Echo Song

Orlando di Lasso
(1530-1594)

Translation:

My word! What a lovely echo! Let's try it out!

Pleased to meet you! Ha ha ha ha ha, let's all laugh!

Oh my fine companion, what do you want? I'd like you to sing a song.

Why? Why should I? Why not? Because I don't want to. Why don't you want to?

Because I don't feel like it! Shut up I say!

You shut up, you big fool! Yes Sir!

Come now, no more! Let's go! Goodbye good echo!

Peace be with you. That's enough. Enough! ENOUGH!!!

Esto les digo

Kinley Lange
(born 1950)

Maggie Oberst, soprano

Translation:

This I say

If two of you get in agreement here on earth

To ask for something in prayer

My father who is in heaven

He will give it

For where two or three are gathered together in my name

I am there among them

This I say

arranged by Clarence Robinson

Pseudo-Yoik

Jaako Mäntyjärvi

(born 1963)

The text of this piece is meaningless, and crafted as a caricature of Finnish folk music. However, as the composer states in the sheet music, "the laws of probability dictate that there must exist an obscure South American Indian language in which it makes perfectly good sense."

(Praise Ye the Lord)

Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy

(1809-1847)

edited by Harold Aks

Movement 1 - Poetic translation of the Latin:

O praise the Lord, ye children, praise the name of the Lord.

Blessed be the name of the Lord from henceforth now and forever.

Movement 2 - Poetic translation of the Latin:

Blessed are all who fear the Lord

Those who walk in his ways.

from Les Chansons des Roses
Dirait-on

text by Rainer Maria Rilke
(1875-1926)
music by Morten Lauridsen
(born 1943)

Poetic translation of the French:
Abandon surrounding abandon, Tenderness touching tenderness
Your oneness endlessly caresses itself, so they say;
Self-caressing through its own clear reflection.
Thus you invent the theme of Narcissus fulfilled.

Ride the Chariot

Traditional spiritual arranged by Beatrice and Max Krone

Erin Viar, Emily Weber, and Alizé Graves, soloists

Sista

English and Ewe from Ghana
Rory Magill

Program notes from the score of Sista:

Sista visits the grief of an African family losing a beloved child, as well as the deep connection to the spirit world of the ancestors, which makes it possible for family and friends to carry on after her death. Finally, it is about faith and renewed courage, and ends with a stirring finale expressing love and gratitude for the gift of life. It is set in 4 parts for women's voices, to express loss through the voice of the mother, and reassurance through the voice of the departed daughter. The melodies were composed on an African xylophone in a simple major pentatonic scale. The phrasing throughout is quite natural, making the uneven 7/4 meter quite accessible. Polyphonic layers of song in the finale reflect the polyrhythmic nature of the traditional Ghanaian music, which helped inspire this piece.

Translation of Ewe:

All: Where is Aku, Kwaku, where is Aku? Is she sleeping?

Come here, Kwaku, here, Come, go wake her.

Aku's mother: Where is Aku? Aku? Where is Aku? Where is Aku?

Aku: I go, I'll see you again, I go, I'll return. I am not afraid, do not cry. I go, I'll see you again,
I go, I'll return.

Groups, then all: Girl, do not go yet, Wait a little, Aku, wait. Please, Aku, do not forget us.
Goodbye, it's okay, let it go.
