," Hartzog said and mentioned the lack of an indoor facility at SIU as one of the reasons.

"In retrospect, I kind of feel that we're in better shape than we have been in the past," he added. "We had some real good stuff. We had some average stuff. We had some bad stuff."

Freshmen Rick Rock and John Marks showed Hartzog some of the good stuff when they broke two SIU freshman records.

Rock broke Larry Perkins' long jump record by four inches when he jumped 24-5. Marks erased the oldest freshman record on the books when he heaved the shot 53-7. That was 11 inches further than George Woods threw the shot in 1962.

"I was real impressed with Rock," Hartzog said. "He didn't hit the board once. If he gets his steps down, we're going to have a fine long jumper."

Rock won the long jump while Marks took fourth place in the shot. A third freshman, Mike Kee, also showed Hartzog some good stuff. Kee ran a pair of 60-yard dashes in 6.1 seconds to prompt Hartzog to comment that Kee "showed promise of being a very great sprinter." Kee finished second in the finals of the 60-yard dash after winning his heat.

Hartzog said a fourth freshman, Michael Bisase from Uganda, also has the credentials to be a very fine sprinter.

Hartzog suggested this year's freshmen could be the strongest since the class that included Lonnie Brown, Bill Hancock, Ed Wardzala and Jack St. John.

"I predict we'll have a team that's as good or better than last year's," he said. The 1975 track squad was the 12th ranked dual meet team in the nation.

SIU will meet Kansas Saturday in the Salukis first dual meet of the season. Kansas was the fourth ranked dual meet team in the nation last season.

Cagers work to regain cohesion

By Dave Wiczorek
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Normally when there is a break in the conference schedule and a basketball team has a couple of non-conference games to play, a coach likes to take the opportunity to work on a few new things or work on nagging early-season problems.

With SIU playing Culver-Stockton last Saturday and St. Louis University Wednesday, both non-conference contests, SIU coach Paul Lambert has not been afforded that luxury.

"We have to use these games to get our cohesion back," Lambert said. "We'll be trying to do some things we'll have to do the second time around (the Valley schedule)."

The Salukis tussle with St. Louis gets underway at 7:35 p.m. A rare preliminary game will also be played

SIU swimmers ranked nationally

Three SIU swimmers and two SIU relay teams are rated in the top 10 of NCAA Division I swimmers based on times compiled by Swimming World and released by the College Swimming Coaches Association.

The swimmers are ranked by times in competition up to Jan. 13.

Jorge Delgado has the top ranking in the 200 yard freestyle with a time of 1:41.6. Delgado was ranked third in the 200 yard butterfly with a time of 1:52.85. Mike Curington of Alabama leads the butterflyers with a time of 1:52.10.

Mike Salerno was listed as the top swimmer in the 200 yard backstroke, but SIU swimming coach Bob Steele said the 1:52.85 clocking listed is incorrect. Salerno's best time of 1:55.9 puts him in the sixth slot.

Dave Swenson is the other individual in the top 10. He is listed ninth in the 1,000 yard freestyle with a time of 9:37.4.

The 400 yard medley relay team of Salerno, Paul Schultz, Greg Porter and Dennis Roberts is ranked ninth with a time of 3:34.19. Stanford leads with a time of 3:29.8.

The 400 yard freestyle relay team of Delgado, Roberts, Dave Boyd and Rick Fox is listed 10th behind the University of Southern California.

Indiana, SIU's opponent at Pulliam Pool Saturday, has six individuals and one relay team listed in the top 10.

between Shawnee College and Southeastern Illinois of the Southern Illinois Collegiate Conference. Construction of Southeastern's gymnasium forced them to find another place to play.

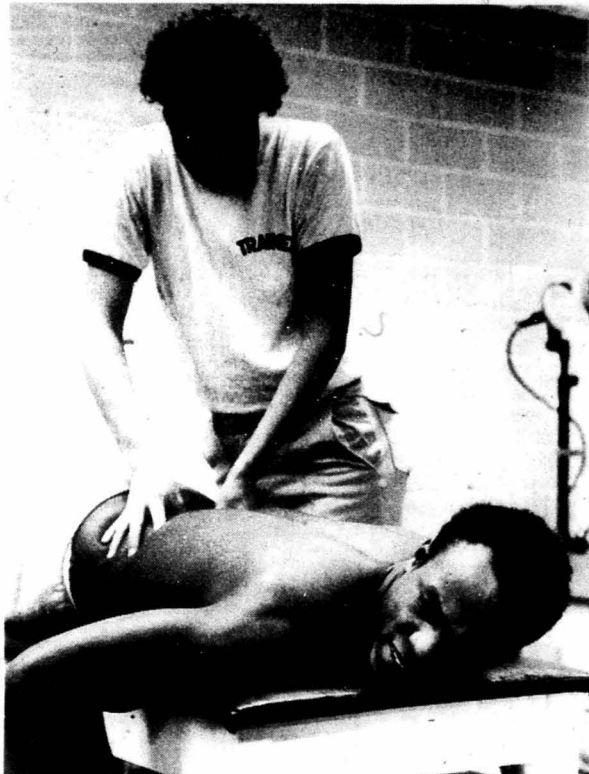

Tipoff time for the preliminary game is 5 p.m.

The Salukis are 8-6 after about a month and a half of games and they have suffered more injuries than most teams suffer in a whole year.

"It's been a rough month," Lambert said. "Improved defense has won three or four games for us. After we got back from Christmas we worked that whole week on defense."

He also said, "We have to do a better job on the boards, particularly defensively. We've done fairly well on the offensive boards."

Saluki center Mel Hughlett grimaces as student trainer Mike McCormick massages his back. Hughlett sustained a back injury against Wichita State Jan. 10 and aggravated the injury in the

Culver-Stockton game Saturday. Lambert was uncertain Tuesday if Hughlett would start Wednesday against St. Louis. (Staff photo by Jim Cook)

Turning to SIU's offensive attack, Lambert said, "There are a couple of things we have to do. We have to move the ball more and get the ball up the floor quicker. We have to get more points off the break or secondary break."

"The coach said he would like the team to run more but that it's been 'difficult to be what we want to be on offense because of a lack of practice time together. We've had a tendency to be a little conservative in this situation.'"

Lambert said a good running game is important because it keeps people honest on the boards and usually results in a couple of cheap baskets. But he also said a team cannot run, run, run all the time.

"There has to be a happy medium. You can't keep running unless you have eight or 10 players who can overwhelm everyone."

"We haven't really had a chance to work on it," he admitted. "Now we need to run. We've gotten some critical fastbreaks in close games."

As for St. Louis, the Salukis can expect a tougher game than what they got from Culver-Stockton. The Billikens lost a 66-62 game to South Carolina Monday night.

"They could have won the game," Lambert said, who saw the game in St. Louis. St. Louis boasts 6-foot-5 Lewis McKinney. The Salukis have seen him before, and he is the man they must stop.

"They'll run," Lambert said assuredly. "They like to get the ball into McKinney. They'll get him his 20 shots a game. He works hard to get the ball inside low."

SIU's injury list still has not improved. Mel Hughlett has been receiving treatment for a back injury sustained against Wichita State and aggravated against Culver-Stockton. Lambert was uncertain about his status for St. Louis.

Lambert also revealed that Mack Turner was giving some new medication for his injured knee and it may not need surgery. Milt Huggins, who has had blood sugar problems, will be red-shirted this year, Lambert said.

Number 83 in black and white stripes . . .

When the opening kickoff was booted in Super Bowl X last Sunday in the Orange Bowl, William O'Brien put on his business face.

All the cheering and second-guessing was left to the fans in the stadium and the millions of television viewers. O'Brien is the chairman of the SIU Recreation Department. He is also a National Football League official number 83 as well as being one of the best good will ambassadors this University has.

O'Brien has reached the point where he doesn't even guess which team might win a game. It is a discipline he says officials must master if they are to survive in the NFL.

"We're disciplined to the point that even if I had a good friend that was coaching, it wouldn't make any difference," O'Brien said in his office Tuesday morning.

"When I watch a game on television I watch it from an official's viewpoint—what kind of calls were made, why they were made, what to look for in a certain situation, I'm looking to improve. I try to analyze the offense and see what defenses will be called."

This was O'Brien's first Super Bowl and although he treated it like any other game, some things were obviously different.

Wit 'n Whiz-dom

"With all the news media and coverage there is a tendency to be under some emotional pressure," he said. "When the game starts and you've gotten all the pagentry out of the way and a few plays are run, you forget about everything else."

"To some degree it is easier officiating this game. There is great talent down there and great coaching. They (players) realized a stupid foul would be a costly expense."

O'Brien also realized that he could have become the center of controversy. He is the man who is responsible for calling or not calling pass interference plays. That particular penalty has been important in the outcome of several playoff games this year—especially the Minnesota-Dallas game.

Thinking back, O'Brien said he hoped he "wouldn't have to make one of those 'controversial calls.' Frankly, I thought I could handle any situation. We were on top of everything."

One official was decked by a bottle for his lack of a call in the Minnesota game, but O'Brien said they weren't overly concerned about crowd control during the Super Bowl, and he does not think the incident is a sign of things to come.

"I don't think that is an indication there is a change in fan attitude," he remarked. "I think the fan attitude is fair. I hated to see it happen because it was more than football. It was a dent in the integrity of fans and the game of football itself. It's a stain on American sportsmanship."

One thing that has not been stained is O'Brien's pride.

"When they released our names (officials for the Super Bowl) to the press, I wasn't present at the press conference," he said, "but they gave a little background on each one of us and I felt a sense of pride when they said I was a teacher at SIU."

"This advocate has given me the opportunity to promote SIU. When I go on speaking engagements I say I'm a representative of SIU as well as the NFL."

Last year the NFL did a story on O'Brien's officiating crew (the same men work together all year until the playoffs) and it was published in the NFL game program that goes to all NFL cities each week. That program is seen by an average of 50,000 people per game—and the results of that plus O'Brien's Super Bowl work has brought him widespread publicity and speaking engagements.

"I've gotten letters from people all over wanting to know more about SIU," said O'Brien, who is a colonel in the Marine Reserves. He said that he has speaking dates scheduled all the way through May. All the residuals he receives are contributed to educational programs for the handicapped.

"The way I do all of this is I'm in good health and I control my calendar; which means I don't get a lot of vacation time."

"I'm never unavailable to students," he pointed out. "That's the key. I think that is the characteristic of our faculty. Fortunately I love teaching and I love officiating."

"I've been lucky in life. It doesn't seem like a life of drudgery."
