

Bowdoin College

Bowdoin Digital Commons

The Bowdoin Orient 1950-1959

The Bowdoin Orient

1-5-1954

Bowdoin Orient v.83, no.1-24 (1953-1954)

The Bowdoin Orient

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.bowdoin.edu/bowdoinorient-1950s>

Recommended Citation

The Bowdoin Orient, "Bowdoin Orient v.83, no.1-24 (1953-1954)" (1954). The Bowdoin Orient 1950-1959. 5.

<https://digitalcommons.bowdoin.edu/bowdoinorient-1950s/5>

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the The Bowdoin Orient at Bowdoin Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Bowdoin Orient 1950-1959 by an authorized administrator of Bowdoin Digital Commons. For more information, please contact mdoyle@bowdoin.edu.

Photo by Gaston
Six senior speakers participated in the Class of 1868 prize speaking contest held in Memorial Hall last night. Left to right are Jay A. Carson '53, Anthony K. Kennedy '53, Geoffrey P. Houghton '53, Roy G. Levi '54, and Edward Cogan '51. Absent from the picture is Bruce Wald '53, judged the winner in the contest. Second was Cogan, while Kennedy was awarded honorable mention.

Portland Press Herald
Shown recalling their recent trip to the Philippines are Professor and Mrs. James A. Storer. The economics professor will give an account of the trip in a lecture Glee Club whose recent tour included a stop in Washington. Among those in the front row are to be given on April 27. The Storer made the trip while Professor Storer was on sabbatical last year.

Senator Daily News
Glee Club members are pictured on the steps of the United States Capitol Building in Washington, D.C. The group is posed for a photograph. In the front row are Professor Frederic E. T. Tillotson, Senator Paul H. Douglas '13, Glee Club President H. Davison Osgood '54, Senator Margaret Chase Smith, and Representative Robert Hale '10.

Students Given Option In Fifth Course Requirement

The present sophomore fifth course requirement was made optional for either the sophomore or junior year for a student enrolled in the ROTC program at the faculty meeting held Monday afternoon.

Accepted at the meeting was the resignation of Assistant Professor of Art Albert S. Roe. This resignation will take effect at the close of the current academic year.

Changes were also made in the requirements for the Dean's List. In order to be eligible for the list now the student must have a "B" average but may have one "C".

However no man can have any grade lower than a "C" and still be eligible. The requirement applies to all classes but all do not receive the same privileges. Juniors and seniors get unlimited cuts from being on the Dean's list but only those sophomores having straight "A's" receive unlimited cuts.

Storer To Lecture On Philippine Islands On Monday, April 27

Assistant Professor James A. Storer will speak on the present economic and political conditions in the Philippines on Monday, April 27 at 8:15 p.m. in the Moulton Union Lounge in an address sponsored by the Political Forum.

Augmenting his lecture with slides, Professor Storer plans to emphasize the position of the Huk, the local communist group which is quite active at present. The slides will serve to contrast the economic conditions of urban areas such as Manila with those of rural sections.

Had Fulbright Scholarship

Professor Storer spent the academic year of 1951-1952 in the Philippines on a Fulbright Scholarship. While working on a thesis, he also taught at the University of the Philippines.

Graduating from Bard College in 1943, Professor Storer served as a lieutenant in the U.S. Navy, from 1943 to 1946. In 1948 he received his A.M. from Harvard and the same year he came to Bowdoin, as an instructor in economics.

The lecture will be the third sponsored by the revitalized Political Forum this semester. Previous speakers were Dr. Carl Anthon and Professor Leland M. Goodrich of Columbia University.

Captain Duncan, Marine Recruiter Back Again

Captain Edward F. Duncan, U.S.M.C. will be in Conference Room A, Moulton Union, from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, April 20, and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Tuesday, April 21, to interview students interested in the Marine Corps Officer Training Program.

Influence Of Confucianism Traced By Dr. Mei In Opening Lecture

Before an interested crowd of over 200 people, Dr. Yi-Pao Mei opened his series of three Tallman Foundation Lectures on "Chinese Communism and the History of Thought" with a talk on "Confucianism and its Influence on Chinese Life and Culture."

Cultural Unity Described
After a brief introduction by President Coles, Dr. Mei explained his reasons for thinking that Confucian philosophy had a direct bearing on the future success of Communism in China. He said that whether or not Communism lasts depends upon "the seeds of Communism" and "the soil of Chinese intellect". Because of close Chinese cultural unity over the centuries, the ideas of Confucius still shape Chinese mental attitude today.

Dr. Mei then gave a brief account of Confucius' life, stressing his piety and wisdom. Confucius at 70 said that he could follow his heart's desire and still be within the right.

Of Confucius' teachings, Dr. Mei

The Maine Citizenship Clearing House Program Established At College

The Maine Citizenship Clearing House, a program to encourage the State's young college students and graduates to participate actively in political affairs, has been established with headquarters at Bowdoin College.

The announcement was made jointly today by Judge Arthur T. Vanderbilt, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey and chairman of the National Citizenship Clearing House program, and by President James S. Coles of Bowdoin.

The Citizenship Clearing House was originated at New York University in 1947 by Judge Vanderbilt, who at that time was Dean of the NYU School of Law. It is intended to stimulate political interest, especially at the community level, among talented young people.

Pelletier To Direct

Professor Lawrence L. Pelletier, Director of the Bureau of Research for Municipal Government at Bowdoin, will direct the Maine program.

The Maine Citizenship Clearing House will serve as a liaison agency between the state's political leaders and teachers of political and social science in Maine's colleges and universities, Professor Pelletier said Sunday.

He pointed out that the Maine program is the outgrowth of a conference of participation of college graduates in political life at Bowdoin last December 5 and 6. The meeting brought together college administrators, political leaders, and teachers of political science throughout the state.

Responsibility of Colleges
Commenting on the importance of the program's concepts, Professor Pelletier said: "Education for citizenship is a serious responsibility which the colleges are anxious to fulfill creditably. If young college men and women are to be prepared and encouraged to enter politics, it is obvious that the colleges must develop closer relations with public officials and party leaders, that they must utilize the experience and know-how of the practitioners, and that they must make their courses in politics more realistic and dynamic."

Future plans for the Maine Citizenship Clearing house will be announced within the next few weeks.

Wald Winner In 1868 Contest; Cogan Second, Kennedy Rated Next

Bruce Wald '53, speaking on "The Scientist and Society," was awarded first place in the Class of 1868 prize speaking contest held in Memorial Hall last night. Finishing second to Wald was Edward Cogan '51, while awarded honorable mention was Anthony K. Kennedy '53. Others in the field of six contestants were Jay A. Carson '53, Geoffrey P. Houghton '53, and Roy G. Levi '54.

Stearns Named Head Of Bowdoin Glee Club

Elected President of the Glee Club at their annual elections Tuesday night was Gordon W. Stearns, Jr. '54, recent winner of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Cup. Manager of the club is Richard C. Gibson '54, while the Librarian for the coming year will be Allen G. Wright '54. Assisting Wright will be Terry D. Stenberg '56.

Also named was a committee of representatives from each of the fraternity houses and the Independent.

KENDRICK POINTS TO NEED OF HAZING IMPROVEMENT

Describing the hazing period at Bowdoin as a perennial problem, Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick pointed out that the type of hazing is more important than its timing in a recent interview with the ORIENT.

The Dean, commenting on the proposal to change the fraternity initiations to later in the year, stated that any move to hold these initiations at a later date would be of little use unless it was accompanied by an improvement in the way the hazing program was carried out.

Distinction Made Clear

Dean Kendrick made it clear that he was concerned with hazing only, stating that he was in most ways in favor of the rushing system. He said that Bowdoin's rushing system had the virtues of simplicity and speed, and he added that there couldn't be much complaint of any "crookedness" since the system is not tied down with rules.

The hazing period was another matter, the Dean said. Student difficulties derived from the end of rushing to initiation, he explained, came as a combination of events — the opening and beginning of College, the football season, and the hazing itself.

The Dean, mentioning that he received plenty of complaints every year from parents, said that one might put it this way, "Why take them into College and then start them off under such serious handicaps and distractions?" He pointed out that difficulties often arose from just worrying and thinking about hazing during this period. The freshman, although not actually burdened by hazing as far as time went, could easily be upset "by what his mind is on," the Dean explained.

Some Restraint Shown

Although Dean Kendrick said that some houses have emphasized considerable restraint, he mentioned that the problem of hazing was always going up and down. Explaining that time lost during the fall to hazing often could be very harmful, the Dean said that students entering Bowdoin came with very uneven preparation. Since the College assumes in their work that they are all on the same footing, some can coast while others have some difficulty in catching up if any time is lost, he added.

Time consumed in something such as a quest could easily get someone hopelessly sunk, Dean Kendrick said. He pointed out that the missing of a week's work in mathematics could often place the student in an unenviable position.

The Dean told the ORIENT that some objectionable things had been eliminated from the hazing period, but he warned that an accident involving some phase of hazing could bring an attack. An attack which the College could have some difficulty in answering.

A General Trend

Dean Kendrick stated that there was a general trend away from the interference caused by hazing. He said that the least that could be done was to substitute a more constructive form of activity such as "help-week" instead of hell-week. The Dean pointed out that the National Interfraternity Council this year went on record

Defends Cup

Psi Upsilon, which won the coveted Wass Cup last year, will vie for another win this year, which would result in permanent possession of the Cup. President James S. Coles will present the President's Cup to the Fraternity which has shown the most improvement over the past year.

Alpha Delta Phi will sing a travesty on "Comin' through the Rye" and the AD marching song, "We Come."

Psi Upsilon will sing "Incense from Golden Censers" and "Hood Day."

Chi Psi will sing "The Peat Bog Soldiers" and their fraternity song, "Alpha Nu."

"Cool Water" will be sung by Delta Kappa Epsilon along with the "Deke Marching Song."

Theta Delta Chi will sing "Donkey Serenade" and a fraternity song, which is as yet undecided.

Zeta Psi will sing "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho" and an original version of "Beneath the Pines."

Kappa Sigma will sing Rogers and Hammerstein's "You'll Never Walk Alone" and their fraternity song, "In This Little College," by Hoagy Carmichael.

"Marching Along in Beta Theta Pi" and "Old Man Noah" will be sung by the Beta's.

The Sigma Nu's will sing their marching song and a negro spiritual, which is also undecided.

"A-Roving" will be sung by Alpha Tau Omega along with their fraternity song, "Old Alpha."

Alpha Rho Upsilon will present "That Old Black Magic" and a Bowdoin song, which has not been decided upon as yet.

Delta Sigma will sing "Deep Purple" and their fraternity song, "Hail Delta Sigma."

History of "Sing"
The Interfraternity Sing was originated by Dr. Alfred Brinkler, a Portland organist, while he was in the on the Bowdoin faculty following the death of Professor Edward H. Wass in 1935. Dr. Brinkler is the donor of the Wass Cup.

The judges of the competition may assign up to ten points each to the effects of enthusiasm, diction, attack, release, shading and tonal quality, intonation, rhythm, balance, general effect and ensemble. Judges for the final competition between the four leading Houses, to be held on Wednesday, the 22nd, will be Mrs. C. Warren Ring; Mr. D. Robert Smith, Chairman of the Department of Music at Bates; and Professor E. Compartell, of Colby.

The drawings for the preliminaries, to determine the order of fraternities to sing, will be held in Assistant Professor Russell F. Locke's office at 1:30 on Monday

Juniors Pick Elliot Lawrence For Ivy Week Formal Dance

Elliot Lawrence and his Orchestra have been selected by the Ivy Week-end Committee, composed of members of the Junior Class, to play at the annual formal dance to be held this year on Friday night, May 22.

Three Alpha Delt's Elected To Business Board Of The ORIENT

Bruce N. Cooper '54 was appointed Business Manager of the ORIENT at a recent meeting of the Bowdoin Publishing Company. Cooper succeeds Albert F. Lilley '54 as Business Manager and will also serve as a director of the Bowdoin Publishing Company. His former position of Assistant Business Manager will be filled by James A. Cook, Jr. '54. Peter M. Pirnie '55 will take Cook's vacated position of Advertising Manager.

A graduate of The King School in Stamford, Connecticut, Cooper is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. He has been a member of the Varsity Track Team and was Captain of the Freshman Track Team in 1951. His home is in Darien, Connecticut and he is an economics major.

Richard C. Thurston '54 will continue in his capacity as Circulation Manager.

Request For Delayed Initiation Discussion Made In Student Council

A request to members of the Student Council by Council Vice-President Richard B. Salsman '54 that the question of delayed initiation be returned to the houses for discussion at tonight's meeting was made at the Council's weekly session Monday.

The proposal to delay initiation until after Christmas or the beginning of the second semester was originally proposed by the Beta Theta Pi representative, taken to the various fraternity houses for discussion, and finally soundly defeated in a Council vote. However, at the last meeting before the spring vacation it was reported that Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick wanted further discussion on the issue.

A proposal made by Delta Sigma representative Thomas Otis, Jr. '54 which would enable delinquent fraternity bills, when necessary, to be collected by the College was discussed briefly. The bonding of all brothers was reported by several representatives as having been successful, and any action on the proposal was postponed to a later date.

Robert N. Thurston '54 In Plummer Speaking Prize Win, Wednesday

Robert N. Thurston '54, won the Stanley Plummer Speaking Prize on April 8 in the Smith Auditorium.

President James Stacy Coles presided over the program which saw four members of the Junior Class compete for the prize consisting of the annual income of a number of $1,055. The prize is awarded "for excellence in original and spoken composition in the English language."

Seldes To Lecture On Mass Media Tonight

Gilbert Seldes, film and radio critic, will speak on "From the Lively Arts to the Mass Media" tonight at 8:15 p.m. in the Smith Auditorium.

Mr. Seldes has had experience in several fields of communication, including newspapers, magazines, the drama, movies, books, and television. He was a foreign correspondent during World War I and was a Washington correspondent after the war. He has also served as Associate Editor of Colliers and as Director of Television at the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The speaker is the author of numerous books, including "The Great Audience" and several murder mysteries, written under the pen name of Foster Johns. He also edited the "Portable Ring Larder."

Mr. Seldes also wrote "Lysistrata," a play, and "This Is America," a historical motion picture. He will discuss the impact of mass media on our society.

Glee Club Tour Rated Success; Trip Includes Dances, Sightseeing

The 1952-53 season of the Bowdoin College Glee Club was brought to a climax during Spring vacation by the annual Spring tour. Leaving Brunswick at noon, Friday, March 27, the bus and seven autos proceeded to Worcester, Massachusetts. Here the first concert was given at Becker Junior College, situated near Worcester Polytechnical Institute.

The concert was a great success and the audience showed no restraint in applauding. This gave to be a good beginning for the tour. An excellent write-up of the concert appeared in the Worcester paper the following morning.

After the last number on the program, Professor Tillotson conducted the Club in "Yama Yama," which has become the Club's victory cry and is often heard several times after a good concert.

Many of the men attended a dance after the concert where they were entertained by the girls from Becker Junior College. The Club

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, April 15, 1953 No. 1

- Editor-in-Chief Charles Ranlett '54
Managing Editor Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55
News Editors Edward B. Blackburn '55, Robert C. Burr '55, Charles W. Schoeneman '53, John B. Goodrich '55, Carl S. Tschantré '53
Sports Editor Robert M. Hurst '54
Photographer James P. Gaston '54
Staff: Douglas A. Chalmers '53, E. Ward Gilman '53, C. Jackson Shuttleworth, Jr. '53, Charles E. Coakley '54, T. Ellis McKinney, Jr. '54, Edward F. Spicer '54, Richard M. Catalano '55, Anthony L. Funnell '55, David R. Anderson '55
Sports Staff: Barrett C. Nichols, Jr. '54, James L. Doherty '55, Joseph Y. Rogers '55
Business Manager: Bruce N. Cooper '54
Assistant Business Manager: James A. Cook '54
Circulation Manager: C. Richard Thurston '54
Business Assistants: Theodore D. Robbins '53, Robert C. Tracy '55, Harold R. Beacham, Jr. '56
Advertising Manager: Peter M. Firtme '55

Martin C. Mitchell '54 Missing After Accident In Merrymeeting Bay

Martin C. Mitchell '54, son of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Mitchell of Bowdoinham, has been missing since his disappearance on the Androscoggin River on Tuesday, March 31. Mitchell and his brother-in-law, Royton A. Browne, were attempting to salvage some logs in the swollen river near Merrymeeting Bay above the entrance to the Kennebec River...

View from just below the Brunswick-Topsam Bridge this shows the swollen Androscoggin River during the flood which hit Maine last week of March. The bridge, closed one day, was itself not actually covered although the Topsam approach to the structure was somewhat washed out.

DRAY'S ALMANAC

By David R. Anderson '55
Tap Day, one of Yale's most famous traditions, has come to an end after a colorful 75 year history. On this May day all Yale University Juniors gathered to await the whack on the back that would indicate election to one of Yale's Senior Societies...

Waterville, Brunswick Win Top Awards In State Drama Contest

Waterville and Brunswick High Schools were awarded trophies for first and second places in the Interscholastic Drama Tournament finals for the state, Saturday night, at Memorial Hall. The Waterville go to Connecticut to compete in the New England High School Drama Festival...

Better Hazing Would Solve Timing

Despite a decided improvement in hazing at Bowdoin in recent years, the manner in which it is carried out still is a problem, a problem which the fraternities will have to deal with. An advance to a better and a more objective hazing program has already been made here. Projects carried out by two houses last fall are perhaps the most obvious and publicized examples...

Gordon Stearns '54 Named Winner Of Franklin D. Roosevelt Cup

Gordon W. Stearns Jr. '54 was awarded the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Cup Winner. The cup was awarded each year to the member of the three lower classes whose vision, humanity and courage most contributed to making Bowdoin a better College...

Tour Rated Success; Stops In Washington New York, Philadelphia

The concert was well received by the cadets, who seemed to favor the lighter numbers on the program. "Army Blue" was sung by the Club with a portion of the West Point Glee Club to close the concert. Afterwards, light refreshments were served with entertainment by the Meddies and the Forsberg-Graham piano duo...

College, Fraternity Relations Close

Although known as a fraternity college, the close relationship at Bowdoin between the fraternities and the College itself is not always understood. Attempts to distinguish and separate their interests can usually only end in failure, so close is this relationship. In many colleges the fraternity system is but an appendage...

Robert N. Thurston '54 Plummer Prize Winner
On the ranches of Uruguay there are more than three cattle and nine sheep for every person.
Thurston's speech, "The Greater Church", was judged the best by Assistant Professor Jeffrey J. Carré...

BOWL-MOR Alleys Student Patronage Welcomed 186 Maine Street

CUMBERLAND Brunswick, Maine
Thur.-Fri.-Sat. Apr. 16-17-18
3 DAYS 3 I CONFESS with Montgomery Clift and Anne Baxter also Short Subjects

What Do You Need For Tennis? Tennis Balls (3 balls in can) $2.25, Tennis Sneakers $3.38 - $4.25, T-Shirts (Bowdoin) $1.19, T-Shirts (Fraternity) $1.50, Heather Plaque Sport Shirt - $2.45

THE NAKED SPUR Apr. 19-20-21 with James Stewart and Janet Leigh also Cartoon
THE STARS ARE SINGING Apr. 22-23 with Lauritz Melchior and Rosemary Clooney also Short Subject
SEMINOLE Apr. 24-25 with Rock Hudson - Barbara Hale also Short Subjects

Merrymeeting Gift Shop 185 Park Row Greeting Cards --- Gifts Free Gift Wrapping

Vis-Ed Cards for French Latin Russian German Spanish Russian
These are a great help in learning vocabularies
F. W. CHANDLER & SON 150 MAINE STREET BRUNSWICK PHONE 234

The Record Office Paul K. Niven Jerry Wilcox Printers Of The Orient

Student Patronage Solicited First National Bank Brunswick, Maine

Sensational New Advance in Golf Clubs SPALDING Synchro-Dyned Every club has identical contact feel... amazing ease of shot control

POLAR BEARINGS

Bowdoin Stops Bates, 9-4; Anthony, Clifford Hurlers

With Hal Anthony and Paul Clifford on the mound for Bowdoin, the Polar Bears made the Bates Bobcats last Saturday afternoon, 9-4, in a practice game played on Pickard Field at Brunswick.

Belts Homer

Jack Cosgrove

Bates could collect only three hits off the offerings of Anthony and Clifford. Bowdoin gathered eight hits off four Bobcat hurlers.

Kappa Sigma Wins Both Basketball, Volleyball Championships; ARU Cops Bowling League Cup

BASKETBALL (playoff for fourth place) ARU vs. Theta Delta Chi 38 (qualifying round) Kappa Sigma 72 ARU 50 Sigma Nu 55 Delta 53 (consolation round) Delta vs. ARU 65 (championship) Kappa Sigma 56 Sigma Nu 45 BOWLING (qualifying round) Zeta Psi 3 Beta 1 ARU 3 Sigma Nu 1 (consolation) Sigma Nu 3 Beta 1 (championship) ARU 3 Zeta Psi 1 VOLLEYBALL (qualifying round) Kappa Sigma 2 Sigma Nu 0 Delta Sigma 2 ARU 1 (consolation) Sigma Nu 2 ARU 1 (championship) Kappa Sigma 2 Delta Sigma 0

Scoreboards for Kappa Sigma and ARU in basketball, volleyball, and bowling. Includes player names and statistics.

Bowdoin Students Given 42 Major Warnings

Forty-two undergraduates were put on major probation at the mid-semester review of ranks and 154 students were put on minor probation. Alpha Rho Upsilon and Alpha Tau Omega had the lowest number of men placed on major probation each having but one member receiving major warnings. Alpha Delta Phi, Chi Psi, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Delta Sigma, and the Independents each had two men receiving major warnings.

Scoreboards for Delta Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Nu in basketball and volleyball. Includes player names and statistics.

Psi Upsilon Defends Converted Wass Cup In Interfraternity Sing

Dean said that he hoped that some action on improving the situation would come from the students or the fraternities. The Dean stated that in the past some had opposed the delayed initiation on the grounds that it might cause broken pledges. He said that he would anticipate little trouble from this possible source.

Latest College Exhibits

Walker Art Building Forty Old Master drawings selected from the collection of the Museum. Hubbard Hall Fine bindings from the Rare Book Room. Parker Cleveland Hall Letters of French astronomers and mathematicians.

Advertisement for 'Matchless Service' featuring Ford and Mercury cars. Text includes 'Matchless Service', 'FORD - MERCURY Sales and Service', and 'Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed USED CARS'.

Advertisement for Suffolk University Law School. Text includes 'SUFFOLK UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL', 'ANNOUNCES that the fall semester will open on Monday, September 21, 1953', and 'Address, Suffolk University Law School, 20 Derne Street, Boston 14, Mass., Beacon Hill, opposite State House. Telephone CA 7-1040.'

Baseball Picture Looks Good, Catching Major Difficulty

Outlook For Freshman Baseball Bright; First Of 12 Games Friday

The freshman baseball team opens its schedule this Friday versus Westbrook High School. There is a wealth of talent on this year's freshman club. Of 40 who reported for practice before Easter, Coach Combs has only been able to eliminate 17 recruits from the squad. He hopes to cut five more in the near future.

With 11 lettermen returning from last year's State Championship team, the 1953 season promises to be a good one for the varsity baseball team. The biggest problem facing Coach Danny MacFayden at present is the job of finding replacements for pitcher Art Bishop and catcher Andy Lano.

Of the five regularly starting pitchers, three are already certain. Anthony, top pitcher on last year's freshman club, is expected to fill the slot vacated by Bishop. Lou Audet, a senior, and Paul Clifford, junior, are the other two starters at present. Battling for the other berths will be sophomores Fred Coukos, Jim Hebert, who did not participate last year because of a sore arm, Barry Nichols, Jerry Gracey, Gilley, and Bob Lilley.

Sailors Finish Second In Eight Team Race At New London, Conn.

The Bowdoin sailors, led by Hank Starr, finished second behind the Coast Guard Academy in an eight team race at the Coast Guard Academy in New London, Connecticut. Starr skippered all five races. Serving as crew were Jose Eoperena, Paul Kenyon, Dick Kurtz, and Dave Gardner. Regatta Class boats were used.

Perhaps the biggest question mark as far as competition goes will be the catching department where there are no experienced candidates mentioned first at each position above may be in the starting line-up this Friday.

Once over this hurdle, the team should have easier going. MacFayden feels. He picks the University of Maine, a strong hitting club, as the team the Big White will have to beat if they are to win their fifth straight championship.

ARE YOU TOUGH ENOUGH FOR THIS JOB? If you can make the grade, the U. S. Air Force will award you a commission, your wings and pay you over $5,000 a year!

CAN YOU "take it" 6 days a week? For 52 weeks? Can you meet the high standards required to be an Aviation Cadet? If you can—then here's a man-size opportunity! An opportunity to serve your country and build a personal career that will fit you for responsible positions both in military and commercial aviation.

Advertisement for New Aviation Cadet Training Classes. Text includes 'New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!', 'HERE'S WHAT TO DO:', and 'U.S. AIR FORCE' logo.

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, April 22, 1953 No. 2

Editor-in-Chief:
Charles Ranlett '54
Managing Editor:
Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55

News Editors:
Edward B. Blackman '55
Robert C. Burr '55

Sports Editor:
Robert M. Hurst '54

Photographer:
James P. Gaston '54

Staff:
Douglas A. Chalmers '53
E. Ward Gilman '53
C. Jackson Shuttleworth, Jr. '53
Charles E. Coakley '54
T. Ellis McKinney, Jr. '54
Edward F. Spicer '54
Richard M. Catalano '55
Anthony L. Punnell '55
David R. Anderson '55
James Anywill, Jr. '55

Business Manager:
Bruce N. Cooper '54
Assistant Business Manager:
James A. Cook '54
C. Richard Thurston '54

Advertising Manager:
Peter M. Pirmie '55

Business Assistants:
Theodore D. Robbins '53
Hobart C. Tracy '55

BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Directors: Professor Athern P. Daggett, Professor Philip M. Brown, Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilley '54, Thomas Otis, Jr. '53, Charles Ranlett '54.

Representatives for National Advertisements:
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representatives
400 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CLARENCE TORONTO LOS ANGELES SAN FRANCISCO

Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring trimesters by the students of Bowdoin College. Address news communications to the Editor and subscription communications to the Business Manager of The Bowdoin Publishing Company at the ORIENT Office in Morse Hall, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three dollars ($3.00).

Hazelton Stresses Need For New Approach To Education Principles

[Continued from Page 1]
educators of the teacher colleges and the state departments of education" Mr. Hazelton said.
Then turning back to the responsibility of the liberal arts college to the general student in high school, the speaker stated that he believed that there were two clear reasons for this. "First," he said, "a liberal arts college is part of the whole system of education in the country. It is not the only part nor does it exist for all students... But the liberal arts by their very nature are at the center of the educational process."
Mr. Hazelton defined these liberal arts as "those fields of knowledge that have been gradually—and most certainly not arbitrarily—developed by men through the ages as the most significant organization of the knowledge, the ideas, and the values that one generation must transmit to another."
The speaker said that "the college as an institution consists of teachers—men who are in a very real sense professional educators." He added that these men should be "prepared to judge this process of education not only in college but in the years before college for both those who will continue their education and those who will not."
In short, Mr. Hazelton stated, "the responsibility of the liberal arts college is to the total educational system of the nation and because of the central position of the liberal arts in the educational process it is a special responsibility." It means the speaker said "that the liberal arts college through its teachers and through its graduates who are teachers with interest, experience, and educational judgment should criticize and assist the other parts of the educational system in those problems not directly related to college preparation."

Portland Press Herald
Esther and Barbara Sohn, identical twins and pupils of Professor Fredric E. T. Tiltonson, who presented a program of two-piano, semi-popular music at the Tuesday night session of the Interfraternity Sing. The Middletempsters will provide the intermission entertainment at tonight's finals.

Portland Press Herald
Esther and Barbara Sohn, identical twins and pupils of Professor Fredric E. T. Tiltonson, who presented a program of two-piano, semi-popular music at the Tuesday night session of the Interfraternity Sing. The Middletempsters will provide the intermission entertainment at tonight's finals.

DRAY'S ALMANAC

By David R. Anderson '55
Personally, we are not superstitious, but we do think it is curious that the Daily Princetonian picked Friday the 13th of March to launch a campaign against the University's 100% rushing system. In a rather smug editorial the paper took the stand that some of today's undergraduates just were not the old eating club type. The Princetonian went on to suggest that the administration might not be serving the better interests of the school by admitting students from New York and New Jersey high schools who did not have the proper social background to fit into the club system.
Faculty and undergraduate protest alike forged the student paper to retract its haughty stand. Faculty members blew their tops at the "sheer smugness" of the "Social acceptability" criterion. Pointing out that the Princetonian's attitude could result in another blast of the "country club" brand of criticism which is frequently aimed at Princeton. The undergraduates protested that "sociability" ought not to be a prerequisite to admission. The Princetonian then hung its head and said they did not really mean it, at least not all of it. The paper is now "being criticized for its 'equivocating stand.'"
Yes, they're off and running at Brown University, turtles that is. Faced with the problem of too many April showers, the members of one of Brown's fraternities instigated turtle racing. A front page story in the Brown Daily Herald carried with it a picture of a group of students huddled around a six-turtle handicap.

Less A Matter Of Promise
Neither can Bowdoin and the liberal arts colleges expect to remain academically healthy if they are forced to draw their students only from a withered college preparatory program. That would make admissions less and less a matter of academic promise and more and more a totalling up of particular school credits.
Mr. Hazelton said that things are not yet as "black as this at present," but he warned that it would be foolish to choose to ignore it in the hope that it would go away. "I think," he concluded, "many of you will agree that we may in a very short time be approaching this if the liberal arts colleges do not take their proper place in forming the best education for all the students of secondary schools."

Registration List
The meeting held on Saturday, April 11, drew an attendance of over 40, 14 of which are now connected with Bowdoin itself. Several others attended the sessions but did not formally register. Mr. Hazelton's address was given in the morning preceding a lunch in the Moulton Union.

Much Material Written Recently On Concept Of 'Academic Freedom'

By T. Ellis McKinney, Jr. '54
What does academic freedom mean today? This is a question upon which the attention of the American public has become focused within the last few weeks as a result of the spread of congressional investigations into the activities of our colleges and universities.
Recently many articles and books have been written in newspapers and magazines regarding the subject. Much news has appeared in print and over the radio about the conduct of various investigations. News columnists, editors, and scholars have attempted to examine the concept of "Academic Freedom" in order to determine what it means to us in view of the current world situation.
Freedom For Knowledge
Robert M. MacIver in a current New York Times Magazine article entitled "The Freedom To Search For Knowledge" defines academic freedom as "the freedom of the educator to do his proper work, to fulfill his function, to render to his society the special service that he has to offer." MacIver also says "his work is to learn and to teach and this is what every genuine scholar wants above all to do. That is what he is appointed to do. That is what the institution of learning is for. Here lies its unique function its primary mission in society."
Real Meaning
Several days before MacIver's article was published, The Association of America Universities issued a statement on "The Rights and Responsibilities of Universities and Their Faculties." Speaking for its 37 members, the 53 year old association defined "academic freedom with these words: /"A university must be hospitable to an infinite variety of skills and viewpoints...its whole spirit requires investigation, criticism, and presentation of ideas in an atmosphere of freedom and mutual confidence. This is the meaning of academic freedom. It is essential that the faculty of a university be guaranteed this freedom by its governing board, and that the reasons for the guarantee be understood by the public."
Legal Limits
Academic freedom according to MacIver is the freedom to reach conclusions through scholarly investigations. "It does not imply the freedom to 'act' according to your conclusions, if such action is against the law. It is emphatically not a freedom to attempt to overthrow the government or to incite others to do so. But it embraces the freedom of the serious student of government to reach and express conclusions regarding its nature and regarding the good or evil results of this or that form of government."
The following significant excerpts also appeared in MacIver's essay "Freedom To Seek Knowledge":
"Academic freedom is important to us all because knowledge is important, because the search for knowledge is important, and because the creation of the civilization which wished to make a distinction of what is the best time to leave breakfast and still make chapel." The tipsters are predicting that the times will take from 30 seconds to 4 minutes. The fact that only one Amherst student said he didn't know where the chapel was indicates that the event will be wide open.

James Bowdoin, Henry Johnson Collections Currently On Display

The drawings currently being exhibited at the Walker Art Building are from the collections of James Bowdoin III and Henry Johnson '74.
James Bowdoin obtained the drawings which are a portion of this exhibit, while he was in the diplomatic service for the United States Government in Europe. He brought them back with him when he returned in 1868, and they were given to the College through the terms of his will when he died in 1811. There were 142 drawings in the collection which the College received in 1813.
At the time of his death the collection was evaluated at $7.50 by the appraisers of his estate. Of course, many times what it was 140 years ago.
Johnson Collection
The remainder of the drawings in the exhibit are from the collection of Henry Johnson who was Curator of the Art Collections from 1881 to 1887 and from 1892 to 1914. He served as Director of the Museum from 1914 to 1918. Before his death in 1932 the drawings went on a long term loan to the College, and following this event they were acquired by the College.
The drawings have not been on exhibit as a group for about ten years.

Need Of Barrier Not Proved

The barrier across the Chemistry Building U-drive, the object of frequent comment, most of it unfavorable, since its erection last week, has perhaps received more attention than it has deserved.
The need, however, for such a barrier has not yet been proved to the ORIENT's satisfaction. It would seem that the whole situation could have been handled in a more dignified way. Last fall the College erected signs forbidding parking on the drive, but no strong effort was otherwise made to prohibit this parking. Without any compulsion, students, naturally wishing to save a few steps, continued to use the driveway for a parking place when having classes in Silis Hall or the Parker Cleveland Chemistry Building. No penalty was invoked until, without a public warning, the posts were installed Thursday.
It is up to the College to decide where it wants to permit parking and where it doesn't. Other colleges have established traffic and parking regulations, regulations which have been accepted without the necessity of closing a road or drive. The problem could have been taken to the Student Council or it could have been tied to the regulation that requires student cars to be registered with the Dean's office.
The closing of the drive was a negative solution. A positive one would be to reopen the drive for traffic and to handle the general parking regulations in a more concrete way.

Letter To The Editor Beckwith Appointment

mount College and the Gilmont Organ School. For the past three years he has taught at Amherst where he is an Assistant Professor.
Next September at Bowdoin, Beckwith will take over the duties of Assistant Professor of Music Russell F. Locke who is leaving to become Professor of Music at Emma Willard Academy. to take part. It's hard to believe that there is still religious compulsion and even harder to realize that it is taking place in this college, which is supposedly a center of thinking people.
Charles E. Coakley '54

Summer Employment
Camp Menatoma
Kents Hill, Maine
Leading boys' summer camp has openings for men qualified in athletics, swimming, dramatics, photography, canoeing, camping. Also groundsman and secretary.
Write giving age and qualifications. Interview will be arranged.

BOWL-MOR Alleys
Student Patronage Welcomed
186 Maine Street

Modern Library Books
College Editions .65 & .75
Regular 1.25
Giant 2.45
Complete Stock of Titles on Hand
MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE

President Warns Of Scholarship Decrease
[Continued From Page 1]
Bureau of Ordnance Development Award and the President's Certificate of Merit. He is still active as a consultant to the Navy Department.
President Coles visited his father and mother at Mansfield, Pennsylvania in the course of his trip to Bucknell.

BILL'S SPA
Our Specialties
Italian Spaghettis
Pizza Pie
Hot Pastas
Beer and Ale on Draft and in Bottles
61; Elm St. Brunswick
Tel. 876

Student Patronage Solicited

First National Bank
Brunswick, Maine

Member of the Federal Reserve System and Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

But only time will tell... WITH LEGS THAT LONG, HE OUGHTA BE ABLE TO STEP OVER THE BAR! HE'S BOUND TO WIND UP IN THE OLYMPICS! HOW CAN THEY TELL SO SOON? GIRAFFES HAVE LONG LEGS, TOO, BUT THEY CAN'T JUMP! Only time will tell about a track and field candidate! And only time will tell about a cigarette! Take your time...

Test CAMELS for 30 days for MILDNESS and FLAVOR

THERE MUST BE A REASON WHY Camel is America's most popular cigarette—leading all other brands by billions! Camels have two things smokers want most—rich, full flavor and cool, cool mildness... pack after pack! Try Camels for 30 days and see how mild, how flavorful, how thoroughly enjoyable they are as your steady smoke!

More People Smoke CAMELS than any other cigarette

POLAR BEARINGS

By Robert M. Hurst '54, ORIENT Sports Editor
With the passing of the Boston Braves to Milwaukee, Boston baseball fans will also be without the services of sportscaster Jim Britt.

Although quite a few of the fans thought Mister Britt was prone to the glittering generalities of the game, compared to Bill Stern, he is a bush-league.

Thomas Alva Edison, for instance, would have been greatly surprised to hear that his deafness was the result of a pitched ball that hit him when he was a semi-pro ball player, which he never was.

Freshman Dave Bird of Rockland paced the class B golfers Saturday afternoon in the Brunswick Golf Club's annual Patriot's Day golf tournament with an 89.

Frosh Baseball Team Rout Westbrook 7-1 In Opener

The Bowdoin Junior Varsity nine jammed five hits with three Westbrook High errors for seven runs in the sixth inning to rout the schoolboys 7-1 in the Jayvee's first encounter.

Westbrook was leading 1-0 in the sixth, when the Polar Bears sent 11 men to the plate. Mays plays on two sacrifice attempts a dropped outfield fly and five singles produced seven Bowdoin runs.

Leroy Dyer limited the opposing side to one hit, striking out 12 and walking seven in the six innings he pitched, while Al Marshall was touched for four singles in the last three frames.

Photo by Gaston
Outfielder Al Murray fouls one back into the stands during the Freshman-Westbrook game at Pickard Field Friday afternoon.

Interfraternity Sing Finals Set For Tonight

ed the AD marching song, "We Come" and "Comin' Through the Rye".

Twins Perform
While the judges were deciding, Portland's twin sister, Ester and Barbara Sohn played a two-piano program of semi-popular music.

Judges for tonight's event are Mrs. C. Warren Ring of Bath, Professor of Music at Bates D. Robert Smith, and Professor of Music at Colby Ernano Comparratti.

Dr. Mei Outlines Chinese Communism In Practice

Mei stated that there are three fundamental Communist philosophies which conflict directly with Confucianism. Materialism, a closed system of government, and an emphasis on force and conflict oppose the Confucian ideals of humanism, pluralism in government, and jen, or love.

Polar Bear Nine Outslugs Maine 14-9, Corby Wolfe Leads Attack

Interfraternity Softball

Table with columns for team names (Delta Xi, Phi Psi, etc.), wins, losses, and percentages.

Gettchell, Milliken Lead Track Team To 79-56 Over Univ. Of Vermont

Bowdoin unveiled a spectacular running team for the spring season opener at Vermont Saturday. Vermont's power in the field events couldn't overcome the speed of the Polar Bears and as a result the Magesmen picked off a 79-56 victory over the Catamount's at Burlington.

Dick Gettchell led the invaders to the win with a triple win in the high and low hurdles and the 220 yard dash. Gordon Milliken, sprint star, collected in the 100 yard dash and the 440, also running second to Gettchell in the 220. He finished off the afternoon with a second in the broad jump.

Vermont's Don Blach, with wins in the pole vault and high jump was high man for the home team, but Don Doordosch set a new Vermont record in the shot put as he threw the brass ball 43 feet one half inch bettering the old record by inches. He also had two thirds in the discus and the hammer throw.

Running Events
100-Yard Dash - 1. Milliken, B; 2. Mason, V; 3. Weiss, B. Time, 16 seconds.

Club Officers
The officers of the Outing Club are William H. Graf '53, President; James E. Nevin '53, Vice-President; and Treasurer; and Preston B. Keith '54, Secretary.

Field Events
Pole Vault - 1. Blach, V; 2. Graves, V; 3. Saunders, V. Height, 11 feet.

Shot Put - 1. Doordosch, V; 2. Farrington, V; 3. Little, B. Distance, 43 feet 1/2 inch.

A United States Senator must be at least 30.

Bowdoin won its second straight exhibition victory with a 14-9 win over the University of Maine in a sloppy game at Pickard Field, Saturday.

The home team rolled up a 9-0 lead before Maine finally scored five times in the sixth inning, and Bowdoin held a 14-5 margin going into the ninth when the visitors scored their final four tallies.

Maine, rated the team to beat in this state by Coach Danny MacRayden, was unimpressive. They committed six errors in the field, and at the plate only in the sixth inning did they break through with any kind of a hitting attack.

Bowdoin scored five times in the third inning on three hits, three walks, a balk, a sacrifice, and a steal. The inning's big blow was a base clearing double by Frank Vecella. John Dana, the Maine starter, was replaced by portly Vern Brown who was bunted hard in the fifth, Bowdoin scoring four more times.

Leading Bowdoin at bat was Captain Corby Wolfe who had three hits in four trips. Vecella, Earl Bartlett, and Jack Cosgrove each had two hits, as all the starters except Clifford hit safely.

Donald Arnold for Maine had two hits, one a triple.

Fred Flemming, hitting star of the opening exhibition game, was held to a walk and a pop-fly double in five official tries to the plate.

Box score table for the baseball game between Bowdoin and Maine.

Portland Press Herald
Corby Wolfe, Bowdoin baseball captain, whose three hits sparked Bowdoin to a 14-9 victory over Maine in an exhibition game, Saturday.

We Have Vis-Ed Cards for French
German
Spanish
Latin
Russian

These are a great help in learning vocabularies
F. W. CHANDLER & SON
150 MAINE STREET BRUNSWICK PHONE 234

ROTC Graduates Will All Have Commissions

All remaining ROTC graduates will stay in the Transportation Corps and will not be detailed to any other branch.

Senior's Hefty Decision
Questionnaires were distributed last Thursday to those seniors fulfilling their requirements this year, asking them to list, in order of preference, the branch which they wished to enter, and to state the month, between July 1, 1953 and June 1, 1954, in which they wished to enter the service.

The students, who had previously expected to be required to enter in July, were only given 45 hours to fill out the questionnaires. This request from 1st Army Headquarters made it necessary for those who desired to go to graduate school to hurried plans, some of whom were not assured of acceptance.

Spring Sports Schedule

Table listing various sports events (Varsity Baseball, J.V. Golf, Varsity Tennis) with dates and times.

Spring Sports Schedule

Table listing various sports events (Varsity Baseball, J.V. Golf, Varsity Tennis) with dates and times.

CUMBERLAND

Advertisement for Cumberland, Brunswick, Maine, featuring Ford and Mercury cars, sales and service, and contact information.

"Matchless Service"

Advertisement for Harry H. Smart, featuring Ford and Mercury cars, sales and service, and contact information.

Merrymeeting Gift Shop

185 Park Row
Greeting Cards --- Gifts
Free Gift Wrapping

New! SPALDING GOLF BALLS ARE LIFETIME WHITE

RESISTS SCUFFING, BRUISING, STAINS. SPALDING does it again! Adds a spectacular new permanent whiteness to the game's greatest golf balls.

While They Last - Small Hand Picked Group Of

$2.00 $2.50 $3.50
Pure Silk Ties
$1.59
2 for $3.00

A fine, fine maker of neckwear who makes no ties selling for less than 2.00 - closed out small lots of his new spring patterns.

Benoit's
MAINE STREET BRUNSWICK
Same Makers Regular $1.50 Clip-on Bow Ties - 98c

Behind The Ivy Curtain

By E. Ward Gilman '53

wear and tear on the pavement has been reduced to practically nothing. This bill will save untold amounts of money in repair bills over a period of time, and will dispense with the necessity of having the drive plowed out in the winter. We laud the president, or whoever was responsible for the posts, for having a practical answer to the college deficit.

Economy Measures

Along this line of economy, and making up deficits, we would like to make a few suggestions to add to the revenue of the College. These posts could very easily be converted into parking meters, which, as everyone knows, are one of the most popular forms of municipal revenue going these days. Other meters could be set up at strategic points around the campus.

To supplement the meters, whose cost certainly would not be more than the blocked off drive, the Administration could set up a court to try violations and levy fines. We are quite sure that there are members of the faculty fully qualified to advise the Administration concerning the technical matters involved in creating a court.

We have not forgotten enforcement of these laws. Our invaluable watchmen could be supplied with badges and whistles to serve as a temporary police force until a permanent body could be established. Informs, which would involve a considerable outlay of capital, need not necessarily be a requisite. Or, if a separate body of policemen should run into more money than the Administration cares to spend, a special branch of the ROTC could be pressed into service. Directing traffic should be a valuable bit of extra training for those ROTC men who eventually do see service in the Transportation Corps.

Speed Trap

Our final idea is perhaps too bold to be of any practical value immediately, but it should gross a most satisfactory income if it could be put into practice. We are suggesting that Route 1 be diverted through the college road, and, with a sufficient number of policemen on hand, a rather effective speed trap would result. Of course, there may be some repercussions if the State finds out about it, but it should make quite a bit of money for awhile. We can hardly wait to see motorcycle policemen hiding behind the Chapel.

Placement Bureau Interviews Schedule Continues; Goodyear Rubber Here Tonight

The Placement Bureau's senior interview series continues tonight with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company being represented on campus by two men.

The company will be represented by Mr. Richard Bowman and Mr. Paul Johnson. Individual interviews will be held tomorrow.

In the next few days representatives from the Travelers Insurance Company, Procter and Gamble Company (Sales Division), the Paul Revere Life Insurance Company, the Manufacturers Trust, and the New England Telephone Company.

the New Jersey Telephone Company, and the Bell Labs of New York will visit the campus.

During the week of April 7 representatives conferred with seniors from the Canal National Bank of Portland, the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, and the Deering, Milliken and Farnsworth Mills.

During the passed week the First National Bank of Boston was represented on campus by Mr. Emory Mower and the same day Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., was represented by Mr. Herbert Graper.

Young Republicans To Hold Interest Campaign; Possible Trip Planned

At an important meeting of the Bowdoin Young Republican Club held on Thursday, March 17, the problem of how the Young Republicans could most benefit the Republican voters of Brunswick was discussed.

Plans for a house to house canvass to interest voters in the Republican Party was the most important idea brought forth, and it received the almost unanimous support of those present. This question will be more thoroughly discussed at the next meeting scheduled for the first week of May.

To recent trip to the Maine State Legislature was discussed in detail and the trip was a big success. As suggested by David Nichols, Chairman of the Maine Council of Young Republicans, in a talk with William A. Fickett '54 and Fred O. Smith '56 at Augusta, the group made plans to send delegates to the forthcoming New England Council Meeting to be held at Portsmouth, N. H. in May.

The executive committee, composed of the four officers, was assigned the duty of drawing up a club constitution before the next meeting.

After the minutes of the previous meeting were read by Secretary Smith, President Fickett gave a short history of the National Federation of Young Republicans and the status of the Bowdoin group in the Federation.

President Fickett adjourned the meeting, expressing his confidence in the group and inviting all interested men to the next meeting.

Current College Exhibits

Walker Art Building
Forty Old Master drawings selected from the collection of the Museum.

Hubbard Hall
Some early forms of writing.

On April 14 Montgomery Ward and the United States Steel Company interviewed seniors at the College. Recruiters were here from Massachusetts Mutual Life Company of Springfield and the National Shawmut Bank of Boston to confer with candidates April 16. On the 17 the American Insurance Group of New York City held senior interviews and were represented by Mr. John J. Leddy.

On Monday of this week the International Business Machines Inc. were on campus and yesterday Mr. John B. Grant of the Federal Reserve Bank held senior interviews.

In the Middle Ages, a knight often carried his lady's glove as a token of his devotion.

New Chapel Flags

The 14 state flags recently installed in the Chapel as shown from the balcony under the organ looking towards the west end of the building. The flags are those of the 13 original states and Maine.

EXCERPTS FROM REPORT SUBMITTED TO PRES. COLES

The Student Curriculum Committee has reached the following conclusions and respectfully submits the following recommendations.

1. Student Curriculum Committee wholeheartedly agrees with the overwhelming majority of the students and faculty in concluding that the science requirement plays a necessary and important part in the liberal arts curriculum.
2. The Student Curriculum Committee concludes that there is no compelling need for radical changes in the science requirement. However, the Committee believes that certain changes, hereinafter noted, would be beneficial.
3. There is an elementary science presently offered which might well be accepted in fulfillment of the requirement. That course is Astronomy. Astronomy employs a methodology and approach that classes it as a science on an equal level with chemistry, physics and biology.
4. It feels that the problem approach which requires the student to solve rigorously problems. . . . should be expanded in length and difficulty in order to raise this phase of the course to a level equal with those of the other elementary courses.
5. The (Committee) recognizes the existence of arguments which lead to a large majority of the students polled in favor of "terminal" science courses. . . . (and) the arguments against such a plan. . . . However, a compromise proposal has been offered which the Committee supports. Professor Root proposes that Chemistry 2 only be divided into terminal and non-terminal groups. . . . emphasis could be placed on material of greater carry over value and interest to the non-scientist. . . .
6. On the other hand, the non-terminal group could be conducted with greater chemical and mathematical rigor than the present course. . . .
7. It is not certain whether such a plan would be applicable to the other two elementary sciences. However, the Committee recommends further study in this matter. . . .
8. Although a sizeable number of students are in favor of instituting a general science course, to satisfy the science requirement, the Committee agrees with the tenor of the opinion expressed by the faculty in the science departments and other colleges and opposes such action. . . . The Committee feels that much of the value of a science course lies in the present elementary science courses. Because of the lack of facilities available for such a general course, these phases would have to be minimized. . . . A general science course would tend to discuss science and not be in itself study in a science. . . .
9. The Committee does feel, however, that a course dealing with the methodology and history of science would be an extremely valuable addition to the curriculum. It is recommended that such a course be given to students with Junior standing or above, and that it should have as a prerequisite at least one year of laboratory science. . . . The Committee also recommends that this course be accepted as the second year of science for students electing the

Thurston, Beacham Get New Positions On Staff

C. Richard Thurston '54 was recently appointed as an Assistant Business Manager of the ORIENT.

Thurston will serve in his new capacity along with James A. Cook '54. His old position as Circulation Manager will be filled by Harold Richard Beacham, Jr. '56.

Thurston, who lives in Milton, Massachusetts, is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. He was a member of the Track Team in his freshman year and was on the Varsity Track Team until he was injured in Interfraternity Sports. After this he acted as manager of the team. He is also a member of the College Band.

The new Circulation Manager, Beacham, graduated from Kimball Union Academy and lives in Newton Center, Massachusetts. He is on the J.V. Tennis Team and is acting as the Baseball Manager. He is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity.

Roe To Retire From Faculty In June; To Study Fine Art History

The resignation of Assistant Professor Albert S. Roe, for seven years a member of the Bowdoin faculty, was accepted at the recent faculty meeting.

Prof. Albert S. Roe

The resignation will take effect at the end of the current academic year.

A native of New York, Professor Roe received his A.B. Degree at Princeton in 1936. From 1936 to 1938 he studied in Harvard Department of Fine Arts, and from 1938 to 1940 Professor Roe studied at Princeton in the Department of Art and Archeology. There he received the degree of Master of Fine Arts.

Professor Roe then returned to Harvard where he served as a teaching fellow in the Department of Fine Arts at Harvard and Radcliffe until 1942. He was commissioned in the Naval Reserve and began four years of anti-submarine service in the Atlantic, Pacific, and Caribbean theatres. At present he is a Lieutenant in the Naval Reserve.

Arriving at Bowdoin in 1946, he was made Instructor in Art and Curator of the Museum of Fine Arts. He was made Assistant Professor of Art in 1949. In 1950 he received his Doctorate from Harvard, the subject of his thesis being "William Blake's Illustrations to the Divine Comedy of Dante." In the period 1951 to 1952 he continued his studies of Blake's Dante drawings at the British Museum in London, having received a Fulbright Award as a Senior Research Fellow. Material from his thesis and his studies in England will be the basis of two volumes bearing the thesis title. They will be published by the Princeton University Press.

Professor Roe is currently serving as Acting Director of the Museum of Fine Arts at Bowdoin during the sabbatical leave of the Director, Professor Phillip C. Beam. Although his plans for the next few years are not fully established, he will continue with research in the history of the Fine Arts in this country and abroad.

WBOA Meeting Set

WBOA will hold its annual meeting in the Moulton Union on Thursday, April 23 at 8:15 p.m.

Bendix Launderette
15 Mill Street Brunswick, Maine
Just a few steps from Maine Street

- Nine pound wash 30c
- Use of Dryer 25c

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it . . .

Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money.

TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY
ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS

The Record Office
Paul K. Niven Jerry Wilkes
• Printers Of The Orient •

Headquarters for —

Manhattan
Shirts

In Brunswick

Senter's

Sure way to bring on the dancing girls

To be a guy with the dolls, you've got to take the subject of shirts seriously. Best way is to study the smart Manhattan styles—with comfort and long wear built in. Why not stop in your Manhattan men's shop today—see many more most-for-your-money values in distinctive Manhattan menswear.

Manhattan, Wythe—medium spread soft collar with stays.

Manhattan, Pinnead—short, round point, eyelid collar.

Manhattan

HOOD'S PLACE
180 Maine Street
ICE COLD BEER
and ALE
TO TAKE OUT
HOT DOGS
ITALIAN SANDWICHES
WE DELIVER
TO COLLEGE

YEARS AHEAD OF THEM ALL!

Don't you want to try a cigarette with a record like this?

- 1. THE QUALITY CONTRAST between Chesterfield and other leading cigarettes is a revealing story. Recent chemical analyses give an index of good quality for the country's six leading cigarette brands.

The index of good quality table—a ratio of high sugar to low nicotine—shows Chesterfield quality highest

. . . 15% higher than its nearest competitor and Chesterfield quality 31% higher than the average of the five other leading brands.

- 2. First to Give You Premium Quality in Regular and King-size . . . much milder with an extraordinarily good taste—and for your pocketbook, Chesterfield is today's best cigarette buy.
- 3. A Report Never Before Made About a Cigarette.

For a full year a medical specialist has been giving a group of Chesterfield smokers regular examinations every two months. He reports . . . no adverse effects to nose, throat and sinuses from smoking Chesterfield.

Choice of Young America
A recent survey made in 274 leading colleges and universities shows Chesterfield is the largest seller.

BEST FOR YOU

Delta Sigma Confederation Established In Recent Move

The formation of the Delta Sigma Confederation, representing a new step in Greek letter organizations, has been announced by officers of the Delta Sigma Fraternity of Bowdoin and the Omega Phi Society of Wesleyan.

Meeting at Bowdoin on Saturday, representatives of the two houses drew up an Articles of Confederation which is established on the principles of local autonomy and non-discrimination.

With this belief in mind, we have resolved the following Constitution based upon the principles of local autonomy and non-discrimination.

Provision for the admittance of any additional desirable chapters, holding the same principal and ideals, into the Confederation has been made in the constitution.

Both Left D.U. The two chapters were formally members of Delta Upsilon Fraternity, each leaving the national organization over the issue of local option.

Organization of the new confederation is simple, the chairman of the group being the president of that house which serves as host for the annual meeting.

Coles Conferring With Music Hall Architects In New York This Week

President James S. Coles left for New York City and Washington, D.C. last Sunday in order to confer with the College architects, McKim, Mead and White in New York, concerning the completion of renovations in the Searles Science Building, and to attend a special committee meeting of the Navy Department in Washington.

Feature of their Brunswick appearance will be the Concerto in E Flat for two pianos and orchestra, by Mozart. For this number they will be accompanied by a 25 piece orchestra conducted by Professor Tiltonson.

Coles At Bates The Bates College Round Table has invited President and Mrs. Coles to attend their meeting tonight.

Post Mortem Attempt By Raiders Impedes Plan To Block Driveway

Student disapproval of the "iron curtain" the posts blocking off the wishbone-shaped driveway in front of Cleveland Hall, came to a head on Friday night and again on Sunday night when the "iron curtain" was lifted and the posts were spirited away.

New WBOA Head

Newly elected Station Manager of WBOA, John A. Miller '54 replaces Donald W. Raymond '54 as a result of the annual staff meeting last Thursday night.

Miller, Reid Elected To Head WBOA; Past Year Is Termed Successful

Closing out what Station Manager Donald W. Raymond '54 termed "a very successful year," radio station WBOA elects John A. Miller '54 to succeed Raymond at its annual spring meeting.

Brothers To Give Two Piano Recital Tonight At Memorial Hall

Frederic E. T. Tiltonson, Professor of Music, announced a program of two piano recitals to be presented in Memorial Hall on Wednesday evening, April 29th, by Albert and Gerard Bellerose of Biddeford.

Army Head Sets May 21 As Date For Bowdoin Draft Deferment Test

Brigadier General George M. Carter, Maine State Director of Selective Service, has announced that the last Selective Service College Qualification Test to be given this school year will be on May 21.

College Dixieland Band Engaged For 10 Week Stand On Cape Cod

The Polar Bear Five, Bowdoin's own dixieland band, is rapidly making itself known around many of New England's colleges.

Council Told College Worried Over Student Drinking In Public

That the Administration and the Governing Boards of the College are definitely worried about student drinking in public and about events which can result from such drinking was made clear by several members of the Student Council at their weekly meeting, Monday.

6 Fraternities Select Next Year's Foreign Students; 6 Undecided

Plans for the sponsorship of foreign students under the Bowdoin Plan for 1953-54 are not complete as yet, but all twelve houses will sponsor men under the Plan, and detailed arrangements have been made in a number of cases.

Wilder Explains History Of Chapel Flags; Claims They Help Acoustics

The assistant to the President, Philip S. Wilder, satisfied a curious Chapel audience by explaining the presence of the newly acquired Chapel flags and by giving a short sketch of the history of each flag.

Land, Industrialization, Economic Dependence Chief Philippine Issues

James A. Storer, Assistant Professor of Economics, discussed the current problems facing the Philippines, showed slides of the country, and gave some facts about the islands in his lecture of Monday, April 27, sponsored by the Political Forum in the Moulton Union Lounge.

Kirkland To Take Leave Of Absence Next Year

Professor Edward C. Kirkland of the History Department will be on sabbatical leave during the 1953-54 academic year.

6 Fraternities Select Next Year's Foreign Students; 6 Undecided

Plans for the sponsorship of foreign students under the Bowdoin Plan for 1953-54 are not complete as yet, but all twelve houses will sponsor men under the Plan, and detailed arrangements have been made in a number of cases.

Wilder Explains History Of Chapel Flags; Claims They Help Acoustics

The assistant to the President, Philip S. Wilder, satisfied a curious Chapel audience by explaining the presence of the newly acquired Chapel flags and by giving a short sketch of the history of each flag.

Land, Industrialization, Economic Dependence Chief Philippine Issues

James A. Storer, Assistant Professor of Economics, discussed the current problems facing the Philippines, showed slides of the country, and gave some facts about the islands in his lecture of Monday, April 27, sponsored by the Political Forum in the Moulton Union Lounge.

Kirkland To Take Leave Of Absence Next Year

Professor Edward C. Kirkland of the History Department will be on sabbatical leave during the 1953-54 academic year.

Kirkland To Deliver 'Academic Freedom In Peril' Lecture, May 4

May 4 Lecturer

Professor Edward C. Kirkland of the History Department who will speak on "Academic Freedom In Peril" on Monday night, May 4.

Wilder Explains History Of Chapel Flags; Claims They Help Acoustics

Land, Industrialization, Economic Dependence Chief Philippine Issues

Kirkland To Take Leave Of Absence Next Year

Land, Industrialization, Economic Dependence Chief Philippine Issues

Kirkland To Take Leave Of Absence Next Year

Land, Industrialization, Economic Dependence Chief Philippine Issues

AD Takes 13th Victory In 19th Sing Competition

Alpha Delta Phi, led by Douglas A. Chalmers '53, was judged the winner of the coveted Wav Singing Cup in the finals of the Interfraternity Sing which was held last Wednesday evening in Memorial Hall.

Delta Kappa Epsilon won the second place position as a result of their rendition of "Coa Water" and the "Deke Marching Song." The Deke's were led by Robert R. Forsberg '53.

President's Cup Awarded The President's Cup for the fraternity showing the most improvement was awarded to Beta Theta Pi. Herbert T. Kwouk '53 conducted the Beta's as they sang "Marching Along In Beta Theta Pi" and "Old Man Noah."

Dr. Ephraim Fischoff Emphasizes Need For Mankind Improvement

Speaking in the Sunday Chapel service on April 26, Dr. Ephraim Fischoff emphasized the point that although there is much good in mankind, there is definite need for improvement.

Chemistry Talk Planned For Thursday Night

Dr. John Timms will speak on the history of chemistry as shown in caricature on the lecture to be given in the Chemistry Lecture Room of Parker Cleveland Hall Thursday evening at 8:15.

Student Curriculum Committee's Start Indicates Campus Value

The Student Curriculum Committee was created last December by an overwhelming majority of the students who believed that there should be undergraduate group to express student opinions on matters concerning the curriculum.

Land, Industrialization, Economic Dependence Chief Philippine Issues

Kirkland To Take Leave Of Absence Next Year

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, April 29, 1953 No. 3

Editor-In-Chief Charles Ranlett '54
Managing Editor Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55
News Editors John B. Goodrich '55, Charles W. Schoeneman '53, T. Ellis McKinney, Jr. '54

Sports Editor Robert M. Hurst '54
Photographer James P. Gaston '54
Staff Douglas A. Chalmers '53, E. Ward Gilman '53, C. Jackson Shuttleworth, Jr. '53

Harriet C. Nichols, Jr. '54
James L. Doherty '55
Herbert E. Hammonds, Jr. '56

Business Manager Bruce N. Cooper '54
Assistant Business Manager James A. Cook '54, C. Richard Thurston '54
Circulation Manager Harold R. Beacham, Jr. '56

BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Directors Professor Athern P. Daggett, Professor Philip M. Brown, Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilley '54, Thomas Otis, Jr. '53, Charles Ranlett '54

Printed weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semesters by the students of Bowdoin College. Address news communications to the Editor and subscription communications to the Business Manager at the Bowdoin Publishing Company at the Orient Office in Moore Hall, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three (3) dollars.

into our homes (to quote an old cliché); we were so frequently called upon to show enthusiastic acceptance of the new and different that this sturdiness of enthusiasm became a little depleted. During our adolescence (an extremely distasteful word to one who is trying to forget that period) we were the objects of the greatest and most diversified quantity of emotional appeal that it seems ever beset an age. We were thrown into the advertisers' plea for markets, the movies' plea for audiences; we were called upon to throw our emotional selves behind a war effort without the opportunity to take an active part; we came to colleges which had been changed by the veteran influence and watched with some awe and admiration the older and more suave manners of these twentieth century men of adventure; in all, we had vicariously lived a full life emotionally. The apathy which we fashioned was partially a self-satisfaction at having lived, partially a vacuum caused by the absence of scarcity of emotional reserve, and partially an emulation of the older and wiser young men who had preceded us. On top of all this is a fatalistic futility which has seeped into our outlook for the future from the world situation, high taxes, and the great anathema, the atomic bomb.

In reviewing these causes we see that they are not all environmental influences nor are they self-designated. They show us that our apathy is part action and part reaction. The reason why we cannot peel this off like an orange peel is because we have aged emotionally, because we have become used to this apathetic nature and have assimilated it into our collective personality. But personality is only the outward sign of our inward feelings. Human beings are not classified into the "Jazz Age," the "Lost Generation," and the "Silent Generation" ... only their personalities. Personality can only last a lifetime whereas human qualities are never changed. Mr. Wilder sees a reorientation in the interests and direction of the "Silent Generation", but it is only a reorientation, a redirection that is taking place. Since our interests are changing in their direction one cannot assume that our desires, or anything as static as that, are true. We are more aware of the world as a unit, but this is only a redirected patriotism. True, we are not so passive toward the army, or the church, or the college as some of our predecessors. This is not disloyalty; we are, in reality, more loyal to certain universal values which in time make obsolete certain features of man-made institutions. Disbelief in the long run strengthens one's faith, and as we have learned from the fast pace of discovery and improvement, man cannot be expected to create institutions with universal and unchanging values but must adapt the institution to the conditions of the time.

Mr. Wilder says that we are aiming low and that we want security in our job and domestic life in a "suburban idyll" (here he quotes the article in Time on November 5, 1951 which was the well-spring of the term "silent generation"). He talks about the falsity and incompetence in high places as the reason for this lowering of goals. He says we have little respect for authority and hence shrink from assuming authority ourselves. Here he paints us as pictures of righteousness. They hate the false and they shrink from the conspicuous roles which all but inevitably require a certain amount of it. I find this trait very promising. Plato was the first to say that high place is best in the hands of those who are reluctant to assume it. In quoting this revered philosopher Mr. Wilder gains support for his argument, but he again generalizes and then puts ground-work under his generalization with an obscure phrase from the works of an unobscure author. The reasons why we are looking for security are almost self-evident. We see the high rates, the highly developed economy, and the insecurity of much of the world and set our sights on a firm piece of land in the sea of turmoil (another trite phrase). He is paying us greater respect than we deserve when he says we hate the falseness in high places so much that we want no part of them. In truth, most of high places are unobtainable, and those that are available are so insecure and trouble-wrought that the lower ones seem more desirable. He is also wrong in viewing this "shrinking" as a blessing. If we allow our apathetic personalities free reign they will lead us down to the level of mediocrity; the "I don't care" is harmless as a phrase uttered, but as a phrase applied it can do untold harm. Those who aim at leadership and who train themselves for leadership are the best qualified to lead and not "those most reluctant to assume" this leadership.

We have been labelled the "silent generation" and the chances are good that the name will be "current and choice" till a newer generation comes along for the classifiers to classify. In closing, one could look up quotations in "Bartlett's" about silent people, as Mr. Wilder may have done with the tidbit from Plato. In reality, we are not silent but only prepared ... perhaps for the best ... perhaps for the worst. C. W. S.

Post Mortem Raiders

[Continued from Page 1] that he is "only surprised that they didn't go sooner". Another faculty man feels that the deeds could only have been done by students. If the faculty had done it, says this man, they would have put all of the...

Reply To Letter On Chapel Cross Made

Dear Mr. Coakley: In reply to your tirade against chapel and in particular the cross which appears at the back of it, I would like to remind you that it is the symbol of Christianity and is not intended to be pertinent to any specific religious group.

If you read the offer-made to you by President Hyde in the Bowdoin College Bulletin, you would realize that you are attending a Christian college which is making you a fine Christian offer. Perhaps if you thought of the chapel cross as a reminder of this offer which Bowdoin makes to each of its students, you would not object so vehemently.

As for the chapel services, I believe that there is something to be derived from them whether you worship in a church or a synagogue. There might even be something in them for radicals if you would take the time to listen. If you still object, may I say that there is no one standing over you to force you to pray when the others do.

Sincerely, Francis P. Twining '55 posts on the President's porch. Campus opinion about the whole business of the posts was best summed up by a member of the College staff who stated that to his mind "a road is a road to drive on."

HOOD'S PLACE 180 Maine Street ICE COLD BEER and ALE TO TAKE OUT HOT DOGS ITALIAN SANDWICHES WE DELIVER TO COLLEGE

Summer Employment Camp Menafoma Kents Hill, Maine

Leading boys' summer camp has openings for men qualified in athletics, swimming, dramatics, photography, canoeing, camping. Also groundsmen and secretary. Write giving age and qualifications. Interview will be arranged.

Warns Of Attack

President James S. Coles, speaking in Chapel last Wednesday, expressed concern over the attitude of many of the fraternities toward scholastic achievements at Bowdoin. The President said he hoped a more mature outlook on the part of the individual fraternities would produce a feeling of pride in scholarship, rather than one of indifference.

Bangor Daily News To Hold Quartet Concert For Charity On May 8

Two quartets from Bowdoin will sing in Bangor on May 8, in a concert sponsored by the Bangor Daily News, the proceeds of which will go to the Bangor Daily News charities. An estimated twenty quartets will participate in the competition.

Members of Zeta Psi will comprise one of the quartets while the other will be composed of members of various fraternities, all of whom are in the Glee Club.

The singers from Zeta Psi will be Albert Farrington '54, bass; Lawrence Dwight '54, baritone; Wendell Goodwin '56, second tenor; and Wayne Pratt '55, first tenor. The quartet will also sing tomorrow evening at the Zeta House, following a buffet supper to be given for members of the faculty.

Miller WBOA Head

[Continued from Page 1] to 550 records, necessitating the building of new files. Plans for next year include the purchase of a new tape recorder, a possible hook-up with the Maine Central Power Company for increased broadcast range, and the continuation of Lucky Strike as sponsors of the teletype machine.

Bresett '53 Receives Fulbright French Award

Edward M. Bresett, Jr. '53 of New York City, a member of the senior class at Bowdoin College, has been awarded a Fulbright Scholarship for 1953-54. Bresett, who has been majoring in French, will study the French language in France. This grant is approximately one of 240 made under the provision of the Fulbright Act for study in France and of a total of approximately 900 grants made for next year under the United States Educational Exchange Program. Twice a James Bowdoin Scholar and a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Bresett is enrolled in the ROTC unit and is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. Cairo, Egypt, is called the "Mother of the World."

Colos Stresses Need For More Scholastic Atmosphere In Houses

Waning of the continued attack from some quarters on fraternities and the fraternity system, President James S. Coles told a Chapel audience last Wednesday that "everything possible must be done to make our fraternities effective instruments of instruction."

President Coles suggested that each fraternity draw up a balance sheet which would measure its weaknesses and aid to reinforce its strengths.

Speaking of the fraternities, the President said "They must provide a domestic environment hospitable to the educational ideal. They must bring the educational purposes of the college to the front of their programs. They must reflect and promulgate the manners and customs which add to, rather than detract from, the educational ideal. They must provide places where students can work in quiet and without interruption."

President Coles introduced his subject by mentioning the results of the Wesleyan study which rated colleges according to their productivity of scholars per thousand graduates. He reported that the study revealed that of the 50 top institutions, well over half of them were liberal arts colleges of similar size and aim. Other facts which he brought out were that institutions with a higher cost of attendance are more productive than those of lower cost, those in the New England and the North Central states more productive than those elsewhere, those non-denominational liberal arts colleges more productive than those under church control, and those of older origin more productive than those more recently founded.

The President quoted one statement of the publishers which he said might be of particular interest to Bowdoin: "The study clearly reveals certain important characteristics of undergraduate institutions in the production of scholars as defined by the authors -- location: those of the far west and south produce relatively few; tuition: those with high tuition produce a greater number; campus social life: those with no active fraternity systems produce more scholars ... These and other factors evaluated by this study are significant both for the educator and for the parent concerned with his children's choice of a college."

He warned that the implications of this statement were great. He said that, aside from an influence which it might have on a student's choice of college, it "might cause us to reevaluate Bowdoin College and the relationship of fraternities to the College."

Mentioning that Bowdoin was not listed among the 50 top institutions listed, the President said that Bowdoin could not take any refuge in a rationalization that it was an exception to the trend pointed out by study. President Coles raised the question as to whether "fraternities constitute influences hostile to intellectual effort?" In any case, he pointed out that in the most recent marking period "some houses had a disproportionately large number of their members who are on major warning."

DRAY'S ALMANAC

Spring is here. The signs are clearly written over every college campus in New England. Amherst, Williams, Trinity, and Yale are having their first big round of spring houseparties this weekend. A Brown group hired a 500 passenger boat last weekend to follow the yacht races. And even DRAY was overtaken by the fever, selling his biology books to sponsor a jaunt to Mt. Holyoke which was also a rendezvous for 50 Yales who stationed themselves at the College Inn and invited the girls to take their choice. Convertibles, with tops down, the occasional optimist in cord jackets, girls adding color to tans started on their spring vacations, and magnolias in bloom left no room for doubt that it was spring. And here on campus Monday morning Bowdoin men were swapping stories of beach parties and outings from Bradford to Vassar.

In spite of the season many undergraduates were keeping an eye on classes and the approaching final examination period. A Wesleyan group similar to our Student Curriculum Committee has approached the administration with a request for longer finals. They asked the Dean: "If the major functions of exams are to test the students' general understanding of the subject as a whole and his retention of certain valuable data, why should the students' demonstration of either be limited by time?" The Dean, speaking for the administration, has promised to go over the problem carefully.

And a New York college may experiment with a "dead week" to relieve exam pressure. In this case the college will not schedule any activities during the seven days before its final examination period. Five Colby men have just returned to Waterville with prizes from seven radio jack-pot shows. In two days the boys talked their way back stage and on the stage of "What's My Name," "Double or Nothing," "Live Like a Millionaire," and four other programs. They attributed their luck to a little white lie about being on their fraternity quests.

The Harvard Lampon was also caught pulling the leg of the professional entertainers. The editors of the Cambridge monthly printed their nominations for "Movie Worst" shortly after Hollywood made its Academy Awards presentations. "Bonzo Goes To College" was cited as the "strongest"

National collegiate opinion, much of it unfavorable, is currently being expressed about the suspension from the national organization of the Williams chapter of Phi Delta Theta. This chapter pledged a student of Jewish faith which is prohibited by the fraternity constitution. When reminded of the restrictive clause by its National Office, the Williams Phi Deltas replied that they considered the discriminatory clause "incompatible with the principles of friendship and ethics as espoused in the bonds of Phi Delta Theta." The National Office then invoked an interim suspension until 1954. The case will then be reviewed at the fraternity's annual convention.

A poll of the chapter's alumni revealed that approximately 75% of them were in favor of the pledge. The Williams chapter is the third one to revolt against the restrictive clause. Phi Delta chapters at Hardwick and Middlebury have also been separated from the organization for similarly violating the membership restriction. A University of Virginia service fraternity has announced the date of its annual Ugly Man contest. The Dean will be there to make the award to the winner. The competition is solely in the name of charity and as far as we know carries with it no promises of screen tests, national tours or modeling contracts. The latest word from the sponsoring fraternity is that: "Groups wishing to present candidates are reminded that there is still time to enter the contest."

Student Patronage Solicited
First National Bank Brunswick, Maine
Member of the Federal Reserve System and Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

"Matchless Service"
FORD — MERCURY
Sales and Service
Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed USED CARS
Maine's Most Modern Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop
Complete Front End and Frame Alignment
Harry N. Smart
PHONE 660 87 DEAN STREET BRUNSWICK, MAINE

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it . . .

Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money.

TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS

The Record Office Paul K. Niven Jerry Wilkes Printers Of The Orient

Don't Wait Until Exam Time We have them now

College Outlines Littlefield Outlines Hymark Complete Stock of Titles

MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE

POLAR BEARINGS

By Robert M. Hunt '54, Orient Sports Editor

It is practically every kid's dream at some stage of his life to become a major league ballplayer. Each year thousands of boys are signed by scouts all over the country off the sandlots, from the high school teams, from the American Legion leagues, and even out of the softball leagues. But the fellow who never quite seems to make it is the college ballplayer. Of course you can point out the exceptions such as Frankie Frisch, the Fordham Flash, but players of this caliber are probably counted on the fingers of one hand. The Pittsburgh Pirates of today with their emphasis on youth have signed several ballplayers off the campus to name a few Dick Groat, ex-Duke basketball great now in the army who last year was one of the better college boys in the majors last year, Vic Janowicz, Ohio State's great football star, and the O'Brien brothers, Washington's basketball stars. The Red Sox, of course have Harry Agassiz, the Golden Greek from Boston who Paul Brown owner of the Cleveland Browns professional football team had hoped would eventually replace Otto Graham in the quarterback slot for his club. These players and the other A.B. boys who sign with a major league team for the customary bonus have the cards stacked against them from the start.

In the first place when a fellow graduates from college he is at least 22 years old or thereabouts. The kid who is signed when he graduates from high school at 18 has had four years of experience in organized ball. The campus great has seen four years of mediocre pitching and in a lot of cases has had inadequate coaching. This is not necessarily the fault of the coach who may have had no real experience coaching pitchers having been an outfielder or vice versa. (This is in no way a criticism of coaching at Bowdoin, the record of the team speaks for itself.) At the age of 22 then the college grad can expect to be at least two years anyway in the minors. In a lot of cases when a bonus is involved a major league team is forced to keep a ballplayer on the team for a certain period of time as in the case of Billy Consolo of the Red Sox. Consolo is not a college grad, but because he was given a bonus by the Sox when he signed he has to stay with them this year. I believe this is also the case with Vic Janowicz and the O'Brien boys at Pittsburgh. None of the players mentioned above play regularly and hence have to ride the bench all year being limited to occasional pinch hitting and running roles. In quite a few cases this does more harm than good for it keeps good prospects from playing regularly and hinders their improving as they play regularly for a team of a lower classification.

Let's say then that by the time the college grad makes the big time he is 25 or pushing 26. When a ballplayer breaks into the majors at this age he can almost consider himself an old man in baseball circles. Anyone in his thirties is old in the majors. Point out a ballplayer like Jackie Jensen and the whole argument against the college boy is shot full of holes, but how many ballplayers have played in the Rose Bowl and Yankee Stadium.

For the fancier of facts who might be wondering if Boston's Yo-Yo Kid, Tommy Collins set a new record for being on his back during a fight (10 times in four rounds), the answer is a definite no. The greatest canvas back of all time was a fellow named Joe Jeannotte. In a fight with Sam McVey in Paris, France, April 17, 1907 Mr. Jeannotte hit the deck 27 times. Jeannotte was not alone that night as he floated McVey 11 times. Who won? Well McVey finally quit in disgust in the 49th round.

The University of New Hampshire is sponsoring a sports forum with a panel discussion on a topic of national interest. On the panel will be Gil Dodds, Lou Little, Swede Nelson, Andrea Meade Lawrence, and others. Here is something which stimulates interest in sports here on campus. It seems we have more than enough lecturers visiting the school talking about "the pertinent topics of the day."

Polar Bear Cubs Edge By Deering; Marshall Hurls

The Bowdoin JV's or, more correctly, the Bowdoin freshmen, took a 4-3 decision from Deering High School of Portland last Tuesday afternoon, April 21, behind the seven inning shut out pitching of Al Marshall.

In the first two innings, the freshmen got the lead-off man aboard via singles but were unable to score. Al Murray opened the bottom of the third with a booming single to right center and scored on a wild pitch shortly thereafter.

Both teams were unable to push another run across until the last of the seventh when Bowdoin tallied three times off Lopez, Deering's third pitcher. Gelineau battled for Marshall and grounded out, but John Kreider reached on the shortstop's error and stole second. Ronnie Harris followed with a walk, and, after Libby had grounded out to third, George Heselton also was passed to lead the bases. Pete Rigby dropped a Texas League single to left and two runs scored. Heselton then crossed the plate on a passed ball for the third run.

Marshall Impressive

Lee Dyer then came on to pitch for Bowdoin relieving Al Marshall who had turned in an outstanding performance. Marshall gave up on runs and just five hits in the seven innings he worked. Even more impressive was the fact that he had not given up a single base on balls in those seven innings and had been ahead of most of the batters.

The Portlanders seemed to take a fancy to Dyer's fast ball and put together two hits and an error for a single run in the eighth. They added two more in the ninth on three hits and a wild pitch. The tying run was on first when Dyer struck out pinch-hitter White to end the game.

(Continued on Page 4)

BILL'S SPA

Our Specialties
 Italian Spaghetti
 Pizza Pie
 Hot Pastrami
 Beer and Ale on Draft and in Bottles
 6½ Elm St. Brunswick
 Tel. 878

BOWL-MOR

Alleys
 Student Patronage
 Welcomed
 186 Maine Street

CUMBERLAND

Brumwick, Maine
 Wed.-Thur. Apr. 29-30
 Bette Davis
 in
THE STAR
 News also Short Subjects
 Fri.-Sat. May 1-2
ABBOTT & COSTELLO GO TO MARS with Abbott and Costello
 News also Cartoon

BY THE LIGHT OF THE SILVER MOON

with Doris Day
 Gordon MacRae
 News also Cartoon

THE BLUE GARDENIA

with Anne Baxter
 Richard Conte
 Ann Sothern
 News also Short Subjects

Baseball Team Beats Williams, MIT, Amherst, On Successful Road Trip

Bowdoin's baseball spring tour proved to be one of the most successful in recent years when the team took three out of four contests during the trip.

Only Harvard was able to stop Danny MacFayden's nine who defeated Williams, Amherst, and MIT in turn.

The opening game on the trip at Cambridge saw Bowdoin fall 6-2. Then came victories over Williams 13-2 and Amherst 7-1. Anthony scattered six hits to win the Williams game, while Paul Clifford pitched a five-hitter against the Lord Jeffs.

MIT Win

Bowdoin scored three runs in the 14th inning against Massachusetts Institute of Technology Saturday for a 6 to 3 win over the Engineers.

Bowdoin's Wally Bartlett walked, moved up on another walk and scored when second baseman Dick Rush made a two-base error on Fred Fleming's ground ball. The Polar Bears added two more runs before, Ted Slosek — who pitched all the way for the losers — retired the side.

Right-hander Lou Audet had a three to one lead going into the last of the ninth, but Ken Slack's two-run single tied the score. Audet gave up only three runs while toiling for 11 innings. Then he tired and was relieved by Jim Hebert, who pitched hitless ball the rest of the way.

Errors, Walks Fatal

Harvard capitalized on walks and defensive lapses to win its first game in four starts over the Polar Bears at Soldiers Field Wednesday.

The Crimson picked up three runs on three walks, two errors, and hit batsman, and added two more in the second on an error, dropped third strike, two passed balls and Dick Clabby's single.

Pitcher Andy Ward drove in the sixth Harvard run when he singled in the fifth to drive in Tom Wise, who had walked and stolen second.

First baseman Jack Cosgrove accounted for both Bowdoin runs when he homered in the first inning and scored behind Wally Bartlett.

Player	Position	Number
Bartlett, Wally	P	1
Clabby, Dick	1B	2
Chamney, Ed	2B	3
Cosgrove, Jack	3B	4
Fleming, Fred	SS	5
Hawkins, Dick	OF	6
Hebert, Jim	P	7
Johnson, John	2B	8
Klein, Hank	OF	9
Lewis, Bill	OF	10
Lyons, Ed	1B	11
MacFayden, Danny	9	12
Marshall, Al	P	13
Murray, Al	OF	14
Nichols, Ed	2B	15
Patterson, Pat	OF	16
Rainey, John	OF	17
Rush, Dick	2B	18
Slosek, Ted	P	19
Trussell, Tom	2B	20
Veelein, Bob	2B	21
Wade, Ray	OF	22
Ward, Andy	P	23
White, Bill	OF	24
Wolfe, Bill	1B	25
Zachary, Hank	OF	26

Kappa Sigma Virtually Sure Of Interfraternity Cup

The Kappa Sigs have virtually clinched the Interfraternity Point Cup for the second straight year.

They began their march to the interfraternity championship with a stunning 19-13 touch football victory over the AD's to win the playoffs. They had bowed to the heavily favored Alpha Deltas 32-20 during the regular season.

The offensive line-up of the Kappa Sigs featured a combination of freshmen and seniors. Ted Kennedy, Rollie Janelle, and John Kreider, later to be members of the starting five on the freshman basketball team, were all important in the victory with Kreider and Janelle scoring vital touchdowns in the playoffs. Seniors Doc Gerry, Jim Connellan, and Ray Little filled the other three starting positions with Gerry doing most of the passing and directing the team. Strangely enough, Kreider was the only player picked on the all-fra-

Retains Crown

A veteran Kappa Sig basketball team retained its interfraternity basketball championship for the third straight year. The interesting fact to observe is that in both the past two seasons, the DeKes have won the title over the regular season only to have the Kappa Sigs win the playoffs to take the points. This year's team, led by co-captains Jim Connellan and Jack Cosgrove, were handed an overtime loss by the DeKes for their only defeat of the 12 game season.

(Continued on Page 4)

Varsity Baseball Statistics

Team	W	L	Tr	SA	AB	R	H	ER	ERA
Bartlett	12	6	0	0	7	2	1	0	0
McGovern	14	4	0	0	5	4	2	0	1
Fleming	15	5	3	1	0	5	6	2	4
Cosgrove	12	8	0	0	1	1	0	0	1
Peterson	8	2	2	0	0	1	1	0	1
Trussell	5	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2
Couko	7	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	0
Veelein	16	4	4	0	0	2	1	6	1
Wolfe	14	3	1	0	2	5	3	3	2
Marshall	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Hebert	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Anthony	6	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Clifford	6	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0

WILL THIS SUIT FIT YOU?

If you can make the grade, you can fly the latest, hottest, fanciest jobs in the air—and do it within one year.

IT TAKES a good, tough, serious guy to wear the gear of an Aviation Cadet. But if you can measure up, here's your chance to get the finest in aviation training—training that equips you to fly the most modern airplanes in the world and prepares you for responsible executive positions, both in military and commercial aviation.

It won't be easy! Training discipline for Aviation Cadets is rigid. You'll work hard, study hard, play hard—especially for the first few weeks. But when it's over, you'll be a pro—with a career ahead of you that will take you as far as you want to go. You graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year. And this is only the beginning—your opportunities for advancement are unlimited.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE? To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement—it's best if you stay in school and graduate! In addition, you must be between 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

YOU CAN CHOOSE BETWEEN PILOT OR AIRCRAFT OBSERVER If you choose to be an Aircraft Observer, your training will be in Navigation, Bombardment, Radar Operation or Aircraft Performance Engineering.

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!

HERE'S WHAT TO DO:

- Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
- If application is accepted, the Air Force will arrange for you to take a physical examination at government expense.
- Next, you will be given a written and manual aptitude test.
- If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet training class. The Selective Service Act allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.

Where to get more details:
 Visit your nearest Air Force Base or Air Force Recruiting Officer. Or write to: Aviation Cadet, Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Washington 25, D. C.

Merrymeeting Gift Shop
 185 Park Row
Greeting Cards --- Gifts
 Free Gift Wrapping

New Tennis Balls
$2.25 per can

Restranging Rackets

Clear Nylon 4.00
 Multi-PLY — Green 5.00
 Protected Black & White 6.00

F. W. CHANDLER & SON
 150 MAINE STREET BRUNSWICK PHONE 234

SUFFOLK UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL
 Founded 1906
 CO-EDUCATIONAL

ANNOUNCES that the fall semester will open on Monday, September 21, 1953.

Applicants who have successfully completed three years of college work, leading to an academic degree, are eligible to enter three year day course or four year evening course.

Day Division Classes are held from 9:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M. on Mondays through Fridays.

Evening Division Classes are held on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 6:00 to 8:50 P.M.

Catalogue, containing full information concerning tuition, curriculum, courses offered and requirements for the bachelor of laws degree, will be mailed on request.

Address, Suffolk University Law School, 20 Dorset Street, Boston 14, Mass., Beacon Hill, opposite State House. Telephone CA 7-1040.

Behind The Ivy Curtain

We were busy working over our usual political theme, when we were struck by a sudden startling thought, 'Why don't we have house-mothers? And why haven't we had them sooner? Why has the administration neglected this vital problem so long?'

Charlie: May I come in, Mother Grogan? Mother Grogan: Why certainly, Charlie. Do sit down. Just put the knitting bag anywhere. You look worried, Charlie. Is there something bothering you, Charlie? Yes, I just sat on a crocheting hook.

Reliable sources have it that a spot check of any fraternity house will turn up more dust per spot than an Electrolux salesman could in a house equipped with a Hoover. Symptoms of general slovenliness are rife. It is time for a general house cleaning. And housemothers could do it.

Not that the housemothers would have to do the actual cleaning, but the discriminating eye of a good housemother is able to detect those little lumps under the rugs where the dust has been hidden, and her reproachful glance would doubtless incite a good, thorough, hard and true cleaning.

But let us not dwell on dirt for too long a time. The housemother system has so many other favorable features that they do not require enumeration here, but, as usual, in the greater interests of the general public, we will go into a few of the legion.

One of the main objections to sending impressionable, personable lads to college is the much over-emphasized problem of undergraduate drinking. Now, it is common knowledge that many of the boys turn to the foolish expedient of alcohol when they are confronted with seemingly insurmountable problems. Many of these problems appear insoluble because the boys lack mature advice. A housemother could easily supply the necessary advice, and save many from the ravages of drink in times of stress.

Then there are the little every day annoyances that plague the average undergraduate: holes in socks, missing buttons, bow ties and such trivia. A housemother, well grounded in the art of mending would be of immeasurable value. Then there is always the possibility of having one or more of the housemothers, in addition to their regular duties, teaching a course in elementary home economics, which would be a great boon to the well rounded liberal arts curriculum.

Mother Grogan: Well, you know that big program coming up next weekend, and I was so mad that I went out but she said that she didn't think she could come... well, she didn't actually say that, but I thought she did, so I invited Carol instead, and she found out, and got awfully mad and sent back my dog collar. And I was so mad that I went out and had a beer. And now I don't know what to do.

Another Grogan: Now Charlie, I wouldn't worry. You know that if Jane really loves you, why she'll get over it, and take your dog collar back. And there will be more proms. Now you just make up your mind to have a good time with Carol.

Charlie: But Carol can't come either, so I won't be able to have a date at all. Mother Grogan: Then why don't you make up with Jane? It always does a person good to swallow his pride now and then, and admit that he's made a mistake.

Charlie (brightening): Why, Mother Grogan, I never thought of that. I don't know how I can thank you. Mother Grogan: Tush, don't bother about thanking me. I like to think of all you boys as my own, and try to help out where I can. Now take your shirt and run along so I can finish my knitting.

Charlie: Well, you know that big program coming up next weekend, and I was so mad that I went out but she said that she didn't think she could come... well, she didn't actually say that, but I thought she did, so I invited Carol instead, and she found out, and got awfully mad and sent back my dog collar. And I was so mad that I went out and had a beer. And now I don't know what to do.

Curric. Committee Seen As Valuable Student Aid; Record Impressive

[Continued From Page 1] proved that this need not be the case.

Student Support Essential The greatest obstacle could be in the apathy of the students. So far, the Committee has received support from the student body, and it is hoped that it will deserve that support in the future. Only with the support of the students, in participation in the work of the Committee, cooperation in its investigations and interest in its activities, can the Committee carry out its assigned function of representing the students.

As long as the above are avoided, then the next obstacle, that of faculty and administration opposition will be unwarranted, and surely, not forthcoming. This year, the matters which the Committee has selected to discuss were those chosen by the Committee from suggestions transmitted to it through the fraternity representatives. Of course, not all these suggestions could be followed up, and many more will certainly be forthcoming when the Committee seeks new subjects for discussion.

Students Wish To Be Heard There are, for instance, many students who indicated on one of the questionnaires that they would like to speak before the Committee. The Committee regrets that it did not have the chance to hear these men, but it is hoped that such a procedure may be adopted next year when new suggestions are sought.

The Committee is asking each of the Fraternities and the Independents to elect their representative to the Committee at least two weeks before final examinations in order that the new and the old Committee may meet together. It is hoped that in this way the Committee may have a continuity between the years which will make its work more effective during the next school year.

The Committee has found that there is much useful work to be done, useful to every part of the College, and if the interest and support of the students, faculty and administration is maintained, the Student Curriculum Committee can become a valuable permanent member of the student groups on the Bowdoin campus.

Polar Bear Cubs Edge Deering In Baseball

Box Score: DEERING (3) ab h r e... POLAR BEAR CUBS (4) ab h r e... Includes player names like Krotter, Harris, and Gelfand.

Council Told College Worried Over Drinking

[Continued From Page 1] continue their investigation of the cal requirement. The possibility of taking a straw vote on the matter was discussed, but no additional action was taken on this matter.

The selection of proctor candidates was made, 15 names being submitted to the Deans. He will pick ten out of these 15 names. President Monroe reported that the visit of five German students, now studying at the University of Vermont, to the Bowdoin campus had been successful.

Kappa Sigma Nears Interfraternity Crown

[Continued From Page 3] The Dekes were expected to take the playoffs but were sidled in the semi-finals by a surprising Sigma Nu team while the Kappa Sigs were crushing the ARU's as expected, 73-50. Cosgrove with 22 points, Connellan with 20, and Lagueux with ten, were the top scorers for the Red and Green.

The finals proved much closer and the Sigma Nus held a slight lead at halftime. It wasn't until near the close of the third period that Kappa Sigma finally started to hit, and from then on they never relinquished the lead. The final score, Kappa Sigma 56, Sigma Nu 45. Connellan, Lagueux, and Cosgrove again led the scoring but Ray Greenwood and Roland Ware contributed valuable points and center Dan Gulezian was very effective under the boards.

The volleyball team, made up of Lagueux, Connellan, Gulezian, Cosgrove, Shaw, and Greenwood were easy winners in the volleyball play-offs, needing only four games to defeat the Sigma Nus and the Delta Sigs. Although they had been upset by Delt Sigma for their only loss over the regular season of play, the Kappa Sigs were favored and no one was particularly surprised at the result.

Three Faculty Members, Two Student Delegates At Biological Conference

Three members of the Biology Department at Bowdoin College and two undergraduates majoring in biology attended the Fourteenth Annual Biological Conference of Eastern New England Colleges held at Boston College on Saturday, April 25.

The faculty group included Dr. James M. Moulton and Dr. Charles E. Huntington, both instructors in biology, and Mr. Eaton S. Lathrop, Jr., teaching fellow in biology. Mr. Lathrop presented a paper on "The Orientation of the Brain and Cranial Nerves in the Halibut, Hippoglossus hippoglossus". Undergraduate delegates to the conference were William H. Graff, '53 and Ernest E. Roney, Jr., '54. Graff presented a paper on "A Comparison of Vitamins A and D in Deficiency Demonstrations". Roney served as correspondent for next year's Conference.

Examining Committee Debates Conditions, Faculty Appointments

The College's Educational Policy Committee met last Wednesday to discuss matters of curriculum and general educational policy, and the Examining Committee met on Thursday, both committees to submit their reports to the Governing Board's soon.

The Examining Committee, which meets once a year, discussed faculty appointments for next year and conferred with the Dean on the moral condition of the College. At a closed meeting with the Student Council, other College matters were freely discussed. The Committee also conferred with Douglas A. Chalmers '54, founder of the new Student Curriculum Committee and head of the organization.

Marine Corps To Offer Officer Training Course Divided Into 2 Divisions

The Marine Corps now offers a program comparable to those offered by the Army and Navy.

The program is divided into two divisions, the Platoon Leader's Program and the Officers' Candidate Program. The Platoon Leader's Program has the candidate attend two summer camps held at Quantico, Virginia. The first he attends before the junior year and the second in the vacation period preceding the senior year. The first training period purpose is to familiarize the candidate with the organization of the Marine Corps and what the program has to offer him. It also eliminates all candidates not meeting the Corps qualifications for leadership. The second period is spent in more advanced training.

After receiving his A.B. degree the candidate receives five months of schooling and then serves nine months on active duty, having been commissioned as an officer. The six year period following the term of active duty is spent in the inactive reserves. The Officers' Candidate Program is like the Platoon Leader's except that the two six week training periods of the Platoon Leader Program are given after the candidate has received his degree. The physical qualifications for the program are the same as those required by the Naval Academy for entrance as a midshipman. The mental qualifications are that the candidate be a holder of an A.B. or M.S. degree, and that he must meet the required score on an aptitude test. He must also present three letters of recommendation and the recommendation of the Dean of the school from which he received his degree.

A white rhinoceros can weigh as much as three tons. One owner, low mileage, excellent care, recent overhaul, paint, and reupholstering. See or call. W. S. Flash, 1075-W2.

T.D., Zeta To Hold Faculty Receptions

Theta Delta Chi and Zeta Psi are holding faculty receptions this week on Tuesday and Thursday nights respectively.

The T.D.'s recently extended invitations, for their fourth annual reception to the whole faculty. In the past they have planned various forms of entertainment, and last night's of the Arctic and of Europe were shown by Thomas R. Pickering '53 and Raymond M. Biggs '53 respectively. Punch was served for refreshment.

The Zetes have invited the presidents of the various fraternities and of the Independents, other guests, and members of the faculty to attend their reception. Approximately 300 attended their party two years ago and about the same number is expected tomorrow night. A buffet supper is planned and the Zeta quartet will sing.

Winter In Quest Of Ph.D. Next Two Semesters

Robert W. Winter, instructor in history, will study at John Hopkins University next year in quest of a Ph. D. degree.

A graduate of Dartmouth College in the class of '47, Mr. Winter was a teaching fellow at John Hopkins for four years. He also studied in the graduate school there. In 1951 he came to Bowdoin as an instructor. This year Mr. Winter has assisted in the instruction of the history 11-12 and history 1-2 courses.

Mr. Winter has assisted in the instruction of the history 11-12 and history 1-2 courses.

Bowdoin Wesleyan Houses Confederate

[Continued From Page 1] Lymbrook, L. I. N. Y.; Shepherd S. Johnson '54, East Weymouth, Mass.; David B. Walden '54, Camden, Connecticut; and Duncan H. Wall '55, Chevy Chase, Maryland.

Voting representatives of Bowdoin were Richard H. Allen '54, Wilmington, Delaware; Michael J. Batal, Jr. '54, Lawrence, Mass.; James S. Carter '56, Media, Penn.; Michael Moore '53, Wellesley, Mass.; and Stephen R. Morse '56, Newton Center, Mass. The President of the Bowdoin Chapter, Richard D. Asdourian '54 of Hackensack, New Jersey, was the presiding officer at the session.

Bowdoin Jazz Band Engaged For Summer

Those now comprising the Polar Bear Five are Ward Kennedy, trombone; Brace Young, clarinet; Bert Lipas, piano; Wally Harper, cornet; and Louis Benoit, drums. A repertoire consisting of nearly one hundred tunes is now affording the Polar Bear Five a variety of songs. Although most of the numbers played at jazz concerts are the more popular ones, "The Saints," "Five Foot Two," and "Ain't She Sweet?" as examples, a large variety of songs is needed for the job this summer.

Poly Forum Lecture

[Continued From Page 1] their produce to their landlord. Credit is obtained only at the extravagant rate of 50 per cent. He said that the United States tried to improve the situation by buying church land but in general not much progress has been made.

Professor Storer noted that industry is more attractive to the average Philippino than is agriculture. However, he feels that industrialization of the islands is "quite impossible and impractical." The government has encouraged industry "but not always wisely," he added.

WBOA Schedule

Wednesday, April 29: 7:00 New York Times News, 7:05 Sports Feature, 7:15 Star Time, 7:30 Brunswick High School on the Air, 8:00 World News Roundup, 8:15 Piano Portrait, 8:30 Dice Jockey, 8:55 The World in Brief, 9:00 Music to Study By, 9:35 The World in Brief, 10:00 Student News, 11:00 New York Times News, 11:05 Sports Review, 11:30 The Polar Bear's Den, 12:00 Late News Roundup, 12:05 Sign Off. Thursday, April 30: 7:00 New York Times News, 7:05 Sports Feature, 7:15 Star Time, 7:30 United Press Feature, 8:00 World News Roundup, 8:15 Piano Portrait, 8:30 Dice Jockey, 8:55 The World in Brief, 9:00 Music to Study By, 9:35 The World in Brief, 10:00 Student News, 11:00 New York Times News, 11:05 Sports Review, 11:30 The Polar Bear's Den, 12:00 Late News Roundup, 12:05 Sign Off.

Fordham University School of Law, Three-Year Day Course, Four-Year Evening Course. Member of Assn. of American Law Schools. Matriculants must be College graduates and present full transcript of College record. CLASSES BEGIN SEPT. 28, 1953. For further information address REGISTRAR, FORDHAM UNIVERSITY, SCHOOL OF LAW, 302 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y.

Complete and Friendly Banking Services. Student Accounts Welcomed. Brunswick Branch. FIRST-AUBURN TRUST COMPANY. Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

FAVORED TO WIN. Whether you are a seasoned player, or one who aspires to be a better one, put your faith in the Spalding KNO-BAT or the Spalding-made Wright & Ditson DAVIS CUP. These are the traditional favored rackets wherever fast tennis is played. Made in over-all weights, grip sizes and flexibilities, to fit every player with custom-like accuracy. They are perfect companions to the Twins of Championship tennis balls... the Spalding and Wright & Ditson. SPALDING. Sole the Pace to Tennis.

YEARS AHEAD OF THEM ALL!

Don't you want to try a cigarette with a record like this?

- 1. THE QUALITY CONTRAST between Chesterfield and other leading cigarettes is a revealing story. Recent chemical analyses give an index of good quality for the country's six leading cigarette brands. The index of good quality table - a ratio of high sugar to low nicotine - shows Chesterfield quality highest... 15% higher than its nearest competitor and Chesterfield quality 31% higher than the average of the five other leading brands.

2. First to Give You Premium Quality in Regular and King-size... much milder with an extraordinarily good taste - and for your pocketbook, Chesterfield is today's best cigarette buy.

3. A Report Never Before Made About a Cigarette. For a full year a medical specialist has been giving a group of Chesterfield smokers regular examinations every two months. He reports... no adverse effects to nose, throat and sinuses from smoking Chesterfield.

Choice of Young America. A recent survey made in 274 leading colleges and universities shows Chesterfield is the largest seller. LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO. KING-SIZE CIGARETTES.

BEST FOR YOU

Speech, Thought Freedom In Great Peril -- Kirkland

Freedom of speech and freedom of thought, although in peril, can be regained if the American teacher is willing to fight for them, so said Professor Edward C. Kirkland...

Cause Of Peril

After declaring that the presence of Communist teachers in schools is the chief cause of the peril, Kirkland went on to show frailties in the reasons for expelling all Communist teachers...

To him the Senate and House investigating committees on communism in the schools are the investigations but trials of those individuals the committee and others esteem bad...

Under Attack

Professor Kirkland execrated those legislators and college administrators for their acceptance and actual participation in restrictive legislation placed on teachers...

Going beyond the realm of academic freedom, Kirkland saw the individual as being limited greatly in his personal rights by the increasing emphasis on the federal government...

With the emphasis on hope and acknowledgement of those who are fighting this denial of academic freedom, Professor Kirkland ended his talk and called upon teachers to fight for their rights.

Western Maine Music Festival Here May 8, 9

Over 5,800 junior and senior high school musicians are enrolled in the Western Maine Music Festival to be held in Brunswick May 8 and 9.

This year's enrollment is 2,000 greater than the 3,800 of 1948 which was the last time the festival was held in Brunswick.

The parade and massed band and drills will start at 1:00 p.m. on Saturday afternoon. The drill and massed band concert will be at the Whittier Field.

Major Exams Open This Monday; Senior Class Excuses Start Today

Major examinations for those students planning to graduate this June will be held the week of May 11 this year.

Men taking these exams according to the regular schedule are not counted for the degree for the comprehensive examination. The courses used for this purpose and the grade to be obtained in them are set by the department concerned.

I. The Major. To satisfy the requirements for the major every student must: 1. Pass at least six semester courses units approved by the major department...

Music Club Presents Concert Next Tuesday In Memorial Hall

On next Tuesday evening, May 12, The Bowdoin Music Club will present a concert of choral and instrumental ensemble music in Memorial Hall at 8:15 under the direction of Assistant Professor of Music Russell F. Locke.

Music Club Participant

Stephen E. Merrill Joel H. Hupper '54

The program will include brass music of the 17th and 20th centuries, two groups of madrigals by the Music Club Chorus, the Bach Concerto for Three Pianos and Strings, and the Sonata sopra Sancta Maria by Claudio Monteverdi, an unusual work for strings, brass and women's voices.

Four Russian Peasant Songs by Igor Stravinsky will be performed by the women's chorus. The choral groups include German, French and Italian works of the renaissance. The concert will be open to the public without charge.

The Music Club Chorus, now in its fourth year, consists of twenty-four singers. This group of mixed voices has consistently devoted itself to the performance of music in the best choral tradition, works of the Renaissance frequently appearing in its repertoire.

Two semester courses, one on American Colonial History and the second on the American West, will replace History 17, 18 for next year due to the Sabbatical leave of Professor Edward C. Kirkland.

History Course Change Caused By Sabbatical Leave Of Kirkland

Two semester courses, one on American Colonial History and the second on the American West, will replace History 17, 18 for next year due to the Sabbatical leave of Professor Edward C. Kirkland.

President James S. Coles has announced that Francis G. Hugo, who is presently serving as Instructor in Psychology at the College, has received a Grant Foundation Fellowship for study at Cornell University in 1953-54.

Hugo Receives Grant Foundation Fellowship

President James S. Coles has announced that Francis G. Hugo, who is presently serving as Instructor in Psychology at the College, has received a Grant Foundation Fellowship for study at Cornell University in 1953-54.

Varsity And Freshman Debaters Successful On Annual Spring Tour

In a debating contest with Bates and the University of Maine, the Class of '56 won all the debates, while the upperclassmen broke even on their spring debating trips.

The Freshmen traveled to Orono Saturday to win the Freshman Intercollegiate Championship of Maine. Bates won two of its contests and Maine failed to take one.

Varsity Spills Even Four Bowdoin debating teams met 11 colleges in 22 debates during April 27, 28, and 29. There were two trips, both of which debated the topic of a Compulsory Fair Employment Practices Act.

Second Trip Loring G. Pratt '55, Elliot S. Pallas '55, Roger E. Gordon '54, and Henry D. Shaw '56 met Wesleyan, Trinity, Smith, Clark, Holy Cross, and Amherst in dual contests.

Department Of English Curriculum Reorganized By Changes In Faculty

The Sabbatical leave of Pierce Professor of English, Robert P. T. Coffin and the return of Assistant Professor Lawrence N. Barrett will necessitate some changes in the English department curriculum.

English 15, 16 and English 9, 10 will be presented by the instructor substituting for Professor Coffin. English 15, 16 is a study of English literature, excluding drama, from the end of the Elizabethan period, through the time of Dryden continuing on Johnson, Bacon, Donne, Gerrick, Milton, Browne, and Dryden, the metaphysical poets.

English 7, 8, a course in English Composition, will be given by Assistant Professor Barrett in the fall semester.

There will be 29 places in the dormitories reserved for men and their roommates with 106 places available for other upperclassmen.

Regulations Announced By Ladd For Rooms

Mr. Samuel A. Ladd, Jr., director of the Placement Bureau has announced the room assignment regulations for the 1953 Fall Semester.

Fraternities must file with the Placement Bureau by May 14 the list of men rooming in the houses for the Fall Semester.

Young Bandleader

Only 23, Lawrence has made rapid strides with his orchestra since 1946. In that year he played in the Cafe Rouge of the Statler Hotel in New York without any previous "big name" bookings.

Dorr, Mitchell, Wyatt, Chamberlin Picked For 4 Commencement Parts

Professor Thomas C. Van Cleve, Chairman of the Committee on Commencement Parts has announced the selection of four members of the senior class who will appear as speakers at the 148th commencement exercises on Saturday, June 20.

Mr. Ladd reported that the Room Assignment Regulation Bulletin was posted May 1 on bulletin boards throughout the Campus.

Members of the Ivy Week-end Committee of the Junior Class are: First row (left to right), Albert F. Lilley, Gerald D. Goldstein, Horace A. Hildreth, Jr., Allen F. Hetherington, Jr., Donald P. Hayward, H. Pasyon Dowst, and Robert W. Pillsbury...

Coles Urges Morally Suitable Actions In Sunday Chapel Speech

"Opportunity knocks many many times," but it "carries with it the implication of action on one's own part," an action "based on some moral code," declared President James S. Coles in his speech in Chapel, Sunday.

Emphasizing the need for morally suitable actions, he quoted Jesus' statement that "no man can serve two masters" and added that man will always do good when guided by God.

Winthrop Hall Janitor Bert Varney Dead

Bert Varney, janitor in Winthrop Hall for many years, died suddenly Monday night.

Among those surviving him is his brother Earl, who is janitor in Appleton Hall.

Ivy Group Pushes Arrangements; Lawrence And Orchestra Feature

The weekend will be featured by a formal dance Friday evening, May 22. Elliott Lawrence and his Orchestra have been engaged, and the price and time have been set, and arrangements for decorations have been made.

General arrangements are being handled by the central committee which is headed by Allen F. Hetherington, Jr., President of the Class of 1954, while a sub-committee, headed by Horace A. Hildreth, Jr., as chairman, is arranging the Ivy Day ceremonies which will be held on the steps of the Walker Art Building on Saturday morning, May 23.

Dorr, Mitchell, Wyatt, Chamberlin Picked For 4 Commencement Parts

Professor Thomas C. Van Cleve, Chairman of the Committee on Commencement Parts has announced the selection of four members of the senior class who will appear as speakers at the 148th commencement exercises on Saturday, June 20.

Mr. Ladd reported that the Room Assignment Regulation Bulletin was posted May 1 on bulletin boards throughout the Campus.

Student Council To Prepare Hazing Policy Statement

A decision by the Student Council to draw up a statement establishing a policy on the hazing program at Bowdoin was made at their weekly meeting, Monday, following a talk on the problem by Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick.

The Dean, who discussed various aspects of the hazing and initiation programs at Bowdoin, stated that his main interest was in clearing the initiation policy of any justifiable criticism.

Dorr, Mitchell, Wyatt, Chamberlin Picked For 4 Commencement Parts

Professor Thomas C. Van Cleve, Chairman of the Committee on Commencement Parts has announced the selection of four members of the senior class who will appear as speakers at the 148th commencement exercises on Saturday, June 20.

Mr. Ladd reported that the Room Assignment Regulation Bulletin was posted May 1 on bulletin boards throughout the Campus.

Young Bandleader

Only 23, Lawrence has made rapid strides with his orchestra since 1946. In that year he played in the Cafe Rouge of the Statler Hotel in New York without any previous "big name" bookings.

Dorr, Mitchell, Wyatt, Chamberlin Picked For 4 Commencement Parts

Professor Thomas C. Van Cleve, Chairman of the Committee on Commencement Parts has announced the selection of four members of the senior class who will appear as speakers at the 148th commencement exercises on Saturday, June 20.

Mr. Ladd reported that the Room Assignment Regulation Bulletin was posted May 1 on bulletin boards throughout the Campus.

Regulations Announced By Ladd For Rooms

Mr. Samuel A. Ladd, Jr., director of the Placement Bureau has announced the room assignment regulations for the 1953 Fall Semester.

Young Bandleader

Only 23, Lawrence has made rapid strides with his orchestra since 1946. In that year he played in the Cafe Rouge of the Statler Hotel in New York without any previous "big name" bookings.

Dorr, Mitchell, Wyatt, Chamberlin Picked For 4 Commencement Parts

Professor Thomas C. Van Cleve, Chairman of the Committee on Commencement Parts has announced the selection of four members of the senior class who will appear as speakers at the 148th commencement exercises on Saturday, June 20.

Mr. Ladd reported that the Room Assignment Regulation Bulletin was posted May 1 on bulletin boards throughout the Campus.

Student Council To Prepare Hazing Policy Statement

A decision by the Student Council to draw up a statement establishing a policy on the hazing program at Bowdoin was made at their weekly meeting, Monday, following a talk on the problem by Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick.

Dorr, Mitchell, Wyatt, Chamberlin Picked For 4 Commencement Parts

Professor Thomas C. Van Cleve, Chairman of the Committee on Commencement Parts has announced the selection of four members of the senior class who will appear as speakers at the 148th commencement exercises on Saturday, June 20.

Young Bandleader

Only 23, Lawrence has made rapid strides with his orchestra since 1946. In that year he played in the Cafe Rouge of the Statler Hotel in New York without any previous "big name" bookings.

Dorr, Mitchell, Wyatt, Chamberlin Picked For 4 Commencement Parts

Professor Thomas C. Van Cleve, Chairman of the Committee on Commencement Parts has announced the selection of four members of the senior class who will appear as speakers at the 148th commencement exercises on Saturday, June 20.

Regulations Announced By Ladd For Rooms

Mr. Samuel A. Ladd, Jr., director of the Placement Bureau has announced the room assignment regulations for the 1953 Fall Semester.

Young Bandleader

Only 23, Lawrence has made rapid strides with his orchestra since 1946. In that year he played in the Cafe Rouge of the Statler Hotel in New York without any previous "big name" bookings.

Dorr, Mitchell, Wyatt, Chamberlin Picked For 4 Commencement Parts

Professor Thomas C. Van Cleve, Chairman of the Committee on Commencement Parts has announced the selection of four members of the senior class who will appear as speakers at the 148th commencement exercises on Saturday, June 20.

Regulations Announced By Ladd For Rooms

Mr. Samuel A. Ladd, Jr., director of the Placement Bureau has announced the room assignment regulations for the 1953 Fall Semester.

Bela Norton '18 Named Bowdoin's Vice President

President James S. Coles, today announced that Bela W. Norton of Williamsburg, Virginia, will be appointed Vice President of the College, effective July 1, 1953.

Mr. Norton, a Bowdoin graduate in the Class of 1918, has been associated for more than twenty years with the restoration of Williamsburg by Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr. He will retire on July first as Executive Vice President of Colonial Williamsburg, but will continue as consultant to that organization.

Annual Pops Concert At Symphony Hall In Boston, Mass., May 21

The annual Pops Concert featuring the Boston Pops Orchestra and the Bowdoin Glee Club will be held May 21, 1953 at Symphony Hall in Boston.

Professor Tillotson stated that although he has received no official notification of prices, he believes that the cost of reservations will be the same as last year. Tables for five may be reserved at the cut desk; they will cost $15. First balcony seats will cost $15.00.

The first half of the concert will feature the Boston Pops Orchestra. The second half will feature the Glee Club. The Glee Club's program will open with "Rise Sons" which will be followed by "To Agni" by Gustav Holst.

Fourth on the program is "Old Mother Hubbard" by Victor Hely-Hutchinson. It will be followed by "Beat! Beat! Drums"; the words of the piece are from "Drum Taps" by Walt Whitman; the music is by Charles M. Loeffler.

The closing number will be the "Bowdoin Medley," with the Glee Club. This medley will feature the Boston Pops Orchestra, Gordon Stearns and David Holmes will execute the two part piano accompaniment for "Beat! Beat! Drums" and "To Agni."

As Vice President, Mr. Norton will take over the major carried on from 1947 to 1949 by Major General Palmer. He will continue to serve as Chairman and Directors of the Sesquicentennial Fund.

Text Of Prof. Edward C. Kirkland Address On Academic Freedom

Ladies and gentlemen, let me begin with a personal note of disclaimer. In speaking tonight on "Academic Freedom in Peril", I am speaking as an individual. I do not represent the American Association of University Professors of which I am a very "ex" president, nor do I speak for the Bowdoin Chapter. I do not represent Bowdoin College or the faculty of Bowdoin College.

The discussion turned to the problem of the type of hazing, and although the difficulties in describing the purposes of hazing were brought out, it was decided to draw up a Student Council statement of policy on this point. The text of a suggested policy will be submitted to the Council at their next meeting, May 18, for their approval or rejection.

In other business, the Council gave the ATO representative, Robert N. Thurston '54, a vote of confidence after he has reported trouble with the College over some bed sheets issued to his house for the Interscholastic Track Meet Weekend. He said that the (Continued on Page 4)

Distinguished Military Students Announced By Col. Walter H. Kennett

Colonel Walter H. Kennett, Professor of Military Science and Tactics, has announced the designation of seventeen members of the advanced Military Science course at the College as Distinguished Military Students.

The newly recognized group includes Cadet Captain John L. Davis '53, Cadet Captain Guy T. Emery '53, Cadet 2nd Lt. Robert M. Harriman '53, and the following Cadet Officers: Richard H. Allen '54, Michael J. Batal, Jr. '54, Richard O. Card '54, Angelo J. Eraklis '54, Gilbert A. Guy '54, Richard S. Harrison '54, John B. Malcolm, Jr. '54, Paul J. Morin '54, J. M. Pearson, Jr. '54, Herbert P. Phillips '54, Charles Ranlet '54, Gordon W. Stearns, Jr. '54, Edward G. Treacraft '54, and Lewis P. Welch '54.

Lawrence has played at about 300 educational institutions, and he has been invited back to many of these schools. His yearly schedule is long, 100,000 miles a year being his average.

Mr. Ladd reported that the Room Assignment Regulation Bulletin was posted May 1 on bulletin boards throughout the Campus.

Bela Norton '18 Named Bowdoin's Vice President

President James S. Coles, today announced that Bela W. Norton of Williamsburg, Virginia, will be appointed Vice President of the College, effective July 1, 1953.

Mr. Norton, a Bowdoin graduate in the Class of 1918, has been associated for more than twenty years with the restoration of Williamsburg by Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr. He will retire on July first as Executive Vice President of Colonial Williamsburg, but will continue as consultant to that organization.

Annual Pops Concert At Symphony Hall In Boston, Mass., May 21

The annual Pops Concert featuring the Boston Pops Orchestra and the Bowdoin Glee Club will be held May 21, 1953 at Symphony Hall in Boston.

Professor Tillotson stated that although he has received no official notification of prices, he believes that the cost of reservations will be the same as last year. Tables for five may be reserved at the cut desk; they will cost $15. First balcony seats will cost $15.00.

The first half of the concert will feature the Boston Pops Orchestra. The second half will feature the Glee Club. The Glee Club's program will open with "Rise Sons" which will be followed by "To Agni" by Gustav Holst.

Fourth on the program is "Old Mother Hubbard" by Victor Hely-Hutchinson. It will be followed by "Beat! Beat! Drums"; the words of the piece are from "Drum Taps" by Walt Whitman; the music is by Charles M. Loeffler.

The closing number will be the "Bowdoin Medley," with the Glee Club. This medley will feature the Boston Pops Orchestra, Gordon Stearns and David Holmes will execute the two part piano accompaniment for "Beat! Beat! Drums" and "To Agni."

As Vice President, Mr. Norton will take over the major carried on from 1947 to 1949 by Major General Palmer. He will continue to serve as Chairman and Directors of the Sesquicentennial Fund.

Text Of Prof. Edward C. Kirkland Address On Academic Freedom

Ladies and gentlemen, let me begin with a personal note of disclaimer. In speaking tonight on "Academic Freedom in Peril", I am speaking as an individual. I do not represent the American Association of University Professors of which I am a very "ex" president, nor do I speak for the Bowdoin Chapter. I do not represent Bowdoin College or the faculty of Bowdoin College.

The discussion turned to the problem of the type of hazing, and although the difficulties in describing the purposes of hazing were brought out, it was decided to draw up a Student Council statement of policy on this point. The text of a suggested policy will be submitted to the Council at their next meeting, May 18, for their approval or rejection.

In other business, the Council gave the ATO representative, Robert N. Thurston '54, a vote of confidence after he has reported trouble with the College over some bed sheets issued to his house for the Interscholastic Track Meet Weekend. He said that the (Continued on Page 4)

Distinguished Military Students Announced By Col. Walter H. Kennett

Colonel Walter H. Kennett, Professor of Military Science and Tactics, has announced the designation of seventeen members of the advanced Military Science course at the College as Distinguished Military Students.

The newly recognized group includes Cadet Captain John L. Davis '53, Cadet Captain Guy T. Emery '53, Cadet 2nd Lt. Robert M. Harriman '53, and the following Cadet Officers: Richard H. Allen '54, Michael J. Batal, Jr. '54, Richard O. Card '54, Angelo J. Eraklis '54, Gilbert A. Guy '54, Richard S. Harrison '54, John B. Malcolm, Jr. '54, Paul J. Morin '54, J. M. Pearson, Jr. '54, Herbert P. Phillips '54, Charles Ranlet '54, Gordon W. Stearns, Jr. '54, Edward G. Treacraft '54, and Lewis P. Welch '54.

Lawrence has played at about 300 educational institutions, and he has been invited back to many of these schools. His yearly schedule is long, 100,000 miles a year being his average.

Mr. Ladd reported that the Room Assignment Regulation Bulletin was posted May 1 on bulletin boards throughout the Campus.

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, May 6, 1953 No. 4

Editor-in-Chief
Charles Rallett '54
Managing Editor
Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55
News Editors
James Anwyll, Jr. '55
Robert C. Burr '55
John B. Goodrich '55
Charles W. Schoeneman '53
T. Ellis McKinney, Jr. '54

Sports Editor
Robert M. Hurst '54
Photographer
James P. Gaston '54
Staff
David G. Lavender '55
Elliott S. Palais '55
James S. Carter '56
Edward N. Cotter '56
Robert E. Hamilton '56
Raymond F. Klerstand, Jr. '56
George A. Massih, Jr. '56
Carroll E. Pennell '56
Donald M. Zuckert '56

Douglas A. Chalmers '53
E. Ward Gilman '53
C. Jackson Shuttleworth, Jr. '53
Richard H. Allen '54
Charles E. Coakley '54
Edward F. Spicer '54
Richard M. Catalano '55
Anthony L. Funnell '55
David R. Anderson '55

Barret C. Nichols, Jr. '54
James L. Doherty '55
Herbert E. Hammonds, Jr. '56

Business Manager
Bruce N. Cooper '54
Assistant Business Manager
James A. Cook '54
C. Richard Thurston '54

Business Assistants
Theodore D. Robbins '53
Hobart C. Tracy '55

Advertising Manager
Peter M. Pirnie '55

Circulation Manager
Harold R. Beachom, Jr. '56

REPUBLISHED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
Sales Representatives
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO - LOS ANGELES - SAN FRANCISCO

Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semesters by the students of Bowdoin College. Address news communications to the Editor and subscription communications to the Business Manager of the Bowdoin Publishing Company at the ORIENT Office in Moore Hall, Brunswick, Maine. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three dollars.

Douglas A. Chalmers '53 Continues Analysis Of 'Silent' Generation

Dear Sir:
At the risk of adding to an already swollen stream of words, here is another partial analysis of what makes this generation "silent."
The trouble is that there is nothing "interesting" to talk about. We have reached a point where ideals have stagnated. For instance, there are no political ideals, no principles which hold an attraction for the student. The old ones, though alive, have either proven monstrous or have compromised. Either course renders them unattractive.
Socialism, an old drawing card, has compromised on most fronts in its hoary age, producing "welfare states" or the English variety. The edge has gone off the ideal. There is nothing quite as uninspiring as a realistic, pragmatic theory which changes color with each new situation. "Free enterprise" has suffered the same fate.
Communism has become unattractive for several reasons. It has produced a totalitarian state with its attendant atrocities, it has become the enemy of ideals by its enforced conformity, and, of course, it is unattractive in this country because to believe in it is dangerous.
McCarthyism, or anti-McCarthyism, economy and honesty drives, and even the "crusade against Communism" are all uninspiring because they are not ideals, but movements to protect, clean up, or contain complex social institutions. They don't have the force or appeal to grasp the imagination.
As far as I know, the same situation exists in literature, art, religion and philosophy. The old ideas are being compromised and there is a decided lack of new ones. There simply isn't a banner to carry anymore.

Given this lack, then, the students have no common interest, no common principle either to discuss among themselves or to write about. There is nothing to which they can commit themselves enthusiastically as idealists. This lack of a common intellectual goal stultifies their thought as a group, and, I suspect, dims their enthusiasm for their individual goals. They lack the driving force of a group interest.
There is also a force in the opposite direction. The contemporary student cannot afford to dismiss the traditions, the tried but still admirable ideas of Democracy, or the moral code which holds the society together. They cannot afford to be libertines or even thorough-going cynics. There is the fact of the Communist threat. The students, with the rest of the "free world" have to give at least their tacit consent in the cause of self-preservation.
The "Silent generation" could repeat what it heard on the radio and reads in the papers every day, but it isn't worth it. They are silent, it seems, because there is nothing "interesting" to talk about. Douglas A. Chalmers '53

DRAY'S ALMANAC

By David R. Anderson '55

The Bird

Once upon a time a heron-like copper ibis roosted permanently atop the Harvard Lampoon building. This weird bird has adorned the building for 43 years. It has become a sacred symbol to the staffs of the Lampoon. So perhaps it was only natural that the undergraduate staff of the Crismon, Harvard's daily newspaper, should be perpetually scheming to abduct this bird. In fact no one was too surprised when it was announced that the ibis was gone. The Lampooners immediately pointed an accusing finger at their rivals on the Crismon. They followed up their accusations by kidnapping the Crismon editor. This set the scene for the new famous Cambridge Truce Talks. An exchange of prisoners was agreed on. Once again the Crismon workers conceived to foil the bird's owners. They returned not the ibis but a pile of junk for their editor.

Needless to say the Lampooners immediately recaptured the Crismon editor. The Crismon board of editors then elected the ibis to fill his place by a count of 24-2. As far as we know the editor is still in captivity. But the actual whereabouts if the bird is a matter open to conjecture. It was last seen on page 71 of the May 4, issue of Time magazine. Here, with Stalin's picture in the background, a Harvard man was seen presenting the ibis to Semen Tsarapkin, second ranking member of the Russian delegation to the U.N. A telegram had explained that "the editors of the Harvard Daily newspaper have voted to present a large ornamental bird to Ambassador Vishinsky for use on the spire of Moscow University." Tsarapkin, accepting the bird in his superior's absence, was puzzled. "Tell me, what does it symbolize?" he asked. "Oh," replied the Harvard man, "it's sort of an American peace dove." "Well," said Tsarapkin, "it's a very fine gift. Peace be with you and yours. Of the hoax the Lampoon staff said: "The Crismon men have just addeed vandalism."

Electronic Age

Not long ago we gave up trying to follow a Biology 2 lecture and spent our time watching 150 pencils trying to keep up with a complicated lecture related to the preservation of the species. Then it occurred to us that what we needed was a "student reaction meter." This is an electronically operated device which registers student protest without interrupting the professor. A push button is installed at every seat. If a listener is having trouble keeping up with the lecturer he pushes the button. A meter at the lectern records the number of protests. If the professor feels that enough people are losing their way he goes back and repeats the matter. Already in use at the University of Tennessee, the meter has provoked the faculty to ask, "How long will it take for a

Don't Worry Williams

Not long ago two Williams men were on campus to make a study of our central buying system. As you know most of our food is purchased in large quantities by the college and our stewards and chefs order their supplies from this commissary. Williams, faced with the increasing costs of food, is studying the advisability of adopting a central-buying system similar to ours. The adversaries of the plan felt that it would allow the administration to gain too much control over the house dining clubs. This however has not been our experience. We have never heard any complaints of this nature. Yet the Williams problem focused attention on another question which is of immediate interest to us. Their situation is all the more acute because of their newly adopted policy of deferred rushing. Under this system the freshmen will not eat in the fraternity dining rooms but at the newly constructed student union. Thus fraternity food budgets are going to be reduced by over 25%. Last week proposals concerning delayed initiation did not carry with them the suggestion that we also delay rushing. However, if the Williams experience is any criterion, we feel that Bowdoin would be wise to ascertain that it is not included as part of the deferred initiation program.

It Can't Happen Here

At the University of Toledo, 35 girls raced through the men's dormitory, starting half-dressed male students and stealing pairs of shorts as they stormed from one room to another.
In England, six girls at Cambridge University, who vowed to take baths in each of the men's dormitories, have already been successful in two of them. In each bathroom the intruders left their club's insignia — a single silk stocking.

Tin Type

For a lecture on the roaring twenties a Columbia history instructor came up with that extra something that can make or break any class. He appeared in a red, green, and purple striped blazer, a straw hat, a racoon coat, and he was carrying a hip flask of gin.
It was not long ago that two

'Old Time Religion' Responsible For Recent Canceled ROTC Drills

Something new has been introduced at Bowdoin in the last few weeks — "prayer meetings" to beseech rain on Monday afternoons.
It is coincidental that the ROTC unit drills are also scheduled for Monday afternoons.

The group meetings originated at the TD House. The results of the first meeting were highly successful as the rain came and the drill was postponed. Unfortunately a sufficiently large group could not be rounded up to stop the rainfall and we had a flood which did considerable damage throughout the state.

The second meeting was also a rousing success. With Charles F. Davis '53 leading the singing, and his helpers the chants, the following Monday brought an April snowstorm which reached some proportion before it could be called off. Drill was once more postponed.

Encouraged by their successful endeavors of the previous weeks the group, this past weekend, held an interfraternity meeting in front of the Moulton Union. Oblivious to the fact that another success may upend the universe, or at least cause an earthquake, and with the zeal that comes only to one who has drilled at Pickard Field, the boys carry on their mission.

Bowdoin men joined a group whose costume is hardly akin to the usual campus style. From the April 17th edition of the Mt. Holyoke News we gathered that two weekending polar bears had enrolled in the Salvation Army in order to secure a night's lodging.

Three more Bowdoin undergraduates found their way into the columns of a woman's college paper. The April 23, issue of the Wheaton News reports: "You know it was Patriot's Day Monday. In fact it even looked a little like May Day in the dining room

Major Exams Open This Monday; Senior Class Excuses Start

[Continued from Page 1]

course units approved by the department;
2. Initiative, originality, and high attainment shown in additional work under tutorial supervision by the department;
3. A grade of B or better in a written and oral comprehensive examination. A science department may at its discretion substitute advanced courses not to count for the degree for this examination.
III. Each student must choose his major subject by the end of his sophomore year. No change of his major may be permitted except by the Recording Committee after the student has submitted a written request stating his reason for the change. Such written request must bear the endorsement of each department concerned.

IV. At the close of the major examination each department shall send to the Dean the grade which each candidate has received, and this grade shall be recorded on the student's card. Announcement of the results of the major examinations shall be reported through the Dean's office only.
V. Students who have passed their major examinations with a grade of A or B shall be exempted from the final examinations in the courses offered for their major in that semester.

VI. When a student fails in the major examination he may not take a re-examination without the consent of the department committee at breakfast. We were hostesses for three Bowdoin gents tastefully attired in gray flannels and flowers. Well, if you can stand us at 8:30, boys, come ahead."

VII. The committee on Major Examinations in cooperation with the major departments, shall post during the week preceding the Spring Vacation hours for conferences with, and advice to Sophomores regarding choices of major subjects.
VIII. (a) Those students who, by the beginning of their senior year, have not completed satisfactorily to their major department the work assigned during their Junior year shall, on recommendation of the department, be deprived of Senior standing until such work shall have been satisfactorily completed.
(b) A major department is authorized to request the Dean to place on probation a student who is found by the department to be delinquent in his major work.

IX. Any student who expects to complete his work for the degree by taking courses elsewhere between the June Commencement and the opening of the fall semester at Bowdoin shall take a major examination in May, its character to be determined by the department. This does not apply to men majoring in the sciences who satisfied the extra course requirements.
X. a. The major examinations shall be given during a week in May to be designated each year by the Dean.
b. Men taking major examinations shall be excused from classes from the Wednesday of the week preceding the week of the major examinations until such time as they shall have completed their major examinations.
c. The Dean may designate similar periods in January whenever it shall be necessary.

cerned and of the Recording Committee.
VIII. (a) Those students who, by the beginning of their senior year, have not completed satisfactorily to their major department the work assigned during their Junior year shall, on recommendation of the department, be deprived of Senior standing until such work shall have been satisfactorily completed.
(b) A major department is authorized to request the Dean to place on probation a student who is found by the department to be delinquent in his major work.

IX. Any student who expects to complete his work for the degree by taking courses elsewhere between the June Commencement and the opening of the fall semester at Bowdoin shall take a major examination in May, its character to be determined by the department. This does not apply to men majoring in the sciences who satisfied the extra course requirements.
X. a. The major examinations shall be given during a week in May to be designated each year by the Dean.
b. Men taking major examinations shall be excused from classes from the Wednesday of the week preceding the week of the major examinations until such time as they shall have completed their major examinations.
c. The Dean may designate similar periods in January whenever it shall be necessary.

Kirkland's Defense Welcome

"Academic Freedom" is a subject which has assumed an increasing importance in American minds during the last few months. The large attendance at Professor Edward C. Kirkland's lecture "Academic Freedom, In Peril" indicates the college community's interest in the subject.

Not long ago, attacks against the nation's colleges and professors filled the press. Only in a few isolated cases did university and college administrative officers meet this challenge to their intellectual integrity. Some officials issued very cautious statements weakly stating their position in regard to these attacks. Others remained silent.

As members of a college community aware of these attacks upon freedom of thought and investigation in higher education, we hoped for a long time that our professors and administrators would defend themselves and students against the often unfounded and in some instances untruthful statements made by certain government administrators. The general public became particularly concerned about the matter when administrators refused to face the question squarely. A positive defense of educational institutions has been needed against the encroachment of a small minority willing to spread unreasonable suspicion and distrust in American society for the purpose of advancing their own political careers.

Bowdoin has every reason to be proud of Professor Kirkland's clear forceful defense of politically free institutions and his fearless expression of personal convictions which many of us share.

T. E. M.

Editor's Note — In this and next week's issues of the ORIENT will be published the complete text of Professor of History Edward C. Kirkland's talk Monday on "Academic Freedom in Peril". The address was sponsored by the American Association of University Professors.

SPEED! CONTROL!
LONG LIFE!

Set after set, on any playing surface, these Twins of Championship Tennis deliver "new ball" performance... maintain their precision-built accuracy of flight and bounce!
In every National Championship, U. S. Davis Cup and Wightman Cup match... in major tournaments everywhere... Spalding-made tennis balls are the Official choice. Try a Spalding or Wright & Ditson and you'll know why.

SPALDING
Sole the Pats in Tennis

Outfitters to Bowdoin Men

Benoit's Introduces a -- WATERPROOF GOLF JACKET

at only
$10.95

Up to now the only waterproof jackets have been of rubber or synthetic fabric — which do not breathe. Now this brand new Bantamac jacket of imported fabric is watertight — yet breathes. Lets air in and out like any poplin or gabardine jacket.

Benoit's

MAINE STREET

BRUNSWICK

All the roads lead to Kankakee

Some routes, naturally, are longer than others. But if there is less traffic on them, they might get you to Kankakee faster.

The same holds true of your Long Distance calls. When circuits are temporarily busy on the most direct route for your call, a new electronic brain in the telephone office automatically selects alternate routes. They may be hundreds of miles longer, but the detour saves you time.

And the entire operation of selection and rerouting is done in a split second!

The Bell System people who perfected, maintain and operate this electronic switching system have one goal: to make the best telephone service in the world even better. Would you like to join this competent, aggressive team?

There are many opportunities in the Bell System — in engineering, business administration, accounting, and other fields. Your Placement Officer can give you the details.

Bell Telephone System

POLAR BEARINGS

By Robert M. Hurst '54, ORIENT Sports Editor

Among the new buildings to be erected here on campus in the near future is a theatre and a music building. The one improvement that has not been mentioned, at least publicly, and should take precedence over most others is a new gym or field house or at least a remodeling of the present antiquated relic. The present gym includes one full size basketball court and one locker room which is so small that two and sometimes three people must use the same locker. The majority of the lockers are only half size at that. Down in the basement with the lockers is the college's one and only hand ball court or at least that is what it is called. To describe the room would be impossible. It abounds with radiator pipes and projections of all kinds, the walls are completely unpainted, and the room on the whole is too small. The other two or three rooms down there are mostly used to accommodate visiting teams. To make visiting teams dress in there is a disgrace. They are provided with no lockers, no showers, and little of anything else. All that is there are wooden tables on which to put clothes.

Because there is room for only one basketball court during the winter when most activities are confined inside, the court becomes miserably crowded during class hours. In the afternoon the floor must be vacated in order that the freshmen and varsity teams may practice. The seating capacity is also limited to a small gathering. Recently because of the poor basketball teams at the school there has been little call for more space. Should Bowdoin ever come up with a good team, even the students in the school could not be accommodated.

The swimming pool, the most recent addition to the athletic facilities, suffers also from a lack of seating capacity. This fact is most noticeable on a houseparty weekend when few students and their dates can see one of Bowdoin's better teams in action. Once again there is no locker space for visiting teams in the swimming pool annex. Visitors must use one of "the rooms."

The cage on the whole is also small and inadequate. The track that circles the outer rim is narrow and the space for field events is small. In the discuss event the discuss quite frequently hits the netting at the top of the cage limiting the throws considerably.

What could be done to remedy the situation? A definite remodeling and extension of both the cage and gymnasium would be the answer. With the social part of Bowdoin and surrounding areas limited to the flocks, visiting lecturers, and other nondescript happenings, the least the college could do to improve its facilities here on campus. Is it too much to ask for your own locker?

The basketball court could be enlarged to twice its present size, while squash courts, handball courts, boxing equipment, bowling alleys, a target range, and many other things could be added. All this does not mean an emphasis of athletics over education, but it does mean a changing of old for new. An indoor hockey rink is not far away on the Sesqui-centennial Committee's building plans. This is definitely a step in the right direction, but we have needed one badly for the past ten or fifteen years. Next time you go over to the gym, take a look around and see what's there. You won't find too much.

Adam Walsh and Bob Miller, Bowdoin football and swimming coaches speak tonight at the Portland High School Athletic Club dinner honoring past Bulldog football and swimming state champion teams.

Zeta Psi leads in the race for the varsity participation cup with 54 points. Tied for second place are the Psi U's and the Sigma Nu's with five points behind with a total of 49. Points for track have not been counted as yet.

Frosh Track Team Swamps Lewiston And Cony High Schools

The Bowdoin Freshmen had an easy time defeating Lewiston and Cony High track teams in a triangular meet held at Whittier Field at Bowdoin. The Polar Cubs compiled a total of 73 points, compared with 39 for Cony and 5 for Lewiston.

The summary:
 100-Yard Dash — Won by Hurley (B); 2 Corbett (B); 3 Gilbert (L); Time, 23.2.
 200-Yard Dash — Won by Hurley (B); 2 Jansile (B); 3 Gilbert (L); Time, 52.1.
 400-Yard Dash — Won by Jansile (B); 2 Reilly (C); 3 Wright (B); Time, 56.4.
 800-Yard Dash — Won by MacCabe (B); 2 Labrale (B); 3 Ludwig (B); Time, 2:17.
 Mile Run — Won by MacCabe (B); 2 Cyr (C); 3 Barden (C); Time, 5:18.
 High Hurdles — Won by Dolley (C); 2 Wilder (B); 3 Nicholson (B); Time, 10:9.
 Low Hurdles — Won by Corbett (B); 2 Dolley (C); 3 Wilder (B); Time, 17:8.
 High Jump — Tied by Kurtz (B) and Dolley (C); 3 Nicholson. Height, 5 feet, 2 inches.
 Pole Vault — Won by Blaisdel (C); 2 Tarr (C); 3 Rilly (C); Height, 9 feet.
 Broad Jump — Won by Wilder (B); 2 Gilbert (L); 3 Rilly (C); Distance, 18 feet, 4 inches.
 40 Yards — Won by MacCabe (B); 3 Katon Diets (B); 3 MacCabe (B); Distance, 105 feet, 2 inches.
 Shot Put — Won by MacCabe (B); 2 Cooper (B); 3 Katon (C); Distance, 44 feet.
 Javelin Throw — Won by Katon (C); 2 Corbett (B); 3 Devries (B); Distance, 135 feet, 5 inches.

Track Team Loses To Tufts 74-61; Cameron Wins Two-Mile In 10:41

Bob Jones, Jack Goldberg, and Hans Liband won two events each as Tufts' New England championship track squad scored a 74-61 victory over Bowdoin at Tufts last Monday.

Jones won the 100 and 220 yard dashes and tied for second in the high jump. Goldberg copped both hurdle races, and Liband won the shot and the discus and placed third in the hammer throw. Liband set a Tufts record by heaving the shot 45 feet, 2 1/2 inches, one and one half inches farther than the old record set by Olympian Bob Backus.

Hugh Huleatt won the half-mile and the mile as the Polar Bears went down to their first defeat of the season. He ran the half in 2:05.4 and the mile in 4:57.2.

Bowdoin's other winners were Al Farrington in the javelin, 156 feet; Frank Cameron in the two-mile, 10:41; and Dick Wrage in the hammer-throw, 136 feet two inches. A complete summary of the events was not available.

This sketch, made several years ago, shows a projected wing which might at sometime be added to the Sargent Gym. The wing, which would balance the Curtis Swimming Pool, would contain squash courts and additional locker and dressing rooms.

Colby Clubs Bears 12-4 On 5 Hits, 15 Walks, 5 Errors

Colby collected only five hits but clobbered Bowdoin's defending champions 12-4 in the curtain raiser on the State Series at Pickard Field. The day was cold, windy, and overcast but that didn't seem to bother Mule hurler Mac Andrews as he displayed a good fast ball coupled with a slow sweeping change of pace curve ball to fan eight Polar Bears. In addition Andrews limited Bowdoin to only six hits and one walk to the first batter to face him, Wally Bartlett. Defensively Colby was infallible except for a fly ball dropped by left fielder George Palmer in Bowdoin's three-run sixth inning.

The Polar Bears on the other hand would have been better off had they not even showed up. Three Bowdoin hurlers, Anthony, Hebert, and Coukos, issued 15 walks and uncorked two wild pitches. These coupled with five errors, two passed balls, and a couple of stolen bases, more than made up for the absence of base hits. Actually Bowdoin out hit Colby six to five.

Anthony started on the hill for the Bears and threw eight straight balls to Colby lead-off man Diomne and right fielder Jacobs. Anthony looked like he might get out of trouble when catcher Dick Marshall picked off Jacobs at first on a perfect throw to Frank Vecella who came in from second to cover.

Anthony kept giving up walks, however, and Colby managed to score a run in the first. Colby scored three in the third. Bartlett pulled a Sam Jethroe in left field as he misjudged a routine fly ball that the wind caught hold of.

Later Ray Peterson, in right field, in an attempt to catch a Colby base runner who had rounded first, fired the ball over Cosgrove's head into the stands.

Hebert came in in the third and pitched good ball until he weakened in the sixth to two runs. Then the roof fell in on him in the seventh when the Mules drove him to the showers. Danny MacFayden sent in fastballing Fred Coukos to put out the fire. Coukos threw the first pitch by Dick Marshall, hit the next man up, and issued a couple of walks. Before it was all over the Mules had scored five runs to put the game on ice.

For Bowdoin Fleming had three hits and Cosgrove had two. Neither connected for the long ball although Cosgrove barged in three of Bowdoin's four runs. The lone extra base hit in the game was Wally Bartlett's double down the left field line.

Interfraternity Softball

Zeta Psi and Theta Delta Chi are leading in Division A and B, respectively, in the Interfraternity Softball League.

In last week's games, the Zetas beat the DeKes, 12-0, to put them on top. Kappa Sigma turned back the Independents, 8-2, and the Psi U's lost their third straight to the Betas, 14-4.

In League B, the TD's held first place by beating AD, 5-1, ARU dropped ATO in a high scoring game, 16-13, and in a hotly-contested game which is currently under protest, Sigma Nu edged Delta Sigma by one run, 13-12.

The standings:

LEAGUE A

W	L
Zeta Psi	4 0
Delta Kappa Sigma	3 1
Chi Psi	1 1
Psi U	1 2
Independent	0 3

LEAGUE B

W	L
Theta Delta	2 0
Sigma Nu	1 1
Delta Sigma	1 1
ATU	1 2
Alpha Delta	0 3

White Track Team Edges Springfield In Rain 68-67; Flemming's Points Win

University Of Maine Drubs Golfers 23 1/2-3 1/2; Tim Cook Lone Victor

By Joseph K. Rogers '57

Bowdoin's tracksters barely managed to squeak out a victory over Springfield College, 68-67 at Brunswick last Saturday.

The adverse weather conditions deserve an assist for the win by the Polar Bears. Fred Flemming, who picked up a second place in the high jump, was the decisive factor — and Flemming, if the weather had been good, would have been in Orono, playing center-field for Bowdoin's diamondsters against the U. of Maine.

Flemming's 5 feet 10 inches in the event was good for three and a half points, and it decided the outcome of the meet. The Bears' Paul Brinkman and Springfield's Curt Guild tied for third place. Ralph Muzzey of Springfield won the event with six feet, one eighth inch.

Getchell Stars

Dick Getchell was Bowdoin's heavy scorer, winning the high and low hurdles and picking up a second place in the 220. The Magee men monopolized the high hurdles, as Carl Knight and Mel Totman finished behind Getchell for second and third places, respectively. Knight also finished behind Getchell in the low hurdles for another second.

Dave Weis, Bowdoin speedster, captured top honors in the 220, and also won second spot in the 100, trailing Norm Anderson of Springfield.

The Bears' Hugh Huleatt chalked up a double victory for the Polar Bears, placing first in the 880 and the mile.

The big noise for Springfield was Curt Guild. Besides tying for third in the high jump, he won the discus and the shot, and placed second to teammate Frank McGrath in the hammer.

Bowdoin's victory was due in large part to their ability to pick up second and third places. Brinkman scored a pair of seconds, and thirds were picked up by Al Farrington, Mel Totman, Dick Wrage, and Bob Lilly.

Pauls Muzzey

Gordie Milliken's only points came in the 440, where he won second place behind Springfield's Larry Rowell. Milliken, who usually enters several events, pulled a muscle in the broad jump and was unable to continue.

The weather for the meet was anything but ideal, and this fact was reflected by the poor condition of the track. Nevertheless, the track meet was a shining victory for Bowdoin, figuratively if not literally.

The summary:

100-Yard Dash — Won by Anderson (S); 2 Weis (B); 3 Biggs (B); Time, 18.5.
 200-Yard Dash — Won by Weis (B); 2 Getchell (B); 3 Anderson (S); Time, 39.3.
 400-Yard Dash — Won by Rowell (S); 2 Milliken (B); 3 Bywaters (S); Time, 52.1.
 800-Yard Run — Won by Huleatt (B); 2 Goodwin (S); 3 Levine (B); Time, 2:09.7.
 Mile Run — Won by Huleatt (B); 2 Goodwin (S); 3 Erving (S); Time, 4:42.
 Two Mile Run — Won by Hillman (S); 2 Cameron (B); 3 Greene (S); Time, 12:24.4.
 120 High Hurdles — Won by Getchell (B); 2 Knight (B); 3 Totman (B); Time, 15:9.
 200 Low Hurdles — Won by Getchell (B); 2 Knight (B); 3 Christianson (S); Time, 26.7.
 Broad Jump — Won by Muzzey (S); 2 Biggs (B); 3 Kerley (S); Distance, 22 feet, 5 1/2 inches.
 Hammer Throw — Won by McGrath (S); 2 Guild (S); 3 Wrage (B); Distance, 146 feet, 1 1/2 inches.
 Discus Throw — Won by Guild (S); 2 Brinkman (B); 3 Totman (B); Distance, 159 feet, 5 inches.
 Javelin Throw — Won by Brinkman (B); 2 Krieger (S); 3 Lilley (B); Distance, 168 feet, 2 1/2 inches.
 Shot Put — Won by Jinks (S); 2 Balzer (S); 3 Tied by McAdams (B) and Crenberry (S); Height, 47 feet, 6 inches.
 Shot Put — Won by Guild (S); 2 Brinkman (B); 3 Farrington (B); Distance, 136 feet, 4 inches.
 High Jump — Won by Muzzey (S); 2 Flemming (B); 3 Tied by Brinkman (B) and Guild (S); Height, 6 feet, 1 inch.

Double Winner

Dick Getchell

WBOA To Broadcast Home Baseball Games; Bates Scheduled First

WBOA has announced that it will start broadcasting the Bowdoin varsity home baseball games beginning with the Bates Bobcats at Pickard Field next Friday afternoon, May 8.

It is not definite yet whether freshmen games will be on the air, but there is a good possibility of it in the near future. Curt Weidner, sports director of WBOA, said that nine men have applied for the announcer's job.

— Bartlett, Peterson, Vecella, Wolfe, Sayward, Palmer, R. Bartlett, McGovern, Fleming, Diomne, Jacobs, Hayes, Lake, Mathieu, Palmer, Dougherty, 2, Fitzgibbon, 3, Andrews, R. Bartlett, Douglass, Palmer, Palmer, Dougherty, Andrews, Cosgrove, 3, Peterson, 2B—Bartlett, 3B—Hayes, Lake, S—Fitzgibbon, Andrews, McGovern, LOB

Colby 14, Bowdoin 8. BB—Anthony 6, Hebert 3, Coukos 4, Andrews 1, SO—Coukos 1, Andrews 3, HO—Anthony 6 in 3, Hebert 3, Coukos 2 in 3, HBP—Andrews (McGovern), Anthony (Jacobs), Coukos (Fitzgibbon, Mathieu, Palmer), WP—Anthony, Coukos, B—Andrews, Lober—Marshall 2, Winner—Andrews, Lober—Anthony 2—245.

James Buchanan was the only United States President who was never married.

Concert Recorded

Radio station WGAN of Portland will present the WBOA recording of the Bellerose Brothers' concert this Friday evening at 10 p.m. The program is part of Music Week which is being celebrated throughout the country this week.

Mother's Day -- May 10

A beautiful crafted picture tray with full-color view of Bowdoin College in 1821 on black background.

Use it as a tray or when not in use hang it on the wall (hanger hook on back). This 12" x 18" tray is of sturdy steel construction, waterproof and cocktail-proof finish. Fully guaranteed.

This dual purpose tray for $4.50

MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE

BOWL-MOR Alleys

Student Patronage Welcomed

186 Maine Street

BILL'S SPA

Our Specialties
 Italian Spaghetti
 Pizza Pie
 Hot Pastromi
 Beer and Ale on Draft and in Bottles

6 1/2 Elm St. Brunswick
 Tel. 276

Bendix Launderette

15 Mill Street Brunswick, Maine

Just a few steps from Maine Street

None poturd wash 30c
 Use of Dryer 25c

CUMBERLAND Brunswick, Maine

Wed.-Thurs. May 6-7
THE BLUE GARDENIA
 with
 Anne Baxter
 Richard Conte
 Ann Southern
 also
 News Short Subjects

Fri. - Sat. May 8-9
DESTINATION GOBI
 with
 RICHARD WIDMARK
 DON TAYLOR
 also
 News Short Subjects

Sun.-Mon.-Tue. May 10-11-12 TITANIC
 with
 CLIFTON WEBB
 BARBARA STANWYCK
 also
 News Cartoon

Wed.-Thurs. May 13-14
RED SKELTON
 in
THE CLOWN
 also
 News Short Subject

Can you generate ideas?

Do you think you would like to create and sell ideas? If so you may be interested in knowing about us.

We are an idea factory — otherwise known as an advertising agency. We are among the biggest, our accounts some of the best-known. As part of our training program every year we look for a selected few who seem to have promise.

These people get a chance to test their aptitudes for copy and contact, research and merchandising, radio-TV and sales promotion. As a result, they are finally assigned to jobs they like most and can do best.

Our employee benefits include yearly bonus, retirement annuities and a stock purchase plan. We are known in the business as "a good place to work." Many of our people have been with us for periods of 20 to 30 years.

Only Spring graduates are eligible. Make an outline of your background, noting particular interests and activities which may indicate your suitability for the advertising business. Mail to Box 1188, Radio City Station, New York 10, N.Y.

Only Time will Tell...

THIS IS GOING TO BE THE BEST CREW WE'VE EVER HAD!

WOW! I'D ROW DOWN THE RIVER WITH THEM ANYTIME!

HOW CAN THEY TELL SO SOON? THAT COXSWAIN MAY SWALLOW HIS MEGAPHONE!

THIS YEAR WE OUGHTA WIN THE REGATTA!

Test CAMELS for 30 days for MILDNESS and FLAVOR!

Only time will tell about a green crew! And only time will tell about a cigarette! Take your time...

THIS MUST BE A REASON WHY Camel is America's most popular cigarette—leading all other brands by billions! Camels have the two things smokers want most — rich flavor and cool, cool mildness...pack after pack! Try Camels for 30 days and see how mild, how flavorful, how thoroughly enjoyable they are as your steady smoke!

MORE PEOPLE SMOKE CAMELS than any other cigarette!

Behind The Ivy Curtain

By E. Ward Gilman '53

It is with some regret that we mark the passing of an era. When we first entered this institution, it was a time-honored practice for every senior, in the Spring of his last year, to have dinner with President and Mrs. Sills, and to have a bowl of Mrs. Sills' famed black bean soup. We had heard much about this delicacy, and were looking forward with some anticipation to our first sampling of it. But, as with so many things, progress has overtaken black bean soup.

We dropped in on President and Mrs. Coles, socially of course, last Sunday, and were treated to a informal afternoon tea. The coffee was hot and savory, the food excellent. But we looked in vain for some black bean soup. It seems to have been replaced by small, delicious lobster rolls, and cheese drops that looked deceptively like lemon cookies. We ate our fill (having purposely skipped lunch) and smoked a full share of the free cigarettes. All told, it was a pleasant enough afternoon.

We would like to suggest, however, that perhaps President Sills' fine health points up the superiority of black bean soup to canapés as a steady diet.

There is the old saying that "in the Spring a young man's fancy turns to . . ." and etc. We can bear witness to this, but in another way, since it is our contention that not only does the proverbial young man put his mind on thoughts of an amatory nature, but from time to time turns his talents to poetry. We are printing here a piece submitted to us by a couple of undergraduates who seem to have submitted to the vernal urge, but not in time to make the Quill. We sincerely hope that any graduate reviewers will not be too harsh in their criticism. We are not literary critics, and our judgment is therefore not flawless.

Oh, to be in Maine in the Spring O!
When the Ladies' Aid stops playing bing O,
And we romp through the woods and have a fling O.
With a hey and a ho and the wind and the rain.

And everywhere are the chiggers and flies O,
And all the kiddies they make mud pies O,
And the Bowdoin ivy it ups and dies O,
With a hey and a ho and the wind and the rain.

The cock in the morn doth up and crow O,
And the ballgames come over the radio O,
The brooks and the rivers they overflow O,
With a hey and a ho and the wind and the rain.

The weeds and grasses they up and grow O,
The men get out on the lawns and mow O,
But it looks sort of funny out in the snow O,
With a hey and a ho and the wind and the rain.

Oh I love my girl from the head to the toes O,
For she is like a red, red rose O,
But she's in love with another boy O,
With a hey and a ho and the wind on the rain.

So I'll go get another bimbo O,
One that has a lovely limb O,
We'll gaze at the cumulus and nimbo O,
With a hey and a ho and the wind and the rain.

Oh the turtles dig up through the mud and the clay O,
And the clams and lobsters laugh and play O,
For the rain it raineth every day O,
With a hey and a ho and the wind and the rain. Oh.

Does anyone scent a plagiarist?

Text Of Kirkland Speech

[Continued From Page 1]

caution. Much more common among college presidents and professors is the assertion that Communists, as members of an authoritarian and disciplined organization, are not free "to follow the truth wherever it may lead," and hence are unfit, as Communists, to hold a position of scholarship and instruction. Such arguments have weight. Lenin did advocate falsehood; the Communist Party is an exceptionally disciplined one. But it does not follow that every single Communist teacher was either acquainted with Lenin's endorsement of lying, interpreted it in the fashion President Dickey has chosen to adopt, or followed it as gospel; or that every single Communist teacher either knew of or adopted, if he did, a Communist-dictated line for the teaching of mathematics, philosophy, anthropology, psychology or Anglo-Saxon. These are not fanciful instances; they are fields of learning in which dismissals have actually been made. Incidentally the argument that Communists are "not free to follow the truth wherever it may lead" involves for its spokesmen a logical dilemma in the case of the ex-Communist. Clearly the latter has now found the truth for he is on our side; equally clearly he must have been able to find it when he was a Communist for the finding preceded the conversion.

The answer to this and all other confusion is simple. The question is not how a Communist teacher must behave because he is a Communist but how he behaves as an individual holding Communist views. No imperatives are more compelling than those of our biological make-up. Yet no one in his senses would assert that because all women can theoretically bear children, all women are mothers. The logic is the same as that currently applied to communist teachers. As a faculty member or administrative officer I would not be a party to the appointment of a Communist teacher; the uncertainties of his conduct as a teacher are too numerous. If a colleague whose abilities as a teacher and qualities as an individual I had come to respect over an association of many years proved to be a Communist, I would prefer the evidence of my own experience to that of a party label or a party card. On the other hand, if as a scholar and teacher he was biased, partisan, doctrinaire, vacillating, using the teacher's platform for irrelevancies or propaganda, then he should be dismissed. So much for generalizations. As Justice Holmes observed long ago general principles do not settle concrete cases. I am inclined to believe that the appointment of Picasso to teach music, of Prokofief to teach painting, of Haldane to teach natural science would do an American academic community more good than harm. Certainly I would prefer such appointments to that of Louis Budenz to teach economics. Nor can I forget that President Dickey's predecessor in the Dartmouth presidency, announced in the twenties, an earlier period of tension, that if he could bring Lenin or Trotsky to Hanover to lecture on Communism he would do so.

When last I had the opportunity to address a Bowdoin audience on the theme of academic freedom, a plague of loyalty oaths focused my remarks, if I may steal a title from George Stewart, upon The Year of the Oath. Tonight a different circumstance confronts us: The Year of Investigation. On the national scale there are at present two investigative bodies concerned with Communism on faculties: one, a sub-committee of the Senate Judiciary Committee, is entitled the Committee on Internal Security. Its chairman is Senator William F. Jenner of Indiana. The other is a Committee of the House of Representatives, the Un-American Activities Committee. A committee with a long and far from reputable history, its present chairman is Harold Velde of Illinois. Both committees hold hearings at Wash-

Foreign Correspondent John Scott To Speak

John Scott, a foreign correspondent for Time and Life, will speak on "America's Impact in Europe" in Smith Auditorium, Wednesday, May 13 at 8:15 p.m.

The lecturer, who has written several books, is sponsored by the College, and the lecture is open to the public without charge.

Mr. Scott lived in Russia for nine years from 1931-1940. For six of these years he worked in industrial plants as a metal worker. During this period he gained an intimate knowledge of the Russian language and people. He later worked in Russia as a Moscow correspondent.

After travelling extensively in Asiatic Russia in 1940 and 1941 Mr. Scott was finally expelled from that country just before Russia's entrance into the war.

More recently he has been chief of news bureaus in Stockholm and Berlin. He is the author of Beyond The Urals, Duel For Europe, and Europe In Revolution.

Both wander about the country in paripatetic pandemonium. Let me say at the outset I have no doubt of the right and the power of such committees to do what they are doing. What is more they can compel administrators and professors to attend their hearings by subpoena and can compel answers to their questions, with an exception I shall note somewhat later, by punishment for contempt. I am not an advocate of those who break the law on either count nor of the retention of law breakers, except

Named Vice President

The appointment of Bela W. Norton '18 as Vice-President of Bowdoin College was announced today by President James S. Coles. Norton will take over the functions now held by the Sesquicentennial Fund Office. He will also direct the College's public relations.

Company Agents Hold Private Interviews

Individual interviews between Bowdoin seniors and representatives of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Western Electric Company, the Bell Laboratories, the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, and the Long Lines Division of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company will continue tomorrow, May 7, as part of the current series of interviews sponsored by the Bowdoin College Placement Bureau.

Bela W. Norton '18 Named Vice President; To Take Office July 1

[Continued From Page 1] Speaking of Mr. Palmer's retirement, President Coles said, "He has actively and effectively worked on behalf of the College since his graduation in 1904. From a long and productive career in business and after two years of overseas service with the American Red Cross, he returned to Bowdoin College and has given us his full effort in behalf of the Sesquicentennial Fund, for the past three years as Executive Director. The results of his efforts stand in tribute to them. It is with true regret that the College accedes to his wish for less direct responsibility for College affairs."

Council To Draw Up Hazing Statement

[Continued From Page 1] house had to sign for sheets and blankets "which people didn't want."

The ten proctors for next year as selected by the Student Council and the Dean are John F. Cosgrove, James R. Flaker, James J. Furlong, Gerard D. Goldstein, Donald P. Hayward, Charles W. Howard, II, George J. Mitchell, Jr., Gordon W. Stearns, Jr., R. Keith Strgeon, and Louis P. Welch.

The campus representative claimed that it was a logical time to act on such a plan since: 1. If you can pass an examination for this at this time, you can qualify for the low rate of your present age and occupation (student); 2. The only way you can have such a plan is to start; and 3. The guaranteed values within the policy contracts provide for an Emergency Fund for future contingencies and protect you each year in case you decide to discontinue the savings.

Graham Urges Student Purchase Of Insurance

George W. Graham '55, a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon and the Meddiebempsters, recently completed a training program with the Provident Mutual Company of Philadelphia and is now the representative of that organization on campus.

Commenting on various aspects of life insurance, Graham recently pointed out that a majority of life insurance companies issue policies containing a "War Exclusion Rider" on those of "military age." At the moment, he explained, subject to change without notice, it is possible to obtain a limited amount of top notch insurance without such a rider.

Graham also pointed out that the nature of one's work during the coming years may be such as to cause insurance companies to refuse to sell this insurance at standard rates. An increase due to the type of work is often expensive, the figure sometimes running from $3.20 to $25 per year per $1000 extra. For this reason, he urged students to think of purchasing insurance while they were still in college.

The campus representative claimed that it was a logical time to act on such a plan since: 1. If you can pass an examination for this at this time, you can qualify for the low rate of your present age and occupation (student); 2. The only way you can have such a plan is to start; and 3. The guaranteed values within the policy contracts provide for an Emergency Fund for future contingencies and protect you each year in case you decide to discontinue the savings.

Merrymeeting Gift Shop
185 Park Row
Greeting Cards --- Gifts
Free Gift Wrapping

New Tennis Balls
$2.25 per can

Restranging Rackets

Clear Nylon	4.00
Multi-Ply — Green	5.00
Protected Black & White	6.00

F. W. CHANDLER & SON
150 MAINE STREET BRUNSWICK PHONE 234

"Matchless Service"

FORD — MERCURY
Sales and Service

Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed USED CARS

Maine's Most Modern Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop

Complete Front End and Frame Alignment

Harry H. Smart, Inc.
PHONE 559
87 PLEASANT STREET • BRUNSWICK, MAINE

How to make points with good looks

Looking smart is no problem. You start with a Manhattan label . . . you wind up in Style. And in the host of Manhattan collar styles you're sure to find more than one collar that makes style points for you. You'll like the extra comfort and long wear in every Manhattan shirt, too! Stop in at your nearest Manhattan men's shop today—see many more most-for-your-money values in distinctive Manhattan menswear.

Manhattan

Headquarters for Manhattan Shirts
In Brunswick
Senter's

It's the size of the FIGHT in the man!

That's right! In the U. S. Air Force, it's not the size of the man in the fight—it's the size of the FIGHT IN THE MAN! And Aviation Cadets must have plenty of it. For Cadet training is rugged. If you're good enough . . . tough enough . . . smart enough . . . if you can take it while you're learning to dish it out, you can have one of the most fascinating careers in the world. You'll be equipped to take your position as an executive, both in military and commercial aviation as well as in industry. And while you're helping yourself you'll be helping your country.

WIN YOUR WINGS! It takes little over a year to win your wings as a Pilot or Aircraft Observer (Navigator, Bombardier, Radar Operator or Aircraft Performance Engineer). But at the end of your training you graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE? To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement—it's best if you stay in school and graduate. In addition, you must be between 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!

HERE'S WHAT TO DO:

1. Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
2. If application is accepted, the Air Force will give you a physical examination.
3. Next, you take a written and manual aptitude test.
4. If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet training class. The Selective Service Act allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.

WHERE TO GET MORE DETAILS:
Visit your nearest Air Force Base, Air Force Recruiting Officer, or your nearest Air Force ROTC unit. Or write to: Aviation Cadet Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Washington 25, D. C.

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT, WEDNESDAY, MAY 13, 1953

VOLUME LXXXIII

NUMBER 5

Time, Life Correspondent John Scott Speaks Tonight

John Scott, foreign correspondent, author, and lecturer will speak tonight on "America's Impact in Europe" in Smith Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. as part of his tour of America's colleges and universities.

Mr. Scott has had a great amount of experience with Russia, having lived there for nine years from 1931 to 1940. During six of these years, until 1937, he worked in Russian industrial plants. He was forced to leave his job when the great purge drove thousands of foreigners from Soviet industries. But, while Mr. Scott worked in these mills and plants he was able to master the Russian language and learned much about the people of Russia.

Went To Russia

John Scott was born in Philadelphia in 1913 and attended school in the United States and Switzerland. After graduating from George School in Pennsylvania he went to the University of Wisconsin for two years. After college, during the depression years, he put in a few months of intensive study at a General Electric training school where he earned a certificate in metal working. It was at this time that Mr. Scott went to Russia as a worker.

In 1940 and 1941 he traveled through the Balkans and Middle East making reports on these sections which attracted much attention. Two weeks before Germany invaded Russia Scott was expelled from Soviet territory for "misrepresenting" Russian activities. He went to Japan, and it was from here that he filled his first reports for Time. A year later he was a Time editor in New York.

The year 1943 saw Mr. Scott in Washington covering the State Department for Time. He was later sent to London, and then to Stockholm where he headed the Time and Life office until 1945. For the next three years he was chief of Time's bureau in Berlin. Mr. Scott then returned to the New York office.

Speaker Tonight

John Scott

All MS Graduates Get T.C. Commissions But 19 Are Reassigned

Forty-nine members of the Class of '53 will receive commissions as second lieutenants in the U.S. Army with their diplomas, and all will be commissioned in the Transportation Corps.

Although all new officers will technically be members of the T.C., 19 will be assigned to other branches. No definite appointments have been made as yet, but among the branches requested by the Seniors have been Infantry, Armored and Engineers.

Summer Camp

The Transportation Corps summer camp will again be held at Fort Eustis, Virginia from June 20 to August 1. All members of the Class of '54 enrolled in the advanced division of the ROTC who have not previously attended the camp will be required to go this summer.

One student, Paul F. Morin '54, will train at the Army Language School, Fort Riley, Kansas instead of at Eustis.

Captain Luis F. Ochoa will be the officer from the Bowdoin detachment at the camp. Also attending from the college military force will be Sergeants Brown and Keating.

Many changes will be effected in the ranks of the ROTC instructing staff during the summer. As previously announced in the ORIENT, Col. Walter H. Kennet will retire at the end of the current academic year. Lt. Col. Gregg C. McLeod will finish his three year tour of service at the college in June and expect to be reassigned.

Major Joseph B. Miller, Adjutant of the Bowdoin detachment will also wind up his three years at this time, but he may be assigned a fourth year at Bowdoin. No official confirmation of this has been received as yet. Captain Luis F. Ochoa, Jr. is the only commissioned officer on the staff who will definitely return in the Fall.

WBOA NOTICE

WBOA wishes to announce the rebroadcast of the Interfraternity Sing. This program will take place tonight at 8:30.

Walker Art Museum Given Strater Work

Albert S. Roe, acting director of the Walker Art Museum, has announced the acquisition of a painting titled "Ranch on Beaver Creek" by Harry Strater of Ogunquit. The large canvas will enlarge the museum's collection of contemporary works.

It was painted in oil in 1938, and is the last of a series of fine landscapes done by the artist in Arizona during the middle Thirties. It shows a small ranch in the Verde Valley, south of Flagstaff and east of Prescott, in the heart of the Zane Grey country.

The artist has treated the desert sympathetically, according to Roe, producing a luminous and atmospheric expression of the sunlit terrain; the harshness of the land has been subdued and allowed to appear only in the strength of the rolling hills and rugged mountains. The picture is familiar to many people through large color reproductions which have enjoyed widespread sales in all parts of the country.

Bowdoin Alumni Association Annual Elections To Be Held

The annual elections of the Bowdoin College Alumni Association for the Board of Overseers, members at large for the Alumni Council, and the Directors of the Alumni Fund is now in progress with a June 1 deadline set.

Two men will be elected to the Board of Overseers, while the other two organizations will gain three members each. Secretary of the Association Seward J. Marsh '12 is handling the balloting.

Six Candidates

There are six candidates for the Board of Overseers. William D. Hyde '38 of Portland, Maine is the grandson of the late President William DeWitt Hyde, Mr. Hyde is a member of the Bowdoin Club of Portland and former member and President of the Alumni Council. He is a special agent for the Springfield Fire and Marine Insurance Company.

Horace A. Hildreth was a member of the Alumni Council and is presently the President of Bucknell

Masque And Gown To Present 'Hasty Heart' As Ivy Production

The Masque and Gown production of "The Hasty Heart" will be performed in Memorial Hall on Monday night at 8:15 and for Ivy on Friday, May 22, at 4:15.

Donn C. Winner '56 and Charles W. Schoeneman '53 are the featured performers, portraying the parts of Lachlen and Yaretz respectively. The rest of the cast of the John Patrick play are: Donald M. Brewer '55 as stage manager and the part of the orderly, Allan F. Wright '56 as Digger, Calvin B. Kendall '56 as Kiwi, Theodore H. Howland '56 as Blossom, Benjamin G. M. Priest '56 as Tommy, Timothy F. P. Hely '56, a foreign student, as the colonel, and Fredrika Joy as the nurse.

Concurrent with the Broadway production, "The Hasty Heart" was done during the summer session of 1946. The setting is in a convalescent ward of a British general hospital in the rear of the Assam-Burma front. Lachlen, a Scott, is doomed to die, though he doesn't know it. The soldiers, from all over the world, attempt to cheer him up, for he doesn't associate very much with anyone. They succeed in this, but then the Scotsman learns of his fate.

President Emeritus Kenneth C. M. Sills said, in a letter, of the Bowdoin production, "It seemed to me that the play was just the kind that may well be given at the college."

The Broadway show featured Richard Basehart and John Lund. The "New York Times" said of the play, "Another good play was added to the Broadway list... The setting is a lonely soldier who finally finds friends, it is as often moving as it is funny." The New York "Herald Tribune" gave it similar compliments.

Professor George H. Quinby said that staging the play has presented a difficult task. The Memorial Hall setting will be an official hospital instead of a bamboo structure.

There are numerous props required. The six beds must have mosquito netting, bed tables, and the usual accessories. Army and Navy hospitals have loaned the two sets of six pajamas which are being used. Six blankets had to be bought to simulate the military style. Several costumes such as kilts, were borrowed from a local collector. The Infirmary will also lend some props. Philip E. Shakir '56 and Arthur M. Seelye '56 are in charge of the props.

Headed by Robert C. Hawley '55, Edwin C. Northrup Jr. '56, William F. Hoffman '54, Alfred A. Gass '54, Edward Cogan '51, Lee B. Wood Jr. '56, William H. Moody '56, and Peter K. Holmes '56 will work on the scenery.

About the two performances, Professor Quinby said, "Although students are welcome on Monday and the general public on Friday, the expectation is that students will wait till Ivy and the public is therefore urged to attend the Monday night performance."

The first half of the house is reserved at $1.20 for the public and $6.00 for the students. The back section costs $6.00 for the public and the blanket tax will admit a student. Ivy dates are considered as the general public.

Reserved seats may be obtained by phoning 1-273W between 7:30 and 9:00 in the evening today and tomorrow for the Monday performance. Calls during the same period on Monday and Tuesday should be made for Friday seats.

Lawrence E. Dwight Picked Student Union President At Election

Lawrence E. Dwight '54 was chosen the President of the Student Union Committee at the elections held at their last meeting.

Dwight has been a member of the Glee Club for the past three years and has led his fraternity, Zeta Psi, in the Interfraternity Sing for two years. He is also a member of the Varsity Hockey Team.

The Vice-President of the Union Committee will be Robert C. Burr '55. Robert R. Hinchley '55 is the new Treasurer and Thomas R. Kneil '55 is the Secretary.

Burr is a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity and the Varsity Baseball team. He is on the staff of The Bugle and is a News Editor of the ORIENT. The new Treasurer Hinchley, is a member of the Glee Club and the Meddiebumpers. He belongs to the Delta Sigma fraternity. Kneil is an Independent.

Other Candidates

Candidates or members at large of the Alumni Council are Daniel F. Mahoney '19, Paul Sibley '25, Reginald K. Swett '28, Winslow R. Howland '29, David P. Faxon '30, and Carl N. DeSuzie '38.

Alumni Association

Seeking to the Directors of the Alumni Fund are A. Shirley Gray '18, John D. Dupuis '29, S. Forster Yancey '30, Richard C. Van Varick '32, Carleton S. Connor '36, and Paul E. Gardent, Jr. '39.

Shown is the Sanford High School band as it entered Whittier Field during the Western Maine Music Festival which was held in Brunswick last Saturday. The Sanford band, one of the larger and more colorful units in the parade, participated in the drill competition which was held at Whittier before 8,000. Also featured during the Festival was the concert held Saturday evening in the Hyde Athletic Building cage.

6,000 School Musicians Jam Bowdoin Campus In Saturday Festival

Crowding Brunswick and the Bowdoin campus, Saturday, were approximately 6,000 school musicians attending the annual Western Maine Music Festival.

The festival was featured by a lengthy parade, a field drill exercise at Whittier Field, and a massed concert in the Hyde Athletic Building cage.

The parade, which was Saturday afternoon, started at Brunswick High School and proceeded to Pleasant Street, reaching Maine Street it passed the campus on the west and south sides, reaching Whittier Field by College and Bowker Streets. The colorful parade, which took about an hour to pass any given point, was witnessed by an estimated 25,000 people.

At Whittier Field, following the parade, 8,000 people watched field drills by the bands of five of the larger high schools, Portland, Deerfield, Edward Little, Sanford, and Lewiston. A short concert was given by a massed band of 1,200.

At the evening concert in the Cage, a 100 piece composite orchestra and a composite choral group took part. The program was directed by David Koussios, Portsmouth, N.H., music supervisor.

Auditions were held Friday and Saturday morning. In these auditions the various bands and orchestras at the festival were rated. These were held at the Brunswick High School, the Longfellow School, the Town Building, and the Recreation Center. Auditions for the choruses and glee clubs were held at the First Parish Church and at Memorial Hall.

Host co-chairmen of the festival were Mr. and Mrs. Amy E. E. Dullac at $1.20 for the public and $6.00 for the students. The back section costs $6.00 for the public and the blanket tax will admit a student. Ivy dates are considered as the general public.

Reserved seats may be obtained by phoning 1-273W between 7:30 and 9:00 in the evening today and tomorrow for the Monday performance. Calls during the same period on Monday and Tuesday should be made for Friday seats.

Maine Town Managers To Hear Burton Cross In Conference Here

Governor Burton Cross and Senator Phillip Chapman will speak at the Spring meeting of the Maine Town and City Managers Association which will be held at the college on May 13, 14 and 15.

Governor Cross and Senator Chapman will discuss "Municipalities and the 1952 Legislature" at the opening of the meeting.

The Vice-President of the Maine Town and City Managers Association will be Robert C. Burr '55. Robert R. Hinchley '55 is the new Treasurer and Thomas R. Kneil '55 is the Secretary.

Lawrence E. Dwight Picked Student Union President At Election

Lawrence E. Dwight '54 was chosen the President of the Student Union Committee at the elections held at their last meeting.

Dwight has been a member of the Glee Club for the past three years and has led his fraternity, Zeta Psi, in the Interfraternity Sing for two years. He is also a member of the Varsity Hockey Team.

The Vice-President of the Union Committee will be Robert C. Burr '55. Robert R. Hinchley '55 is the new Treasurer and Thomas R. Kneil '55 is the Secretary.

Burr is a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity and the Varsity Baseball team. He is on the staff of The Bugle and is a News Editor of the ORIENT. The new Treasurer Hinchley, is a member of the Glee Club and the Meddiebumpers. He belongs to the Delta Sigma fraternity. Kneil is an Independent.

Professor Means Selected As Speaker For Ivy Day

Professor Thomas Means has been selected as faculty speaker for the Ivy Day ceremonies to be held Saturday morning, May 23, on the Walker Art Building steps.

The selection group, the Ivy Day Activities Committee, has not yet definitely decided who is to be the class speaker and whether he will read a class speech or a poem. These decisions will be announced sometime early next week. Chairman of the committee is Horace A. Hildreth Jr. '54, Junior Class Treasurer.

Professor Locke Leads Bowdoin Music Club In His Final Appearance

Tuesday evening, the Bowdoin Music Club presented a concert of choral and instrumental music in Memorial Hall.

It was Mr. Locke's last concert at Bowdoin before he takes over his new duties as head of the Music Department at the Emma Willard School for Girls at Troy, New York next fall.

The Music Club Chorus, now in its fourth year, consists of twenty-four singers. This group of mixed voices has consistently devoted itself to the performance of music in the best choral tradition, works of the Renaissance frequently appearing in its repertoire. Tuesday evening, the club presented for the first time a concert devoted entirely to secular works. The club has appeared in Augusta this spring, and a concert was held at the Farnsworth Museum in Rockland last Sunday.

Conducts Last Concert

The program included brass music of the 17th and 20th centuries, two groups of madrigals by the Music Club Chorus, the Bach Concerto for Three Pianos and Strings, and the Sonata sopra Sancta Maria by Claudio Monteverdi, an unusual work for strings.

(Continued on Page 3)

Russell F. Locke, Jr.

The program included brass music of the 17th and 20th centuries, two groups of madrigals by the Music Club Chorus, the Bach Concerto for Three Pianos and Strings, and the Sonata sopra Sancta Maria by Claudio Monteverdi, an unusual work for strings.

(Continued on Page 3)

MIT Chem Professor J. Beattie To Speak On Thermodynamics

Professor James W. Beattie, Professor of chemistry at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will speak this evening at 7:15 in room 123 Parker Cleveland Hall.

Dr. Beattie's subject will be the Thermodynamic Concept of Temperature. This talk which is open to the public will be of particular interest to mathematicians, chemists, and physics majors.

James W. Beattie '53, a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon, is the son of Professor Beattie.

Bowdoin Wins 54th State College Track Competition

Bowdoin's Polar Bears ran off with top honors last Saturday in the 54th annual state intercollegiate track and field meet for the third straight year.

Headed by Dick Getchell in the hurdles and Ray Biggs in the dashes, the team took first in seven of 15 events, including a sweep in the 220-yard dash. Biggs and Getchell were the only double winners in the meet, the former garnering 13 points and the latter 11.

White Gets 69 Points

Victories in the hurdles and dashes plus a strong showing in the broad jump and hammer throw were sufficient for Bowdoin to cop the laurels. The Polar Bears amassed a total of 59 points. Maine followed with 36 and 1/6 with Bates third and Colby last.

Getchell set the only new meet record with a brilliant performance in the low hurdles. His time of 23.8 eclipsed his old mark of 24.1, which he set last year at Orono. For his outstanding performance in the meet, Getchell was awarded the Alan Hillman Memorial Trophy for the second time. With firsts in both hurdles and a third in the 220-yard dash, Getchell was second only to teammate Ray Biggs in total points. Biggs won both dashes and placed second in the broad jump.

Commencement Play Cast Experienced, Talented Says Quinby

Professor George H. Quinby, director of the Masque and Gown, has reported that a most experienced and talented cast is to appear in the 54th Commencement play, Shakespeare's The Merchant of Venice.

The 14 male members of the cast have appeared in 40 plays on Campus and ten Brunswick Workshop plays. This year the Commencement play was second only to the cast that was announced last year. This list, subject to revision, is as follows:

- | | |
|--------------------|---------------------------|
| Morocco | James J. Farrington '53 |
| Aragon | Frank M. Murray '55 |
| Antonio | William A. Mallett '49 |
| Bassanio | Bruce C. McCornell '53 |
| Solario | Peter B. Powell '54 |
| Solerio | Thomas R. Pickering '53 |
| Grafinio | Allen F. Hetherington '54 |
| Lorenzo | Douglas A. Chalmers '53 |
| Shylock | William Beeson III '56 |
| Tubal | Edward Cogard '51 |
| Launcelot | Harold D. Osgood Jr. '54 |
| Leonardo | Thomas B. Howard Jr. '56 |
| Balthazai-Stephano | Joel H. Hupper '54 |
| | Gerard L. Dube '55 |

The three female members of the cast Nancy McKean, Joan Foster and Maureen Routhier, have had considerable stage experience, having played in nine parts for the Masque and Gown and six for the Workshop. Miss McKean, who will play Portia, has played in 11 plays, including Shakespeare's Measure for Measure and A Raisin in the Sun. Miss Foster will play Nerissa. She appeared in one of the one-act, student-written plays last March. Miss Routhier, playing the part of Jessica, acted in the high school production of Harriet and was the ingenue of Raisin in the Sun.

Open-Air Presentation

Weather permitting, the production will be staged on the steps of the Art Building. The Five-act play is scheduled to run about one and one-half hours, beginning at 8 p.m. on June 19.

Huleatt's Best Effort

Hugh Huleatt sped to a 4:26.8 mile, his best effort yet at Bowdoin. (Continued on Page 3)

Text Of Prof. Edward C. Kirkland Address On Academic Freedom

Editor's Note - The text of Professor Edward C. Kirkland's address on "Academic Freedom in Perspective" is concluded in this week's ORIENT. The talk was made on Monday, May 4, under the sponsorship of the American Association of University Professors.

The rightfulness, the usefulness, or the wisdom of these investigations is quite a different matter from their legality. On the former count it is quite important to escape from the magic spell of words and the soft persuasion of committee chairmen. With the exception of the noun "truth," perhaps no other has so strong a hold upon faculty minds as "investigation." Investigation is just another word for research and research is a part of a professor's obligation and duty. But as any reader of the newspaper or viewer of television knows, the activities of these committees are not investigations as scholars know them. The bias and need no demonstration. The judgment of Senator Jenner's mind is well exemplified by his opinion of General George Marshall as a front man for traitors. This of the devoted commander of the country was well fitted to be its chief, and who gave his name to the word which has done so much to stop Communism in Europe. Congressman Velde is of a somewhat less cunning breed. His fellow committee members have recently checked, as far from prudent, his dream of wandering through endless Elysian fields of investigation. Animate both investigations is the spirit of more unscrupulous, more irrefragable, and more powerful colleagues. "Why shouldn't I be for McCarthy," a prominent Republican congressional leader told a reporter friend of mine, "he makes Republican votes." Thus motivated these investigations are run like a circus crossed with the third degree. James J. Conroy, a committee member, has been in the constant movement of hearings, the glare and heat of television, the weighted advantages for interrogators and the limited opportunity for defense - all these are the features of the investigative process.

Nor should our apprehension be quieted by Senator Jenner's assertion that this is not an attack upon academic freedom. The committee will not investigate textbooks; it will not invade classrooms; it will not concern itself with what is taught. Far from being reassuring

Grove Elected Meddie Head For Next Year; 2 New Members Picked

William Arthur Grove Jr. '54 was elected Director of the Bowdoin College Meddiebumpers for next year at a recent meeting of the group.

Grove, a member of the Meddiebumpers for two years, replaces H. Davison Osgood '54, who will graduate this June. A member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity, Grove is a James Bowdoin Scholar, a Glee Club member, and a member of the Student Council Executive.

New Meddie Members Named

The selection of two new Meddiebumpers has also been announced. They are Norman C. Nicholson '56 and Terry D. Stenberg, also a freshman. Nicholson is a member of Zeta Psi and has been active this year in the Glee Club, the Chapel Choir, and WBOA. He is also on the freshman track team.

Stenberg, a Beta, was recently named to the Student Union Committee and is in the Glee Club. During the fall he played on the freshman football team.

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, May 13, 1953 No. 5

Editor-in-Chief

Charles Rainlett '54
Managing Editor
Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55

News Editors

James Anwyll, Jr. '55
Robert C. Burr '55

T. Ellis McKinney, Jr. '54

Sports Editor
Robert M. Hurst '54

Photographer
James P. Gaston '54

Staff

Douglas A. Chalmers '53
E. Ward Gilman '53

C. Jackson Shuttleworth, Jr. '53

Richard H. Allen '54

Charles E. Calkley '54

Edward F. Spicer '54

Richard M. Catalano '55

Anthony L. Funnell '55

David R. Anderson '55

John E. Goodrich '55

Charles W. Schoeneman '53

David G. Laveader '55

Elliot S. Palais '55

James S. Carter '56

Edward N. Cotter '56

Robert E. Hamilton '56

Raymond F. Kierstead, Jr. '56

George A. Massih, Jr. '56

Carroll E. Pennell '56

Donald M. Zuckert '56

Allan F. Wright '56

Sports Staff

Joseph Y. Rogers '55

Curtis Webber '55

Business Manager

Bruce N. Cooper '54

Assistant Business Manager

James A. Cook '54

C. Richard Thurston '54

Advertising Manager

Peter M. Pirnie '55

Circulation Manager

Harold R. Beschm, Jr. '56

Business Assistants

Theodore D. Robbins '53

Robert C. Tracy '55

REPRESENTED BY NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.

Collect Publishers Representatives

420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.

Chicago - Boston - Los Angeles - San Francisco

Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semesters by the students of Bowdoin College. Address news communications to the Editor and subscription communications to the Business Manager of the Bowdoin Publishing Company at the ORIENT Office in the Moore Hall, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. Entered as second class matter at its post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three dollars.

Current Trend Could Take Away Bowdoin's Individuality, Spirit

What sets Bowdoin apart from any other small liberal arts college located in this section of the United States? What makes so many of us positive that this is the college best suited to our tastes and our needs? What prompts so many of the alumni, some now far physically removed from Bowdoin, to contribute to the continued welfare of the College in such a great number of ways? Some of this attachment, of course, would come from any institution where the buildings, the faculty, and the students become a part of a familiar scene. Our ties to Bowdoin are formed from a more important, a stronger spirit. This spirit is hard to define and hard to describe. It is a spirit which crosses the lines of fraternities and college classes. It is a spirit which makes the relationships between the faculty, the students, and the administration, easy and relaxed. This general informality and lack of tension, a pleasant contrast to the situation found at many other colleges, has been expressed in that tradition, the "Bowdoin Hello".

It is granted that Bowdoin is far from being a college without faults. Some stem from the ever present need of a larger plant and endowment to work with. Others which could be mentioned are a curriculum in need of several adjustments and a faculty with more teachers in that exact sense. Perhaps the biggest fault is the lack of a student body which is alert to the trends, movements, and currents of the outside world. It is a student body which lives too much within a provincialism that is more than geographical.

This then is the picture at Bowdoin. It is a college, which despite its faults, has that air and that spirit which makes it a better college. It is a college which we can be genuinely proud of.

Into this picture is being cast a trend which could easily turn the easy and relaxed relationship now existing into one, strained and full of uncertainty. Bowdoin, in this trend, is being compared too often with other colleges. Why make these changes because several colleges similar to us have instituted them? Why take away the individuality that sets Bowdoin apart from these other schools? Denied its strong fraternity system, now comparatively free of an elaborate and restricting list of regulations, and stripped of its refreshing informal air, Bowdoin would be reduced to a level from which it could not compete favorably with other colleges. The spirit would be gone, and, the fraternities would be largely useless encumbrances.

Bowdoin can make any necessary changes without the sacrifice of its spirit and its individuality. Those aims for which the College should strive can be made without alterations to its basic structure and relationships. The path which could lead to a comparative lifeless college can be avoided. Bowdoin can remain Bowdoin.

Merrymeeting Gift Shop

185 Park Row

Greeting Cards --- Gifts
Free Gift Wrapping

New Tennis Balls

$2.25 per can

Restranging Rackets

Clear Nylon 4.00
Multi-Ply — Green 5.00
Profected Black & White 6.00

F. W. CHANDLER & SON

150 MAINE STREET BRUNSWICK PHONE 234

Student Reply Feels That Chalmers' Letter OK's Negative Approach

To the Editor:
Having just finished reading Douglas Chalmers' carefully worded analysis on our Silent Generation, I would like to take this opportunity to refute Mr. Chalmers' basic assumptions and attitudes. Mr. Chalmers claims that our former ideals, especially in the realm of the moral and political, have "stagnated" and consequently proved "unattractive." Accordingly, he concludes that our basic trouble stems from the fact that there is nothing interesting to talk about.

Mr. Chalmers apparently would have us discard the ideal because, in our struggle to achieve better things, we either failed or injured the charm in which he believes all ideals are enmeshed. Even though life has been a partner to human faults and imperfections and we realize that we can never achieve a decisive or lasting victory over human transgressions, we must forever strive to do our utmost. In hoping for more than can be realized, we realize more than we hoped for. The ancient Latin saying— Possunt quod posse putant— They can, is still applicable. Mr. Chalmers claims that originally realistic theories become uninspiring and are shorn of their color as they are modified with changing conditions. He says that "the edge has gone off the ideal." But in the transition from yesterday's beliefs to tomorrow's deeds, we must not neglect the enlightenment today may bring. In our classes we have learned how forms and appearances may change, but basic ideas remain the same.

I cannot help but feel that Mr. Chalmers condescends to accept the negative approach where more vigor and greater faith in one's own capacities are needed.

Philip E. Shakir '56

Text Of Kirkland Talk On 'Academic Freedom In Peril' Concluded

(Continued From Page 1)
ment to perform an act contributing to the establishment of a totalitarian dictatorship in this country for any other human statute. The expropriation of membership could hardly be more explicit. Nor according to the Act does the registration of the Communist Party or of its individual members as agents of a foreign power change the situation on the day they are named as lawless courts having accomplished by investigation what cannot be accomplished by law then administered. It turns the so-called criminal over to such college and university administrators as have by their utterances declared that membership in the Communist Party per se is reason enough to dismiss the individual from his job. The whole extra-legal scheme works well; the punishment has generally ensued.

Often before the procedures here set forth have been anticipated by careful analysis or demonstrated in practice, college administrators have welcomed such investigations or have, like the Association of American Colleges, welcomed such an investigation one day and two days later announced they had no confidence in any investigating committees as now constituted. If by welcome they mean they hope to get a case for academic freedom before the Committees, Congress, or the public, let them examine the history, the motives, the methods and the personnel of these particular investigating committees. Amidst their sensational clamor, headline hunting, and search for partisan advantage, the still small

DRAY'S ALMANAC

By David R. Anderson '55

April 30th was the deadline. By that time every Amherst freshman had to be bid in order to make that school's 100% rushing plan a success. 26 hours before the deadline two men had not received bids. By midnight of the last day there was only one man to go. He did not receive a bid. In order to save the day the administration extended the rushing period and gave 11 houses permission to exceed their quota hoping that the remaining fresh would get a bid. He was still unbid at this writing. We wonder if the plan can honestly be described as worthwhile if it creates this type of a bottleneck. The attitude there seems to be one of let someone else take care of it. A reevaluation of the program seems to be in order.

Amherst undergraduates are also under fire regarding their behavior on party weekends. It has reached the point where at least half the faculty members refuse to accept invitations to the parties. Pressure to clean them up has been applied by Mt. Holyoke, Smith, the alumni, and townspeople, as well as the faculty. They complain that if you do not "1) get drunk, 2) get your state 3) cause a disturbance, or 4) watch people doing the other three, you might as well go home." In spite of the protests the student governing body has failed to initiate any constructive reforms. The next step will probably be direct intervention by the president of the college. Whereas everyone concerned would prefer an undergraduate action.

At Dartmouth a number of freshmen literally knocked the wind out of the machinery of their student government. During a recent party the men involved were watching three small boys playing outside one of the dorms. The boys answered the students' cheers with "profanity and obscene gestures," after which they clambered up a fire escape and into a room demanding drinks. These boys forthcoming and it was not long before one eight-year-old had consumed a half pint of applejack brandy and some Imperial whiskey. Too, instead of "walk home by himself, the boy was carried back to the hospital for observation. Here the doctors revealed that he was suffering from alcoholic poisoning, a disease which easily afflicts children.

After learning of the case one amazed college official commented, "This is the kind of thing you read about happening in a hoozy jungle." The freshman counseling office is initiating a plan for orientation in social responsibility for freshmen, due to the incident. And the Dartmouth paper states that "the light of this case it is the job of every man to give battle to the fatuous stereotype of the hard-drinking, hard-fighting, hard-cursing Dartmouth. The voice of reason has no chance; a calm exposition of a case which leads for acceptance upon subtlety and distinction gains no hearing. If it did, well-intentioned reporters for respectable journals could hardly communicate the full news through the press. Nor will committee chairmen of the Jenner and Velde stripe give such philosophy an airing through committee reports. Ask the hunter without a rifle to welcome the changing lion; ask the motorist stalled on the crossing to welcome the oncoming train; ask the farmer to welcome a tornado but ask me not to welcome investigations such as these.

mouth man which is too often in the minds of freshmen."

Williams was beset by another party weekend hazard. The Williams college is, like Dartmouth, a meeting place for undergraduates from many eastern colleges during a houseparty. In order to prevent the campus from being taken over by these visitors the schools has an established card system. To gain admittance to a house an outsider needs to present an authorized invitation. In spite of this barrier a number of Colgate students appeared and proceeded to be bad guests, causing serious damage to the Phi Delta house. As a result the Undergraduate Council at Williams has sent a letter of complaint to the Colgate student government. The Williams group also voted to review the entire guest card system on the basis of its apparent failure during the recent weekend.

Glancing at the brighter side of things we find that the month of May has brought with it the renewal of several famous college traditions. At Bryn Mawr a raid by spring-fevered Hamilton students failed to prevent the girls from performing their annual Fertility Day ceremony. A huge Maypole is erected on the occasion, the girls form a big circle, each grasping a long ribbon which is attached to the pole. Then they troop around the Maypole, praying for fertility.

The Trumbull Beer and Bike Race, an annual excuse for Yale men to pedal to Vassar brought, with it "beer, noise, and gaiety" as well as the cyclists, the Vassar News reported. The Elis don team colors and down seven quarts of beer en route to the Poughkeepsie school.

Every year Wellesley Seniors, garbed in caps and gowns, take part in the May Day hoop race. The girls roll hoops over a rigorous course laid out in the college playground. To add to the sport it has become traditional for Harvard undergraduates to effect a disguise, hide near the finish line, and then attempt to surprise and defeat their opponents. To avert the more than likely possibility that the Harvard men will be there, Wellesley freshmen are stationed along the track with the authority to dunk any and all fakers in nearby Lake Waban. One Cambridge sophomore would have succeeded in the endeavor if it were not for the starting line costumed in multi-colored peasant skirts, substituting hoops made out of coat hangers. They were also within a few yards of the goal before the Wellesley freshmen managed to stop them. The victor: A fourth year winning Senior who now is complaining of laryngitis and describes herself as a "physical wreck."

They will do infinite damage to the academic community.

To the query, what practical difference does it make whether administrators or professors welcome such investigations? there is a superficial cogency. Whether we welcome them or not, we have to attend and we have to answer under the duress of pain and penalty. But the question of our attitude will not down, for the response of the academic community to such investigations has deep implications

Bertram Varney Dies At Age Of 52; College Employee Since 1929

Bertram A. Varney, a college employee since 1929 and a lifelong resident of Brunswick, died suddenly at his home Monday May 4th.

The late Mr. Varney was born in Brunswick November 4, 1901 the son of Kingsbury M. and Lizzie Fuller Varney. He was educated in the local schools and in 1931 married the former Charlotte A. Reed. He was a member of Dirigo Grade and was a member of Fort George No. 3, K of P.

The former janitor of Winthrop Hall is survived by his wife, three brothers: Ralph G. Varney Sr., Benjamin Earl Varney, and Robert K. Varney; two sisters: Mrs. Ruth E. Weybrant and Mrs. Margaret E. Warming, all of Brunswick. His brother Benjamin Earl Varney is now the janitor of Appleton Hall.

Funeral services were held last Thursday afternoon at his home on Maine Street, with Rev. James A. Doubleday '41 officiating. He was buried in Riverside Cemetery.

Late Winthrop Janitor

Bertram A. Varney

tion and New York City counsel has advised them they cannot discard it—if they would. If I were a college administrator or faculty member with power in the matter, I would certainly regard a resort to the Fifth Amendment not as a final presumption of guilt but at least arousing a suspicion of something further and broader investigation of all the circumstances involved

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

(Continued on Page 4)

In such individual cases. I would not hamper my freedom of decision in the matter by any preliminary welcome to current Congressional investigations, or by any conditional reflex to their findings. For it is quite clear that those bent upon purging our faculties of elements they regard as undesirable feel they have at last found in the appeal to the Fifth Amendment the gadget for dealing with problems whose complexities they neither can nor will understand. The summons, the question, the automatic discharge,—all these are the equivalent of Senator McCarthy's reiterated appeal to the lie detector, or more closely resemble the test applied to witches in the Middle Ages: throw them into the water; if they float they are guilty and if they sink they were innocent.

But the arguments that have gathered around the refusal to answer under the Fifth Amendment have not all been legalistic. They have taken on a moral tone and the resulting statements of principle, sometimes thoughtlessly made, have disturbing implications for individual citizens, for our institutions of higher learning, and for the very nature of our democracy. Thus Chafee and Sutherland start their opinion, from which I have already quoted, with the statement: "The underlying principle to remember in considering the subject is the duty of the citizen to cooperate in government." Both New York University and Rutgers University have recently applied in more specific fashion this obiter dictum.

The administration of the former institution, in seeking the dismissal of Edwin Berry Burgum, a member for nearly thirty years of its English Department, cited his refusal to answer several questions put by a Senate investigating committee as "violating an obligation of a member of the teaching profession" and "as conduct unbecoming a teacher." Recently also the trustees of Rutgers University, with the concurrence of President L. W. Jones, dismissed two professors for invoking the Fifth Amendment before the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security. One of the professors subsequently assured the president that he had not been nor was he a Communist; a faculty committee after a prolonged investigation recommended the University take no action against either teacher. Nonetheless their careers at Rutgers were terminated on the ground that "a university teacher has an obligation to answer the questions of a legally constituted investigatory

(Continued on Page 4)

Student Patronage Solicited

First National Bank
Brunswick, Maine

Member of the Federal Reserve System and Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

But only time will tell...

I'M GOING TO GET A SOFT JOB FOR THE SUMMER. LITTLE WORK AND LOTS OF DOUGH!

YOU'LL PROBABLY COME BACK NEXT FALL FAT AND RICH!

HOW 'BOUT TAKIN' ME AS YOUR VALET?

HOW CAN THEY TELL SO SOON? HE MAY DISCOVER THAT MONEY DOESN'T GROW ON TREES!

Only time will tell about a summer job! And only time will tell about a cigarette! Take your time...

Test CAMELS for 30 days for MILDNESS and FLAVOR

THERE MUST BE A REASON WHY Camel is America's most popular cigarette—leading all other brands by billions! Camels have the two things smokers want most—rich, full flavor and cool, cool mildness... pack after pack! Try Camels for 30 days and see how mild, how flavorful, how thoroughly enjoyable they are as your steady smoke!

E. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

More People Smoke CAMELS than any other cigarette

POLAR BEARINGS

By Robert M. Hurst '54, ORIENT Sports Editor
Mickey Mantle's colossal clout in Washington's Griffith Stadium has sent rabid fans scurrying to the record books and has sparked widespread discussion in general with the accent on the real long pokes and the circuit drives that might be rated as oddities.
Dan Daniel in his column in the Sporting News writes about a few of the craziest home runs he has ever seen. In commenting on the oldest and longest homer he had ever witnessed Mr. Daniel tells of the one which George Cutshaw second baseman of the Dodgers, clinched the pennant in 1916 against the Phillies at Ebbetts Field. The right field wall at that time was some 155 feet high. Now there is a tall screen top of that concrete barrier with clearance 40 feet above field level.
Cutshaw drove a liner to the base of the concrete wall. The ball picked up a lot of crazy English and started to climb the fence. It seemed that it went up inch by inch. Finally it reached the top of the wall and dropped into Bedford Avenue.
Another odd homer in Mr. Daniel's experience is the blast off the bat of Jimmie Fox in Yankee Stadium with Lefty Gomez on the mound. The odd part was not in its execution but in what preceded it.
Fox was in his heyday with the Athletics feared by all pitchers especially by the left-handers. With Jimmie standing at the plate, Bill Dickie sent out the sign for the pitch, and Gomez shook it off. Dickey called for another pitch, and once more Gomez shook him off. Finally the Yankee backstop strode out to the mound and asked Lefty to stop fooling and pitch.
"Bill, I just don't want to throw the ball at all," said Gomez. Dickey went back to his crouch. El Goof threw the curve, and Double X blasted into the top deck of the left field stands.
Then there is also the famous home run that wasn't a home run and it cost Lou Gehrig the man who hit it, the home run championship. Lou hit the ball over the right field wall in Griffith Stadium with Lynn Lary on first base back in 1931. Lary who occasionally had a lapse of memory, as Daniel points out; jogged past second, touched third, and headed into the dugout. Gehrig was dumfounded when he was called out at home plate for passing Lary on the bases. It wasn't merely a home run that the Iron Man lost it was sole ownership of the American League home run championship. When the season closed it was discovered that the Lou and Babe Ruth had tied for the crown with 46 roundtrippers apiece.
A Stadium drive which would have been a homer today but which at the time was only the longest double in the history of the park, was exploded by Tony Lazzeri. As Dan Daniel tells the story, the ball landed in the left field bullpen which in those days was not fenced off. The point at which the ball struck was more than 400 feet from the plate. The ball was in play. Something happened and the missile bounded high in the air into the left field bleachers for a ground rule double of some 460 feet. Nobody yet has ever driven a fair ball out of Yankee Stadium.
The homiest home run recalled was hit by Max Flack of the Cubs in July, 1921 against the Giants at Wrigley Field, Chicago. Flack and his family lived in a second floor apartment across the street from the right field wall. Max belted his homer right into his living room. He got himself a baseball, but lost a windowpane in the deal.
The Bowdoin golfers were shut out in the qualifying round of the New England Collegiate Championships. Jim Cook missed by a scant two strokes as he carded a 78.
Colby wallowed hapless Bates 16 to 0 in a state series game at Waterville. Mac Andrews, who handcuffed Bowdoin earlier in the season, did the hurting for the winners.
Amherst launched its Little Three baseball series with a 2-1 win over Williams. Bowdoin beat both clubs on the southern road trip.

Bowdoin Takes First Golf Match, Down Colby By 15 1/2 To 11 1/2

Bowdoin won its first golf match of the season by defeating Colby 15 1/2-11 1/2, as Dick Stimels and Jim Cook turned in rounds of 77 and 78 respectively last Wednesday afternoon at Brunswick.
The margin of victory for Bowdoin was found in their four singles wins, while Colby amassed most of their total in the foursome. Bowdoin previously had lost to Maine and Bates.
The summary:
Dick Stimels (B) 2, Dick Jones (C) 1; Al Werksman (B) 2 1/2, Bob Carr (C) 1/2; best ball, Bowdoin 2, Colby 1.
Tim Cook (B) 3/4, Phil Kilmeister (C) 2 1/4; Paul Revere (B) 2 1/4, Dick Skelley (C) 3/4; best ball, Colby 2 1/2, Bowdoin 3/4.
Jim Cook (B) 3, Dino Sirakides (C) 0; Dick Carleton (B) 1, Freeman Sleeper (C) 2; best ball, Bowdoin 1 1/2, Colby 1 1/2.

Bowdoin Gift Of Used Athletic Gear Received By Barcelona Citizen

That Bowdoin's policy has increased the international reputation of the College was demonstrated recently in an exchange of letters between Ramon Melet Pinto, coach of a young boy's Basketball team in Barcelona, and Malcolm E. Morrell, Bowdoin Athletic Director.
Mr. Melet Pinto wrote Mr. Morrell last November asking if the College could spare any Basketball equipment. He explained that American Basketball gear is almost impossible to obtain in Spain and what little there is, costs too much.
In December the College sent Mr. Melet Pinto some old athletic equipment and last month received the following letter in reply.
Dear Sir,
In its due time I received your news telling me about the "package" you sent. I must tell you that it has reached me in good condition. I can't find words to tell you my gratefulness for your kindness in attending to my request. For my part, if I can ever be of any service to you please write me and I will do my best to comply with your wishes.
Sincerely yours,
Ramon Melet Pinto
This grateful appreciation for some old shoes and basketballs shows that our foreign policy

Bowdoin Freshmen In 11-2 Win Over Exeter; Ayer Scatters 4 Hits

The Bowdoin freshmen ran over Exeter Academy, 11-2, last Saturday.
Lefty Ayer pitched well for the Polar Cubs, being very stingy with the base hits. After the first inning, in which Exeter scored two runs, Ayer gave up only two singles for the rest of the game.
John Libby, Bowdoin shortstop, was the big gun for the freshmen. He was at bat six times and reached base five of those times with two singles, a double, two walks, one into a fielder's choice in his last appearance at the plate.
Besides Libby's three hits, Kreider, Plasse, and Rigby picked up two hits apiece. The Frosh also completed four twin killings. Half of Exeter's hits were picked up by Capt. Mike O'Hearn, who singled and doubled.
Box score:
Exeter (21) ab r h o e
Kreider, cf 2 2 1 0 0
Plasse, cf 4 3 3 0 2
Harris, rf 4 1 0 0 0
Libby, ss 4 3 2 2 2
Rigby, 2b 3 0 0 0 0
Gota, lb 3 1 0 0 0
Murray, cf 1 0 0 0 0
Hesselson, c 1 0 0 0 0
Ayer, p 3 0 0 1 2
Totals 32 10 27 3 1
Bowdoin (2) ab r h o e
Berthoin, cf 2 0 0 0 0
O'Hearn, lf 3 1 0 0 1
Sargent, 2b 2 2 7 0 2
Linscott, 3b 4 1 5 0 0
Olson, rf 4 0 2 4 4
Durant, lf 2 0 0 0 0
Bariljeane, rf 2 0 0 2 0
Renaud, cf 3 0 1 1 4
Hubbell, c 3 1 1 0 1
Seaton, p 3 0 0 27 18
Totals 30 10 27 22 18
Bowdoin 30 10 27 22 18
Exeter 21 2 11 20 11
E. Sargent 2; Libby, Linscott, R. Plasse 4; Kreider 2; Ayer 2; Libby, Rigby, Berthoin, O'Hearn, 2B-O'Hearn, Kreider, Libby, 3B-Plasse, 2B-Hubbell, BB-Seaton, 2; Ave 7, 30-11; 2; Seaton 6, U-Couture and Athanas.

Bowdoin Squares Baseball Record With Bates Victory

By G. Curtis Webber '55
Bowdoin's off and on Polar Bears took a 9-6 state series win from Bates behind Louie Audet last Friday at Pickard Field to bring their series record to two wins and two losses. They remain in third place, a game back of second place Colby and a game and a half behind Maine.
Bates scored twice in the first inning on two singles and a pair of errors. Bowdoin came back with four tallies in their half, however, as Wally Bartlett opened with a sharp single to left, McGovern beat out a bunt and Fred Flemming gave the major league scouts present an eyeful as he parked the ball over the right field fence for a three run homer. Barry Nichols singled, stole, and scored on Corby Wolfe's single to make it 4-2.
Actually Marshall was tagged out over sliding third base as he tried for two after the wild pick-off throw. The umpires waved him back to second however, ruling one base on an overthrow of first base. Bates starter, Dave Higgins, was removed after the first two men had reached safely and was replaced by Dave Crowley who pitched creditably for the remainder of the game.
In The Fifth
Audet blanked the Bobcats through the second, third and fourth innings, but in the fifth, Hall led off by reaching on McGovern's bunt. He stole second and went on to third on a wild pitch, and scored on Herb Morton's single, making the score 6-3.
A Wolfe single and an Audet double got the run back for the Polar Bears in their half of the inning. They added another in the sixth as McGovern led off with a

Eighth Inning Action In The Tufts Game

Photo by Gaston

Pictures Of Bowdoin Win At State Meet

Bowdoin relief hurler Hal Anthony is shown about to field a Tufts bunt during the eighth inning of Saturday's game which the visitors took 6-5. The picture, taken from high above Pickard Field, shows all the Bowdoin players except left fielder Wally Bartlett. Shown in addition to Anthony are Dick Marshall, first baseman Jack Cosgrove, second baseman Frank Vecella, shortstop Corby Wolfe, third baseman Johnny McGovern, center fielder Fred Flemming, and right fielder Barry Nichols.

Bowdoin Squares Baseball Record With Bates Victory

By G. Curtis Webber '55
Bowdoin's off and on Polar Bears took a 9-6 state series win from Bates behind Louie Audet last Friday at Pickard Field to bring their series record to two wins and two losses. They remain in third place, a game back of second place Colby and a game and a half behind Maine.
Bates scored twice in the first inning on two singles and a pair of errors. Bowdoin came back with four tallies in their half, however, as Wally Bartlett opened with a sharp single to left, McGovern beat out a bunt and Fred Flemming gave the major league scouts present an eyeful as he parked the ball over the right field fence for a three run homer. Barry Nichols singled, stole, and scored on Corby Wolfe's single to make it 4-2.
Actually Marshall was tagged out over sliding third base as he tried for two after the wild pick-off throw. The umpires waved him back to second however, ruling one base on an overthrow of first base. Bates starter, Dave Higgins, was removed after the first two men had reached safely and was replaced by Dave Crowley who pitched creditably for the remainder of the game.
In The Fifth
Audet blanked the Bobcats through the second, third and fourth innings, but in the fifth, Hall led off by reaching on McGovern's bunt. He stole second and went on to third on a wild pitch, and scored on Herb Morton's single, making the score 6-3.
A Wolfe single and an Audet double got the run back for the Polar Bears in their half of the inning. They added another in the sixth as McGovern led off with a

Zete, TD Maintain Lead In Softball Race; Beta, Sigma Nu Next

The Zetes and TD's held their leads in Leagues A and B, respectively, as both teams won their games last week.
In League A, the Zetes downed Chi Psi, 10-3, and the Beta's, 8-4, for their fourth and fifth victories in as many starts. Kappa Sigma painted the Dokes, 21-0, and lost to Psi U's in a much closer contest, 4-3. In the other game in Division A, the Beta's defeated the Independents.
Three games were played in League B.
Theta Delta Sigma Nu 4 4 0
ARU 3 2 2
Phi U Sigma 3 2 2
ATO 1 3 3
Alpha Delta 1 3 3

HOOD'S PLACE
180 Maine Street
ICE COLD BEER
AND ALE
TO TAKE OUT
HOT DOGS
ITALIAN SANDWICHES
WE DELIVER
TO COLLEGE

Fordham University
School of Law
NEW YORK
Three-Year Day Course
Four-Year Evening Course
CO-EDUCATIONAL
Member of Assn. of American Law Schools
Matriculants must be College graduates and present full transcript of College record
CLASSES BEGIN SEPT. 28, 1953
For further information address
REGISTRAR
FORDHAM UNIVERSITY-SCHOOL OF LAW
302 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y.

BOWL-MOR
Alleys
Student Patronage
Welcomed
186 Maine Street

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it...
Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money.
TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY
ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS
The Record Office
Paul K. Niven Jerry Wilkes
Printers Of The Orient

Polar Bear Tennis Team Divides With Bates, Colby

By Joseph Y. Rogers '55
Niemann again was a double winner, joining with Clark to defeat Lowery and Crosby in Bowdoin's only doubles win. The other doubles contests which were won by Colby took the maximum number of sets.
Playing against Bates at Lewiston, Coach Sam Ladd's team started the season off on the right foot. Defending State intercollegiate singles champion Bill Clark led the way by winning his singles match against Prothero, and then teaming up with Bill Niemann for a doubles victory over Prothero and Reuling. Niemann also was a double victor, winning his singles match over Dave Dick in two sets.
The two singles matches won by Bates were anything but easy conquests. Moose Friedlander gave Bates' Captain Alan Goddard a difficult time before finally succumbing after three sets and 39 games. In the other match Skip Howard made things no easier for Adrian Auger, who needed a 14-game third set to notch the win. In the other Bates victory came in the doubles, where Dick and Mutter stopped Bowdoin Capt. Bruce Hindle and Jim Wilson in three sets.
Colby Win Undecided
The Polar Bear didn't fare as well against Colby in a home engagement. In the contest which was much closer than the score might indicate, Colby won four of the singles competition and two of the doubles.
However, a look at the scores show that it wouldn't have taken much for a few of Colby's victories to be turned into defeats.
Wins by Bowdoin in the singles were by Niemann, who stopped Lowery in three sets, and Hindle, who won easily over Colby's Ullman. In the other singles matches, Clark fell before Crosby, and Friedlander likewise fell victim to Gordon; Howard and Ben Ford were outlasted by Lavin and Baer, respectively, both of these matches taking three sets before they were decided.
Doubles
Friedlander-Howard (Bow.) defeated Goddard-Auger 6-3, 6-1; Clark-Niemann (Bow.) defeated Prothero-Reuling 6-2, 4-6, 6-2; Mutter-Dick (Bates) defeated Wilson-Hindle 6-2, 6-3, 6-3.
Bowdoin-Colby
Crosby (C) defeated Clark 6-3, 6-3; Gordon (C) defeated Friedlander 6-3, 6-3; Niemann (B) defeated Lowery 3-6, 6-3, 9-7; Lavin (C) defeated Howard 7-5, 6-4; Hindle (B) defeated Ullman 6-1, 6-4; Baer (C) defeated Ford 6-4, 3-6, 8-6.
Doubles
Lavin-Gordon (C) defeated Friedlander-Howard 6-1, 0-6, 6-4; Clark-Niemann (B) defeated Lowery and Crosby 7-5, 6-3; Wallingford-Baer (C) defeated Hindle-Ford 3-6, 8-6, 6-4.

(Continued From Page 1)
doin. Fred Cameron garnered a second in his specialty, the two mile run.
The setting at Lewiston was ideal for the track meet, as the bright sun brought the temperature up to a warm 80.
The freshmen mile relay team turned in an amazing upset victory. It was the first time this season that any frosh trackmen did anything worth noting, since the talent has been unusually slim in Magee charges. The sophomore prospects for next year are dim.
Much credit is due the upper two grades' disciplinarians and track coaches, colorful Jack Magee and workhorse Frank Sebasteanski, for molding this year's squad into a fine unit.
Javelin — 1. Howell, Bates; 2. Fraktman, Colby; 3. Tolson, Maine. Distance, 171 feet, 1 3/8 inches.
Harrow Throw — 1. Flemming, Bowdoin; 2. Biers, Bowdoin; 3. Meyer, Maine. Distance, 21 feet 9 inches.
Hammer Throw — 1. Wasag, Bowdoin; 2. Acostello, Bowdoin; 3. Holmes, Bates.
Shot Put — 1. Bordanovich, Maine; 2. Farrington, Bowdoin; 3. Cowan, Bates. Distance, 44 feet.
Discus — 1. Holmes, Bates; 2. Acostello, Bowdoin; 3. Tutman, Bates. Distance, 142 feet.
Shot Put — 1. Lincoln, Maine; Washburn, Maine; Smith, Maine; and Osborne, Bates (tied for second). Height, 12 feet, 3 inches.
High Jump — 1. Lallier, Colby; 2. Meyer, Maine; 3. Niemann, Maine and Barrows, Bates (tie). 6 feet, 3/4 inches.
100-Yard Run — 1. Goldsmith, Bates; 2. LaFrance, Bowdoin. Time, 1:51.7.
80-Yard Run — 1. Goldsmith, Bates; 2. LaFrance, Bowdoin. Time, 1:52.3.
200-Yard High Hurdles — 1. Getchell, Bowdoin; 2. Calkin, Maine; 3. Knight, Bowdoin. Time, 2:58.8.
100-Yard Run — 1. Biggs, Bowdoin; 2. Calkin, Maine; 3. Weis, Bowdoin. Time, 1:51.1.
2 Mile Run — 1. MacLean, Maine; 2. Cameron, Bates; 3. Trearick, Bowdoin. Time, 10:47.4.
800-Yard Run — 1. Goldsmith, Bates; 2. LaFrance, Bowdoin. Time, 4:56.5.
200-Yard High Hurdles — 1. Getchell, Bowdoin; 2. Calkin, Maine; 3. Knight, Bowdoin. Time, 2:58.8. (New Meet Record, old meet record was 2:51.1 set by Getchell last year.)
440-Yard Run — 1. Ray, Bates; Abbott, Bates and McKinnon, Bates (tie). Time, 2:01.1.
100-Yard Run — 1. Block, Bowdoin; 2. Weis, Bowdoin; 3. Getchell, Bowdoin. Time, :32.2.

Tufts Edges Polar Bear Varsity 6-5 With Two Ninth Inning Runs

Bowdoin lost a closely-fought game to Tufts, 6-5, last Saturday at Pickard Field.
The Polar Bears started off in good fashion, scoring three runs in the first inning. Hits by Walt Bartlett, John McGovern and Barry Nichols plus two errors resulted in the three runs.
It was the ninth inning which spelled defeat for Bowdoin, as the Jumbo came up with two runs off Hal Anthony. With one out, Bennett doubled, Myers walked, and Schmidt singled, an infield out and a passed ball accounted for the two runs.
Jim Hebert pitched 6 1/2 innings for Bowdoin, before giving way to Anthony. Hebert gave up only two runs, both of them in the fourth. Anthony allowed a run in the eighth on a walk, sacrifice, and two singles.
The Polar Bears had been in front until the fateful ninth, when Tufts rallied to their runs. After their three runs in the first, Bowdoin won in League A, the Zetes downed Chi Psi, 10-3, and the Beta's, 8-4, for their fourth and fifth victories in as many starts. Kappa Sigma painted the Dokes, 21-0, and lost to Psi U's in a much closer contest, 4-3. In the other game in Division A, the Beta's defeated the Independents.
Three games were played in League B.
Theta Delta Sigma Nu 4 4 0
ARU 3 2 2
Phi U Sigma 3 2 2
ATO 1 3 3
Alpha Delta 1 3 3

Locke's Last Concert

(Continued from Page 1)
brass and women's voices. Soloists in the concerto were Gordon W. Stearns Jr., '54, Gerard L. Dube '55 and David W. Holmes '56. Other soloists appearing in the concert were David B. Starkweather '56, who played the Honeger Sonata for Clarinet and Piano with Frederick C. Wilkins '56 and Joel H. Hopper '54, who performed the Sixth Concert for Flute and Bass Continuo by Couperin with Holmes.
Four Russian Peasant Songs by Igor Stravinsky were performed by the women's chorus. The choral groups included German, French and Italian works of the renaissance.
Walker Art Building: Woodcuts by Louise Kruger and prints and gouaches by Rudolph Weisauer.
Hubbard Hall: Some useful reference books.
Parker Cleaveland Hall: Pre-Colonial American metals.

Sensational New Advance in Golf Clubs

SPALDING
Synchro-Lyned

Every club has identical contact feel... amazing ease of shot control
They will do more to save you strokes than any clubs you ever played.
Using an entirely new and exclusive scientific formula, Spalding creates these clubs with centers of gravity in absolutely coordinated sequence. Every wood, every iron, has identical contact feel... gives you amazing ease of shot control!
You make tough shots look easy. Your timing is uniform. You get the ball away straighter. You shoot the pin instead of the green. You get lower scores, consistently.
See your Spalding dealer or golf professional.

Text Of Kirkland Speech

(Continued from Page 3) body concerning membership in the Communist Party." The pamphlet explaining this decision, published at university expense and widely distributed— I received no less than three copies— is entitled Academic Freedom and Civic Responsibility.

Although the documents here under scrutiny do not always state distinctions with precision, the inference is justified that they are operating under the Chafee and Sutherland statement of a duty of cooperation owed by citizens to the government or its agencies. I am concerned now with this duty solely as a reason for academic dismissals. At once the careful academic administrator will ask: What are the details and what is the extent of this civic duty or obligation? Where is it formulated with precision and authority? For instance was Nicholas Murray Butler indeed justified in World War I in dismissing from Columbia University the eminent scholar and economist, Professor J. M. Cattell, because he wrote to his congressman protesting the passage of the draft act? Such was not the opinion of one of Cattell's eminent colleagues, Charles A. Beard, who resigned in protest, nor of the American Association of University Professors. Are institutions of higher learning justified in wartime in dismissing from their faculty conscientious objectors of draft age though the Selective Service Act makes legal provision for their exemption? The American Association of University Professors has ruled otherwise and I believe moderate opinion generally holds that a college and university is not justified in dismissing professors on the ground that their pacifist convictions violate a civic obligation to their government. Is a university administrator justified in dismissing a professor who in war advocates the making of peace? The ground for such a dismissal may very well be that it is the citizen's duty, as Chafee and Sutherland argue, "to cooperate in government." What if a professor opposes the peace aim of a United States president? During World War I a committee of the American Association of University Professors, headed by the distinguished philosopher, Arthur O. Lovejoy, declared in the intensity of that crusade that "to desire anything less than the realization of the essential objects which have been set forth by the president of the United States is to desire the triumph of moral evil in the world." In view of these convictions the committee exhibited commendable restraint in feeling that those who differed from the Wilsonian program should not be dismissed from college faculties.

Nor is the issue of obligation or duty made any easier by a consideration of those likely to define it. In the absence of any other Sanhedron, we might turn to the faculties in our quest for answers. Even on the issue of Communist teachers the profession is divided. If we turn to college presidents and their boards, the definition of duty will vary from campus to campus. While President Jones and his trustees are dismissing professors because their plea of self-incrimination does not fulfill their civic obligations, President Johnson of Temple, entrusted with the harassed voice of America, announces that henceforth the broadcasts from that agency will not stress dishwashers and streamliners but "our belief that a man should not be required to do as the government wishes him to do."

Actually anyone with experience knows that the chief formulators of a citizen's duties will be the special interest groups and the patrioters, the self-righteous, the busybodies, and that unhappily large number of Americans who feel that it is their duty to lay down the duty of others and make them perform it. In fact an emphasis upon duty and obligation in this matter of academic tenure and freedom will introduce that form of tyranny against which our enlightened forefathers were constantly on guard when they wrote and spoke of their preference for government of law and not of men. Though it is desirable that the nation have the good will and the love of its citizens and that it shall so act as to deserve this deeper loyalty, all that government in the last analysis can demand of its citizens is obedience to the laws. The university and college in the matters of appointment and retention will be wise to require no more from its professors than this simple obligation. Capricious, contradictory, and impromptu definitions of civic duty are not sufficient justification for denying a man of learning that tenure and freedom which is the very breath of his calling.

Nor does the danger in this concept of welcome, of cooperation, of civic obligation stop here. Such thinking operates on the assumption that the government is benign, perhaps even infallible. The founders of this nation who had looked upon the bare face of governmental tyranny and found it intolerable had far different notions. That generation read with approval Tom Paine's utterance "that government like dress is the badge of our lost innocence." The Constitution they formed established a government of limited powers; reserved the rest to the states or the people; and in the first ten amendments put beyond the reach of tyranny and popular majorities the rights of the individual citizen. Enlightened Americans of a later time reiterated these insights. If there were room on their library buildings, colleges and universities might well engrave thereon Emerson's classic sentence: "The state is a poor good beast who means the best; it means friendly, a poor cow who does well by you, so do not grudge it its hay. Take this handful of clover and welcome. But if you go to hook me when I walk in the fields, then poor cow I will cut your throat." It used to be a poor good beast who means the best; it means friendly, a poor cow who does well by you, so do not grudge it its hay. Take this handful of clover and welcome. But if you go to hook me when I walk in the fields, then poor cow I will cut your throat." It used to be a poor good beast who means the best; it means friendly, a poor cow who does well by you, so do not grudge it its hay. Take this handful of clover and welcome.

Indeed it is difficult for the present generation, accustomed to the New Deal and the Fair Deal when governmental power was identified with the welfare of the downtrodden and the underprivileged, when government was described as "all of us," to remember that the state can be hostile to the citizens' interests and, far from favoring, may actually endanger the highest principles and aspirations of mankind. Alas, this could be true of our own country. Just as many of the essential objects which have been set forth by the president of the United States is to desire the triumph of moral evil in the world." In view of these convictions the committee exhibited commendable restraint in feeling that those who differed from the Wilsonian program should not be dismissed from college faculties.

Nor is the issue of obligation or duty made any easier by a consideration of those likely to define it. In the absence of any other Sanhedron, we might turn to the faculties in our quest for answers. Even on the issue of Communist teachers the profession is divided. If we turn to college presidents and their boards, the definition of duty will vary from campus to campus. While President Jones and his trustees are dismissing professors because their plea of self-incrimination does not fulfill their civic obligations, President Johnson of Temple, entrusted with the harassed voice of America, announces that henceforth the broadcasts from that agency will not stress dishwashers and streamliners but "our belief that a man should not be required to do as the government wishes him to do."

Actually anyone with experience knows that the chief formulators of a citizen's duties will be the special interest groups and the patrioters, the self-righteous, the busybodies, and that unhappily large number of Americans who feel that it is their duty to lay down the duty of others and make them perform it. In fact an emphasis upon duty and obligation in this matter of academic tenure and freedom will introduce that form of tyranny against which our enlightened forefathers were constantly on guard when they wrote and spoke of their preference for government of law and not of men. Though it is desirable that the nation have the good will and the love of its citizens and that it shall so act as to deserve this deeper loyalty, all that government in the last analysis can demand of its citizens is obedience to the laws. The university and college in the matters of appointment and retention will be wise to require no more from its professors than this simple obligation. Capricious, con-

ROTC Unit To Hold Third Annual Review

On next Monday afternoon at 3:15 p.m. the Bowdoin ROTC will hold its third annual review and inspection on Whittier Field.

The faculty and townspeople have been invited to watch this impressive ceremony at which the entire regiment will march. It is expected that a large delegation of reserve officers of the Maine Military District will also attend. The review and inspection will be followed by a Retreat Parade on the campus.

Among the invited guests are Lieutenant General Withers A. Burress, Commanding General, First Army, and Mrs. Burress; Major General Edmund B. Sebre, Deputy Commanding General, First Army; Major General Roderick A. Allen, Commanding General, Fort Devens, and Mrs. Allen; Major Thomas F. Shea, Executive Officer, 654th Air Force Squadron; Major M. D. Barnes, Commanding Officer, 654th Air Force Squadron; Major General Frank Lowe, N.S.A.R. Rtd.; Lt. Commander Raymond Fish, U.S.C.R.; President and Mrs. James S. Coles; Dean and Mrs. Nathaniel C. Merrill; Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. M. Sils; Captain and Mrs. Elmer R. Hill, U.S.N. Rtd.; Captain John Spiller; Major General and Mrs. Wallace C. Phillon, Brigadier General Rtd.; Brigadier General Alonzo Holmes and Mrs. Holmes; and Colonel George W. Palmer, Chief Maine Military District, and Mrs. Palmer.

passions, the special interests, the fallacies, and the shortsightedness displayed by men in the political process and elsewhere. In the exercise of this function we neither claim infallibility nor grant it to others. Luckily in performing it, we can rely upon no coercive power but must depend upon our ability to persuade men's minds.

In the present battle to preserve the freedom of higher education we need a consciousness of our own resources. There are statesmen with us. As Senator Robert A. Taft, the magnificent conservative put it: "As a member of the board of trustees of a university, I would not favor firing anyone simply for being a communist unless I was certain he was teaching Communism or having some effect on the development of the students." There are alumni with us; their influence and interest should be quickened and organized. When discouraged by the conspicuous timidity and short-sightedness of some college presidents, let us recall that there are dozens of unsung administrators fighting off the attacks of angry or perplexed correspondents and seeking to educate them in the true meaning of higher education. As a makeshift to Sprout of California and Allen of Washington, others in large or small measure have had the courage to defend freedom and accused professors: Conant of Harvard, Baxter of Williams, Blanding of Vassar, and Taylor of Sarah Lawrence. It is no derogation of their firmness and wisdom to point out that it is professors who at hearings from Rutgers to Washington have written the reports against the dismissal of real or alleged Communists and who from California to Oklahoma have refused to sign test oaths, putting thereby to the hazard their livelihood and reputation. Mindful of such magnificence, we can do no less than fight for our freedoms as teachers and our rights as American citizens. If we are men, we can yet write a new chapter in the testament of freedom.

On the left as one enters the door are the three refrigerators or "reefers" as they are called by those familiar with them. The refrigerators run three quarters of the way from the floor to the ceiling and are furnished with hooks for holding sides of beef and trays for smaller cuts. Straight ahead is the spacious office where the business of the warehouse is carried on. On the right is the storage room for dry stocks.

Following the founding of the Centralized Dining Service, the College used the cold storage room at the Brunswick Naval Air Station which at that time was inactive. When the Base was reactivated in early 1951, Bowdoin was forced to relinquish this space and seek

College Centralized Dining Service Building Little Known To Students

Standing at the end of Whittier Street near Pickard Field is the College Warehouse, a building not familiar to many Bowdoin men. The structure, a one story battery-gate rectangular building, is approximately 75 by 45 feet. Although the architects of the building were McKim, Mead, and White, the exterior, completely functional, shows none of the features which have marked their other works on the Bowdoin campus.

A sign within the building proclaims its purpose. Its approximate wording is, "The food in this building is for Bowdoin fraternities and the Moulton Union, and it is not for private sale." The building serves as the warehouse for the Centralized Dining Service which purchases food in quantity from wholesale houses. The food then is held at the warehouse until it is requisitioned by one of the fraternities or by the Union. The savings in cost which result are handed on to the various users.

On the left as one enters the door are the three refrigerators or "reefers" as they are called by those familiar with them. The refrigerators run three quarters of the way from the floor to the ceiling and are furnished with hooks for holding sides of beef and trays for smaller cuts. Straight ahead is the spacious office where the business of the warehouse is carried on. On the right is the storage room for dry stocks.

Following the founding of the Centralized Dining Service, the College used the cold storage room at the Brunswick Naval Air Station which at that time was inactive. When the Base was reactivated in early 1951, Bowdoin was forced to relinquish this space and seek

Portrait Of Mitchell '90 Unveiled Saturday At Banquet In His Honor

Last Saturday evening at the TD house a portrait of Wilmot Brookings Mitchell '90 was unveiled. The portrait, which was painted by Skip Fletcher, was received as a result of an Alumni drive headed by Dr. Holland McCormack '22 and Charles F. Cummings '25 of Norway, Maine. Before the unveiling, which was attended by numerous alumni and members of the faculty, Wilmot B. Mitchell '33, the grandson of Professor Mitchell, gave a short speech. Later at a banquet, at which Harry L. Palmer '04 was toastmaster, the guest speakers were Dr. McCormack, Judge Arthur L. Chapman, '94, H. Davidson Osgood, Jr. '54 and President James S. Coles.

Students Welcome Although seldom visited by Bowdoin undergraduates, inspection of the building by students is allowed. The structure can be reached by the gateway at the end of Whittier Street which runs left from Maine Street below the Bowdoin Courts. Directors of the Centralized Dining Room Service is Moulton Union Manager Donovan D. Lancaster '27, Assistant Director and Purchasing Agent of the Service is M. Stanley Bishop '25 of South Portland.

When the United States bought Alaska from Russia in 1867, it is estimated that there were about 30,000 people in the area, about two-thirds of whom were Eskimos and Indians.

WBOA Schedule: May 13-19

7:00 New York Times News	12:00 Lark News Roundup
7:05 Sports Feature	12:05 Star Off
7:15 Star News Roundup	7:00 The World In Brief
7:20 Brunswick High School on the Air	7:05 Sports Feature
7:30 Studio News Roundup	7:10 Your Navy Show
8:15 Piano Recital	7:30 Sunday Serenade
8:30 International Star Broadcast	7:45 World News Roundup
9:00 To Be Announced	8:15 The World of Opera
9:25 The World In Brief	10:15 The World In Brief
9:30 Studio News Roundup	11:15 Studio News Roundup
10:30 To Be Announced	12:00 Lark News Roundup
11:00 Studio News Roundup	12:05 Star Off
11:15 Studio News Roundup
11:30 Midnite Special
11:35 Late News Roundup
11:40 Studio News Roundup
11:50 Star Off
12:00 Studio News Roundup
12:05 Star Off
7:00 New York Times News	Monday, May 18
7:05 Sports Feature	7:00 New York Times News
7:15 Star News Roundup	7:05 Sports Feature
7:20 Brunswick High School on the Air	7:10 Your Navy Show
7:30 Studio News Roundup	7:30 Sunday Serenade
8:15 Piano Recital	7:45 World News Roundup
8:30 International Star Broadcast	8:15 The World of Opera
9:00 To Be Announced	10:15 The World In Brief
9:25 The World In Brief	11:15 Studio News Roundup
9:30 Studio News Roundup	12:00 Lark News Roundup
10:30 To Be Announced	12:05 Star Off
11:00 Studio News Roundup
11:15 Studio News Roundup
11:30 Midnite Special
11:35 Late News Roundup
11:40 Studio News Roundup
11:50 Star Off
12:00 Studio News Roundup
12:05 Star Off
7:00 New York Times News	Tuesday, May 19
7:05 Sports Feature	7:00 New York Times News
7:15 Star News Roundup	7:05 Sports Feature
7:20 Brunswick High School on the Air	7:10 Your Navy Show
7:30 Studio News Roundup	7:30 Sunday Serenade
8:15 Piano Recital	7:45 World News Roundup
8:30 International Star Broadcast	8:15 The World of Opera
9:00 To Be Announced	10:15 The World In Brief
9:25 The World In Brief	11:15 Studio News Roundup
9:30 Studio News Roundup	12:00 Lark News Roundup
10:30 To Be Announced	12:05 Star Off
11:00 Studio News Roundup
11:15 Studio News Roundup
11:30 Midnite Special
11:35 Late News Roundup
11:40 Studio News Roundup
11:50 Star Off
12:00 Studio News Roundup
12:05 Star Off

Glee Club Recording, 'Moods And Contrasts', To Be Released Soon

Professor of Music Frederic E. Tilottson announced today that a new Glee Club recording entitled "Moods and Contrasts" will be released on June 1. The record, which represents a departure from the usual college style of recording, will include a complete Glee Club program similar to the one presented this past season in New York's Town Hall. It will be a double-faced 33 rpm unbreakable record lasting for 58 minutes and is now being processed by R.C.A. Victor for its June release.

Professor Tilottson stated that he believed that every undergraduate would be proud to own this extraordinary recording which would last as a fine memory of his college years. The Vice-President of the Glee Club, Donald Hayward '54, is now taking student orders for the record which will cost $4.00. The entire proceeds from the record will be used to defray the expense of its production. THE PROGRAM Rise Sons of Bowdoin Words by Kenneth C. M. Sils Music by Charles T. Burnett. Glorious Apsara. Samved Webb (1743-1818). Echo Song. Orlando di Lasso (1532-1594). Diffusa et gratia Giovanni Maria Nanino (circa 1545-1607) and Now 'Tis Time to Go. J. S. Bach from the Pleasant Cantata. Madelon im Walde (The Maiden in the Woods) Anton Dvorak. Accompanist Gordon Stearns, Jr. '54 To Wagon! (God of Fire) Gustav Holst. Choral Solo from the Big Yoda. I Wonder as I Wander (Apostrophical Carol) arr. by John Jacob Niles. Baritone Solo: Donald Hayward '54. Shir Ha-Emek (Song of the Smek). The Partisan Song arranged for and dedicated to the Bowdoin Glee Club. The Turtle Dove (English Folk Song) arr. by R. Vaughan Williams. Baritone Solo: Donald Hayward, Douglas Reid. Beat! Beat! Drums from "Drum Taps" by Walt Whitman. Music by Charles Martin Loeffler. Gordon Stearns, Jr. and David Holmes, '54. Pianist: Mattia.

Call letters of television and radio stations usually begin with "W" east of the Mississippi and "W" east of the river, although there are a few cases which are reversed, representing stations set up before the system went into effect.

"Matchless Service"

FORD — MERCURY

Sales and Service

Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed USED CARS

Maine's Most Modern Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop

Complete Front End and Frame Alignment

PHONE 860
87 PLASANT STREET - BRUNSWICK, MAINE

BILL'S SPA

Our Specialties
Italian Spaghetti
Pizza Pie
Hot Pastrol
Beer and Ale on Draft and in Bottles

6 1/2 Elm St. Brunswick
Tel. 876

Complete and Friendly Banking Services

Student Accounts Welcomed

Brunswick Branch
FIRST-AUBURN TRUST COMPANY
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Don't you want to try a cigarette with a record like this?

1. THE QUALITY CONTRAST between Chesterfield and other leading cigarettes is a revealing story. Recent chemical analyses give an index of good quality for the country's six leading cigarette brands.

The index of good quality table—a ratio of high sugar to low nicotine—shows Chesterfield quality highest

... 15% higher than its nearest competitor and Chesterfield quality 31% higher than the average of the five other leading brands.

YEARS AHEAD OF THE REST!

Choice of Young America

A recent survey made in 274 leading colleges and universities shows Chesterfield is the largest seller.

- First to Give You Premium Quality in Regular and King-size... much milder with an extraordinarily good taste—and for your pocketbook, Chesterfield is today's best cigarette buy.
- A Report Never Before Made About a Cigarette. For well over a year a medical specialist has been giving a group of Chesterfield smokers regular examinations every two months. He reports...no adverse effects to nose, throat and sinuses from smoking Chesterfield.

BEST FOLLO

Copyright 1953, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Mrs. Coles Seizes Bowdoin Presidency In Sudden Coup D'Etat; Coles Resigns

Joy, Bewilderment, Surprise Meet News Of Lady Prexy

The reaction to the precedent shattering appointment of Mrs. James S. Coles to succeed her husband as President of the College, and her proposed importation of Vassar College was one of mixed joy, bewilderment, and pessimism. Although it would be an understatement to say that the move came as a surprise, there was a certain anonymous student in the Union overheard to remark: "I suspected this was going to happen all along. It's no surprise to me."

Some other anonymous reactions overheard by one of our special agents with a tape recorder went as follows: "Bring them Vassar bums up here? It's a cinch they'll freeze to death before next February." "The College is really in for it now." "Girls, eh? Looks like Westbrook'll have to go out of business"; and "I doubt that the new regime will last long. Maine weather has an enervating effect on all kinds of reformers."

Since our agent's tape recorder broke down when one unhappy student spotted him with it, we were forced to send out another reporter to interview people of note on campus.

Sherman Bickerstaff '55: "Heavens to Betsy!"

Ross Harbinger '55: "I don't believe a word of it. Are you trying to pull my leg?" (Our reporter was NOT.)

J. Harpswell Gunch '53: "I am indeed gratified to find at last someone who appreciates the importance of women in relation to the normal life of the college student. As a major in Sociology..."

Charles Ranlet '54: "My word!"

Wilmot N. Snider '54: "Oh boy, girls!"

J. Popham Beech '55: "Now is the time for all good men..."

Lay Adams '53: "I don't want to graduate, Dean."

Oscar L. Purkey '56: "I may be from Aroostook, Buddy, but you can't fool me."

Lester Armadillo '56: "Ha, ha, I refuse to answer on grounds that — ha, ha — I may incriminate myself, ha, ha, ha."

James Keeney '55: "The problem has most interesting overtones, which I shall not discuss here."

Henry Sleeper '53: "Yay Pow and John Jacob Astor!"

Don Landry '53: "... and don't you think they won't either, Buster?"

James Bowdoin VI '56: "How will it affect the scholastic standing?"

Most members of the Faculty and the Administration refused to make any comment on the situation.

New ORIENT Editor

Charles P. Burgess '54 has been named Editor-in-Chief of the ORIENT at the Bowdoin Publishing Board meeting recently announced. Burgess, noted for his somewhat eccentric and old-fashioned dress, hopes to install some special dog paper which he declares has been sadly lacking in the past.

'Real Ding Buster Of Party' Says Chairman William T. Cowper '54

"Ivy this year is going to be a real ding buster of a party," said William T. Cowper, '54, chairman of the Special Committee for Making Ivy a Real Ding Buster.

"We have added three or four extra features to make this week-end a real success. For instance, not only are we having Elliot Lawrence and the Meddiebumpsters at the dance, we have also obtained Cy Benners and his Shirttail Stompers to play intermission music." He went on to add that such Saturday features as a student-faculty mud pie contest, a special air show, and a tumbling act will be added to the usual activities. "No one need lack for entertainment," Cowper added.

The participants in the student-faculty mud pie contest have not been picked yet, and when they are, the names will not be released, since secrecy is to be one of the features of the contest. The contest will be held on the Mall, with each participant receiving a bucket of mud with which to make mud pies.

There will be three climination heats before two faculty members and two students are left for the final run off, each with a fresh bucket of mud. The lengths of the heats are as yet undetermined. The object of the contest is to make the most mud pies in an allotted period of time. The winner from each side will be awarded a huge concrete layer cake studded with Roman Candles. "There will be no mudslinging at this contest," Cowper added.

Event Of The Year

The air show will be a special event put on by the Airbase, and will consist mainly of complicated formation flying and pet races. "The commander of the air base ruled out stunt flying as too dangerous to all concerned," Cowper said.

The tumbling act is known in theatrical circles as "The Flying Franzinis," and has performed with such circuses as Ringling Brothers and others of national prominence. "This act is really sensational," Cowper said. "It really ought to pack them in." The act will be held in the gym.

Bowdoin College Calendar

- Brunswick, Maine May 22 - May 24, 1953 No. 440A
- Fri. May 22 Chapel, Musical Service, Concerto for Jew's Harp, comb, and washboard, by Dvorak.
- Class: J.V. at Gorham State Teacher's College. 3:00 p.m. Handball, quoits and shuffleboard vs. MIT. 4:15 p.m. Professor Quinby presents (fanfare) "The Swift Sinus", "... a play." N.Y. Times.
- Sat. May 23 IVY DAY. No classes except Sanskrit 11, which will meet at hours to be arranged. 11:00 a.m. Ivy exercises, Frank Sebastianski presiding.
- Sun. May 24 A holiday. Classes not meeting on the 23rd will meet today.

CURRENT EXHIBITS

Walker Art Building: Feethly pectures. Hubbard Hall: Old copies of the Quill, and Jackie's cut book (annotated edition). Parker Cleaveland Hall: Self-lubricating ball bearings.

F. Lilypad, Dry Humorist, Chosen New "Ivy Curtain" Columnist

Champion Fostick Lilypad III of Dumbarton Alders, a pure blooded Boston Terrier who has more talent in his left paw than most of us, has been appointed by Editor Charles P. Burgess '54, of the ORIENT, to take over the Ivy Curtain column next semester.

Fostick, as the dog is usually called, is the property of Patrick Sean O'Duffy '56, of Dumbarton Alders, North Carolina. The dog's services were loaned for a semester to the ORIENT mainly as an experiment.

Fostick first attained some national prominence by copying the "Best Dog in the Show" honors at three straight New York dog shows. It was not until last year that all of his talents were unearthed. He began one morning in June to speak, and with a little

To Write In Fall

C. Fostick Lilypad III training has become proficient in the English language. He cannot write, but will communicate his ideas to his master, who will take them down, and pass them along to the "ORIENT." According to O'Duffy, the dog has quite a flair for humor, "mostly dry."

It is expected that Fostick's columns will treat mainly with a dog's eye view of campus life.

An offer from the Tallman Foundation to hire him as guest lecturer next year was declined, as Fostick himself put it, "because I have no field of specialization."

New Parking Regulation Recently Established By Don T. Potter

Parking and No Parking areas will be defined thus: No parking between the Walker Art Building and the Chapel, no parking between Winthrop Hall and Massachusetts Hall, no parking between Seaside Science Building and Parkers Cleaveland Hall, no parking between Memorial Hall and Hubbard Hall, between Silla Hall and Adams Hall, and between Appleton Hall and the Thorndike Oak. Students may, however, park their automobiles between Hyde Hall and Winthrop Hall, between the Kellogg Fine and Route One, between the heating plant and Whittier Field, along College Street, and in the Fraternity driveways. Thank you for your cooperation.

Long Needed Equipment Given In Alumnus' Will

Benjamin T. Blulawe '06, President and Chairman of the Board of the Snap-a-Tread Tank Trap Corp. of Teaneck, N.J., in his last will and testament, bequeathed to the College "for whatever purpose they see fit" two million feet of iron pipe, 670 rolls of barbed wire, and 85 miles of concrete embankments in Southern France. Included in the bequest was 16 carloads of portable land mines, which, upon the death of his beloved wife, Nellie B., are to be presented to the College.

Pictured above is a group of hardy and snooping for pinks and other off-color characters. The group genially agreed to pose for our photographer in characteristic training costumes. Second from the right may be seen Roscoe L. Anteafer, private eye, special agent for the subcommittee on The Russian Influence on Beer Can Design. Also among those present is Elder Lightfoot who has openly declared war on Parlor Pinks. The presence of sneakers on some of the intrepid G. Men speaks for itself!

Revivalist Rocks Chapel With Ringing Deluge On 'Hell, High Water'

Evangelist Manny Friday spoke in Chapel yesterday in a real old-fashioned revival service on the topic of Hell with High Water.

According to our man Friday the end of the world would arrive this coming weekend and that all God-fearing sinners should cleanse from their hearts all bad traits of character. Friday said that the beginning would come with a renting of the heavens which would last for thirty days and thirty nights without let-up. Having dampened the spirits of the undergraduates Friday followed "Sunday would be the day to begin repenting for all previous sins. For if ye do not, thou shalt perish in Hell with High Water. For unto ye will be brought that day a chance to sink or swim."

Friday ended his deluge with a short appeal to the Sun which glistened on the newly hung college pennants.

Instructor Sol of the Underwater Demolition Department introduced Friday and the choir sang "Wade in the Water."

3 Congressional Investigators To Check Subversive Activities Here

Three representatives of Congressional investigating committees arrived in Brunswick today and intend to remain here for several days in order to investigate the Bowdoin College faculty and students it was announced today by Donovan D. Lanester.

Harold Himmel Veld, who for some reason continues to serve as Chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, will preside when the investigating committee begins its sessions on the Bowdoin Campus. Veld and two other members of the House Committee on Un-American Activities arrived in Brunswick by special limousine. Senator Joseph MacCarthy who was expected to have accompanied Veld and his committee, will not arrive until the end of the week. At present he is busy investigating the staff of Symphony Hall and plans to remain in Boston until after he has heard the Meddiebumpsters and the College Glee Club sing.

Soon after his arrival in Brunswick, Veld told reporters that "we have come here to investigate the faculty and students of Bowdoin College. Vicious rumors have reached us that certain subversive and amorous activities are scheduled to take place at the College during the coming weekend.

"Subversives are amorous and can not possibly be interested in truth for truth's sake. Subversives (whether teachers or students) can not attend classes without trying to sell the party line. We should exterminate them."

The investigators have come to the College as the result of an invitation extended to them in April by the College administration. The Massachusetts Hall has adopted the position expressed so articulately by Dr. Lewis Webster Jones of Rutgers who said on March 21 "all universities (and colleges) should open their doors to investigators," since "it will be an opportunity to show the public what we are like."

This is just the reason why the invitation was extended to the investigators at this time. During the coming Ivy weekend they will have ample opportunity to see just what we, and our dates, are like.

Next Tallman Lecturer

Senor Pedro LasVegas, the new Tallman lecturer, in a characteristic pose. His one horse power vehicle is not hitting on all four.

Daylight Time Helps; Dragons To Gather

In accordance with a recent ruling of the State Legislature, the Fraternity houses will be permitted to remain open one hour longer this weekend, due to the unexpected advent of Daylight Saving Time. They will open as scheduled, however.

There will be an important meeting of all Grand Dragons, Past Grand Dragons, and ordinary Dragons at the Alumni Office, Friday, May 22. Guest speaker will be, of course, St. George.

IMPORTANT!

Anyone caught stealing or otherwise removing posts from the campus will be fined fifty cents. Student Judiciary Comm.

Physics Of Tortillas Subject Of LasVegas '53-'54 Tallman Lecture

The Tallman Foundation has announced that Dr. Pedro P. LasVegas, LL.D., Ph.D., Et.C., of the University of Tampico will be the Tallman lecturer next year. Dr. LasVegas' subject will be in the Physics of Tortillas.

Dr. LasVegas is a native of Mexico, being born in Mexico City in 1911. He was educated in the public schools there, and graduated from the University of Nevada in 1933. He received his Ph.D. from Harvard in 1936. He holds honorary degrees from the Sorbonne, Rollins College, the University of Munich, and Yale.

All interested students are urged to enroll in Dr. LasVegas' course.

Bowdoin-Vassar Merge To Be 1st Project Of New Head

In a sensational coup d'etat, or more fittingly perhaps, coup de college, Mrs. James S. Coles today seized the Presidency of the College, thus becoming the first woman president in Bowdoin history. Mrs. Coles, wife of the former President, issued the following statement to the press:

"The Governing Boards last night accepted the resignation of Dr. Coles, and appointed me his successor. I shall endeavor to fulfill the duties of the office to the best of my ability, and shall attempt to make Bowdoin not only a better college, but also a more pleasant place to live."

To The Winds

Among her ideas for making Bowdoin a more pleasant place to live, Mrs. Coles announced that she is blowing a tradition of one hundred fifty years, and making the school coeducational. "Negotiations are under way to import Vassar College in its entirety, campus and all," she said. Mrs. Coles added that Lou Perini had submitted the lowest bid, and would begin moving Vassar late this month. Al

the President, released this statement: "Of course, it will take a little time to integrate our new feminine additions to the Bowdoin family into the daily routine of college life, but we anticipate no difficulty in the long run."

No Stigma

Mrs. Coles also mentioned that she would like to see some change in the uniforms used by the ROTC. "I want to remove that 'Brown Shirt' stigma," she said, "possibly by adding more color. I shall contact Adrian, with, of course, the Army's permission." Col. Kennett could not be reached for comment.

In becoming the first woman President in Bowdoin's long and colorful history, Mrs. Coles stated that she thought the job would be a difficult one, but not one beyond her powers. "Naturally," she said, "I have an awfully long tradition to contend with, and it will not be an easy task. There will, of course, be some changes in the staff, but the Faculty will remain essentially the same." Mrs. Coles declined to comment on administrative arrangements with faculty of Vassar.

Bewilderment

Sources close to key members of the Governing Boards expressed bewilderment at Mrs. Coles' precedent shattering appointment. A spokesman who wished to remain anonymous stated, "She got enough votes, but I don't know how." Another remarked, "It was a very shrewd move. We didn't quite know what was going on."

Reliable sources indicate that the previous incumbent, Mrs. Coles' husband, will either be appointed Assistant to the President of Vassar, or will be awarded the Jules and Ethel Underwater Demolition, in order that he may continue his research. Meanwhile, Dr. Coles is busying himself minding the Coles' children.

Mrs. Coles will deliver her inaugural address next Sunday in Bannister Hall.

Sensational Merge Idea Causes Varied Views On Vassar Campus

Our fly-by-night reporter Mr. Gunther Poddellian, was on hand in Poughkeepsie when the news was released, and straightway he proceeded to Vassar to sample opinion. This is his report, cabled from on the spot:

There is somewhat of an air of bewilderment on the Vassar campus today. The prevalent opinion seems to be one of guarded optimism. The President of the College was not on hand for comment, but I did manage to corner a few members of the Faculty and a number of undergraduates.

Dr. Elizabeth Barrett, Professor of English and Rhetoric, had this to say: "I am more surprised than anything else. But we trust that everything will turn out as well as hoped."

Professor Herman Goldwasser commented, "I was surprised. I guess most of the Faculty was. But

Quiz Aims To Inform Students

In the interests of keeping the student body informed, Dr. Alabaster J. Kwack, Ph.D., has consented to prepare for the ORIENT the following quiz about the campus.

1. The new Music Building will be named after:

a. Harvey Dow Gibson
b. Benny Goodman
c. Arthur Fiedler
d. Louis Armstrong

2. The President of Bowdoin College is:

a. Dr. James S. Coles
b. Mrs. James S. Coles
c. K. C. Sills
d. Joe

3. The janitor in Hyde Hall is:

a. George
b. Gunther
c. Joe
d. None of these

4. How many posts comprise the "Iron Curtain"?

a. eight
b. three
c. none
d. haven't looked recently

5. The Alumni Secretary is:

a. Seward Marsh
b. Sam Ladd
c. Nathaniel Hawthorne
d. Joe

6. The name of the new chemistry building is:

a. Adams Hall
b. Memorial Hall
c. Cleaveland Hall
d. Larry Hall

7. The editor of the ORIENT is:

a. Charlie Ranlet
b. Charles P. Burgess
c. Tom Otis
d. Joe

8. What is kept in Hubbard Hall?

a. Books
b. Old blue books
c. Lions
d. The librarian

9. The name of the football field is:

a. Whittier Field
b. Dow Field
c. Cyrus Field
d. Greenfield

10. Joe is:

a. President of the College
b. The janitor in Hyde Hall
c. The Alumni Secretary
d. The editor of the ORIENT

ORIENT IVY EXTRA
Last Edition

Grievance Committee's Plan Receives Council Approval

The Student Council ratified the Alpha Delta Phi proposal...

The proposal reads as follows: "Realizing that the question of the date and time of fraternity in-

How ever realizing also that past hazing and initiation activities of several Bowdoin fraternities have interfered with freshmen academic activities, and as a result hindered the early progress of incoming freshmen, the Student Council resolves that...

1) Each of the twelve Bowdoin fraternities establish a three-man committee...

2) The members of the committee will be appointed by the respective fraternity executive committees...

3) Members of the Committee will be chosen on the basis of outstanding qualifications...

4) The Committee will have jurisdiction over the hazing and initiation activities in each fraternity...

5) Freshmen will direct any complaints or grievances concerning excessive hazing activities to this committee...

6) The committee may act to prevent the imposition of un-

Quill Reviewer Bridge Terms Latest Issue 'One Vast Sorrow'

By Josiah F. Bridge '48: The May issue of the Bowdoin Quill, Volume LVII, number three...

With the possible exceptions of two stories, "The Hypocrites" by William E. Hill, and "Father and the Cloth" by Robert Dunlap, the theme of most of the prose comes through on a surreal, platitudinous note...

"As for the poetry, the only poem which is a straight statement behind it is "Houseparty" by James Anywell, Jr. The rest of the poems are filled with the long cry over the passing of something or other and are supported in their mourning by what turns out to be a number of very good rhythms and images.

"Maturity of Style Douglas A. Chalmers, who has a story called "Hero with Wilted Garland" in this issue, is added enough in his style, but after not too many paragraphs, the adult style begins to fall on its nose. It winks like the hero's garland into the maturity of the don't - give - a - god - damn.

"The hero" of this story is an office-bound who has put aside childhood rebellions, now that college days have passed, and during the course of an evening with his girl, visits the park to hear one of the local stumbers. To be fair to Chalmers, I think he gets across the idea that the "hero" is vaguely dissatisfied with his run-of-the-muck existence.

"-In the final analysis Chalmers seems to be asking people to trade their freedom of experiment for a safe and sane world of robot morality. Because, in the first place, we're already told, to a large extent, what to believe every day of our lives and in the second place, most people don't believe it anyway. Much more of this sort of thing could prove fatal.

"I've treated these two selections by Chalmers at length because they seem, in part, to come closer to the point of what the other stories and essays are built around - the theme of lost boundaries in a muddled world.

"World of Reality Speaking of which, we have a section of George Packard's novel Alha. Although the people in this stretch of writing remind you of the shiftless wanderer who tramp-

To do this, to tell someone what they ought to believe, it is first necessary to become objective, reasonable demands upon freshmen, and prevent hazing activities which interfere with the freshmen's academic work.

1) The Committee will be responsible for answering and explaining any questions concerning activities which the College administration may bring before the fraternity.

2) The Committee's functions are broad and general in a limited area - hazing. Specific application is left to the respective fraternities."

The Meddiebampsters are awaiting the final decision on their plan for this summer's Army camps in Europe this summer.

In 1948, 1949, and 1950, the Meddiebies made similar trips. The present plans would take the Meddiebies occupied from July 15 to August 30.

The proposed tour has been from Lynn, Mass. He has been active in interfraternity sports. Morton, a substitute Student Union representative, is a former member of the varsity football squad, and is active in interfraternity athletics.

Hetherington, Powell, Gray, Huntress, Allen, Elected House Heads

Hetherington P. U. Pick At a housemeeting Wednesday night, May 12, Psi Upsilon elected five house officers...

Allen F. Hetherington, Jr. '54 was chosen President, Melvin A. Potman '54, Vice President, and Robert H. Cushman '54, Secretary.

Hetherington, President of the Junior class, is currently heading the Ivy Weekend Committee composed of members of the class of 1954.

Totman, vice president for next fall, is a two-year letterman on the varsity football team, and also throws the discus on the varsity track team.

Secretary-elect Cushman comes from Lynn, Mass. He has been active in interfraternity sports.

Cooper, a freshman, played frosh football last fall, and is currently on the freshman track team.

Peter B. Powell '54 was re-elected president of the Chi Psi Lodge for a second term Wednesday evening, May 7.

Last Wednesday night F. Allen MacDonald '54 was returned for his second term as vice-president and Wallace A. Stoneman '53 was chosen for his third term as secretary.

Powell is a member of the Quill board, is on the Ivy Committee, and has a part in the commencement play, "The Merchant of Venice."

MacDonald has held several fraternity posts and is a member of the ROTC. Stoneman is business manager of WBOA and active in fraternity sports.

Ronald B. Gray '54 was elected grand master of the Kappa Sigma House last Wednesday. Others elected include Roland G. Ware, Jr. '54 as grand procurator...

Others include John A. Kreider '56, grand steward; Walter A. Tomlinson, Jr. '55, Student Council; Rallison Greenwood, Jr. '55, White Key Representative; and John L. Berkeley '56, Student Union representative.

Gray is a James Bowdoin Scholar, past president of the Political Forum, and a lieutenant colonel in the ROTC.

Roderick L. Huntress Jr. '54 was named Worthy Master of Alpha Tau Omega in a Wednesday night election.

The other fraternity officers elected were: David B. Starkweather '55, Chief and Edward B. Blackman '55, Secretary.

Thomas Dwight '54 was elected orientation chairman for next year's pledge class. Henry P. McClaren '54 will fill the office of White Key Representative...

Huntress is Keeper of the ATO chapter and was orientation chairman for the present Freshman Class.

Richard H. Allen '54 was elected president of Delta Sigma, replacing Richard D. Asfourian '54, last Wednesday evening at the house meeting.

Allen is a member of the Brass Sextet. Malcolm G. Malloy '54 was elected vice-president; he is a member of the Jazz Band and is a cheerleader.

John F. Bowler, Jr. '55 is the new treasurer, while Chester L. Towne '55 is the new steward.

Robert F. Hinckley '55 was given a vote of confidence as the House representative on the Student Union Committee.

William C. Hays '55, the new Assistant-Manager, is an officer in the ROTC and is on the Dean's List.

James J. Stagnone '55 was elected secretary. Michael J. Batal, Jr. '54 was chosen to represent Delta Sigma on the Student Council.

Proposed Moulton Union Alterations To Improve Snack, Fountain Service

Donovan D. Lancaster '27, the Moulton Union Manager, announced last Friday that tentative plans had been formulated to remodel the Union cafeteria.

To dispel any student fears about the remodeling Mr. Lancaster stated that the proposed plan was not caused by the expectancy of any increased need for eating facilities due to a deferred rushing program.

Included in the equipment which will be added to the grill area is a coffee maker that provides the finest possible coffee that can be made.

In all the work done there will be a decided emphasis on beauty. The grill area will be made more attractive by the removal of all advertising and the addition of the new equipment.

This remodeling program will be financed by the reserve fund of the Union. Before the work can start on this switch from mass to individual feeding, however, the approval of the College Governing Boards must be obtained.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Elliot Lawrence Plays At Ivy Dance This Evening

The annual Ivy House party festivities continue this evening with the formal dance from 9 p.m. to 12 a.m. in the Athletic Building.

Earlier this afternoon, Ivy activities were formally begun with the Masque and Crown production "The Hasty Heart" in Memorial Hall.

Center of the weekend's events will be the Ivy Day ceremonies which are to begin tomorrow morning at 11 and will feature speeches by Professor Thomas Means and Jerome P. Solomon '54.

Wooden Spoon To Be Presented Spot lighting the band at the formal tonight will be a lighthouse 14 feet tall near the center of the dance floor.

Plans for the Ivy Day ceremonies have been almost completed by the Ivy Activities committee led by Horace A. Hildreth, Jr. '54.

The second annual Interfraternity Competition for vocal quartets will conclude the college-wide activities Saturday evening.

Alpha Tau Omega, Chi Psi, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Theta Delta Chi, Beta Theta Pi and Zeta Psi are entered, but had not chosen the two numbers required for participation at the time of printing.

Major General Roderick H. Allen, commanding at Fort Devens, Massachusetts, and senior officer in New England, was represented at the exercises by Colonel George V. Baker.

Inspecting and reviewing officers at the Whittier Field ceremonies included George W. Palmer, Chief of the Maine Military District; Lt. Colonel Earle B. Carter of the National Guardsmen's Training Group at Augusta; Lt. Colonel Raymond P. Steiner of the Instructor Group at Fort Williams;

Major Joseph F. Sulowski of Military District Headquarters at Fort Williams, and Major Spurgeon A. Mesner of the Transporation Corps Section, Headquarters, New York Army, Governors Island, New York.

Time and Life's foreign correspondent, John Scott, addressed a near-capacity audience on the subject of "America's Impact In Europe" last Wednesday, May 13, in Smith Auditorium.

Correspondent Scott, who has lived in Russia and traveled extensively through the Balkans, the middle east, and Asian parts of the Russian empire, appeared well qualified to express the political and economic problems arising from western Europe's attempted unification.

Why has Western Germany prospered so remarkably while other countries, England for instance, has not been able to do so? Scott stated that he did not believe it to be due to the degree of socialization, but said that the question could, perhaps, best be answered by the simple statement that "Germans seem to like to work harder." The German worker seemed more ambitious and efficient, and the trade unions in Germany appeared less stringent than in other countries.

Britain and France have both received more aid than Germany, said Scott, and all three spend about the same on rearmament.

The Eskimo dog possesses the heaviest fur.

Time and Life's foreign correspondent, John Scott, addressed a near-capacity audience on the subject of "America's Impact In Europe" last Wednesday, May 13, in Smith Auditorium.

Correspondent Scott, who has lived in Russia and traveled extensively through the Balkans, the middle east, and Asian parts of the Russian empire, appeared well qualified to express the political and economic problems arising from western Europe's attempted unification.

Why has Western Germany prospered so remarkably while other countries, England for instance, has not been able to do so? Scott stated that he did not believe it to be due to the degree of socialization, but said that the question could, perhaps, best be answered by the simple statement that "Germans seem to like to work harder." The German worker seemed more ambitious and efficient, and the trade unions in Germany appeared less stringent than in other countries.

Britain and France have both received more aid than Germany, said Scott, and all three spend about the same on rearmament.

The Eskimo dog possesses the heaviest fur.

Restricting his discussion largely to political and economic reconstruction in Western Germany, Scott stated that much greater progress was being made here, though a variety of political operations but more especially through the industriousness of the people, than in other European countries.

He said that the strong desire for unification in Germany was responsible for the great progress which has been made since 1945, and that the German people, facing the problem realistically, would willingly suffer the indignities of the post-war period.

He is in the Dramatics Club, has participated in class plays and various prize winning contests, and has been a delegate to Dirigo Boy's State.

Representing the undergraduates was Gordon W. Stearns, Jr. '54, President of the Glee Club, who stated that the construction of the building represented an important step since it was the first structure started since President Coles entered office.

Merrymeeting Gift Shop 185 Park Row Greeting Cards --- Gifts Free Gift Wrapping

Curriculum Meeting The Student Curriculum Committee will meet Tuesday, May 26, in Conference Room A in the Moulton Union at 8:30 p.m.

Student Patronage Solicited

First National Bank Brunswick, Maine Member of the Federal Reserve System and Member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Meddie's Tour To Europe Still Doubtful

The Meddiebampsters are awaiting the final decision on their plan for this summer's Army camps in Europe this summer.

In 1948, 1949, and 1950, the Meddiebies made similar trips. The present plans would take the Meddiebies occupied from July 15 to August 30.

The proposed tour has been from Lynn, Mass. He has been active in interfraternity sports.

Morton, a substitute Student Union representative, is a former member of the varsity football squad, and is active in interfraternity athletics.

Cooper, a freshman, played frosh football last fall, and is currently on the freshman track team.

Peter B. Powell '54 was re-elected president of the Chi Psi Lodge for a second term Wednesday evening, May 7.

Last Wednesday night F. Allen MacDonald '54 was returned for his second term as vice-president and Wallace A. Stoneman '53 was chosen for his third term as secretary.

Powell is a member of the Quill board, is on the Ivy Committee, and has a part in the commencement play, "The Merchant of Venice."

MacDonald has held several fraternity posts and is a member of the ROTC. Stoneman is business manager of WBOA and active in fraternity sports.

Ronald B. Gray '54 was elected grand master of the Kappa Sigma House last Wednesday. Others elected include Roland G. Ware, Jr. '54 as grand procurator...

Others include John A. Kreider '56, grand steward; Walter A. Tomlinson, Jr. '55, Student Council; Rallison Greenwood, Jr. '55, White Key Representative; and John L. Berkeley '56, Student Union representative.

Gray is a James Bowdoin Scholar, past president of the Political Forum, and a lieutenant colonel in the ROTC.

Roderick L. Huntress Jr. '54 was named Worthy Master of Alpha Tau Omega in a Wednesday night election.

The other fraternity officers elected were: David B. Starkweather '55, Chief and Edward B. Blackman '55, Secretary.

Thomas Dwight '54 was elected orientation chairman for next year's pledge class. Henry P. McClaren '54 will fill the office of White Key Representative...

Huntress is Keeper of the ATO chapter and was orientation chairman for the present Freshman Class.

Richard H. Allen '54 was elected president of Delta Sigma, replacing Richard D. Asfourian '54, last Wednesday evening at the house meeting.

Allen is a member of the Brass Sextet. Malcolm G. Malloy '54 was elected vice-president; he is a member of the Jazz Band and is a cheerleader.

John F. Bowler, Jr. '55 is the new treasurer, while Chester L. Towne '55 is the new steward.

Robert F. Hinckley '55 was given a vote of confidence as the House representative on the Student Union Committee.

New Financial Program To Give Student Aid Better Coordination

Last fall the Committee on Student Aid suggested that the manner of administering the student aid programs of the College with respect to loans, scholarships, and part-time jobs, be reviewed.

The Committee hoped that it might be possible to improve some current practices, and to improve the coordination between the various types of financial aid for undergraduates.

The recommendations of the Committee as a result of these studies are being implemented in the following manner.

Applications for scholarships will be completed in the second semester of the year preceding the year of award, rather than twice during the year of actual award.

Awards will be determined after second semester grades are available to the Committee, and will be announced some time during the summer.

The substitution of a single application in place of semi annual applications reduces the work on the part of the student and those serving as his references by half.

This procedure also permits scholarship applicants to know prior to their return to college the amount of scholarship aid they can anticipate during the academic year.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

Wilder Representative To act as the representative of the Committee on Student Aid in fraternity sports.

High School Seniors Awarded Scholarships

Four State of Maine Scholarships amounting to $700 each for the College year 1953-1954 have been awarded to June graduates of Maine schools.

The awards are based on competitive examinations held in the Spring of 1953 and on school records and reports of extra-curricular activities, character and leadership.

The list includes: Charles Henry Abbott of Rumford, Francis Marion Tinnely of Raymond, Stanton Irving Moody of Norridgewock, and Raymond Alan Smith of Mount Desert.

Abbott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Abbott of Star Route, Rumford. At Stephens High School he has been active in the Latin Club, Student Council, and was treasurer of the Outing Club.

Valdeictorian Kinnelly is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Kinnelly, Jr., of Casco Cabins, Raymond. At Fryburg Academy he is Valdeictorian of his class, has been active in football, baseball, track, tennis, skiing, and has been a member of the National Honor Society, secretary of the Dormitory Council, literary editor of the yearbook, and a member of the Camera Club.

Moody is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving L. Moody of Norridgewock. He has been manager of his baseball team and a member of the Skowhegan High School debating team.

Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Smith of Mount Desert. He has been president of his class at Mount Desert High School for four years, a member of the Student Council, the basketball team, the National Honor Society, and editor-in-chief of the yearbook.

He is in the Dramatics Club, has participated in class plays and various prize winning contests, and has been a delegate to Dirigo Boy's State.

Representing the undergraduates was Gordon W. Stearns, Jr. '54, President of the Glee Club, who stated that the construction of the building represented an important step since it was the first structure started since President Coles entered office.

Representing the undergraduates was Gordon W. Stearns, Jr. '54, President of the Glee Club, who stated that the construction of the building represented an important step since it was the first structure started since President Coles entered office.

Representing the undergraduates was Gordon W. Stearns, Jr. '54, President of the Glee Club, who stated that the construction of the building represented an important step since it was the first structure started since President Coles entered office.

Representing the undergraduates was Gordon W. Stearns, Jr. '54, President of the Glee Club, who stated that the construction of the building represented an important step since it was the first structure started since President Coles entered office.

Representing the undergraduates was Gordon W. Stearns, Jr. '54, President of the Glee Club, who stated that the construction of the building represented an important step since it was the first structure started since President Coles entered office.

Representing the undergraduates was Gordon W. Stearns, Jr. '54, President of the Glee Club, who stated that the construction of the building represented an important step since it was the first structure started since President Coles entered office.

Representing the undergraduates was Gordon W. Stearns, Jr. '54, President of the Glee Club, who stated that the construction of the building represented an important step since it was the first structure started since President Coles entered office.

Representing the undergraduates was Gordon W. Stearns, Jr. '54, President of the Glee Club, who stated that the construction of the building represented an important step since it was the first structure started since President Coles entered office.

Representing the undergraduates was Gordon W. Stearns, Jr. '54, President of the Glee Club, who stated that the construction of the building represented an important step since it was the first structure started since President Coles entered office.

Representing the undergraduates was Gordon W. Stearns, Jr. '54, President of the Glee Club, who stated that the construction of the building represented an important step since it was the first structure started since President Coles entered office.

Representing the undergraduates was Gordon W. Stearns, Jr. '54, President of the Glee Club, who stated that the construction of the building represented an important step since it was the first structure started since President Coles entered office.

Representing the undergraduates was Gordon W. Stearns, Jr. '54, President of the Glee Club, who stated that the construction of the building represented an important step since it was the first structure started since President Coles entered office.

Bendix Launderette 15 Mill Street Brunswick, Maine

Just a few steps from Maine Street Nine pound wash 30c Use of Dryer 25c

New Tennis Balls $2.25 per can

Restraining Rackets Clear Nylon 4.00 Multi-Ply - Green 5.00 Protected Black & White 6.00

F. W. CHANDLER & SON 150 MAINE STREET BRUNSWICK PHONE 234

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII, Wednesday, May 20, 1953, No. 6

Editor-in-Chief: Charles Ranlett '54
Managing Editor: Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55
News Editors: John B. Goodrich '55, Charles W. Schoeneman '53

James Anwell, Jr. '55
Robert C. Burr '55

T. Ellis McKinney, Jr. '54
Assistant News Editors: Edward N. Cotter '56, Carroll E. Pennell '56

Richard M. Catalano '55
James S. Carter '56

Sports Editor: Robert M. Hurst '54
Assistant Sports Editor: Joseph Y. Rogers '55
Photographer: James P. Gaston '54
Staff: Douglas A. Chalmers '53, E. Ward Gilman '53, C. Jackson Shuttleworth, Jr. '53, Richard H. Allen '54, Charles E. Coakley '54, Edward F. Spicer '54, Anthony L. Funnell '56

James L. Doherty '55

David R. Anderson '56, David G. Lavender '56, Elliot S. Palais '56, Robert E. Hamilton '56, Raymond F. Kierstead, Jr. '56, George A. Massih, Jr. '56, Donald M. Zuckert '56

Allan F. Wright '56
Sports Staff: Curtis Webber '55

Business Manager: Bruce N. Cooper '54
Assistant Business Manager: James A. Cook '54, C. Richard Thurston '54

Advertising Manager: Peter M. Pirnie '55

Circulation Manager: Harold R. Beacham, Jr. '56

Business Assistants: Theodore D. Robbins '53, Hobart C. Tracy '55

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY National Advertising Service, Inc.

Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semesters by the students of Bowdoin College.

Issue Reluctantly Omitted

The Directors of the Bowdoin Publishing Company have reluctantly announced that it has been decided to omit the Commencement issue of the Orient for this year which would have been published on Saturday, June 20, Commencement Day.

Despite some difficult financial problems, the Orient had been prepared to go ahead with this issue, when it was discovered that the forced absence of several key personnel in both the business and editorial staff would make the publishing of the issue difficult.

TD's Receive Marine Painting As A Gift

The Theta Delta Chi fraternity was recently presented with a painting of the Schooner BOWDOIN by Mrs. Harvey Dow Gibson. The painting is the work of Alphonse J. Shelton of Wisconsin, Maine, whose marine scenes are recognized as being outstanding in their perfection.

ton and New York. The schooner Bowdoin is owned and commanded by Donald B. MacMillan '98. Commander MacMillan has made 29 voyages to the Arctic as skipper of the Bowdoin. Many undergraduates have been with him on these voyages. He has devoted his entire life to Arctic exploration work and is well known as both an explorer and lecturer. The gift of this painting to the TD house is another example of the interest which the late Harvey D. Gibson '02 had in his college.

... HOME BY GREYHOUND

Table showing fares for Greyhound buses: Boston $4.03, Providence 5.35, Hartford 7.30, New York 9.20, Philadelphia 11.62.

OWEN'S TAXI 149 1/2 Maine Street Phone 567

GREYHOUND

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

I read with some alarm your editorial of May 13 entitled 'Current Trend Could Take Away Bowdoin's Individuality, Spirit'. You seem to resent comparisons between Bowdoin and similar institutions; to resist any changes in the present 'relaxed situation'.

To The Editor:

Chi Psi will delay its initiation next fall. This decision was reached by the fraternity after considerable discussion in its house meetings and after a plea to the Student Council for the support of the other fraternities on campus.

Interfraternity Softball

Table showing results of interfraternity softball games for League A and League B.

The population of Formosa is estimated at 9,500,000.

DRAY'S ALMANAC

By David R. Anderson '55: An ORIENT reporter in 1894 was able to write that 'Ivy Day has become a staunch tradition'.

The weekend was highlighted with more vigorous undertakings in the years before the turn of the century than those to which we are accustomed today.

Fresh-Beat-Fryeburg: Bowdoin College's Freshmen captured Fryeburg Academy's five game winning streak with a 13 to 5 win at Fryeburg.

BILL'S SPA: Our Specialties Italian Spaghetti, Pizza Pie, Hot Pastrami.

BOWL-MOR Alleys: Student Patronage Welcomed. 186 Maine Street

Modern Library: College Edition (paper bound) .65 & .75, Regular Edition 1.25, Giant Edition 2.45.

TRIPLE THREAT MAN!

The Brains of the Team

Teamwork can work miracles. In a football game the man who sparks these miracles is the quarterback. He's the man who calls the signals.

THE SOONER YOU APPLY, THE SOONER YOU FLY! GET THE DETAILS: Visit your nearest Air Force Base or Air Force Recruiting Officer.

Bridge Criticizes Quill As 'One Vast Sorrow Sweltering In Its Tired Lament; Shrill, Petulent'

(Continued from Page 2) Sonably detached from their fretful inner souls so as to make you at least believe in their reality. And these people are, in reality, cafe-burns who would, but for money, wind up either on skid row or at the bottom of the office heap in one of the bigger American cities. But Packard makes them interesting enough because he doesn't stammer over them. He has written objectively enough to make you want to know more about these people, not because they believe in something big, but because they are people who live out the drama of the worst that is in man. They wander around smashing each other to pieces because they are cowards. It is their way of showing one another that they belong to something, even to such a nefarious little club as theirs.

Descriptive Scene Robert Happ's story, "Walk Through the Streets of the City", has many good passages of description, probably too many, but the main trouble seems to be that material wavers between a "sketch" and a "story". Without splitting any loose hairs over these two classifications, I will say that a story, at its best, has an idea behind it. It dramatizes something. You get, in Happ's story, the feel of frustration given off by Bingo, the clarinet player, and you can appreciate how he feels about the deserters in his company. You also know that the other members of the funeral brigade are pretty cheap. These things are well written, and Happ makes the clarinetist, standing in fury while the rains soak him in the graveyard, stick out sharply in your mind. The smashed instrument is a vivid picture because of the exact description of the shattered parts. But, while this to me has a good theme, it could have been a better story if Happ had come to the point a lot quicker than he did. The early scenes help build up an idea of the story's background, but, without any driving force, they don't become important until the end. I don't know how you are going to get out of this sort of thing. The old "Argument", presented at the beginning of a play, seems to be out of style. But in this case the story is carried along on the strength of the description and color alone. It somehow reminds you of a photo-print which is still in the half developed stage. Concerning Anyell's poem, "Houseparty", I like it because it's direct and to the point. What it has to say, it says fast, and with a minimum of dawdling imagery. The typography of the poem, in this case, is part of the whole because the lines form a pattern similar to the fox-trot dance step. And the dance, with its evasive flirtations, is brought into sharp focus by this arrangement. The stories, "Hypocrite" and

"Father and the Cloth", are also good because they don't linger in sentimentality. Hill's story moves at a good clip and doesn't lose itself when the bribing scene takes place. There was a fine opportunity here for the drunk to say something noble, but Hill escaped and finished with a realistic climax. This story, "The Hypocrite" slumps only when the two saviours are given a heavy build-up in the beginning. Dwelling on their appearances as is done here, is too much like loading the deck. That they are hypocrites, or one of them is, we suspect from the title. And we get it in the story a moment later. But the real hero in this pack of cards is the drunk, the hypocrite first class! He starts by heckling the believers in the orthodox fashion of all good heretics but, before you can say "Vat 69" he's shuffled across the street to oblivion. All told, the "hypocrites" seem to be scattered all over the lot. The two speakers are hypocrites, (one: because of his bribery; the other: because of his whining lack of faith in what he professes) and the crowd, represented by the drunk, are all hypocrites because of their willingness to drop out at the first sign of pressure. Covering a minimum of space, Hill has managed to come up with a simple story which has, as we say, universal implications.

Local Color Dunlap's "Father and the Cloth" is good as local color from the storeyard of reminiscence, but the natural simplicity of style has, to me, a way of flattening in spots. The incidents, however, are well selected. The father's trick of flipping tennis balls in opposite directions is an important detail because it shows the man's inclinations towards the ornery side of life. Also, the finishing detail of the father chewing on the ends of his glasses whenever the Reverend's name was mentioned helps add to the picture of his character. As a story of character and place, "Father and the Cloth" is successful because of the off-hand, but explicit, delivery of the narrator.

Summing Up' Summing up this issue of the Quill, it seems, in spite of the many traces of "fine writing", as though the majority of contributors were more concerned with being clever than with having anything important to say. As far as "writing out their emotions" go, they don't seem to do even that, instead of coming out flatly either for or against something, they muck around under the banner of a fake regretage which is, in most cases, no more objective than the snide heckling of the gallery.

Stamp collecting puts a premium on poor printing since a blot, burr, or misprint increases the value of a stamp to collectors. Penguins use their wings for swimming.

Sigma Nu's Elect Coe, Caldwell, Sawyer, Roux

At the recent Sigma Nu elections David H. Caldwell '54 was elected to the office of President. David F. Coe '55 received the post of Vice-President, and Robert B. Sawyer '54 was elected Student Council Representative. The two new members elected to the Executive Committee were Donald A. Roux '55 and George A. Massih, Jr. '56.

Delta Sigma Elections

(Continued from Page 2) White Key. Robert B. Johnson '55 was elected chaplain. Executive Committee In addition to the regular members of the new Executive Commit-

Varsity Nine Wins 8 - 6; Bates Coach Tossed Out

Bowdoin edged Bates, 8 to 6, in a State Series game at Pickard Field last Saturday, May 16 in which Coach Bob Hatch of Bates was given the heave-ho.

With the bases loaded in the ninth, none out, and one run in for (oe, the president, vice-president, treasurer, and steward, three additional members were elected. They are as follows: Richard W. Taylor '55, the representative of the Junior Class; Kurt F. Herman '56, the representative from the Sophomore Class; Kenneth A. McLoon '54, member at large. Richard W. Loughry '56 was elected to lead the singing; Robert E. Hamilton '56 was chosen librarian. John C. Brewer '56 is the new Sergeant at arms. Charles Ranlett '54 was elected to the Student Curriculum Com-

Getchell 2nd In High Hurdles At Easterns; Polar Bears Poor Fifth

Tufts College paced by Jack Goldberg and Bob Jones won the 27th Eastern Intercollegiate track meet with a total of 42 points.

Police Escort For Hatch

Bates didn't score until the sixth off Louie Audet when Frank Vecella's error, base knocks by Bean and Hall, and a walk to Burke gave them one run. It was also in the sixth that the extra fireworks occurred. Base umpire Harrington ordered Hatch off the field and gave him three minutes to leave. Then he called in a member of the Brunswick Police Department to encourage Hatch's departure.

Dray's Almanac

(Continued from Page 3) almost every house before the end of the weekend. Henderson returned in '32 to play for a Thursday dance at the Beta house and Duke Ellington was at the gym dance

the following night. Tony Pastor, Woody Herman, and Harry James also played for formals in that era. Ivy declined during the war. Yet today's weekend has recaptured the spirit and enthusiasm which made Ivy the staunch tradition it has been for almost a century.

"Matchless Service" FORD - MERCURY Sales and Service Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed USED CARS Maine's Most Modern Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop Complete Front End and Frame Alignment Harry H. Smart, Inc. 87 PLEASANT STREET - BRUNSWICK, MAINE

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it . . . Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money. TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS The Record Office Paul K. Niven Jerry Wilkes • Printers Of The Orient •

BOWDOIN DRIVE-IN THEATER Wed.-Thurs. May 20-21 Montgomery Clift Ann Baxter I Confess Nancy Gates Richard Denning Target Hong Kong Fri.-Sat. May 22-23 2 Color Hits Richard Conte The Raiders Ray Bolger - Doris Day April in Paris 2 Cartoons Sun.-Mon. May 24-25 Rock Hudson Barbara Hale Seminole In Color Steven McNally Black Castle 2 Cartoons Tue.-Wed.-Thurs. May 26-27-28 Barbara Stanwyck Lady of Burlesque Hedy Lamarr George Saunders Strange Woman Fri.-Sat. May 29-30 2 Color Hits Bing Crosby - Bob Hope Road to Bali John Derek Prince of Pirates Sun.-Mon. May 31-June 1 Randolph Scott Captain Kidd Cartoon Tue.-Wed.-Thurs. June 2-3-4 Ma and Pa Kettle on Vacation Marjorie Main Percy Kilbride Untamed Frontier Joseph Cotton Shelly Winters

BRUNSWICK DRIVE-IN Theatre Sun.-Mon. May 24-25 Silvano Mangano Anna 2 Cartoons and Comedy Tue.-Wed.-Thur. May 26-27-28 John Wayne Trouble Along the Way 2 Cartoons and Comedy Fri.-Sat. May 29-30 Yvonne DeCarlo James Craig Hurricane Smith Color and Mystery Co-Hit Anne Baxter Richard Conte Blue Gardinia Fri.-Sat. June 5-6 Bob Hope - Jane Russell Son of Paleface Color and Co-Hit Joyce Holden Patricia Hardy Girls in the Night

SUMMER SESSION June 29 - August 14 Extensive Credits and Undergraduate offerings in most academic departments Write For Bulletin Tufts College, Medford, Mass.

HOOD'S PLACE 180 Maine Street ICE COLD BEER and ALE TO TAKE OUT HOT DOGS ITALIAN SANDWICHES WE DELIVER TO COLLEGE

CUMBERLAND Brunswick, Maine Wed.-Thurs. May 20-21 I LOVE MELVIN with Donald O'Connor Debbie Reynolds also News Short Subjects Fri.-Sat. May 22-23 BLACKBEARD THE PIRATE with Linda Darnell Robert Newton also News Cartoon Sun.-Mon.-Tues. May 24-25-26 THE GIRL NEXT DOOR with Dan Dalley - June Haver also News Cartoon Wed.-Thurs. May 27-28 THE PRESIDENT'S LADY with Susan Hayward Chariton Heston also News Short Subject

Outfitters to Bowdoin Men THESE HANDSOME HEATHERTONES AND NAVY POLO SHIRTS . . . Will Never Shrink! Ever have to throw away a favorite Polo Shirt because it had shrunk down to a midget's size! Well—no more of that if you buy Reis Perma-size. These will always fit you. In grey and tan heather, maize, navy and scarlet. 2.95 Benoit's MAINE STREET BRUNSWICK

YEARS AHEAD OF THEM ALL!

1. THE QUALITY CONTRAST between Chesterfield and other leading cigarettes is a revealing story. Recent chemical analyses give an index of good quality for the country's six leading cigarette brands. The index of good quality table—a ratio of high sugar to low nicotine—shows Chesterfield quality highest . . . 15% higher than its nearest competitor and Chesterfield quality 31% higher than the average of the five other leading brands.

2. First to Give You Premium Quality in Regular and King-size . . . much milder with an extraordinarily good taste—and for your pocketbook, Chesterfield is today's best cigarette buy. 3. A Report Never Before Made About a Cigarette. For well over a year a medical specialist has been giving a group of Chesterfield smokers regular examinations every two months. He reports . . . no adverse effects to nose, throat and sinuses from smoking Chesterfield.

CHESTERFIELD IS BEST FOR YOU

Coles Stresses Vigilance At Initial Chapel Service

President James Stacy, Coles opened the 152nd academic year of the College in chapel exercises at the First Parish Church September 23.

In his address to approximately 770 undergraduates President Coles urged an alert and vigorous interest in world affairs.

"Today the United States cannot afford to relax. We must increase in ability and in vitality. The same is true for any student. Merely because no American boy is today on an actual battlefield, we must not let our guard down. Divisions must be of the moment, for divisions can never bring lasting satisfaction which comes only from accomplishment."

"Regardless of your special field of interest, consider always its implications with respect to world affairs. The understanding of international affairs is as necessary for a man majoring in physics or Greek as it is for a man majoring in political science. Our whole population must be interested in international affairs if we are to maintain our leadership as a nation in the future."

President Coles developed the theme of his address against a background reviewing the major changes that have taken place since September, 1949. He reviewed the cessation of hostilities in Korea and the latest developments in the cold war in Europe, he said.

"What can we look forward to in the year ahead? Dare we relax because of the truce? Can we say to ourselves, 'Let's just sit back and enjoy life again.' The answer is clear, and the answer is 'No.' In spite of internal tension in Soviet Russia, we cannot in the present or near future rely upon her to relax in her efforts to spread her influence over the entire world. Indonesia may crucial, even though the situation has been stabilized in Korea. In fact, the release of Red forces from North Korea provides opportunity for employing them in Southeast Asia. An explosion may occur at any minute in Germany or Eastern Europe. There is a new troubled spot, and problems in Africa will assume greater and greater importance. In no one of these areas can we expect the Communists to sit by and allow the problems to solve themselves. All present opportunities for increasing more seeds of dissension, disunity and confusion, of planting more hatred against the western world and against the ideas of free men. I do not say that all problems of the western world are of Communist making, but westerners have brought on by westerners themselves.

Opens Chapel Service

Dr. James S. Coles

Recent Bowdoin Grads Receive Assignments As Commissioned Officers

Eighteen commissioned officers of the Class of '53 have completed their basic course at Fort Eustis, Va., and have been assigned to the New York Port of Embarkation, Col. Walter A. Kennett of the ROTC Department announced recently.

The Bowdoin graduates, all reserve officers in the Transportation Corps, are Jonathan Bartlett, Charles F. Davis, Paul F. Dudley, Jr., John A. Gledhill, Burch Hinde, Alden E. Horton Jr., George M. Hyde, William J. Leacock, Raymond M. Little, Thomas F. Lyndon, Raymond S. Peterson, Brian H. Poynton, Morrison S. Ricker, William A. Shaw, William W. Sterling and Richard G. Wragg. All received their commissions upon graduation and spent a total of fourteen weeks at the Fort Eustis Transportation School.

Delay For Graduate Students

Of the 41 officers commissioned last June, twelve are attending graduate schools and will not go on active duty until later. John L. Davis, Douglas A. Chalmers, Guy T. Emery, J. Warren Harthorne, Paul B. Kenyon, Ralph J. Levi, Roy G. Levy, George J. Marcopulos, James E. Nevin, Thomas Otis Jr., W. Rodman Snelling, plan to attend medical, law and other graduate schools. Edward M. Bressett was the recipient of a Fulbright Scholarship.

Twelve others have been assigned to other branches: Infantry — Donald E. Landry, Daniel H. Silver, Henry R. Sleeper, Charles J. Shuttleworth Jr.; Artillery — Everett J. Wilson Jr., Robert M. Harriman, Donald G. Lints, John S. MacDermid; Armor — Russell M. Hird; Medical Service — James H. Freeman, John Pepper, Wisner Jr.; Ordnance — Mickey P. Weiner, James E. Herrick and Joseph R. Levesque have been deferred from active duty because of previous military service.

The Bowdoin ROTC Department recently announced that there has been an increase in the enrollment

Union Committee To Bring Professional Checkers Player Here

The first meeting of the year for the Student Union Committee was held at the home of Mr. Donovan D. Lancaster last Wednesday, September 23.

During the course of the meeting the background and purpose of the committee was discussed and explained. Among other business items attended to was a motion passed to bring Tom Wiswell, a professional chess and checkers player, to the campus. He will be here on November 10. He will play any number of challengers at one time.

Weekend Rooms Available

As has been done in years past, arrangements were made to compile a list of available off-campus rooms for students' dining on foot. This list is now available in the Moulton Union Office for the convenience of all undergraduates.

Among other things done by the committee in the past was the acceptance of the television set which is now in the Moulton Union lounge.

Bowdoin Plan Students And Freshmen Receive Scholarship Grants

Five Bowdoin Plan students and forty members of the Class of 1957 have received scholarship aid for fall semester, and some of the scholarships will continue into the spring semester.

The five new Bowdoin Plan students who will receive the tuition from the College and room and board from their fraternity arrived on campus for the fall semester. The new Bowdoin Plan students are Boris C. Bruzs, Brussels, Belgium; Carsten T. Moller, Charlottetown, Denmark; Robert van Hoeken, Wassenaar, Netherlands; Johannes C. Vermeulen, Rotterdam, Netherlands; and Edison F. Xavier, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Bird Scholarships

William A. Williams, West Hanover, Mass., has received the Bird Scholarship of $800 for two semesters. Recipients of the two semester State of Maine Scholarships who have received $800 for two semesters are Charles H. Abbott, Rumford, Francis M. Kimmel, Raymond; Stanton I. Moody, Noddigewock; and Raymond Smith, Mount Desert.

The John Johnston Scholarship of $800 for two semesters has been awarded to John P. Dow of Dover, Foxcroft.

Eighteen freshmen who have received Alumni Fund Scholarships of $800 for two semesters are Stanley M. Blackmer, Atlanta, Ga.; Michael A. Coster, Frederickton, N.J.; Francis M. Kimmel, N.J.; Henry M. Dubank, Richmond, Va.; Brian H. Flynn, Salem, Mass.; Richard W. Greene, Bath; Donald F. Guide, Summit, N.J.; Paul I. Kingsbury, Holliston, Mass.; Richard B. Lyman, Jr., West Nyack, N.Y.; Paul J. McGoldrick, Westwood, Mass.; Thomas R. Merrill, Raymond; David C. Messer, York Harbor; J. Thomas Morrison, Saco; Delour S. Potter, Glens Falls, N.Y.; David G. Roundy, Beverly, Mass.; William S. Simons, New York; Frederick J. Wenzel, Seattle, and John R. Withers, Seattle, Wash.

ARUs Retain Student Council Scholastic Cup ATO Cops Second Place

Alpha Rho Upsilon clinched top scholastic honors for the second consecutive time, just edging past Alpha Tau Omega in the Fraternity Scholastic Standings as announced by the Dean's Office recently.

Although the Independents still maintained their lead for the highest general average, they are ineligible to receive the Student Council Scholastic Cup, which is awarded to the fraternity with the highest average, or the Peucinian Cup which goes to the smartest freshman delegation.

Chi Psi made the largest increase, moving from tenth to fourth place. The complete listing of fraternity scholastic standings follows:

Fraternity	Pct. Members
Alpha Rho Upsilon	2,733 50
Independents	2,556 52
Alpha Tau Omega	2,534 50
Kappa Sigma	2,414 58
Chi Psi	2,387 44
Delta Sigma	2,354 59
Zeta Psi	2,350 61
Delta Kappa Epsilon	2,296 59
Theta Delta Chi	2,194 61
Beta Theta Pi	2,136 59
Sigma Nu	2,086 59
Alpha Delta Phi	2,074 61
Psi Upsilon	2,000 60
All Fraternity Average	2,271
All College Average	2,302

The results of the freshman fraternity standings for the second semester were as follows:

Fraternity	Pct. Members
Alpha Rho Upsilon	2,755 12
Independents	2,723 16
Zeta Psi	2,447 21
Alpha Tau Omega	2,405 9
Delta Sigma	2,375 14
Kappa Sigma	2,264 18
Chi Psi	2,222 7
Delta Kappa Epsilon	1,833 11
Beta Theta Pi	1,835 18
Alpha Delta Phi	1,852 20
Psi Upsilon	1,833 9
Theta Delta Chi	1,788 13
All Fraternity Fresh Average	2,145
All College Fresh Average	2,190

Memorial Hall Speaker

Sen. Margaret C. Smith

Policy In Middle East Subject Of Sen. Smith At Church Convention

Senator Margaret Chase Smith spoke in Memorial Hall Friday afternoon to an audience of delegates at the New England Universalist Church Convention held here.

Senator Smith was introduced by the secretary of the convention, Harold I. Goss. The subject of Mrs. Smith's talk was "United States Foreign Policy toward the Middle East."

The speaker opened her talk by describing the trip she took to the Middle East several years ago. She then gave an historical background of the area. She described it as being a kind of world's crossroads.

Oil Resources Present Problem

She continued her speech by explaining the problems which face the making of an adequate foreign policy toward the Middle East. Her initial problem lies in the fact that Soviet Russia seeks to dominate that section of the globe because of its rich natural resources, the foremost of which is oil. Iran, Arabia, and the surrounding countries produce one-half of the world's supply. Although this oil isn't essential to the United States it is a vital to the Allies in Western Europe. And it is important that Russia doesn't annex these resources, its national wealth, and Czechoslovakia.

Another problem facing our foreign policy makers is the nationalism which has become very intense in the Middle Eastern countries in the past few years.

Smith contends that our dilemma is "Are we to advise our American allies such as Britain and France to give up their interests there because those interests interfere with self government?" Secondly, "How are we to defend the Middle East and still respect national sovereignty?"

Past Action By U.S.

Mrs. Smith described the various steps that the U.S. has taken to further an adequate defense program. We have built air bases on the outer perimeter of this area. Supplies of material have been given to Greece and Turkey. Our spokesmen in the U.N. helped to stifle internal unrest in the East by calling for a settlement of the Arab-Jewish controversy.

The standard of living in this world trouble spot is extremely low. Smith said. She brought out this state of affairs has been fully utilized by the Communists. They give free food in exchange for political alliance from the peoples accepting the food. We counter the Communist bread lines by building the six semesters are fulfilled through participation in interfraternity sports and membership in ROTC. He was formerly an Assistant News Editor.

Anyell, Anderson Epped

Anyell, an A.D., was promoted to News Editor after serving an apprenticeship as an Assistant News Editor. He is the Chairman of the A.D. social committee and belongs to the Bowdoin sailing club. A Loomis graduate, Anyell is from Holyoke, Massachusetts.

Anderson, who will write behind the Ivy Curtain for the ORIENT, has been made an Assistant News Editor. He is also the secretary of the P.C.A. A Psi Upsilon member from Caribou, Maine.

Other important ORIENT posts from Phi Kappa Phi classes are: '54, Robert M. Hurst; '54, Joseph W. Rogers '53, Edward N. Cotter '56, and Carroll E. Pennell '56.

McKinney, a News Editor, served a term as the secretary of the Delta Sigma fraternity. He is also the secretary of the Classics club, a former band member and chairman of the Delta Sig social committee.

Hurst and Rogers are the sports editors. The former is a member of the Zeta Psi fraternity and the latter is a Delta Sigma member.

Cotter and Pennell, both sophomores, are assistant news editors.

One of the most encouraging aspects of this year's staff is the addition of nine freshman reporters. The fresh who have already completed ORIENT assignments are H. Edward Born, Francis M.

Campus Undergoes Radical Changes During Summer

Among the many improvements made during the summer months on the Bowdoin campus, the most significant was the beginning of the construction of both the Gibson Hall of Music and the ROTC armory.

The Harvey Dow Gibson Hall of Music will eventually complete the quadrangle on the south side of the campus, occupying a site between the Walker Art Building and Hubbard Hall. Already, much progress has been made in the foundation.

Being Scientifically Built

Present plans call for a basement and two floors above the ground. In as many practical ways as possible, the most effective scientific methods are being employed. The principal room, a circular Glee Club rehearsal room, is being so devised that the sound will be directed toward the stage rather than the audience. Furthermore, walls and ceilings throughout the building are to be completely soundproof and acoustically as nearly perfect as possible.

Well under way now, the ROTC armory, measuring about 16 by 50 feet, is located between Rhodes Hall and the Carpenter Shop. The main floor consists of a storage of small arms, the basement will be used by the Department of Buildings and Grounds.

Union Drastically Altered

The cafeteria of the Moulton Union has undergone a complete alteration. The first time in its 25-year history, Mr. Donovan D. Lancaster, Manager of the Union, stated that the $13,000 cost was defrayed from depreciation funds.

The new equipment installed in the counter area includes an ice cube machine, new dishwashing machine and disposal unit, a hot food table, a refrigerated sandwich unit, a new coffee maker, and the fountain. All these improvements have enabled many more students to be served at a much faster rate.

Likewise, numerous new tables and chairs have been added. The arrangement of the tables was undertaken with a view toward informality.

Television Set Added

The rest of the Moulton Union was not forgotten. A 21-inch Westinghouse television set has been installed in the lounge. It was the gift of Mr. Harry K. McCann '02 of New York City, now an overseas emeritus of Bowdoin.

Other lesser improvements are to be found in the Science Building now has a different color — brick red instead of the yellow. In keeping with the color design of Hubbard Hall, a series of conchoidal stone on this building have also been replaced.

The seldom-used west-side doors in Hyde Hall have been replaced by windows, with the result of a net gain of two bedrooms. Moreover, the Walker Art Building has received a new heating system.

Whittier Field has begun making major improvements in the facilities of Whittier Field, which will become more noticeable at a later date.

The reconstruction movement has hit the oldest of the campus buildings — Massachusetts Hall. A recreation room has been constructed; also, minor improvements have taken place in the basement.

Finally, the path from the center of Brunswick has at long last been paved.

Meddiebempsters' Tour Highly Successful; May Return To Europe In '54

Nine members of the Meddiebempsters' singing group toured Europe this summer, entertaining Allied servicemen.

The Bowdoin contingent, composed of William Cale, Frank J. Farrington, W. Arthur Grover Jr., Allen F. Hetherington Jr., Robert R. Forsberg, H. Davison Osgood Jr., Robert F. Hinckley, Terry D. Stenberg and George W. Graham, left Westover Air Field on July 16 and returned to lidewild Airport on September 12.

The first stop on their schedule was at Rhine Airport in Frankfurt, Germany, where they received their briefing. After two performances at Weisbaden, Germany, they moved to Paris where they spent four days. They sang at Orly Field and appeared at the Rue Nicole.

Concert at NATO HQ

After an engagement at Cherbouy they traveled south to Orleans and Fontainebleau. At Fontainebleau they sang at NATO Headquarters before French, Belgian, Canadian, British and American troops.

Tours was the next stop on their itinerary. They sang at several Army camps there and journeyed down to Bordeaux where they stayed for a week. They returned northward to Verdon by way of a two and one-half ton truck and appeared at an RAF base just outside of Verdon. Their European tour was concluded with a two-week stay in Frankfurt where they awaited their repatriation.

One performance in which the boys really had their work cut out for them was a game worth of Paris where games were being conducted. It seems they had to compete with frequent air raid sirens which they were vocalizing.

The Meddiebempsters' current schedule includes an appearance at the Bowdoin Alumni Club in Portland, received the greatest ovations for their renditions of "Five-foot-Two" and "Cocaine Bill."

As proof of their tremendous success, the Meddiebempsters were asked to return to Europe next summer.

5 Foreign Students Matriculate, Are New Bowdoin Plan Recipients

The six new foreign students admitted to Bowdoin for the 1953-54 academic year are: Carsten T. Moller, Boris C. Bruzs, Johannes C. Vermeulen, Robert van Hoeken, Edison F. Xavier and Jean-Jacques Franch.

All except Franch are on the Bowdoin Plan, in which the College remits the tuition while a fraternity provides room and board.

Impressed By Language Here

Moller, who is from Copenhagen, Denmark, graduated from the Ordrig Gymnasium, Kirkeny, Denmark, in June of 1953. The Gymnasium is similar to an American high school and junior college combined. Moller is also a Bowdoin Plan scholar, but only on a Fulbright Travel Grant, which pays his traveling expenses to and from America. He was an exchange student in Scotland during the 1952 summer. When asked what language he thought was most difficult to learn, he replied the English.

"The vocabulary is so large, and the same word has so many different meanings," said Moller. He has studied English seven years and speaks it fluently. Moller's room and board is provided by Psi Upsilon fraternity.

Captured By Russians

Bruzs, a Hyde Hall resident, is from Brussels, Belgium. He graduated from the Portara Royal School in Enniskillen, North Ireland. When asked what he thought of freshman hazing, he smiled, saying it was odd that everyone went around with a sign around his neck. Bruzs was born in Latvia and was there when the Russians assumed control of the government in 1940 and when the Germans in-

Bowdoin Faculty Contains 14 New Faces; Four More Resume Work

Since last June, many changes have been made in Bowdoin's faculty, with 12 professors and two teaching fellows teaching here for the first time in Bowdoin's 152nd academic year.

Heading the list is Kenneth G. Answorth, who has returned to Economics. He graduated from and received his masters degree from the University of Wisconsin. More recently, he has been teaching at Brown University while completing the residence requirements there for his doctor's degree.

The new Assistant Professor of Music is Robert K. Beckwith, M.S., who attended Lehigh University and the Juillard Graduate School.

Graduate of Bowdoin, '37

Edwin B. Benjamin, who graduated from Bowdoin in 1917, has earned his A.M. and Ph.D. at Harvard, has been appointed an Assistant Professor of English.

Another Bowdoin graduate, this time the class of '30, is Ronald Bridges, L.H.D., Litt.D., D.D., of Sanford, who will serve as Visiting Professor of Religion on the Yale Law Foundation during the second semester.

Charles W. Carruthers, who graduated from Bowdoin and did graduate work at Harvard, is an instructor in Physics.

Merrill, a graduate of Northwestern University, with a Ph.D. from Harvard, has been appointed an Assistant Professor of English.

City Manager of Portland

The city manager of Portland, Roy H. Owsley, is the Adjunct Professor of Government. He is a graduate of West Kentucky State College and received his Ph.D. at the University of Kentucky.

Ira L. Reiss, who received his bachelors degree at Syracuse, is an Instructor in Sociology. A new Instructor of History is Richard L. Schoenwald, a Syracuse graduate with a Ph.D. from Harvard.

William E. Whitely, a Williams College graduate with a Ph.D. from Harvard, is an Assistant Professor of History.

Two new ROTC Staff

Lieutenant Colonel Will R. Wintrey is an Assistant Professor of Military Science and Tactics. After graduating from Southwestern University, he served in Africa, Sicily, and Italy during the Second World War.

Holding the same title as the other new ROTC Professor is First Lieutenant Robert E. White, who participated in both World War II and the Korean War, in between which he graduated from Tulane University.

Two new teaching fellows have been appointed, Richard A. Livermore, a graduate of Marlboro College, and a masters degree from Amherst, is teaching biology.

Harlan B. Peabody Jr., a Bowdoin '50 graduate and a candidate for the doctorate at Harvard, is a Teaching Fellow in Classics.

Office of Instruction

Among the members of the faculty on leaves of absence is Professor of English Robert P. T. Coffin, who is at the University of Athens, Greece, on a Fulbright grant.

Professor Dan E. Christie is at Princeton University on a Ford Foundation grant. Professor Jean L. Darbelnet is on sabbatical leave for the first semester. Both Professors J. Edward C. Kirkland and Lawrence L. Pelletier are on leaves of absence. — Herbert R. Brown, Alton H. Gustafson, Norman L. Munn, and Phillip C. Beam — are resuming their work after sabbatical leaves during the past year.

The annual reception in honor of newly faculty members was held in the President's House on Friday evening.

89 Students Take ROTC Summer Courses; 4 Receive Commissions

Eighty-nine Bowdoin cadets finished their six weeks training program at Fort Eustis, Va., last July 31. At the ROTC Training Camp were 170 trainees from 68 colleges and universities making up eight companies.

Four Bowdoin men received their commissions as second lieutenants at the close of the camp. They were Edward M. Bressett Jr., '53, Lawrence M. Boyle '53, William R. Snodgrass '53, and John J. Donohue Jr. '51.

The eight companies each covered a different phase of the Transportation Corps duties in the regular army for four days before being rotated to a different type of duty.

Actual War Conditions

For front-line action, the groups had bivouac operations on a P. Hill under actual conditions for four days in addition to firing the M-1 and carbine from the thousand yard and the known distance rifle ranges. Also the cadets shot fifty caliber machine guns and threw grenades. A demonstration of bazookas and other heavy firing equipment was another part of the training.

In the line of water transportation, the companies spent four days at Fort Story, Va., engaged in loading and landing ducks and working as stevedores.

Other parts of the program were the practice in railroad operations and a motor convoy. The motor route resulted in a 160-mile trip from the home base.

In the field, the men learned how to operate lifts and other handling equipment for loading and unloading vehicles.

The entire program began June 20, the day following the Bowdoin Commencement Exercises.

Harper '55 New ORIENT Head, J. Goodrich Second

Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55 was elected Editor-in-Chief of the ORIENT by the members of the Bowdoin Publishing Company last spring to replace retiring Editor Charles Bartlett '54.

New ORIENT Editor

Harper, who will write behind the Ivy Curtain for the ORIENT, has been made an Assistant News Editor. He is also the Chairman of the A.D. social committee and belongs to the Bowdoin sailing club. A Loomis graduate, Harper is from Holyoke, Massachusetts.

Anderson, who will write behind the Ivy Curtain for the ORIENT, has been made an Assistant News Editor. He is also the secretary of the P.C.A. A Psi Upsilon member from Caribou, Maine.

Other important ORIENT posts from Phi Kappa Phi classes are: '54, Robert M. Hurst; '54, Joseph W. Rogers '53, Edward N. Cotter '56, and Carroll E. Pennell '56.

McKinney, a News Editor, served a term as the secretary of the Delta Sigma fraternity. He is also the secretary of the Classics club, a former band member and chairman of the Delta Sig social committee.

Hurst and Rogers are the sports editors. The former is a member of the Zeta Psi fraternity and the latter is a Delta Sigma member.

Cotter and Pennell, both sophomores, are assistant news editors.

One of the most encouraging aspects of this year's staff is the addition of nine freshman reporters. The fresh who have already completed ORIENT assignments are H. Edward Born, Francis M.

Wallace R. Harper, Jr.

Harper was elevated from the position of Managing Editor of the college newspaper. He is a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity, an English major, Harper also plays trumpet for the Polar Bear Five. His home is in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Other top promotions were received by John B. Goodrich '53, Richard M. Catalano '55, James Anyell Jr. '55 and David R. Anderson '55.

Goodrich assumes the position of Managing Editor, replacing Harper. Goodrich, a Chi Psi, is the

Vice-President Norton, Hokanson, Cross Join College Administration

Three changes have been made in the Administration Department of Bowdoin this fall. Bela W. Norton has been installed as Vice President, Wolcott A. Hokanson as Assistant to the Bursar, and Robert Cross as Administrative Assistant in the Administrative Department.

Mr. Norton has been appointed to the newly formed position of Vice President. His main duty is to strengthen Bowdoin's publicity. He graduated summa cum laude from Bowdoin in the Class of 1918 and received an honor's degree of Master of Arts from the college in 1952. Before coming to Bowdoin he was with "Colonial Williamsburg" in Williamsburg, Va. He is residing in Topsfield with his wife. Mrs. Norton is a native of England.

Bursar Assistant Appointed

Mr. Hokanson recently joined the staff of Glenn R. McIntire after having been business manager of the Adelphi College at Garden City, N.Y., since April 1952. Prior

Prof. Cushing Calls A Blanket Tax Meeting

Prof. Morgan B. Cushing, Chairman of Faculty Blanket Tax Committee, has announced that hearings to receive requests for funds will be held the week of Oct. 12. All campus activities have been budgeted to present their yearly budgets at that time.

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, September 30, 1953 No. 7

Editor-In-Chief Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55
Managing Editor John B. Goodrich '55
News Editor James Anwyll, Jr. '55
Assistant News Editors Edward N. Cotter '56
Sports Editor Carroll E. Fennell '56
Sports Editor Robert M. Hurst '54
Assistant Sports Editor Joseph Y. Rogers '55
Photographer James P. Gaston '54
Staff
Peter Schmalzer, Jr. '57
Edward P. Parsons '57
John Ranlett '57
Vincent S. Villard, Jr. '57
Thomas L. Spence '57
John E. Simonds '57

Business Manager Bruce N. Cooper '54
Assistant Business Managers C. Richard Thurston '54
Circulation Manager Harold R. Beacham, Jr. '56
Business Assistants William C. Cooke '57
BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Directors: Professor Athem P. Daggett, Professor Philip M. Brown, Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilley '54, Thomas Otis, Jr. '53, Charles Ranlett '54.

Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semesters by the students of Bowdoin College. Address news communications to the Editor and subscription communications to the Business Manager of the Bowdoin Publishing Company at the ORIENT Office in Moore Hall, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. Entered at second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three ($3) dollars.

Dry Rushing Seen Successful

For the second consecutive year dry rushing was attempted at Bowdoin and for the first time it can be called successful. Congratulations are due to all twelve fraternities for their adherence to the gentleman's agreement originally set up by the Student Council. It was a strange and to us a refreshing sight to walk into a house where the freshmen were being served cokes and coffee instead of liquor.

The fact that most houses seem to be well satisfied with their delegations is simple proof that dry rushing worked. Rushing expenses were cut considerably under the new system. House spirit was unusually high and the competition was as keen as ever. And no freshman awoke to find an unwelcome pledge pin on his lapel.

Welcome To Class Of '57

The ORIENT extends a warm welcome to the class of 1957 on its arrival to the Bowdoin campus. Everybody agrees that the new freshmen class is one of the most outstanding and promising groups in a long time. But the new freshmen would be wise not to let this praise go to their heads. They have just begun the routine of classwork and other activities. Many will fall by the wayside if they are not careful to keep up to date in their studies.

Mr. Hubert S. Shaw is to be congratulated for the fine job he has done. We the upperclassmen have had the opportunity to meet the men he has selected and we feel that they are worthy of carrying on the Bowdoin tradition. So once again we say "hi" and the best of luck to all of you in the class of 1957.

Senator Smith Speaks To Church Convention

Race Differences Important
Yet another problem facing us is the vast difference in cultural backgrounds of the people. We cannot expect Arabs, Jews, Egyptians, Iranians, to assemble and agree on many issues. The U.S. itself must be ready to agree with these people once they reach an agreement on controversial issues, added Senator Smith. It would take time and understanding on our part before a satisfactory solution to the Middle East problem is reached.

Recent Grads Receive Army Assignments

of students in Military Science courses. Over 80% of all Freshmen are enrolled in the first year basic course, despite the apparent decrease in world tension. There are 73 in the senior advanced course, 82 juniors, 140 sophomores and 174 freshmen. There are two new members of the ROTC staff this fall. Lt. Col. W. R. Winfrey and 1st Lieut. Robert E. Wright will serve as instructors during the coming year. Col. Winfrey replaces Lt. Col. Gregg C. McLeod as Executive Officer.

1953 PLEDGES IN BOWDOIN FRATERNITIES

- Alpha Delta Phi: Albert, John W., Carpenter, Harry G., Jr., Davis, John C., III, Dot, David H., Dyer, Donald E., Jr., Edson, Dwight L., Foster, William C., Gane, Walter G., Gass, Peter F., Helms, Eugene V., Herrick, John D., Hurst, Arthur L., Jr., Messer, David G., Needham, Thomas, O'Neill, Paul J., Jr., Stout, Jared D., Thorne, Frederick G. P., Woodward, John J.
Theta Delta Chi: Beckett, William C., Cervi, Ronald L., Colodny, S. Zalman, Estes, Robert A., Fickett, Richard K., Frayer, Thomas P., Hobby, Kent G., Moses, Walter, Murphy, Joseph J., Thomas, Henry C., Watson, David K., Armstrong, Richard Q., Bell, Richard L., Chapman, Charles A., Connett, Hartley S., Danckle, George W., Gable, Robert S., Jr., Gohard, Richard G., Ham, David F., Harlow, W. Logan, Hunter, David K., Johnston, Lawrence, Leighton, Charles M., Leonard, Leslie G., Land, H. Eric, McDonald, Bruce M., McWilliams, William A., Jr., Murdock, James M., Orne, Peter K., Perkins, Payson S., Smith, James B., Williams, Vincent S., Wheeler, Eugene M., Jr., Whisart, Robert A., III, Davis, George T., Dole, Richard S., Higgins, James B., Humphrey, John K., Poulos, Robert E., Roubly, David G., Samels, Daniel, Jr., Smith, Richard W., Stuart, Douglas S., Thompson, Robert W., Williams, Edward R., Boudreau, James L., Dow, John P., Gardner, Henry W., McGee, D. Bruce, Green, Marvin H., Jr., Howland, John L., Kinsbury, Paul I., Jr., Lawrence, Steven C., Manning, John J., III, McDaniel, Joseph W., McGee, D. Bruce, Phillippe, Robert L., Randall, Dana W., Seavey, David L., Smart, George A., Stevenson, William H., Sullivan, Kevin G., Wilton, Donald E.
Sigma Nu: Blaciner, Stanley M., Burdick, Richard D., Byles, Harry E., Chaus, Richard W., Finn, John C., Fackler, Werner J., Guida, Donald F., Greese, Richard W., Hastings, Peter G., Hovey, Leland W., Jr., McDonough, D. Bruce, Morrison, John T., Ryan, John A., Strout, Arthur E., Thomas, Jackson W., Vollmer, John W., Wade, Joseph G., Wassner, William O., Wenzel, Frederick J., Wyman, Jack P., Beckhafer, S. Washington, D.C., Davis, Peter W., Dewsnap, James W., Drake, Douglas L., Kuehner, James P., Langbein, Edward E., Jr., Lyman, Richard B., Merrill, Thomas R., Metzger, F. Kirk, Reiskin, Allan B., Smith, Raymond, Wagser, Robert A., Webster, David Z., Wilson, Roland C.
Alpha Phi Upsilon: Cohen, Saul H., Cowin, Bruce R., Cusner, Alan J., Drew, Bradford W., Edracher, Theodore F., Freedland, Arnold L., Frosel, Marvin P., Goldsman, Arnold B., Katz, David M., Kessler, David, Kinswiler, Francis M., Lanes, Allen M., Levy, Norman L., Moody, Stanton D., Rabinowitz, Mayer, Rabinowitz, Herbert A., Strasser, Ira H., Stines, James H., Stokes, M. Carlton, Strauss, Peter J., Traister, David A., Winer, Nathan, Wilson, Clement S.
Delta Sigma: Alden, John J., Chavonell, Arthur R., III, Collins, John W., Cullina, Robert L., DeFalk, Carl J., Edick, Edward O., Gaucher, Adrian A., Hamilton, William H., Miller, James S., Ranlett, John Snyder, Samuel M., Wilson, Clement S.
Chi Psi: Needham, Mats, Brainin, Mats, Albany, N.Y., Bangor, Me., Howland, William S., Jr., Wallston, Mass., Newville, Mass., Reading, Mass., Short Hills, N.J., Concord, N.H., Camden, Me., Parkside, Va., Lexington, Mass., Shaker Heights, Ohio, New Canaan, Conn., Short Hills, N.J., Concord, N.H., Wilmington, Del., Farmington, Me., Brockton, Mass., Auburndale, Mass., Portland, Me., Lake Forest, Ill., Bangor, Me., Bronville, N.Y., Lakewood, Ohio.

David Rogerson Elected Student Council Leader

David S. Rogerson '54 was elected President of the Student Council in the recent election conducted by acting President Paul P. Brountas '54. Rogerson, a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, is a graduate of the Middlesex School. At Bowdoin he has been prominent in campus activities. He played freshman football, two years of J.V. baseball, and was chosen as the captain of the varsity hockey team. A member of the A.D. executive committee, Rogerson has served on the White Key and has represented his fraternity in interfraternity athletics. He is also a member of the senior division, Reserve Officers Training Corps. Elected as the new Vice-President of the Council was Charles E. Orcutt '54. Orcutt, who lives in Yonkers, N.Y., is a member of the Zeta Psi fraternity. He has been active in interfraternity athletics and is an officer in both the Bowdoin Christian Association and the Debating Council. Leonard Charles Mulligan '54 was elected as Secretary-Treasurer of the Council. Mulligan, who has been a cheerleader for the past two years, is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He has played in fraternity sports and was recently elected Steward for the D.K.E. house.

FOUNTAIN PENS

Parker 51 13.50 and up
Sheaffer 4.03 and up
We handle the Paper Mate Pen 1.69
Paper Mate Refills .49
MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE
Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it...
Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money.
TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY
ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS
The Record Office
Paul K. Niven Jerry Wilkes
Printers Of The Orient

LAMP SHADES

Of Better Quality All Sizes
Treworgy Furniture Co. 11 Pleasant Street
BOWL-MOR Alleys
Student Patronage Welcomed
186 Maine Street

'Polar Bear Five' Concludes Successful Summer Engagement; To Play At Psi U House Saturday

The "Polar Bear Five", the College dixieland band, spent the past summer playing in Falmouth, Mass. Cape Cod. John Sheehan's Restaurant was the name of the night club where the band was featured. The band began work the 27th of June and worked through the summer until September 5. The hours of playing were nightly from nine until one o'clock and Saturday and Sunday afternoons from two until four-thirty. They had Tuesday nights free. Unlike the Meddiebumpers who traveled all summer, the "Polar Bear Five" were able to rent a permanent summer home in Falmouth. Many Bowdoin students made special trips to Falmouth to see the band, and their patronage both at the restaurant and at the cottage.

Wolcott Hokanson Jr. Recently Appointed As Assistant To The Bursar

President James S. Coles late last summer announced the appointment of Wolcott A. Hokanson Jr. as Assistant to the Bursar, Glenn R. McIntire. Mr. Hokanson assumed his duties on August 31, after having served as business manager at Adelphi College since April, 1952. Prior to his work at Adelphi, he had been administrative assistant to the controller of Yale University. Mr. Hokanson is not a newcomer to the Bowdoin College campus, however. He took an accelerated course here from September, 1946, to September, 1948, and graduated with his class in 1950 with Phi Beta Kappa honors. After his work at Bowdoin, he did graduate work at Harvard University School of Business Administration, where he received his M.B.A. Now Residing In Brunswick Mr. Hokanson is married, his wife, Frances, having worked at the information desk in Dean Kendrick's office during part of his undergraduate residence at Bowdoin. They have two boys, one two years old and the other, five weeks. Last week end, Mr. Hokanson moved his family to Brunswick, where they took up residence at Bowdoin Courts. Mr. Hokanson was born in Somerville, Mass., and received his secondary training at Thayer Academy. While at Bowdoin, he was a member of the Psi Upsilon Fraternity, and he received the distinction of being its president during his last year here.

Tryouts For Freshmen, Sophs In Achorn Prize Competition To Be Held

Freshmen and sophomores interested in competing for the prizes of $55 offered for Achorn Prize Debaters should consult with Professor Thayer at Sills Hall, Room 110. The contest will be held early this year as a trial for new men (as well as former debaters) who wish to be considered for assignments to the Eastern Intercollegiate Tournament at the University of Vermont, November 20 and 21. The topic is the intercollegiate question of the year: Resolved, that the U.S. should adopt a policy of Free Trade. Trials: October 15, 7:00 p.m., 100 Sills Hall. Finals: November 10, 8:00 p.m., Smith Union Room. At the trials each contestant will present a four minute argument on some phase of one side of the question. He will also refute the arguments of another speaker to whom he is assigned at the time. Materials will be available in the Debaters' Reserve Shelf of the Library Reading Room. Men who have not previously received intercollegiate debating assignments will be given their first opportunity to qualify at trials on October 15, 8:00 p.m., Room 100 Sills Hall. The instructions and topic are those given above. Trials for the Achorn teams will serve the same purpose as the general trials. Assignments to the University of Vermont Tournament will be made on November 11.

Harper, Goodrich Made ORIENT Heads For Fall

(Continued from Page 1) Kinney, Edward R. Williams, Stanton I. Moody, John R. Withers, Peter Schmalzer, Edward P. Parsons, John Ranlett, Vincent S. Villard and Thomas L. Spence. Two other freshmen, John E. Simonds and Herbert A. Miller, have been appointed to the sports staff and from Thomas R. Merrill and William C. Cooke are business assistants.

Take a tip from the cowboy

"Matchless Service"
Ford
Sales and Service
Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed
USED CARS
Maine's Most Modern Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop
Complete Front End and Frame Alignment
3.98
Phil's SURPLUS STORE
78 Maine Street, Brunswick

EDUCATORS ALL OVER AMERICA APPROVE Paper-Mate PENS

EVANGELINE FAHY
Principal
Lawson School
Chicago, Illinois

FATHER C. J. STALLWORTH
Principal
Jesuit High School
New Orleans, Louisiana

LENA McCULLOUGH
Principal
Weldele School
Terre Haute, Indiana

ROSS LARSEN
Principal
Austin Junior High School
Amarillo, Texas

VIRGIL BIBLE
Principal
Brainerd Junior High School
Chattanooga, Tennessee

FATHER PAUL KELLY
Principal
Riordan High School
San Francisco, California

WALTER COOPER
Principal
Wichita East High School
Wichita, Kansas

B. M. DINSMORE
Superintendent of Schools
Wichita Falls, Texas

BROTHER DOMINIE LUKE
President
St. John's College
Washington, D. C.

LEWIS BLODGETT
Supervising Principal
Levittown, New York

RICHARD WATTS
Principal
Baldwin Junior High School
Montgomery, Alabama

JOSEPH MAHAN, JR.
Instructor
University of Georgia
Columbus, Georgia

"I used a Paper-Mate Pen to write the Gregg shorthand textbook"

SAYS
LOUIS LESLIE

Author; GREGG SHORTHAND SIMPLIFIED
Gregg Publishing Division
TYPING SIMPLIFIED
American Book Company

No other pen gives you the matchless writing luxury of the Paper-Mate. Paper-Mate's exclusive Formula X-217 ink is guaranteed to out-perform any other ball pen ink in the world. No other pen has won nation-wide acclaim of principals, teachers, bankers, aviators, mothers.

Here's Why

The Pen Can't Leak The Ink Can't Transfer

BANKER-APPROVED

Available in 5 Colors

Color Refills . . . 49c

UNCONDITIONALLY

GUARANTEED FOR

20 YEARS

always a clean point

GET A PAPER-MATE TODAY

$1.69

EVERYWHERE

PENS AND REFILLS ON SALE EVERYWHERE

POLAR BEARINGS

Robert M. Hurst '54, ORIENT Sports Editor

In spite of criticism throughout the country that the abolition of two-platoon football would mark the beginning of the end for collegiate football, the NCAA's new ruling has stood initial tests around the country during the past two weekends.

Down at Medford last Saturday afternoon Adam Walsh took to the field to "play football as it should be played." To all intents and purposes the "new" system was a whopping success as far as Bowdoin fans were concerned. For Tufts partisans the final result was not as they had expected, but I think they would agree that one-platoon football and the return of the sixty minute man was a welcome change in contrast to the padded hordes of the past few seasons.

The arguments for two-platoon football are as numerous and varied as the days of the year. The new ruling bars a player from returning to the game during a period in which he has been withdrawn, except for the last few minutes of the second and fourth periods. Thus says Notre Dame's Frank Leahy "college football has returned to a gaitlight game."

One of the arguments Leahy uses to defend his two-platoon game is that it permits fewer men to play the game at an intercollegiate varsity level. It must be conceded that this will be true in a number of instances of big-time college football as is practised in the Midwest and on the coast. In the case of the smaller New England colleges where small squads are in the majority the one-platoon system will improve the game. In Saturday's game with Tufts every member of the Bowdoin team saw action at one time or another.

Character-building seems to enter the controversy for one reason or another. Leahy argues that two-platoon helps the all-around athlete who is removed from the game learn the lesson of self-sacrifice and subordination to the welfare of the group. As an example he cites the case of an Ohio State player who was 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighed in at 140 pounds soaking wet. This lad's job was to kick the extra points for his team. Under the new system he will get into the game even fewer times than he did before. On the other side of the track it is also said that now under the present rules players will have to be in the finest physical condition to go the whole route. Also now the player who hated the drudgery of defense will have to wade through something which he dislikes. Many say that the age of the football prima-donna has disappeared. Why should a varsity letter be awarded to a player who is in action only half the time?

Mel Totman, who played for 56 minutes, turned in one of the best games he has ever played at Bowdoin scoring two touchdowns and doing a great job on defense.

From the fan's point of view the game seemed just as enjoyable this season as it did last year. Football history proves that a team of thirteen or fourteen players well-coached and high-spirited can occasionally stave off the advantages of superior depth and go on to win. The fans now will be able to know who is playing without having their noses in a program half the game. Although many say that Joe Fan doesn't particularly care who plays as long as there is a good game, I think that this supposition is completely wrong. Baseball is a good example of this fact. Being able to recognize the players as they come to bat and as they make good fielding plays, builds up the excitement of a game. People come to see their favorite players in action, not to see a bunch of nobodies run around the field.

Next week's opponent for Bowdoin, Wesleyan, dropped a 12-7 decision to Middlebury a traditionally weak team among New England small colleges. The Cardinals have always been a tough team to beat as far as the Polar Bears are concerned and could repeat last year's triumph.

Bates was thoroughly trounced by the University of Massachusetts 34-12. Mass State scored four touchdowns in the last period to sew up the contest after Bates had held the Redskins even during three quarters of the game. Both Maine and Colby also lost during the week end. Colby lost to AIC 19-14, while the Black Bears lost to powerful University of Rhode Island 13-6. Most topside score of the week — Maryland 52 Washington and Lee 0.

Mass Action, Group Activities Have Their Place, Brown States

Criticism of America by Europeans provided the topic for Professor Herbert R. Brown's chapel talk last Thursday.

The professor answered frequent criticism on the part of Europeans regarding the "gregariousness" of American students by stating that in American colleges, through group activity, "lame ducks are made to fly, while in foreign universities the tendency is for them to become lamers and lamers."

Education Individual Enterprise - While defending the American practice of doing things in groups, the professor declared that "education is an intensely individual enterprise." He added, "There is no group substitute for long hours of

CUMBERLAND

- Brunswick, Maine
- Wed.-Thurs. Sept. 30-Oct. 1
A BLUEPRINT FOR MURDER with Joseph Cotton Jean Peters Gary Merrill
also Short Subjects
 - Fri.-Sat. Oct. 2-3
RIDE VAQUERO
with Robert Taylor Ava Gardner Howard Keel
also Short Subject
 - Sun.-Mon.-Tues. Oct. 4-5-6
ROMAN HOLIDAY with Gregory Peck Audrey Hepburn
also Short Subject
 - News Short Subjects
 - Wed.-Thurs. Oct. 7-8
HOUDINI
with Tony Curtis Janet Leigh
also Short Subjects

Scores Twice Against Tufts

Shown above is Mel Totman, Bowdoin backfield star, who starred both offensively and defensively in the Tufts opener. Scoring two of the touchdowns for the Big White, Totman is taking up where he left off last year with his sparkling play.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The Student Council and the College Administration wish to have it understood that they believe the act of vandalism — the painting of the Bowdoin Polar Bear — was not committed by any of the college students in the state of Maine, and that no Bowdoin student should make any reprisals for this unfortunate incident.

'ORIENT Notice

All undergraduates, freshmen or otherwise, who are sincerely interested in any phase of newspaper work are urged to call at the ORIENT office tomorrow night at 7:30. Assignments for the next issue will be given out at this time, and those undergraduates not already on the staff should try to be present. Anyone inclined toward advertising or business work should also get in touch with the Editors.

Reverend J. Samuelson Mentions Famous Men In Sunday Chapel Talk

The Reverend J. Arthur Samuelson, A.M., S.T.M., pastor of the First Parish Church of Brunswick gave the season's first vesper sermon last Sunday at 5 p.m.

Reverend Samuelson spoke of the importance of our college friendships and their effect upon our later lives. The Reverend Mr. Samuelson also stated that friendship, now more than ever before, should be of utmost importance in the ultra-materialistic modern life.

The lives of George Washington Carver and Carl Sandburg were cited by the Reverend Mr. Samuelson as being exemplary in that they forsook fame for improving the world. "With their lives as an example, we might be able to discern more clearly true greatness from the more obvious," the speaker said.

In our classrooms we have an unequalled opportunity, stated the Reverend Mr. Samuelson, to gain a deeper sort of knowledge through the friendships of our professors and that in our haste to scholastically prepare ourselves we often overlook the making of firm, fast, friendships.

In our classrooms we have an unequalled opportunity, stated the Reverend Mr. Samuelson, to gain a deeper sort of knowledge through the friendships of our professors and that in our haste to scholastically prepare ourselves we often overlook the making of firm, fast, friendships.

Professor Brown was on leave from the college last spring during which time he visited several European nations.

Masque And Gown

"The Better Bread", a play by Don Carlo, will be presented by the Masque and Gown. Students interested in joining the Masque and Gown are invited to attend auditions for the play. These auditions will take place on Wednesday night from 8 to 11 p.m. It was announced by Donald Rayment '54, Publicity Director of the Masque and Gown.

'53 Football Schedule

VARSITY GAMES AT HOME
Oct. 3	Wesleyan 2:00 p.m.
Oct. 24	Colby 1:30 p.m.
Oct. 31	Bates 1:30 p.m.
VARSITY GAMES AWAY
Oct. 10	Amherst at Amherst 2:00 p.m.
Oct. 17	Williams - Williamstown 2:00 p.m.
Nov. 7	Maine at Orono 1:30 p.m.
FRESHMAN GAMES
Oct. 17	Hobart-Away 2:00 p.m.
Oct. 23	Tilton-Home 2:30 p.m.
Oct. 30	Higgins-Home 2:30 p.m.
Nov. 6	Exeter-Home 3:00 p.m.

Tennis Notice

The annual Fall Tennis Tournament will take place shortly after the first of October. All entries must be posted on the bulletin board in the gym by Friday, October 2.

The draw will be posted on the same bulletin board Monday, October 5. Play will begin at once for the tournament must be run off as promptly as possible.

For further information contact Varsity Captain Skip Howard 21 Hyde Hall and the Beta House; or Bill Nieman, A.D. House.

Bowdoin Displays Power, Skill As Tufts Jumbos Bow In Season Opener, 32-6

Cosgrove, Totman Spark Attack For Polar Bears; Dyer Shines

Robert M. Hurst '54

Showing surprising speed, balance, and power for an opening game, the Bowdoin gridiron Polar Bears rode roughshod over the hapless Tufts Jumbos at the Medford oval 32 to 6.

Bowdoin scored swiftly with two quick touchdowns in the first period and then coasted to an easy win scoring once again in the second quarter and twice in the final frame. The Polar Bears opened an accurate passing attack with Cosgrove doing the chucking, but after the first two touchdowns switched to a concentrated running game.

Bowdoin's first two scores came within minutes of each other. Mel Totman in a manner reminiscent of Columbia's great end Bill Swiacki, made a diving catch of one of co-captain's Jack Cosgrove's and fell into the end zone. Fred Coukos smashed off right tackle from the three yard line for the other first period score. Totman's TD climaxed the end of a 55 yard drive which included a 24 yard Cosgrove to Coukos pass play, three line smashes by sophomore Lee Dyer, Coukos, and Totman to the thirteen. Steve McCabe recovered Bill Sawin's fumble on the next kickoff to set up the second score of the period as five plays later Coukos crashed the Tufts' forward wall.

The Polar Bears lost another touchdown minutes later when Fred Coukos recovered a fumble by Brooks Johnson, Jumbo speed merchant, on the Tufts' 42. Cosgrove spotted Andy Williamson with a pass that carried to the 20, but the Polar Bears were set back to their own 44 for having an illegal receiver downfield. Bowdoin got another break in the second stanza when Sawin again fumbled a punt on the Tufts' 20. Cosgrove and Totman carried the ball down to the two on four plays, and on the third Dyer plunged over. Dyer then converted and Bowdoin had a 19-0 lead.

The Jumbos took over in the third period and dominated the play most of the way. Tufts' score by period: 12-0 6-0 12-6 Total 30-6

Merrymeeting Gift Shop

185 Park Row
Greeting Cards --- Gifts
Free Gift Wrapping

SEE and HEAR

The New Columbia 360 Phonograph
It is the best in tone
Just Arrived The New Glen Miller Album
In 33! And 45
LIMITED EDITION
FIELD'S RADIO SHOP
Phone 679 Brunswick, Maine 147 Maine Street

How the stars got started ☆☆☆

Mickey Mantle says:
"My Dad played semi-pro ball and wanted me to play ball, too. He put a glove on my hand when I was just a kid. I loved baseball from the start - and I worked hard at it to be good. So far it looks like it paid off."

I STARTED SMOKING CAMELS WHEN I JOINED THE YANKEES BECAUSE SO MANY OF MY TEAMMATES SMOKED THEM. THAT WAS A SMART DECISION. CAMELS ARE MILD AND SWELL TASTING!

Mickey Mantle
N.Y. YANKEE STAR

Start smoking Camels yourself!

Smoke only Camels for 30 days and find out why Camels are America's most popular cigarette. See how mild and flavorful a cigarette can be!

For Mildness and Flavor CAMELS AGREE WITH MORE PEOPLE THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

Association Of New England Colleges To Meet Here Next Week

Following a program devoted to the consideration of questions submitted by members, the Association of Colleges in New England will hold its ninety-sixth annual meeting on the Bowdoin campus, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Two to four representatives from each of the 14 member colleges will attend a series of discussion meetings at the Union, the President's House, and the Pickard Field House. President Cole will preside at the sessions. Questions submitted by the member colleges have been grouped into 12 topics, including curriculum, instruction, finance, and scholarships and will be informally discussed by these topics.

Association Meets Annually
The Association of Colleges in New England meets yearly on the campus of one of its members. It last met at Bowdoin in 1938. Last year's sessions were at Yale. As the association has no officers, all arrangements for meetings are attended to by the host college with the president of that institution presiding. Each college is represented by two to four delegates usually from the administration. Bowdoin, however, has traditionally sent a teaching faculty member. Members are Amherst, Boston University, Bowdoin, Brown, Clark, Dartmouth, Harvard, Middlebury, Trinity Tufts, University of Vermont, Wesleyan, Williams, and Yale.

Scheduled for 1 p.m. Tuesday is registration of delegates and luncheon at the Moulton Union, followed by the afternoon meeting in the lounge of the Union. At 5 p.m. dinner will be served at the President's House; the evening meeting will follow Wednesday at 9 a.m. a meeting is to be held at the Pickard Field House. At 1 p.m. luncheon at the Union is scheduled to wind up the events.

Juniors Exempt From Cal Under New Ruling

[Continued From Page 1] be recorded on a student's permanent record. Other changes in the physical education system of the College include the following:

Up to this year the freshmen, sophomore, and junior classes have been allowed six cuts per semester with any additional cuts reported to the Dean, the result being probation if excuses were not acceptable. Under the new system students will be allowed ten cuts per semester, and those who take more than the allotted ten will fail Physical Education for the semester. There will be, however, a make-up period during the last week of each semester before the final examinations, during which a student may make up three attendances.

Students Keep Own Records
Students are required to keep a record of their cuts, a notice being sent to them only if they have taken more than the allotted ten. They may check on their attendance at the Athletic Office at any time.

The Dean's Office will receive no record of attendance and no student will be reported for probation during the semester. However, a record of passing or failing students will be sent to the Dean, and cases of such failure will be reported during the Recording Committee.

Both the Dean and Mr. Morrill hope that the new system will reduce the number of cuts to a minimum and also promote larger rosters on the various teams around campus.

Student Patronage Solicited

Member of the Federal Reserve System and Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

OXFORD

—no longer a one-collar style shirt!

It's a bright era for oxford fans. For this rich soft shirting now comes in many smart new collar styles, three of which are illustrated below, in addition to the ever popular button-down. All handsome and long-wearing—with Manhattan's traditional tailoring detail subtly present in every stitch. Why not see them today, at your nearest Manhattan dealer.

- REED—tabless tab, short point round collar.
- DRESS 'N' PLAY—convertible bandless collar, angle stays.
- MANROL BUTTON-DOWN—bandless, permanent wide spread collar.
- BURT—regular "soft-roll" button-down collar.

styled by Manhattan

© 1953. THE MANHATTAN SHIRT CO., 444 MADISON AVENUE, NEW YORK, N.Y.

1953 SOCIAL SEASON INITIATED SATURDAY

Polar Bear Five, 5 Other Bands Mark Occasion

By James Annyll Jr. '55

The 1953-1954 party season at Bowdoin was enthusiastically initiated last Saturday evening at several of the fraternities.

At the Alpha Delta Phi house the party program started at four-thirty with cocktails for the brothers, alumni, and their guests. A buffet supper was served at six. Then Gordon Howe and his orchestra supplied music for dancing until one a. m.

Jazz Main Attraction

A jazz concert held at the Psi Upsilon house proved to be the social cynosure of the week-end. The concert, which featured the Polar Bear Five, was received with much exuberance by an unusually large audience.

After the football game the Deke's started the evening's celebration with a cocktail party. Following dinner an orchestra from Gardner supplied the Deke's and their dances with music for dancing. The P.D.'s served cocktails at an informal party held after the game. The house remained open until one a. m.

Ole Sawyer Featured

The orchestra of Ole Sawyer of Portland played for dancing from nine to one at the Zeta House. An informal party was held after the game.

Coffee and doughnuts were served following the game at the Kappa Sigma House. The music of Bob Percival's Orchestra was rendered for the house dance from nine to one.

At the Beta House cocktails were served after the game. The Twilighters, a three piece orchestra from Portland, played for dancing from four-thirty until seven-thirty. A buffet supper was eaten at six.

Informal parties were the program Saturday afternoon and evening at the Sigma Nu House. About twenty-five dates attended the parties which lasted until two a. m.

At the Delta Sigma House cocktails followed the game. And informal parties continued until one.

Bowdoin Graduate On Supreme Court Given An Honorary Degree

Associate Supreme Court Justice Harold H. Burton '09 has received an honorary degree. Doctor of Jurisprudence, from the University of Toledo at ceremonies there October 2. The degree was presented to Justice Burton by another Bowdoin alumnus, Asa S. Knowles '30, who is President of the University.

Before he was appointed to the Supreme Court in 1945 by ex-President Truman, Justice Burton served as a United States Senator from Ohio from 1941 to 1945, and Mayor of Cleveland, Ohio, from 1935 to 1940. For several years, he practiced law in Utah, Idaho and Cleveland.

Captain in the U.S. Army during World War One, Justice Burton received the Purple Heart and was decorated by General Pershing with the Croix de Guerre of Belgium.

In 1912, Burton earned his Bachelor of Laws degree from Harvard. He has had conferred upon him Doctor of Letters degrees from Bowdoin, Oberlin, Ohio Wesleyan, Kenyon, Boston University and Wooster. He has also received honorary degrees from the University of Heidelberg, Western Reserve, Wesleyan University and Mt. Union.

Active At Bowdoin

At Bowdoin Justice Burton graduated summa cum laude and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. In his undergraduate years, he edited the ORIENT and the Bugle, while participating in varsity football and track. He was a fraternity brother of Delta Kappa Epsilon, served as senior class president and was active in dramatics, debating and the Bowdoin Christian Association.

His father, Dr. Alfred E. Burton, graduated from Bowdoin in 1878, and was a professor and dean at Massachusetts Institute of Technology for many years. William S. Burton, son of Justice Burton, graduated from Bowdoin in 1937.

Asa Knowles, who presented the Toledo degree, has been a dean at Northwestern University and at Rhode Island State College. In 1946 he was named President of the Association of Colleges of Upper New York, three temporary institutions for World War Two veterans, and two years later he became Vice President of Cornell University in charge of university development. In 1951 he took the post of President of Toledo University.

Dean Kendrick Speaks, First Student Council Meeting Monday Noon

Last Monday Dean Kendrick spoke briefly to the Student Council on the relationship of the college administration to the council.

The Dean stated that as time passed there has been a constant growth in student influence on matters of college administration. At one time, the Dean continued, the Student Council's task was merely an honorary position, but over the years it has taken on a more serious form. Mr. Kendrick told the council that it was an easier job for the administration to run the affairs of the college by mandate, but that he believed

New St. Council Head

David S. Rogerson '54, newly-elected President of the Student Council, Rogerson conducted the first organized meeting of the council Monday at which time Dean Kendrick outlined the relationship between the council and the administration.

President James S. Coles will represent Bowdoin at the American Council of Education conference, in Washington, D.C., next Thursday and Friday.

The main topic of the conference will be "New Dimensions for Education." Discussion groups will deal with "Financial and Academic Freedom," and "Congressional Investigations."

President Coles will be in the section meeting that will discuss "Future Patterns for Higher Education."

Men from the University of Colorado and Phillips Exeter will speak at the conference.

In a more particular manner the Dean mentioned several matters of recent occurrence. He reiterated his claim that he believed the vandalous painting done to the Bowdoin Bear was not the work of an undergraduate from another college and he hoped that no more would come of the incident.

The President, the Dean stated, wanted the Council to form an opinion as to what college paths ought to be next in line for repairs. In connection with this he urged that since so many of the paths were newly paved the students use them and not trample on the young grass.

Omissions Regretted

We regret the omission of the names of several freshmen in last week's list of fraternity pledges printed last week. Either the source of information was insufficient, or the reporting faulty. The ORIENT apologizes to those whose names were omitted.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

All those who plan to take the Selective Service Qualification Test should pick up application blanks in Mr. Wilder's office in Massachusetts Hall as soon as possible.

Traditional College Rules Govern Freshmen During Hazing Period

Nearly every Bowdoin freshman is now wearing two articles that are completely new to him, a pledge of fraternity and a heavy. When he doffed the latter he exchanged the royal treatment accorded him as a prospective pledge for the less gratifying experience of hazing.

Hazing, long a college tradition, serves a vital purpose in the adjustment of the freshman to his new environment. It is not, as some of the fresh are inclined to believe, a licensed excuse to torment them, but rather it is an able way of developing class spirit and awareness of the colorful tradition which surrounds the college.

New Trend

The trend in hazing today is one which de-emphasizes physical punishment and which is aimed at more constructive activity. Carried on now by the individual fraternities, the process hastens the learning of college and fraternity songs, names, important events in the history of the school. Whether or not the freshmen realize it, this process serves to knit them into a strong class and at the same time in a class which is steeped in the aura which distinguishes Bowdoin men from all others.

It is through hazing that the freshmen first come in contact with Bowdoin customs that are continually observed by the undergraduate body.

Perhaps the most important of these is the one regulating chapel behavior. Freshmen are required to remain within the chapel until the three upper classes have left. Then, and only then, may the freshmen leave. Other important

Alumni Council's New Appointments Revealed

The Alumni Council of Bowdoin, an organization without funds and without any power other than that of suggestion, has become a very important part of the college.

The Alumni Council is credited with endorsing, sponsoring and, for a time, financing the Placement Bureau, and the expanded work in Admissions. The council serves somewhat as a go-between for the alumni and the college.

The following committee appointments have been made for the year 1953-1954. They are as follows: Nominations; Messrs. Humphrey, Parker and Chalmers. Mr. Humphrey has also been appointed as Ballot Auditor. Alumni Service Award; Messrs. Good, Sawyer and DeSuzo. Prospective Students Committee; Messrs. Niblock, Mahoney, Small and Hight. Placement Committee; Messrs. Norton, Gulliver and Sibley. Scholarship Aid Committee; Messrs. Elliott, Salter, McIntyre and Niblock. Alumni House Committee; Messrs. Sawyer, McInnis, Willard, Quinby and Gulliver.

Alumni Day is October 31, the day of the Bates game. At that time further notice regarding council meetings will be available. Luncheon tickets should be ordered in advance.

Bowdoin Represented By Coles At Educational Conference In Capital

President James S. Coles will represent Bowdoin at the American Council of Education conference, in Washington, D.C., next Thursday and Friday.

The main topic of the conference will be "New Dimensions for Education." Discussion groups will deal with "Financial and Academic Freedom," and "Congressional Investigations."

President Coles will be in the section meeting that will discuss "Future Patterns for Higher Education."

Men from the University of Colorado and Phillips Exeter will speak at the conference.

SUCCESSFUL ALUMNI FUND CONFERENCE HELD HERE

The Fourth Annual On-Campus Conference of the Bowdoin Alumni Fund was held last week end, Oct. 2 and 3, with many of the 53 Class Agents in attendance.

The conference opened Friday afternoon with a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Fund. These men, including one from Texas and another from Chicago, are headed by Chairman George S. Willard '30 of Sanford.

Edwin Benjamin Comes Back To Campus After Two Years In Japan

Mr. Edwin B. Benjamin, an Alpha Delta Phi and Phi Beta Kappa in the Class of 1937, has recently returned to the College as Assistant Professor in English after having spent two years in Japan where he taught under a program operated by the State Department's Information Office.

Returned From Japan

After graduating from Bowdoin, Mr. Benjamin received his M. A. (1938) and Ph.D. (1946) degrees from Harvard. In 1941 and 1942 he served as an instructor of English at Hamilton College. This was followed by four years which he spent in the United States Army Signal Corps. When he left the Army in 1946, he became instructor of English at Yale for two years. From 1947-1951 he held the position of Assistant Professor of English at Wesleyan University.

Edwin B. Benjamin

While he was in Japan Professor (Continued on Page 4)

Kendrick, Dane To Be Delegates At Confab On Educational Progress

Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick and Professor Nathan Dane II will attend a conference sponsored by the "Ford Foundation" at the University Club in New York City, to discuss student progress in his formal education.

As it stands now a person must go through eight years of grade school and four years each of high school and college. The question is: are these sharply defined periods necessary or are they just an obsolete standard? There are good reasons for both procedures, and there is no definite hint as to the answer yet.

In order to make these periods more flexible secondary schools may offer courses upon request. Successful completion will give a student credit in college. Such courses would only be offered to students who could handle them.

Dean Kendrick will sit on the central committee to discuss the question which has been studied by twelve colleges for a year now.

ROTC Unit Receives 'Duck' For Training

The first piece of heavy equipment in the line of transportation, an amphibious duck, was added to the Bowdoin Reserve Officers Training Corps this year.

The duck was on display here at Bowdoin during the arrival and registration period of the first week of school.

The duck's capacity is 25 men or about one platoon.

The duck is 43 feet long and has a weight of two and one half tons. Its purpose at Bowdoin will be for the training of cadets in amphibious operations. It will be used chiefly for the instruction of the officers in the advanced course of R.O.T.C.

This new addition is the first full size vehicle for training, although the program here has many scale models of transportation equipment. The school has a nearly complete collection of weapons for practice.

College Association Meets Here With Coles Presiding

To Attend Meeting

Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick who will attend the conference sponsored by the "Ford Foundation," will be on the central committee at the discussion. Also representing Bowdoin will be Professor Nathan Dane II.

Holds Informal Discussions On 16 Topics Of Interest

Minutes Not Kept

No minutes were kept and no reporters covered the meetings which took place in the Moulton Union, President's House and the Pickard Field House. The 16 discussion topics were drawn up from a list of detailed questions which each member college had prepared in advance.

The conference officially commenced at 1 p.m., Tuesday, when the registration of delegates and a luncheon at the Union took place. An afternoon meeting was held in the lounge. Dinner was served at 6 p.m. at the President's House, followed by an evening session period. This morning the Pickard Field House was the scene of an afternoon meeting, following which the last event in this year's confab, luncheon at the Union, occurred.

Six Bowdoin Representatives

Six representatives attended the meetings from Bowdoin, twice as many as the number of the representatives from the average member college. Heading the list was James S. Coles, President. The five other Bowdoin representatives were Samuel E. Kameiling, Professor of Chemistry; Nathaniel C. Kendrick, Dean; Bela W. Norton, Vice-President; Philip S. Wilder, Assistant to the President; and Hubert S. Shaw, Director of Admissions.

The 14 colleges represent every state in New England. From Connecticut, Trinity College sent President Albert C. Jacobs and one other representative. Wesleyan University dispatched President Victor G. Butterfield and two other delegates, and Yale University sent fourth President A. Whitney Griswold and two of his associates.

Bowdoin Courtesy Not Returned From Amherst; Students Slighted

There is a quality which sets Bowdoin apart from many other colleges. This quality is just a purely human attempt at friendliness. Individually this quality is represented by the Bowdoin "hello" and on a larger scale it is represented by the administrative policies of the college.

An example of this administrative "friendliness" can be seen in our athletic department. When, over the past few seasons, the football squads of Amherst, Wesleyan and Williams have played in Brunswick the undergraduates of these schools have been invited to the game as guests of our athletic department. This attempt at intercollegiate courtesy has been poorly reciprocated by the so called "Little Three." Only Williams found it not beneath their dignity to share the Bowdoin friendliness.

Amherst and Wesleyan, on the other hand, ignored the obvious attempt at friendliness of the college and even the letters of our athletic department.

This lack of rapport between the athletic departments of Bowdoin and the "Little Three" is one of the main reasons for the suspension of football relations between the two institutions. The Wesleyan athletic department, therefore, sacrificed many undergraduate friendships in order to increase its football receipts.

Now as another Bowdoin-Amherst game approaches we are led to wonder about the administrative relationships of these two schools. Amherst officials again have given no consideration to our athletic department's request for a reduced ticket price for our visiting undergraduates. Are even more student B.C.A. to sponsor services in some of the churches in the local area. Budget problems were also under consideration.

B.C.A., Led By Kenneth Miller, Meets With Faculty Religious Group

In the Peucinian Room last Wednesday night, the Executive Committee of the Bowdoin Christian Association met with the Committee on Religious Activities, composed of members of the faculty.

The Executive Committee is composed of Kenneth B. Miller '54, president; Leonidas B. Southard '55, vice-president; David R. Anderson '55, secretary; and George A. Harvey '55, treasurer. The faculty committee consists of Dr. James M. Moulton, Dr. Ernest Helmreich, Glenn R. McIntire, Dr. Henry G. Russell and Eaton Leith.

Dates and topics for the annual Religious Forum were discussed. Although no definite plans were made, this popular event will probably occur in either December or February.

Tentative Plans Were Made For The B.C.A. To Sponsor Services In Some Of The Churches In The Local Area.

Budget problems were also under consideration.

Tentative plans were made for the B.C.A. to sponsor speeches on special interest to the students. At the conclusion of the meeting, leaders of both groups expressed the wish that the two committees will work together during the year to further the religious activities at the college.

Dean Calls Attention To New Rules Governing Dropping Of Courses

Several changes have been made to the rules governing the dropping of any course for any reason.

There will be a charge of $7.50 for any course dropped, changed, or added to at any time between the end of the first week and the end of the sixth week of any semester. For the fall semester these dates are from September 28 to October 31, 1953.

After the first six weeks of any semester no course may be dropped without a grade of "E" unless there are adequate medical or exceptional reasons. Dean Kendrick wishes to call special attention to this change in ruling.

There will be a charge of one dollar for any course which is dropped, changed, or added between the time of registration and the first week of any semester.

New Faculty Lunches

The Robert Peter Tristram Coffin Room of the Moulton Union has been made available on Mondays for faculty members who wish to meet informally and spontaneously for lunch.

The self-service canteen will be open from 12:15 p.m. until 1:00 p.m.

Yale's Prof. Greene To Be Speaker At James Bowdoin Day Exercises

James Bowdoin Day exercises, a fitting recognition to those undergraduates who distinguish themselves in scholarship, will be held in Memorial Hall on Thursday, October 15, at 11 a.m.

Theodore Meyer Greene, Ph.D., A.D., L.L.D., Professor of Philosophy at Yale University, will deliver the address, entitled "Our Liberal Tradition."

James Bowdoin Day, named in honor of the earliest patron of the College, was instituted in 1941 to award recognition to undergraduates distinguished in scholarship, "James Bowdoin Scholarships," carrying no stipend, are awarded to members of the three upper classes who have maintained a high average in the courses to date. Certain seniors who have done outstanding work in their major department are also recognized. To each student who has received straight A's in two consecutive semesters of the preceding year, a book is presented bearing the plate of James Bowdoin.

Dean Calls Attention To New Rules Governing Dropping Of Courses

Several changes have been made to the rules governing the dropping of any course for any reason.

There will be a charge of $7.50 for any course dropped, changed, or added to at any time between the end of the first week and the end of the sixth week of any semester. For the fall semester these dates are from September 28 to October 31, 1953.

After The First Six Weeks Of Any Semester No Course May Be Dropped Without A Grade Of "E" Unless There Are Adequate Medical Or Exceptional Reasons.

Dean Kendrick wishes to call special attention to this change in ruling.

There will be a charge of one dollar for any course which is dropped, changed, or added between the time of registration and the first week of any semester.

Professor A. H. P. Daggett has announced the following change of schedule for James Bowdoin Day: Chapel will be omitted and ten thirty classes will be held from ten to forty-five. There will be no eleven-thirty classes. The procession of James Bowdoin Scholars will form in front of the college library, weather permitting. The self-service canteen will be open from 12:15 p.m. until 1:00 p.m.

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, October 7, 1933 No. 2

- Editor-in-Chief Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '35
Managing Editor John B. Goodrich '35
News Editors James Anwyll, Jr. '35
Assistant News Editors David R. Anderson '35
Sports Editor Robert M. Hurst '34
Assistant Sports Editor Joseph Y. Rogers '35
Photographer James P. Gaston '34
Business Manager Bruce N. Cooper '34
Assistant Business Managers James A. Cook '34
Advertising Manager Peter M. Pirnie '35
Business Assistants Thomas R. Merrill '37
William C. Cooke '37

BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Directors: Professor Athern P. Daggett, Professor Philip M. Brown, Bruce N. Cooper '34, Albert F. Lilley '34, Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '35, Charles Ranlett '34.

College Administration Praised For Newly Paved Campus Walks

Last spring there appeared in the ORIENT an editorial criticizing the College administration for its failure, year after year, to pave the walks surrounding the Searles Science Building. The editorial pointed out the fact that letting the job go means more cost to the College than the actual paving of the paths.

The physical appearance and efficiency of a college are not always measured in terms of great buildings and impressive equipment of many types. Often the neatness and handsome looks of seemingly minor aspects of a campus are important figures when visitors are forming their opinions.

Juniors, Free From 'Cal', Urged To Join Interfraternity Teams

The new ruling passed last week by the Faculty exempting juniors from required physical education was received by students with much joy and approval. This is understandable. Obviously the "cal" requirement was, to many, a complete waste of time, both for students and for those who conducted the classes.

Political Forum Chooses Fickett Again As Prexy; Committees Are Set Up

At the Political Forum meeting last Monday evening William A. Fickett '34 was re-elected president for the first semester. Richard Dale '34 was named vice-president replacing Peter Z. Bulkeley '35, the new member-at-large, and John B. Goodrich '35 and David B. Starkweather '35 were returned for the second term as secretary and treasurer respectively.

New List Of Faculty Advisors Available; Some Changes Evident

- James A. Storer Zeta Psi
Morgan B. Cushing Robert M. Cross Kappa Sigma
Alton H. Gustafson Raymond Bournique Beta
Paul V. Hazelton Sigma Nu
Hubert S. Shaw A. T. O.
Howard S. Hammond A. R. U.
Samuel E. Kernerling Delta Sigma
Edwin Leith William S. Flash Independents
Henry G. Russell Nathan Dane II Athern P. Daggett Myron A. Jeppesen

Renovation Of Library Needed; Closed Reserve Books Seen Scarce

In the past three years the physical plant at Bowdoin has undergone considerable change. The classroom buildings, later named Sills Hall, and the Smith Auditorium were completed in the Fall of 1930. Cleveland Hall, the new chemistry building and one of the finest in the country, was open for inspection at the sesquicentennial commencement in 1932.

Another situation which ought to be rectified is the shortage of outside reading books at the closed reserve desk. There are not too many courses which have regular assignments in outside reading yet books are hard to come by in many courses which have such requirements.

A library is one of the most important factors to be considered in judging the scholastic reputation of a college. The college with a well equipped library will not only draw a higher caliber student but will also attract professors interested in carrying on research in their respective fields of scholastic endeavor.

Young Republicans Hold First Meetings; Plans Laid For Good Season

At a recent meeting the Bowdoin Young Republican Club discussed its plans for this year. First, a September New England Y.R. meeting at Bridgeport, Conn., was summarized by the secretary, Fred O. Smith II, who represented Bowdoin there. Then the president, William A. Fickett, set the pace on a discussion of this year's activities and the important work the club must do.

Dance Planned
Also discussed were plans to send delegates to the N.E. Council meeting at Middlebury in late November where a panel discussion, important Vermont Republicans as speakers, and a banquet with dance afterwards are the

Y. R. Advisor

Orren C. Hornell
planned program. In conjunction with the dance the head of the Middlebury Y.R. Club assures the presence of Middlebury College girls for those stag Y.R.'s.

The club is very fortunate this year to have Professor Emeritus Orren C. Hornell as its faculty advisor in the absence of Professor Lawrence Pelletier. With his assistance the club looks forward to a very successful year dedicated to what it believes is best for the country.

College Awaits Bequest From Leighton Will

As a result of the death of Mrs. Edward K. Leighton, wife of the late Edward K. Leighton, Bowdoin College expects to receive word in several weeks on the disposition of the will from which it hopes to receive a sizeable bequest.

Thoughts

A hippopotamus normally stays under water three or four minutes. Early mechanical pianos were operated by pumping a handle. If you had flea power you could jump over a ninety story building.

Dwight, Martin, Perkins Chosen To Fill Ranks Of Meddiebempsters

As a result of the Meddie trials held during the past week, Director William Grove announced the selection of three new Meddiebempsters. Along with the acquisition of these three new men, Larry Dwight '34, Robert Martin '36 and William Perkins '36, John Nungesser '34, has returned to the double quartet after his leave of absence due to studies.

Robert Martin, a sophomore tenor, is a member of Beta Theta Pi. Martin comes from Haddamfield, N. J., and attended Haddamfield High School. Last year he was a member of the Freshman Football team and the Glee Club.

William Perkins, another sophomore tenor, is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon. Perkins makes his home in West Hartford, Conn. where he went to William Hall High School. He was also a member of the Glee Club and last year's Freshman Football team.

With the addition of these three new men and the return of John Nungesser the Meddiebempsters are again at full strength and ready for another season following their tour this past summer.

Behind The Ivy Curtain

Editor's note: With the graduation of Ward Gilman '33, who authored a humor column under this title, it has been decided to return to the original Ivy Curtain format, featuring news of other colleges. A new humor column, Ice Cubes, will be found elsewhere in the ORIENT. The views expressed by the present Ivy Curtain author are his own and do not necessarily reflect the views of either the ORIENT or the college.

Take heart freshmen, you are just a few of the thousands of new collegians who are undergoing the rigors of hazing and orientation on the nation's campuses. At the University of Connecticut the frosh were required to follow "Red Pipes" out of the campus and into a nearby lake. A vigilance committee is currently in power at Brown University. Made up of upperclassmen, the group supervises hazing. They have been known to rouse a freshman from bed in the wee hours of the morning and test his knowledge of college songs, etc. A black robed court of four seniors hand-down sentences to those men who either don't know or can't remember the answers. Elsewhere pajama parades demand 100% freshman participation and traditional frosh-sophs battles disturb campus tranquility.

Stegophilism has become the favorite pastime in several English universities. From the Greek roots "stego" meaning "roof," and "philos," or "crazy about," stegophilism is the "state of being crazy about roofs." At Oxford, where roof lovers train themselves for future Everest attempts by scaling roofs of memorials, towers and other edifices, undergraduates have expressed their preference for this new sport to the American interest in swallowing live goldfish and panty raids. Since roof climbing is strictly prohibited by the university's officials, students prefer to attempt the conquest of these Oxfordian summits at night. Favorite heights are Martyr's Memorial, Oxford's 73-foot lesser peak; the 200-foot Radcliffe Camera, the University's Matterhorn, and the even higher Tom Tower, the school's Everest.

Student Patronage Solicited

Member of the Federal Reserve System and Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

BOWL-MOR Alleys Student Patronage Welcomed 186 Maine Street

HOW THE STARS GOT STARTED
Patrice Munsel METROPOLITAN OPERA STAR
I STARTED SMOKING CAMELS BECAUSE A FRIEND OF MINE ASKED ME TO TRY THEM. NO OTHER CIGARETTE EVER GAVE ME SUCH PLEASURE, CAMELS TASTE SO GOOD -AND THEY'RE SO MILD!
Start smoking Camels yourself!
CAMELS AGREE WITH MORE PEOPLE THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

By Robert M. Hurst '54, ORIENT Sports Editor
Tragedy left its calling card on New-England Intercollegiate football last week as Boston University's great guard Johnny Pappas, died of injuries sustained in the Syracuse-B. U. game.

In Saturday's game with Wesleyan-Bowdoin lost both Hal Anthony and Mel Totman both of whom Adam Walsh had been counting on to retain the State Series crown.

Lack of condition certainly did not play a part in Pappas's death for it was pointed out that John never drank or smoked. He was considered a candidate for All-New England and All-East football honors.

In connection with football injuries a recent survey was taken by a fellow out in Nebraska on the chances of a player being hurt in a football game. The players represented in the survey were high school boys, but some interesting facts were worth noting and could be applied to college football.

The chances of being hurt in a game were figured out to be one in ten. Six of every ten injuries occur in actual games, the remainder in practice scrimmages. Injuries are more numerous in the fifth game of the season and 39% are in October.

Not listed in last week's ORIENT under improvements during the past year was the building of a new Men's Room over at Whittier Field. The present one which is now in use is beyond description.

In Maine football last weekend Bates beat weak Middlebury 13-0. Bob Chumbuck led the Bobcats attack churning off a total of 130 yards in 20 carries for an average of 6 plus yards per try.

In other games Williams beat Rochester 14-0 and Amherst took care of Union 21-0, for their second straight win. Fred Flemming has been selected as one of the Maine All-Stars who will oppose the barnstorming major league team to play at the Portland Stadium, October 8.

Tennis Notice
S. A. Ladd Jr., Varsity Coach of tennis, urges all those who have indicated they plan to play in the annual Fall Tennis Tournament to observe the bulletin board and to play all matches promptly.

Interfraternity Touch Football Schedule
Games Start at 3:30
Date, League, Home Team, Visitor

Table with 4 columns: Date, League, Home Team, Visitor. Lists football games from Tuesday, October 6 to Friday, November 6.

Merrymeeting Gift Shop
185 Park Row
Greeting Cards --- Gifts
Free Gift Wrapping

Polar Bear Power Plays Level Wesleyan, 18-0

Small Squad Reports For Frosh Football Practice

Faced with the smallest freshman football squad since the war years, Coach Frank Sabasteanski, assisted by backfield mentor Frank Vecella, is slowly but steadily molding the 37-member squad into an efficient, hard-fighting combine.

Last year's frosh turned in a creditable record of 2 and 1, but, more important, produced many fine players who are now varsity performers.

Despite the abolition of the controversial two-platoon system by the colleges, it is probable that the freshman aggregation will play under the same rules as in former years.

Many Good Players Not Out
With only 37 out of approximately 215 freshmen now out for football, Coach Sabasteanski believes that many of the best gridiron players are not even out for the team.

The initial practice was held on September 29, so there has not been enough time for the coach to form anything even remotely like a first-string lineup.

Working out of the T-formation, the team will be depending a great deal on its quarterback, Dick Drenzek, Bill Herd, and Dick Smith, are vying for this vital slot.

Hird seems to be the squad's outstanding punter, but so far no reliable extra-point kicker has been found.

Fall Tennis Tournament Matches And Seedings

Draw for the annual Fall tennis tournament.
Top Half - First Round: Eyes Bill Neman vs. Pete Pirnie

First Round Matches: Phil Trussel vs. Jim Flaker, Lou DePlessis vs. Dave Pyle

Bottom Half-First Round: Eyes Dick Celosse vs. the winner of the Estes - Swenson match

Prof. Russell To Hold Fresh Study Meeting As Counseling Service
Prof. David L. Russell, Professor of Psychology and Director of Student Counseling here at Bowdoin, will meet with the members of the freshmen class on Thursday night, October 15.

The meeting, to be held in the Smith Auditorium at 7:00 p.m., is designed to cover any and all phases of study habits at college. It is an attempt to put before the freshmen many helpful ideas and suggestions on studying.

Christmas cards were first used in the United States in 1874.

'Matchless Service' Ford Sales and Service
Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed
USED CARS
Maine's Most Modern Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop
Complete Front End and Frame Alignment

Adam Walsh Still Outspoken Enthusiast For Free Substitutions; Gives Many Reasons Why

By James L. Doherty, Jr. '55
Even though the Bowdoin football team does not appear to have suffered much because of the return of one-platoon football, Coach Adam Walsh is still an outspoken enthusiast for free substitution.

Blasts One-Platoon Ball

The Bowdoin coach went on to say that the scoring has been cut down considerably. Bowdoin itself has averaged 20 plus points per game on the offense.

Another reason for Walsh's stand that free substitution benefits football is that it gives more players an opportunity to see action. This fact can't be stressed enough.

The call of play will be harmed considerably by the prohibition of free substitution, according to Walsh. The players will get tired quickly and slow down.

Coach Adam Walsh

Walsh claims that limited substitution has brought no benefits whatsoever to the game. First of all, he stated that free substitution was banned by the big insti-

Dean Kendrick Speaks, 1st St. Council Meeting

Michael Batal then was elected to the Chairmanship of the Campus Chest Committee for this year.

George Mitchell vs. Skip Howard Podvoll; 8. Phil Mstrom.

1st round matches to be played off by Friday, Oct. 9. 2nd round by Tuesday, Oct. 13. 3rd round by Friday, Oct. 16.

Semi finals by Monday, Oct. 26. Finals will be played on first good day after Monday, Oct. 26.

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it...

The Record Office
Paul K. Niven Jerry Wilkes
Printers Of The Orient

Coukos, Cosgrove Pace Win; Totman, Anthony Injured

Bowdoin rolled for three touchdowns in the third period for an 18-0 victory over Wesleyan in the final meeting of the two teams perhaps for many years to come.

The last game proved to be a costly game for the Polar Bears, however, as co-captain Mel Totman suffered a dislocated elbow that will bench him for at least four weeks if not the entire season.

Totman was injured in the third period but had already contributed one touchdown and paved the way for another.

The Polar Bears' second score came three minutes later, three plays after Fred Coukos had returned Mike Cohes punt 18 yards to the Bowdoin 43.

Coukos scored again in the third period seconds before the 15 minute mark. Totman, Dyer and Coukos alternated on the 11 plays needed to carry the ball the 49 yards.

Wesleyan had dominated the play in the early minutes of the game as Jake Congleton, Johnny Binswanger and Mike Cohen carried the kickoff to the Bowdoin 58.

Mexico has had to import corn, its staple grain, in recent years because of increased demand.

Bendix Launderette
15 Mill Street Brunswick, Maine
Just a few steps from Maine Street
Nine pound wash 30c
Use of Dryer 25c

Have You Ever Wanted To Interview Visiting Celebrities
Get The Locker Room Stories On All Bowdoin Games
Write A Feature Article About Your Favorite Campus Haunt
IF SO
Join The Staff Of The BOWDOIN ORIENT

Ice Cubes On Toast

By Benjamin G. M. Priest '56
poor's Editor-in-Chief, who, with tears in his eyes, reported that Lillypad, after being heard to exclaim, "Here, by God, is a column," expired in extreme agony.

No Lillypad
Last year, in the Ivy issue of this rag, the Editors announced that the humor column this fall would be written by one C. Fosdick Lillypad — a bull terrier by occupation and, presumably, by choice.

Lured By Lamppoon
Mr. Lillypad, lured by the offer of a full tuition scholarship, a large box of Dog Yummies, and the exclusive franchise on the base of the John Harvard statue in Harvard Yard, declined at the last minute to accept the Orient post as he joined the staff of the Harvard Lamppoon.

Popular Combo
We understand that he had planned to Major in English and Minor in Animal Husbandry — a fairly popular academic combination at the Cambridge school.

In view of the liberality of the Lamppoon's offer, perhaps we cannot fully blame Lillypad for his absence, although, in the light of his absence, the Orient is rather in the lurch — as far as humor with a slightly different slant goes.

Harvard's Gain . . . Almost
Oh, well, Bowdoin's loss is Harvard's gain. Or rather, it would have been were it not for one fairly good reason. You see, C. Fosdick is dead . . . a victim, it would seem, of his own greed and passion.

Attacks Radcliffe Girl
Jolted into an insane frenzy by an overdose of Dog Yummies, Lillypad raved from the Lamppoon office and severely bit a passing Radcliffe undergraduate on the nose, just forward of her glasses. He then fell to the ground where he lay in a dazed condition until carried back into the editorial rooms of the Harvard paper.

Expires In Agony
Just over a half an hour later, he died in the arms of the Lam-

H. Brown Spends Last Semester Traveling And Studying In Europe

Professor Herbert Ross Brown spent the last half year traveling and studying throughout Europe. He visited Italy, Austria, Germany, Holland, Spain and Great Britain.

English Dept. Head

Herbert R. Brown

In May, Professor Brown gave a series of lectures on the American Schools at the University of Marburg, Germany. In August he was a member of "The Seminar of Shakespeare Studies" at Stratford-on-Avon, England.

Faculty Meeting Holds Discussion About Ford Foundation College Plan

Monday evening an informal faculty meeting was held in Massachusetts Hall concerning the Ford Foundation program for college self studies.

Program's Origin

The program was set up by the Ford Foundation in April, 1951. It resulted from the request of several liberal arts colleges for financial aid in conducting self appraisals of their own programs.

$20,000 Allotment
A sum up to $20,000 will be allotted to each participating institution. At the conclusion of the colleges' studies of themselves, they will send a report to the Foundation's offices, describing the activities of the faculty, the methods employed, and the outcome.

A weed has been defined as a plant growing in the wrong place.

CUMBERLAND
Brunswick, Maine
Wed.-Thurs. October 7-8
HOUDINI
with
Tony Curtis - Janet Leigh

VICE SQUAD
with
Edward G. Robinson
Paulette Goddard

THE SWORD AND THE ROSE
with
Richard Todd
Glynis Johns

CRUISIN' DOWN THE RIVER
with
Dick Haymes
Audrey Totter
Billy Daniels

Edwin Benjamin Comes Back To Campus After Two Years In Japan

[Continued From Page 1]
Benjamin taught courses in English literature and Western thought at the University of Kyushu located in Fukuoka, the seventh largest city in Japan. When questioned regarding the attitude of Japanese toward Americans, Mr. Benjamin who spent some time in Japan during the days of the military occupation, noted that the very friendly attitude which existed toward Americans during the occupation has given way to a less friendly feeling since the signing of the treaty.

Re-armament
Mr. Benjamin believes that re-armament of Japan and the withdrawal of American troops may be useful in improving the gradually deteriorating relations with Japan. Re-armament could be accomplished readily, because Japan is the biggest industrial plant in Asia.

English Commercial Language
In discussing Japanese schools, Mr. Benjamin noted a lack of extra-curricular activities at the universities in contrast to the many activities found in American schools. The English language, he discovered, has become very important to the Japanese. It is used as the commercial language in a large part of Asia.

NOT a textbook
NOT a propaganda sheet
NOT a magazine
that whitewashes either the Communists or the McCarthys

The New Republic is America's most informative, independent journal of opinion, bringing you accurate, behind-the-headlines coverage of public affairs distinguished criticism of literature and the arts intelligent interpretation of world events

FOR STUDENTS AND FACULTY ONLY
we offer this special rate of 33 weeks of the NEW REPUBLIC for $3.50 (save $3.10).

New Republic
MAIL YOUR ORDER NOW
Student, Faculty Offer
New Republic
220 West 41st St., New York 36, N. Y.
Please send the New Republic for 33 weeks at your special price of $3.50, which I enclose.

Pelletier, On Leave, Appointed To The NYU Law School Staff

Dr. Lawrence L. Pelletier, director of the Bureau for Municipal Research at Bowdoin College, has been appointed to the administrative staff of the New York University Law Center, Dean Russell D. Niles of the NYU School of Law announced Monday, October 5.

The Citizenship Clearing House was founded in 1947 by Arthur T. Vanderbilt, then dean of the NYU School of Law and present chief justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey. Operating under a grant of funds from the Maurice and Laura Falk foundation of Pittsburgh, the organization encourages colleges to extend their political science training to include practical experience in political action.

Ivy Curtain
Body Rushing Committee stated. This coincides with the experience here and it seems, adds validity to our present policy of immediate rushing. This is especially true when compared to the complications that have developed at Amherst as the result of their attempt to achieve 100% bidding during the second semester.

Plans Music Schedule

F. E. T. Tiltson

MUSIC EVENTS
Bowdoin College
Season 1953-54
Date: Monday, November 16
Place: Memorial Hall
Event: Zlatko Balokovic, Violinist

Music Schedule For 1953-1954
Under the direction of Professor Frederic E. T. Tiltson, Bowdoin College's musical activities appear very bright for the 1953-54 season. Highlights of the schedule include the annual Messiah concert given before Christmas by the Bowdoin Glee Club, with orchestral accompaniment.

WBOA Schedule, Oct. 8 - 14
Thursday, October 8
6:59 Sign On
7:00 News
7:05 Sports
7:15 Keep Posted
7:30 FIELD'S FOLLEYS
7:45 Serenade in Blue
8:00 Lucky Strike News
8:15 D. J. Show
8:30 Big Bonanza
9:25 News
9:30 Studytime Serenade
10:30 Chapel Talk
10:45 World News Roundup
11:00 Flick Parade
11:15 Sports Review
11:30 Flipping With Herb
12:00 Late News Roundup
12:05 Sign Off
Friday, Oct. 9
6:59 Sign On
7:00 News
7:05 Sports
7:15 Keep Posted
7:30 Capitol's Top Ten
7:40 Lucky Strike news
8:15 Sports Special
8:30 Moonlight Moods
9:25 News
9:30 Studytime Serenade
10:30 Town Topics
10:45 World News Roundup
11:00 Flick Parade
11:15 Sports Review
11:30 Jazz Special
12:00 Late News Roundup
12:05 Sign Off
Saturday, Oct. 10
12:59 Sign On
1:00 Grandstand Bandstand
1:50 Bowdoin - Amherst Game
4:30 Grandstand Bandstand
5:00 Sign Off
Sunday, Oct. 11
6:59 Sign On
7:00 News
7:05 Sports
7:15 Keep Posted
7:30 News Commentary
7:45 Here's to Vets
8:00 Lucky Strike News
8:15 World of Opera
Puccini's La Boheme
10:45 World News Roundup
11:00 Paris Star Time
11:15 Sports Review
11:30 Midnite Special
12:00 Late News Roundup
12:05 Sign Off
Monday, Oct. 12
6:59 Sign On
7:00 News
7:05 Sports
7:15 Keep Posted
7:30 Remembering

MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE
Men's Sweatshirts With Collar 2.95
Men's Sweatshirt, Regular 2.45
Athletic Socks .89
Gym Shorts 1.50

This Ad Good For 1.00
On Any Pipe 3.50 Or More
Morton's
208 MAINE STREET
BRUNSWICK, MAINE

SMOKERS BY THE THOUSANDS NOW CHANGING TO CHESTERFIELD the ONLY cigarette ever to give you...

CHESTERFIELD BEST FOR YOU
PROOF OF LOW NICOTINE HIGHEST QUALITY
A PROVEN RECORD with smokers
Again and again, over a full year and a half a group of Chesterfield smokers have been given thorough medical examinations . . . the doctor's reports are a matter of record, "No adverse effects to the nose, throat and sinuses from smoking Chesterfields."
A responsible independent research laboratory supervises this continuing program.

High Ranking Scholars To Be Honored In Exercises

James Bowdoin Day 13th Annual; Brontas To Be Student Speaker

Bowdoin College will pay tribute to its high ranking scholars in the 13th annual James Bowdoin Day exercises that will be held in Memorial Hall Thursday, Oct. 15, at 11:30 a.m.

Hubert S. Shaw, Vice President Norton Talk In New Hampshire

Last Wednesday, October 7, Mr. Hubert S. Shaw and Vice-President Bela W. Norton drove over to the New England Inn in Intervale, N. H., to attend the Fall meeting of the New Hampshire Bowdoin Club.

James Bowdoin Speaker

Auditory To Student Judiciary Constitution Is Recently Approved

The effect of a recently passed amendment to the constitution of the Student Judiciary Board will be to require that, of the five members of the board, two will be juniors elected for two years and one a senior, to serve for one year.

This amendment was designed to preserve the continuity necessary for the success of the Board. The amendment was voted on and accepted by the Student Council, the only body that can make such changes in the Board's constitution.

Those serving on the board this year are Seniors Paul P. Brontas, Barrett C. Nichols Jr., and Roderick M. Simpson, and Juniors Philip S. Day and Dennis W. King.

A nominating committee composed of three fraternity presidents presented the names of five candidates to the Student Council.

The Student Judiciary Board handles cases referred to it by the administration of the College. The Board has the power to determine misdemeanors in the dormitories, fraternity houses, or in town.

The Board has the power to place a student on probation and a fraternity on social probation. It can deal with disputes between fraternities brought to its attention by the executive committee of any of the houses involved.

Dean Kendrick gives speech on student government in chapel.

Speaking in Chapel last Friday, Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick spoke on the topic of "Student Government."

He then described the one necessity for an efficient student government body. He said, "Though student government is not a 'right' in terms of the charter and by-laws of the college, it could well be argued that it rests on a deeper sanction: that it is the inherent obligation of the college to foster and encourage student government since the college is an institution whose mission is to prepare men morally and intellectually for responsibility as citizens in a free society."

The Dean then described several of the more "concrete" forms of student self-government that are obvious around the campus. He mentioned the dormitory officers, the Student Council and its related bodies such as the Judiciary Committee, the Union Committee, which have representatives in them presenting the interests of the fraternities and other campus organizations.

Harvard's Pusey Among Visitors At College Association Conference

Harvard's new president, Nathan M. Pusey, was one of the many distinguished representatives to the ninety-sixth annual meeting of the Association of Colleges in New England held Tuesday, Oct. 6, and Wednesday, Oct. 7, here at Bowdoin.

Appointed to his present position June 1, 1953 by the Harvard Corporation, President Pusey has been described "as a student of the problem of general education especially active in the movement to revitalize the teaching of the humanities in liberal arts education."

Dr. Pusey succeeds Dr. James B. Conant at Harvard. Dr. Conant became president emeritus upon being appointed United States High Commissioner for Germany, Pusey was born in Council Bluffs, Iowa, in 1907. He attended Council Bluffs High School before going to Harvard. He is a member of the Harvard chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

Two foreign students, Clemens Heusch (A.T.O.) and Hurst Albach (D.K.E.), both of whom graduated from Bowdoin last June, are making plans to formulate a Continental Bowdoin Club to represent the growing number of alumni who reside in Europe.

Heusch, a Bowdoin Plan student from Germany went on a 23,000 mile hitch hiking tour throughout America during the summer of 1952. Accepting rides in more than 250 cars, he saw 42 states and three Canadian provinces, not to mention Mexico. For the first of his two trips across the continent, he was accompanied by Tony Cornwell, a foreign student from the Psi Upsilon House.

When the two adventurers began their extensive odyssey by sitting in a Bowdoin suit to their suitcases, they had no planned destinations in mind. One thing, however, they did know. As Clemens put it: "We were going to see America the way she is, and we would shake hands and rub elbows with all kinds through New York at home, not in an official manner. We had lived together with college students; we had studied the 'American way'; we wanted to see it."

Throughout their travels in all parts of America, Heusch met scores of people whom he remembers with interest. Two people he recalls particularly are the lady farmer in Texas who knew more about good and bad beer than most Germans, and the hotelier in Alabama, who after giving him a lift, said that he had been held up by a hitchhiker only a few days before. His longest ride covered half way across the country, from Portland, Maine, well into Kansas, a distance of some 1650 miles.

The first part of his foray led from Boston through New York and the Northern Middle West to the grand cordillera of the Wyoming and Montana, followed by Washington, with its outstanding national parks and what was to Heusch the pearl of American landscapes, Judge Sagan said.

Next came an engagement to speak at the Rotary Club in Phoenix, Arizona. These Rotary engagements were the backbone of the tour.

President James S. Coles is shown here with Nathan M. Pusey, Harvard's new president. Pusey was chosen last June to succeed Dr. James B. Conant upon his appointment as United States High Commissioner for Germany. President Pusey was one of the forty-five representatives from fourteen New England colleges at the ninety-sixth annual meeting of the Association of New England Colleges which was held at Bowdoin last week. The conference discussed topics of general interest to the colleges concerned.

This Is It... Monday, Thursday To Pick Up Girl On 609

October 8, 1953 5:15 p.m. Call from city desk. Two reporters needed, Harry Thursday and Blue Monday, to cover a story on "Maiden Devouring Out of Season." Many cases reported to infirmary.

5:20 Signed in. Thursday: But where do we start, chief? Chief: I don't care. Monday: But... Thursday: Yes, sir.

5:22 Signed out. Proceeded back to local station house. Spotted green rabbit scamping across campus toward Bleak House followed by a singing minstrel.

5:28 Stopped minstrel and exchanged scales with new suspect. No facts. 5:30 Plodded onward. Thursday: Blue, I've got a hunch. Let's try the crime lab in Norton, Mass.

This is an introduction to a feature article on one of the better known women's colleges in New England which will appear in the next issue of the ORIENT. The data for this story has been compiled over the last year by long hours of tedious research and tremendous financial expense.

Play By Don Carlo To Open Dramatic Season On November 16, 17. Casting has been nearly completed and rehearsals will be completed for the play by Don Carlo, '51, with which the Masque and the Dancers will open on November 16th and 17th.

The play will be produced arena style in the Moulton Union as have two previous trial plays. It is a full length play in two acts dealing with a widow in charge of a Town Farm in Connecticut, who is attempting to run the farm by herself after her husband's death. The town authorities consider putting a young couple into her place, who will introduce modern, efficient methods, and the basic theme of the play deals with her desire to do what is best for the old folk. It is written as a warm comedy of character with amusing types and situations.

The author, who won the One-Act Play Contest in 1951, with his play "The Others," a dramatization of a story by Edith Wharton, went from Bowdoin to the University of Texas for graduate work in play-writing. His play now being produced won him a masters degree from Texas last June, and this will be its initial performance. Mr. Carlo was totally blinded in World War Two before coming to Bowdoin, but directed as well as writing plays while here. His original one-act, "The Lift," was produced in the 1950 contest, and another of his plays, "They Came," competed with "The Others," in 1951.

The two earlier tryout plays have been done arena style in the Union were: "Beware The Brave," by Vergason, '39, in 1948, and "Charge To Spring," by Poor '50, in 1949. Since those tryouts, the Masque and Gown has produced two plays, arena style in the Union, by Mark Reed, "Petticoat Fever," in 1950, and "Yes, My Darling Daughter," in 1951. One

Each afternoon at precisely 3:45 the college community and the people of Brunswick set their watches as the first notes of the daily concert issue forth from the chapel chimes. For the next fifteen minutes they hear boom forth from the bells a selection of numbers ranging from Brahms' "Lullaby" to "Buttons and Bows" and from "Bowdoin Beats" to "Dragonet."

The ringing of the chapel bells is a tradition at Bowdoin which dates back to 1924, when they were given to the college by William M. Payson '74. In addition to ringing the daily call to chapel, the bells sound off each afternoon with the aforesaid concert which is actively enjoyed by some, passively tolerated by others, ignored by still others, and an annoyance to a few. In spite of the prominent part they play in the daily life of the college, however, a few Bowdoin students know much about them. There is little recorded history of the chimes, other than the fact that Mr. Payson gave them in 1924, which is noted in the catalogue and one issue of the Alumnus.

Notice. The Bowdoin chapter of the Clear-eyed & Steady-handed Jadaulon Hunters of America will try again to hold their smoker. The spot this week is the Thordyke Oak. The time: Friday night at eight. Bring your horns.

Bowdoin Financial Report Reveals Gifts, Legacies Of $288,393.26 Last Year

Strong Bowdoin Group Travels To Amherst For Game And Parties

By Franklin G. Davis '54. About one hundred of Bowdoin's studious undergraduates made the long journey to Amherst for the football game, and a chance to Mt. Holyoke girls, and a chance to cavort on another campus.

Prospective Deficit $71,761; Endowment Over 12 Million

Bowdoin College received gifts and legacies for general college purposes, scholarships and miscellaneous needs, amounting to $288,393.26 during the year ending June 30, 1953, according to the Financial Report of the College recently issued.

Bowdoin Man Entertains

James Anwyll, '55, entertained about thirty of his A.D. brethren and their dates at a cocktail party as his home in Holyoke. Some say they think that fishhouse punch was served; others say they really can't remember what it was; everyone agrees it was good.

White Key President; Jim Ladd New Veep

One of Bowdoin's most important student organizations, the White Key, chose Frank Vecella, president; Jim Ladd, vice president; and Ray Greenwood, secretary-treasurer as officers at a recent organization meeting.

House Representatives

This year's fraternity representatives are Phil Garland, A. D.; Ron English, Psi U.; Bob Glover, Chi Psi; Jim Ladd, D.K.E.; Bill Fraser, T. D.; Bob Hazzard, Zeta Psi; Jay Greenwood, Kappa Sigma; Jack Swenson, Beta; Frank Vecella, Sigma Nu; Parker McLaren, A.T.O.; Phil Wiener, A.R.U.; and Charlie Jordan, Delta Sigma.

Daily Chimes Concert Described; Chimer Holmes Has Difficult Job

Each afternoon at precisely 3:45 the college community and the people of Brunswick set their watches as the first notes of the daily concert issue forth from the chapel chimes. For the next fifteen minutes they hear boom forth from the bells a selection of numbers ranging from Brahms' "Lullaby" to "Buttons and Bows" and from "Bowdoin Beats" to "Dragonet."

Frank Vecella Chosen White Key President; Jim Ladd New Veep

One of Bowdoin's most important student organizations, the White Key, chose Frank Vecella, president; Jim Ladd, vice president; and Ray Greenwood, secretary-treasurer as officers at a recent organization meeting.

Prospective Deficit Of $71,761

The Treasurer's Report also shows an estimated prospective deficit of $71,761, about $17,000 less than last year's prospective deficit, for the current fiscal year, ending June 30, 1954.

Pres. James S. Coles Attends Meeting Of Council On Education

President James S. Coles was one of the comparatively few New England College Presidents to attend the 36th annual meeting of the American Council on Education at the Hotel Statler in Washington, D.C. last week.

Eisenhower Welcome

The meeting was split up into several sections, and of world understanding in education. Mr. Coles attended Section 1, which was concerned with "The Future Pattern of Higher Education."

Another one of the better speeches, in Mr. Coles' opinion, was by Francis Keppel, Dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Education. Dean Keppel presented the views of Dr. James B. Conant, former Harvard President, on "Desirable future developments in higher education." Dr. Conant argues strongly for the American comprehensive high school, since it more nearly provides education for all than the British Public School does.

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, October 14, 1953 No. 9

Editor-in-Chief
Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55
Managing Editor
John B. Goodrich '55
News Editors
T. Ellis McKinney, Jr. '54
James Anwyll, Jr. '55
Richard M. Catalano '55
Assistant News Editors
David R. Anderson '55
Thomas L. Spence '57
Sports Editor
Robert M. Hurst '54
Assistant Sports Editor
Joseph Y. Rogers '55
Photographer
James P. Gaston '54
Staff

John M. Belka '54
Donald W. Blodgett '54
Edward N. Cotter '56
Carroll E. Pennell '56
Benjamin G. M. Priest '56
H. Edward Barr '57
Francis M. Kinney '57
Edward R. Williams '57
Stanton L. Moody '57

Franklin G. Davis '54
William G. Foster '57
Peter Schmalzer, Jr. '57
Edward P. Parsons '57
John Hamlett '57
Vincent S. Villard, Jr. '57
Thomas L. Spence '57
John R. Withers '57
Richard B. Lyman '57

Sports Staff
Ronald Golz '56
Business Manager
Bruce N. Cooper '54
Assistant Business Managers
C. Richard Thurston '54
Circulation Manager
Harold R. Beacham, Jr. '56
Business Assistants
William C. Cooke '57

James A. Cook '54
Advertising Manager
Peter M. Pirnie '55
Thomas R. Merrill '57
BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Directors
Professor Athern P. Daggett, Professor Philip M. Brown,
Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilley '54, Wallace R. Harper,
Jr., '55, Charles Ranlett '54

NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, Inc.
College Publishers Representatives
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO • BOSTON • LOS ANGELES • SAN FRANCISCO
Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semesters by the students of Bowdoin College. Address news communications to the Editor and subscription communications to the Business Manager of the Bowdoin Publishing Company at the ORIENT Office in Moore Hall, Brunswick, Maine. Entered as second class matter of the post office at Brunswick, Maine. Postmaster: This publication is published weekly. The subscription rate for one year is three ($3) dollars.

Moonlight Not Enough

How long should things be left to chance? Wouldn't it be wise to take some precautions? These are the questions being raised in connection with the fact that the construction project near the library is still unlighted at night. Students crossing campus from the Maine Street fraternities must pick their way gingerly over the maze of wires, pipes, tractors, cement mixers, and any other fixtures which Mr. Hackett, contractor, and others connected with the job, see fit to store there overnight.

Paths, which formerly took one safely to Hubbard Hall now lead to granite walls, ditches, and numerous other smaller obstructions. We would recommend that the contractors be instructed to hang kerosene lamps at these danger points or make a new route with smudge pots before leaving for the night. It is a new experience for us to see a busy way blocked without any warning to the pedestrian. This lack of precaution could lead to serious injury and damage to clothes and other articles which the unsuspecting or groping student may be carrying.

— D. R. A.

Pres. Coles Announces Receptions For Students And Faculty At His Home

President Coles announced that he is planning to hold informal receptions at his home every Sunday afternoon for students, members of the faculty, and any interested friends who wish to come. Invitations are being sent to every fraternity, in order that they may be read to the students in a rather informal manner. The receptions, to be held before chapel, are to begin this Sunday, Oct. 18.

President Turbeville Of Northland College Gives Chapel Talk

Dr. Gus Turbeville, president of Northland College, Ashland, Wisconsin, spoke in chapel yesterday on intellectualism and its role in modern society. President Turbeville pleaded for a greater degree of intellectualism as an antidote for "current mass hysteria."

Paul P. Brontas '54 James Bowdoin Speaker

[Continued from Page 1]
date. They bear the name of the Honorable James Bowdoin, first patron of the college. The chairman of the committee which inaugurated the exercises was the late Professor Stanley Perkins Chase. Since its beginning, Mrs. Chase has always decorated the portrait of James Bowdoin in the Walker Art Building with a laurel on James Bowdoin Day. Bowdoin, which received its charter in 1794 from Massachusetts while Maine was still a maritime district of that state, was in the process of being organized when the Honorable James Bowdoin, son of the Massachusetts governor for whom the college was named, contributed 300 English pounds to the project as well as some securities and apparatus. At his death in 1811, Bowdoin became his residuary legatee, inheriting his priceless art collection and the library he had collected during his residence in Europe as Minister to Spain and France. It is because of his scholarly interest that Bowdoin has made James Bowdoin Day one on which scholarly achievement is recognized.

George I of England was a German, and could not speak English.

LAMP SHADES

Of Better Quality All Sizes
Treworgy Furniture Co.
11 Pleasant Street

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it...

Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money.

TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY
ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS

The Record Office

Paul E. Niven Jerry Wilton
Printers Of The Orient

Horrendous Underground Movement On Campus

By T. Ellis McKinney, Jr. '54
Recently we have noticed a horrendous underground movement afoot on campus. In walking from the library to the Chapel, we have discovered a rather intricate system of tunnels and trenches under construction. Though we have sought information in several corners of the campus concerning the purpose of this network of trenches we have failed to uncover the answer. No one seems to really know why the trenches are being dug. Conjecture has mounted high among members of the College community. Many people have offered their opinions on the subject.

Is it the entrance to some new and secret atomic installation? Are the construction men drilling an oil well? Is it a new underground passage way between the library and the chapel — or does it lead to Bill's? These are the questions which thinking students are asking themselves since the construction work began.

One reliable observer has reported that daily Chapel attendance has been "spotty" this fall. He has suggested that the College Administration is having one of the trenches built as a new underground passageway in order to encourage chapel attendance on rainy days. The ROTC Office, it is rumored, has already received a proposal that the trenches would make an excellent location for outdoor squad tactics. Seriously, they would make an ideal escape route for the midnighter production of "All Quiet On The Western Front." (We hope that the Masque and Gown will accept this idea in the same spirit as it is offered.) Upon viewing one of the canals, a Senior who returned to College a little late this year, exclaimed:

Letter To The Editor

Oct. 8, 1952
editor, the bowdoin orient,
In the issue of Oct. 7, and the article in it pertaining to me, I would like the opportunity to point out the fallacies of said article. No. 1, I am a bull terrier by profession, not occupation; no. 2, I was not lured by any scholarship, I was manhandled and degenerated by a group of voracious freshmen from that etoinshdrtd institution, and thank god for a short halt, I managed to escape; no. 3, I consider myself a connoisseur of the culinary arts and will eat nothing but silk smothered in dogshit, in case of course, — but we all must get along somehow; no. 4, I — and you would please put this in caps — I would not lift a forepaw to that statue, although, and you may quote me on this, said statute depicts a dog in the act of defecating; no. 5, I decline the offer to write for this pornographic sheet, I was incapacitated and unable to remit my acceptance, and after this past week's scandalous mendacity, I am reconsidering; and if you really want me, you'll have to proffer something like say the wordies formal gardens; no. 6, my only interest lies in the study and practical applications of bull-terrier wifery; no. 7, I would say that the o. is definitely in the lurch, if I may quote; no. 8, a student with the true bowdoin spirit will never ever never ever mention the name of that etoinshdrtd institution; no. 9, — here adressing the author of that article — you vug — that'll send you running to your dictionary — I have never known greed, the rest ill let go; no. 10, I am quite alive; no. 11, I must admit some veracity in this column, dog yummys would jolt anyone — I know — and biting a radcliffe girl would be even worse than doing the same to a west-brook girl; no. 12, I repeat, I am quite alive, even moreso than the editor, right now I feel like lampooning whoever wrote that article, what is a jadaloon, disrespectfully and sincerely so, fodslick

Ed. Note: Down, Fang; you'll get your bone back next week. Just wait.
dated May 16, 1953 and is in the East visiting alumni of Bowdoin.

Merrymeeting Gift Shop

185 Park Row
Greeting Cards - Gifts
Free Gift Wrapping

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it...

Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money.

TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY
ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS

The Record Office

Paul E. Niven Jerry Wilton
Printers Of The Orient

Three History Profs Represent Bowdoin At Meeting In Hanover

Three members of the Bowdoin history department attended the eighth annual conference of the Northern New England Historians' Association last week end at Dartmouth College, Hanover, N.H. The association is composed of historians on the staffs of colleges in this area who meet each year to further friendship. Professor Ernst C. Helmerich, Professor of History and Government, was accompanied by his wife and son, as they travelled to the Bowdoin-Amherst game before the conference at Dartmouth. Assistant Professor of History William Whiteside and his wife, and Dr. Richard L. Schoenwald completed Bowdoin's representation at Hanover.

Dartmouth Professor Speaks
Featured speaker and discussion leader of the meeting was Professor Robert K. Carr, Joel Parker Professor of Law and Political Science at Dartmouth. His major speech, given Saturday evening, related to the work he had done as the Executive Secretary of the President Truman's Committee on Civil Rights.

Member colleges of the group are Bowdoin, Bates, Brown, Colby, Dartmouth, Middlebury, New Hampshire, Norwich, St. Anselm's, St. Michael's and Vermont.

Bowdoin guests stayed with Professor Mrs. Edward Chase Kirkland. Professor Kirkland, on sabbatical leave of absence, is the Frank Munsey Professor of History at Bowdoin.

U.S.C.S. Examination Dates For Washington Positions Announced

The United States Civil Service Commission has again announced its Junior Management Assistant and Junior Agricultural Assistant examination for filling positions in Washington, D. C., and throughout the United States.

The entrance salary for the agricultural positions is $3,410 a year, and for the management positions, $3,410 and $4,205. The positions are located in Washington, D. C., and throughout the United States.

The Junior Management Assistant examination is designed to bring into the Federal service outstanding young men and women for training and development into future Federal executives. The Junior Agricultural Assistant examination is for filling positions in various fields of agriculture. Both types of positions offer excellent opportunity for advancement. To qualify, applicants must pass written tests and must have had appropriate education or a combination of education and experience. Students who expect to complete their courses by June 30, 1954, may apply. Appropriate experience alone may be qualifying for some positions.

Oral Interview
Candidates for the Junior Management Assistant examination who meet the requirements will be given an oral interview. The age limits, waived for persons entitled to veteran preference, are 18 to 35 years (except for the position of Agricultural Writer-Editor for which there is no maximum age limit). Further information and application forms may be secured from

Behind The Ivy Curtain

Hazing activities continue to make the front pages of most of the college newspapers we receive. From the Brown Daily Herald come reports of two of the week's leading stunts. We quote: "Do you live in sin? Would you if you had the chance? These are the two questions being asked of Brown men by Pembroke freshmen as part of that college's scut work program.

"Standing out like sore thumbs in their white beanies, the girls are sent on various missions by their scoutmasters, usual seniors. The two questions cited above are part of a poll being conducted by the scuts, apparently to help inflate Pembroke egos. "Development of more gracious young ladies." In line with this, freshmen are required to wear, in addition to their beanies, to which veils must be attached, white shirts, brown skirts, white socks, white sneakers, white gloves, and have in her possession at all times a box filled with slips of paper bearing her name and dormitory — to be handed out to anyone desiring."

Column Stretches
A student at Syracuse University entered a mystery song contest not long ago. A few days later he received a letter from the local radio station telling him that he'd won a free permanent wave — good any time.

The editor of the Marshall College newspaper says all faculty members should take a quiz in English. The college president called the suggestion "unjust" and "unfair." But then, maybe the president didn't want to take the quiz himself.

Good News
We learned from Trinity's President Jacobs, who was on campus last week, that the homeless Trinity freshmen were well taken care of and are now safely located in their new dorm.

Time Marches On
History is being made and a long-time precedent has been broken at Amherst. Time was when the Lord Jeff freshmen wore green beanies, signifying the greenness of their mentalities. This year tradition has been shattered by the decision to make the freshmen beanies purple and white, the Amherst college colors.

Come on a my house
An independent at the University of Connecticut became upset by an ad which his school paper carried. He wrote: "On page three of said Campus there appeared an advertisement which hardly seemed to me to be worthy of the Placement Office or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. For the Junior Management Assistant examination, applications must be filed not later than November 12, 1953, for the Junior Agricultural Assistant examination, not later than December 1, 1953."

Clemens Housch Tours U.S. With Albach '53

[Continued from Page 1]
ininerary. Through their speeches before 20 service clubs, they got to know some of the outstanding citizens of their communities, all of whom were keen on showing the two foreign students the major sights of their areas.

But it was the private homes that they most enjoyed. Housch reports that here "a country reveals itself most unflatteringly and most completely. We were given those opportunities in many states, and this is why I think the picture of America is correct the way I saw it."

Through Disleland
The next leg in his journeys led him from New Mexico all the way across to Florida, then up the Seaboard past the nation's capital to Brunswick. Tony sailed home from New York, but Clemens was ambitious to "hit the road" again, this time to the agricultural heart of America.

Before passing to the Rocky Mountain area, where he climbed mountains and enjoyed numerous other activities, he examined the other wheat states. On the return trip back to the East, he visited the industrial centers of Cleveland and Detroit, including the famed River Rouge plant.

The Three Questions
Housch was asked three questions wherever he went. The first: Hitler alive? — received a "No, I don't care" reply. To the question, "Do you like our country?" came the reply "The question is superfluous." The final question, "What, after all, did impress you most?" received a lengthy reply: "America is a vast country and a beautiful one. Like their country, Americans are vast in their minds; there is a general love of tolerance, a conviction that it is the other fellow's right to go his own way, and still the adherence to certain, if very common ideals. . . . The boundless hospitality and free friendliness I was offered all over is a wonderful gratification to every visitor. The most lasting impression, however, is this: that in public affairs sound and unprejudiced common sense usually masters the most involved situation. . . ."

Jenny Lind, the "Swedish Nightingale," had the first private railroad car, especially outfitted for her use, during her tour of the United States in 1850.

Student Patronage Solicited

First National Bank
Brunswick, Maine
Member of the Federal Reserve System and Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

How the stars got started

John Wayne

STAR OF "ISLAND IN THE SKY"

I STARTED SMOKING CAMELS 20 YEARS AGO IN MY EARLY MOVIE DAYS; SMOKED 'EM EVER SINCE. THERE'S NOTHING LIKE CAMELS FOR FLAVOR AND MILDNESS!

Start smoking Camels yourself!
Make the famous 30-day Camel mildness test... and let your own taste tell you why Camels are America's most popular cigarette!

For Mildness and Flavor
CAMELS AGREE WITH MORE PEOPLE THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

POLAR BEARINGS

By Robert M. Harst '54, ORIENT Sports Editor
Interfraternity athletics here at Bowdoin could undergo a change in rules and schedules that would or conceivably might end the arguments which each year are added to. As the setup now stands there is one sport in the fall, football; three in the winter, basketball, bowling, and volleyball; and one in the spring, softball. To stop the recent gripes about too many teams forfeiting their games, especially in connection with bowling and volleyball, perhaps it would be advantageous to limit the number of sports in the Interfraternity Leagues to two per season. In order to do this it would be necessary to drop one of the winter sports to another season and then add one to make up the six sports; that is two per season.

In the Fall touch football would of course be the main sport. Added to this season could be the controversial bowling in which a great number of forfeits have occurred. If interfraternity bowling began the last week in October and carried on until Christmas vacation it would not conflict with football or the other winter sports. By scheduling it during this time a greater number of houses would participate without the usual number of forfeits.

During the winter season only basketball and volleyball would be in operation. In a number of instances the same fellows play both volleyball and basketball for their fraternities so that scheduling would have to proceed as in the past years with one house not having to play both sports at the same time on the same night.

In the spring softball would be continued along with the addition of interfraternity tennis. The addition of tennis would provide the needed sixth sport and with a little support could prove to be the most successful. I would say that there are more students in the college who would rather play tennis than either bowl or play volleyball.

Whatever happened to the proposed plan for artificial ice? Bowdoin's hockey team is about to have the poorest season in its short career here at the school. Not only is there a shortage of ice, as usual, but there will now be a shortage of players. Bowdoin does not have the facilities to attract hockey players into the freshman class, and as long as other projects keep taking precedence over a hockey rink Bowdoin sports will suffer. A system for the making of artificial ice would at least be a start in the right direction. Last winter the team had only three or four organized practices before they had their first games with Norwich and Dartmouth. Williams erected a rink last year and just recently Dartmouth put a system of artificial ice into their covered rink. Last season the hockey team was only able to play one home game. Considering that it cost the school at least 600 dollars to put up the rink it was a pretty expensive game. If everyone does not get behind the hockey team and its plea for ice, the hockey team is going to go the way of all minor sports that have tried to crack the Bowdoin Athletic Department.

Billy Pappas, one of New England's top college backs led UNH to a 21-6 victory over the University of Maine. It was Maine's second loss of the season. Maine's only score came on a pass from Ed Bogdanovich to aging Dave Wiggins. Colby's White Mules finally won a game as they trounced Norwich 20-7. Colby's star back Charlie Windhorst was sent to the hospital for x-rays of his back. Should Windhorst be out of action for the state series the Mules would be in serious trouble. The Bates Bobcats lost a heartbreaker to Hofstra 7-6. Hofstra recovered a blocked punt in the end zone for the lone and winning tally. Most lopsided score of the week - Alabama State 74, Savannah State 0.

WBOA To Record Dean Kendrick, Daily Chapel Talks For Broadcast

Station WBOA is making arrangements for Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick to broadcast regularly and to record the daily chapel talks. Dean Kendrick's broadcast will be on Tuesday night at 10:30. He will talk on general topics concerning Bowdoin. Special regulations for party week-ends, policies, and trends will be among the subjects. Chapel Recordings Under the direction of Douglas S. Reid '54 a direct line from the Chapel to the studio has been completed. The six daily Chapel speeches will be recorded, with the speakers' permission. They will be used on two 15 minute programs on Monday and Thursday nights at 10:30. WBOA will select one from the first three days of the week for use on Thursday and one of the last three for Monday. The speaker will be given a chance to hear his recordings and give final permission to broadcast it. This program will be preceded by an hour of classical music and followed by a 15 minute news roundup.

Rev. Wallace Anderson Urges Our Identification With Needs Of Others

The Reverend Wallace W. Anderson, D.D. (Honorary '42) of the United Church of Bridgeport, Connecticut, spoke in Sunday Chapel about mankind's energy to advance. Rev. Anderson stated that the enemy of effective living is the feeling that we don't count much. He cited a survey of college students of which 90% had this feeling. Many covered up the cause of the draft. Some people feel a sense of relief when they are considered as nothing and thus need not worry about responsibilities. He said that we need a healthy feeling of significance to be anybody. Rev. Anderson added that feeling overimportance is even a more serious crime. Miracle Workers The Reverend said that miracle workers are few in number. They have given us the printing press, radio, and television, but now miracle workers are needed to make their use possible. Every man is important. You need not be a miracle worker to awaken high responses from other people. In desert areas a human being without water will die in less than a week.

Professor Moulton To Attend Meeting Of Atlantic Biologists

Professor James Malcolm Moulton is to take part in the Atlantic Fisheries Biologists Meeting, which is to be held at Jaffrey, New Hampshire this week end, October 10-12. Biologists from all over the Atlantic seaboard who are interested in Atlantic fisheries will be attending this meeting. Program for Meeting After registering on Friday, the delegates will meet Saturday morning for a discussion, on all aspects of Atlantic fisheries, including conservation, population, and behavior patterns. On Saturday afternoon, a discussion will be held concerning all types of native shellfish, and on Sunday, the importance of societies such as the Atlantic Fisheries Biologists and how they best can contribute their services to people interested in the welfare of ocean life. Particularly interesting to Professor Moulton will be the discussion on shellfish, for he and Professor Alton Herman Gustafson have been conducting a study of the quahog, a type of hard-shelled clam, during the summer. Professor Moulton has been studying the larvae of the clam, the plankton, while Professor Gustafson's studies have concerned mainly the adult form.

Notice

S. A. Ladd, Jr., Varsity Coach of Tennis, urges all those who have indicated they plan to play in the Annual Fall Tennis Tournament to play all matches promptly. The Tournament must be completed before weather conditions cause cancellation of matches. Please report the results of the matches on the bulletin board in

Moulton Union Bookstore
Men's Sweatshirts With Collar 2.95
Men's Sweatshirt, Regular 2.45
Athletic Socks .89
Gym Shorts 1.50

Polar Bear Sailors Beat Maine, Bates In Squeaker

Bowdoin's Sailing Club opened up the 1953-54 sailing season by slipping by Maine and Bates 19-18-17 down on the New Meadows River. The Polar Bears were trailing the field going into the last race but came from behind to pull out a first place and the meet. The team of Bob Hawley, Ed Northrup, and Dave Gardiner got off to a slow start in the first two of the six races held finishing last in both of them. In the third race they took a second and then came through with three firsts in the last three races to take the meet. Scoring for the races is four points for first place, three for second, two for third, and one point for each boat starting and finishing.

Interfraternity Touch Football Schedule

Table with columns: Date, Games Start at 3:30, "A" League, "B" League. Lists various matchups between fraternities like Psi U, Kappa Sigma, Delta Sigma, etc.

'53 Football Schedule

Varsity Games at Home and Varsity Games Away. Lists dates and opponents like Colby, Bates, Williams-Williamstown, etc.

E. Andrews '40 Joins Faculty Of U. of Iowa

Ernest F. Andrews, Jr., former director of radio-journalism at Grinnell College, Grinnell, Iowa, has been named to the faculty of the State University of Iowa School of Journalism. The appointment was announced by Professor Leslie G. Moeller, director of the School. Mr. Andrews will head the radio-journalism and public relations sequences at SUJ. While at Grinnell, Mr. Andrews produced a series of dramatic radio shows for twenty-seven radio stations in eighteen states. He was a member of the Grinnell College faculty for six years. Mr. Andrews received the A.B. degree from Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine, in 1940. After a three-year term of duty with the Coast Guard, he returned to school at Harvard University and received the M. A. in history there in 1947. He has done graduate work at Boston University and at SUJ in mass communications and plans to complete his program for the Ph. D. degree while on the faculty at SUJ. Prior to his going to Grinnell, Mr. Andrews worked for the Bangor (Maine) Daily News, the Bar Harbor (Maine) Times, and the Providence (R.I.) Journal. He was also on the news staff of several radio stations including WABI in Bangor, WBZ in Boston, Mass., and WBZA in Springfield, Mass. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, and of the Association for Education in Journalism. The Gym and to Captain "Skip" Howard at the Beta House.

Matchless Service Ford Sales and Service Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed USED CARS Maine's Most Modern Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop Complete Front End and Frame Alignment Harry K. Smart, Inc. 47 PLEASANT STREET - BRUNSWICK, MAINE

Amherst Blasts Bowdoin, 28-0, In Polar Bears' First Defeat

Interfraternity Football League Opens; ADs Upset

By Ronald Gols '56
With the ARUs, the Sigma Nus, and the Zetas paying the way, the 1953-54 edition of the Interfraternity Touch Football League got underway last week at Pickard Field. The ARUs won both of their scheduled games to move into first place in League "A". A determined, but inexperienced Chi Psi six fell to a 6-0 defeat to the league leaders in the curtain raiser for both teams. The ARUs, figured as one of the teams to beat, also overpowered a weak ATO squad by a 41 to 12 score. Showing speed and fight a powerful Sigma Nu team rolled to an impressive 34-0 win over the Betas. Dave Melnickoff and Louie Audet led the winners' attack. The Zete win came as a forfeit over the Independents, who could not field a team. Both the Sigma Nus and the Zetas have identical 1-0 records to pace League "B". Delta Sigs Impressive The highlight of the grid action, however, centered around the surprise win of the Delta Sigs over the ADs in a League "A" tussle. The highly touted ADs were big favorites to take the game but a third quarter surge gave the DSs their big 12-8 victory. The ADs scored a touchdown and a safety to take a commanding 8-0 lead at the half, but two Delta Sig TD's in the third period wrapped up the ball game. Leading the Delta Sigs to victory were Jim McCusker and Jack Bowler. Standouts for the ADs were Dave Eggersson and Gene Hesel, a freshman. Taking up from where they left off last season the Kappa Sigs overpowered a weak Psi U team 24-6. The Psi Us kept pace with their faster, more experienced foes, until the fourth quarter. At this point the game was tied 6-6. With Lemmy Plasse and Ted Kenney providing the spark, the Kappa Sigs went on to score four TD's without a Psi U retaliation. Kenney turned in some sparkling pass receiving in leading his team to victory. In a League "B" game the DKEs and the TDs played to a 6-6 tie. The DKEs seemed to have the game won when a pass from Dick Marshall to Tom Froser knotted

Amherst Scores At Will; Goldstein, Testa Standouts

By Robert M. Harst '54, ORIENT Sports Editor
Amherst's powerful Lord Jeff eleven scored a touchdown in every period Saturday afternoon to wallop Bowdoin 28-0. The Polar Bears were never a serious threat, penetrating only once to the Amherst 33. Eight Lord Jeff fumbles, five of them recovered by Bowdoin, helped keep the score down. Amherst rolled out two complete sets of hard running backs who baffled and befuddled the Bowdoin secondary and forward wall slipping around would-be tacklers and churning losses into long gains. Tom Knight, who was probably the best quarterback Bowdoin will see all season, directed the Amherst attack with a series of fakes, reverses, and passes that kept the Polar Bear defense off balance most of the game. Amherst chalked up a wide margin over Bowdoin in all departments; 18 first downs to seven, 316 yards rushing to 171, 150 yards passing to 90. The Lord Jeff's completed 10 out of 21 passes while Jack Cosgrove and Johnny Libby completed seven out of 15. Amherst began rolling the second time they took over the ball. The Polar Bears had moved the ball from their own 31 to the Purple 33, for their best push of the afternoon, with the aid of a 16 yard jaunt by Lee Dyer, and a 12 yard Cosgrove to Al Murray pass, but the attack bogged down on the 33, and Cosgrove punted out on the six. Twelve plays later Amherst had scored. Bob Jedry had broken away for 40 yards in a spectacular run, and Tommy Knight, had gone for 10 and 13 yards on successive plays to the Bowdoin 21. Gerry Goldstein hauling him down each time. Robin Turner finally powered over for the one foot line, Johnny Waldo successfully splitting the uprights. The Lord Jeffs were stalled for a moment when Andy Williamson recovered Lee Van Jones' fumble on the eight yard line of the Polar

Football Flicks Shown Free Of Charge Each Thurs. Night At Smith

At its last regular business meeting on October 7, the Student Union Committee announced the filming of the week's preceding football game. On the Thursday of that week, a small but appreciative audience witnessed the Bowdoin - Wesleyan game which was filmed in Smith Auditorium at 8:00 p.m. Mel Totman, injured backfield star and co-captain, narrated and pointed out certain fundamentals of which any football fan should be aware. All in all, it was an interesting and enjoyable evening, inasmuch as it was possibly the first time the Athletic Department has released films of this importance, the Committee thanks Adam Walsh and the Athletic Office for their service, and we remind the students of this week's Bowdoin-Amherst tussle which will again take place on the screen in Smith Auditorium at 8:00 p.m. Totman will do the play by play account of the reel which lasts from 45-minutes to 1 hour. Other business includes the coming appearance of Tom Wiswell, notable chess and checkers wizard, who plays 50 opponents at a time. A reminder was made for the presentation of the Alumni Trophy to the house with the best display during the Homecoming Weekend of October, 31.

Play By Don Carlo To Open Dramatic Season

[Continued From Page 1]
trout play in recent years was played in Memorial Hall on a proscenium stage, a faculty cast production of "One On The House," by Whitney '23, in 1951. It has been the policy of the Masque and Gown to encourage play-writes among the alumni as well as in the undergraduate student body, by producing their plays whenever possible. The Executive Committee accepted Carlo's play as a substitution for another which had been scheduled last spring, when Mr. Carlo submitted his script this summer. The artist will be on campus for the final rehearsals and performances of his play.

Football Flicks Shown Free Of Charge Each Thurs. Night At Smith

At its last regular business meeting on October 7, the Student Union Committee announced the filming of the week's preceding football game. On the Thursday of that week, a small but appreciative audience witnessed the Bowdoin - Wesleyan game which was filmed in Smith Auditorium at 8:00 p.m. Mel Totman, injured backfield star and co-captain, narrated and pointed out certain fundamentals of which any football fan should be aware. All in all, it was an interesting and enjoyable evening, inasmuch as it was possibly the first time the Athletic Department has released films of this importance, the Committee thanks Adam Walsh and the Athletic Office for their service, and we remind the students of this week's Bowdoin-Amherst tussle which will again take place on the screen in Smith Auditorium at 8:00 p.m. Totman will do the play by play account of the reel which lasts from 45-minutes to 1 hour. Other business includes the coming appearance of Tom Wiswell, notable chess and checkers wizard, who plays 50 opponents at a time. A reminder was made for the presentation of the Alumni Trophy to the house with the best display during the Homecoming Weekend of October, 31.

Outfitters To Bowdoin Men

Campus Choice... Gray flannel slacks from Benoit's have been the first choice of Bowdoin men for season after season. In Cambridge gray and the practical dark Oxford, from $12.95 to $21.00. Benoit's MAINE STREET BRUNSWICK

Ice Cubes On Toast

By Benjamin G. M. Priest '54

(Really too bad about O'Shameless, though. Of course, he should have known better. It was all his own fault really.)

What, you didn't hear about it? Oh, you were down at Amherst with all the other ball-headers this week end... Well, then, let me start from the beginning...

You do know Bill O'Shameless, don't you? He's that fellow whose folks had the formal garden and drank. You remember.

Yes, that's the one. He was on the Phi Phi hazing committee this year.

Well, anyhow, he decided to take Van Honk's hypnotism I-I course this year as his "pipe." Like most "pipes" up here though, it didn't turn out to be quite as easy as he'd expected. For one thing, Bill didn't seem to have much natural ability in the subject. He got his room-mate once to sit on an up-turned wastebasket while he stroked the guy's forehead with his thumbs, looked into his eyes, and mumbled soothing words at him. Well, after three hours of this action, all he'd succeeded in doing was to raise two horrendous welts on his roommate's dome and put a neat wastebasket crease in the seat of the guy's slacks.

The next person he tried doing his homework on was the foreign student over at the Phi Phi House. When Bill took to staring too hard at him, Lum Fung would scream and scot out of the house. Lum thought Bill was trying to hex him with the evil eye.

Well, since this was a reaction of sorts, O'Shameless kept right on trying — until one night, just after dinner, the foreign student went after Bill with a butter knife. Then he decided that he'd better look around for someone else to practice on.

He asked me, but I told him I'd see him in — well, let's say Westbrook — first.

At any rate, it was last Saturday evening when it happened. I had dropped over to his room at He was just sort of standing there with his eyes all out of focus like, "Finished?" I asked.

"Yes," he said, "I'm finished."

"Swell," I said, "let's go down to Everett's for a cool one or three."

"Yes," he replies, "let's."

We started downtown, and I didn't notice anything too queer... except that once he walked right smack into a tree that was there and said "excuse me" to it without even batting an eyelash.

Professors Root And Kamerling Hosts At Chem. Teachers Meeting

Eighteen chemistry professors from ten New England colleges convened at Bowdoin this past week end for the fall meeting of the Curo Boros, a chemistry teachers' group which has been in existence for forty years.

This club, named for a mythical serpent associated with alchemy, meets semi-annually to talk about new ideas in chemistry as they relate to college chemistry teaching. Among the colleges in attendance were Amherst, Brown, M.I.T., University of New Hampshire, Harvard, Wesleyan, and Worcester Institute of Technology.

The week-end program included supper at Sunset Farm in South Harpswell, a tour of the new Bowdoin College chemistry buildings and an evening bull session. Professors Root and Kamerling of the Bowdoin faculty were hosts.

Possible Projects For Year Chosen By St. Curriculum Committee

The possibilities of an honor system, a revision in the language requirement to include the choice of Spanish, and a change in the curriculum to include more semester courses are three suggestions chosen by the Student Curriculum Committee as possible projects for this year.

These suggestions, selected from a longer list discussed at the first meeting of the Committee last week, have been submitted to the houses for general student reaction.

The results of the sampling of student opinion will be tabulated at the next meeting of the Committee on Tuesday, October 20. Work will then begin on the problem deemed the most pressing.

The usual procedure in covering a problem starts with the appointment of a sub-committee of two to six members which studies the problem in detail and then reports to the whole Committee. The report is approved or rejected. Then the finished draft is submitted to the administration.

Rejected Once

If the Committee decides to proceed on the discussion of an honor system it would not be the first time that such a possibility had been raised at Bowdoin. Several years ago an honor-system was rejected by a student referendum after having occasioned a long and hot debate.

A revision of the language reading requirements might enlarge the present choices of French or German to include Spanish. Pro-

Student Council Votes To Begin Football Rallies At 9:00 P.M.

It was decided at Monday's Student Council meeting to begin the Friday evening football rallies at 9:00 P.M. rather than at the usual 7:00 P.M. time.

This later starting time would allow both the dates arriving on the 8:30 train and the "early flick group" to join the rally and thus make increased attendance possible.

In regard to James Bowdoin Day it was urged that each fraternity send at least twenty men to the ceremonies to insure a good sized audience. Freshmen were also reminded to dress properly and not wear large name cards, onions and the like.

Large Banner Pilfered

The Kappa Sigma Council representative announced at the meeting that a large home-made Kappa Sigma banner, was stolen during a recent ROTC afternoon drill. The banner, valued at thirty dollars, was highly regarded by its owner and it was sincerely hoped that it would be returned.

The Council also urged each member to impress upon the freshmen from his fraternity the importance of obeying all college rules. It had been observed that many of the freshmen were not remembering the Bowdoin "hello" and were generally lax in obeying the rules governing their behavior.

Matters regarding the Messiah week end, the White Key, and the college path situation were postponed until they could be considered by the administration.

Williams College Welcomes Many Bowdoin Men To Berkshires

Williams College, which will be host to the Bowdoin football team and those undergraduates who make the trip this week end, is located high in Massachusetts' Berkshire Hills. The host school, while similar to Bowdoin in some ways, has many distinguishing characteristics.

Williams was established as a "free school" in 1791, and as a college in 1793. The first classes were held in the building now known as West College. At that time, in addition to an elementary division, which was entirely free, there was a grammar school for more advanced students. Tuition for the grammar school was 25 shillings. It is interesting to note here that in an early petition to the state legislature, college authorities asked for a grant of land in that part of the Commonwealth which is now Maine. Williams now belongs to the group of colleges known as the "Little Threes," Amherst and Wesleyan are the other members.

The Williams undergraduate body is made up of about 1,000 men from throughout the U.S. However, more of them hail from metropolitan New York, than from any other single area.

Delayed Rushing Now

The social life at Williams is similar to ours. There are 15 fraternities and the Garfield Club to which nearly every undergraduate belongs. With the completion of a Student Union this fall, the school adopted the policy of delaying rushing until the first semester of the student's sophomore year. Partywise, Williams is a wet college. Many of their dates come from the nearby Berkshires. Mount Holyoke, Smith, Colby Junior, as well as Bradford Junior, Vassar, and Wellesley. Facilities for housing dates on football week ends are as plentiful as those in Brunswick. Williams' fraternities include chapters of Chi Psi, Beta Theta Pi, Zeta Psi, Alpha Delta Phi, DKE, Theta Delta Chi and Psi Upsilon. These houses are located in the Main Street and South Street area of Williamstown.

Honor System Used

Another sight about this school which may soon become increasingly important here is their use of the honor system. All examinations (which are unproctored) and classroom papers must contain the following statement, signed by the student, "I have neither given nor received information in this examination," in order to make the paper valid.

One last word on the host school, at last report they were said to be hospitable and glad to meet members of the visiting college. This attitude carries over to the athletic department which has offered special ticket arrangements for the Bowdoin men who make the trip.

Political Forum Holds 3rd Meeting; Coles Announces New Fund

The Political Forum held its third meeting of the year last Monday night to hear the reports of the three committees, speakers, documentary films, and discussion.

At an executive meeting afterwards Professor Athern P. Daggett reported that President James S. Coles has announced that "fund for promoting international affairs among students" is available. Prof. Daggett said that there was a possibility that a trip to the United Nations could be planned for next Spring Vacation with the international affairs fund defraying expenses. There is approximately $200 in the fund at present.

Tentative plans have been made to have a speaker for Thursday, October 22. The discussion committee is planning a forum for November 19. It is to be a discussion of nationalism in Asia with Edwin B. Benjamin, assistant professor of English, presiding. The documentary films committee is planning two pictures for December 8.

WBOA Schedule, Oct. 15-21
Thursday, October 15	10:45 World News Roundup
6:59 Sign On	11:00 Paris Star Time
7:00 News	11:15 Sports Review
7:05 Sports	11:30 Midnite Special
7:15 Keep Posted	12:00 Late News Roundup
7:30 FIELD'S FOLLEYS	12:05 Sign Off
7:45 Serenade in Blue	Monday, Oct. 19
8:00 Lucky Strike News	6:59 Sign On
8:15 D. J. Show	7:00 News
8:30 Big Bonanza	7:05 Sports
9:25 News	7:15 Keep Posted
9:30 Studytime Serenade	7:30 Remembering
10:30 Chapel Talk	8:00 Lucky Strike News
10:45 World News Roundup	8:15 D. J. Show
11:00 Flick Parade	8:30 440 Club - Request Show
11:15 Sports Review	9:25 News
11:30 Flipping With Herb	9:30 Studytime Serenade
12:00 Late News Roundup	10:30 To Be Announced
12:05 Sign Off	10:45 World News Roundup
Friday, Oct. 16	11:00 Flick Parade
6:59 Sign On	11:15 Sports Review
7:00 News	11:30 Midnite Special
7:05 Sports	12:00 Late News Roundup
7:15 Keep Posted	12:05 Sign Off
7:30 Capitol's Top Ten	Tuesday, Oct. 20
8:00 Lucky Strike News	6:59 Sign On
8:15 Sports Special	7:00 News
8:30 Moonlight Moods	7:05 Sports
9:25 News	7:15 Keep Posted
9:30 Studytime Serenade	7:30 Variety Varieties
10:30 Town Topics	8:00 Lucky Strike News
10:45 World News Roundup	8:15 D. J. Show
11:00 Flick Parade	8:30 Fred Wilkens Show
11:15 Sports Review	9:25 News
12:00 Late News Roundup	9:30 Studytime Serenade
12:05 Sign Off	10:30 Chapel Talk
Saturday, Oct. 17	10:45 News
12:59 Sign On	11:00 Flick Parade
1:00 Grandstand-Bandstand	11:15 Sports Review
1:50 Bowdoin - Williams Game	11:30 Midnite Special
4:30 Grandstand Bandstand	12:00 News
5:00 Sign Off	12:05 Sign Off
Sunday, Oct. 18	Wednesday, Oct. 21
6:59 Sign On	6:59 Sign On
7:00 News	7:00 News
7:05 Sports	7:05 Sports
7:15 Keep Posted	7:15 Keep Posted
7:30 News Commentary	7:30 Hour
7:45 Here's to Vets	8:00 Lucky Strike News
8:00 Lucky Strike News	8:15 Piano Portraits - Hamel
8:15 World of Opera	8:30 Street of Dreams - DeBrule
Puccini's La Boheme	9:25 News
	9:30 Studytime Serenade
	10:30 Faculty Views
	10:45 World News Roundup
	11:00 Flick Parade
	11:15 Sports Review
	11:30 Midnite Special
	12:00 Late News Roundup
	12:05 Sign Off

BOWL-MOR Alleys

Student Patronage Welcomed

186 Maine Street

Move over, Famous Towers

The world's most famous towers are, left to right, the Eiffel Tower, the Tower of London and the Leaning Tower of Pisa.

But in America, the tower-come-lately (extreme right) may rapidly become as familiar as the old landmarks of Europe. It is one of the Bell System's radio-relay stations which speed telephone calls and television programs coast to coast.

In May, 1948, these towers connected only five Eastern cities. Five years later the TV network included 95 towns and more are being added all the time.

Being the first network of its kind in the world, the planning, research, engineering and construction requirements are providing real opportunities for the kind of people who like to pioneer.

If working on new developments appeals to you, check with your Placement Officer for the details on employment with the Bell System. There are positions open for electrical, mechanical and civil engineers, as well as business administration and arts and science graduates.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

CUMBERLAND THEATRE

Brunswick, Maine

Wednesday-Thursday
October 14-15
CRUISIN' DOWN THE RIVER
with
Dick Haymes
Audrey Toller
Billy Daniels
also
Short Subjects

Friday-Saturday
October 16-17
THE MASTER OF BALLANTRAE
with
Errol Flynn
Anthony Steel
also
Short Subjects

Sunday-Monday-Tuesday
October 18-19-20
VICKI
with
Jeanne Crain
Jean Peters
also Cartoon

Wednesday-Thursday
October 21-22
Tony Curtis
in
THE ALL AMERICAN
also
Short Subjects

LOW IN NICOTINE

HIGHEST IN QUALITY

When you smoke Chesterfield it's so satisfying to know that you are getting the one cigarette that's low in nicotine, highest in quality.

A fact proved by chemical analyses of the country's six leading cigarette brands.

And it's so satisfying to know that a doctor reports no adverse effects to the nose, throat and sinuses from smoking Chesterfield.

The doctor's report is part of a program supervised by a responsible independent research laboratory and is based on thorough bi-monthly examinations of a group of Chesterfield smokers over a period of a year and a half.

Ben Hogan

Chesterfield is best for me — my steady smoke for 7 years.

WORLD'S GREATEST GOLFERS

CHESTERFIELD BEST FOR YOU

LARGEST SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA'S COLLEGE

Copyright 1953, Lorain & Mapp Tobacco Co.

Sophomore Class Chooses Candidates For Three Offices

Election To Be Held After Homecoming In Foyer Of Chapel

By Edward N. Cotter '56
Bowdoin's sophomores, the Class of 1956, will elect their officers some time during the week between Homecoming and the Maine game, at a date to be set by the Student Council. The hours at which the polls will open will be announced in next week's ORIENT.

Election is by the preferential system, where each individual must vote in order of preference for not less than seven or more than 13 candidates for each office to make his ballot valid. Each candidate shall receive 12 points for each first place vote, 11 for second, 10 for third, etc. The candidate having the largest point total for each office will be elected.

The names of the candidates with a brief biographical sketch of each follow (President, Vice President and Secretary-Treasurer being listed in that order by the fraternities which nominated them):

Alpha Delta Phi

LeRoy E. Dyer

A Bar Harbor High School graduate, Dyer was a member of the Honor Society. He played on the football, basketball and baseball teams. In his first year at Bowdoin he also participated in these sports. He is now a varsity back for the Polar Bears, and a Student Union representative.

Warren A. Slesinger

Slesinger graduated from Tabor Academy after participating in the chess club, newspaper and crew team. His Bowdoin activities include the glee club, track, interfraternity athletics and cheer leading.

Pal Upslon

Libby attended South-Portland High School, playing football, basketball and baseball and was an Honor Society member. He plays the same sports at Bowdoin and is on the Scholarship Committee.

Ronald A. Gols

Gols is a Duxee High School graduate. He was a newspaper staff member, and played basketball and baseball. At Bowdoin he has also played basketball and baseball, worked with the Rushing and Hazing Committees of his fraternity, and is on the ORIENT staff.

Ronald F. Harris

At South Portland High School Harris played baseball. He was class treasurer and a member of the Honor Society.

Robert H. Glover

Glover graduated from Huntington Preparatory School. He was captain of the swimming team, president of his class, and on the Honor Society. At Bowdoin he has participated in the swimming team, is a member of the Hazing Committee, the White Key representative, and is on the Freshman Scholarship Committee.

Ernest G. Flint, Jr.

Flint attended Beverly High School. He took part in the band, yearbook, and school magazine. Since coming to Bowdoin he has been on the Dean's List, a James Bowdoin Scholar, a member of the band, swimming manager, and a Student Union representative.

James W. Millard

At Freetport High School Millard was on the track and basketball teams, and is taking part in interfraternity sports at Bowdoin.

Delta Kappa Epsilon

William S. Perkins

A William Hall High School alum, Perkins took part in football, track, and the student council as well as being in the Honor Society. Now a Medicine, Perkins has participated in football, track and interfraternity athletics at Bowdoin.

(Continued on Page 3)

Theodore M. Greene Presides At Informal Gathering In Sills

Enlarges On Speech; 40 Students Attend

Theodore Meyer Greene, Professor of Philosophy at Yale University, presided at an informal gathering in Sills Hall last Thursday, James Bowdoin Day.

At this meeting, he enlarged on some of the topics of the speech he had given that morning. His chief topic was that he believed that co-operative discussion should be encouraged. These discussions, he pointed out, are distinguished from a debate, which is a talk in which each side tries to maintain its own point of view. He cited an example when he retold the story of "The Grand Inquisitor" from Dostoyevsky's "The Brothers Karamazov," in which it is explained why Christ, should he reappear today, might be crucified again by an immature society afraid of being free. This

Forum To Sponsor Sills' Talk Thursday

Former President Kenneth Charles Morton Sills will give a talk at a meeting of the Bowdoin Political Forum at 8:15 p.m. Thursday in the Moulton Union. Dr. Sills will speak on his recently completed trip around the world, "Casey" Sills, as he is affectionately known to generations of Bowdoin men, was born in Halifax, Nova Scotia, in 1879, and graduated summa cum laude from Bowdoin in 1901, after being elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He was a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity and served as its National President in 1929.

Inaugurated in 1918

Academically, Dr. Sills received his M.A. from Harvard in 1903, he is an LL.D. from nine different colleges, and an Hon. H. D. from Boston University. After teaching English and the classics, Dr. Sills became President of Bowdoin in 1918, and it was under his guidance that Bowdoin made its greatest growth to what it is today.

His interests were far from being limited to this college, however. He was, at one time or another, President of the Board of Visitors at the U. S. Naval Academy, a Trustee of Wellesley College, Chairman of the trustees of the Carnegie Foundation, and the New England representative to the War Labor Board from 1943 to 1945, to mention only a few of his outside activities.

"Casey" retired in 1952, after more than 40 years association with Bowdoin, one of the nation's best known and most respected College Presidents.

Glee Club Trials To Be Held Nov. 3, 5; Members To Get Robes

Quartet trials for positions in the Glee Club will be held Tuesday, November 3, and Thursday, November 5, from 1:30 to 4:30 in Banister Hall, according to Professor Frederic E. T. Tillotson, club director.

While only 70 men are chosen for the traveling club, those on the "B" list will not be prevented from appearing in concerts, Professor Tillotson remarked.

Every member will appear in Handel's "Messiah," to be presented December 5 at the First Parish Church, and in the annual Campus Concert with Connecticut College, March 13.

Following the trials, the club will be outfitted with robes and the first concert will be held Saturday, November 21, at Farmington. This will be a practice concert.

Professor Tillotson stated, "Exceedingly few men, with most B men becoming members of the traveling club before the year is out." B men will be eligible to take the place of A men who, for some reason or other, drop out.

Wheaton Girls Bowdoin-Bound

Several Wheaton girls pausing for a few minutes before embarking on the trip to Brunswick, Maine where they and their fellow students will become permanent fixtures on the Bowdoin campus.

Left to right: Nancy Green, Donna Buckingham, Julia Clarke, Jane Chambers, Wain Kock, Mary Hawke, Ruthie Clarke, Ann Kirkpatrick, Ann Forsberg, and Pat Gaylor. A feature article on Wheaton College is found on page two of this issue.

Photo By Litchfield

statement was felt by many students to be the high-point of the discussion.

Compares Past With Present

Greene also dealt with the American student of today as compared with the student of his college day. He admonished the students, above all, not to become stagnant and mentally prematurely dead. Because all professional organizations and institutions tend to become reactionary, he warned the students to be suspicious of all that is reactionary. Greene deplored conventional college sentimentality shown during college reunions by drinking and singing songs of questionable political value.

More Fun In His Day

He claimed that in his day, the student talked more, had more fun, and worked more. He drank chiefly to encourage better discussions.

The meeting was attended by forty students. Professor Solnitz provided coffee which enlivened the talk. The students who attended said that they felt it was one of the nicer occasions they had experienced at college, and that they would like to attend more discussions of this type.

Wilder Attends 5-Day Meeting In Boston To Lay Conference Plans

Philip Sawyer Wilder, the Assistant to the President, left for Boston last Friday to attend a five-day meeting of a committee to organize the sixth annual conference on International Educational Exchanges, which is conducted by the National Association of Foreign Student Advisors.

The conference itself will be held in Boston from April 27 to April 29. It will bring to Boston foreign students' advisors, professional

Attends Conference

Approximately 70% of the senior class which graduated last June was registered with the Placement Bureau for vocational guidance and assistance, although many men were members of the ROTC or other military programs. Ladd's report states that the widely publicized demand for college-trained personnel was reflected at Bowdoin by the 85 firms which sent representatives to the campus, and by the many others contacting the office by mail or phone. Thirty-two of the first 100 companies listed among the leading national advertisers for all media were guests.

Despite the great demand for scientific candidates, Ladd notes, several of the larger companies have recently initiated special programs by which carefully selected non-technical graduates may acquire in a training program the necessary technical background.

Philip S. Wilder

staff from national agencies related to the Exchange Program, representatives from the U.S. government, foreign consulates and embassies, teachers of English as a foreign language, and others interested in the nationwide effort to realize the objectives of the Education Act.

(Continued on Page 2)

Tillotson Tells Of Hymn Backgrounds

Professor Frederic E. T. Tillotson spoke on hymns during Friday's chapel exercises.

Professor Tillotson briefly outlined the history of hymns and their accompaniments. He said, "Hymns have been sung since the time of Martin Luther and the reformation. Regardless of their religious background, people sing hymns." "One reason for this," he said, "was that hymns are a lot like folk songs."

Going on further, Professor Tillotson told about the new accompaniments written for these hymns by Charles Villiers Stanford, one of England's foremost musicians. "In 1880, Stanford began to improvise these new accompaniments, called discants, for the old hymns," said Tillotson. "One of his assistants at Trinity College was T. Turchess Noble, an American. When Noble returned to America he brought with him the new music, but they were not published until 1949."

Tillotson explained that future hymnal "sings" will be held, probably one a month, with three hymns, two familiar and one new, being sung.

Chapel closed with the "Italian Hymn," "Tallis' Canon," and Luther's "Mighty Fortress."

20% of Students Working

Undergraduates employment is also an important Placement Bureau activity. About 20% of Bowdoin students are continually employed to look back over the more than a thousand graduates who have been assisted in finding their life's career, many of them now in positions of responsibility.

The report concludes: "The spring of 1954 marks the 10th anniversary of the Placement Bureau here at Bowdoin, and it is gratifying to look back and review the progress that has been made."

Colby College, whose gridiron squad will meet the Polar Bears at Bowdoin on Saturday to open another state series, is a coed institution near Waterville, Maine. Its 140 years of service has recently been climaxed by the moving of the entire campus in a 22-year project, which has attracted nationwide attention.

The college is located just a little over 50 miles north of the Bowdoin campus, on the outskirts of Waterville, a sizeable town of some 18,000 inhabitants. Its present campus, located on a 600-acre expanse on Mayflower Hill, is one of the showplaces of Maine.

Name Changed Frequently

Throughout its illustrious history, Colby has had its name undergo frequent changes. It was chartered as Merchant's and Theological Institution in 1813, but eight years later it became known as Waterville College. However, soon after the Civil War, in 1867, the name was changed to Colby University.

The meeting was attended by 600 men and 450 women.

As in the case of Bowdoin, Colby offers only a Bachelor of Arts degree and no graduate courses. Its faculty, some 80 strong, including 20 undergraduates, serve a total of 1050, divided between 600 men and 450 women.

Its geographical representation is much like Bowdoin's, as most of the undergraduates hail from Massachusetts and Maine. New York, Connecticut, and New Jer-

June Graduates Receive Higher Starting Wages Than Class Of 1952

Employment standards have not been relaxed and industry continues to look for the best qualified men for their training programs," according to the Annual Report of Samuel A. Ladd, Jr., Director of Bowdoin College Placement Bureau, which was made public today. Starting salaries for 1953 graduates were 10% higher than in 1952.

85 Firms Represented

Approximately 70% of the senior class which graduated last June was registered with the Placement Bureau for vocational guidance and assistance, although many men were members of the ROTC or other military programs. Ladd's report states that the widely publicized demand for college-trained personnel was reflected at Bowdoin by the 85 firms which sent representatives to the campus, and by the many others contacting the office by mail or phone. Thirty-two of the first 100 companies listed among the leading national advertisers for all media were guests.

Despite the great demand for scientific candidates, Ladd notes, several of the larger companies have recently initiated special programs by which carefully selected non-technical graduates may acquire in a training program the necessary technical background.

During the year 1952-1953 more than 850 individual interviews were conducted on the Bowdoin campus with a large number of off-campus interviews also arranged. Starting salaries averaged about $310 a month, with a fair number in the $350 and up range.

An increasing number of veterans from the Korean fighting are requesting Placement Bureau assistance. The Bureau is checking Bowdoin men in the armed forces to learn their date of release from service and their career plans.

Undergraduates employment is also an important Placement Bureau activity. About 20% of Bowdoin students are continually employed to look back over the more than a thousand graduates who have been assisted in finding their life's career, many of them now in positions of responsibility.

The report concludes: "The spring of 1954 marks the 10th anniversary of the Placement Bureau here at Bowdoin, and it is gratifying to look back and review the progress that has been made."

Colby College, whose gridiron squad will meet the Polar Bears at Bowdoin on Saturday to open another state series, is a coed institution near Waterville, Maine. Its 140 years of service has recently been climaxed by the moving of the entire campus in a 22-year project, which has attracted nationwide attention.

The college is located just a little over 50 miles north of the Bowdoin campus, on the outskirts of Waterville, a sizeable town of some 18,000 inhabitants. Its present campus, located on a 600-acre expanse on Mayflower Hill, is one of the showplaces of Maine.

Name Changed Frequently

Throughout its illustrious history, Colby has had its name undergo frequent changes. It was chartered as Merchant's and Theological Institution in 1813, but eight years later it became known as Waterville College. However, soon after the Civil War, in 1867, the name was changed to Colby University.

The meeting was attended by 600 men and 450 women.

As in the case of Bowdoin, Colby offers only a Bachelor of Arts degree and no graduate courses. Its faculty, some 80 strong, including 20 undergraduates, serve a total of 1050, divided between 600 men and 450 women.

Its geographical representation is much like Bowdoin's, as most of the undergraduates hail from Massachusetts and Maine. New York, Connecticut, and New Jer-

Representative From Institute Interviews Bowdoin Plan Students

Bowdoin's foreign students were interviewed Monday by Miss Susan Katz, Section Head, in the Foreign Student Department of the Institute of International Education. Those interviewed were Messrs. Jacob M. Celose, Jean T. Frash, Koyu Kinjo, Perito O. Liras, Carsten T. Moller, Robert Van Hoeken, and Edison F. Xavier. Miss Katz also interviewed Mr. Luis Gonzalez Rivero, a teaching fellow in Spanish.

The purpose of Miss Katz's interview was to find new ways of improving the program for foreign students. In her visit here she found our foreign students enjoying and benefiting by their stay at Bowdoin.

The Institute has students in all types of universities and colleges throughout the country. There are about 3,500 foreign students studying in this country today.

Young Republicans Reorganizes Offices, Set Up Committees

Last Tuesday, October 13, the second meeting of the Bowdoin Young Republicans Club was held in which was laid the foundation of a successful school year.

Among the most important business accomplished by the club was a reorganization of its offices, making additions to present posts and adding some entirely new offices. The new line of officers is as follows: President, William A. Fickett '54; Vice President, Peter Z. Bulkeley '55; Secretary, John Hovey '55; Corresponding Secretary, Fred O. Smith II '56; Treasurer, Stanton L. Black '54; Senior Representative, H. Payson Dowst '54, and Junior Representative, John D. Gignac '55. The office of secretary was divided because of the double amount of work that was required, and the Senior and Junior Representatives were added to form with the other officers the Executive Committee.

Two Committees Set Up

Also at this time two other committees were set up. The first, Speakers Committee, will arrange for all speakers which the club plans to have at Bowdoin, and is composed of Fred L. Gustafson '56, Chairman, Robert O. Smith II, John Hovey and Robert W. Matthews '56. The second committee is the Constitutional Committee assigned with the task of drawing up the constitution and presenting it before the club for ratification; the members are Edward G. Treacart '54, Chairman, John D. Gignac, H. Payson Dowst, and Francis P. Twinnem Jr. '55.

Colby Has Interesting Features; Coed College Moved Its Campus

Colby College, whose gridiron squad will meet the Polar Bears at Bowdoin on Saturday to open another state series, is a coed institution near Waterville, Maine. Its 140 years of service has recently been climaxed by the moving of the entire campus in a 22-year project, which has attracted nationwide attention.

The college is located just a little over 50 miles north of the Bowdoin campus, on the outskirts of Waterville, a sizeable town of some 18,000 inhabitants. Its present campus, located on a 600-acre expanse on Mayflower Hill, is one of the showplaces of Maine.

Name Changed Frequently

Throughout its illustrious history, Colby has had its name undergo frequent changes. It was chartered as Merchant's and Theological Institution in 1813, but eight years later it became known as Waterville College. However, soon after the Civil War, in 1867, the name was changed to Colby University.

The meeting was attended by 600 men and 450 women.

As in the case of Bowdoin, Colby offers only a Bachelor of Arts degree and no graduate courses. Its faculty, some 80 strong, including 20 undergraduates, serve a total of 1050, divided between 600 men and 450 women.

Its geographical representation is much like Bowdoin's, as most of the undergraduates hail from Massachusetts and Maine. New York, Connecticut, and New Jer-

James Bowdoin Exercises Held To Honor Scholars

Quinby Visits Boston; To Be Commentator For Dramatic Panel

Appearing as commentator for the professional theater panel at the New England Drama Conference held this past week end in Boston, was Professor George H. Quinby, Director of Dramatics at Bowdoin College.

The highlight of the conference was an address by Leiland Hayward, the New York producer whose production of "Sabina Fair" is now trying out in Boston. His address climaxed the weekend-long conference.

James Bowdoin Day Speaker

Photo By Gassion

Professor Theodore Meyer Greene

Dr. Greene Cites Vital Heritage In James Bowdoin Day Address

By John B. Goodrich '55

Theodore Meyer Greene, professor of philosophy at Yale, described "our vital heritage" as a genuine concern with the ongoing process, for people, and for policy despite the differences between science, art, religion and democracy in his James Bowdoin Day address, "Our Liberal Tradition," delivered last Thursday, October 15, in Memorial Hall.

"American culture is not prone to rate intellectual distinction very highly," Professor Greene told the James Bowdoin scholars in his opening remarks.

He opened his discussion of "Our Liberal Tradition" by asking two searching questions, "What in our western tradition is really vital and alive today? What in the past is as vital today as it was then?" The most important contributing factors to our present heritage, he said, are Greece, Rome, Palestine, science and democracy. Apologizing to the Latin scholars for omitting Rome, Professor Greene discussed the other four topics at some length.

When considering Greece, wisdom and beauty are the two words which immediately come to mind, Greene stated. The Greek tradition of wisdom is exemplified by Socrates on three counts. In the first place he was the inventor of dialectics which Greene defined

"American culture is not prone to rate intellectual distinction very highly," Professor Greene told the James Bowdoin scholars in his opening remarks.

He opened his discussion of "Our Liberal Tradition" by asking two searching questions, "What in our western tradition is really vital and alive today? What in the past is as vital today as it was then?" The most important contributing factors to our present heritage, he said, are Greece, Rome, Palestine, science and democracy. Apologizing to the Latin scholars for omitting Rome, Professor Greene discussed the other four topics at some length.

When considering Greece, wisdom and beauty are the two words which immediately come to mind, Greene stated. The Greek tradition of wisdom is exemplified by Socrates on three counts. In the first place he was the inventor of dialectics which Greene defined

As the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

In the part of Inga Axelborg, the Swedish widow who manages the Town Farm at Haskins, Connecticut, is Mrs. Athern P. Daggett, who has played in previous arena style performances in the Union, as well as in many other town and college productions. As an inmate of the farm, Katie, Miss Nancy McKen, who played the leading roles of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" and Belinda in "Ramshackle Inn" last year, will be displaying her versatility.

Day Begins With Procession; Greene, Brontas Speakers

By William C. Cooke '57

James Bowdoin Day exercises were held on Thursday, October 15, at 11 a.m. in Memorial Hall. The event was heralded by the procession of James Bowdoin scholars and Bowdoin professors who assembled in front of the College Library. Led by the College band, the procession slowly marched from the Library across the campus bright with autumn colors and entered Memorial Hall to commence the thirteenth annual James Bowdoin Day exercises.

The Chapel Choir, under the direction of Professor Robert L. Beckwith, sang Bach's "Grant Us To Do with Zeal," followed by the invocation by the Rev. Howard Travers Smith, B.D., pastor of the Clark Memorial Methodist Church in Portland.

James S. Coles, Ph.D., President of the College, then awarded books bearing the plate of the Honorable James Bowdoin to undergraduates who have maintained an "A" record throughout two semesters.

Paul-P. Brontas '54 presented a short address on the importance of James Bowdoin Day, an address which brought to light the meaning of the Bowdoin scholar.

"And finally, to the James Bowdoin Scholars themselves, this day has a lasting significance. For it is a day on which we feel somewhat proud and yet humble—proud to be a part of Bowdoin

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, October 21, 1953 No. 10

Editor-in-Chief
Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55

Managing Editor
John B. Goodrich '55

News Editors
David R. Anderson '55
Richard M. Catalano '55
T. Ellis McKinney, Jr. '54
Edward N. Cotter '56

Assistant News Editors
James Anwyll, Jr. '56
Thomas L. Spence '57
Carroll E. Pennell '56

Sports Editor
Robert M. Hurst '54

Assistant Sports Editor
Ronald Golz '56

Photographer
James P. Gaston '54

Staff
John M. Belka '54
Donald W. Blodgett '54
Edward N. Cotter '56
Carroll E. Pennell '56
Benjamin G. M. Priest '56
H. Edward Born '57
Francis M. Kinney '57
Edward R. Williams '57
Stanton I. Moody '57
Thomas R. Merrill '57

Business Manager
Bruce N. Cooper '54

Assistant Business Managers
C. Richard Thurston '54
Circulation Manager
Harold R. Beacham, Jr. '56

BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Directors: Professor Athern P. Daggett, Professor Phillip M. Brown, Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilley '54, Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55, Charles Ranlett '54.

Represented for national advertising by
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representatives
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO - BOSTON - LOS ANGELES - SAN FRANCISCO

Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semesters by the students of Bowdoin College. Address news communications to the Editor and subscription communications to the Business Manager of the Bowdoin Publishing Company at the ORIENT Office in Moore Hall, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three ($3) dollars.

More Dates' Rooms Needed

The Student Council this week asked the Dean to extend the list of college approved rooming facilities. The request stemmed from the fact that a number of colleges and prep schools require girls coming to Bowdoin stay at tourist homes sanctioned by Massachusetts Hall. We understand and agree with the reasons for this custom, but since there is only one rooming house now on the list, we feel there is ample justification in the Council's request for more authorized facilities.

Colby, one of the colleges requiring Bowdoin approval, recently discovered that more girls were signed out for this one house than it could possibly hold. This fact alone points to the inadequacy of the present arrangement. It also seems peculiar that the college should prepare through the Union a list of available rooms which it neither sanctions, nor even relies on when the authorized facilities are overcrowded.

We feel that approval could be extended to the New Meadows Inn and the homes of faculty members and townspeople without jeopardizing the reputations of either the students or the colleges involved. If the Student Union list could be used as one source of private rooms which meet administration standards, the solution to this problem may be forthcoming.

— D. R. A.

Sunday's Sartorial Disrespect

Dress at Bowdoin is, as most of you realize, somewhat more informal than at many of the New England colleges. In a large part this is caused by the geographical location of the college. Yet, in spite of this, it seems to exhibit an undergraduate attitude — an attitude which can be seen at its worst most any Sunday afternoon in the chapel.

Last Sunday, for example, when Rev. Robert H. Dunn looked out at the assembled undergraduates his eyes were greeted by a maze of sartorial disrespect. Varying shades of buckskin shoes were nattily combined with dingy sweat socks. Sweaters and sport jackets partially concealed shirts with flying buttonholes, and tossed salad cravates — all in all a rather distasteful scene for any visitor who happened to be participating in or attending the chapel exercises.

The idea of informality, or casualness, as it may be, is reasonably acceptable for classes and athletic events, but, we believe, every student should have enough respect for the Sunday Chapel services to appear dressed properly. This is one college function which all undergraduates should attend in suits and regulation shoes. Or has Bowdoin informality reached the point of complete disrespect?

J. A., Jr.

COLLEGE MEN

Earn $100 per month for part time sales work which is pleasant and dignified. Access to car necessary. Reference leads backed by national advertising. Work will not interfere with studies. The Vita Craft Corp. will hold group interview at

Moulton Union Tuesday, October 27
3:30 Conference Room A

Modern Library

College Edition .65 & .75
Regular Edition 1.25
Giant Edition 2.45

Complete Stock Of Titles On Hand
also
Complete Line Of Mentor Books

MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE

Letters To The Editor

To the editor:
Beef! Beef! Beef! Next to partying, this seems to be the campus' favorite pastime. Last year it was about those posts at Cleveland Hall; now it's these menacing obstacles looming out of the dark before our fragile frames, an inextricable maze calculated to trip, gear and entangle unsuspecting undergrads. Bowdoin men who will leap onto a careening hot-rod for a lift to Cal, who could find their way 'tomb' and the blindfolded from the A.T.O.'s bar to that of Chi Psi, who will watch TV in the Union for hours on end, cannot find the fortitude to traverse the instinct to maneuver through, or the time to circumvent a few sticks or buildings cast in their path.

I have walked through Hackett's playground at night a dozen times or more, and have found it considerably less unmerging than trying to pick my way across a flat (Fraternity) lounge during Ivy house parties.

I'm sure that if we search diligently, we can find weightier, more interesting topics to beef about.

P. K. Holmes '56

The ORIENT has, in gathering, channeling, and expressing, undergraduate opinion concerning needed campus improvements, performed one of its main purposes as the college newspaper. It is not the policy of the ORIENT to "beef" merely for the purpose of making copy. We believe the expression of alert student opinion, varied as it may be, by the ORIENT, to be a healthy and constructive part of Bowdoin's undergraduate life. It would be a dull college, indeed, in which the tastes and opinions of the individual were identical to the tastes and opinions of the entire undergraduate body.

P.S. Since the writing of the ORIENT editorial lights and fumes have eliminated the hazard caused by the so called "Hackett's playground."

J. A., Jr.

Letter To Editor

For the benefit of those people who believe that Bowdoin's football team last year was only a little above average, or could have done better, I submit the following. Last year ...

Bowdoin beat Maine, 33-14.
Maine beat Rhode Island, 13-0.
Rhode Island beat Brown, 7-6.
Brown beat Harvard, 38-21.
Harvard beat Dartmouth, 38-19.
Dartmouth beat Columbia, 38-14.
Columbia beat Army, 14-14.
Army beat South Carolina, 28-7.
South Carolina beat Furman, 27-7.
Furman beat West Virginia, 22-14.
West Virginia beat Pittsburgh, 16-0.
Pittsburgh beat Notre Dame, 22-19.

Which proves that last year Bowdoin was better than Notre Dame, now the number one team in the country.

Respectfully submitted,
Elliott S. Kambar '56

Wildier Attends 5-Day Meeting in Boston

(Continued from Page 1)
The past five conferences have dealt, in a broad sense, with the

CUMBERLAND THEATRE
Brunswick, Maine

Wednesday-Thursday
October 21-22

Tony Curtis
in
THE ALL AMERICAN
also
News Short Subjects

Friday-Saturday-Sunday
Monday-Tuesday
October 23-24-25-26-27
5 DAYS 5

Burt Lancaster
Montgomery Clift
Deborah Kerr
Frank Sinatra
in
FROM HERE TO ETERNITY (ADVANCED PRICES)
also
Paramount News

Wednesday-Thursday
October 23-24

Ottis Ford
in FLUNDER OF THE SUN
also
News Cartoons

Wheaton Exemplifies Liberal Arts Tradition

By John M. Belka '54
And Donald W. Blodgett '54

Wheaton College, oft referred to as Bowdoin's Sister College, is majestically situated in the petit town of Norton, Mass. Wheaton's beginning connection with Bowdoin was instilled through President Cole of Wheaton. President Cole, also an alumnus of Bowdoin, was a good friend of Donald B. MacMillan which accounts for the meaning of the Bowdoin white and the Wheaton purple being carried to the North Pole in 1911. This is the first significant tie between these two institutions of education.

Wheaton College is a living monument to a great woman. The original idea was conceived in the mind of Judge Laban Wheaton's daughter-in-law. This woman, Eliza Chapin Wheaton, was so enthusiastic concerning the institution that she cut herself and her husband off from any future income. This was in conformity with the idea of a seminary in memoriam of the Judge's daughter, Mrs. Eliza Wheaton Strong.

First Class in 1835

Illustrating the beauty and styling of the Wheaton Campus buildings are the Cole Memorial Chapel (left) and the buildings of Hebe Memorial Chapel is often considered a symbol of the college. President Cole, incidentally, was a Bowdoin graduate. In Hebe Court are found Kilham Hall (left) and Metcalf Hall (right).

The suggestion for a seminary was proposed in 1834, and within a year this materialized into a living organ. In such an undertaking the founders needed an experienced woman educator. This woman was Mary Lyon from the Ipswich Seminary and she in turn selected Miss Eunice Caldwell as the first principal of Wheaton Female Seminary. In April, 1835, the first class signed the matriculation book. These are the circumstances and ingredients which fostered the original institution in Norton, which today is widely acknowledged as one of the leading women's colleges in the country.

Wheaton Female Seminary seemed to be a stepping stone for Mary Lyon and Miss Caldwell to transfer to Mt. Holyoke. These originals felt that they were needed to help out education in other parts. These educators naturally insisted that the Bible had the best-seller list at the Wheaton book store.

and honors papers. This liberal arts program coincides very closely with the policy found at Bowdoin. There are only a few exceptions: the girls do not take major exams in senior year, while some who have outstanding grades are asked to write research papers.

All our young ladies' time is not spent searching diligently through the dusty archives of the campus library. Rather the Wheaton girl is apt to be found on any one of many Eastern Men's College Campuses. Many times we hear her melodic voice on our fair campus exchanging traditional "hellos". This greeting is part of the whole make up of a typical Wheaton girl, if such a type exists. Her spirit prevails at all social gatherings.

When the campus queens come tramping back to their domiciles after such week ends, they are positive to dodge the slype light. With fond memories of spent social life they never wish to become spinsters by stepping through the slype. These charmers would rather dream of being chased through the Dimple by a bare-footed Hercules who is bound to capture them; thus taking the first vows of marriage. If for any reason these loves have not progressed this far in the pursuit of a permanent love, they may be seen walking three times around Peacock Pond. Some men become bashful after such physical exertion and may fail the Wheatonite by not kissing her. Here is where the wrath of the woman is mustered and she will usually push her prospective suitor into the pond. If something, do you always snub your nose like a radcliffe girl and flatly refuse to respond. I asked you to put one of my phrased delectations in capitals, although you bother to change other parts of my epistle, yet you denied me the pleasure of having a phrase put in capitals, and I am still in a quandry as to the meaning of the trisyllable, jadaloon.

now, and I am serious, I have a name, I even bothered to sign it to the terminus of my epistle, adidpheric of having it in your sheet, and as far as I am cognizant, you have no one of mine, even more disrespectfully, foslck the reader is doubtful as to the veracity of these traditions, let him get in touch with two pledges at the Psi U. House who roomed in Peacock Pond last Sunday. These same two freshmen were noticed racing bare-footed through the Dimple on that same morning chasing two beautiful sophomores. Reserved for the stately seniors are the library steps upon which no other under-classman may be found seated (author's note — There are approximately 70,511 volumes in this library). The seniors also have another expressed privilege, that of leaving chapel first. This age-old tradition coincides exactly with one observed at Bowdoin.

Honor System New

Although there are many noticeable similarities in reference to the Bowdoin-Wheaton relationship, as the 8-1 ratio of students to professors and both enrollments under 1,000, there is a contrast by the use of an honor system. The honor system was incorporated in 1946 for the academic aspect and in 1949 covering the social life. This whole system was initiated by this student themselves. This was made possible by the close relationship between the administration and the student body. Dr. Meneeley, now President of Wheaton College, expressed his complete satisfaction with the results of the honor system. He based his opinion upon the

Letter To Editor

oct. 15, 1953
editor, the bowdoin orient,
sir,
may I make an humble request, or do you have to change every- thing that comes into your office to suit yourself, when an epistolary piece of literature such as my previous piece is sent for publication, and signed, it should be published verbatim ac litteratum, and not mused up.

in reference to an unmentionable institution, I had used a punctational adjective to replace invectives that have not yet been dreamed of, as I recall, it went something like this — if you do not delete it again quote — "f—, /f—, /f—"; in place of this masterpiece of implied disparagement, the reader found some unfounded conglomeration of letters reading — if they could be read — etaoinshrdlu, this is awful, a transliteration into the greek alphabet might make it look more menacing, but as it stands, it mings, it has lost its entirety of invective feeling, and produces no emotion whatsoever.

when someone writes asking a question or more or requesting and honors papers. This liberal arts program coincides very closely with the policy found at Bowdoin. There are only a few exceptions: the girls do not take major exams in senior year, while some who have outstanding grades are asked to write research papers.

All our young ladies' time is not spent searching diligently through the dusty archives of the campus library. Rather the Wheaton girl is apt to be found on any one of many Eastern Men's College Campuses. Many times we hear her melodic voice on our fair campus exchanging traditional "hellos". This greeting is part of the whole make up of a typical Wheaton girl, if such a type exists. Her spirit prevails at all social gatherings.

When the campus queens come tramping back to their domiciles after such week ends, they are positive to dodge the slype light. With fond memories of spent social life they never wish to become spinsters by stepping through the slype. These charmers would rather dream of being chased through the Dimple by a bare-footed Hercules who is bound to capture them; thus taking the first vows of marriage. If for any reason these loves have not progressed this far in the pursuit of a permanent love, they may be seen walking three times around Peacock Pond. Some men become bashful after such physical exertion and may fail the Wheatonite by not kissing her. Here is where the wrath of the woman is mustered and she will usually push her prospective suitor into the pond. If

Student Patronage Solicited

First National Bank
Brunswick, Maine

Member of the Federal Reserve System and
Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

How the stars got started

Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey say:
"Our Dad led the brass band in our home town. He started us on our way tooing in the band when we were eight years old. We watched and studied successful musicians as much as we could, worked real hard, and little by little began to get there."

I STARTED SMOKING CAMELS LONG AGO, I WATCHED, AND THE GUYS WHO ENJOYED SMOKING MOST WERE GUYS WHO SMOKED CAMELS. THERE'S NOTHING LIKE CAMEL'S FLAVOR!

Start smoking Camels yourself!

Smoke only Camels for 30 days and find out why Camels are America's most popular cigarette. See how mild and flavorful a cigarette can be!

CAMELS AGREE WITH MORE PEOPLE THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

POLAR BEARINGS

Tough football, interfraternity style, is gradually turning from what is supposed to be fraternity competition to a friendly basis...

The Independents forfeited their third straight touch football game this week. This seems like a sufficient reason to throw them out...

Interfraternity tennis, despite arguments against it, still can be played here at Bowdoin if enough men are still interested in it...

The State Series opens up next week with the White Mules of Colby coming down to Brunswick and the Black Bears of Maine traveling to Lewiston to meet Bates...

Navy Dept. Announces Plan For Students In Management Program

The Navy Department in Washington has announced that it is planning to take a limited number of outstanding young men and women for its Civilian Management Training Program starting next July.

The program is successful completion of the U. S. Civil Service Commission's annual Junior Management Assistant (JMA) examination...

For further information Further information about the Navy Program and instructions on applying for the JMA examination can be obtained at the Placement Office...

Sophomores Pick Candidates; Election To Be In Two Weeks

- George W. Heselton - Heselton played football, basketball and baseball, was vice-president of the student council...
Zeta Psi - A Shady Side Academy graduate, Patterson played football and baseball...
Theta Delta Chi - A Hand High School product, Gelinas was active in baseball, basketball, football, soccer...

Zetes Top Sigma Nus; ARUs Lead In League A

Unleashing a passing attack late in the fourth quarter, the Zetes managed to squeak by the Sigma Nus, 19-14, thus keeping their unbeaten record clean.

Alpha Delta's Bill Sande races down field for big gain, as two Kappa Sigs, Bob Thompson and Ray Greenwood, follow in close pursuit.

Alpha Delta's Bill Sande races down field for big gain, as two Kappa Sigs, Bob Thompson and Ray Greenwood, follow in close pursuit.

into undisputed possession of first place in League "B". Still on top in League "A" are the powerful ARUs, who romped over the highly-touted Kappa Sigs, 32-13.

Practical scoring at will the ARUs continued their winning ways by burying the Kappa Sigs, 32-13. With Al Werksman tossing the passes and Phil Weiner catching them the ARUs were never headed.

Things looked dark for the DJE men when a pass from Heselton to Sayward connected in the last few minutes of play and the DJEs went ahead for the first time in the balgame.

At Governor Dummer Academy, Boss played basketball and baseball. He has been active in interfraternity sports at Bowdoin...

At South Portland High School, O'Rourke is active in the Masque and Gown, the ORIENT, WBOA, and the ATO Social Committee...

At Newton High School, Wright was in the Dramatic Club, the Student Council and the school newspaper. At Bowdoin Wright is active in the Masque and Gown, the ORIENT, WBOA, and the ATO Social Committee...

Williams Holds Off Polar Bears 20-14; Coukos, Dyer Pace Second Half Push

Behind a hard running single wing attack, Hebron marched 57 and 41 yards in the first and third quarters respectively to pay dirt, as the opposition easily whipped the Bowdoin Frosh, 12-0, at the winners' field on Saturday, October 17.

The decisive factor was the condition of the two teams. Hebron had already played two games and the experience they had gained therein payed off.

Others in the second round, because of byes in first round matches, are Bill Nieman (1), Ben Ford (3), Jim Wilson (4), and Dave Bell (5). So far none of the top seeded players have been defeated.

Others in the second round, because of byes in first round matches, are Bill Nieman (1), Ben Ford (3), Jim Wilson (4), and Dave Bell (5). So far none of the top seeded players have been defeated.

Williams was able to play their matches, both first and second rounds, by this week will have to forfeit. This rule has been laid down because the tournament must be completed while the good weather prevails.

Williams was able to play their matches, both first and second rounds, by this week will have to forfeit. This rule has been laid down because the tournament must be completed while the good weather prevails.

Bowdoin Rally Falls Short; Murray Shines As Receiver

Bowdoin won everything but the ball game as Williams handed the Polar Bears the second defeat of the season 20-14. Bowdoin spotted the Epimen a 20 to 0 lead in the first half and almost came back and pulled the ball game out of the fire in a thrill-packed second half.

Bowdoin rally falls short as Williams' defense holds off the Polar Bears. Murray's reception for 37 yards was the big play. Dyer picked up the balance on line plunges.

Bowdoin rally falls short as Williams' defense holds off the Polar Bears. Murray's reception for 37 yards was the big play. Dyer picked up the balance on line plunges.

Bowdoin rally falls short as Williams' defense holds off the Polar Bears. Murray's reception for 37 yards was the big play. Dyer picked up the balance on line plunges.

Bowdoin rally falls short as Williams' defense holds off the Polar Bears. Murray's reception for 37 yards was the big play. Dyer picked up the balance on line plunges.

At last, a sportswear made for sports... GABSHIRE styled by Manhattan. See GABSHIRE today - at your nearest Manhattan dealer's.

Merrymeeting Gift Shop. 385 Park Row. Greeting Cards --- Gifts. Free Gift Wrapping. Bendix Launderette. 35 Mill Street Brunswick, Maine. Just a few steps from Maine Street. Nine pound wash 30c. Use of Dryer 25c.

Williams Holds Off Polar Bears 20-14; Coukos, Dyer Pace Second Half Push

Behind a hard running single wing attack, Hebron marched 57 and 41 yards in the first and third quarters respectively to pay dirt, as the opposition easily whipped the Bowdoin Frosh, 12-0, at the winners' field on Saturday, October 17.

The decisive factor was the condition of the two teams. Hebron had already played two games and the experience they had gained therein payed off.

Others in the second round, because of byes in first round matches, are Bill Nieman (1), Ben Ford (3), Jim Wilson (4), and Dave Bell (5). So far none of the top seeded players have been defeated.

Williams was able to play their matches, both first and second rounds, by this week will have to forfeit. This rule has been laid down because the tournament must be completed while the good weather prevails.

Williams was able to play their matches, both first and second rounds, by this week will have to forfeit. This rule has been laid down because the tournament must be completed while the good weather prevails.

Williams was able to play their matches, both first and second rounds, by this week will have to forfeit. This rule has been laid down because the tournament must be completed while the good weather prevails.

Complete and Friendly Banking Services. Student Accounts Welcomed. Brunswick Branch. FIRST-AUBURN TRUST COMPANY. Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it... The Record Office. Paul K. Niven Jerry Wilkes. Printers Of The Orient.

At last, a sportswear made for sports... GABSHIRE styled by Manhattan. See GABSHIRE today - at your nearest Manhattan dealer's.

Winter Weight Jackets Priced as low as 8.95. Phil's Surplus Store. 78 Maine Street Brunswick.

Behind The Ivy Curtain

By David R. Anderson '55
The Harvard Radio Forum does its share to enliven Saturday nights at the Cambridge school.

The Harvard student can count several other advantages. Dormitory rules permit stays in the dorms until 3:00 p.m. on week nights and 11:00 p.m. on week ends.

Amherst Again
The following is an excerpt from an editorial which appeared in the October 5 copy of the Amherst Student.

Greene Cites Heritage In Thursday Address
[Continued From Page 1]
As the art of polite and interesting conversation.

Warning Grades For Freshmen Are To Be Distributed Thursday
Freshman warning grades will be given to the faculty advisors on Thursday afternoon, October 22, in turn be distributed to the freshmen, Dean Kendrick announced.

Bowl-Mor Alleys
Student Patronage Welcomed
186 Maine Street

Letter Tells Story Of Williams Game

(Continued From Page 1)
trumpeter from Williams walked in. He was really good and he played for about half an hour.

Sophomores Choose Election Candidates

(Continued From Page 3)
Glee Club, the a cappella choir, and is fraternity librarian.

Scholars Honored In James Bowdoin Day Exercises; Two Speak

[Continued From Page 1]
Students designated as James Bowdoin Scholars are as follows: Class of 1954: Richard Allen, David Whitney Bailey, Paul Peter Broutas, William Allen Brown, Todd Homer Callihan, Richard Otis Card, David Adelbert Carlson, Richard Dale, Miguel Enrique de la Fe, Angelo John Eraklis, James Roy Ficker, Joel Howard Graham, Ronald Bowden Gray, Richard Swinton Harrison, William Frederick Hoffman, John Baden Malcolm, Paul John Morin, Karl Maurice Pearson Jr., Robert Warrin Pillsbury, Edward Pirahno, Herrick Clark Ridlon, Ernest Elmer Roney, Theodore William Roussin, James Orkin Smith, Edward Francis Spicer, Gordon Woodbury Stearns Jr., Christian Ware Jr., Lewis Phillips Welch.

Farmer Visits Topsham Fair; Goes Down With Tent Show

By Philip W. Gilman '56
I picked up the phone. It was ringing. "Hello, Bowdoin Orient. Gilman speaking."

"Well, it's a long story. Had me an incident. Might's well tell the whole story, though.

"Well, I figured I had as much right 't take them nickels an' dimes as the guy in the sty, so I went out there an' I started in, 'Well, it was perty dark in there, an' I couldn't see 't trip over sumthin', an' that's jest what I did, walked the whole dang'd place, collapsed. Now they was some sailors in there, an' they started cheerin' real loud an' cheerful like, an' the manager come runnin' around an' saw me under this pile of canvas, an' he suspected somethin', an' had me hauled in."

William Lewis Kimball, Denis Wholley King, Elliot Samuel Palas, Richard Charles Roberts, Gordon Burgess Small Jr., David Burr Starkweather, Harvey Bennett Stephens, Joseph John Teece, Robert Writing Vese, Robert Bennett Walsh, Donald Cameron Walton Jr., George Curtis Webber 2nd, Andrew Wilson Williamson III, Kenneth Paul Winter.

'53 Football Schedule

Varsity Games at Home
Oct. 24 Colby 1:30 p.m.
Oct. 31 Bates 1:30 p.m.
Varsity Games Away
Nov. 7 Maine at Orono 1:30 p.m.
In 1952, 2,090,000 Americans were injured in traffic accidents.

150 Fathers Gather; Guests Of College

Approximately 150 fathers of Bowdoin men will be guests of the college on Fathers Day, October 24. The Bowdoin-Colby football game in the afternoon will be the main feature of the day's program.

Purpose of The Association
The Bowdoin Fathers Association is composed of fathers of men currently enrolled at Bowdoin, or of men who have attended Bowdoin. Its major purposes as set up in the by-laws are to promote a "family-like" relationship between fathers and the College, its President and Faculty; a closer acquaintance and relationship between the fathers; a definite College link between fathers and sons for sharing responsibility and participation in College matters and activities; and a definite and vitally interested medium for disseminating information about Bowdoin College to the public and particularly to prospective or definitely interested students and their families.

Notice To Seniors

The Placement Bureau requests that all seniors planning to register with the Placement Bureau for a series of interviews and vocational counsel and advice be present at a brief meeting to be held in the Faculty Room, Massachusetts Hall, Thursday evening, October 22, at 7 p.m. The meeting will be brief but it is imperative that all seniors report at that time to obtain registration information.

Campus Move Feature In Colby's History

[Continued From Page 1]
Colby offers a summer school of languages, in which courses at the elementary, intermediate, and advanced levels in French, German, Italian, Russian, and Spanish are taught in a very intensive program by qualified instructors.

Has Only Six Fraternities
Colby has but six fraternities for the 600 male students, of which three have chapters here. The six are Delta Kappa Epsilon, Zeta Psi, Delta Upsilon, Phi Delta Theta, Alpha Tau Omega, and Tau Delta Iota.

It was in the year 1930 that conditions finally became intolerable at Colby College. The increasing influx of industrial plants had reduced the once-spacious campus to an irreducible minimum of 16 acres. Paint stores, Chinese restaurants, and body-and-fender shops were advancing on the defenseless college in a menacing pincers movement. Worse, the campus was virtually surrounded by railroad tracks and rail yards.

Cast For Masque And Gown Play Announced

[Continued From Page 1]
Male Parts
Camille Sarrauf '55, who appeared last year in "Rambhackle Inn," and the "Merchant of Venice," will play a Yankee peddler named Dwight Watson. Todd H. Callahan '54, who played in "Rambhackle Inn" will appear as Judge Stanton, first selectman of the town of Haskins. Neil Atter '55, still another member of the "Rambhackle Inn" cast will play Bert Noble, another inmate of the Town Farm. As Cortland Cowles, a representative of the Highway Commission, will be Cal B. Kendall '56, who last spring was seen in "The Hasty Heart." Fred O. Smith '56, who has done production work for the Masque and Gown, will play Ray Clark, Dotie's fiance.

Peter Davis will be Stage Manager for the production.
Over twenty years later, more than $7,000,000 spent, 3,000,000 man-hours consumed, 49,000 barrels of cement used, and help from nearly 13,000 people, the dream became a reality, despite a depression, two wars, a recession, inflation and assorted lesser disasters, including murder.

Finally, in the fall of 1952, the essential work was completed. However, Colby still needs a music-and-fine arts building, an administration building, and many more assorted items. Although its endowment fund is steadily increasing and the general operation can be said to be sound financial ground, Colby nevertheless owes one million dollars it has had to borrow from time to time. As to the state football series, Colby has won 22 against Bowdoin, while losing 34 times. There have been eight ties in the 64-game rivalry. More than 15,000 persons were killed in weekend traffic accidents last year.

"Matchless Service"

Ford Sales and Service
Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed USED CARS
Maine's Most Modern Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop
Complete Front End and Frame Alignment
Harry H. Smart, Inc.
87 Pleasant Street - Brunswick, Maine

CHESTERFIELD BEST FOR YOU
LOW IN NICOTINE HIGHEST IN QUALITY
When you smoke Chesterfield it's so satisfying to know that you are getting the one cigarette that's low in nicotine, highest in quality.
A fact proved by chemical analyses of the country's six leading cigarette brands.
And it's so satisfying to know that a doctor reports no adverse effects to the nose, throat and sinuses from smoking Chesterfield.
The doctor's report is part of a program supervised by a responsible independent research laboratory and is based on thorough bi-monthly examinations of a group of Chesterfield smokers over a period of a year and a half.
Chesterfield is best for me - my steady smoke for 7 years.
LARGEST SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA'S COLLEGE COUNTRIES

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

VOLUME LXXXIII

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1953

NUMBER 11

Kenneth Sills Discusses India's Role In World

Says India Must Stay Neutral; Communists Active In Colleges

By David G. Lavander '55

"India and its Role in World Politics" was the topic of a talk given by former President of Bowdoin, Kenneth C. M. Sills in Smith Auditorium Friday night, Oct. 23.

Speaking before a number of faculty and students, President Sills discussed the social conditions and economic conditions of India as he saw them during his recent stay in that country. He began with a description of the problem India faces in feeding its millions of inhabitants. He stated that the country is "overwhelmed with people" and is largely dependent on U. S. aid in food and grain and must improve its agricultural methods.

India Must Remain Neutral

Only one-tenth of the 4,500,000 inhabitants of New Delhi can read or write, and eighty percent of the entire population of India is illiterate, according to President Sills. However, he was careful to distinguish between illiteracy and ignorance, and he said that the country is fertile field for emotional doctrines. Britain failed to develop any program of general education, and because of the large number of illiterates, he was constant there of famine. India feels that she must remain neutral in politics.

There is some evidence in India of higher education. Many people do go to the University of New Delhi. President Sills was greatly impressed by his institution's agricultural and educational schools. New Delhi University is supported by the government. Its students are more politically minded than are their counterparts in America, said Dr. Sills. They are a frustrated group and a fertile field for Communism.

Communists Active There

According to President Sills, Communists have been openly subsidizing professors and carrying on an active propaganda campaign with notes and letters. The President Emeritus stated that there is a strong possibility that India will go communist unless America is more patient with her than has been the case.

India's present and future stand in world politics is still important to this country, President Sills stated. He declared that Americans must get over the idea that every country should do as we do or as we tell them to do. It must be remembered, he said, that India would be a prize which the communist world would give much to take.

President and Mrs. Sills have recently returned from a tour of the world which lasted six months and two weeks. In addition to India and Ceylon, they visited many parts of Europe. He is now giving a series of lectures in Maine on the impressions he received from the trip. He is also engaged in writing an account about his thirty-five years as President of Bowdoin.

New Condenser Will Boost WBOA Range By Homecoming Week End

WBOA, Bowdoin's radio station, will soon switch to high-tension wires, which will greatly increase its power.

Campus radio fans, up to now hearing many strange noises emitting from 820 on the dial, will soon be able to sit back and enjoy entertainment ranging from opera to football.

This change over to high tension is no new idea. Two years ago, when the Cleveland Science Building was under construction, several high-voltage transformers were set up on campus, interfering with the range of WBOA, cutting it down as much as fifty per cent.

Russell Washburne '50, submitted plans to the Central Maine Power Company which would permit WBOA to hook its radio power lines to those of the company. After many changes in the plans, the permission was finally granted.

WBOA, however, did not have a condenser, and the plans were again halted. The increase in power was scheduled to be effective in November, 1952, and already a year has passed without any increase.

General Electric, from whom the new condenser was ordered, has not been able to promise delivery, so Russell Washburne has taken matters into his own hands. He has procured a condenser on his own, and before Bowdoin plays Maine on November seventh, the increase of power will have become effective, and the range of "the voice of Bowdoin" will be boosted to almost five miles.

Kenneth Charles Morton Sills

Correction

A conference with college authorities following last week's editorial on the rooming situation revealed that several of the alleged facts in the editorial were misconstrued by its author.

In the first place Massachusetts Hall is not responsible for making recommendations about rooming facilities for dates from girls colleges. This is up to the authorities of the other colleges.

Secondly, the list of rooms available at the Union is placed there for student convenience. Union officials and the administration are both interested in serving the students in this respect, and are not working at cross purposes as was implied in the editorial.

Freshman Grades In Good Standing

The freshman warning marks which were given out last Thursday were fairly satisfactory, Dean Nathaniel Cooper Kendrick announced.

Though there were no straight "A" men, the number of students who were in serious trouble was small. The reports however, were heavily loaded with low grades.

Honors Poly Forum With Talk

Andrew Williamson Selected To Attend Industrial Congress

Bowdoin College announced today that Andrew W. Williamson III, of Jefferson, Maine, has been selected to attend the 18th Annual Congress of American Industry, to be held December 2 to 4 under the auspices of the American Association of Manufacturers.

Associated Industries of Maine has made this award to Williamson as an all-expense-paid trip to New York City, where the Congress will be held at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel. He will be in New York from December 1 to December 5.

Straight 'A' Man

Williamson, who came to Bowdoin as the winner of an Alumni Fund Scholarship in 1951, is a Junior. He graduated from Lincoln Academy, where he was an outstanding student and athlete. At Bowdoin he has been a member of the varsity track squad and is also starting back on the football team. A member of the Dean's List he has been a James Bowdoin Scholar for two years and on October 15 received a specially inscribed book from the College for having maintained a straight "A" record for two consecutive semesters.

Last year Williamson won the Smyth Mathematical Prize and also three ROTC awards. These included the Maine Central Railroad Company award for combining superior scholastic performance with commendable leadership in the Northeast Airlines award for the highest average attained by a second-year basic course student in Military Science subjects; and the Bangor and Arisitook Railroad Company award for having demonstrated the highest qualities of leadership among cadets in the second-year basic course.

Williamson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W. Williamson II, of Jefferson, is majoring in mathematics with a minor in physics at Bowdoin. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity.

Colby Week End Made Festive Occasion By Students And Guests

Whittier Field was turned back to the ground keepers as the spectators dispersed to the various fraternity houses to enjoy the pleasant thoughts about the first game of the State Series. The large crowd of students, dates, alumni and parents left the field where they had attempted to blend their voices for a weak Bowdoin cheer.

The crowd scattered into the four winds only to find their way was not so simple as expected. The house and the promise of a rejuvenated social life. These cocktail parties rocked with festive song and spirit that might well have been used up at the game.

The students were not alone in entertaining the parents and alumni, but they found able assistance in the faculty who were also enjoying fraternity life. The faculty showed their ability to enjoy a social gathering as well as an intellectual discussion with their rising disciples.

When the chow bell rang, the cooks were overwhelmed by the large delegations that descended upon them crying to be fed. This mixture of woe and cheerers found themselves seated next to representatives of Bates, Maine College, and the students of the Maine Colleges prevailed throughout this festive occasion.

As the night wore on and the cocktails were off, the fresh air of the afternoon was exchanged for that of the smoke filled rumpus room of the Delta Sigma house. Through the narrow archways streamed hundreds of students and their guests to be entertained by the Polar Bear Five. The dixieland band found itself confronted with a tremendous audience of elbowing witnesses who were more than satisfied with the entertainment.

When the Polar Bear Five were finally released by their rabid dixieland followers, the Zeta and A.D. houses seemed the logical place for visitors who had good dance bands. George Howes with his four piece band attracted many couples to the A.D. house.

Totman, Cosgrove Elected House Officers; Others Named Recently

Four Fraternities have held house elections since the ORIENT published the list of house officers last spring.

Alpha Rho Upsilon has elected for president, Jerome F. Solomon '54; vice president, David A. Carlson '54; treasurer, Joseph L. Rooks '55; recording secretary, Roderick M. Simpson '53; corresponding secretary, Richard B. Rudman '56; historian, Marvin Kaitz '54; sergeant-at-arms, Theodore H. Howe '55; steward, Gerard D. Goldstein '54. Solomon has held the office of treasurer and pledge master, and has been a member of the Bowdoin Band. Carlson is a former president, recording secretary, and student council representative.

Simpson is a member of the College Student Council Judiciary Committee and has held the office of house recording secretary before. Rudman is a Bowdoin Scholar and is one of the sophomores who has been nominated for the class elections. Kaitz is a member of the glee club and is serving on its executive committee. Howe and Goldstein are members of the varsity football squad and former White Key representatives.

Psi Upsilon has elected for president Melvin A. Totman '54; vice president, George Howes '54; recording secretary, Roderick M. Simpson '53; corresponding secretary, Richard B. Rudman '56; historian, Marvin Kaitz '54; sergeant-at-arms, Theodore H. Howe '55; steward, Gerard D. Goldstein '54. Solomon has held the office of treasurer and pledge master, and has been a member of the Bowdoin Band. Carlson is a former president, recording secretary, and student council representative.

Coach Adam Walsh Blasts Deceit Found In College Football Today

In a talk given Monday evening, Oct. 5, before six hundred members of the Springfield Industrial Association, Coach Adam Walsh pointed out the rampant deception in college football today.

"It was wrong to have a two-platoon system," Walsh told the businessmen. "This move was necessitated because some colleges and universities couldn't afford to go on paying two teams and two coaching staffs, he stated. "Don't let them tell you that the two-platoon system was abolished to help small colleges," he said. "It was driven through because large universities couldn't afford to pay offensive and defensive teams and offensive and defensive coaching staffs. They were feeling the pinch at the gate and this is what they did to save football."

"False Advertising"

"I'd like to see the man who can't tell the truth," Walsh said.

Initiations And House Banquets To Begin At Bowdoin This Week

The majority of the Fraternities at Bowdoin will commence their initiation ceremonies this week, with a few houses delaying until November.

Alpha Delta Phi will initiate on Friday, October 30. The annual Initiation Banquet will follow, with William Chapman, Portland lawyer and alumnus as guest speaker. Psi Upsilon will also initiate its twenty-two pledges on Friday. Professor Nathan Dane II will be guest speaker, along with John E. Sylvester Jr. '54.

Chi Psi will delay initiation for eight days. Freshmen and two Sophomores. No date has yet been announced.

Professor Thomas A. Riley will address the members of Delta Kappa Epsilon when they initiate their pledges on Friday evening.

Theta Delta Chi will initiate fourteen Pledges tomorrow and Friday.

Zeta Psi will have six speakers at their initiation ceremonies and banquet, to be held on Thursday and Friday evenings. President Cole, Vice-President Norton, Robert Cross of the Alumni Office, and Larry Johnston '57, President of the Freshman Delegation, will be among those featured. Professor Herbert Brown will be toastmaster.

Twelve Freshmen will be initiated into Kappa Sigma on Friday. Donovan D. Lancaster, the Alumni Advisor, and Professors Bourne and Gustafson, Faculty advisors, will be present.

Andrew Williamson Selected To Attend Industrial Congress

Kenneth Charles Morton Sills

Correction

A conference with college authorities following last week's editorial on the rooming situation revealed that several of the alleged facts in the editorial were misconstrued by its author.

In the first place Massachusetts Hall is not responsible for making recommendations about rooming facilities for dates from girls colleges. This is up to the authorities of the other colleges.

Secondly, the list of rooms available at the Union is placed there for student convenience. Union officials and the administration are both interested in serving the students in this respect, and are not working at cross purposes as was implied in the editorial.

Totman, Cosgrove Elected House Officers; Others Named Recently

Four Fraternities have held house elections since the ORIENT published the list of house officers last spring.

Alpha Rho Upsilon has elected for president, Jerome F. Solomon '54; vice president, David A. Carlson '54; treasurer, Joseph L. Rooks '55; recording secretary, Roderick M. Simpson '53; corresponding secretary, Richard B. Rudman '56; historian, Marvin Kaitz '54; sergeant-at-arms, Theodore H. Howe '55; steward, Gerard D. Goldstein '54. Solomon has held the office of treasurer and pledge master, and has been a member of the Bowdoin Band. Carlson is a former president, recording secretary, and student council representative.

Simpson is a member of the College Student Council Judiciary Committee and has held the office of house recording secretary before. Rudman is a Bowdoin Scholar and is one of the sophomores who has been nominated for the class elections. Kaitz is a member of the glee club and is serving on its executive committee. Howe and Goldstein are members of the varsity football squad and former White Key representatives.

Psi Upsilon has elected for president Melvin A. Totman '54; vice president, George Howes '54; recording secretary, Roderick M. Simpson '53; corresponding secretary, Richard B. Rudman '56; historian, Marvin Kaitz '54; sergeant-at-arms, Theodore H. Howe '55; steward, Gerard D. Goldstein '54. Solomon has held the office of treasurer and pledge master, and has been a member of the Bowdoin Band. Carlson is a former president, recording secretary, and student council representative.

Initiations, Dance, Displays Highlight Alumni Weekend; Jadaloos Exhibit Scheduled

Andrew Williamson Selected To Attend Industrial Congress

Bowdoin College announced today that Andrew W. Williamson III, of Jefferson, Maine, has been selected to attend the 18th Annual Congress of American Industry, to be held December 2 to 4 under the auspices of the American Association of Manufacturers.

Associated Industries of Maine has made this award to Williamson as an all-expense-paid trip to New York City, where the Congress will be held at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel. He will be in New York from December 1 to December 5.

Straight 'A' Man

Williamson, who came to Bowdoin as the winner of an Alumni Fund Scholarship in 1951, is a Junior. He graduated from Lincoln Academy, where he was an outstanding student and athlete. At Bowdoin he has been a member of the varsity track squad and is also starting back on the football team. A member of the Dean's List he has been a James Bowdoin Scholar for two years and on October 15 received a specially inscribed book from the College for having maintained a straight "A" record for two consecutive semesters.

Last year Williamson won the Smyth Mathematical Prize and also three ROTC awards. These included the Maine Central Railroad Company award for combining superior scholastic performance with commendable leadership in the Northeast Airlines award for the highest average attained by a second-year basic course student in Military Science subjects; and the Bangor and Arisitook Railroad Company award for having demonstrated the highest qualities of leadership among cadets in the second-year basic course.

Williamson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W. Williamson II, of Jefferson, is majoring in mathematics with a minor in physics at Bowdoin. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity.

Andrew Williamson Selected To Attend Industrial Congress

Bowdoin College announced today that Andrew W. Williamson III, of Jefferson, Maine, has been selected to attend the 18th Annual Congress of American Industry, to be held December 2 to 4 under the auspices of the American Association of Manufacturers.

Associated Industries of Maine has made this award to Williamson as an all-expense-paid trip to New York City, where the Congress will be held at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel. He will be in New York from December 1 to December 5.

Straight 'A' Man

Williamson, who came to Bowdoin as the winner of an Alumni Fund Scholarship in 1951, is a Junior. He graduated from Lincoln Academy, where he was an outstanding student and athlete. At Bowdoin he has been a member of the varsity track squad and is also starting back on the football team. A member of the Dean's List he has been a James Bowdoin Scholar for two years and on October 15 received a specially inscribed book from the College for having maintained a straight "A" record for two consecutive semesters.

Last year Williamson won the Smyth Mathematical Prize and also three ROTC awards. These included the Maine Central Railroad Company award for combining superior scholastic performance with commendable leadership in the Northeast Airlines award for the highest average attained by a second-year basic course student in Military Science subjects; and the Bangor and Arisitook Railroad Company award for having demonstrated the highest qualities of leadership among cadets in the second-year basic course.

Williamson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W. Williamson II, of Jefferson, is majoring in mathematics with a minor in physics at Bowdoin. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity.

Netherlands Professor Visits Bowdoin Campus To See Small College

Bowdoin College had an unusual visitor last week. Seem around the campus with English Professor Herbert Ross Brown was Professor Reinard W. Zandvoort, who teaches English at the University of Groningen in the Netherlands and who is also Director of the Anglo-American Institute.

Zandvoort is in the United States under the auspices of the State Department and has been visiting at Phillips Exeter Academy. Expressing a desire to see a small liberal arts college in action, he was told of Bowdoin. He arrived in Brunswick on the noon train, was met by Assistant to the President Philip S. Wilder, and had luncheon in Moulton Union with Professor Brown. He then spent the afternoon touring the campus and learning about a typical small American liberal arts college.

In the evening Professor Zandvoort was entertained at the Alpha Delta Phi house, where he was particularly interested to talk with foreign students Jack Cosso, from the Netherlands, and Theo Winter, from Argentina, formerly from The Netherlands.

Prof. Daggett Urges Faith In UN As Bridge Between East And West

By Edward N. Cotter '56

Government Professor Athern P. Daggett spoke in Thursday's Chapel in recognition of United Nations week, urging the listeners to have faith in that organization since it is the "only bridge between the East and West, the only bridge between the two separated peoples of the world."

Professor Daggett developed his speech by comparing two towers, the Biblical tower of Babel and the United Nations' skyscraper in New York City. Jehovah stopped construction of the Biblical tower by breaking up the

"So far as ingenuity and engineering can do it the confounding of the language has been undone," Professor Daggett says. "It is a question whether, with all the miracles of modern science, those in the U. N. or those who were building the tower understood each other any better."

Comparing the U. N. to a bridge between the East and West, Daggett stated, "Do not tear it down simply because some do not cross it. It is still a hope for the future."

Daggett's plea for patience and understanding was reminiscent in some ways of Pulitzer Prize Journalist Hodding Carter's message in "This Week Magazine" of October 18. Carter, also a Bowdoin graduate, told the story of Charles Lamb, the famous English essayist.

"I don't like that man," Lamb once said.

"But, Charles, you don't even know him," a friend remonstrated.

"Of course I don't know him," Lamb answered. "If I knew him, I couldn't dislike him."

Netherlands Professor Visits Bowdoin Campus To See Small College

Bowdoin College had an unusual visitor last week. Seem around the campus with English Professor Herbert Ross Brown was Professor Reinard W. Zandvoort, who teaches English at the University of Groningen in the Netherlands and who is also Director of the Anglo-American Institute.

Zandvoort is in the United States under the auspices of the State Department and has been visiting at Phillips Exeter Academy. Expressing a desire to see a small liberal arts college in action, he was told of Bowdoin. He arrived in Brunswick on the noon train, was met by Assistant to the President Philip S. Wilder, and had luncheon in Moulton Union with Professor Brown. He then spent the afternoon touring the campus and learning about a typical small American liberal arts college.

In the evening Professor Zandvoort was entertained at the Alpha Delta Phi house, where he was particularly interested to talk with foreign students Jack Cosso, from the Netherlands, and Theo Winter, from Argentina, formerly from The Netherlands.

Prof. Daggett Urges Faith In UN As Bridge Between East And West

By Edward N. Cotter '56

Government Professor Athern P. Daggett spoke in Thursday's Chapel in recognition of United Nations week, urging the listeners to have faith in that organization since it is the "only bridge between the East and West, the only bridge between the two separated peoples of the world."

Professor Daggett developed his speech by comparing two towers, the Biblical tower of Babel and the United Nations' skyscraper in New York City. Jehovah stopped construction of the Biblical tower by breaking up the

"So far as ingenuity and engineering can do it the confounding of the language has been undone," Professor Daggett says. "It is a question whether, with all the miracles of modern science, those in the U. N. or those who were building the tower understood each other any better."

Comparing the U. N. to a bridge between the East and West, Daggett stated, "Do not tear it down simply because some do not cross it. It is still a hope for the future."

Daggett's plea for patience and understanding was reminiscent in some ways of Pulitzer Prize Journalist Hodding Carter's message in "This Week Magazine" of October 18. Carter, also a Bowdoin graduate, told the story of Charles Lamb, the famous English essayist.

"I don't like that man," Lamb once said.

"But, Charles, you don't even know him," a friend remonstrated.

"Of course I don't know him," Lamb answered. "If I knew him, I couldn't dislike him."

Brontas And Hoffmann Candidates For The Rhodes Scholarships

Paul Peter Brontas of Bangor, Maine, and William Frederick Hoffmann of Manchester, N.H., were announced in Chapel today as Bowdoin College's candidates for Rhodes Scholarships at Oxford University in England. Alternate is Gordon Woodburn Stearns Jr., of West Hartford, Conn. All are members of the Class of 1954 and all came to Bowdoin with pre-matriculation scholarships.

Later this fall the two Bowdoin candidates will enter the Maine competition. Two men will be selected from the state to go on to the New England competition, in which four men will be chosen from twelve candidates, two from each state in the area.

Provisions In Will

Mr. Cecil Rhodes stated in his will some 50 years ago these qualities which he wished each Rhodes Scholar to possess: 1. literary and scholastic ability and attainments; 2. qualities of manhood, truth, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy, kindness, unselfishness and fellowship; 3. exhibition of moral force of character and of instincts to lead and to take an interest in his schoolmates; 4. physical vigor, as shown by interest in outdoor sports or in other ways.

Brontas, the son of Mrs. Peter Brontas of 294 Main Street, Bangor, has been an undergraduate leader and an excellent student since he entered college in 1950 as an Alumni Fund Scholar. A Government major, he was editor-in-chief of the "Bowdoinian" last year.

Coach Adam Walsh

Coach Adam Walsh Blasts Deceit Found In College Football Today

In a talk given Monday evening, Oct. 5, before six hundred members of the Springfield Industrial Association, Coach Adam Walsh pointed out the rampant deception in college football today.

"It was wrong to have a two-platoon system," Walsh told the businessmen. "This move was necessitated because some colleges and universities couldn't afford to go on paying two teams and two coaching staffs, he stated. "Don't let them tell you that the two-platoon system was abolished to help small colleges," he said. "It was driven through because large universities couldn't afford to pay offensive and defensive teams and offensive and defensive coaching staffs. They were feeling the pinch at the gate and this is what they did to save football."

"False Advertising"

"I'd like to see the man who can't tell the truth," Walsh said.

Placement Meeting For Seniors Oct. 29

The Placement Bureau requests that all Seniors who plan to register with the bureau for vocational council, advice, and a series of interviews, attend a brief meeting at the Faculty Room in Massachusetts Hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 29, at 7:00 p.m. The meeting will be brief, but it is important that all registrants pick up forms and other material at the Placement Bureau beginning October 29. Registration Should Be Completed By December 1.

It is imperative that registration be completed before the deadline date, December 1. Otherwise, it will be necessary to conduct individual interviews with registrants prior to the recruiting visits of industrial firms.

Seniors who cannot be present at the placement meeting should arrange to obtain their registration cards and folders from the bureau as soon as possible.

Initiations And House Banquets To Begin At Bowdoin This Week

The majority of the Fraternities at Bowdoin will commence their initiation ceremonies this week, with a few houses delaying until November.

Alpha Delta Phi will initiate on Friday, October 30. The annual Initiation Banquet will follow, with William Chapman, Portland lawyer and alumnus as guest speaker. Psi Upsilon will also initiate its twenty-two pledges on Friday. Professor Nathan Dane II will be guest speaker, along with John E. Sylvester Jr. '54.

Chi Psi will delay initiation for eight days. Freshmen and two Sophomores. No date has yet been announced.

Professor Thomas A. Riley will address the members of Delta Kappa Epsilon when they initiate their pledges on Friday evening.

Theta Delta Chi will initiate fourteen Pledges tomorrow and Friday.

Zeta Psi will have six speakers at their initiation ceremonies and banquet, to be held on Thursday and Friday evenings. President Cole, Vice-President Norton, Robert Cross of the Alumni Office, and Larry Johnston '57, President of the Freshman Delegation, will be among those featured. Professor Herbert Brown will be toastmaster.

Twelve Freshmen will be initiated into Kappa Sigma on Friday. Donovan D. Lancaster, the Alumni Advisor, and Professors Bourne and Gustafson, Faculty advisors, will be present.

Placement Meeting For Seniors Oct. 29

The Placement Bureau requests that all Seniors who plan to register with the bureau for vocational council, advice, and a series of interviews, attend a brief meeting at the Faculty Room in Massachusetts Hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 29, at 7:00 p.m. The meeting will be brief, but it is important that all registrants pick up forms and other material at the Placement Bureau beginning October 29. Registration Should Be Completed By December 1.

It is imperative that registration be completed before the deadline date, December 1. Otherwise, it will be necessary to conduct individual interviews with registrants prior to the recruiting visits of industrial firms.

Seniors who cannot be present at the placement meeting should arrange to obtain their registration cards and folders from the bureau as soon as possible.

Sophomores To Vote For Class Officers Tuesday, November 3

Sophomore class elections will take place Tuesday from 10:30 to 4:30 in the foyer of the chapel. It was announced following last Monday's Student Council meeting.

As usual, the election follows a preferential system. Each individual must vote in order of preference for at least 7 candidates for each office. Each candidate will receive 12 points for each first place vote, 11 for second, 10 for third, and so on down the line. The candidate having the largest point total for each office will be elected.

Candidates, President, Vice President, and Secretary-Treasurer listed in that order, by fraternities are as follows: Alpha Delta Phi: LeRoy E. Dyer and Warren A. Slesinger; Psi Upsilon, John T. Libby, Ronald A. Golz and Ronell F. Harris; Chi Psi, Robert H. Glover, Ernest G. Flint Jr., and James W. Millard; Delta Kappa Epsilon: William S. Perkins, George W. Heseltin and Robert C. Hamlin; Theta Delta Chi; Gareth S. Geilans, Willis H. Durt Jr., and S. Leroy Burgess Jr.; Zeta Psi, David H. Patterson, Richard W. Kurtz and P. Girard Kirby.

Kappa Sigma, Henry D. Shaw, John A. Kessinger and Leo Benson; Beta Theta Pi, David L. Hurler, Terry D. Stenberg and Robert A. Keay; Sigma Nu, Peter J. O'Rourke Jr., Harlan I. Prater III, and August W. Boss; Alpha Tau Omega, Raymond E. Kierstead Jr., Albert F. Wright and Donald M. Zucker; Phi Alpha Upsilon, John W. Maloney, Morton L. Price and Richard B. Rodman; Delta Sigma, Richard W. Loughry, Wayne F. Orsie and Robert E. Hamilton.

Thursday Chapel Speaker

Government Professor Athern P. Daggett spoke in Thursday's Chapel in recognition of United Nations week, urging the listeners to have faith in that organization since it is the "only bridge between the East and West, the only bridge between the two separated peoples of the world."

Professor Daggett developed his speech by comparing two towers, the Biblical tower of Babel and the United Nations' skyscraper in New York City. Jehovah stopped construction of the Biblical tower by breaking up the

"So far as ingenuity and engineering can do it the confounding of the language has been undone," Professor Daggett says. "It is a question whether, with all the miracles of modern science, those in the U. N. or those who were building the tower understood each other any better."

Comparing the U. N. to a bridge between the East and West, Daggett stated, "Do not tear it down simply because some do not cross it. It is still a hope for the future."

Daggett's plea for patience and understanding was reminiscent in some ways of Pulitzer Prize Journalist Hodding Carter's message in "This Week Magazine" of October 18. Carter, also a Bowdoin graduate, told the story of Charles Lamb, the famous English essayist.

"I don't like that man," Lamb once said.

"But, Charles, you don't even know him," a friend remonstrated.

"Of course I don't know him," Lamb answered. "If I knew him, I couldn't dislike him."

Athern P. Daggett

Government Professor Athern P. Daggett spoke in Thursday's Chapel in recognition of United Nations week, urging the listeners to have faith in that organization since it is the "only bridge between the East and West, the only bridge between the two separated peoples of the world."

Professor Daggett developed his speech by comparing two towers, the Biblical tower of Babel and the United Nations' skyscraper in New York City. Jehovah stopped construction of the Biblical tower by breaking up the

"So far as ingenuity and engineering can do it the confounding of the language has been undone," Professor Daggett says. "It is a question whether, with all the miracles of modern science, those in the U. N. or those who were building the tower understood each other any better."

Comparing the U. N. to a bridge between the East and West, Daggett stated, "Do not tear it down simply because some do not cross it. It is still a hope for the future."

Daggett's plea for patience and understanding was reminiscent in some ways of Pulitzer Prize Journalist Hodding Carter's message in "This Week Magazine" of October 18. Carter, also a Bowdoin graduate, told the story of Charles Lamb, the famous English essayist.

"I don't like that man," Lamb once said.

"But, Charles, you don't even know him," a friend remonstrated.

"Of course I don't know him," Lamb answered. "If I knew him, I couldn't dislike him."

Bowdoin Glee Club Schedules 16 Concerts; To Start In November

The Bowdoin College Glee Club, in recent years acclaimed throughout the East for its work, has another busy season ahead of it. Tentatively there are 16 concerts scheduled, beginning November 14 in Armington, Maine, and concluding May 20 with the eagerly awaited Pops Concert in Boston, Mass.

On Saturday, December 5, the group will join with the Brunswick Choral Society and Pembroke and Wheelock Colleges in the traditional "Messiah" by Handel. In concert 450 couples, in recent years, attended. The music will begin at 8:30 Saturday evening and continue until midnight. The Middle-tempers are going to appear at 10:00 o'clock, to present a short concert. The award for the most winning display will be presented.

"Continued on Page 4"

The Glee Club will appear in Biddeford on February 20 and on March 7, will sing the Brahms Requiem at Westbrook Junior College.

As a feature of Campus Chest Week end on March 13 there will be a campus concert with Connecticut College. The Requiem will again be presented on this occasion.

Mass. Concert

From March 19 to 21 the Club will make a short tour of Massachusetts and Connecticut, appearing on the 19th with Lasell Junior College in a joint concert at Newton, Mass.; presenting a full concert on the 20th at Hingham, Mass.; and repeating the Brahms Requiem on the 21st with Connecticut College at New London.

The annual spring tour will begin on March 23 and end on the 30th, with appearances at Concord, Mass.; Rye, N.Y.; New York City, Hyattsville, Md., and Hackettstown, N.J. At the New York City engagement the group will sing the Requiem with Hunter College.

On April 10 this combination of Bowdoin and Hunter will repeat

"Continued on Page 4"

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, October 23, 1953 No. 11

Editor-in-Chief: Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55
Manning Editor: John B. Goodrich '55
News Editors: David R. Anderson '55, Richard M. Catalano '55, Edward N. Cotter '56

Business Manager: Bruce N. Cooper '54
Assistant Business Managers: James A. Cook '54, Peter M. Pirmie '55

BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Directors: Professor Athem P. Daggett, Professor Philip M. Brown, Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilley '54, Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55, Charles Ranlett '57

REPRESENTED BY NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
National Advertising Service, Inc.
220 MADISON AVE., NEW YORK, N. Y.
Chicago - Boston - Los Angeles - San Francisco

Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring semesters by the students of Bowdoin College. Address news communications to the Editor and subscription communications to the Business Manager of the Bowdoin Publishing Company at the Orient Office in Moore Hall, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three (3) dollars.

Bowdoin Spirit Dead

Last Saturday afternoon was indeed a perfect football setting. Everything was complete: fine fall afternoon, stands full of students and parents, our team favored to win. Yes, everything was complete, everything, that is, except something often thought of as an intricate part of any football game: cheering.

Colby showed fine spirit and great enthusiasm in their cheers. Their cheering was strong and definite, a far cry from our pitiful-patting attempts to express our faith in and support of the Bowdoin football team. When the home team wins, when it's Fathers Weekend, and when the chances of taking another state series loom brighter by the minute, there seems to be little excuse for the poor showing of the Bowdoin cheering sections that was displayed last Saturday.

There has been much criticism, and justifiably so, of the obvious and almost disgusting lack of organized support from the Bowdoin stands game after game. The disappointment in genuine college spirit (that old but nevertheless needed intangible) was evidence everywhere in the remarks made by guests and visiting parents. What's happened, they asked, to the enthusiastic grandstand supporter, the never-say-die spectator who emerges from the stands exhausted and hoarse? Is he a figure of the past? A rather silly and now (at last) forgotten obnoxious character who disturbs the more important conversations going on while the local team tries to smash its way forward? We think not.

No, he is not dead or forgotten. Rather he is still there in the stands watching the games as he always did. Then why don't we hear from him? Why doesn't he stand up and yell himself green and wave his arms and jump up on his seat to gain a better look? Why doesn't he "wood"? And why doesn't he shout out the words of "Old Phi Chi" after a Bowdoin score? Where's the power and strength of the old college cheer? We don't quite know. We can only guess.

Perhaps the modern Bowdoin student and (we do not hesitate to add) the modern weekend date feel just a little above roaring for the team they've traveled and paid to watch. Or maybe they feel sheepish about engaging in such crude activity. Or possibly they're too preoccupied with thoughts of the party afterwards, or with the date sitting next to them. We sincerely hope these guesses are inaccurate. We hope we are wrong. Yet there are answers to this unpopular problem, to this shameful situation. There are reasons why one member of the team stated that, because of the lack of student support, the team plays "for Adam, not the college."

The cheerleaders are partly to blame: They display organization and oftentimes confusion. The cheers are also partially responsible: they are somewhat uninspiring and are not original. But the greater part of the blame falls on the occupants of the grandstand, those not-dead, not-silly, but also non-cheering people who should be the backbone of the afternoon's activity. It's their team, their college. And it's their duty (it should be their desire) to show team-support.

Three days from now the last home game of the season will be played here against Bates. It will be Homecoming Weekend; we have a chance to take the state series; it should be quite an afternoon. Are the stands on the south side of Whittier Field going to echo with silence? Will the other side show us up with their roars and organized cheers? We shall see.

Notice

This year the Masque and Gown season will be dedicated to the stage of Memorial Hall, which has borne 134 of the 241 plays given on campus since 1903. This season marks the 51st year of the Masque and Gown.

LAMP SHADES
Of Better Quality All Sizes

Treworgy Furniture Co.
11 Pleasant Street

Letter To The Editor

To the editor:
The ORIENT reporter who covered Professor Greene's recent address to the James Bowdoin Day audience must have allowed his zeal to carry away his journalistic restraint. He exceeded the injunction of the newspaper's old credo "get the whole story" by not only reporting what was said on that occasion but interpreting it into what might have been said. The interpretation was at least superfluous. I feel that it was also misleading.

The delivered address' closing minutes touched on what Dr. Greene called a present day trend in America, a lean which the professor described as over-zealous 100 percent Americanism, Fascism — what some might consider manifestations of run-away Big Stateism. Dr. Greene specified that he would mention names, and he did not. The validity of his comments and their applicability profited well from his decision.

The reporter wrongly declared that Dr. Greene's remarks were aimed specifically at Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy. But his mistake is, perhaps, excusable. After all, when one hears of Fascism or extreme 100 percent Americanism, one automatically envisages the Wisconsinite. One somewhat manages to lose in the maze of tangent opinions, creeds, allegiances of pre-1941 days that form the extreme 100 percent Americanism bred by the admirers of Franklin D. Roosevelt. These were the days when the chap who suggested that America deal with all foreigners without discrimination (and thus keep out of the blood-letting herself while enriching her coffers in the bargain) received the brand of "isolationist", "bundist", "facist", "nazi", "fifth columnist". Remember? To be 100 percent American was to despise Germans for being Germans and Germany, and not merely to abhor despotism in Hitler and his national socialist regime. To deplore the idea of nazism alone wouldn't do, for some "deviations" led to the highest essence of Hitler in Stalin, and after all, Stalin was "Marshall" of Russia, a democracy perhaps more democratic than our own, you see, and a bulwark standing between freedom-loving peoples everywhere from the trampled heads of the tramp of hobnailed boots. No, to be 100 percent American one must wish to see Germany, all Germans, and all German tradition wiped away.

Not to be 100 percent American in those days before McCarthy meant to be denounced by neighbors, investigated by the F.B.I., pilloried by the press, and, as happened in the long and farcical trial of 21 individuals, indicted for sedition — this last for merely advancing ideas unpopular with the New Deal rulers, with no question of subversive activities, party membership or anything of that sort being involved. As an incidental note, that there was no remarkable outcropping of societies and congresses, no inspired speech-making defending noble human principles, on the behalf of those people. From intellectuals, a deep, penetrating silence.

Should one note also that almost no contemporary liberal speaker worth his salt fails to include at least a stab at McCarthy per speech, he must without doubt solve the "Orient" writer of the decline and dissipation of traditional American ideals. The decline began long before McCarthy yelled RED. Congressional investigations, too, antedated McCarthy; the proceedings of a House committee, chaired by Alfred L. Bulwinkle, against Dr. William A. Wirt in the spring of 1934 is worth checking, as is the press coverage of the affair. F.D.R. beat McCarthy by miles in the race for 100 percent. And the New Deal version of the thing posed an infinitely greater threat because it was backed by professional intellectuals and academics who drummed up the ideal "all united behind Our Leader, 100 percent" as the richest prize to which youth could aspire.

And, I've been told by distinguished old-timers, there was a breath of 100 percentism around 1917. Some say things got so bad that if your name sounded German you were considered an agent of the Kaiser until proved innocent. I don't know. But the

Bates College, Bowdoin's Second State Series Opponent, Noted For Strict Social Regulations

By Thomas L. Spence '57
The outstanding event of the annual Homecoming week end will be the second game in Bowdoin's quest for the Maine State series against Bates. The visitors are the closest college to ours, but several important differences exist between Bowdoin and Bates College.

The most notable difference is the fact that Bates is a non-fraternity college with most of the students living on campus and taking their meals in the regular dining rooms. The Bates catalog gives as their reason the fact that they are "convinced by long experience that a non-fraternity, non-sociality college provides a broad base for democratic living. The dormitory life and extra-curricular program of a small, non-fraternity college gives students a superior opportunity for the development of personality, group responsibility, and powers of leadership."

Denying Regulations Strictly Socially, Bates is known as a relatively dry college. The regulation of drinking is very strict compared to the average New England college. Among the different regulations covering all phases of Bates college life, one of the most publicized and enforced is that, quoting again from their catalog, "Bates College has a cry against unbridled government power over the individual which has been voiced long before McCarthy got elected. Instead, our intellectuals, our new progressives of the 20's and 30's, channeled their energies against those "reactionaries" who insisted on the need for preserving the identity of the individual in society and the sanctity of his right to think for himself — and voice what he thought."

Sincerely,
J. George de Lyra
The article concerning Professor Greene's address in the last issue of the ORIENT was basically correct, according to the highest standards of contemporary journalism. The role of a newspaper, whether it be the NEW YORK TIMES or the ORIENT is much more than a mere presentation of facts. It is becoming increasingly important for the news paper to interpret these facts intelligently. In this case, Professor Greene did not specifically mention any persons or groups, as he said he would not do. But he was obviously referring to someone, or other entity, as the enemy of American fascism can exist only in the imagination. Whether the ORIENT reporter was justified in naming McCarthy as the symbol of this political condition may be questioned to the same extent that any other expert on any matter with opinions are found throughout the American press can be questioned. His article was not written just from hastily copied notes during his actual address. WBOA recorded this speech word by word and the ORIENT reporter must have had until he had a completely accurate word-by-word account of this address.

Following are the exact, undisputed excerpts from the controversial part of the speech:
"Here resides the enemy, the far more mortal enemy than Russia — it's the threat of American fascism. I'm going to name no persons or groups, but I'm going to describe it. . . . It is determined to exploit persons, if necessary ruthlessly or cruelly. . . . There will always be demagogues in our society who will make hay while the sun shines. . . . The danger is not so much this as the wide-spread, glib, complacent, indeed, enthusiastic of this American fascism destroying the reputation of our liberal and free tradition."

It may be perfectly true that this insidious corruption of our ideals began long before the junior senator of Wisconsin began his public career. But the fact remains that today he is commonly identified, whether rightly or wrongly, as the very personification of this moral decay. Any intelligent spokesman must realize this, and when he dwells on a "flag waving" demagogue. . . determined to exploit persons," the implication to at least McCarthy, perhaps others, should be clear to everyone. T.S.L.

Frosh Complete Quests To Many Local Points

[Continued From Page 1]
where he gave a speech on "The Reasons Why Danish Women Are Better Than American Women." Over at the Chi Psi Lodge, F. Howard Taggart and Anthony T. Kleishman went to Bradford Junior College. Along with them they took twelve wooden blocks with Chi Psi painted on them. They had to sell these twelve blocks at ten cent apiece, so they

Alpha Delta pledge Neuman in his attempt to "hold up" of an unidentified Bradford, J. C. student. Dressed as "hood" Neuman (seventeen) is a rather nice fellow. The "real thing" is shown in the picture on the next page.

About 20 Miles From Here
Bates is located in Lewiston, only about 20 miles from Bowdoin campus, making it the college nearest to Brunswick, Lewiston, along with its sister city of Auburn, has some 65,000 people, easily the second biggest metropolis in the state.

This college institution will celebrate its 90th anniversary next year. One of the newer of the New England colleges, it was founded in 1864 by Oren B. Cheney, a Dartmouth graduate. The college was named after Benjamin E. Bates of Boston, nearly two million of the founders of Lewiston, who gave one hundred thousand dollars for its establishment. Although by tradition Bates has been affiliated with the Baptists, it has always been non-sectarian.

The endowment is rather small, only about two million; the campus and buildings are valued slightly higher. The president is now Charles Franklin Phillips, the fourth such in Bates' history.

Great emphasis is placed on extra-curricular activities, partly because of the absence of fraternities. The Student Council is the governing body for the male students, as is the Student Government Board for the women. Inter-collegiate sports include football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, golf, and winter sports. An informal intramural program is also provided. The different debating and dramatic groups are particularly active.

All students are required to be present at the stated chapel exercises and assemblies. The honor system is one of the educational bulwarks. All students must participate in a regular physical program for three years.

[Continued on Page 4]
ways be demagogues in our society who will make hay while the sun shines. . . . The danger is not so much this as the wide-spread, glib, complacent, indeed, enthusiastic of this American fascism destroying the reputation of our liberal and free tradition. . . . It may be perfectly true that this insidious corruption of our ideals began long before the junior senator of Wisconsin began his public career. But the fact remains that today he is commonly identified, whether rightly or wrongly, as the very personification of this moral decay. Any intelligent spokesman must realize this, and when he dwells on a "flag waving" demagogue. . . determined to exploit persons," the implication to at least McCarthy, perhaps others, should be clear to everyone. T.S.L.

Ice Cubes On Toast

By Benjamin G. M. Priest '56
Odds and ends being an article in here about Wheaton College, we think it was a Wheaton girl who was so shy that she used to work all her cross-words puzzles vertical. . . . so she wouldn't have to cope across. But we're not sure. Last week's issue of the ORIENT noted that George I. of England was a German and could not speak English. We would like to add that Genghis Khan was a Mongol, and he couldn't either. Strange when you come to think of it, 'n'est-ce pas?

Ed. Note. These two ice cubes had been lying around for some time, they have obviously melted considerably.

Special Notice
Next week's meeting of the Clear-eyed & Steady-handed Jads.

House Elections Held By Four Fraternities

[Continued From Page 1]
Alpha Tau Omega has elected president, Alvin G. Litchfield '54; secretary, David S. Coleman '54; treasurer, Todd D. Callahan '54. Totman is a co-captain of the football team, chairman of the house executive and rushing committees, and a member of the Outing Club. Litchfield is a member of the house entertainment committee. Coleman is secretary of the Outing Club and active in interfraternity football. Callahan is a member of the Glee Club and is active in the Masque and Gown.

Beta Theta Pi will initiate nineteen Freshman pledges and Jerry Lewis '54 at ceremonies to be held at 4:00 p.m. Friday. Melvin T. Copeland '06, a Beta, formerly Dean of the Harvard Business School, and a Bowdoin Trustee, will address the group. William S. Linwood '03, another Beta Alumnus, will also speak. Student speakers will be Barrett Gilchrist '57, who will speak for the Pledge Class, and Johnny Malcolm.

Alpha Tau Omega has elected Thomas T. Dwight as corresponding secretary and appointed Edward B. Blackman as Palm Reporter. Dwight is also the house orientation chairman and is active in WBOA and the Young Republican Club. Blackman is a house usher and a member of the ORIENT staff.

Finally, Caspar Cowan '36 will deliver the charge at Delta Sigma's initiation on Thursday night. President, Coles. Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick and Mrs. Chase will give talks.

to check in at the Bowdoin Hotel. On Saturday night they went to Blinstrub's Village where they procured an autographed picture of June Vallee saying that Patti Page was the best female singer in the country. H. Edward Born and Stanley M. Blackmer, also Sigma Nu pledges, trekked to Colby College where they registered 100 girls for Bowdoin House parties and acted as singing waiters in the Foss Hall Dining Hall. One Sunday at twelve noon Born and Blackmer hoisted a Bowdoin banner on the Colby flag pole.

Christ S. Wilson, Samuel M. Snyder, and Robert L. DeLucia, pledging Delta Sigma, had to get a sign from a farm near Belgrade Lakes. After successfully doing this, they had to proceed to Augusta where they were required to get their pictures in the Kennebec Journal doing something constructive. Early Sunday morning a photographer took their picture washing the State House steps.

Student Patronage Solicited

First National Bank
Brunswick, Maine
Member of the Federal Reserve System and Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

How the stars got started
Anne Jeffreys dreamed of being an opera star, studied long and hard. BOB STERLING could have been a pro athlete, but chose the long, hard pull of acting. Both eventually won good parts on stage, radio, TV. They met on a TV show. . . . sang an impromptu duet. . . . became Mr. & Mrs. in real life. . . . and "Mr. & Mrs. Kerby" in TV's brilliant, new "Topper" program!

CAMEL CHOICE QUALITY
Start smoking Camels yourself!
Smoke only Camels for 30 days and find out why Camels are first in millions, for we need popularity! See how much pure pleasure a cigarette can give you!

STATIONERY

- College Seal .89
Polar Bear .85
Fraternity 1.00
Cello Pack — .59
Par Value (Plain) — .90

MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE

POLAR BEARINGS

By Robert M. Hurst '54, ORIENT Sports Editor
In Tuesday's issue of the Boston Herald, Bob Hatch, coach of the hapless Bates eleven came forth with a new excuse for the inability of his team to win games in the state series.

Again whose fault is this? It certainly isn't the fault of Maine or Bowdoin. After Hatch degrades his own team in such a manner as he did in the Herald, it wouldn't surprise me if he couldn't even find a team for the rest of the games.

Hatch also points out that the financial angle enters into the argument. Since Bowdoin and Maine play for the state title every year who wants to see Bates play Colby. This is simple to answer, no one.

It's up to Bates and Hatch to figure out an answer to all their troubles not the other schools in the state. And while we are at it "let's break up the Yankees."

Looking at the statistics of the Maine-Bates game it is interesting to note that Maine made a total of 413 yards net rushing while Bates made only a mere 57. Also of interest is the fact that Maine threw only three passes during the whole game and completed all three of them.

Dave Rogerson made the All-League hockey team last year for Bowdoin's lone place on the team.

Bowdoin hockey and swimming this year is going to have one of the poorest seasons in many moons as the admissions office failure to get material for these two sports is beginning to show. What Bowdoin needs is about five ready-made stars each year in the freshman classes to keep the standards of these sports up.

For the fourth successive year Wesleyan defied the experts in their traditional clash with the strong Lord Jeffs as they held them to a 20-20 tie. Also in the line of upsets Tufts came out of nowhere to beat Williams 12-9.

The most lopsided score of the week: Cortland 62-Brockport 0.

Coach Adam Walsh Blasts Football Deceit

Walsh declared vehemently, "It's the same as trying to pass off an inferior product through false advertisements. You just can't get away with it for long."

Walsh went on to make some pointed criticisms of a well known coach whose contract was recently brought up following his release from his duties. His two year contract was bought up because, as Walsh said, "he was a fake."

"A coach at one of America's oldest universities had his contract bought up not long ago, didn't he?" Walsh demanded. "He's not back in football now, is he? And I don't think you'll see him back in football again. He won't want that kind of coach in football."

"The first time that I met that coach I had the extreme pleasure of telling him that he was a fake."

His opening statement, "Football is founded on deceit" obviously startled the listeners. "You're continually trying to deceive the other fellow," he said. "But it's the same in business, and in politics. Isn't advertising based on deceit, too? All products can't be the best they all claim to be."

"The two main reasons for the deceit were petty jealousy and the human desire to excel."

"We all like to feel that we have become somewhat of a somebody in our chosen field," he said. "It is the eternal desire to excel that causes people who haven't the God-given ability to do as well, or don't try as hard, to cut corners or go underneath, to succeed. We have it in football; you have it in business."

"Football has now become big business, very big business. It is a hazardous profession. As long as you can produce, your services are in demand; if you can't produce you're through. It's the same whether you're in football or in business."

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it... Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money. TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS The Record Office Paul K. Niven Jerry Wilcox Printers Of The Orient

White Crushes Colby 25-7 In Series Opener

Bowdoin End Barely Misses Pass

Totman, Back In Action, Impressive

End Don Roux can't quite grasp the pigskin on one of Bowdoin's pass plays. The Polar Bear aerial barrage was weak all afternoon, but the sterling running attack more than made up for it.

Co-captain Mel Totman, making a surprise return to the lineup after two weeks' inaction with a dislocated elbow, shows little rustiness, as he outraces the Colby secondary for a sizable gain.

Frosh Lose To Tilton In Squeaker, 13-12, As Potter And Smith Star

The old Bowdoin nemesis, the extra point, and the breaks of the game were the decisive factors in the Bowdoin Freshmen's defeat at the hands of a fighting Tilton team, 13-12, on Friday at Pickard Field.

Del Potter stands out on the field was Del Potter, the fleet Bowdoin halfback whose sensational broken-field running kept the locals in the game until the very last play. His spirited performance is even more remarkable, considering that he is close to being the shortest and lightest player on the team.

Tilton Tallies Early The first time the visitors, who had been previously winless in three starts, got possession of the ball, they quickly drove to the Bowdoin 13-yard line. Quarterback Virgil Hodges passed to Halfback Clark Gay for 30 big yards in the 43-yard march.

Bowdoin Keeps Trying The rest of the exciting game saw Bowdoin trying desperately to punch over what would have been the winning score. Del Potter caught the ensuing kickoff, faked brilliantly to the other safety man, while most of the opposition ignored him, he raced 32 yards all the way to the Tilton 45, with the last yard between him and the goal-line stopping him.

Day, Totman Return; Pace Polar Bear Running Game

Paced by Phil Day and Mel Totman, the Polar Bears displayed a powerful running attack as they easily vanquished undermanned Colby, 25-7 in the opener of the state series, before a large crowd at Whittier Field, last Saturday.

Bowdoin's surge through injury-riddled Colby resulted from top-flight quarterbacking and reserves, and Bowdoin showed plenty of defensive punch as well. Colby's line stiffened in several spots and forced Bowdoin into the air.

Bowdoin is now two deep at quarterback as South Portland's John Libby officially earned his "wings" as a competent relief for the Polar Bears' Co-captain Jack Cosgrove.

The supple Libby handled the ball smoothly and deceptively, showed passing poise and good generalship and tossed in a slick hosts smashed down to the Tilton 14, where an offside penalty nullified Dick Dremzek's run into the end zone. The rest of the quarter was consumed in a battle of intercepted passes.

Bowdoin captured the lead midway in the third quarter by driving 44 yards. Successful passes to John Snow and Al Lanes set the stage for Smith's buck over from 6 inches out. A bad pass from center prevented the placekick; instead, Dremzek tried a pass which just missed, keeping the score 12-7 in favor of Bowdoin.

The fired-up visitors grabbed the kickoff on their own 42 and swept goalward without letup. Gay raced the last 32 yards without a Bowdoin defender touching him on the second play of the final quarter. The PAT try failed.

Bowdoin received the kickoff and rolled all the way to pay dirt, a distance of 67 yards. Rock Smith accounted for gains of 10, 11 and 12 yards, the last adding the first Bowdoin touchdown. The conversion attempt was easily blocked.

scoring run on a "Keep" play. Sophomore Libby will come in handy as a Cosgrove replacement in the next two games and will also ease the sting of lefty Jack's graduation.

Bowdoin's other co-captain Mel Totman, came back to action a week earlier than expected, and looked fully recovered in his limited service.

Totman to Find Support With Totman's return to full time duty, he'll find more running support than he had when injured. Fred Coukos, Roy Dyer and Andy Williamson have all developed rapidly in their first season of varsity ball - totting.

Cosgrove continued his brilliant play in most departments. He didn't improve his pass completion average greatly, but when he did hit, it kept Bowdoin going. He again showed the knack of selecting the ground, for a first down on the Tilton 30. With Mike Coster and Logan Hardie doing the bulk of the carrying, Bowdoin advanced to within exactly two inches of the goal-line before losing the ball on downs.

Key Play of the Game Then the key play of the game occurred. Tilton went back into kick formation, but the pass back missed; the ball bouncing around loose deep in the end zone, with the Bowdoin line sweeping in for the kill. If Bowdoin recovered, it would be the winning touchdown; if a Tilton man recovered and was tackled in the end zone, it would be a safety and a Bowdoin victory. But the impossible happened. Gay somehow managed to run it out of the endzone and up to the 10 for a first down.

But the Freshmen were not through yet. They forced their opponents to kick. Again Potter returned; this time, he zigzagged his way through almost the entire Tilton squad to the 11, within easy distance of that all-elusive TD. A couple of running plays and a penalty carried the desperate attack to the one, with seconds to go. But on the next play, Bowdoin was penalized 15 big yards back to the 16, where an incomplete pass ended the duel.

Zetes, ARUs Lead In Football Leagues; DKEs Undeclared

The league standings in the interfraternity football circuit have not been altered over the past week, with the ARUs and Zetes maintaining the pace in their respective leagues.

Mention should first be made about the fabulous passing combination of "Togo" Plasse and Ted Kenney of Kappa Sig. This tandem has accounted for nine touchdowns so far this season and has played havoc with opposing pass defenses. If Kenney is allowed to roam freely in the foe's territory from hereon, the Kappa Sigs may well oust the ARUs from their top position in League "A".

In other battles in this league the Delta Sigs handed the ATO's a 33-21 defeat as Nick Moldaver tallied twice, and the winless Chi Psi's continued their streak being subdued by the ATO's 26-7 and by the AD's 37-0. Tom Winst and Bill Foster each contributed three touchdowns for their fraternities. In the league's other contest, the ARU's edged the Psi Us 26-19 with Al Workman leading the attack.

Second Round In Fall Tennis Tournament Approaches Completion

Under the direction of varsity tennis coach, S. A. Ladd Jr., most of the first-round matches of the Fall Tennis Tournament have been completed, and the tournament is well into the second round.

It is imperative that all matches be arranged and played promptly. Coach Ladd warns that any player who cannot play when asked by an opponent, must forfeit the match, as the tournament must be completed before the courts become unplayable.

Coach Ladd also requests that all contestants post their scores on the draw-sheet in the gymnasium.

Notice The next production of the Masque and Gown is available for reading on the closed reserve of the Library. Any students interested in reading over this script are welcome to do so. The play is Shaw's "Misalliance".

Latest Scores of Second-Round Matches G. Wheeler def. N. Nicholson 6-1, 6-2 R. Mathews def. D. Bell Default E. Potvoll Default (no opponent) R. Estes def. J. Celosse 6-4, 6-3

COLLEGE MEN ARE GOING WESKIT

The plain or fancy (and we mean fancy) Weskit worn with odd jacket, flannel or tweed suit - is no longer a fad - it is now a fashion - accepted at college, country club or wherever well-dressed men gather. Our presentations will satisfy the conservative or boldest taste. 10.00

Benoits

MAINE STREET PHONE 200 BRUNSWICK

CUMBERLAND THEATRE Brunswick, Maine Wednesday-Thursday October 28-29 Glenn Ford in PLUNDER OF THE SUN News also Cartoon Friday-Saturday October 30-31 ISLAND IN THE SKY with John Wayne - Lloyd Nolan News also Cartoon Sunday-Monday-Tuesday November 1-2-3 TORCH SONG with Jean Crawford Michael Wilding News also Cartoon Wednesday-Thursday November 4-5 HALF A HERO with Red Skelton - Jean Hagan News Short Subjects

"Matchless Service" Ford Sales and Service Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed USED CARS Maine's Most Modern Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop Complete Front End and Frame Alignment 10.00 Henry H. Smart 67 Pleasant Street - Brunswick, Maine

Behind The Ivy Curtain

By David R. Anderson '55

Miss Magda Gabor, who was recently described by a Harvard man as "Not from Hungary," visited Bowdoin soon after her appearance on the Harvard Law School Forum. The Wellesey News discovered that Miss Gabor was amazed at the social freedom enjoyed by Wellesey girls. She had attended a Swiss school where men were never allowed on campus, even on Sunday afternoon. Girls from a nearby school were invited as dancing partners for their social gatherings, she explained. She also stated that she found Bermuda shorts unflattering, though very popular on girls' college campuses. Although she enjoys wearing blue jeans, her sister Zsa Zsa refuses to wear them as she does.

Perils of Pauline

From the same newspaper we learned of a new "get acquainted" stunt, Wellesey sophomore and student, Wellesey Spook Spree to help strengthen the ties between themselves and the freshmen. Entertainment was highlighted by an old fashioned melodrama, "Perils of a Wellesey Woman." The cast included the villain, a Princeton man who resembles the posture picture of a poor naive freshman. The "damsel in distress" is finally rescued by a Harvard Med student who is "above all this."

Later a sophomore quartet praised "the joys of being a freshman." Smith students, reading the national newspapers, discovered that Smith girls in 1931 consumed over a hundred bushels of apples a month; that they devoured enough oranges to supply the 70,569 inhabitants of the Hebrides with 10 oranges apiece, and that they used up 17,136,000 slices of bread. Faced with these figures as well as the most recent available, Smith students have concluded that they are eating more than ever.

College papers, while often different, depend heavily on similar articles and features every week. For instance, every paper publishes a poll from time to time. This week's batch disclosed opinions on such subjects as "Should we eat oysters," "Keg Beer," and "Should the College continue to finance the campus humor magazine." One interviewer noted that this conclusively proves that "polls are here to stay." Conducting an informal poll on your own, I discovered that Dragnett is also here to stay. Approximately one out of five college papers are now running columns by that or similar names. The Colby Echo has come up with FAG NET and DRAG YOUR OWN NET, a West Virginia College uses a straight DRAG-GETT head for a campus gossip column, some Wheaton girls used the theme to fill up a feature called BY THE WAY. . . they discovered something under a chair. . . the ORIENT used the idea to herald the Wheaton article. "Four old grads were depicted in a B.U. cartoon humming dum dee dum dum. And

Bates College Unusual In Several Respects

(Continued from Page 2)

In 1945 Bates began its now famous Bates Plan of Education. It completely reorganized the entire college curriculum so as to better prepare its students for a successful life. Its three goals are as follows: 1. To provide each student with an understanding and appreciation of the main fields of human knowledge. 2. To give each student a sequence of liberal arts and science courses that lay the foundation for a successful career. 3. To help each student develop attitudes and abilities without which the amount of knowledge can produce an educated and worthwhile individual.

Many Courses Required Accordingly, a large number of courses, called core courses, are required of every student. But they are taken over each of the four years, not just in the first couple of years. Probably the most unusual course is the four semester sequence known as Cultural Heritage, required of all juniors and seniors.

Orange Juice The Union College Concordians turned away from its editorial pages and went, instead, to the street corner in waging a recent campaign against the high cost of orange juice at the school dining room. Orange Squeeze found the staff members selling a standard sized cup of juice for a nickel, ten cents lower than the school price. In four days of operation the editors sold more than 1150 cups to Union students. Keeping close account of expenses, the group discovered that they netted a twenty dollar profit from the sixty dollars they received. The stand was set up outside the dining room and offered both counter and curb service.

Channel 4 The University of Bridgeport in cooperation with the Bridgeport Broadcasting Company will inaugurate a series of television programs of regular college courses. Credit will be given to those who pass the courses in "Personal Adjustment," "Family Living" and "Living with Literature."

The next two squibs are reprinted from the Wheaton News. This has been the week for misunderstandings, it seems. There was the sophomore the other night while describing her as all enthused about the new building at a well-known men's college, until someone asked her where she stayed. Obviously reluctant, she named the hotel, and said apologetically, "It's not very good. I'm afraid."

Then she brightened and added eagerly, "But it's getting better all the time."

This one happened in the faculty dining room, when the student waitress approached a table to serve the meal. The people at her table were intent, starting at one member's glass of water, on top of which floated a small copper box. Finally in avestruck tones, the waitress breathed, "Will it do something?" The spell was broken; the owner of the box looked up, startled, when said, "Heavens, no! I'm just trying to get the price tag off the bottom."

Down Beat Record Review

(Ed. Note. The editors of "Down Beat" the monthly publication covering all phases of the music field, have offered to send to the ORIENT a column complete with pictures every other week, free of charge. The series of articles will deal with records, radio, television, and personal appearances by stars of the music world. We are printing below the first of this series. Any and all comment, favorable, constructive or otherwise is requested from readers of the ORIENT, as readers' approval or disapproval of the bi-weekly columns will influence greatly continuation of its publication.)

Patti Page, the best female seller of records, has run the gamut from a hillbilly singer on a Tulsa radio station just a few short years ago to a miss who consistently hits the best-seller lists each time she sings a song for Mercury Records. While the first few months on shellac she sounded like every gal singer, (usually just like the one who had a hit), she soon found her own style. She made her biggest success, via the aid of tape, on her double-voiced renditions of such tunes as Tennessee Waltz and others. For three years she made about $65 weekly until she snagged her first hit, With My Eyes Wide Open I'm Dreaming. Since then, the singer has seldom sold fewer than 300,000 copies of any record she has made, and, of course, quite a few of her platters have gone past the 1,000,000 mark.

Religious Tunes Dominate The hullabaloo around music circles these days is on religious-type tunes. They are outselling all the ballads and upbeat songs. Success of I Believe started off the most recent push, followed by Cry in the Chapel, and now Patti Page has come out with The Lord's Prayer on wax. Most of the big names have one or more numbers of the same type in the process, with some being held back for Christmas release.

With the success of the Decca

Bowdoin Teachers' Club To Hold Fall Meeting

The Bowdoin Teachers' Club will hold its annual fall meeting tomorrow at the Auburn Y. M. C. A. Bowdoin men teaching in Maine high schools or prep schools are present at the Maine State Teachers' Convention in Lewiston will attend.

After the 12 o'clock luncheon there will be informal talks. Representatives of the college are to be in attendance. At last year's fall meeting, held at the Yarrattine Club in Bangor, President Cole made one of his first official appearances after becoming president of the college.

This meeting is one of the two held annually by the club. Every spring Bowdoin graduates employed as teachers in Maine attend a meeting held on the campus.

The Maine State Teachers' Convention is a two day meeting held every October. The state's public schools are closed during the convention. Lewiston, Portland, and Bangor alternate as the convention's host city.

Bates Frosh, Incensed At Criticism, Drag S.C. Vice Prexy To Bowdoin During Monday Melee

Early Tuesday morning, the first strand of this horrendous web was spun out in the Bates College Chapel by one Bob Sharaf, president of the student council of the Lewiston school. What, at the time, appeared to be a rather run-of-the-mill chewing out was administered to the freshmen there deploring their woeful lack of esprit de Bates.

No immediate reaction seemed to be observed on the part of the offending class. However, by noon, hand bills began to appear warning friend Sharaf of his ultimately impending doom.

That evening, (the eve, by the way, of the annual homecoming jobcat frosh), things had crystallized into a rather happy little riot, complete with Sharaf hung in effigy and mass chanting of "Whadda we Eat???" Sharaf "Meat!!" etc.

No immediate reaction seemed to be observed on the part of the offending class. However, by noon, hand bills began to appear warning friend Sharaf of his ultimately impending doom.

Draft Deferment Test For Applicants To Be Given Here November 19

The Educational Testing Service has announced that the next Selective Service College Qualification Test will be given Thursday, Nov. 19, 1953.

Once again the test will be held here at the college. To Bowdoin men this means that they must meet the following qualifications if they plan to take the test: they must be regularly enrolled students, registered with the Selective Service, planning to request a student deferment, and they must not have taken the test before.

Applications for the test are available at Mr. Wilder's office in Massachusetts Hall. They must be mailed to the Testing Service before November 3.

Surveys by the Educational Testing Service show that students majoring in mathematics, engineering and the physical sciences tend to get the highest grades; whereas students of agriculture, education, business and commerce generally are in the lowest bracket.

Colby Week End

[Continued from Page 1] The Zetes on the other hand had an informal, pickup, group round out some sensational beats during the cocktail-party. Most of the other houses were saving their gale and money for the coming week end which promises to be a gala affair. All the houses will have a full inventory of brothers so the campus will once again be one happy family of two split factions of upperclassmen and freshmen.

By midnight, Mr. Wilder and agent X had gone home to bed, the Dean had disappeared, muttering, "Police were off somewhere and could not be found, and the remainder of the committee had their doubts. Then the phone rang. Bayer or Brayer was safe and didn't care who knew it. Sharaf, signed and left, thanking all who had helped.

And so the adventure of the missing freshmen came to an end all wrapped up neatly in a web of intrigue. By the way, if anybody sees the police - clue them in will you?

Candidates For The Rhodes Scholarships

[Continued From Page 1] Chief of the Bugle, the college yearbook, last year is President of the Debating Council, has won the Achorn, Fairbanks and Bradbury Prizes in speaking, is a past member of the Student Council, and gave the undergraduate address at the James Bowdoin exercises last week.

Brountas Active Brountas last year as a junior was Cadet Colonel of the ROTC Regiment and has won numerous ROTC awards, including the National Defense Transportation Association Award conferred at the annual review last spring for being the outstanding cadet in the second year advanced course. He has been a James Bowdoin Scholar for three consecutive years and has been honored as a straight "A" man for two years. Last year he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

Brountas, a member of Alpha Delta Phi Fraternity, prepared at Bangor High School.

Hoffmann is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hoffmann Jr., of 771 Maple Street, Manchester, N.H. He prepared at Manchester Central High School and for three years at Bowdoin has received straight "A" in his courses. He came to college with a Bowdoin Scholarship, was elected to Phi Beta Kappa his junior year, was the winner of the Almon Goodwin Phi Beta Kappa Prize last June, and has been a James Bowdoin Scholar for three years in a row.

Hoffmann is majoring in physics and minoring in chemistry. A member of the Bowdoin Band, he is a past president of the Masque and Gown, the dramatics organization. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity.

Stearns, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon W. Stearns of 20 Smallwood Road, West Hartford, Conn., is a past president of the Student Council, is the Chapel organist, and directs the choir in the First Parish Church in Brunswick. Accompanist for the Glee Club, he is a former member of the Medicinepumpsters, well known augmented double quartet.

A member of Delta Sigma Fraternity, Stearns came to Bowdoin with an Alumni Fund Scholarship.

Popular Singing Star

Patti Page

renditions of such tunes as Tennessee Waltz and others. For three years she made about $65 weekly until she snagged her first hit, With My Eyes Wide Open I'm Dreaming. Since then, the singer has seldom sold fewer than 300,000 copies of any record she has made, and, of course, quite a few of her platters have gone past the 1,000,000 mark.

Religious Tunes Dominate The hullabaloo around music circles these days is on religious-type tunes. They are outselling all the ballads and upbeat songs. Success of I Believe started off the most recent push, followed by Cry in the Chapel, and now Patti Page has come out with The Lord's Prayer on wax. Most of the big names have one or more numbers of the same type in the process, with some being held back for Christmas release.

With the success of the Decca

Religious Tunes Dominate The hullabaloo around music circles these days is on religious-type tunes. They are outselling all the ballads and upbeat songs. Success of I Believe started off the most recent push, followed by Cry in the Chapel, and now Patti Page has come out with The Lord's Prayer on wax. Most of the big names have one or more numbers of the same type in the process, with some being held back for Christmas release.

With the success of the Decca

Zetes, ARU's Lead In Football Leagues

(Continued from Page 3)

tack garnering two markers. Zetes Over T.D.'s

The complexion of League "B" has changed not at all. There were only two games played last week. "Hap" Hazzard led the charge for the Zetes as they rolled over the TD's 19-2. The Dekes a team to be reckoned with, went amok at the Sigma Nu's expense. F. Metz looked good with his brilliant broken field running. The Independents are still laying tactics for their first game, for once again they failed to make an appearance. Scouts are trying to locate their talent, but their efforts have gone for naught. It can safely be said, however, that the Independents won't figure too highly in the ultimate standings of League "B".

STANDINGS LEAGUE "A"

Table with 3 columns: Team, Wins, Losses. ARU 4-0, Delta Sigma 3-1, Kappe Sigma 3-1, Psi U 1-2, AD 1-2, ATO 1-3, Chi Psi 0-4.

LEAGUE "B"

Table with 3 columns: Team, Wins, Losses. Zeta Psi 3-0, DKE 2-0, TD 1-1, Beta 1-2, Sigma Nu 0-3, Independents 0-3.

Initiations Begin Alumni Week-end Activities

[Continued from Page 1] at this time. Tickets for the dance are $1.00 and can be obtained from Student Union representatives. Arrangements for the dance were made by the following committee: Robert F. Hinckley '55, chairman, Terry Stenberg '56, John W. Maloney '56, and Raymond F. Kierstead '56.

Bowdoin Glee Club Schedules 16 Concerts

[Continued from Page 1] the Requiem at Brandeis University, Waltham, Mass. The following week, on the 17th of April, in collaboration with Colby Junior College at New London, N.H., the Requiem will again be presented.

On May 20 in Boston will come the annual Pops Concert, one of the most anticipated musical events of the entire season.

Pops Repertoire The program this year includes the following selections: Rise Sons of Bowdoin, by Burnett and Sills; Glorious Apollo, Webbe; Echo Song, di Lasso; Dance of the Comedians from the Bartered Bride, Smetana; Gram (Grief), Dvorak; To Agri, Holst; I Wonder As I Wander, Nile; Beat! Beat! Beat! Drums! Loeffler; Afar on the Purple Moor, an old Norfolk air arranged by Branscombe; Gwilym Gwent, James.

Following the intermission the Medicinepumpsters will sing a group of selections. This world-renowned augmented double quartet has recently returned from another highly successful tour of Army installations in Europe.

Cultury are expected to attend. The Polar Bear Five is tentatively scheduled to play there early Friday evening.

Whittier Field will be the scene of a big Jadaloon demonstration during half-time of the football game. This will mark the first time that either Jadaloons or their hunters have been seen in public. Plans for the demonstration were released early today by Head Hunter Ben Priest '56.

The Moulton Union dining room will be open until 3:00 A.M. after the Alumni Dance Saturday, October 31.

Notice

As a follow up of the Wheaton feature of last issue, the following tid-bit is offered: In a fall of 1928 issue of ORIENT it was noted that according to a preference vote of men's colleges taken at Wheaton, Bowdoin ranked third.

The rest of the Glee Club program includes the following selections: Brothers Sing On, Grieg; Old Mother Hubbard, Hutchinson; Let Us Break Bread Together, arranged by Montague; Hot Stuff (We Hope), McBride; I Got Plenty O' Nuttin' and It Ain't Necessarily So, both by Gershwin; Russian Picnic, Enders; and Bowdoin Medley.

BOWL-MOR Alleys

AUTOMATIC PIN SETTERS Hot Dogs Italian Sandwiches Cold Drinks Coffee Ice Cream

Operated by Al Tobey, Class of '50

Merrymeeting Gift Shop

185 Park Row Greeting Cards --- Gifts Free Gift Wrapping

CHOICE OF YOUNG AMERICA FOR THE FIFTH STRAIGHT YEAR

CHESTERFIELD IS THE LARGEST SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA'S COLLEGES

by a 1953 survey audit of actual sales in more than 800 college co-ops and campus stores from coast to coast. Yes, for the fifth straight year Chesterfield is the college favorite.

CHESTERFIELD IS THE ONLY CIGARETTE EVER TO GIVE YOU PROOF OF LOW NICOTINE, HIGHEST QUALITY.

The country's six leading brands were analyzed—chemically—and Chesterfield was found low in nicotine—highest in quality.

This scene reproduced from Chesterfield's famous "center spread" line-up pages in college football programs from coast to coast.

Leroy E. Dyer '56 Elected Sophomore Class President

Terry Stenberg Vice-President; Paul Kirby Secretary-Treasurer

By Edward N. Cotter '56
Leroy E. Dyer, an AD, was elected by the Sophomores as Class President yesterday with a total of 408 points. Terry D. Stenberg was chosen for the Vice President's office with 412 points, while P. Girard Kirby was elected Secretary-Treasurer with 344 points. Stenberg is a Beta and Kirby a Zeta.

Preferential System
The voting was by the preferential system. A first place vote was worth seven points since the voters were allowed to vote for seven men for each office. Of the 177 Sophomores, 119 voted. The maximum number of points which a candidate could have won was 853.

Dyer, one of the malnastics of the Polar Bear backfield, had a 68 margin of victory. A Bar Harbor High School graduate, Dyer was a member of the Honor Society. He played on the football, basketball and baseball teams. In his first year at Bowdoin he also participated in these sports. He is now the Student Union Representative for the ADs.

Movies To Be Shown In Smith Auditorium Starting Next Week

The Student Union Committee has announced its movie schedule for 1953-54.
Movies will be held in Smith Auditorium from 6:45 to 9:00 p.m. either Friday or Saturday of each week, and will cost $0.25, as last year.
The schedule is as follows: Saturday, Nov. 14, THE LAVENDER HILL MOB (British), with Alec Guinness and Sidney James. Saturday, Nov. 21, UP FRONT, with David Wayne and Tom Ewell. Friday, Dec. 4, ANOTHER PART OF THE FOREST, with Fredric March, Edmund O'Brien and Ann Blyth. Saturday, Dec. 12, HOUSE OF SEVEN GABLES, starring George Sanders, Vincent Price. Saturday, Jan. 9, BRIVING VISION (British), with Michael Redgrave and Jean Kent. Friday, Jan. 15, BACK STREET, with Charles Boyer and Margaret Sullivan.
Saturday, Jan. 23, GIRL IN THE PAINTING (British), with Guy Burgess, Ian C. Fyfe, G. C. CHESTER, 73, starring James Stewart and Shelley Winters. Saturday, Feb. 27, BEND OF THE RIVER, with James Stewart and Julia Adams. Saturday, March 6, YOU CAN'T CHEAT AN HONORABLE MAN, with W. C. FIELDS, Edgar Bergen, Fredrick March, 12, THE ADVENTURES (British), with Deborah Kerr and Trevor Howard. Saturday, March 20, BRIGHT VICTORY, with Arthur Kennedy and Julia Adams. Saturday, April 10, BRUTE FORCE, starring Ann Blyth and Burt Lancaster. Saturday, April 17, LOST HORIZON, with Ronald Coleman and Jane Wyatt.

College Couple Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary This Week

By H. Edward Born '57
George Higgins, in charge of the college carpenter shop and maintenance of buildings, and his wife celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary today.
Mr. Higgins has seen many men, both faculty and students, enter and leave Bowdoin since he first began working for the college in 1907.
Interesting Career
Mr. Higgins, who will be 73 years old next May, has had a long and interesting career. Before he came to Bowdoin in 1907, he worked in Portland. In 1902 he helped construct the power station on Cushing's Island. Mr. Higgins also worked for the government as a contractor for a year. He remarked that he was quite proud when he took the Civil Service test. Out of the 119 applicants, of which the government could take only 72, Mr. Higgins had the highest rating. Before working for the government his pay was $60 a month; after proving his capabilities his pay was increased to $119 a month.
For the most part, Mr. Higgins has lived in Brunswick. He began learning the carpenter's trade at the age of 13 under Elmer White who lived in Lisbon Falls. When he came here he worked in the carpenter shop. Then from 1911 to October, 1912, he worked for Dr. Whittier in the infirmary. From 1912 to 1925 he worked in the gym. Since first coming to Bowdoin he has been in charge of the carpenter shop three different times. He has currently been in charge for the last ten years.

Norton Returns From Financial Trip To Boston And New York

Bowdoin's new Vice President, Bela W. Norton '18, has recently returned from a trip to Boston and New York on which he was seeking to lay a foundation for financial aid to the college from large corporations.
Mr. Norton's first business trip since he joined the college administrative department featured a visit to the newly formed Council on Financial Aid to Education. The council was formed through the efforts of Mr. Frank Abrams, Chairman of the Board of the

Makes Boston Trip
Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Mr. Alfred P. Sloan, Chairman of the Board of General Motors, and Mr. Irving S. Olds, of the United States Steel Corporation.
The council's purpose is to serve as a clearing house for

Bela W. Norton

(Continued on Page 4)

Masque And Gown To Open 1954 Season With Arena-Style Play

Don Carlo, '51, who has decided to title his new play, Fiddlers 'N' Bells, will be on campus to hear how it is received on November 16 and 17, in the Moulton Union Lounge.
By producing a try-out play arena-style in the Union, the Masque & Gown is following a practice set in 1948 and 1949, when new plays by Edwin Vergason, '39, and Peter Pook, '50, opened the seasons. With the elimination of scenery and naturalistic lighting in this play, the jury must stand or fall largely on its ability to move the audience by the dialogue and action.
The increase in arena theatres throughout the world in recent years indicates the general acceptance of this form of production by audiences, although it requires more work for the auditors, who must supply imaginary background of doors, windows, and walls in the darkness behind the brightly lit actors. Many academic and community theatres now confine their work entirely to the arena style of playing, and several recent successes in New York have first been produced at Dallas or Washington on arena stages.
Some plays suffer from confinement within the arena, and Bowdoin is fortunate in being able to choose between the two styles. The most recent Masque & Gown try-out, Ronald Lander's musical play, It's a Fact, needed the stage of Memorial Hall for its highly effective scenes of campus life in 1952. Earlier tryouts there were Walter Whitney's One on the House, with a faculty cast in 1951, Vergason's Dark Horse of a Different Color, in 1948, and Peace on Earth, in 1939. Jack Kinard's, And Miles Around, in 1943, as well as Douglas Carmichael's Shepard of My People, in 1942, Charles Mergendahl's Me and Harry in 1941, and The Twig, in 1940, and the William Brown-Robert Craven musical Take It Away, 1938. Six of these plays have been produced elsewhere after the original showing at Bowdoin; two have played in New York.
Few colleges in the country can boast such a record of try-out plays. In the past fifteen years twelve new plays by nine Bowdoin authors have been tested. All but one of the playwrights started their playwriting in the annual one-act play contest where sixty-six plays have been produced. Three of the nine playwrights are teaching; two are in television, and one each in theatre, farming, the armed services, and playwriting.

Rev. M. McGorrill '37 Talks On Three Basic Philosophies Of Life

The Reverend Milton M. McGorrill, D.D., of the Church of Universal Friendship, Orono, Maine, was the guest speaker at Chapel last Sunday. Dr. McGorrill, a Beta Theta Pi, graduated from Bowdoin in the class of 1919. He has been at Orono since 1947.
Dr. McGorrill spoke of a philosophy of life which will guide us in the right manner; one which we may meet in college, maybe not until later in life. "Life," he said, "is what you're alive to; no more, no less. No man found 'life' worth living. He made it worth living."
He explained that all the philosophies of life can be boiled down into three basic views: fatalism, pessimism, and the one that is essentially creative. The fatalist attitude is that you are not master of your fate, but that rather that you are what forces want you to become, he explained, giving dialectic materialism as an example. The pessimist, on the other hand, claims that there "is no good in man. If (he) is to be saved, only God can do it."
Dr. McGorrill then asked, of all things in our world, what one thing should most be preserved? and answered, "The faith in the principle of life itself, its creative possibilities." He cited as an example the first work of the great Italian artist, Michelangelo. Taking a marbled stone which nobody wanted, he shaped it into the statue of David, one of the greatest works of his time. That statue is now, however, not only a monument to a great artist, but even more so, to creative ability. "Life is what you are alive to," he repeated in conclusion.
The choir sang "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" by Bach.

Du Pont Man Will Interview Seniors
Mr. John L. Reid, Jr., representing the E. I. du Pont Company, Wilmington, will be one of the first industrial recruiters to visit the campus this season.
Mr. Reid will be a visitor to the Placement Bureau for the purpose of interviewing senior registrants on Tuesday, November 18. He will be seeking principally science majors in chemistry, physics and biology. The interviews will be held in the conference room in Parker-Cleveland Hall.
Application forms and booklets are available at the Placement Bureau.

EDITOR BURR PLANS MORE PICTURES, MORE CONCISE WRITING IN 'BUGLE'
The Bugle, Bowdoin's yearbook, will be somewhat altered this year, according to Robert Burr '55, Editor-in-Chief.
In general appearance, the book will not be greatly changed from the 1952 edition; however, the writing will be more concise, leaving additional space for pictures. This reduction in writing will amount to two complete extra pages of informal shots of fellows on and around campus.
"Until this year it was the custom of each fraternity to send a representative to the Bugle to report on the events of his particular house. This system, however, has not proved entirely satisfactory, and consequently, a new schedule has been devised for the coming year. The Bugle itself will select the fraternity representatives, thus being sure to obtain men each well-suited to report the news of his house."
The Stobbs Press, of Worcester, Mass., will probably print the coming edition.
The officers elected to the Executive Board of the 1954 Bugle are as follows:
Robert Burr '55, a TD, is the Initiation Ceremonies, Alumni Dance Highlight Homecoming Week End

Monster Football Rally And Impressive Spirit Contribute

Shown above in the post-football game Alpha Delta cocktail party-are, reading left to right: Peter M. Pirnie '55 and his date Sis Cunningham '54, a freshman from Smith, Paul P. Bruntis '54, Thomas A. Campbell '54, Alden E. Horton, Jr., and his date Ann Whisman, a senior from Smith, William S. Copperthwaite '53, Robert H. Cushman '54, James Anwyll, Jr. '55 and Jacob M. Cellose '54.

Editor-in-Chief. He is Vice President of the Student Union, an ORIENT news editor last year, and has been on the baseball team.
Robert Keay '56, the Co-Editor, is a Beta. He was instrumental in publishing the Beta pamphlet sent to incoming Freshmen, and served as an Editorial Assistant to the Bugle last year.
Francis Twinn '55, a TD, the Fraternity Editor, is active in WBOA and the Political Forum.
Frank Paul '55, a TD, the Sports Editor, served as an editorial assistant last year.
George Phillips '54, is the Photographic Editor. He is a Chi Psi, and has been active in the Bowdoin Christian Association.
David Hamilton '55, a Beta, is the Advertising Manager. He was active in the advertising department of the Bugle last year.

Monster Football Rally And Impressive Spirit Contribute
By John M. Belka '54 and Donald W. Blodgett '54 Liberation day had finally come. The freshmen had thrown off the chains that hazed them during their six weeks before initiation. They were no longer the bowing and cowering yes-men, but they had now achieved that sought after goal of brotherhood in a fraternity. The new brothers became

Pillsbury, Allen, Head For West Point Talks; Will Discuss Security
It was announced recently that Richard H. Allen '54 of Wilmington, Del., and Robert W. Pillsbury '54 of South Weymouth, Mass., have been selected to attend the 5th Student Conference on United States Affairs at the U. S. Military Academy December 2 to 5.
A representative group of about 50 colleges and universities east of the Mississippi were invited to send two men each to this conference which is sponsored jointly by the Carnegie Corporation of New York and the Military Academy, which serves as host. In addition, 24 West Point Cadets are delegates.

After many speeches and such the brothers were able to summon their dates from the arms of the local sailors in town. The new found couples were not able to serenade the various fraternity houses, but their combined efforts in a monster rally.
The rally started at the A.D. house and gathered momentum as it progressed. Every house seemed to empty of its people when the torches drew abreast of their front doors. Once the bonfire was lit, the spirit of the crowd was highly inspired by the speeches of co-captain Jack Cosgrove, Moore Freeland, and "Tilly" Tillotson.
Upon learning a new dirge cheer the crowd's reaction was to President Coles' house. In the meantime several lovelies were forced to drop out of the procession because their high heels were caught in the mud around the fire. The remaining die-hard heard the crowd's reaction to the sound of victory. Mrs. Coles declined to speak. She was afraid that the Orient would come out with another special publication, as it did last Ivy (we're only human, Mrs. Coles).
The cheering took on a wrong fork in the road and found itself at Adam's house instead of the stage in the Cumberland theatre. (Some say it was per order of the Dean) Coach Walsh was impressed with the spirit of the group and chairman of the homecoming committee for the impending game, we could not lose.
After such strenuous sport the students and dates went back to their respective fraternities. There they indulged in the wondrous games of foos and mouse with the alumni. Some were crying how poor they are. As a result nobody got a new house, but plenty tried until they talked themselves to sleep around two o'clock. After this hour only the night owls were howling.
Saturday morning was featured

Notice
Approximately fifteen students took the Medical College Entrance Examinations Test, Monday, according to Professor David L. Russell, Director of Student Counseling.
The tests are conducted by the Educational Testing Service and are used to determine admission to all medical schools in the United States.
The tests were held in two sessions, morning and afternoon.
The tests are conducted by the Educational Testing Service and are used to determine admission to all medical schools in the United States.
The tests were held in two sessions, morning and afternoon.

Checker Wizard Will Display Talents At The Union Tuesday
On Tuesday evening, Nov. 10, under the direction of the Student Union Committee, Tom Wiswell, a checker and chess wizard, will play up to fifty people simultaneously in the Moulton Union Lounge from 8 to 11 p.m. All members of the college, as well as townspeople, are invited to attend, whether to compete or merely to look on and kibitz.
For a temporary arrangement, Kim agrees that it stops killing and destruction of property. However, he believes that the only way to unify Korea is to continue the war, because the Communist's promises are not honorable.
Jimmy's people are very homogeneous. They don't want to fight their countrymen. They feel, though, that they must fight. If all of Korea is taken over by the Communists, there is that much more available manpower and materials with which they can fight. His people have suffered all the criticism for their obstruction to a truce which they know will be, in the end, very harmful both to their people and to the free world.
He wonders why we don't help those who are willing and who want to fight Communism. They are much closer to the evils of the Red dictatorship than Americans, and so have a much more bitter desire to wipe it out. Why doesn't it come to the United States among those who want to be our allies, he wants to know.

South Korean Undergraduate Tells Of Conditions In Homeland
Dong Su "Jimmy" Kim '57, a South Korean enrolled in the Bowdoin pre-medical course, is not convinced that the United Nations have made the best settlement of the Korean War.
For a temporary arrangement, Kim agrees that it stops killing and destruction of property. However, he believes that the only way to unify Korea is to continue the war, because the Communist's promises are not honorable.
Jimmy's people are very homogeneous. They don't want to fight their countrymen. They feel, though, that they must fight. If all of Korea is taken over by the Communists, there is that much more available manpower and materials with which they can fight. His people have suffered all the criticism for their obstruction to a truce which they know will be, in the end, very harmful both to their people and to the free world.
He wonders why we don't help those who are willing and who want to fight Communism. They are much closer to the evils of the Red dictatorship than Americans, and so have a much more bitter desire to wipe it out. Why doesn't it come to the United States among those who want to be our allies, he wants to know.

Maine Founded in 1868; Was Land Grant College

By Thomas L. Spence '57
The University of Maine, the favorite to win the 1953 state series, will play host before a large homecoming crowd to the Polar Bears in the windup of the football campaign. The state university is far bigger in most ways than any of its Maine rivals and thus offers numerous contrasts to a small college like Bowdoin.
The best indication to the huge size of Maine is that its male enrollment is about 2,300, three times as large as Bowdoin's. The faculty numbers over 200, serving a total enrollment of approximately three thousand.
Located At Orono
The 200-acre campus is located about a mile from the business section of Orono, an attractive town of 7,500 inhabitants, shortly beyond Bangor. Situated about 104 miles from Brunswick, it lies about halfway between the southernmost and the northernmost towns in Maine.
The co-educational institution is state-controlled, receiving about thirty per cent of its income from the state and about another fifteen from federal appropriations.
Had Brunswick Campus
Up until 1949 for a period of a few years, this college had a branch campus at what is now the Naval Air Station at Brunswick. Over two thousand students, all of them freshmen and most of them veterans, studied at this nearby campus. The college gained possession of this location in July, 1946. Immediately, hospital wards became classrooms, offices and wash rooms emerged as laboratories, and barracks grew partitions and were raised to the dignity of dormitories, converting it into a modern campus. Notwithstanding the total absence of upperclassmen, the Brunswick campus had a full array of extra-curricular activities.

Army ROTC Is Required
Every student in his first two years must participate in the Army ROTC, three branches of which are maintained, namely Infantry, Anti-Aircraft Artillery and Signal Corps.
Maine has a wide variety of intercollegiate sports, including football, basketball, baseball, track, cross country, golf, tennis, winter sports and more. They include the Memorial Gymnasium, the Memorial Indoor Field House, the Women's Gymnasium, and numerous athletic fields, one of which is a football practice field illuminated for evening practice.
80% From Maine
Fully 80% of the student body come from Maine itself. Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey and Connecticut all have a sizeable delegation. The number of foreign students is large, 23, coming from every corner of the earth, including Estonia, Philippines, Czechoslovakia, Burma and even one stateside.

Checker Champ
Tom Wiswell

Tom Wiswell

Those who have them are asked to bring their own chess or checker sets, since the Union can supply only a few.
As a climax, Mr. Wiswell will play the best checker player blindfolded. He will also award autographed copies of books he has written to all those who win at checkers. He has given this exhibition at a number of colleges, has appeared in every state in the country and in every continent except Australia. It is a unique program and should prove interesting.
Immediately after the Second World War, there was no friction between the two sections of the country, but soon after, the governments started insulting each other on the radio and in newspapers. Border skirmishes became commonplace and before June, 1950, the Korean people realized that war was inevitable. The beginning of the war came only when the situation had reached its climax.
In three years of fighting, Jimmy wonders what we have accomplished. We had a "great chance to win, but now the Communists have definitely won the war. The Korean
(Continued on Page 4)

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, November 4, 1953 No. 12

Editor-In-Chief
Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55

Managing Editor
John B. Goodrich '55

News Editors
David R. Anderson '55
Edward N. Cotter '56

Richard M. Catalano '55
Assistant News Editor
Ronald Golt '56

Photographer
James P. Gaston '54

Staff
John M. Belka '54
Donald W. Blodgett '54
James L. Doherty '55
George I. Rockwood '56
Benjamin G. M. Priest '56
Edward Born '57
Francis M. Kinney '57
Edward R. Williams '57
Stanton I. Moody '57
David G. Lavender '55
Thomas R. Merrill '57

Business Manager
Bruce N. Cooper '54

Assistant Business Managers
C. Richard Thurston '54
Circulation Manager
Harold R. Beacham, Jr. '56

BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Directors: Professor Athern P. Daggett, Professor Philip M. Brown, Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilly '54, Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55, Charles Ranlett '54.

NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
College Publishers Representatives
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO - BOSTON - LOS ANGELES - SAN FRANCISCO

Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semesters by the students of Bowdoin College. Address news correspondence to the Editor and subscription communications to the Business Manager of the Bowdoin Publishing Company at the ORIENT Office in Moore Hall, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three dollars ($3.00).

Debaters To Sponsor High School Competition And Plan Tournament

Debating plans for this semester, according to Professor Albert R. Thayer, call for initiating a new inter-fraternity debate tournament, the sponsoring of the annual high school debate competition, and an extensive dramatic activities and debate program giving more than twenty-five students speaking opportunities.

The debate itinerary for this semester is as follows: on November 10 Paul DuBuis, Norman Levy and Morton Price will uphold the

Forensic Competitor

Paul P. Brontas

National Policy of Free Trade against Warren Greene, Henry Shaw and William Hale in the Achorn Prize Debate. The following week the two varsity teams will debate Holy Cross at Worcester while, at the same time, four novice teams from each college will debate at Brunswick. In the latter Bowdoin will be represented by Morton Price, Gerald Werkman, William Hale and Stanton Moody.

Down Beat Record Review

Ray Anthony, whose record of Draguet is the biggest orchestral selling record of recent months, is one former Glenn Miller sideman who will not be seen in the upcoming film version of the late maestro's life.

The young man, who joined the group in 1940 and left to go into the Navy in 1942, is too busy with his own band to take time off to do a stint in the films. After his four-year hitch in the service, the leader took up his trumpet and formed his own band, playing the top spots in the country. He is Capitol Records' number one band, and previous to Draguet, his biggest hit was Never Smile at a Stranger.

Talking about Draguet, there's a plethora of recordings from television, following the same pattern set by all the discs based on film

Dum Dee Dum Dum

Ray Anthony

thems in the last few years. There's Melancholy Serenade from the Jackie Gleason show; Johnny Desmond etched Danger from the action program of the same name; and to lighten it all up now, there's Mr. Peepers from the comedy half-hour starring Wally Cox.

Spanish Considered For Language Requirement

The possibility of adding Spanish as a choice in fulfilling the modern language requirement will be considered by the Student Curriculum Committee as their first project of the year it was decided at a meeting of the committee last week.

Feeling that a general and spontaneous student demand was necessary before the question of an honor or system could be considered seriously, the committee decided not to discuss this problem further at this time. An informal poll in the houses had indicated little interest among the students for the system, a question which has occasioned hot debate in the past.

A sub-committee of three will report back to the whole committee on the Spanish question at the regular meeting, Monday, November 2.

Letter To The Editor

Editor
Bowdoin Orient
Brunswick, Maine

Dear Sir:

Apparently someone from Bowdoin (or it may have been an alum) sent me a roll of exposed but undeveloped film at the Amherst-

World Renowned Violinist To Give Concert Nov. 11

Zlatko Balokovic, world renowned violinist, will return to the Bowdoin campus on November 11 to present another distinguished concert. He plans to use his two priceless violins - a Stradivarius and a Guarnerius. The Stradivarius is the last one made by that great master, in 1737, when he was 93. It is one of the most perfect examples - in existence. The Guarnerius is one of the nine finest in this country. His cooperation between the United States and his native Yugoslavia. Since 1941 Balokovic has been an American citizen.

Noted Soloist

During the coming year Balokovic, who has a home at Camden, Maine, will play in some of the most important European cities. He has been soloist with the most noted American orchestras, including the Chicago Symphony, the Boston Symphony, the Los Angeles Philharmonic, and the New York Philharmonic. In recognition of his superb mastery of the violin, Balokovic has been honored by royalty, by two Popes, and by the award of countless medals.

Spanish Considered For Language Requirement

The possibility of adding Spanish as a choice in fulfilling the modern language requirement will be considered by the Student Curriculum Committee as their first project of the year it was decided at a meeting of the committee last week.

Student Union Committee Praised

In attempting to fulfill its objectives as the main source of expressed undergraduate opinion at Bowdoin, the ORIENT finds it a pleasant duty to praise from time to time as well as to indulge in constructive but not always favorable criticism. This week we feel that there definitely exists on campus an organization deserving a certain amount of praise.

The Student Union Committee, always an active group here, has proved itself an extremely valuable part of the College. One of its newer contributions to more varied and colorful undergraduate activity is its sponsoring of the varsity football game movies each week. These movies not only provide entertainment, but also enable those students who were unable to attend certain games to see them at a later date. In addition, the football movies give a student a chance to see again a spectacular play or series of plays in the previous game.

Bates Game, Union Dance, Displays Spark Successful Alumni Homecoming Week End

[Continued from Page 1]

Gymnasium. Here Bob Percival and his thirteen piece orchestra presided over a large audience. Variety being the spice of life, Bob Percival provided the life of the party as his music ranged from fox trots, waltzes, Mexican hat dances, and last but not least the bunny hop. During a few of these fast dances the crowd was forced into taking their shoes off before their feet went out from under them. The floor of the gym is always protected by a large coating of wax.

CUMBERLAND THEATRE

Brunswick, Maine

Wednesday-Thursday
November 4-5

HALF A HERO

with
Red Skelton - Jean Hagan

also
News Short Subjects

Friday-Saturday
November 6-7

EAST OF SUMATRA

with
Jeff Chandler
Marilyn Maxwell

also
News Short Subjects

Sunday-Monday-Tuesday
November 8-9-10

ALL THE BROTHERS WERE VALIANT

with
Robert Taylor
Stewart Granger
Ann Blyth

also
News Cartoon

Wednesday-Thursday
November 11-12

THE BIG HEAT

with
Ford
Barbara Hale
Anne Francis

also
News Cartoon

Ice Cubes On Toast.

By Benjamin G. M. Priest '54

The Home Book of Poetic Little Ice Cubes Containing
A Cube for Practically Every Occasion
Combined with
A handy guide to the various types of Modern Poetry

(Installment number one . . .

Suitable and a peachy birthday gift for all children; boys, girls, etc., up to the age of puberty.)

Chapter one, Humorous Natural History.

This is usually written by Ogden Nash, or somebody, and usually goes like this . . .

The Sheepdog
The Sheepdog is a hairy beast (1)
A disconcerting sight . . . (2)
No one can tell (not I at least) (3)
The wag-end from the bite . . . (4)
Or . . .

The Bat
The Bat's a furry little chap (1)
With gummy leather wings (2)
And every night, around the barn (3)
He makes his dizzy swings (4)
He loves to swoop at little girls (5)
And make them quickly flee (6)
Because he revels in the squeals (7)

Of a disconcerting she . . .
(8)

The chief difference in these two poems, lies, mainly, and for the most part, all things being considered, in the fact that the first selection contains but one verse; while the second will be found to have two. Read these poems again paying particular attention to this point.

Notes: Chapt. I
The Sheepdog
(1) The . . . may be pronounced
Ther if the reader is under six years of age. After that, watch out.
Sheepdog . . . Sometimes found
Sheep Dog, Sheep-dog, sheepdog, sheep-dog etc. Only rarely, however, is the Anglo Saxon version, Shee Dog, come across. Try pronouncing it and you may see why.
(2) disconcerting . . . it, horrendous.

The Bat
(1) The . . . see note on line one of The Sheepdog. And remember, this is your last warning!
(2) . . . gummy leather wings
Ugh!
(3) barn . . . usually spell bee-f-y, only that has two syllables.
(5) He . . . i.e. the Bat.

Notice
In case any of you thought you saw a Jadaelon Saturday, you were mistaken. That was a makeral. We think the Jadaelon threw it to put us off his trail. Don't worry though, we are pledged to keep hanging in there . . . by the gums, if necessary. Next meeting, Thursday in the chapel. All bring horns as we are going to practice for our recital.

Merrymeeting Gift Shop
185 Park Row
Greeting Cards --- Gifts
Free Gift Wrapping

Student Patronage Solicited

First National Bank
Brunswick, Maine

Member of the Federal Reserve System and
Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Maureen O'Sullivan
FAMOUS MOVIE STAR

Start smoking Camels yourself!

Suitably and a peachy birthday gift for all children; boys, girls, etc., up to the age of puberty.)

I KNOW WHAT I WANT
IN A CIGARETTE AND CAMELS
HAVE IT! IT'S NOTHING COMPARES WITH CAMELS FOR MILD,
-ENJOYABLE SMOKING,
TRY THEM YOURSELF!

Smoke only Camels for 30 days and find out why Camels are first in mildness, flavor and popularity! See how much pure pleasure a cigarette can give you!

CAMELS AGREE WITH MORE PEOPLE THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

Polar Bears Crush Small Bates Squad, 38-13, For Second Series Win

POLAR BEARINGS

By Robert M. Hirst '54, ORIENT Sports Editor

The only thing missed more at a Bowdoin football game besides Adam Walsh would be the hot dog concession behind the stands. No sports event in this era is complete without accompaniment of a program, peanuts, hot dogs, popcorn, and assorted food tidbits. The story of their beginning forms an interesting chapter in the history of sports.

English-born Harry M. Stevens settled in Niles, Ohio, and, for a time, was a pudder in steel mills. Along in the early 1880's, a publisher who had put out "The Life of General Logan" influenced Stevens to quit puddling, and to become a salesman for the book. Eventually Stevens found himself in Columbus, Ohio, one afternoon with all appointments canceled. Stevens, having heard about the game of baseball, which he had never seen played, went to the Columbus baseball park, for lack of something to do.

The game was a bit Greek to him. The names of the players home town players, Stevens returned to his hotel that night in a thoughtful mood. The next day he called on the Columbus baseball officials. How much would they want for the exclusive privilege of letting Stevens sell a card that would give the names of the players, with a space reserved for the fans to make notes as to what each player did each time at bat? They told Stevens that something like that would cost him $1,000 for a full season, but inasmuch as the season was already underway, the cost for the balance of the year would be $700.

Stevens accepted. The next day he slighted the book selling business, and was out to sell advertising space on his score card. He sold enough to guarantee the $700. Then he sought out a fan, asked him about the highlights of baseball, about what was important to the spectator. He took in the ball game that afternoon, so that he could gain more knowledge concerning baseball, and along with him a sack of peanuts for nourishment.

Fans on each side of him traded information for peanuts, and were likewise. He asked nearby fans to identify the players, but they were too busy, in some instances, and the others knew only the Stevens came away, not merely with a good idea about how to devise a scorecard, but also with a determination to get the club owner's permission to let him sell peanuts as well as scorecards — all for $700 per season.

The scorecard idea went over nicely in Columbus — and so did the peanuts. Stevens bought concessions in Toledo and Milwaukee and quit the book-selling business. Learning that a great many fans in Milwaukee could only read and write German, to their delight he had half the scorecards printed in German.

The scorecards and peanuts continued to be his only stock in trade until one cold, windswept afternoon in the 1890's. The fans sat shivering in the stands. Stevens recalled seeing a large assortment of sausages in a nearby butcher shop while on his way to the ball park. He sent a hurried message for ten dozen and another boy was dispatched for rolls from a neighborhood bakery. The hot dogs were sold in ten minutes and thus a new department became a permanent addition to the concessions business.

But along in 1908 the red hot business went into a tailspin. A famous cartoonist preceded to publish the red hot but putting a dog of the dachshund type, between an elongated bun, referring to it as the hot dog. Folks began to worry about the contents of the weiner, and while they were wondering ceased to buy. But the prejudice against the red-hot disappeared, patrons resumed buying, but ever since they have been known as hot dogs.

According to latest reports from Adams Walsh, tackle Steve McCabe will be out of action for the Maine game. This might cause a serious gap in the Bowdoin defense as Maine counts on a strong running game through the tackle positions.

Most lauded score of the week — Shippensburg 65-Millersville 0.

Frosh Swamp Undermanned Higgins, 38-0; Mike Coster Scores Three TD's

By Thomas L. Spence '57

Rolling to six touchdowns behind some beautiful broken-field running by three halfbacks, the Bowdoin frosh easily mowed the season's first Higgins Classical outfit, 38-0 for their initial triumph of the season on Friday at Pickard Field. The Polar Cubs tallied twice in each of the first and third quarters, and once each in the second and fourth. Most of the scores came on a long-gaining pass or run rather than a sustained march to pay dirt. Seemingly scoring at will, the victors would have compiled a much higher point total if it had not been for five costly fumbles and three 15-yard penalties.

Three TD's for Coster. Mike Coster, a 5-11, 167-pound, halfback, ripped for three touchdowns to lead Bowdoin's offensive parade. Fullback George Howland raced for a single six-pointer, as did Dick Smith. Al Lanes tallied after grabbing a pass. Del Potter also ran for some sensational gains.

The passing and running attacks of the powerful winners gammed about 100 yards each, but the real crusher was the ability of the Cubs to constantly rack up huge yardage on their returns of kicks, punts and intercepted passes. Coach Frank Sabasteanski's charges always seemed to make the long gain to either score or set up a quick TD.

On the other hand, the hapless visitors could never get started. The best they could do was to pick up a single first down and a measly 15 yards in their only drive of any consequence. Working out of the single wing, Higgins found its passing game to be disastrous. The Bowdoin line constantly smothered all attempts to smash through the forward wall.

Frantically No Reserves. But the decisive factor was the lack of reserves for Higgins, for only 17 players were in uniform. As the afternoon wore on, about 4 or 5 suffered injuries, so at one point in the final period only a single Higgins sub could be found on the bench, the injured having retired to the fieldhouse. Thus, the Higgins players, game as they were under the relentless drives of the frosh, became exhausted. Bowdoin had 26 men in uniform, insuring a steady supply of rested performers to do battle with the tired Higginsites.

Because Higgins was such an unusually weak team, the game was not a fair indication of what Bowdoin can do. The real test will be on Friday, when the awesome, all-powerful Exeter squad come into town in what will undoubtedly be Bowdoin's toughest game of the entire campaign.

French Tallies Early. An intercepted pass by Coster deep in enemy territory paved the way for the first TD in the opening minutes of the contest. On their fourth play from scrimmage, Coster scooped around left end untouched for the score.

Mike took care of the second tally a few minutes later. Starting quarterback Dick Drenzek picked off a Higgins aerial and raced 22 yards to the opposition 13, where a penalty set the ball back to the 28. Howland then carried down to the 5. On the next play, Drenzek started a left end sweep but couldn't go anywhere, so he lateraled off to Coster, who scampered for the remaining yardage.

68-Yard TD Run Nullified. Perhaps the most exciting play of the game occurred in the opening minutes of the second stanza. Del Potter caught a punt and somehow scampered all the way from his own 32 to the Higgins 5 through the entire Higgins team. Here he lateraled back to Hardy, surrounded by a host of would-be tacklers, dived across the final white line. A clipping penalty at the other end of the field nullified this thrilling play.

Bowdoin was not to be denied, for they pulled a play covering some 65 yards soon thereafter. Quarterback Bill Hird flipped to Howland on the enemy 30 for a 25-yard pickup, where George raced the rest of the way down the left sideline unmolested, making the score 18-0.

Frosh Attack Relentlessly. The first score in the third period featured a pass from Drenzek to Lanes covering 36 yards, Lanes got the last 16. The placement was good. A minute later, Smith galloped 38 yards on a punt return to the Higgins 20. Then Drenzek completed a pass to Lanes, who raced to the 5, flipped the ball back to Smith and threw a vicious block at the lone defender, allowing Smith to tally.

Oster — All The Way. The final score came unexpectedly in the fourth quarter when Phil Merrow was forced to punt. Coster grabbed the pigskin on his 22 and, instead of heading for one of the sidelines, as is the usual custom, smashed right down the middle for the whole 78 yards. As the placement attempts had been unsuccessful for the most part, Drenzek called for a running play, carrying the ball over for the last of Bowdoin's 38 points.

Statistics

Bowdoin	Higgins
First downs	6-4
Yards gained rushing	42-36
Passes completed	6-20
Passes intercepted	4-4
Passes lost	4-1
Penalties	5-3
Average yards of punts	0-31
Number of punts	14-0
Time of possession	30-17
Balls lost	5-3
Penalties	5-3
Yards lost penalties	45-7
Fumbles	7-5
Higgins	15-0-0-0

Bowdoin was not to be denied, for they pulled a play covering

Bendix Launderette
15 Mill Street Brunswick, Maine
Just a few steps from Maine Street
Nine pound wash 30c
Use of Dryer 25c

Phil Day Leads White Offensive Attack; John Ingraham Sparks Defensive Play

DAY DAZZLES — Phil Day, who sparked the running attack last Saturday against Bates, is shown above blasting into the Bates secondary on his way to a touchdown. Two plays later Mel Totman bucked over from the three-yard line to put the Polar Bears in front 19-7. Day, who has been injured most of the season, showed Coach Adam Walsh that he is ready to go all the way if necessary in next week's championship playoff with the Black Bears of Maine.

AD's Upset ARU's 18-6
Sands, Rogerson Shine; Kappa Sigs Blast ATO's

By Ronald Golz '56

Showing form of previous years the AD's snapped the four game winning streak of the ARU's by an 18-6 score. After last year's good showing the AD's were beginning to be thought of as a "flash-in-the-pan" this season, but their win has dispersed such ideas now. Never headed they jumped to an early 12-0 lead and retained it until the third quarter when an error by Al Werksman broke the ice for the ARU's. The AD's added an insurance TD to wrap it up in the fourth quarter.

AD Star

David S. Rogerson

It is difficult to pick an outstanding man on the AD team because all helped to lead the Green to victory. However, Dave Rogerson seemed to be the spark as he scored a TD and set up the others.

The Summary

Bowdoin (38)

- Left end - Atkins, Roux, Chapman, Starnes
- Left tackle - Jean, McCabe, McKinley
- Left guard - Goldstein, Farrington
- Center - Teta, Peluso, Berkley, Gorham, Barton
- Right guard - Stephens, Cecelski, Johnson
- Right tackle - Kowal, Friedlander, Boyle, Pratt
- Right end - Ingraham, Murray, Stearns
- Quarterback - Cosgrove, Libby, Hovey, Paterson
- Left halfback - Coukos, Colette, Compagnone, Larson
- Right halfback - Dyer, Day, O'Rourke, Woodbury
- Fullback - Totman, Williamson, Garland, Howe

Half Ends Bates Threat

The rest of the period was marked by Phil Day's 24-yard punt return, and a Libby-to-Atkins pass play that netted 43 yards. But Bates picked up a fumble on the play. As the half ended they had driven 43 yards and seemed to be on the way to a score.

Bowdoin (13)

- Right end - Froio, Soto, Barrows
- Right tackle - D'Maria, Elison
- Right guard - Barton, Greenberg
- Center - Dunn, Moore
- Left guard - Hoshell, Rose
- Left tackle - Leno, Luongo
- Right tackle - Hubbard, Barry, Harris
- Quarterback - Higgins, Atwater
- Right halfback - Ern, Vecerra, Brainerd
- Left halfback - Chumbook, Cloutier
- Fullback - Morton, Burke

COUKOS CRASHES — Shown above is Fred Coukos taking a pichtouch from Jack Cosgrove (25) and crashing off to his own right end for a Polar Bear touchdown. Lee Dyer's attempt at the point after touchdown was good and at this point in the game Bowdoin led for the first time 13-7. Coukos' score came as the result of a Bates fumble recovered by Art Cecelski.

State Series Picture To 1953

Here's how the State Series picture has been down through the years:

1895-Bowdoin	1925-Maine
1896-Bowdoin	1926-Maine
1897-Bates, Colby	1927-Colby, Maine
1898-Bates	1928-Colby, Maine
1899-Bates, Colby	1929-Bates
1900-Bowdoin, Bates	1930-Bates
1901-Maine	1931-Maine
1902-Bates, Maine	1932-Maine
1903-Bowdoin	1933-Maine
1904-Bates, Bowdoin	1934-Maine
1905-Maine	1935-Bowdoin
1906-Bates	1936-Bowdoin
1907-Bowdoin	1937-Bowdoin
1908-Bowdoin, Colby	1938-Bowdoin
1909-Colby	1939-Bowdoin, Colby
1910-Bowdoin	1940-Bowdoin, Colby
1911-Maine	1941-Colby
1912-Maine	1942-Bowdoin
1913-Maine	1943-No Series
1914-Colby	1944-No Series
1915-Colby, Maine	1945-No Series
1916-Colby, Maine	1946-Bates
1917-Bowdoin	1947-Maine
1918-No Series	1948-Bates, Bowdoin, Maine
1919-Maine	1949-Bowdoin, Colby
1920-Maine	1950-Bowdoin, Maine
1921-Bowdoin	1951-Maine
1922-Maine	1952-Bowdoin
1923-Colby	1953-? ? ?

Reclassification: Maine, won 18, tied 7; Bowdoin, won 12, tied 8; Bates, won 5, tied 6; Colby, won 4, tied 11.

DEAR JOURNAL

Dear Journal:
True, I have neglected you, but you were with Mr. Greason, weren't you? But there is still chance for a reconciliation. He has given you back to me. Now, I will be able to pour over you nightly. You will again here my innermost thoughts, listen to me hold forth on those topics so close to both of us. Tales of love and hope, of troubles and cares to heavy burdened others with you, are my confident; you are my umbrella rack, you, you, you!

Delta Sigma	3	1
AD	2	2
Psi U	1	2
ATO	1	4
Chi Psi	1	4

League "B"

W	L	T
Zeta Psi	3	0	0
DKE	3	0	1
TD	2	1	1
Beta	1	2	3
Sigma Nu	1	3	3
Independents	0	4	0

FOUNTAIN PENS

Esterbrook	2.30 fed. tax incl.
Sheaffer	5.38 fed. tax incl.
Parker	15.00 fed. tax incl.

Retractable Ball Point Pens

Eversharp	1.29
Roll-Rite	1.29
Paper Mate	1.69

Refills — .49

MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it...

Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money.

TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY
ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS

The Record Office
Paul K. Niven Jerry Wilkes
Printers of The Orient

BOWL-MOR

ALLEYS
AUTOMATIC PIN SETTERS
Hot Dogs
Italian Sandwiches
Cold Drinks
Coffee
Ice Cream
Operated by Al Tobey, Class of '50

TOUGH, LONG-WEARING PLASTIC SOLES

Extremely fast and durable...
Withstands great temperature changes

"Easiest in the world to ski on," says Hannes Schmid, famous international star. "Spalding is leading the field in quality and workmanship."

Other Spalding features: Patented interlocking edge construction with offset screw holes. Shock-absorbing tip and tail section.

See the big 1954 Spalding Ski Parade at your favorite ski shop — Top-Flite, Continental, Air-Flite and many more in a complete range of prices. *member Spalding advisory staff

SPALDING

SETS THE PACE IN SKIING

get your copy FREE

"How to Care for Your Ski" contains helpful hints on skiing technique, waxing, instructions and ski equipment. Address: Spalding Sports Equipment Co., 260 West 35th Street, New York, N.Y. 10018

Behind The Ivy Curtain

By David R. Anderson '35
Twenty-two students and a protesting bystander were arrested by Worcester, Mass., police last Friday night as a result of a demonstration in front of a down-town hotel. The students were serenading alumni who had returned for the Holy Cross homecoming week end.

Cross students in a conga line when local police were called to the scene. They were peacefully broken up and arrested. Daniel McSweeney, a Worcester resident, thought the police were too rough and asked one officer for his number.

High police officials said the incident was regrettable. Witnesses praised the levelheadedness of the students in the matter. Their good sense prevented an all-out riot, the witnesses claimed.

Only On Week Ends
What are undergraduates like as people? What do they worry about and what do they want? What are the morals and mores of today's collegians?

Korean Undergraduate Tells Of Homeland

Concerning the truce itself, the Korean people had little to say about its contents. All they wanted were the Communists overthrown. These people will not stay forever on the side of the United Nations if it continues to ignore them.

Objections Ignored
Concerning the truce itself, the Korean people had little to say about its contents. All they wanted were the Communists overthrown. These people will not stay forever on the side of the United Nations if it continues to ignore them.

Koreans Are Grateful
However, this does not mean that the Korean people are not tremendously grateful to America for all it has done "to save our lives and help preserve our freedom."

Morton's Brunswick Branch FIRST-AUBURN TRUST COMPANY Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Cosgrove Recipient Of Scholarship Prize As Kappa Sigma Leader

John F. Cosgrove '34 was awarded his fraternity's annual Montgomery Scholarship as Bowdoin's outstanding Kappa Sigma of the year at the initiation banquet Friday, October 30. The Montgomery Scholarship is presented annually by Mrs. Donald Montgomery of Farmington, Conn., in memory of her son, Alex '44, a former Kappa Sigma president and varsity swimmer.

Members Of Faculty Attend Public School Confab In Lewiston

On October 29 members of the faculty and alumni teachers attended a Lewiston Convention of Maine public school teachers. The informal meeting of the forty educators included speeches by Dean Kendrick and Mr. Hazelton about State of Maine students and Bowdoin's relations with Maine public schools.

Women's Views
A Wellesley editor, commenting in "The College Courier," wrote "The Amherst newspaper last week stated that social rules at Yale and Dartmouth are more lenient than at Amherst. Drinking hours and the times during which women may be in study rooms seems to be the chief difference."

Norton Returns From Trip To New York City

Mr. Norton also visited several representative corporation officers in order to find out what they were doing to help colleges and in order to place Bowdoin's name before the officials.

Frosh Public Speaking Features Short Talks On Bowdoin's History

This year, the freshman public speaking course includes for the first time, the assignment of three-minute talks on some aspect of the history of Bowdoin College.

Complete and Friendly Banking Services Student Accounts Welcomed Brunswick Branch FIRST-AUBURN TRUST COMPANY Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Alexander Prize Contest Trials November Second; Open To Three Classes

It was announced recently by Professors Albert R. Thayer and John S. Sweet that there was an exceptionally large turn-out for the trials for the Alexander Prize Speaking Contest.

Nominations For Two Senior Class Posts Announced By Council

The nominations for the acting positions of Vice-president and Secretary-Treasurer of the Senior class were announced at Monday's meeting of the Student Council.

Alumni Day Features Game, Class Meetings, Alumni Council Meeting

The Bowdoin-Bates state series game was the highlight for a large crowd of returning alumni on Saturday. Alumni Day activities started with the Alumni Council meeting at 9:30 a.m.

Deadline Set For Seniors' Applications

The Bureau requests that registration forms be completed and returned to the Bureau as soon as possible in order that individual interviews can be conducted by the Director in the near future.

Two Speech Festivals Open To All Undergrads Announces Speech Dept.

Bowdoin students will have an opportunity to take part in two speech festivals in the coming months, the Speech Department announced today.

"Matchless Service"

Ford Sales and Service Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed USED CARS Maine's Most Modern Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop

WBOA Schedule, Nov. 5-11

Table listing radio broadcast schedules for WBOA from Thursday, Nov. 5 to Wednesday, Nov. 11, including programs like Sign On, Sports, and World News Roundup.

Students Now Offered Typing Course To Be Held At Brunswick High

A 30-hour non-credit typing course is being offered students according to an announcement by the in New England at Boston. Plans for the annual Religious Forum and conferences with other colleges will be discussed.

2000 HOMELESS... LINES DOWN. URGENT... REPAIR QUICKLY.

Advertisement for Bell Telephone System featuring a photograph of a damaged telephone exchange and text describing the impact of Gale winds and the urgency of repairs.

Faculty Approves Blanket Tax Committee Budget

Shows 900 Dollar Increase; Quill, Music Club Show Cut In Funds

The blanket tax committee has recommended appropriations for non-athletic college activities during 1953-54 were approved in a recent faculty meeting.

The organizations which received the most marked increase in their budget were the Masque and Gown and the Political Forum. Both these organizations received an increase of over 100 dollars above their last year's appropriation. WBOA, the Band, and the Student Council also received moderate increases in their proposed budgets.

The college's literary and musical organizations showed the most pronounced decrease from their previous budgets in their 1953-54 appropriations. The Quill budget, which was the most curtailed, showing a decrease of 120 dollars from its 1952-53 appropriation. The Glee Club and the Music Club also had their proposed expenses somewhat limited.

The blanket tax committee for this year includes the following faculty members: Morgan B. Cushing, Kenneth J. Boyer, Alton H. Gustafson, William S. Flash, Reinhold L. Korgen, Daniel K. MacFayden, John S. Sweet, and Adam Walsh; and the following Student Council members, David S. Rogerson '54, Charles W. Howard '54, and Charles E. Orcutt '54.

Blanket Tax Committee Statement

BLANKET TAX COMMITTEE
SUMMARY FOR 1952-1953

		Estimates For 1953-54		Actuals For 1952-53
		1954	1953	1954	1953
B.T. Fees, Fall, 1952 (764)	$11,075.10	$10,541.50	$10,875.00	$10,541.50	$10,150.00
B.T. Fees, Spring, 1953 (728)	1,541.50	790x$14.50	1,015.00	790x$14.50	1,015.00
Total Receipts for Year	21,616.60	21,025.00	21,025.00	21,025.00	21,025.00
Less B.T. Printing	30.55		30.55		30.55
Net Receipts for Year	21,586.05	20,994.45	20,994.45	20,994.45	20,994.45
Less Athletics — 50%	10,806.30	10,497.23	10,497.23	10,497.23	10,497.23
New Receipts — Non-Athletics	10,806.30	10,497.22	10,497.22	10,497.22	10,497.22
Add Balance Forward	1,253.05		2,428.06		2,428.06
Total	12,061.35	12,061.35	12,061.35	12,061.35	12,061.35
Less B.T. Printing	32.44		32.44		32.44
Total for Non-Athletics	$12,028.91	$12,028.91	$12,028.91	$12,028.91	$12,028.91
Total	21,586.05	21,025.00	21,025.00	21,025.00	21,025.00
Apprs. 1952-53	1952-53	1953-54	1953-54	1952-53	1952-53
Bowdoin Christian Association	$ 530.00	$ 237.75	$ 525.00	$ 530.00	$ 525.00
Bowdoin-on-the-Air	1,200.00	997.79	1,250.00	1,200.00	1,250.00
Bowdoin Publishing Co.	1,600.00	1,550.00	1,600.00	1,600.00	1,600.00
Band	375.00	382.25	400.00	375.00	382.25
Glee Club	2,022.00	1,906.51	2,000.00	2,022.00	2,000.00
Interfraternity Sing	50.00		50.00	50.00	50.00
Music Club	270.00	266.96	192.50	270.00	192.50
Debating Council	836.00	774.61	825.00	836.00	825.00
Quill & Gown	1,500.00	1,208.99	1,600.00	1,500.00	1,600.00
Musique	800.00	800.00	880.00	800.00	880.00
Political Forum	240.00	174.42	370.00	240.00	370.00
Rifle Club	275.00	275.00	275.00	275.00	275.00
Stunt Club	185.00	168.70*	155.00	185.00	155.00
Cheer Leaders	175.00	151.49*	176.00	175.00	176.00
White Key	450.00	445.24	460.00	450.00	460.00
Student Council	80.00	49.83	110.00	80.00	110.00
Student Curriculum Committee	36.50	5.31		36.50
Sailing Club Equipment	111.00	111.00		111.00
Camera Club			63.00		63.00
Totals	$10,625.50	$ 9,600.85	$10,781.50	$10,625.50	$10,781.50
Collections Not Apprd.	1,403.41	2,428.06	2,428.06	1,403.41	2,428.06
Balance Forward			2,428.06		2,428.06
Unappropriated Reserve			2,143.78		2,143.78
Totals To Balance	$12,028.91	$12,028.91	$12,028.91	$12,028.91	$12,028.91

*Accounts Overdrawn.

Professor Van Cleve Stresses Need For Continued Optimism, Hope

The feature speaker of today's Armistice Day exercises, Thomas Van Cleve, Professor of History and Political Science, stressed the need for continued optimism and hope in today's troubled world in his chapel talk.

Referring to the situation thirty-five years ago when events were equally disillusioning, Mr. Van Cleve declared that "it is fitting that Armistice Day should endure as an expression of a eternal will to peace." Concentrating on the present situation, he stated:

"It is the paradox of our present age that, while the free states of the world have advanced far in their acceptance of the principle that war is morally obsolescent, more than half of the world has yielded to an ideology antagonistic to the very code of ethics which has served through the centuries of the past to elevate humanity above the state of bestiality. Force, brutality, and deceit must necessarily be the attributes of such an ideology, finding justification in the fanatical principle that the end justifies the means. It is this paradox which compels us, even when every instinct and every national impulse urges us towards peace, to devote ourselves indefatigably to the preparations for defensive war.

"But it is the misfortune of the free states of the present day world to be confronted by a form of autocracy for more sinister, far less compatible with human dignity, far more degrading to the human mind an spirit, than any in the past history of the world. With such autocracy, disguised as it is in a cloak of communism, there can be no compromise, however great may be our will to peace. Short of absolute resistance, there remain to free nations only the alternative of submission or annihilation. War, alone, with all its hazards, may be the sole medium through which free men may hope to preserve the moral values which in some distant day may lead the world to peace under a

Hildreth Refunds Salary To Bucknell University; School Lauds Action

At a recent luncheon held for Bucknell alumni former Bucknell president, Horace A. Hildreth '25 stated that he would like to feel that he had "served without compensation at Bucknell."

"This means that the salary paid to Hildreth in the four years in which he served as the Bucknell President will be given back to the college by the Hildreths. An editorial in the Sunday Daily Item had this comment to make on the Hildreth refund.

"There seems to be little doubt, however, that the altruistic action of Dr. Horace A. Hildreth... in returning to the school all of the salary paid him during the past four years had a stronger impact upon the graduates, and all friends of Bucknell, than any group of orators who might have been called to the commencement platform.

"In the first instance no American college or university could afford to pay a man of Hildreth's caliber his full worth. A man who has achieved outstanding success in material sense, it now becomes apparent that he accepted the presidency of Bucknell as a labor of love. Turning back to the school all of the compensation he has received sealed a season of unselfish service that will always be classified as a contribution of inestimable worth to a great school.

"And the humility and sincerity which marked this gesture explained the credo of Horace Hildreth and his reasons for accepting a difficult assignment in the nation's diplomatic corps. If learning is caught rather than taught—and we believe that it is—Bucknell's retiring president has given the class of 1953 and all past and future Bucknellians a priceless example of how an effective, well-rounded life makes the best compromise.

Debate Forum Set For Dec. 12; 13 Schools To Compete For Prizes

On Saturday afternoon, December 12, the annual Bowdoin Inter-scholastic Debate Forum will be held in Sills Hall.

At least thirteen prep and high schools will participate in the program, debating on the policy of adopting a Federal retail sales tax.

Those schools which have already registered entries include the following:

Edward Little, Stephens High of Rumford, Laconia High School, Holderness School, Portland High, Lewiston High, Saint Dominic High School of Lewiston, Thornton Academy, Keene High School, of Keene, N.H., Deering High, Ashland High, South Portland High, and Sanford High.

As usual the contest has been divided into a Senior and a Novice Division; all schools have entered the Novice Division, and so far ten schools are in the Senior Division. These in turn have been split up into seven forums, which will be presided over and judged by various faculty members. President Coles will present a trophy to the winning school in each division, and certificates of commendation and participation will also be presented to those taking part.

As anyone who attended this forum last year will remember, it is not only entertaining but also interesting and informative; the Forum promises talks of the same high quality this year as in the past.

Ten Selected For Prize Speaking Contest In Keen Competition

Ten students have been selected as Alexander Prize Speakers for the finals to be held Monday, December 7 as a result of recent try-outs for this competition.

The committee, composed of trials that 25 men participated and competition was the keenest since World War II.

Those qualifying for the finals in which two prizes of $50 will be awarded include: William Beecher '56, Alfred Charles Darrope '57, Paul Albert DuRoi, Jr. '56, Walter Gideon Cans '57, Charles Norman Janson-LaPalme '55, Norman Louis Levy '57, Benjamin Guy Mead Priest '56, Camille Francis Sarrau '55, and Frederick Charles Wilkins '57. The alternate is Herbert Alan Miller '57.

Scholarship Notice

Notice — Application blanks for scholarship aid for the spring semester may be picked up at Mr. Wilder's office on or after Thursday, Nov. 12. They must be completed and returned on or before Monday, Nov. 23. Men to whom awards were made for the current semester need not reapply.

Kennett Clarifies ROTC Status; Students Ought To Receive Commissions

Recently there has been much discussion as to the position of each student enrolled in the advanced military science course. In an interview Colonel Walter H. Kennett explained to the best of his knowledge the position of all undergraduates enrolled in the advanced military science course.

Colonel Kennett said that the students who enrolled in the advanced course might not receive commissions. He explained that the Army did not want to fool anyone. However, he explained, if a student maintains a good status and good grades his chances for receiving a commission are greatly improved.

Air Force Credit

"The Army," said Colonel Kennett, "does not want to get into the unfortunate position the Air Force has. The Air Force, because of budget limitations, cannot guarantee the students enrolled in the course a commission. Due to quota limitations which are a result of the cut in their budget, many men might be enrolled in the course and then have to serve in a non-commission position upon graduation. The Army does not want this to happen."

The position of the ROTC in colleges now is no different than seven years ago, with one exception: the Army now requires each student to sign a paper acknowledging the fact that they might not receive a commission. The Army has never guaranteed a commission to anyone enrolled under the plan.

In order to increase the chances for each student's receiving a commission, the Army has placed quota limitations on men to be admitted into the advanced course. This is a question and answer period. It is not everyone enrolled in the advanced course that they can give commissions to at graduation. But even with the quota limitation not everyone can expect a degree from Bowdoin at the end of four years.

If a student maintains good grades and remains in good-standing with the college, the law, and the ROTC," explained Colonel Kennett, "he really should not worry about not receiving a commission. The Army is doing everything in its power to give commissions to all men enrolled in the advanced course, but the men themselves will have to meet the Army half way. A person who does nothing cannot expect to be a Second Lieutenant upon graduation."

Political Forum Will Sponsor Middle East Speaker This Week

Miss Myrtle Williams, from the American Friends of Middle East will be the speaker at the Political Forum meeting this Thursday at 8:15 in the Peucinian Room.

Miss Williams, who is Field Director of the Dept. of Student Affairs in the above organization, will discuss the Middle East question. Following the talk, there will be a question and answer period. All interested students are invited to attend.

On the following Thursday, November 19 at 8:00, the Political Forum will sponsor a group discussion among the Asian students at the College, with Professor Edwin B. Benjamin presiding. This meeting will be held in the Moulton Union Lounge. The topic for discussion will be "Nationalism in Asia."

BCA Meets; Plans New Meetings With Marriage Counsellor, Ministers

Thursday night, November 3, The Bowdoin Christian Association met in the Moulton Union.

The representatives of seven fraternities agreed on a meeting with Bates and Westbrook, attending a conference of the New England Student Christian Movement in Boston on December 4-6, sponsoring chapel speakers twice a month, holding a service in The First Parish Church on December 14th. A discussion with a marriage counsellor is planned for early January.

They decided to hold the Religion Forum on February 21. After voting on a denomination, the fraternities will be hosts to ministers of that faith and hold informal talks with them during their stay.

During the year the Association will hold discussions with various foreign students so they may understand more fully their particular faith. The B. C. A. has already sponsored a conference with Dean Hawley of the University of Chicago Divinity School on Friday, November 6.

Masque And Gown To Present Play In Union On November 16, 17

Don Carlo's new play, Fidelio N' Bella, which will be played for the first time in the Moulton Union, November 16 and 17, will be taken to Portland by the Masque and Gown for performance before the Workshop Group of the Port and Players and the Women's Literary Union at Frye Hall, on Monday, November 23.

This will be the first time since the war years, when the Masque and Gown provided entertainment for the Port and Players and the Women's Literary Union at Frye Hall, on Monday, November 23.

The Portland Players asked to see one of the first arena-style performances of the Masque and Gown. They suggested, and the act of a play was performed on them at the Portland Country Club. Since then, several Bowdoin actors have joined the organization, Oliver Wyman, '42, who acted in an arena-style Julius Caesar for the first time in the Union last winter and last summer went with their cast for a week's engagement at Kennebunkport.

Two Groups Are Hosts

Since the Portland Players theatre cannot be adapted to arena playing, they suggested to the Women's Literary Union, who have an excellent place for arena playing in Frye Hall, that the two organizations combine as hosts for the Bowdoin play. It is particularly fitting that the Literary Union should thus assist in the testing of a new play.

Director of Dramatics George H. Quinby recalls playing at Frye Hall in three plays during his undergraduate days, when the Masque and Gown toured its offerings through the State. At that time most performances were sponsored by local clubs as benefits to raise money rather than to bring new plays or new forms of staging to drama-lovers of the community.

In a showing of the Carlo play will be especially valuable as a test of the untried play, for the audience will be unaffected by previous knowledge of the author or actors. It is also valuable for actors to play before as many audiences as possible.

Coles Reveals Change In Scholarship Policy Of Regional Colleges

Scholarships at Bowdoin are awarded as "investments in the future" for able and needy students, rather than as prizes in "a give-away program," President James S. Coles declared today.

Speaking at Chapel on the subject "New Thinking on Scholarship," he described some of the complexities of current scholarship problems that concern top college administrators. He also reported that a recent meeting of the College Entrance Examination Board is to be undertaken by that agency in an effort to achieve greater uniformity in the application of university and college scholarship programs and to develop coordinating procedures for the current practice of "shopping" and other abuses that have crept into college life as a result of intense competition.

"At Bowdoin as well as elsewhere, scholarships pose many problems. We are aware of the keen competition for good students and the practice of shopping by parents seeking scholarship aid, although they are well able to pay a substantial portion, if not the entire cost, of their son's education. Our concept of scholarships is based on ability and need. Here at Bowdoin we do not regard scholarships as prizes without respect to need. A Faculty Committee administers our program by procedures that have been worked out through the experience of many years. In spite of these procedures we do not regard the soundness with which we regard them, we are concerned about the difficulties and abuses that exist."

"It is the desire of colleges to help every worthy student by scholarships, loans, and part-time jobs. In doing this we are not to this problem no attempt is made to restrict scholarship aid but rather to achieve equality and just distribution of the funds that are available. Bowdoin scholarships are considered an investment in the future, not a give-away program. No strings are attached, but most recipients want to help later as alumni, and they do help in many ways.

"As investments in the future, they are important in that scholarships uphold the ideal of democratic equality of opportunity. Here at Bowdoin any able and needy man can obtain scholarship assistance toward his college education, regardless of family background, economic status, race, religion, or creed."

Students Take Initiative In Discussing Hazing Problem

Totman And Rogerson Elected As Veep And Secretary-Treasurer

At a Senior class election held Tuesday, Melvin T. Totman and Dave Rogerson were chosen to fill the vacated offices of Vice President and Secretary - Treasurer, respectively.

The election was held after the Senior class had previously voted to elect acting officers for the posts formerly held by Herbert Cousins and Horace Hildreth, Jr. Totman and Rogerson will serve in these offices for the remainder of the year, at which time, the offices will revert back to their original occupants.

Totman, a member of Phi Upsilon, is President of his fraternity. He was co-captain of the football team, and a letterman in track.

Student Group Offers Full Report On Need Of Taking Hazing Action

Notwithstanding the purpose of our effort, which is to discover what the future may hold for us in so far as our associations with the college, the hazing problem, in particular, its principles — are concerned, our project cannot fairly be got under way without a few backward glances. It is here that this annual question of fraternity activity, especially hazing practices, takes its dimensions.

For years, certainly since the days of Phi Chi's inner ancient glory, the freshman entering Bowdoin has been faced with the job of becoming indoctrinated to the ways of the fraternity from which he has taken a pledge pin. The effort has been to ensure every new man's becoming as strong a member as possible. He has been shown how insignificant he is standing alone, yet how much respect he has in the presence of a unified whole. He is made to see the necessity of altering his own plans, of foregoing his own every desire, in order that his fraternity may operate smoothly. And probably most significant he soon discovers that this poor creature is against the idea of 'give and take', a fundamental principle of any society, and who then withdraws into his own sacred corner, and there to elect himself king of his one-man state. It is soon recognized that this hazing practice is neither acceptable to himself nor wanted by anybody else.

Unquestionably it is good that the new man get this picture. Unquestionably, too, hazing has been a detriment to the hazing situation itself. Sometimes upperclassmen have over indulged in applying the rod in their zeal to drive home the point. Witness the injury sustained by one of this year's freshmen, who, unwittingly at the time, was fellow to go out on a night walk to Hargswell though his leg was but three days out of a cast. On the whole, though, the picture has been slowly getting better. This fall's hazing program was more likely, came closer to accomplishing its mission than the one of a generation ago. Gone is the old freshman-sophomore football game on the Delta. Gone is the annual "Proclamation Night" in the gym where once freshmen, having shed their clothes and donned coats of grease, dashed the length of the building between two rows of sophomores armed with paddles. Gone is the Student Disciplinary Committee that used to retire to an upstairs room with a yawning yawn, and a heavy, heavy sigh, to hear the men of the spectacle of a hog-tied freshman being lowered by night from the fourth floor of Winthrop, mute testimony to the powers of Phi Chi.

All of which brings up the question of the hour. Why get hot and bothered about this item of institution stunts and practices? Was it not just admitted that the trend has steadily been for the better? And was not this fall's program pretty well handled? Accidents happen anywhere. The man injured might as well have fallen out of his chair while sitting out the walk, and fractured his spine!

The queries are well taken. Certainly the practice is better regulated now than it has ever been. In fact, if the old gauges were used, we probably deserve commendation for our efforts to keep the activity within bounds. If the old rate that with which progress had to be made is fact, if the old gauges used, we probably deserve commendation for our efforts to keep the activity within bounds.

Standards Have Changed

But the trouble seems to be that the old measures no longer fit the "Scholarships, as awarded at Bowdoin, assure that we will always have well-trained leaders for the free man's way of life. Such leaders know from personal experience the fruits of the democratic form of our social order."

Frosh Hazing Problem Discussed By Voluntary Student Group And Coles

Two weeks ago a group of Bowdoin students, concerned with the matter of freshman hazing, met informally with President Coles to discuss the problem. The question of possible forthcomer action from the administration received attention.

The group, representing no campus organization, elected on its own initiative to meet with the President. The discussion disclosed a number of significant points. Administration's Position Directed President Coles emphasized the fact that certain fraternity activities have placed the administration in an almost untenable position. Particularly the publicity associated with these practices has been detrimental to those people who are now working to increase the respect accorded the college from outside.

Questions and walks have recently attracted substantial attention. Alumni and faculty have for some time been strongly advocating the end of these two practices, along with an abolishing of similar ones.

In addition, it was pointed out to the group that it is becoming increasingly difficult for the administration to sanction this type of activity, mainly because of the risk involved. It was admitted that no real mishaps have yet occurred. Still the possibilities of an accident's taking place remain undiminished. The repercussions that would certainly follow an accident involving hazing are steadily becoming more serious.

Revisions Expected

No definite statement was forthcoming out of the discussion. However, it was intimated that revisions of a fairly extensive nature are soon to be expected.

The possibilities of student-initiated action aimed at removing some of the more objectionable features of hazing were mentioned by a student. The President thought it likely that if this were to happen, the administration would be in a better position to recognize continued student activity and other fraternity regulations.

The talk disclosed enough to lead the student to a continuation of the investigation. His report appears in full in this issue of the ORIENT.

Purpose of Report

The purpose of the report, as explained by one of its authors, is to present the background material of the hazing situation with an eye to promoting general undergraduate discussion. No specific proposals are made.

An undergraduate committee is presently being formed. Every fraternity is to be represented by two or more of its members. Here proposals are to be advanced and coordinated preparatory to carrying recommendations for action to the houses. Through the committee, men in the college are to be able to express their opinions on the matter.

Band Concludes Season At Maine; Gets Extensive Praise From Many

The Bowdoin band concluded its football game performances in excellent fashion at Orono, culminating in the aggregation's acclaim by everyone as one of the best in Bowdoin's history.

This season several new members were added to the band's repertoire. Under the direction of Bill Curran the band did fine jobs on "The Bear Barrell Polka," "Stormy Weather," and occasional spontaneous uprisings of "The Saints." Examples of ingenuity in their repertoire was their rendition of "The Band Played On," more popularly known as "Casey," in honor of the President Emeritus.

Tillotson Praises

Professor Frederic E. T. Tillotson speaks only words of praise concerning the performance of the band. He said, "The band is the best in my recollection. The whole College is proud of the manner in which the band handled itself, especially at the Bates and Maine games."

Professor Tillotson stated that President Emeritus Kenneth C. M. Sills, Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick, and the presidents of two other colleges have praised the band extensively. In addition, the Professor cited the work of Director Curran and Manager Starkweather and Kushner's trumpet playing.

The band members are:

Drummers: David B. Strickwelter '55, William F. Hoffman '54, Morton L. Warren '56, Kevin G. Sullivan '57, Price H. Green, Jr. '56, Edward F. Parsons '57, Earl F. Strout '56; Trumpets: Donald M. Coleman '55, Robert C. Wilcox '54, Robert N. Thurston '54, James F. Kushner '57, Eugene M. Wheeler '57, Richard F. Merritt '56, Dwight L. Eaton '57; Trombones: Ernest G. Flint, Jr. '56, George T. Davis '57, Grayton F. Lombard '57, Alfred R. Haller '53, James I. Boudreau '57, John T. Prutalis '56; Euphonium: Julian W. Powell '55; Saxophone: Walter C. Tomlinson, Jr. '55, Robert E. Catlin '54, John S. Shepard III '56; Drums: Kenneth B. Miller '54, Edward O. Fisk '57, Herbert A. Urweider '54, Charles A. Chapman '54; Bass: John W. '56; Cymbals: Peter C. T. Wranthall '55; Bass: John K. Humphrey '57, Harold E. Penderix, Jr. '56; Glockenspiel: Peter K. Holmes '56; Director: William E. Curran '53.

Mr. Checkers Makes Initial Appearance On Bowdoin Campus

Mr. Thomas Wisw-'ll, commonly known as "Mr. Checkers" opposed twenty-eight simultaneously at checkers and chess in the Moulton Union lounge on the evening of Tuesday, November 10.

After his exhibition at Bowdoin Wisw'll went to Orono where he was made an appearance at the University of Maine the following night. He then returned to New York.

Complete Text Of Report By Student Group Instigating Action On Hazing

[Continued From Page 1] the administration would allow. People as a whole had little at stake in colleges; if men wanted to make foot of themselves nobody suffered except the participants. The college as a whole went its own way, so did the country...

desirable ranks, have recently been subject to a pretty blistering indictment. The technical preparatory schools — engineering and medical in particular — have been able to account for their position suitably. In short, so their argument has run, this is an age of science and technology...

What better than the spectacle of nine freshmen chained to the state house fence in Boston could feed these growing doubts? What better than the recent mishap at a college in Tennessee — a freshman, carrying out a hazing routine under the supervision of upperclassmen sustained an injury that caused his death seventy-two hours later — could broadcast the idea that elements of self-regulation, public respect, and general concern for the other fellow are not to be found in colleges where such hazing is sanctioned? What could better justify these questions directed at liberal arts colleges than publication of a letter like the one from the President of Wellesley College to the President of Bowdoin which deplored the existence of fraternities, as far as their inability to keep quiet objectives within reasonable bounds is concerned.

On our part, of course, it is first of all to be said that pranks such as these do not in any way indicate our ability to gear our individual and collective conduct towards that required by the times. We can say "if we want to, we can stop this anytime. However, there is no point in it. If the public can't laugh at a good joke as it has for years for those engaged by undergraduates of past classes, then too bad for the public. If the spectacle of freshmen making tracks out of Boston Common, clutching a pair of pigeons, is not good for a chuckle outside the college, then again so much the worse for the outside world. We have as much right as they did to cut loose once in a while, especially if we are careful to protect life and property. Mishaps of the Tennessee type are exception rather than the rule. Accidents will happen anywhere. Besides we are careful to guard against such tragedies occurring here."

But again the outside world speaks to refute our argument. It doesn't seem to make much difference outside our walls that these stunts are really harmless; it doesn't do much good to explain occasional mishaps by saying they are exceptions rather than the rule; it doesn't help much to tell people that we are not here for a good time. The occasional unfortunate incident is the one that makes the headlines. It is the one whose headlines question the privilege of a liberal arts education grasp hold of and make hay with. This is the story, altered a little each time it is repeated but constant in its damaging effect, that becomes the subject of discussion by many groups; from tax payers who are helping to support the institution in question to parents trying to get their son out of a college for their son or daughter. The damage is done when a single, well intentioned prank backfires. It takes only a little foolishness to make people wonder whether it is true that beneath it all we are engaged in a pretty serious business. It takes but one twist of the screw in the wrong direction — the Tennessee incident, the Worcester Polytech riot — to make outsiders doubt us when we tell them we are exercising now a good deal of self regulation. It is only then that certainly we would be able to accept all the responsibilities that are to fall upon us later on.

Colleges No Longer Isolated In other words, the days of the isolated college community have passed. Secondary education has become a major factor in the American picture on the grounds that it has an important part to play. Technological schools have the job of developing men skilled in scientific work. They are doing this. Liberal arts colleges have the specific task of developing practically persons to take over the reins of business, government and education.

To the extent that the small, private liberal arts college accomplishes this mission, its position is not so bad as it appears. It is in fact, in a way, in a position of falling short, its position is jeopardized. And when this shortcoming appears in the form of student conduct not becoming to the end towards which these men are supervised, the legitimate question of whether this type of institution has a justifiable place in the present day picture. If those matriculating seem unaware of the fact that certain obligations go along with the privilege of furthering education, if to the contrary they are taking the undue advantage of the time, then it may well be surmised that perhaps these educational opportunities should be placed where those who partake can use them more respectfully. The trend towards the liberal state-aided, more functional institutions does not refute the above observation.

Mention of this trend brings us to another aspect of the change from the independent college community to the climate of public opinion. And this is the matter of finances. Operating costs, not just of the college but of any business, have risen tremendously in the past twenty years. At Bowdoin salaries have gone up, faculty retirement funds have been increased, construction costs have more than doubled; maintenance expenses have risen, to say nothing of the incidentals — books, food, rooms, fuel. Also the administration has increased in size. For instance, an assistant to the bursar and a vice president have been added in our time.

The inference here is not that we need today more good horse sense but simply that the relationship of college to the world outside was one of each minding its own business, letting the other do what it wanted.

One of the most powerful ones has been a disclosure of the long term needs of the country in so far as leadership is concerned. A responsible, broadminded, level-headed group of citizens must at all times be active in society, say the liberal arts advocates, else at some future date the moral strength, political integrity, and social objectives of this state will be lost. These elements of leadership and citizenship, of tolerance and downright common sense are instilled into the student of liberal arts. While he is grinding away at languages, the social sciences, art, etc., he is ostensibly forming a picture of the why and wherefore of group living. He has a chance to see the mistakes of history, the wisdom of the ancients, the order of science and the harmony of art.

But as these ideals, these values, things that your students are really getting out of college? Or are your students pretty largely devoting themselves to the immediate, as it concerns them individually? Are they not in college (1) to have the good times that go with campus life, (2) to get the inside track on a better paying job, and (3) to escape the clutches of their draft board, either in order

The financial situation The net result can be seen quickly by comparing the fiscal position of the college in 1940 with the way it stands in 1953. For the year 1940-41, total college income exceeded expenditures by $11,123.

For the year 1952-53, expenditures exceeded income by $68,527. It is often stated that the increase in the endowment fund in the past twelve years has helped the position of the college. However, the figures are somewhat deceiving. The fund itself cannot be dipped into except in an emergency. It is only the interest from it that swells the income of the college. Hence an increase in the fund of $3,703,169 since 1940 has boosted the income by some $185,000. And during this same time operating costs have risen more than $300,000.

There are though new sources to be tapped. One of the most important is large industry. More and more colleges are driving home to industrial officials the idea that the latter have a good investment in the educational system of the country. For quite some time, in fact, corporations have aided scientific institutions, for here has been their assurance of a good supply of well trained technologists.

The same need for a solid reputation exists with regard to the public in general. Small colleges are more and more arguing before state legislatures for tax exemptions. But legislators are likely to be even more susceptible to rumors, to this type of propaganda, and to give publicity and achieves notoriety, than are businessmen. They are all to prone to take the exception for the rule.

The alternatives to increased financial assistance either from industry, state, or through an increase in tuition is a gradual shift away from the small, private college towards the large, public institution. Large student bodies make for less expensive, mass-production techniques and at the same time for education without frills, education devoted strictly to business. It is the extras, the intimate outside-classroom associations that make life on a "Bowdoin campus" must maintain good faculty.

College Responsibility Increased The picture today, however, is anything but one of independence. Institutions of learning have become focal points in the American social and economic pattern. Men and women from practically all walks of life now have the opportunity to further their education. Background no longer is the sole criteria for learning, though it may determine what particular institution a person attends. Certainly this increase in attendance has increased the responsibility of colleges towards the needs and problems of American society.

At the same time, business has been placing an increasingly high premium, with respects to job applicants, upon the possession of a college degree. The teaching profession, government service, some of the better armed services positions, to say nothing of industrial management or industrial public relations positions — all of these require the degree. So here is the second factor in the new relationship. It is hard to conceive of the public taking a detached attitude towards the practices and objectives of colleges when they have so great an investment in them.

Thirdly, there is the simple fact that a citizen today more and more needs the background obtained through a study of liberal arts. He needs this background in order to carry out effectively his obligations as an active member of a democratic society. All too often in this day and age the attitude of unconcern crops up among potentially capable individuals. Concern for one's individual security seems to be holding first place; group participation, second place. Now it may be that this watching out for one's own interests is a necessary and inevitable product of the times. Perhaps one court disaster in 1953 when he begins to neglect his personal concern. But a certain amount of concern over the operation of our government must remain, for if there is one lesson in all history it is the fact that governments will not long work to protect any interests that do not, in return, make an effort to maintain it.

College Responsibility Increased The upshot of all this is that the increasing complexity of our national state, together with its increasing areas of control, is making the task of the voter and the office holder increasingly difficult. To refuse to make an effort to stay with this complex organization, to understand its workings, is to court disaster. And certainly one of the primary jobs of secondary education is to acquaint those who partake of it with some of the factors of this picture, if not directly, then through an acquaintance with the deeper processes of reason, logic, and thought. Here again, colleges have adopted a responsibility; they cannot throw it off.

Nor for another reason is a student body free to draw up its own standards of conduct without taking into account the pulse of popular opinion. This matter of draft deferment has changed the degree of independence colleges can exercise. "Why," people ask, "should continuation of secondary education entitle a man to temporary respite from the unpleasantness of two years of military service when another man, possessing as it were no fewer privileges as far as gifts from the Government are concerned, have to serve an immediate term of duty? And why, too, should men in college have an opportunity to fulfill this military obligation as officers rather than as enlisted men?"

The gap between lieutenant and private, with respect to pay, privileges, and general living comfort, is so great that colleges, insofar as they offer a way towards the more

Which brings us to the second issue of the day, namely, what have we to gain immediately by embarking on this crusade for the good name of the college. Admittedly, the answer is, yes and no. If we carry through with the idea, we will not be given shorter exam periods. There will hardly be excused cuts granted everybody on all football weekends. Neither will the fact that the college would be strengthened if we govern our actions so as to indicate: (1) that we are aware of the obligations confining us as members of the college community; (2) that we are cognizant of the fact that colleges are now too much a part of the American picture to warrant complete undergraduate independence; (3) that we do recognize education of this type as a privilege that cannot be acknowledged by irresponsible — granting all this, must we suffer now in order to carry out these principles ourselves? Must we enter into one sided bargains with the administration? Must we surrender our rights for the overall well-being of the college?

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT Vol. LXXVIII Wednesday, November 11, 1953 No. 18 Editor-in-Chief Wallace R. Harper '53 Managing Editor John B. Goodrich '55 News Editors David R. Anderson '55 Richard M. Cataiano '55 Edward N. Cotter '56 Thomas L. Spence '57 Sports Editor Robert M. Hurst '54 Assistant Sports Editor Ronald Goltz '56 Photographers James P. Gaston '54 Staff John M. Belka '54 Donald W. Blodgett '54 James L. Doherty '55 George L. Rockwood '56 Benjamin G. M. Priest '56 H. Edward Born '57 Francis M. Kinnely '57 Edward R. Williams '57 Stanton I. Moody '57 David G. Lavender '55 Thomas R. Merrill '57 Franklin G. Davis '54 William G. Foster '57 Peter Schmatzer, Jr. '57 Edward P. Rockwood '57 John Ranlett '57 Vincent S. Villard, Jr. '57 Thomas L. Spence '57 John R. Withers '57 Richard B. Lyman '57 Saul M. Cohen '57 William C. Cooke '57 Business Manager Bruce N. Cooper '54 Assistant Business Managers James A. Cook '54 Advertising Manager Peter M. Pirnie '55 Harry G. Carpenter '57 Peter F. Gass '57 C. Richard Thurston '54 Circulation Manager Harold R. Beacham, Jr. '56 Business Assistants David H. Dott '57 Peter F. Gass '57 BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY Directors.....Professor Athern P. Daggett, Professor Philip M. Brown, Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilley '54, Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55, Charles Ranlett '54. PUBLISHED WEEKLY WHEN CLASSES ARE HELD DURING THE FALL AND SPRING SEMESTERS BY THE BOWDOIN COLLEGE. ADDRESS ALL NEWS CORRESPONDENCE TO THE EDITOR AND SUBSCRIPTION COMMUNICATIONS TO THE BUSINESS MANAGER OF THE BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY AT THE COLLEGE HOUSE, BOWDOIN COLLEGE, BOWDOIN, MAINE. ESTABLISHED 1827. SECOND CLASS MATTER AT THE POST OFFICE AT BOWDOIN, MAINE. THE SUBSCRIPTION RATE FOR ONE YEAR IS THREE DOLLARS.

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it... Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money. TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS The Record Office Paul E. Niven Jerry Wilkes • Printers Of The Orient •

LAMP SHADES Of Better Quality All Sizes Trewarthy Furniture Co. 11 Pleasant Street

How the stars got started... MARGE and GOWER CHAMPION FAMOUS DANCING STARS... WE TEAMED UP WITH CAMELS AFTER TRYING OTHER BRANDS... Start smoking Camels yourself! Smoke only Camels for 30 days and find out why Camels are first in mildness, flavor and popularity! See how much pure pleasure a cigarette can give you!

Student Patronage Solicited First National Bank Brunswick, Maine Member of the Federal Reserve System and Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation GET READY FOR WINTER N-1 Type Jackets Made of heavy government Aleutian cloth lined with warm alpaca pile. 12.98 & 14.98 Phil's Surplus Store 78 Maine Street Brunswick

Rain, Mud And Maine Halt Polar Bears, 35-7; Totman Romps 93 Yards

Vince Calenda is shown powering his way through the Bowdoin line for Maine's first score. Calenda scored two of Maine's five touchdowns. Maine's ground attack was instrumental in defeating Bowdoin.

Cecelski Sparks Defense With Goldstein And Testa

Maine, Led By Calenda And Golden, Captures Second Crown In Three Years

The cold rain, muddy field, and the Maine football team were too much for Bowdoin last Saturday, at Alumni Field in Orono. A crowd of 9800 sturdy fans sat through the deluge as the Black Bears forced the Polar Bears to turn tail, 35-7.

For Maine, ballcarriers Vince Calenda and Ernie Smart each scored twice. Calenda seemed unhampered by the playing conditions and was magnificent on offense. Tom Golden played a superb game at guard, and also booted the five extra points.

Mel Totman took Golden's kick-off on his own 7, speeded to midfield, cut to his left, and picked his way to the goal line. Good blocks by Coukos and Farrington helped pave the path, but it was Mel's run all the way. Cosgrove's placement was good.

Maine quickly retaliated when Bogdanovich took a Novick lateral, faded, and passed to end Ken Woodsum. Ken made a fine catch on the 20 and sprinted the remaining distance to the goal.

Jack Cosgrove starting a 25-yard punt runback, in one of the better displays of power by Bowdoin. Shown also are John Small (31) and Steve Novick (42) attempting to bring the Bowdoin quarterback down.

ARU's, Kappa Sigs, Zetes, Dekes Gain Right To Compete In Football Play-Offs

The ARU's, Kappa Sigs, Zetes, and Dekes gained the top positions in their leagues and thus won the right to enter the play-offs this week.

The winner of the play-offs will travel to Waterville Saturday to oppose the best of the Colby fraternity football teams. The ARU's and Kappa Sigs capped the honors in League "A", by winding up in a first place tie, while the Zetes led League "B", and the Dekes were runner-ups.

The Psi U's and ATO's, and the Psi U's beat the TD's. The AD's finished the season with three successive victories and would have figured more prominently in the league had they got off to a more auspicious start this fall. The play of Bill Sands, Gene Helsel, and Dave Rogerson should not go unmentioned, as they all played aggressive ball throughout the year for the AD's. Helsel received a blinding wound in the Psi U struggle and was left incapacitated for the ATO game. The Psi U's in their 20-15 victory over the Delta Sigs were paced by the efforts of Ronny English and Dave Coleman.

The Zetes split the two games they played last week. In a stunning upset, the Zetes with a tremendous comeback defeated the Zetas 21-20. The Zetes under the able wing of Bob Hazard took to air and scored twice in the first five minutes. From thereon, through the complexion of the whole game changed as the Zetas took charge with Ken Miller, Terry Stenberg, and Ben Ford inspiring them to their unprising and unexpected win. The Zetes in their other game of the week easily took advantage of the Dekes' mistakes to swamp the second place team 26-13. This game didn't have much significance "A", the AD's rolled overance in the final standings of League "B", since the Dekes backed into a play-off spot as the TD's blew their chances to enter the post season competition by losing to the surprisingly strong Betas.

Final League Standings

League "A"		League "B"
Team	W L	Team	W L
ARU	5 1	Zeta Psi	4 1 0
Kappa Sigma	5 1	DKI	3 2 1
AD	4 2	BETA	3 2 0
Delta Sigma	3 2 1	TD	2 2 1
Psi U	2 4	Sigma Nu	2 3 0
ATO	1 5	Independents	0 5 0
Chi Psi	1 5

Maine Statistics

Stat	Maine	Bowdoin
First Downs	8	9
Yards, Rush	281	185
Yards, Pass	35	47
Net, Rush	246	158
Net, Pass	56	37
Net, Rush	302	141
Passes Tried	5	16
Complete	2	1
Incomplete	3	15
Intercepted	0	0
Penalties, Yards	10	15

After Golden's kickoff, Jack Cosgrove punted to the Maine 39. The Black Bears couldn't gain either side of the 10 yard line, and on the 24. Once again Cosgrove kicked out. This time Vince Calenda took it on his own 35 and ran it back 38 yards. On the next play he went around left end for 21 yards to the White 7. At this point it looked like the Maine power was on its way, but Art Cecelski and company held and took over on the 7. Bowdoin couldn't penetrate and punted to the Bowdoin 32. Maine scored the first touchdown in four plays. Calenda juggled for 29 before Totman got him, then the 175-pound senior went through his left side for the remaining 3 yards. With Calenda holding, Golden kicked his first five placements.

As the quarter ended Bowdoin was in the midst of a 31 yard drive to the Maine 25. The deepest the Bowdoin team was able to penetrate all afternoon. Maine took over on the 25 and once again they took four plays to reach the goal. Calenda ran 44 yards to the White 44 before Testa hauled him down. Totman stopped Bowdoin's drive and the 175-pounder hit Calenda for a 1 yard loss. Then, on third down, Calenda went around left end for 25 yards and the score. Golden made it 14-0.

Calenda carried only three times in the second half, and for a total loss of 11 yards. Bogdanovich was a general handyman — he carried, punted, and passed with success.

This was the final game for some outstanding seniors. In the backfield Bowdoin loses co-captains Jack Cosgrove and Melvin Totman; in the line end Bud Atkins, tackle John Friedlander, and guards Al Farrington and Gerry Goldstein will be missed by coach Adam Walsh.

Powerful Exeter Aggregation Overcomes Polar Cubs 37-0 In Final Game Of Season

A hard-running attack from a huge Exeter team completely overwhelmed the Polar Cubs 37-0 in their final 1953 encounter before a shivering crowd at Pickard Field on Friday.

Although the frosh outgained the visitors through the air, racked up almost as many first downs, and suffered far fewer penalties, they could never stop or even slow down Exeter's mighty running bombardment which grounded out no less than 343 yards, mostly on long runs through the helpless Bowdoin defense.

For some of the Bowdoin frosh, this was their last game before they would be varsity performers. Coach Frank Sabastanski selected the following to comprise the starting Bowdoin lineup: Al Lanes, right end; Dave Watson, right tackle; Skip Connert, right guard; Art Perry, center; Bob Poulos, left guard; Dick Armstrong, strong left tackle; Tom Morrison, left end; Dick Drenzek, quarterback; Mike Coster, right halfback; Dick Smith, left halfback; and Logan Hardie, fullback.

Exeter wasted no time in displaying their talents. On the second play from scrimmage after a very poor kickoff, Rod Conway skirted his own left end behind effective blocking and was never stopped, making the score 6-0. A stiff Polar Cub defense checked the powerful visitors until midway in the second quarter. Then Exeter smashed through its fifteen to the Bowdoin six, where the frosh forward wall stiffened until Exeter lost the ball on downs with two inches to go. Bowdoin immediately punted, but a good return and 14-yard pass play from Willard Linscott to Captain Gordon Smith resulted in another Exeter tally.

Exeter's Tom Mense raced 33 yards for the next score behind strong interference.

Another frosh fumble was responsible for the Exeter TD which soon followed. Bowdoin had moved down to the Exeter 27 in their strongest drive up to this point when the misplay occurred. Conway and Mense alternated on the ground, while quarterback Bud Stover sneaked over from the one yard line to make the score a lopsided 24-0. Exeter continued its powerhouse play throughout the final twelve minutes, one on an 86-yard run by Mense, and the other on a 30-yard aerial from Stover to Smith. Here Bowdoin made its only sustained drive of the dreary afternoon. Starting from the Bowdoin 32, Drenzek ably directed the play down the field until the Polar Bears were within eight yards of pay dirt. At this point a lateral from ace halfback Dick Smith to Mike Coster on which the latter actually crossed the goal line was ruled forward and the frosh were penalized back to the 23, from which point a barrage of passes fell incomplete.

Final State Series Standings

Team	W	L	T
Maine	3	0	1.000
Bowdoin	2	1	.667
Colby	1	2	.333
Bates	0	3	.000

POLAR BEARINGS

On display in the foyer of Hubbard Hall this week is an exhibit which is aptly titled "Manuscript to Market". As one might suppose, the display is concerned with the publication of a book. Beginning with the typewritten manuscript as submitted by the author to her publisher, the many and varied phases of publishing, which ultimately terminate in the bound edition for the market, have been arranged in climactic order.

Far too few people realize and appreciate the time consuming and expensive phases involved in publishing, and it, therefore, is the hope and aim of the library to graphically acquaint the student body with the process.

The works of two eminent American artists are currently being displayed in the Boyd Gallery of the Walker Art Museum.

The wall-showing features selections from the collection of watercolor by Arthur K.D. Healy. The paintings in this group are New England inspired and have proved to be quite popular. In fact, two works by Healy may be found in the home-of-President and Mrs. Coles. It seems that the artist is a friend of the Coles from the days when they were connected with Middlebury College.

The other group being shown in the gallery is by America's foremost Indian Artist, Woody Crumb. Included in his truly handsome collection are action prints of native Indian Dances and wildlife of the American plains.

Most all grown only when permanently submerged in water.

Hubbard Library And Art Building Feature Exhibitions, Paintings

With football season at its end, basketball practice under the direction of Coach Eddie Coombs has begun, with the varsity hoping to improve on last year's mediocre campaign.

Coombs has nucleus of five lettermen, including Captain Bill Fraser, Phil Day, Jim Flacker, Johnny Marr, and George Mitchell. Gone are Walt Bartlett, Mickey Weiner, Bob Brown, and Louis Audet. The latter, however, is rendering valuable service as Coombs' sixth both varsity and frosh until he graduates in February. Audet has used up his eligibility.

More Depth, Better Balance. While it is still much too early to determine how the squad will turn out, Coach Coombs expects to have more depth and better balance than last year. There's some promising sophomore material available in Ron Golt, Rollie Janelle, John Krider, John Libby, Harlan Prater, Ed Kenney, and Perry Allen. The last-named player is the only real tall man on the squad at 6 feet 6 inches.

Team To Be Taller. While there are no giants available, the team as a whole is taller than a year ago. Golt at 6 feet 2, Prater at 6 feet 3 1/2, and Libby at 6 feet 6 will help cut in this oft-decided department.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE IS NOW UNDER WAY; COOMBS SEES MORE DEPTH, BALANCE

Bill Fraser, who was the leading scorer last year, measures 6 feet 5.

To Play Two Newcomers. On the Bowdoin schedule there appears two newcomers, Brantley and Coast Guard. The balance of the schedule is unchanged, including three games with each of the Maine colleges, as well as single games with New Hampshire, Clark, Trinity, Amherst, Williams, MIT, and Tufts, for a total of 18.

Schedule Listed. The schedule follows:

Date	Opponent	Location
Dec. 2	New Hampshire (H)	Clark (A)
Dec. 4	Clark (A)	Trinity (A)
Dec. 5	Bates (H)	Maine (H)
Dec. 9	Bates (H)	Colby (A)
Dec. 12	Maine (H)	Amherst (H)
Dec. 16	Colby (A)	Bates (A)
Jan. 8	Colby (H)	Colby (H)
Jan. 13	Bates (A)	Maine (H)
Jan. 16	Colby (H)	Williams (H)
Jan. 19	Maine (H)	MIT (A)
Feb. 13	Williams (H)	Brantley (A)
Feb. 15	MIT (A)	Coast Guard (H)
Feb. 19	Coast Guard (H)	Tufts (H)
Feb. 20	Colby (A)	Colby (A)
Feb. 24	Maine (A)	Bates (H)
Mar. 2	Bates (H)

Outfitters To Bowdoin, Men

A SWEATER Of Pure Cashmere And Luxurious Lamb's Wool

The blending of silk-soft cashmere and luxurious lamb's wool — results in a sweater that in appearance and feel has all the luxuriousness of all cashmere — but lamb's wool adds wearing qualities not expected of pure cashmere. Full fashioned for Benoit by Glasgo — in gray and tan heather — and most reasonably priced at $14.95.

Benoit's

MAINE STREET PHONE 200 BRUNSWICK

Most lobsided score of the week: Upsilon 67-Brooklyn College 0.

Merrymeeting Gift Shop
185 Park Row
Greeting Cards --- Gifts
Free Gift Wrapping

BOWL-MOR Alleys
AUTOMATIC PIN SETTERS
Hot Dogs
Italian Sandwiches
Cold Drinks
Coffee
Ice Cream
Operated by At Tobey, Class of '50

Gym Equipment

Gym Pants	1.50
Sneakers	3.15
Socks	.95
Supporters	.95
Sweatshirts	2.45 & 2.95
Fraternity T-Shirts	1.50

MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE

Immediate Student Action Needed In Reaching Hazing Agreement

(Continued from Page 2)
We are granted directly more social freedom. The penalties for over-indulgence of either wine or women will not be made less severe.

The gain to us as fraternity men, while less tangible, will probably be more significant than any of these bargained concessions. We will be ahead because our position will be strengthened, because the existence of fraternities on campus will not seem to run counter to the purposes of liberal arts education.

How does this help us?
The reasons offered earlier show how dependent the college is upon a favorable public opinion. The administration that measures restricting some of our practices must be expected. The damage done by seemingly harmless hazing practices plus the very serious repercussions that may follow from an injury sustained by a man engaged in a hazing project make it literally impossible for the administration to continue to approve these practices. At this stage of the game, it is utter foolishness for any fraternity to assume their present status to be unchangeable.

Turning Point
We are at a turning point insofar as the indiscriminate conduct of our affairs is concerned. Regardless of how we may personally feel on the matter, steps will very soon be taken. The action promises to be drastic. The news may come from the president that guests and walks must go if a willingness to consider all aspects of hazing does not soon become evident. At any rate, we cannot afford to overlook the possibility of complete control by the college of all hazing practices, from beginning to end.

Our chance to gain something out of the fact that the administration is preparing to move, is because it finds the practices in question distasteful, but because the evident and possible repercussions following the practices as they are carried on now are too great to permit any further sanction. An estimate of 1500 men in the college accepted each fall by freshmen. The chances of a mishap are slim, but the law of averages sooner or later catches up. Our past experience with hitch-hiking has been good. However, the statistics on the practice do not move, in the opinion that "hitching rides" is either very safe or profitable. And when the fates conspire to make the slim chance occur, all hell will break loose.

It will certainly be pointed out that hazing is of questionable value, that the man involved should have been elsewhere, devoting himself to a more sensible project, doing what he was sent to college to do. Then eyes will shift to another phase of the picture. The question will be asked, "who sent this man out on the road?" The answer first will be that the fraternities did so. Another mark is chalked up against them.

Administration Problem
Then attention will be focused upon the administration. Here is a college where 90 percent of the student body belongs to fraternities. The college relies on fraternities to feed and to provide room facilities for the greater part of its undergraduates. The college could not operate without the houses. Therefore it must approve of them. It must recognize the practices and stand behind them should anything go wrong. The administration, therefore, assumes full responsibility for all fraternity action and hence, for anything that comes as a result of their openly declared policies. The fact that the houses are privately owned is not significant. Ultimate authority for regulation of undergraduate practices must rest with the administration. Irrespective of the fraternity situation here in Brunswick, Bowdoin's dependence on fraternity facilities is unusually great — the administration would be required to answer for any recognized student activity.

And very simply, with public opinion turning further and further away from the out-dated activity of hazing, with people more and more concerned about the practical objectives of college, to say nothing of the financial and financial need of the college for a favorable climate of public opinion, the administration can no longer risk even the slim chance of disaster. Therefore it is preparing to do something.

If the student body itself can show that it is both aware of this problem and willing to do something about it, then the possibilities of an "axing" conducted by the administration will certainly be forestalled and perhaps eliminated. And the advantages of internal control are significant. If, as we go about the project, we show a definite concern about our position as college students, if we evidence a positive desire to make our undergraduate activities agree with the more serious purposes of the liberal arts, if we can get rid of all questionable activities which no longer exist. The important point is to align our position with the one the public feels we should have. When this occurs there will be no longer exist the necessity of ending every questionable practice. When, and if, the undergraduates themselves make the attempt to justify their practices, make an attempt themselves to decrease the chances of accident, then many of our borderline projects could be sanctioned by the college.

Should Guests Go
In an antagonistic atmosphere, where fraternity men dig in to resist any change, the administration will have to insure itself against unfortunate accidents, if not thereby against the wave of resistance which may follow, by ending all practices that today are not justified and sustained by the general public. However, amid a favorable student atmosphere, the good intention of which is indicated by a willingness of undergraduates to give up certain of the more objectionable and precarious practices — specifically guests and walks — then the administration would respect student consideration of other practices first that with a student body, aware of the obligations imposed upon it, exercising a restraining hand, the probability of unfortunate incidents cropping up as a result of the remaining borderline practices would be vastly diminished. Secondly, they could assume that even if trouble should occur in this area certain things would be evident: (1) that the men in the college had shown a definite intention to reconcile their conduct with their position as the responsible leaders of tomorrow, and (2) that an attempt from within had been made to justify those remaining practices. This would go a long way towards refuting any charges from the outside indicting either the college for failure to exercise authority or the student body for lack of responsibility.

Prompt student action on the problem of walks and guests would logically be the first step toward continued undergraduate supervision of fraternity activities. And of course if this end could be accomplished we would be way ahead of the game. We have a lot to gain by moving first on our own, and conversely, little to lose. The administration has indicated to this committee that such is the case.

No Compromise
However, the promise cannot be compromised. The move cannot be made strictly on a bargain basis, but in an effort to show that we are concerned about the present disharmony between our independent way of doing things and the obligations imposed on us from outside.

Need A Revision
There is a third and final reason for taking these steps on our own. The idea behind it has been just beneath the surface of the first two arguments. Simply the contention is that hazing as it is now conducted does not accomplish its mission as well as it should. It stands therefore in need of revision.

This is not an attempt to present reasons for the elimination of the practice. It is recognized that there are a number of strong points in its favor. This is only an attempt to see if there are certain elements inherent in it which, if removed or changed, might bring it closer to the institution it is supposed to be.

Any discussion of the purposes of hazing must begin with some mention of the point of fraternities in general. Every person has his own opinion on this matter and anything mentioned here is bound to fall short of the complete picture. Still it can hardly be denied that fraternity life is the first taste that we have of an association of equals.

It is pretty much assumed that every man in a fraternity has an equal say in the decisions made by his brothers in assembly. The path which a given fraternity chooses to embark upon is the result therefore, of a heterogeneous, collective opinion, altered and molded so as to agree most nearly to the point-of-view held by the majority. And as such, its path is charted neither by a particular individual nor by any preformed dictates emanating from an alien body. Within its own sphere, it can pretty much pick its course.

Individuals Make Up Fraternities
Now perhaps this picture of voting procedure carries over into the very nature of a fraternity. Just as no brother has a right to dictate at meetings, so also has no brother all the characteristics of his house. Like the opinion mentioned above, his fraternity is a brotherhood of heterogeneous composition. Its overall characteristics — whether it leans towards sports, social activities, music, etc. — is altered and changed as new men come into it or as old men revise their personal objectives. And just as the collective opinion of a meeting has no particular entity, no purpose other than to represent the course which a majority wish to follow, so also does the nature of the fraternity have no permanent criterion for existence, no justification other than to represent the general tendency which results when its members are placed together.

The opinion mentioned above is that of taking these steps, not in an effort to make an even trade or bargain with the administration, but in an effort to show that we are concerned about the present disharmony between our independent way of doing things and the obligations imposed on us from outside.

nothing in itself. It alone can not convince anybody or do anything. It exists only insofar as different parts of it are found in the principles of those individuals who created it. Only as it is associated with those from whence it came can it convince, only as it is coupled with the reputation of those who are behind it can it really do anything.

And likewise, this nature of a fraternity — its spirit — is nothing in itself. It means something to people only as its component parts are considered. It can convince people of its worth only as the qualities of integrity, honor, and honesty as found in those who make it up are considered. The building itself, the air in the building, does not contribute much to fraternity spirit. This intangible thing consists almost entirely of whatever collective evaluation one can make of individual personalities.

Tradition, of course, colors this picture of spirit. What graduates did for the fraternity will to some extent remain. What they saw in the brotherhood to some extent they look for and mention today. But tradition itself only emanates from personalities.

Purpose Of Hazing
In summation, then, this spirit has body only when looked for in the qualities of the men in the brotherhood. It is only what results when men work their hardest, socially and otherwise, to contribute something valuable to the whole. As such, then, it is folly to place this formless concept of spirit before the incoming freshmen. It doesn't make sense to go about this business of shaping the men up, of making them conform to the pattern when this pattern is only the direction or tendency determined by individual brothers placed side by side. It defeats the purposes of the fraternity to impress upon a new man the necessity for regulating and restricting his conduct so as to conform to this intangible spirit when this very spirit, if it does have dimensions, was created in the first place as men exerted themselves to contribute. Encouragement of initiative, maximization of those strong points in a man's character, together with development of a man's weaker points in short, an indoctrination based upon the idea that each pledge presents an individual problem — should be the underlying principle of hazing.

At the same time, however, is it right to lead the new man towards this concept of the perfect fraternity man? For instance, what happens when a penalty is inflicted upon a freshman during table hazing? Is it not often the case that the brother on the small end of the paddle gives visible evidence of his uncertainty? He will often look about for support and encouragement; the severity of the paddling will often vary with the amount of enthusiasm his brethren seem to be showing. It must sometimes appear to the pledge that the upperclassman is not hazing because he himself wants to or thinks he should, but rather because "the house has decided" in favor of it. The paddler is but the instrument through which the fraternity makes known its hand.

This is a poor state of affairs indeed. That the new man should see one of his future brothers subordinating his desires and "delegating" his principles to some greater power is undesirable. For it causes the pledge to see the individual in his house only through the common focal point or lens, which is the fraternity as the sum total of its component parts. It is the idea of evaluating the parts in terms of the whole instead of the whole in terms of the parts.

To the extent then that hazing does not accomplish this objective of making freshmen aware of the dependence of the fraternity, not upon individual conformity but upon individual initiative and leadership, it should be changed.

Other Charges
Numerous other charges have at various other times been leveled at the institution of hazing. It is said that freshmen need every bit of time available at the start of their college career in order to prepare for work that is often new to them. It is necessary, so this argument goes, to give the new men every possible chance to get off on the right foot. To often a poor start means a poor finish. It isn't right that hazing activities place a man's record in danger, especially when the hazing itself does as much good.

And again from professors come complaints that the hazing itinerary at times causes such waves of class cutting that attendance of freshmen at Saturday classes amounts to little. This fall, for instance, quest weekend saw freshman ranks in French 3 depleted by seventy-five percent. History 1 suffered a similar fate.

Here, as before, the situation differs pretty clearly calls for some definite regulation. Furthermore, the days when self-imposed, stop-gap, after-the-fact repairs — repairs such as would be made on a sinking ship — were enough to remedy the situation are gone. At this point in the game, barring an exhibition of this oft-mentioned student responsibility, there will have to come about a fairly extensive revision, not only of hazing procedures, but also of the thinking that accompanies them.

Conformity By Fear
And finally, it is pointed out that this program of "shaping the freshmen up" of making them over into more nearly perfect fraternity men, of forcing them to see first the fraternity — its spirit, its nature — and then through this medium the men in the brotherhood. This program, as unfortunate as it has already been shown to be, is further rendered valueless because belief in what it attempts to demonstrate and show is instilled into the freshman by force, inspired by fear instead of by reason. The pledge fears the paddle, fears the onion, is afraid of what will happen to him if he does as he thinks best instead of as he knows the hazing chairman requires, and is afraid of what would happen to him were he to stand up for what he thinks right and thereby lose his chance to join the house.

And furthermore, this "conformity-by-fear" policy often results in a temporary but intense dislike of a hazing chairman by certain freshmen. Now it is true, as is often pointed out, that the freshman who harbors the deepest grudge against a hazing chairman often becomes the latter's best friend on campus. But this would indicate that John Smith the hazing chief and John Smith the fraternity brother are two different people. As director of hazing, Smith is playing a role different from his normal one. And to a lesser degree, so are all his brothers playing other than their usual roles. Which means that, try as a hazing committee may, it cannot make a single freshman see the real nature of the fraternity because that real nature, which, as stated before, takes on dimensions and qualities only as a collective evaluation of the characteristics of its component parts is made, is actually disguised. So here we have the ironical situation of upperclassmen working their hardest to make their pledges see and measure up to the true spirit of their fraternity while at the same time these same upperclassmen, by shedding their everyday cloaks and donning hazing gowns, have made very sure that the conception of fraternity spirit arrived at by the freshmen is false.

Distorted Evaluation Possible
All this would not be so bad, were it not for the fact that past conceptions and initial impressions, stick in a man's mind. If there is any time when the true picture should be presented it is during those weeks when the new man is learning what fraternities are. A false impression carries over to produce distorted, permanent evaluations. Some men, to be sure, never put much stock in first impressions. These fellows are the ones who form their picture of the nature and purposes of the organization very cautiously and who then are very slow to lose this picture.

Yet it is significant that the freshman who believes most strongly in the validity of this false impression oftentimes becomes the most ardent advocate a year later of the practices resulting from thinking along these false lines. So does the element of falsehood perpetuate itself from class to class, from generation to generation.

The list could go on for some time. And specific proposals have hardly been mentioned. About all this piece of writing has accomplished can be summed up in its three main points: (1) that the small college in general, Bowdoin in particular, is in a dependent position which necessitates some show of undergraduate responsibility; (2) that our fraternities will be stronger and will probably retain more freedom of action if we, the undergraduates, take the initiative in showing this responsibility; and (3) that the purposes of our fraternities are being defeated by blindly following the hazing program handed down to us by our predecessors.

Merits Discussion
The writers cannot state at this juncture what specifically we must change, institute or abolish in the way of hazing practices. These can only follow extensive discussion of the problem by everyone on campus. Then will come definite proposals. A committee is now being formed to bring together these proposals. Every fraternity is to be represented when measures are drawn up and presented to the houses. Every man in the college will find it possible to express his opinions on the matter if he so desires.

Yet the basis of the whole lies not in a discussion of particular remedies that might be in order but rather in a little serious contemplation of the fundamental principles at stake — the privileges we enjoy as participants in liberal arts, the obligations we are faced with as we partake of these privileges, the responsibility we have as tomorrow's leaders, the purposes behind and reasons for fraternities — all these we shall have to tackle.

We can ill afford to refuse this challenge, we cannot sit back and wait for somebody else to take care of the matter. Storm clouds are gathering overhead. If they burst loose, both ourselves and those whose names are in any way connected with Bowdoin will be forced to brave the deluge. How much will be washed away in the deluge, no one can say. Certainly there ought to be a mighty attempt to dispel these clouds before they become overburdened.

The days of Phi Chi are over. We must look now to the future. The report, drawn up by William C. Hays '55, acting secretary of the student committee that conducted the initial investigation, was submitted to and approved by the following members of this committee:

Lawrence E. Dwight '54
Barrett C. Nichols '54
David S. Rogerson '54
David B. Starkweather '55
Gordon W. Stearns '54

In former times, many African tribes kept cattle for use a form of currency and seldom slaughtered them for food.

"Matchless Service"

Ford

Sales and Service

Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed
USED CARS

Maine's Most Modern Auto
Body Repair and Paint Shop

Complete Front End
and
Frame Alignment

Harry H. Smart, Inc.
PHONE 550
87 PLEASANT STREET • BRUNSWICK, MAINE

CHOICE OF YOUNG AMERICA FOR THE FIFTH STRAIGHT YEAR -

CHESTERFIELD
IS THE LARGEST SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA'S COLLEGES...

by a 1953 survey audit of actual sales in more than 800 college co-ops and campus stores from coast to coast. Yes, for the fifth straight year Chesterfield is the college favorite.

CHESTERFIELD IS THE ONLY CIGARETTE EVER TO GIVE YOU PROOF OF LOW NICOTINE, HIGHEST QUALITY

The country's six leading brands were analyzed — chemically — and Chesterfield was found low in nicotine — highest in quality.

This scene reproduced from Chesterfield's famous "center spread" line-up pages in college football programs from coast to coast.

CHESTERFIELD BEST FOR YOU

CUMBERLAND THEATRE
Brunswick, Maine

Wednesday-Thursday
November 11-12

THE BIG HEAT
with
Glenn Ford
Barbara Hale
Anne Francis
also
Cartoon

Friday-Saturday
November 13-14

LION IS IN THE STREETS
with
Janet Gayne
Barbara Hale
also
Short Subjects

Sunday-Monday-Tuesday
November 15-16-17

Cary Cooper
Barbara Stanwyck
in
BLOWING WILD
also
Cartoon

Wednesday-Thursday
November 18-19

Spencer Tracy
Jean Simmons
in
THE ACTRESS
also
Short Subjects

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1953

VOLUME LXXXIII

NUMBER 14

Coles Stresses Need For The Individual At Portland

Observes That Man's Journey Through The Ages Has Been Intimately Linked With More Freedom

Speaks In Portland

"Freedom—A Necessity For Social Progress" was the topic of President James S. Coles' speech at a luncheon of the 44th annual meeting of the Maine Welfare Association in Portland's Eastland Hotel on Friday.

President Coles stated that from the days of man's journey up to today, social progress has been very apparent. After mentioning our many comforts, he said, "In spite of these signs of social progress, mankind has scarcely started its journey down the long road to idealism. In the progress I have noted so far the heavy emphasis has been upon materialism."

Gaining Greater Freedom

The President observed that man's journey through the ages has been intimately linked with greater and greater freedom, each stage being forced upon the men of the particular age who challenged beliefs and opinions which previously were commonly accepted.

"But today, as yesterday, men who are able to think independently to produce new ideas, to suggest reforms, are looked on with suspicion."

President Coles pointed out that Jesus expressed opinions "which were then considered heretical by the less well educated." He cited the Magna Carta and Emancipation as milestones in our social progress. Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, Alexander Hamilton, and John Jay didn't "accept their place in this country as being one of silence and conformity."

The freedom to challenge the status quo, and continually to seek the truth is equated naturally to the freedom to hold unorthodox opinions." The President added that the holders of unorthodox opinions will be thought of as "out of step with the times, to be heretical in the eyes of those." But this very unorthodoxy or heresy is the essential element that is necessary for creative advance and progress."

"Socrates drank of the bitter hemlock because of his unorthodoxy, but who would condemn the men who condemned him?"

Difference Between Heresy, Conspiracy

President Coles stated that some persons who might be called heretics are claimed as conspirators by undisciplined tongues. Sidney Hook has pointed out that we must be very careful to distinguish between heresy and conspiracy.

Glee Club To Present First Concert Of Year At Farmington, Nov. 21

At Farmington, Nov. 21

The Bowdoin Glee Club will give its first concert of the semester on Saturday, November 21, in Farmington, Maine.

Professor Frederic E. T. Tillotson announced that the full "Alphabet of members (74) will travel to Farmington for the benefit performance. The Meddiebumpsters will sing during the intermission. Wilkins and Hayward Featured

This concert will feature two new selections, Donald P. Hayward '54 and Frederick C. Wilkins '56 will sing the solos in "Afar on the Purple Moor," a Norfolk folk song. Wilkins will also have the solo in "I Got Plenty O' Nuttin'."

The Glee Club will sing "Rise Sons of Bowdoin," "Glorious Apollo," "Echo Song," "Verse Laquergers," "Lo, a Voice to Heaven Sounding," "Dance of the Comedians," "I Wonder As I Wander," "To Agni," "Afar On The Purple Moor," "The God Who Gave Us Light," "Brothers Sing On," "Old Mother Hubbard," "Let Us Break Bread Together," "I Got Plenty O' Nuttin'," "It Ain't Necessarily So," "Russian Picnic," and a Bowdoin College Medley of "Glasses Clinking High," "Beneath The Pines," "Forward The White," and "Bowdoin Beats."

The concert will be followed by a dance.

OCS Representative To Visit Bowdoin Nov. 20

The Naval Officers Candidate School is sending a representative to Bowdoin on Friday, November 20, who will speak with all interested undergraduates.

Lieutenant J. E. Ham, USNR, will speak in room 106, Memorial Hall, at 1:00 p.m. to all interested undergraduates. If any student wishes an individual appointment, he should see Mr. Wilder in his office to make arrangements. Lieutenant Ham will be available for individual appointments in Conference Room A in the Moulton Union from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 1:45 to 5:00 p.m.

The Naval OCS course is 16 weeks in length. There are 20 class room hours each week in navigation, naval weapons, naval orientation, military justice, operations, seamanship, damage control, leadership and military drill.

The commission program is for male college graduates. The purpose of the program is to supplement the input of commissioned officers procured through the NROTC and other officer procurement programs. The Naval Officers Candidate School is located at the Naval Training Station, Newport, Rhode Island. In this school a select group of male college students are given concentrated courses in naval subjects and upon graduation are commissioned in the Naval Reserve.

Debate Team, Bates Hold Informal Debate; H. C., Vermont Next

Eight varsity debaters will be among the twenty debate teams from Eastern colleges participating in an Eastern Vermont at the University of Vermont in Burlington, Nov. 20-21. There are 244 debaters and 61 critic Faculty—judges have entered in the practice tournament.

The national topic of Free Trade will be debated with decision and critical analyses of each side, but the winner of the tournament is decided.

Affirmative teams from Bowdoin will be Paul P. Broutas '54 and Paul DuBrue '56 and Stanton '54 and Roger Grondin. '54. Negative teams will be Charles O. Norman '55 and Gerald Werkmann '57, William W. Hale, Jr. '55, and Stanton Moody '57 competed with two novice teams from Holy Cross at 4:00 p.m. in Sills Hall.

On November 13 Bowdoin entered the National Debate Tournament, the National Debate with Bates College at Lewiston, with Bowdoin opposing direct election of the President of the United States. This debate, following the pattern of the Oxford Union, was non-decisional since it was presented for the purpose of entertaining and instructing prospective high school debaters.

On Nov. 17, Stanton Black '54 and Morton L. Price '56, debated to Holy Cross College in Worcester, Mass., to debate free trade. Bowdoin's negative team, composed of Elliot Paisis '55 and Earl Strout '55, met another Holy Cross team at the same time. On the same afternoon in Brunswick, Norman Levy '57, Gerald Werkmann '57, William W. Hale, Jr. '55, and Stanton Moody '57 competed with two novice teams from Holy Cross at 4:00 p.m. in Sills Hall.

On November 13 Bowdoin entered the National Debate Tournament, the National Debate with Bates College at Lewiston, with Bowdoin opposing direct election of the President of the United States. This debate, following the pattern of the Oxford Union, was non-decisional since it was presented for the purpose of entertaining and instructing prospective high school debaters.

On November 13 Bowdoin entered the National Debate Tournament, the National Debate with Bates College at Lewiston, with Bowdoin opposing direct election of the President of the United States. This debate, following the pattern of the Oxford Union, was non-decisional since it was presented for the purpose of entertaining and instructing prospective high school debaters.

President Coles To Present Award To Agostinelli On Nov. 25

President James S. Coles will present the Andrew Allison Hall-dane Cup to Donald C. Agostinelli of Rumford in Chapel exercises Wednesday, November 25.

The cup was given by fellow-officers in the Pacific in memory of Captain Andrew Allison Hall-dane, USMCR, of the Class of 1941. It is awarded to a member of the Senior Class "who has outstanding qualities of leadership and character."

Award of the cup to Agostinelli was announced at Commencement, but he was unable to be present to receive it at that time. Graduating last June, Agostinelli, now a medical student at Yale, was well remembered for his leadership on campus and his outstanding record in football and track. He is Class President, Phi Beta Kappa, and a member of D.K.E.

Balokovic's Performance Lauded By An Appreciative Audience

Zlatko Balokovic, violinist, accompanied at the piano by Eugene Helmer, gave a recital last Wednesday evening in Memorial Hall to a near capacity audience.

Mr. Balokovic's program covered a wide scope of music, beginning with the middle Baroque and ending with the modern period. He opened his program with a sonata by Antonio Vivaldi, an Italian composer of the Middle Baroque period, a forerunner of Bach and Handel. This work, billed on the program as being arranged by Respighi, gave a strong impression, notably from the style of the first movement, of having been originally a piece for a keyboard instrument.

Bach's Ciacona

Following was the well-known Ciacona of Bach for unaccompanied violin. This piece is considered part of the standard repertoire for concert violinists. It is of high and deep musical content, requiring more than a casual first hearing even to begin to see into it; and it is rather a tour de force from a technical standpoint. Many violinists will not perform the work on account of its difficulty. Mr. Balokovic, however, played this taxing work with a technique which seemed remarkable.

This reviewer was pleased to hear a composition by the contemporary composer, Ary Dufferin, which resides here in Brunswick, where he and his wife are music directors at the Brunswick High School. The selection, entitled "Dusk, is unassuming, but it requires a considerable tonal sensitivity on the part of the performer which sensitivity was happily accorded the work.

Union Committee To Sponsor Bridge Series

The Student Union Committee is sponsoring the first of a series of Duplicate Contact Bridge Tournaments for undergraduates in the Union Lounge on Monday, November 23 at 7:00 p.m. The program is under the direction of Mrs. Belle Stetson of

"Superstitions" Topic Of Chapel Speech By Sociology Instructor

"Superstitions" was the appropriate topic of the chapel talk given last Friday, November 13, by Dr. Ira L. Reiss, instructor in sociology.

Saying that it is hard to discover whether something is actually a superstition, Dr. Reiss pointed out that it is usually the future generations that find the superstitions of the past generations. Just as rain dances, which were once considered to cause rain, are now classed as superstitions, some of our most scientific procedures may be ridiculed by future generations when additional information is uncovered.

No 13th Floor

Dr. Reiss described some old superstitions and then went on to show that some people are still highly superstitious. Hotels have been forced to eliminate the 13th floor, either by numbering it as the 14th or by limiting the height of the building to 12 floors. Track teams often consider the washing of their jerseys as bad luck, and, in the same line, some of the home teams during the inter-fraternity football season refused to have their jerseys washed after a victory. The observance of Friday the 13th is in itself an important superstition.

The belief that only witches could float on water brought death to many women in former times. A woman accused by children of witchcraft was thrown into a lake. If she drowned she was considered innocent, but if she stayed afloat she was declared a witch and was executed. The method of torturing an enemy by sticking pins in his effigy, and the belief in black magic were also widely accepted examples of superstition.

Student Union Movie

The Student Union Committee will present the film "Up Front" at Smith Auditorium on Saturday, November 21. There will be two shows as usual at 6:45 and 9:00 p.m.

"Up Front" with David Wayne, Tom Ewell, Marina Bert and Jeffrey Lynn is the story of Willie and Joe, those fabulous cartoon characters of World War II, come to life in Bill Mauldin's "Up Front". Covered by the grime of mountain foxholes in southern Italy, the German and Pythias of the Italian campaign manage to catch the high-hearted humor of fighting men which made Mauldin's cartoons so vivid and popular.

Curriculum Group Suggests Language Program Change

The recommendation that Spanish be made a third alternative to the modern language requirement which now consists of a choice between French and German has been made by the Student Curriculum Committee in its first report of the season which was submitted to President James S. Coles this morning.

Allied Problem

"Second, the allied problem of the admittance of Russian and Italian was also suggested to us as a factor against the acceptance of Spanish. The Committee feels that this is only a question of degree. . . .

Summary of Report

A summary of the report submitted to the committee is as follows: "Because of strong interest expressed to it by students through the various fraternity representatives, the Student Curriculum Committee has selected as the subject of its first investigation the admission of Spanish as a third alternative for satisfying the present foreign language requirement. The committee has tried to avoid carrying on a one-sided investigation; it has tried to obtain the pro's and con's of this question. . . .

"First, it would like to mention those points brought up which seem to have no important bearing on this subject. . . .

Faculty And Students Join To Discuss Current Hazing Problem

Scene Of English Major Meetings

English Majors Resume Meetings In Barn Chamber

Large chairs and couches are placed about the room, which has a large fireplace at one end and a stage at the other. The interior of the reading room, the Peucinian Room look drab in appearance. One student remarked that the Barn Chamber would be "the greatest place ever to hold a party."

Used To Store Hay

This room was not always so attractive, however. Mrs. Chase remembers that when she was a child, her father used it as a storage room to stack hay for the horses kept below. It was a wonderful place for her to play, she remarked. She returned to live in the old house when she married, and after Professor Chase was asked to teach at Bowdoin. After he had been here a few years, he decided it would be more attractive for both the students and himself if he were to hold his classes in his home. There was no room in the house itself, however, so he decided to remodel the Barn Chamber. He obtained Felix Arnold Burton, the architect who designed the present A.D., T.D., and Chi Psi houses, to do the job. When the room's appearance was changed at least from a barn loft to a sitting room, it was furnished adequately, though plainly. This was in the early 1920's, and the English major meetings and oral exams began to be held there soon after.

The interior of the Barn Chamber is a source of great surprise to those who see it for the first time. The outside of the building is rustic to say the least, and the stairs which lead up to the chamber are narrow and in need of repair. But the chamber itself is clean and comfortably furnished.

The committee based its recommendation on the finding that almost 100 per cent of other colleges accept Spanish in fulfillment of the language requirement and that there is a sizeable and real interest among Bowdoin students over Spanish.

Lewis P. Welch, '54 Chosen As New WBOA Station Manager

At a special meeting of the Executive Committee of Radio Station WBOA, held this past week, Lewis P. Welch, '54, was nominated to succeed acting manager Russetta Washburn as Station Manager for WBOA.

Associated for the past four years with the radio station, he has previously served in the capacity of Secretary, Chief Announcer, and Public Relations Director. While in high school he conducted a disc jockey show over WGAN in Portland, and during this past summer he was employed as a stage announcer by Radio Station WCHS in Portland.

A Battalion Commander in the Bowdoin ROTC, Welch has been on the Dean's List consistently and is a James Bowdoin Scholar. In the extra-curricular field, besides WBOA, he is a member of the Masque and Gown and has been a member in the Glee Club for the past three years. A member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity, he was elected to the post of recording secretary by its members last Spring and is their representative on the Student Curriculum Committee, as well as being a recent nominee for the secretary of his class.

Notice

Tryouts for George Bernard Shaw's play "Misalliance" will be held tonight from seven to ten p.m. in the Masque and Gown office in Memorial Hall.

Meeting Called And Conducted By Original Student Committee

Last night there was held in Smith Auditorium a meeting called and conducted by the independent committee formed last week to instigate student action on the current problem of hazing.

Attending the meeting were five faculty members, members of the original committee, fraternity representatives totaling close to one hundred students, and other interested students. The Student Council members from each fraternity took part in the meeting.

Hays Explains Position

Acting as mediator, Student Council President David Rogerson '54 called upon William Hays '55, writer of last week's ORIENT feature on the hazing situation to clear up in the minds of those present several strongly controversial points in the ORIENT article.

Need Of Vision Subject Of Reverend N. Guphill In Sunday Chapel Talk

The chapel speaker for the Sunday afternoon service was Reverend Nathaniel M. Guphill of the Andover Newton Theological School. Reverend Guphill, graduate of Colby College and the Andover Newton Theological School, spoke on the need of vision in this age, as in all other ages.

When Saint Paul was on trial before Herod Agrippa, he used as his defense the story of his heavenly vision. He told Herod Agrippa that he had not been disobedient to his heavenly vision.

"Vision," said Reverend Guphill, "is the sun of visibility and imagination." Caesar built the mighty Roman Empire in his conquests of Gauls and other Germanic tribes. Nero destroyed much of the Roman Empire. In the United States of Jefferson, Adams, Washington, and Madison the dream of an America of constitutional democracy was founded. Reverend Guphill wondered if we were still a land of vision today; or are we likened to the Roman Empire as it was in Nero's day.

"Vision need not always be in religious terms, either," said Reverend Guphill. Lincoln, when he saw the slave markets of New Orleans, promised that if he ever had the chance he would strike a blow against it. In our class rooms we have a chance to learn things today which our fathers never even dreamed existed. All of us must have the clear visibility of today with our imagination. We must remain true to our visions.

Don Carlo's 'Fiddle n Bell' Pleases Audience; Mrs. Daggett Praised

Your reviewer came away with somewhat mixed emotions from the premiere of Don Carlo's comedy, "Fiddle n Bell," presented Monday evening in the Moulton Union Lounge. Plaudits are due to the actor for an intriguing plot, well-defined characterization, good

Author Of Play

The town fair of Hoskins, Conn., is restored to its pristine serenity. Mrs. Flail, the "city gal" with a degree in sociology, leaves the bucolic scene in a huff. The villain of the piece, First Selectman Steutson, complete with moustache, is foiled at the end, by ingenuously shrewdness coupled with old-fashioned goodness.

A skillful, if somewhat cozy plot, excellent, if somewhat exaggerated, characterization, incisive, appropriate, and witty dialogue, and a rapidity of action save the play, and, in spite of the watery waters of the situation, provide a fleeting, enjoyable two hours of theatre.

Mrs. Daggett proved again her ability to play almost any role well. She deserves more than usual praise, however, for her difficult performance of Inga. Faced with the difficulty of playing what could have been an easily overdone part, she skillfully handled her dialect, and played movingly the human kindness without indulging in the emotional excess the role might have allowed.

Cam Sarraff, like "Katie," demonstrated his versatility Monday evening in his successful impersonation of Yalkeen shrewdness and the portrayal of Dwight as the best female supporting role. Neil Alter, seemingly typed for rustic roles, (remember "Ramshackle Inn") was the comic center of the play. (Continued on Page 2)

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, November 18, 1953 No. 18

Editor-In-Chief
Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55
Managing Editor
John B. Goodrich '55
News Editors
David R. Anderson '55 Thomas L. Spence '57
James Anwyll, Jr. '55
Edward N. Cotter '56 Richard M. Catalano '55
Carroll E. Penhall '56
Franklin G. Davis '54 Donald W. Blodgett '54
John M. Seika '54 Gerard L. Dube '54
Joel H. Hupper '54 David G. Lavender '55

Sports Editor
Robert M. Hurst '54
Assistant Sports Editor
Joseph Y. Rogers '55
Sports Staff
Sam L. H. Cohen '57 James L. Doherty '55
William E. Clark '54
Photographer
James P. Gaston '54
Staff

George I. Rockwood '56 Peter Schmaizer, Jr. '57
Benjamin G. M. Priest '56 Edward P. Parsons '57
H. Edward Born '57 John Ranlett '57
Francis M. Kinnely '57 Thomas L. Spence '57
Edward B. Williams '57 John B. Edlin '57
Stanton I. Moody '57 Richard B. Lyman '57
Thomas R. Merrill '57 C. William Cooke '57

Business Manager
Bruce N. Cooper '54
Assistant Business Managers
James A. Cook '54 C. Richard Thurston '54
Advertising Manager
Peter M. Pirnie '55 Circulation Manager
Harry G. Carpenter '57 Harold R. Beacham, Jr. '56
Business Assistants
Peter F. Gass '57 David H. Dott '57

BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Directors: Professor Albert P. Daggett, Professor Philip M. Brown,
Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilley '54, Wallace R. Harper,
Jr. '55, Charles Ranlett '54.

REPRESENTATIVE FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representatives
420 MADISON AVE., NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO - BOSTON - LOS ANGELES - SAN FRANCISCO

Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semesters by the Student Body of Bowdoin College. Address news communications to the Student Body at the BOWDOIN ORIENT Office in Morse Hall, Brunswick, Maine. National and second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three dollars.

Student Response To Hazing Move Disappointing; Tonight's Voting May Prove Decisive To Outcome

In last week's ORIENT there was printed a report drawn up by a small, independent, self-appointed student committee dedicated to arousing among the student body interest in the subject of hazing as it now stands at Bowdoin. The report stated in clear-cut terms that there exists today a definite deep-seated problem in the matter of hazing. The report attempted to explain the background to this problem with emphasis on the changing relationship between administration and student interests. It was pointed out in the report, furthermore, that there is an urgent need of modification in our present system of freshman hazing in order that said system endure.

Examples were cited in which quests in particular have, in the past, brought unfavorable publicity to Bowdoin College. Complaints from parents of freshmen and from faculty members have brought this problem to a state of great importance. In short, there now exists a well-founded probability that administrative action may very soon put a drastic end to many traditional aspects of hazing at Bowdoin.

The purpose of the report, which, we are sorry to assert, was misunderstood by the majority of the students here, was to instigate among the undergraduates a desire to take the initiative in proposing the needed changes. Too many students, due in part to the length of the report, failed to grasp the ideas aimed at by this committee. The great number of them jumped immediately to the fallacious conclusion that a small minority was trying to "pull a fast one" on the remainder of the student body by serving the ends of the administration. The vast majority of students have concluded that this committee stands for the complete abolition of freshman quests, and that they strongly favor many radical changes in the present system.

That so many arrived at these wrong conclusions is indeed unfortunate. The committee merely attempted to bring to the attention of the students as a whole the dire need of some modification in our hazing program. By presenting to the undergraduate body a detailed analysis of the existing conditions, the committee hoped to stir student discussion and interest to the point where student-initiated action would be sought. Unfortunately the committee has been the object of unfair criticism.

The argument that the duty of promoting student action should fall under the jurisdiction of the Student Council rather than an independent committee is without real basis in this instance. The truth is that the committee has actually been working under the Student Council. Last night a meeting was held in Smith Auditorium for the expressed purpose of drawing up a list of tentative proposals. Attending this meeting were four or five representatives from each fraternity, picked at random and totalling over sixty students, to express individual opinions of each house. Four faculty members pointed out different views on the subject. Each member of the Student Council was also asked to attend. Suggested proposals have been drawn up and are ready to be submitted to a vote at the various house meetings tonight. These proposals will be presented by the Student Council representative in each house; the results of the voting will be discussed at the next Student Council meeting. The Council will then compile a final list of the agreed proposals to be submitted to the administration for consideration.

For once the student body has a chance to move before the administration places its own final restrictions on an important issue, in this case hazing. Bowdoin undergraduates must be made to realize that the hazing problem has now reached a point where definite decisions are necessary. We, as undergraduates, stand to lose a great deal of our traditional hazing program if we fail to reach definite agreements with the administration. If the students are unwilling to make concessions and to modify hazing as it now stands, then it stands to reason that action by the administration may be drastic in nature.

The only way in which to preserve hazing in general and quests in particular, then, seems to be for the student body to agree upon constructive changes in the program. The choice is, in all practicality, one between modified quests and no quests at all, between slightly modified hazing and drastically reduced hazing.

We urge each student to think twice before voting tonight.

Student Council Needs Support

The present discussion of the hazing question has brought out one point which has long needed correction. In the minds of many members of the student body the Student Council has little importance. But when a small group of students took the initiative in starting hazing discussion, many resented the fact. They are quite right in feeling this way.

But why was the hazing problem brought up through a small, self-appointed group? It was because these individuals felt that they would be more successful if they took matters into their own hands. They did not have enough faith in the Student Council's ability to stir up interest on the problem in question.

Just look as some examples of the Student Council's record over the past few years. They have tried to prevent vandalism. They have regulated class elections, discussed the possibility of having a White Key Weekend, and asked for house votes on whether houses should or should not be open for certain weekends.

In other words, they have performed only the ordinary functions of a student council. There is no exchange of ideas in Council meetings as there should be. Most of the Council's proposals are initiated by the members themselves. In short, the student body as a whole has shown little interest in its council.

This fact has detracted from the importance of the Council. If there is nothing of importance to discuss, they will not be considered very important. If the student body has any interest in the fundamental problems which face them as college students today, they must take an interest in the council that governs them.

Therefore, we feel that individual students should try to give their Student Council representative constructive proposals which he can take into the Council meetings. This will serve a double purpose. Not only will it emphasize the importance of the Council in its capacity as the student body's representative, but it will also give the Council an idea of student opinion and what the students are interested in.

We hope there will be no need for informal committees in the future. Make the Student Council the means through which discussion is initiated and action is taken. That is the Council's purpose and its function.

J. B. C.

Frasch, Fulbright Student, Cites European Attitude Toward U.S.

Jean-Jacques Frasch of Cloissey-sur-Seine, France, now studying here on a Fulbright grant, feels that European nationality and reaction is "far from extinct" and is a major cause of friction between the United States and France.

According to Jean, there is a widespread fear in Europe that the United States is attempting to establish supremacy over the entire world. He remarked, "Many people in France feel that Europe is experienced enough to take care of her own problems without the advice of the United States. This was especially true during the recent Moroccan crisis."

Jean arrived in the United States last July, and underwent a six weeks' orientation period at Bard College in Annandale-on-Hudson, New York. He is studying English and American literature at Bowdoin, preparatory to teaching in a secondary school upon his return to France.

For three years prior to coming to the United States, Jean studied at the Ecole Normale de Versailles. The knowledge of English he acquired there assisted him greatly in being awarded the Fulbright grant. Jean finds it difficult to compare American and French colleges, the two systems being entirely different. He remarked that education in France is "strict and disciplined." It is the aim of the French system to provide the student with a "general culture." To arrive at this, the student must carry a very heavy burden and is necessarily prevented from specializing in a particular field. As a result, the college graduate knows a little about everything, but, in detail, nothing. A student wishing to specialize must then go to a large university like the Sorbonne in Paris. However, Jean has discovered that a French student, due to his general training is able to profit greatly from study in the United States.

While in America, Jean is enjoying Yankee hospitality, acquiring a few long playing records to add to an already sizable collection, and deploring the fact that he can't get a good cup of coffee. Jean was delighted to find that not all Americans read the Reader's Digest and drink Coca-Cola.

TENNIS NOTICE
Competitive play in tennis has been postponed indefinitely due mainly to the difficulties in scheduling the matches, and weather conditions.

Norton Introduces New Alumni Newsletter

In an effort to maintain better communication with the College alumni, Vice President Norton has prepared a newsletter containing various items concerning scholarships and financial reports, college events since the beginning of the term, and other news of interest.

The newsletter is an outgrowth of meetings of the Alumni Council and also the inquiries of alumni. In the words of Mr. Norton, "It is an experiment designed to provide information supplementing current publications of the College." As the first newsletter is merely an experiment, no definite publication schedule has been established. In the current newsletter, an account of the present enrollment is given, comparing in particular the increase of the New York and New Jersey contingent over the past years, and the decrease of the Maine enrollment. Brief accounts of the fraternity initiations, alumni activities, faculty notes and the football season are given. Building construction and other campus improvements are also noted.

Department Of Music To Purchase Records

The Bowdoin Student Tax Committee has given the Department of Music fifty dollars for the purchase of records requested by students, and these records will become part of the new record loan policy. They will be purchased on the request of any student, no matter what selection, ranging from opera to musical comedy. It is hoped that this offer will be taken advantage of. Requests will be made to Professor Frederic Tillotson.

The first purchase will include "Brigadoon," "Okelema," "Carousel," and "South Pacific," and it is also the plan to purchase a complete set of Gilbert and Sullivan operas, with at least one of these being included in the first purchase.

Miss Myrtle Williams Addresses Poly Forum

Last Thursday night Miss Myrtle Williams of the American Friends of the Middle East spoke before a group in the Peucinian Room about the Middle East students in this country.

She said that most of the students in this country are from middle class families with comparatively few of them on scholarships. Of the over 4300 students from the Near East in this country 1200 are attending N.Y.U. She also stated that most of the undergraduates that come to this country seldom return to their own countries after marrying an American girl.

Miss Williams spoke under the auspices of the Political Forum, which will present a discussion of "Nationalism in Asia" in the Moulton Union Thursday night at 8:15 p.m.

Harvard's Dean Rogers Discusses Fellowship Program With Faculty

The National Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Program was the topic of discussion last Thursday afternoon, November 12, in the Peucinian Room when Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick and 15 faculty members in The Humanities and Social Sciences met with Dean Francis M. Rogers of Harvard University.

Dean Rogers, regional chairman of a district including the four northern New England States, the Maritime Provinces, Quebec, and Newfoundland, discussed the program which "is designed to recruit for the teaching profession, at the college or university level, young men and women who possess the highest qualities of intellect, character, and personality; in particular those who have not thought of an academic career."

Candidates must be nominated. The fellowships for study at any graduate school in the United States or Canada, and in England, explained, to be awarded only to candidates nominated by members of the academic profession. No student can apply for a fellowship himself. Of interest to Bowdoin men who expect to receive a commission in the Transportation Corps upon graduation is the fact that someone receiving a fellowship and then being called up for military duty will have his fellowship set aside for him until his military service is completed.

The program is an enlargement of the Woodrow Wilson fellowship program first established at Princeton University in 1945. It is now sponsored by the Association of Graduate Schools in the Association of American Universities. The fellowships are underwritten by 57 universities of the Association.

Topics for the debates will be submitted by the students to their individual house representatives. The Executive Committee of the Advisory Council, headed by William W. Hyde Jr., '56, and consisting of David R. Anderson, '55, Morton L. Price, '56, and two members of the Debating Council's Executive Committee will gather the topics and submit them to the Advisory Council for screening. In order that students will not have to spend much time on the debates, the topics will be of such nature that they will require no research, and competing houses will not know what the topic will be until ten o'clock on the morning of the debate.

The Executive Committee will also meet every week to match houses, decide which will uphold the affirmative and which the negative, and which will be the host. In order that as many as possible can attend, there will be only one debate a week. The procedure of these debates of American Universities, by grants from the Carnegie Corporation, and by grants from the General Education Board.

Consult Your Campus Agent
GEORGE W. GRAHAM '55
About Life Insurance
Provident Mutual Of Philadelphia

Gym Equipment

Gym Pants	1.50
Sneakers	3.15
Socks	.95
Supporters	.95
Sweatshirts	2.45 & 2.95
Fraternity T-Shirts	1.50

MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it...

Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money.

TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY
ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS

The Record Office
Paul K. Nivon Jerry Wilcox
Printers of The Orient

Ice Cubes On Toast

By Benjamin G. M. Priest '56
Phi Phi Frat Lodge
Bowdoin College
Brunswick, Me.

Dear Mother,
Just a few lines to let you know that I'm getting married next week. Now, I realize that this may come as a rather a shock and surprise to you since I only met the girl last night and came to my decision to marry her at five this morning, right after the alarm went off by mistake. You are the first one to know my little secret, mother... the very first in fact, because I haven't gotten around to telling the girls yet. But I think you are absolutely the greatest! And interesting, my word! She goes to Hethcroft Junior College which is right near here and I figure that she can keep right on with her schooling and I can see her week ends and things which will solve the date problem I've been having. She is a freshman at the "Brook" this year, but is really older than a freshman because she went to the University of Nome in Alaska for three years. Not only a student though, it's just that it was warmer at the university that it was at home, so she used to go there every day, but one time, after three years, someone found her down in back of the heating plant and made her leave.

The reason she's here is because she won the Hethcroft Alumnae Association's Nome chapter scholarship this year, beating out the other girl who died, by a huge margin. So you see, mother, she must have brains. Her major is basket-weaving, so we really do have a lot in common because of that Scout Merit Badge I got in that one.

Please do not worry about how we are going to "get along." She is a very economical girl. There is no food problem to speak of as she doesn't eat anything but candles and Hershey bars anyway, and I am getting to like them too, especially the red ones which are the best because they're spicy... And as to a place to live, well, in the winter time we should be all set, what with her knowing just about all there is to know about igloos and all, and in summer, I think Uncle Ed would let us use the duck blind down on the bay. Don't you? Yes Mother, this is it. Really it. Your little boy has been bitten at last. I'm sure you will love Poona (that's her name, Poona) as I do. I am enclosing a photo of her, suitable for framing, for you to keep. In case you are worried about Poona's morals because of that cigarette, it's really all right because she doesn't smoke them... she eats them.

Let's see, what else? Oh yes, she is four feet two inches tall and goodness knows how wide because she wears that parka all the time. I gave her my frat pin last night, but she swallowed it, and that is the main reason that I have decided to wait a week for the wedding until we see how things work out.

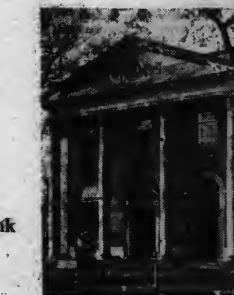

Getting late, so all for now...
Your loving son,
Freddy

P.S. I am well and healthy except I seem to have broken my nose somehow last night. Oh well. F
From Mrs. T. F. Benchless
To Mr. Fredrick B. Benchless
Phi Phi Frat Lodge
Bowdoin College
Freddy!
Love,
Mother

Dear Mother,
All is off! Poona finally took off the parka and turned out to be Poona's brother Ptui. Am disillusioned. I hate women. Destroy photo.
Disconsolately,
Freddy

Seven United States Presidents were born in Ohio.

Student Patronage Solicited

First National Bank
Brunswick, Maine

Member of the Federal Reserve System and
Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

"Matchless Service"

Sales and Service

Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed
USED CARS

Maine's Most Modern Auto
Body Repair and Paint Shop

Complete Front End
and
Frame Alignment

Harry K. Coombs

185 Park Row
WEEKLY
560

ST. JEAN BAPTISTE STREET - BRUNSWICK, MAINE

Merrymeeting Gift Shop

185 Park Row

Greeting Cards --- Gifts

Free Gift Wrapping

BOWL-MOR

Aleys

AUTOMATIC PIN SETTERS

Hot Dogs
Italian Sandwiches
Cold Drinks
Coffee
Ice Cream

Operated by
Al Tobey, Class of '50

Interfraternity Football Champions

THE CHAMPS — Following is the personnel of the ARU's, the championship team of the Bowdoin Interfraternity football league. First Row, left to right: Dick Rodman, Dave Weiss, Joe Rodda, Harvey Levine; Second Row: Phil Weiner, Al Werksman, Marv Kaitz; Third Row: Danny Miller, Jerry Solomon, Irv Shinberg, Dave Traister.

ARU's Whip Kappa Sigs, 19-7; Become Champions

By Saul H. Cohen '37
ARU turned back Kappa Sigma 19-7, as they stopped the Kappa Sigs' strong passing combination of Lenny Plasse and Ed Kenney. The players had little time to nurse their bruises as the Kappa Sigs and A.R.U.'s met to decide the championship.

SPORT NOTICE

Due to their failure to participate in the football schedule, the independents will not be included in any further Interfraternity sports.

Kappa Sigs And ARU's Triumphant In Close Semi-Final Contest

The semi-final playoff games in the Interfraternity Football League resulted in Kappa Sigma turning back Zeta Psi 12-7, and ARU defeating the DKE combine 26-16, in an overtime period.

In the semi-finals, the Kappa Sigs, who had tied for first place in the "A" League, met the first-place team in League "B", Zeta Psi. The Zetes came up with a touchdown and conversion early in the first period. Kappa Sigma returned with a TD but failed to convert. Through the rest of the first half and most of the second half, play saw-sawed back and forth with neither team able to make a concerted drive for a score.

With the Kappa Sigs in possession of the ball deep in Zeta territory it looked as though the Zete's conversion would supply the narrow margin of victory. However, the Kappa Sigs were not to be denied and a quick pass from Lenny Plasse to John Kreider resulted in a TD. Time ran out with the Kappa Sigs leading 12 to 7. Particularly outstanding were Kreider and Ed Kenney for the victors and Bob Hazard of the Zetes.

Fraternity All-Star Team Is Dominated By Kappa Sigs, Zetes

First Team
le, Barry Nichols, Zeta Psi
c, Johnny Kreider, Kappa Sigma
rb, Ted Kenney, Kappa Sigma fb, Al Werksman, ARU
lhb, Bob Hazard, Zeta Psi
rhb, Dave Rogerson.

Alpha Delta Phi
Second Team
le, Phil Weiner, ARU
c, Paul Brinkman, DKE
rb, Dick Kurtz, Zeta Psi
fb, Dick Marshall, TD
lhb, Lenny Plasse, Kappa Sigma rhb, Bill Sands, Alpha Delta Phi

ARU Edges Delta Kappa Epsilon
ARU won a close one over DKE in an overtime period in the semi-finals. ARU mustered a strong attack and took a 15 to 2 lead over the Dokes in the early part of the game. The Dokes suddenly came to life in the second half scoring two quick touchdowns to tie the score, the second resulting from a brilliant punt return by George Hesilton. Time ran out with the score tied and the Dokes deep in ARU territory.

Both teams agreed to play a twelve minute overtime period. ARU scored two quick TD's, the first on a Werksman to Miller pass and the second on a runback of an interception by Dick Rodman. The game ended with the score 26 to 16 in favor of ARU. Werksman, Rodman, Weiner, and Miller continued to sparkle on both offense and defense. Brinkman and Hesilton of the Dokes were also outstanding.

Frosh Players Listed
The twenty other players who comprise the 1953-54 team that will open against Lewiston High School two weeks from today are as follows: Bill McWilliams — 6:00, Bill Gardner — 6:01, Payson Perkins — 5:11, Paul McGoldrick — 6:00, Barry Giehrst — 5:07, John Woodward — 5:10, Dana Randall — 5:09 1/2, Dick Pickett — 6:02 1/2, John Grinold — 5:09 1/2, Bob Wislart — 5:11, Norman Levy — 6:01 1/2, Gene Helsel — 5:11, Dick Smith — 5:10, Jack Eaton — 5:11 1/2, George Duncklee — 6:03 1/2, Dick Drenzek — 5:09, Mike Coster — 5:11, Harry Carpenter — 6:03, Don Bennett — 6:00, and Bob DeLuza — 5:11.

Sports Editor Selects All-Maine Team; Three Polar Bear Gridsters Honored

By Robert M. Hurst '54
With the reincarnation of one-plant football and the almost legendary sixty minute man selections for the post-season All-teams revert to the conventional choosing of one combination of offensive and defensive teams in comparison to this situation the ORIENT All-Maine team is made up of the players who have demonstrated during the three state series games their ability to go the distance on the offense as well as the defense.

On the ends of the All-Maine team are Kenneth Woodsum of Maine and Ralph Froyo of Bates. Woodsum, a junior, performed all season long in grand style for the state champs, whose main fort was a running game. In spite of Maine's ground attack, it often became necessary to go to the air and when that time came Woodsum showed remarkably well during the series with an underranked Bates eleven. He was a bulwark on defense as well as a prime pass grabber for the Bobcats' one man gang, Bob Churnbook.

Maine Has Both Tackles
In the tackle spots are featured two of Maine's outstanding linemen, Lew Clark and co-captain Ed Cianchette. Both seniors, both 21 years old, both over six feet, and both scaling over two hundred mark, Clark and Cianchette represent the ideal pair of tacklers on any team.

At left guard is Tommy Golden, the best lineman in the state has been in many moons and who has been pointed out by Maine sportswriters as a natural for professional football. Golden, at 185 is rugged, fast and aggressive. Playing opposite him at right guard is Bowdoin's Art Cecelski. Cecelski is a hold-over from last year's team although only playing his second year of varsity ball. Cecelski represents the lone Polar Bear in a line which has four line men. Both Cecelski and Golden are 5-10 and weigh in at 185.

Holding down the center position is Colby mainstay Maurice Mathieu, a with Froyo, found himself on a team that was lighter than most opponents and usually outmanned all the way down. With co-captain Tony Yanuchi injured for most of the season Mathieu had the burden on his shoulders and plugged the gaps in the Mule line with amazing skill and courage.

Team Shows Heavy Line
Total poundage in the All-Maine line this year is slightly over a half ton, at 1313, an average of 187 pounds per man. Froyo, Cianchette, Cecelski, Golden, and Clark were choices in last year's offensive and defensive scramble.

position on defense Cosgrove was often faced with a do-or-you-don't tackle when enemy ball carriers had slipped past the back-ups. Most of the time he did.

Halfbacks Hard Running
The halfback spots were nailed down by Bates' one-man gang Bob Churnbook and Maine's hard-running co-captain Ed Bogdanovich. Churnbook did everything but bring in the water for the Bobcats as he kicked, passed, and ran for a losing cause. Churnbook was by far the best kicker in the state as his punts averaged over forty yards. The "Doc" as he is affectionately known at Maine, is a consistent ground gainer all season long. Bogdanovich went wild against the three other Maine colleges, although overshadowed somewhat in the Bowdoin game by his partner in crime, Vince Calenda.

At fullback is another Bowdoin man, Mel Totman. Totman and Cosgrove co-captained Bowdoin to the runnerup spot in state series competition. Mel dislocated his elbow in the Wesleyan game and was thought to be lost at least until the Maine game. But Totman surprised everyone and was in the lineup for the state series opener against Colby wearing a special brace on his damaged limb. It was Totman who raised the Bowdoin partisans to their feet at Orono as he ran back a Maine kickoff 85 (Continued on Page 4)

POLAR BEARINGS

By Robert M. Hurst '54, ORIENT Sports Editor
Reprinted here in a letter from S. C. Martin '22 to Mr. Owen Osborne, Sports Writer of the Bangor Daily News, November 6, 1953
Dear Mr. Osborne:

RE: University of Maine is Big League
In the November 7th issue of your good paper, in the sports column entitled "The Notebook", is this sentence: "Maine has been placed a favorite (over Bowdoin) in our book on the idea the Big Five has been playing in faster company and they have powerful Ed Bogdanovich." That statement was true and also prophetic that the football team of the University of Maine is graduating from the college State series in Maine, to a bigger league and faster company. In the bigger league are the State universities of New England which have much larger male student bodies and therefore, a larger source of material.

Except for the Colby-Bates game, the States Series was not interesting, due to lopsided scores, to wit:

Table showing scores for Maine vs Bates (37-7), Maine vs Colby (45-13), and Maine vs Bowdoin (45-7).

In the foreseeable future, 10 to 15 years, it could well be that the State Series as it is now composed will be at an end, that Bates, Bowdoin and Colby will no longer travel to Orono to be pulverized by a much larger squad of heavier men drawn from a male enrollment of over 2300; plus over 500 girls to throw in for good measure. It is only a question of time and arithmetic. Due to the present tax structure, the alumni of the three small colleges of Liberal Arts in Maine will be less able to support privately endowed colleges. These colleges, therefore, will stand still, will not grow. They will do well to hold their own.

At present, the male population of 2300 at University of Maine exceeds the combined total male enrollment at Bates, Bowdoin and Colby. What will it be in ten years?

After the University of Maine has definitely graduated into Big League, the natural sequence is the formation of a higher league consisting of the three small Maine colleges of Liberal Arts, Bates, Bowdoin and Colby. At least, this is food for serious thought and speculation.

Again we repeat. It is only the lapse of time and simple arithmetic. It is being realistic and accepting the inevitable.
Sincerely,
S. C. Martin

Maine Not Such Big Time
I fail to agree with Mr. Martin's predictions of the future as far as Maine is concerned. Although Maine might conceivably grow and have a bigger enrollment, they will never be graduated into the "Big League" and they will never be too big for Bowdoin to beat. In the case of Bates and Colby it might be a different story. I would like to enlighten Mr. Martin on a few other statistics that he failed to include in his letter. Last year Bowdoin walked off Maine 33-14 and Colby licked the Black Bears 13-7. In the years since the war Maine has won the state title but twice, Bowdoin and Bates once. Bowdoin has tied for the crown three times, Maine twice, and Colby once. In my estimation this does not show Maine to be in the so called Big League. The same is true in other sports. Maine by far is not at the top of the heap.

If Maine was to go into the big leagues let's take a look at some of the colleges with a similar enrollment which they might schedule. For an opener lets put in Army, total enrollment 2,400 men (Maine has 2,300); next Brown, enrollment 1,972; Columbia, enrollment, 2,329; Holy Cross, enrollment, 1,850; Villanova enrollment, 2,408.

Such a schedule would be impossible for Maine to fulfill year after year. Maine will never be "Big League" and will never be too big for tiny Bowdoin to beat.

Tough 14-Game Slate Faces Frosh Cagers; Fast Break New Attack

Seeking to match the brilliant record compiled by last year's freshman basketball team, the cagers faced with a much tougher schedule, the 24-man squad, averaging exactly six feet in height, is rapidly learning the fast break to be used by both cage teams for the first time this year in its first week of practices.

Schedule Much Tougher
For the first time in Bowdoin history, the frosh hoopsters will play the freshman teams from the three other Maine colleges. These three encounters will wind up the 14-game slate which is much rougher than in past years, the weaker teams having been cut off. As usual, most of the games will be played at home; all will be on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Saturdays.

Coaching the squad is former varsity star, Louis Audet, who has used up his eligibility. His first task was to reduce the team from the original 36 who reported down to 24. Shortly, six more will have to be cut to reduce the frosh to the standard 18.

Platoon System
It will be the practice to alternate three different teams during all the games, with the result that all the players will see plenty of action. The emphasis will not be on the particular position but rather on making the players around performers. Audet is slowly breaking down the frosh into three categories: backcourt men, bucket men, and corner men.

Instead of the weave type of play used in the past, the fast break will be used by all White teams; accordingly, much of the practice each day is devoted to learning this particular type of offense which increased nationwide scoring so much in recent years. The frosh coach expects that each team will tally around sixty or seventy points a game, depending on whether they are playing the eight-minute high school quarters or the ten-minute college quarters.

85% Hoped For
The coach believes that those players whose shooting averages from the floor is above thirty-five per cent will be shooting exceptionally well. He thinks that each player should be able to hit with four out of five free throws, but expects that anything much more than fifty per cent will be surprising.

Interfraternity Basketball

Table listing basketball games between various fraternities like Chi Psi vs Psi U, Zeta vs DS, Sigma Nu vs DKE, etc., with dates and times.

Advertisement for Brunswick Branch of the FIRST-AUBURN TRUST COMPANY, Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, offering Complete and Friendly Banking Services, Student Accounts, and Welcomed.

Large advertisement for Manhattan shirts, featuring images of three different shirt styles: 'smart', 'smart and neat', and 'smart and neat and casual'. The ad includes a testimonial from Shell Oil Co. about a building in Illinois and a mention of the Bell Telephone System.

Coles Stresses Need For Social Progress, Freedom

[Continued From Page 1] ... association with a conspiracy." Today many people are afraid to speak or write what they actually think, or to be associated with any person or publication which doesn't restrain itself, he continued. "We cannot afford to have our freedom impaired by intimidation if we are to continue to make progress and to continue to improve the human lot in today's world. Much freedom has been lost within the last few years. Citizens around the world, among the Russians, Germans, French, English, and even many in our own country, are reticent to express themselves as freely as they would five years ago.

"Just the other day a young man told me he would hesitate to place his name on a subscription list for a magazine which has a liberal reputation. The magazine in question has never been declared subversive, and it is certainly not Communistic. The reason for this man's fear was that at some future date someone might declare the magazine to be such, and if his name were on the subscription list, he would be considered in many quarters to be guilty of subversion.

"It is necessary for all of us, and for the welfare of our nation, that each individual should not only continue to have his freedoms, but should be encouraged in his exercise of them," President Coles concluded.

English Majors Now Meeting In 'Chamber'

[Continued From Page 1] ... During the next thirty years the furnishings of the room were replaced and added to until it obtained the simple beauty it possesses today. The stage was added as an afterthought when the room had been remodeled, and many student plays were produced on it before the Masque & Gown and Professor Quinby put dramatics on a much larger scale at the college. Mr. Chase held all of his classes in the room at one time or another, but Chaucer and Literary Criticism were the preference on that more than consistently. The English majors held their meetings in the Chamber after a furnace and chimney were built and electric lighting installed. The group gatherings were held on an informal basis in the room and students would hold ping pong tournaments on the stage during intermissions.

Visited By Famous Writers
The Bowdoin Institute were often held in the Barn Chamber when topics of discussion concerned English or American Literature. The speakers liked the chamber because of its air of quiet seclusion. It stands back from the road, and there are no clocks or doorbells in it. One can be virtually free from outside interruption while in the chamber. Among the famous literary figures who have spoken in the room are John Masfield, T. S. Elliott, William Butler Yeats, John Holmes, Theodore Dreiser, Carl Sandburg, and Robert Frost.

With the return of the English majors to the Barn Chamber this fall, it is hoped that the tradition of the room may be continued. Professor Herbert R. Brown is anxious to have the department continue to use the room because he feels that the English meetings which were first held in the room did much to strengthen the major system which is essential to giving Bowdoin a high scholastic standing. He believes that the meetings will gain much by returning to the place of their inception.

CUMBERLAND THEATRE Brunswick, Maine

Wednesday-Thursday November 18-19
Spencer Tracy Joan Simmons
THE ACTRESS
also
News Short Subjects

Friday-Saturday November 20-21
VEILS OF BAGDAD
with
Victor Mature
Marl Bianchard
also
News Short Subjects

Sunday-Monday-Tuesday November 22-23-24
SO BIG
with
Jane Wyman
Sterling Hayden
also
News Cartoon

Wednesday-Thursday November 25-26
WINGS OF THE HAWK
with
Van Heflin
Julia Adams
also
News Short Subjects

Women To Discuss Problems Of Aged At Council Meeting

The Women's Legislative Council of Maine, an organization which tries to organize public opinion concerning social reforms and to pass appropriate laws, will meet here tomorrow.

Problems of the aged will be the subject of the meeting. Speaking on this topic will be State Senator Carleton S. Fuller of Buckfield, and C. Everett Page of Sunset Industries, Bangor. Also addressing the council will be Mrs. Noel Little of Brunswick, Its founder. Dr. James Stacy Coles, President of Bowdoin, will welcome the group.

Acts As Clearing House
Formed over fifteen years ago by Mrs. Little, the Women's Legislative Council was patterned after a similar national organization. Parent-Teacher and similar associations were not able to present a united front to the state assembly. The Council, trying to overcome this problem, acts as a clearing house for legislative campaigns by Mrs. Little. The Women's Legislative Council was patterned after a similar national organization. Parent-Teacher and similar associations were not able to present a united front to the state assembly. The Council, trying to overcome this problem, acts as a clearing house for legislative campaigns by Mrs. Little. The Women's Legislative Council was patterned after a similar national organization. Parent-Teacher and similar associations were not able to present a united front to the state assembly. The Council, trying to overcome this problem, acts as a clearing house for legislative campaigns by Mrs. Little.

Admissions Tests Now Required By Graduate Business Schools

Dean Nathanial C. Kendrick has announced that for the first time students wishing to attend certain graduate schools in business will be required to take admission tests administered by the Educational Testing Service.

The tests will be given on February 6, 1954 and May 13, 1954. Although arrangements have not yet been made, Dean Kendrick expects that Bowdoin College will be one of the examination centers. Among the universities whose graduate business schools will require the admission tests are Columbia University, Harvard University, Northwestern University, Rutgers University, Seton Hall University, University of Chicago, University of Michigan, University of Pennsylvania, and Washington University of St. Louis. These schools are the ones usually attended by Bowdoin graduates who go on to study in business.

The admission tests for graduate study in business will not be designed to test specific knowledge in academic subjects. Anyone with normal undergraduate training should be able to do a good job on the tests.

Further information regarding the tests will be given in a bulletin of information issued by the Educational Testing Service.

be representative of one opinion of the whole college.

Yours,
R. H. T. '53

Interfraternity Volleyball

Monday, Nov. 30 KS vs TD
Tuesday, Dec 1 Chi Psi vs Psi U
Thursday, Dec 3 AD vs Sigma Nu
Thursday, Dec 8 Psi U vs Zeta
Thursday, Dec 15 DS vs Chi Psi
Thursday, Dec 15 Sigma Nu vs DS
Friday, Jan 7 AD vs Sigma Nu
Thursday, Dec 17 KS vs ATO
Thursday, Jan 5 Psi U vs TD
Wednesday, Jan 6 ATO vs Deke
Thursday, Jan 7 Chi Psi vs KS
Thursday, Jan 7 KS vs Sigma Nu
Wednesday, Jan 13 AD vs Zeta
Thursday, Jan 14 Chi Psi vs ARU
Monday, Jan 18 Psi U vs ARU
Tuesday, Jan 20 Psi U vs Deke
Tuesday, Feb 9 Psi U vs TD
Wednesday, Feb 10 ARU vs DS
Wednesday, Feb 10 Chi Psi vs AD
Tuesday, Feb 16 AD vs Psi U
Tuesday, Feb 16 Chi Psi vs (Beta Zeta vs Sigma Nu)
Thursday, Feb 18 Deke vs KS
Thursday, Feb 24 TD vs Zeta
Thursday, Feb 24 ATO vs DS
Monday, Mar 1 KS vs DS
Wednesday, Mar 3 ATO vs Zeta
Tuesday, Mar 4 Deke vs Chi Psi
Wednesday, Mar 10 ARU vs Deke
Thursday, Mar 11 Sigma Nu vs Psi U

Interfraternity Bowling

Tuesday, Dec 1 AD vs Zeta
Wednesday, Dec 2 Chi Psi vs ARU
Thursday, Dec 2 KS vs Sigma Nu
Tuesday, Dec 8 AD vs ATO
Wednesday, Dec 9 Deke vs DS
Thursday, Dec 10 Psi U vs ARU
Thursday, Dec 10 Sigma Nu vs TD
Wednesday, Dec 16 Chi Psi vs AD
Thursday, Dec 17 Psi U vs DS
Tuesday, Jan 5 Chi Psi vs Beta Zeta
Wednesday, Jan 6 Psi U vs Sigma Nu
Thursday, Jan 7 AD vs Psi U
Tuesday, Jan 12 TD vs Zeta
Wednesday, Jan 13 ATO vs DS
Thursday, Jan 14 Beta vs ARU
Wednesday, Jan 19 ATO vs Zeta
Wednesday, Jan 20 Deke vs Chi Psi
Thursday, Jan 21 KS vs DS
Thursday, Feb 9 ARU vs Deke
Thursday, Feb 10 Sigma Nu vs Psi U
Thursday, Feb 11 KS vs AD
Thursday, Feb 11 Chi Psi vs Psi U
Wednesday, Feb 17 KS vs TD
Thursday, Feb 18 Psi U vs Zeta
Wednesday, Feb 24 DS vs Chi Psi
Thursday, Feb 25 AD vs Sigma Nu
Thursday, Mar 2 TD vs Chi Psi
Wednesday, Mar 3 KS vs ATO
Thursday, Mar 4 Sigma Nu vs DS
Tuesday, Mar 9 ATO vs Deke
Wednesday, Mar 10 Chi Psi vs KS
Thursday, Mar 11 Psi U vs TD

FROSH CAGE SCHEDULE

Wed., Dec. 5 Lewiston (H)
Sat., Dec. 5 Bridgton (H)
Wed., Dec. 9 Edward Little (H)
Sat., Dec. 12 Brunswick (H)
Sat., Jan. 9 Stephens (H)
Tue., Jan. 12 South Portland (H)
Sat., Jan. 16 Cheverus (H)
Wed., Jan. 20 Westbrook (H)
Wed., Feb. 10 Hebron (A)
Tue., Feb. 16 Portland (H)
Sat., Feb. 20 Exeter (H)
Wed., Feb. 27 Maine Frosh (A)
Tue., Mar. 2 Bates Frosh (A) three touchdowns.

'Little Three' Title Awarded To Amherst

Amherst won the 'Little Three' title by defeating both Williams and Wesleyan. Bowdoin played all three of these teams and received the hardest opposition from the Lord Jeffs. The Polar Bears lost to them by four touchdowns, while losing to Williams by only one TD, and beating Wesleyan by three touchdowns.

Life Insurance Film, 'For Some Must Watch,' Watched By Some

The film issued by the Life Insurance Institute, "For Some Must Watch," was shown on Monday, November 16, in Smith Auditorium.

The film, which contained no advertising, is the story of a life insurance agent in the town of Oneida, New York and a typical twenty-four hour day in his life. Three graphic illustrations of how life insurance may be applied are depicted.

The film has been shown in several high schools, service organizations, at military installations throughout the country, and has received praise for having much educational value.

Spanish Recommended As Language Alternate

[Continued From Page 1] ... ture, while rich, is inwardly so—that is, it has not influenced us as much as those of France and Germany. . . .

Points For Admission
"Now we wish to present the evidence on which a case can be built up for the admission of Spanish. . . ."

"First, Bowdoin finds itself almost alone in limiting the opportunity of satisfying language requirements to French and German. The catalogues of 22 other colleges were examined and it was found that of these 22 only one, Bryn-Mawr, compelled its students to have a reading knowledge of French or German. . . ."

"Second, the student body was polled in an attempt to see how it felt as a whole towards this question of the acceptance of Spanish for the reading requirement, and more important, to seek the number and opinions of students directly concerned with this question. We found that approximately 106 students had taken Spanish in high school. About 114 would have liked to elect Spanish in fulfilling their requirement. As a whole, the student body was in favor of the addition of Spanish to French and German. . . ."

"The committee in the light of the above facts feels that there are grounds for the acceptance of Spanish as an alternative and it therefore urges a careful consideration of the problem by the administration and the faculty."

In the Middle Ages and early modern times, storms caused several floods in the Netherlands, each of which took some 100,000 lives.

Faculty And Students Join In Discussion

[Continued From Page 1] ... cause of bad publicity of fraternity activities. He emphasized the great importance of newspaper publicity. Brown also stressed the fact that at present the college is not booming financially, and he gave examples to support this statement.

Changing Dependency on 'Press'
Brown then told how the college must depend to a larger extent on press publicity for raising funds. In the past Bowdoin medical school graduates and men entering the teaching profession have brought us good publicity. Now, however, with no medical school here and with fewer graduates becoming teachers, the importance of publicity from the press is being realized. Brown stated that the students themselves are the 'press' and that they must actually make their own publicity.

Professor Athern Daggett emphasized the importance of fraternities have played and continue to play in college affairs. He pointed out that in no other college are the fraternities so strongly built into the college fabric as at Bowdoin. "As the fraternities go so goes the college" was Daggett's point. To preserve our fraternity system, he said, we must not mistreat our raw materials through abuse of good men. Responsibilities must be shared, he concluded, between fraternities and administration.

Roots Will Be Seen
The fifth speaker, Dr. Root said he felt that it was, as is often the case in anything, a time for some changes, this time in hazing. He said he would just as soon see quests abandoned, and he advocated several changes whereby hazing would be confined strictly to inside the houses.

Each professor stated that he was impressed by the democratic way in which the students are attempting to handle the problem. After their speeches the faculty members left and the meeting was turned over to Charles Orcutt '54 who acted as mediator in handling the general discussion by the students. Orcutt stated that the problem was now in the hands of the Student Council.

Position Clarified
The position of the Student Council in handling the discussion was then stated. The Council feels, it was emphasized, that a compromise with the administration is not the solution. The decision should be with the students. The houses cannot afford to sit back and wait, for the action must come from the students.

The primary concern in the general discussion which followed was that of quests. Many pros and cons were stated.

Saturday is the most dangerous day of the week in traffic.

Sports Editor Selects All-Maine Team; Three Polar Bears Chosen

[Continued From Page 3] ... yards for a touchdown.

The All-Maine backfield totals 731 pounds or an average of 183 per man. Totman, Cosgrove, and Bogdanovich are all repeaters from last year's team. On the team are five Maine men, three from Bowdoin, two from Bates, and one from Colby.

Second Team Lineup
The second team has Johnny Jacobs of Colby and Ron Perry of Maine on the ends, Machand of Colby and Moose Friedlander of Bowdoin at the tackles, with Gerry Goldstein of Bowdoin and Lu Garneau of Maine in at guards, and John Small, sophomore center from Maine, in the middle.

In the backfield at quarter is Steve Novick of Maine, at left half back Phil Day of Bowdoin and Charlie Windhorst of Colby, at right half back-running Vince Calenda of Maine, and at fullback Herb Morton of the Bobcats.

The total poundage of the line is 1286 with an average of 184 pounds per man. The backfield weighs in at 728 or an average of 182. There are five Maine men, three from Colby, three from Bowdoin and one from Bates.

On the first team there are seven seniors and four juniors while on the second team there are eight seniors, two juniors, and one sophomore.

Notice

Candidates for the freshman hockey team will meet in Banister Hall at 4:00 p.m. on November 24. Also managers are needed for both freshman and varsity hockey. If you are interested see Danny MacFayden in the gym.

were aired. Distinctions were made between constructive and destructive quests. It was emphasized that often a seemingly constructive quest can turn out to be a definitely destructive one. The problem of college publicity as a result of some quests was discussed.

No Conclusions Reached
No definite conclusions were reached at the meeting, and it was decided that individual house discussions should follow. Many unsaid views will thereby be forced into the open, giving all sides to the question due consideration. Results of these discussions, which will take place for the most part tonight, will be handled by the Student Council. As of last night's meeting the originally formed independent group is dissolved, having served its purpose of investigating student action.

CHOICE OF YOUNG AMERICA FOR THE FIFTH STRAIGHT YEAR —

GREYHOUND...
Heap Big Bargain for Everybody Going Home for Thanksgiving!

Boston 3.50
New York City 8.00
Hartford, Ct. 6.35
Albany, N. Y. 7.75
New Haven 6.85
Philadelphia 10.10
Providence 4.65

Owen's Taxi Service
149 1/2 Maine Street Phone 567
GREYHOUND

CHESTERFIELD
IS THE LARGEST SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA'S COLLEGES ...

by a 1953 survey audit of actual sales in more than 800 college co-ops and campus stores from coast to coast. Yes, for the fifth straight year Chesterfield is the college favorite.

CHESTERFIELD IS THE ONLY CIGARETTE EVER TO GIVE YOU PROOF OF LOW NICOTINE, HIGHEST QUALITY

The country's six leading brands were analyzed—chemically—and Chesterfield was found low in nicotine—highest in quality.

← This scene reproduced from Chesterfield's famous "center spread" line-up pages in college football programs from coast to coast.

CHESTERFIELD BEST FOR YOU

Annual Messiah Oratorio Lauded; Tillotson Leads

By Charles Janson-LaPalme '55

Last Saturday evening, the Bowdoin College Glee Club presented Handel's "Messiah," at the First Parish Church. Participating in this oratorio were the Glee Clubs of Pembroke College, Willard S. Thomson, conductor; Wheelock College, Lyle Ring, conductor; Bowdoin College, Frederic Tillotson, conductor, and the Brunswick Choral Society, Robert Beckwith, conductor. The program was dedicated to Mrs. Harvey Dow Gibson, and was conducted by Frederic Tillotson.

'Magnificent Proportions'

This year's presentation of the "Messiah" reached truly magnificent proportions. The audience heard an amazingly good orchestra and several equally good soloists. The combined choirs, totaling approximately three hundred voices, created a wonderful religious intensity that filled the entire church. The total success of the performance, however, was due to inspiration provided by conducting Tillotson. As he was conducting one of several choruses, he was giving almost the complete oratorio, Mr. Tillotson had to work exceptionally hard; and he did this with a high degree of precision. Through his efforts the singers responded to the mood of each chorus. In singing the three hundred voices, "Why do the Nations so furiously rage?" and "The trumpet shall sound," singing these stylistically and without flaw, Hayward demonstrated that he is now in the peak of his singing career at Bowdoin. Leland Wade, tenor soloist from Earlham College, Richmond, Indiana, displayed a fine tenor voice and good musicianship. Sally Moore, contralto, has a beautiful voice which is adapted to oratorio singing and is only limited by volume. The voice of the soprano soloist, Marjory Rice, was apparently the least suited for oratorio in her voice.

Hayward Outstanding

The performance of bass soloist, Donald Hayward '54, was outstanding. In singing two different arias, "Why do the Nations so furiously rage?" and "The trumpet shall sound," singing these stylistically and without flaw, Hayward demonstrated that he is now in the peak of his singing career at Bowdoin. Leland Wade, tenor soloist from Earlham College, Richmond, Indiana, displayed a fine tenor voice and good musicianship. Sally Moore, contralto, has a beautiful voice which is adapted to oratorio singing and is only limited by volume. The voice of the soprano soloist, Marjory Rice, was apparently the least suited for oratorio in her voice.

Tilly Pleased

A smooth orchestral performance can partly be attributed to its manager and fustler, Jop Hupper '54. Also worthy of praise are Gordon Stearns '54, accompanist; Rebecca Duffer, concertmaster; and trumpeters, Donald Coleman '55 and James Kushner '57, who played difficult music with ill-suited trumpets. Richard Gibson '54 successfully managed the entire production. Prof. Tillotson, pleased with the results, stated that the performance was "excellent technically and administratively." He said, "I am grateful that there was no single incident of any kind that the college or church authorities could frown on."

It was encouraging to see from the overflow audience that an appreciation of the "Messiah" by students and residents of Brunswick enables this oratorio to be presented each year.

U.S. Marine Officers Procurement Team Interviews Bowdoin Men

All Bowdoin men had the opportunity to see a film called "Leathernec Lieutenants" and a chance to discuss two different training programs offered by the Marine Corps this week. The first of these is "Platoon Leaders Training Class." It is open to freshmen and sophomores in college now. An "Officers Candidate Course" is open to graduates and seniors. The candidates for both are trained at Quantico, Virginia.

During the school year there are no classes, no uniform is worn, and no obligations are to be met. All training in the case of the PLC is during summer vacation in the OCC directly after graduation and during the first five months of active duty. Training for the PLC is twelve weeks long. It is taken in two equal parts.

Those who successfully complete the summer training will be awarded a second lieutenant's commission at commencement exercises or at another occasion. Men who successfully complete the ten-week program of the OCC are also commissioned second lieutenants and immediately sent to Basic School at Quantico, Virginia for five months of officers training.

West Point Physical Given

The candidates for both courses are given both mental and physical examinations. The physical is the same given candidates for West Point, with one exception, the vision required is a bit relaxed. A candidate may wear glasses provided he has 20-26 vision.

The first three steps of getting into this program are taken right here in the mental test is given; the officer of the team then interviews the candidate. Finally an application is sent to Washington.

Commissions (Continued on Page 2)

Manuscripts For One Act Play Contest Must Be Submitted By Jan. 11

Manuscripts for the twentieth annual one-act play contest must be submitted before January 11, 1954. It will be judged by Professor George H. Quinby, contest advisor.

The manuscripts are to be between 15 and 40 pages in length; typed in triplicate, if possible, and signed with a pseudonym. With them the author should turn in a sealed envelope bearing his own name inside and his pseudonym outside.

Faculty Panel

A panel of three faculty members will read the manuscripts submitted and will pick the three or four which they consider most worthy of production. Their choices will be announced at the annual meeting of the Masque and Gown on January 21, and the play chosen will be generally performed by their authors or other students chosen by the authors.

They will be presented in Memorial Hall against a setting of black draperies on March 8, and another panel of three judges will name the prize winners. The Masque and Gown will give cash prizes of twenty-five dollars to the winner, fifteen dollars to the runner-up, ten dollars to the best director, and ten dollars to the best actor. The winning playwright will also receive the Masque and Gown "Oscar," a wood carving donated for the contest by the late Harold T. Pulsifer in 1937, on which the winner's name will be inscribed.

Twentieth Contest

Since this is the twentieth year of the contest and since the College receives special commendation as a result of Edward Cogan's winning a prize in Samuel French's nation-wide competition last spring, Bowdoin play writers will be continuing an important part of the creative work of the College. Any student wishing further assistance or information may consult Professor Quinby.

Two full length plays by former winners of the Bowdoin One-Act Play Contest were tried out last month: Don Carlo's "Fiddle 'N Bell" at Bowdoin and Bance Bourjaily's "The Quick Years" in New York.

'Messiah', Jazz Concert And Dance Highlight '53 Messiah Week End

The Glee Club, assisted by the chorus of the Brunswick Choral Society, presented Handel's famous Christmas oratorio, the "Messiah," in the first Parish Church to highlight last weekend's festivities.

The weekend began for many undergraduates with the arrival of the Pembroke and Wheelock girls Saturday afternoon. After a lengthy rehearsal for the evening's singing the girls were presented to their escorts for the weekend. Then, with varying degrees of enthusiasm Bowdoin men and their newly acquired dates proceeded to the A.R.U. fraternity to listen to a spirited concert which was presented by the Polar Bear Five.

Tilly Lauded

Shortly after dinner a large audience gathered at the first Parish Church for the presentation of the "Messiah." The full "Messiah" chorus under Professor Tillotson's direction, included approximately 60 voices from Wheelock, 70 from Pembroke, 90 from the Brunswick Choral Society, and 100 from the host Bowdoin Club. The Wheelock group was trained by Professor Lyle Ring, the Pembroke chorus by Millard Thomson, and the Brunswick chorus by Frederic Tillotson. (Continued on Page 2)

Lt. Moore Gives A Pearl Harbor Day Talk In Chapel

First Lieutenant Kenneth E. Moore, USMC, spoke in Chapel on Monday, December seventh, in commemoration of the twentieth anniversary of Pearl Harbor Day. He was introduced by Philip S. Wilder, who noted that over three thousand Bowdoin men had served in the Armed Forces since the beginning of World War II, and that over two hundred have lost their lives.

First Lieutenant Moore stressed the short time that the United States had to prepare her forces after the Pearl Harbor attack, and the many battles that were fought and lives that were lost before we finally won the war.

He pointed out that we are greatly indebted to these Men of Pearl Harbor, and the only way we can pay this debt is to remember what another Pearl Harbor would mean to the world. The noble deeds of our peace-makers can become scraps of paper overnight; if we do not prepare ourselves, we will give our heritage of freedom. To quote an old axiom, we must "Trust in God, but keep our powder dry."

Mitchell Honored

Professor Mitchell, who still lives in Brunswick, graduated from Bowdoin in 1890 and returned to his alma mater in 1893 as an instructor in rhetoric. In 1897 he became

Dr. Hanley Attends Meeting Of College Physicians At Yale

Dr. D. F. Hanley, College Physician, attended a meeting of New England college doctors last Saturday at Yale University in New Haven, Conn.

The group meets to discuss problems which medical staffs have in common. Last Saturday's discussion was confined to athletic injuries, mental health, and two diseases common in every college in the fall: infectious hepatitis and infectious mononucleosis.

Attends Confab

The prize, awarded to an undergraduate writing the best poem, was established in 1920 by the late Mrs. Helen Rickard of Denver, Colorado in memory of her stepson. In later years the prize was continued by Mrs. Roscoe J. Ham of Brunswick and President Emeritus Kenneth C. M. Sills.

Tillotson Praises Glee Club In Opener

"Almost in top mid-season form," according to Director Frederic Tillotson, the Bowdoin Glee Club opened the current season at Farmington, November 21. "This is one of the best operators we have ever had," said Professor Tillotson. "It turned out remarkably well and promises the best for the rest of the season. We had balance, pitch, tone and confidence."

College Medley Song

Featured in the concert were the Meddiebumpers, the Chapel Choir conducted by Robert Beckwith, and the traditional College Medley, which was conducted by Gordon Stearns, Jr. '54.

Baritone solos were sung by Donald Hayward, '54, Robert Johnson, '55, Frederic Wilkins, '56, and Dennis King, '54. Arthur Small, '55 handled a tenor solo.

Dr. D. F. Hanley

Eight Colleges Represented The following colleges were among those represented: Amherst, Harvard, Yale, Williams, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Smith, Vassar and Wellesley.

Dr. Hanley was presented at a recent special meeting of the Traumatic Society to discuss football injuries, and soon he will be in New York to take a course in hand surgery.

Retiring And Succeeding ROTC Heads

There will be an important meeting of all members of the ROTC staff in room 128, Dec. 10, in the Moore Hall office. The meeting will start promptly at seven p.m. and shouldn't last more than a half hour. Any member of the staff who cannot attend will please notify the Editor before dinner time tomorrow. Anyone not attending without an excuse may lose his position on the staff.

General aspects of reporting for the ORIENT will be discussed and emphasized. Attendance is therefore compulsory.

Messrs. Wilder And Norton Attend Public Relations Conference

Education and television, college films, and new approaches to fund raising were under discussion at the District One conference of the American College Public Relations Association attended by two members of the administration in Boston last week. Mr. Philip S. Wilder, Assistant to the President, and Mr. Bela W. Norton, Vice President, were among the 100 people, representing 49 New England colleges, who attended the panel sessions Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday at Boston's Sheridan Plaza.

Educational TV Discussed

The question of educational television was an important topic of the conference. At Friday noon's program, President John C. Adams of Hofstra College, Chairman of the Television Committee of the American Council of Education, spoke on the subject "Education Through Television." Harmon H. Hyde, Assistant Director of Public Relations at Brown University, discussed Brown's use of television.

Bowdoin's representatives were among those seeing four college films, put out for costs ranging from 37 dollars to 600 dollars by Lafayette College, Smith College, Wesleyan University, and Yale University. The films were designed to keep interest alive in the alumni and to interest prospective students. Mr. Norton reports that the most successful film to show to prospective students, but that the admissions office has found that slides, because of the limited facilities at some schools, are more effective.

Purpose of Association

The American College Public Relations Association gives its member colleges a means of keeping in touch with the public relations work of other institutions. It carries on its work through the district conferences and by the publication of bulletins.

Wellesley College was the host college at last week's convention.

Sergeant First Class James Goode Completes College ROTC Staff

A new man has been placed on the Bowdoin ROTC staff. He is Sergeant First-Class James T. Goode. Sgt. Goode is the additional non-commissioned officer needed to bring the staff up to full strength, with a total of five commissioned and five non-commissioned officers.

Sgt. Goode, whose primary duty is to maintain all of the ROTC vehicles at Bowdoin, has seen much of the world while serving his country. He was sent to Germany shortly after World War II was over. In 1949 he was a part of Operation MIKI, which was a mock invasion of the Hawaiian Islands. He recalled that during this operation a submarine, unknown to the convoy of the "invaders," maneuvered behind the convoy and fired a guided missile at them. Each ship was supposed to fire at the missile; however, to the surprise of everyone, including the people on the submarine, the missile came so fast that only two ships reported seeing it and none had fired at it.

Mechanic In Korea

When the Korean war broke out, Sgt. Goode was sent to the Far East. He was a part of the famous Inchon invasion in Korea. When asked if anything unusual had happened to him while in Korea, he modestly remarked, "No, most things were pretty much run of the mill." His duties were serving 17 months in Korea that were of a mechanic. After Korea, he spent two months in Japan before returning to the United States.

Prior to coming to Bowdoin, Sgt. Goode was stationed at Fort Devens, Massachusetts, with the 278th Regimental Combat Division. Sgt. Goode applied for a position as an instructor some three months ago. "I put down on the application that I wanted a job in either New York or New Jersey, thinking I would have a better chance of getting a position there. I like it up here, though. About the only thing I don't like is the television reception in this part of the country." Sgt. Goode is about as far from home as one can get and still be in the United States. His home state is Washington.

In Charge of "Duck"

Just before this interview, Sgt. Goode was completing some minor repairs on the Bowdoin "Duck," which has been given to the Bowdoin ROTC by the army. It will be one of Sgt. Goode's duties to take all advanced students for a ride and show them how to operate the "Duck." Fortunately for your reporter, no one was scheduled to report on the Androscoggin River while interviewing Sgt. Goode. He very willingly took P. Jay Howard, William B. Leathers, Melvin E. Hodgkins, Kent G. Hobby, and your reporter for a ride in the huge amphibious vehicle. Each had a chance to drive it in and out of the river. Although it is an experience to get behind the wheel of the "Duck" and drive it straight into the water, it is even more impressive to watch the cumbersome "Duck" power itself out of the mud and water to dry land.

Sgt. Goode is living near Lisbon Falls with his family. The Goode family is comprised of his wife, a German girl whom he married while in Germany, and a young son. In addition to maintaining the vehicles, Sgt. Goode will also assist in certain phases of instruction and other technical work.

Regimental Review Honors Retirement Of Col. Kennett

Col. Walter Hoyt Kennett, U.S.A., who retired from active duty after 30 years of military service, was honored at a regimental review at Pickard Field on November 30.

Colonel Kennett has been Professor of Military Science and Tactics at Bowdoin since 1950, when the Transportation Corps, R.O.T.C. Unit came to the College. The program now has an enrollment of more than 450 students. Cadet Captain Gordon W. Stearns '55 presented the regimental review for formal review. Among the special guests for the ceremony were Major General Wallace C. Philton, Rtd. of Brunswick and Brig. General Altonzo B. Holmes, Rtd. of Topsham. Other Bowdoin guests present were Col. George W. Palmer, Chief of the Maine Military District; Navy Captain Elmer R. Hill, Rtd. of Topsham and representatives from the Brunswick Naval Air Station.

Following the review, Dr. James S. Coles, President of Bowdoin, announced that Lt. Col. Will R. Winfrey has been appointed Professor of Military Science and Tactics, succeeding Col. Kennett. Col. Winfrey, a native of Tennessee, is a graduate of Southwestern College at Memphis and served throughout World War II with overseas duty in Africa, Sicily, and Italy. More recently he has been stationed with the United States Forces in Austria, where he commanded a Transportation Truck Battalion and was in charge of a storage depot. His decorations include the American Defense, American Campaign, and Victory Medals, the Army of Occupation Medal for Germany, and the European African Middle East Campaign Medal with five battle stars and a bronze arrowhead. He is married and has one son.

Col. Kennett was born September 1, 1900, in West Newbury, Mass., and graduated in 1924 from Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He later received from that same institute degrees in military engineering and mechanical engineering. He served during World War II as an Automotive Officer with IX Corps; as Chief of the Equipment and Maintenance Branch, G-4, European Theater of Operations; and as an executive officer with the 15th Traffic Regulation Group. His decorations include the American Defense, American Campaign, and Victory Medals, the Army Occupation Medal for Germany, and the European African Middle East Campaign Medal with battle stars for Normandy, Southern France, Central Europe, and the Rhineland.

Following the close of hostilities, Col. Kennett returned to this country and for two years was Chief of the Research and Development Division of the Office of the United States Transportation. He later was assigned as Assistant Chief of the Manpower and Utilities Division of the Munitions Board in Washington, D. C. During the summer of 1952 he was Deputy Commander of the Transportation Corps ROTC Summer Camp at Fort Belvoir, Illinois. More than 1,300 cadets from 50 colleges and universities held a six weeks' training camp. Last June Bowdoin honored Col. Kennett with a Master of Science degree at its 148th Commencement.

The Kennett name will continue to appear on the active list of the United States Army, for his oldest son, Walter Hoyt Kennett, Jr., is in his second year at the Military Academy at West Point. Col. and Mrs. Kennett, the former Mrs. Mary D. Kennett of Baltimore, Maryland, have three other children, William, Sarah, and Robert.

After many years of moving about in both this country and the rest of the world, the Kennetts are permanently in Topsham. The Colonel's retirement is only from the Army, not from an active life. He has purchased an interest in Albertson Motors, Inc., the Ford Agency in Bath, and will devote his time and energy to that field, in which he has always been interested. Since 1927 he has been a member of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Bill Beeson Winner Of Annual Alexander Prize Speaking Contest

Sophomores William Beeson, III, and Frederick C. Wilkins were awarded first and second prizes in the Alexander Prize Speaking Contest held in Memorial Hall on Monday.

Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick announced the other seven speakers as winners of third place. Beeson kept the audience chuckling with his presentation of "When the Seven's Away," a selection from the "Seven Year Itch" by George Axelrod. "The Unicorn in the Garden" and "The Moth and the Star" by James Thurber was given by Wilkins. The Zete House Quartet entertained during intermission.

Benjamin G. M. Priest '56 presented "John Savage Shagbillion on Luck" by Halliday Wilther, a selection from "The Unicorn in the Garden" by James Thurber. "I'm a Fool" was Norman L. Levy's speech. Walter G. Gans '57 gave a selection from "Cyano DeBerguer" by Edmond Rostand. A selection from "All Quiet on the Western Front" by Eric Regener was given by Camille Sarrault '55 and Alfred C. Darrow, Jr. '57.

(Continued on Page 2)

Prof. Romer To Talk On 'Evolution Of Man' Monday Evening, Dec. 14

On Monday evening, December 14, at 8:15 p.m., in the Smith Auditorium at Bowdoin College, Professor Alfred Sherwood Romer will lecture on the "Evolution of Man."

Dr. Romer, a noted paleontologist, is Director of the Museum of Comparative Zoology at Harvard University where he is also Alexander B. Woodward Professor of Zoology. He is a graduate of Amherst College, and received his doctorate from Columbia University in 1921. During the First World War, he was a member of the American Field Service, driving an Ambulance in the front.

Since receiving his doctorate, Professor Romer has been associated with New York University and Bellevue Hospital Medical College, with the American Museum of Natural History, and with the University of Chicago. He has been at Harvard University since 1934, and in 1949 received an honorary Doctor of Science degree from that institution. He is a member of the National Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Dr. Romer is the author of a number of publications in his field of work, as well as of several books of vertebrate anatomy and paleontology. His studies of the earliest land vertebrates have done much to elucidate problems of the evolution of backboned animals.

In addition to his Museum and teaching duties, Professor Romer has collected extensively in this country and in Africa. His most intensive collecting has been done in Texas where the best deposits of the Permian of early land vertebrates are to be found.

Sergeant First Class James Goode Completes College ROTC Staff

A new man has been placed on the Bowdoin ROTC staff. He is Sergeant First-Class James T. Goode. Sgt. Goode is the additional non-commissioned officer needed to bring the staff up to full strength, with a total of five commissioned and five non-commissioned officers.

Sgt. Goode, whose primary duty is to maintain all of the ROTC vehicles at Bowdoin, has seen much of the world while serving his country. He was sent to Germany shortly after World War II was over. In 1949 he was a part of Operation MIKI, which was a mock invasion of the Hawaiian Islands. He recalled that during this operation a submarine, unknown to the convoy of the "invaders," maneuvered behind the convoy and fired a guided missile at them. Each ship was supposed to fire at the missile; however, to the surprise of everyone, including the people on the submarine, the missile came so fast that only two ships reported seeing it and none had fired at it.

Mechanic In Korea

When the Korean war broke out, Sgt. Goode was sent to the Far East. He was a part of the famous Inchon invasion in Korea. When asked if anything unusual had happened to him while in Korea, he modestly remarked, "No, most things were pretty much run of the mill." His duties were serving 17 months in Korea that were of a mechanic. After Korea, he spent two months in Japan before returning to the United States.

Prior to coming to Bowdoin, Sgt. Goode was stationed at Fort Devens, Massachusetts, with the 278th Regimental Combat Division. Sgt. Goode applied for a position as an instructor some three months ago. "I put down on the application that I wanted a job in either New York or New Jersey, thinking I would have a better chance of getting a position there. I like it up here, though. About the only thing I don't like is the television reception in this part of the country." Sgt. Goode is about as far from home as one can get and still be in the United States. His home state is Washington.

In Charge of "Duck"

Just before this interview, Sgt. Goode was completing some minor repairs on the Bowdoin "Duck," which has been given to the Bowdoin ROTC by the army. It will be one of Sgt. Goode's duties to take all advanced students for a ride and show them how to operate the "Duck." Fortunately for your reporter, no one was scheduled to report on the Androscoggin River while interviewing Sgt. Goode. He very willingly took P. Jay Howard, William B. Leathers, Melvin E. Hodgkins, Kent G. Hobby, and your reporter for a ride in the huge amphibious vehicle. Each had a chance to drive it in and out of the river. Although it is an experience to get behind the wheel of the "Duck" and drive it straight into the water, it is even more impressive to watch the cumbersome "Duck" power itself out of the mud and water to dry land.

Sgt. Goode is living near Lisbon Falls with his family. The Goode family is comprised of his wife, a German girl whom he married while in Germany, and a young son. In addition to maintaining the vehicles, Sgt. Goode will also assist in certain phases of instruction and other technical work.

Dr. Romer To Talk On 'Evolution Of Man' Monday Evening, Dec. 14

On Monday evening, December 14, at 8:15 p.m., in the Smith Auditorium at Bowdoin College, Professor Alfred Sherwood Romer will lecture on the "Evolution of Man."

Dr. Romer, a noted paleontologist, is Director of the Museum of Comparative Zoology at Harvard University where he is also Alexander B. Woodward Professor of Zoology. He is a graduate of Amherst College, and received his doctorate from Columbia University in 1921. During the First World War, he was a member of the American Field Service, driving an Ambulance in the front.

Since receiving his doctorate, Professor Romer has been associated with New York University and Bellevue Hospital Medical College, with the American Museum of Natural History, and with the University of Chicago. He has been at Harvard University since 1934, and in 1949 received an honorary Doctor of Science degree from that institution. He is a member of the National Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Dr. Romer is the author of a number of publications in his field of work, as well as of several books of vertebrate anatomy and paleontology. His studies of the earliest land vertebrates have done much to elucidate problems of the evolution of backboned animals.

In addition to his Museum and teaching duties, Professor Romer has collected extensively in this country and in Africa. His most intensive collecting has been done in Texas where the best deposits of the Permian of early land vertebrates are to be found.

Sergeant First Class James Goode Completes College ROTC Staff

A new man has been placed on the Bowdoin ROTC staff. He is Sergeant First-Class James T. Goode. Sgt. Goode is the additional non-commissioned officer needed to bring the staff up to full strength, with a total of five commissioned and five non-commissioned officers.

Sgt. Goode, whose primary duty is to maintain all of the ROTC vehicles at Bowdoin, has seen much of the world while serving his country. He was sent to Germany shortly after World War II was over. In 1949 he was a part of Operation MIKI, which was a mock invasion of the Hawaiian Islands. He recalled that during this operation a submarine, unknown to the convoy of the "invaders," maneuvered behind the convoy and fired a guided missile at them. Each ship was supposed to fire at the missile; however, to the surprise of everyone, including the people on the submarine, the missile came so fast that only two ships reported seeing it and none had fired at it.

Mechanic In Korea

When the Korean war broke out, Sgt. Goode was sent to the Far East. He was a part of the famous Inchon invasion in Korea. When asked if anything unusual had happened to him while in Korea, he modestly remarked, "No, most things were pretty much run of the mill." His duties were serving 17 months in Korea that were of a mechanic. After Korea, he spent two months in Japan before returning to the United States.

Prior to coming to Bowdoin, Sgt. Goode was stationed at Fort Devens, Massachusetts, with the 278th Regimental Combat Division. Sgt. Goode applied for a position as an instructor some three months ago. "I put down on the application that I wanted a job in either New York or New Jersey, thinking I would have a better chance of getting a position there. I like it up here, though. About the only thing I don't like is the television reception in this part of the country." Sgt. Goode is about as far from home as one can get and still be in the United States. His home state is Washington.

In Charge of "Duck"

Just before this interview, Sgt. Goode was completing some minor repairs on the Bowdoin "Duck," which has been given to the Bowdoin ROTC by the army. It will be one of Sgt. Goode's duties to take all advanced students for a ride and show them how to operate the "Duck." Fortunately for your reporter, no one was scheduled to report on the Androscoggin River while interviewing Sgt. Goode. He very willingly took P. Jay Howard, William B. Leathers, Melvin E. Hodgkins, Kent G. Hobby, and your reporter for a ride in the huge amphibious vehicle. Each had a chance to drive it in and out of the river. Although it is an experience to get behind the wheel of the "Duck" and drive it straight into the water, it is even more impressive to watch the cumbersome "Duck" power itself out of the mud and water to dry land.

Sgt. Goode is living near Lisbon Falls with his family. The Goode family is comprised of his wife, a German girl whom he married while in Germany, and a young son. In addition to maintaining the vehicles, Sgt. Goode will also assist in certain phases of instruction and other technical work.

Dr. Romer To Talk On 'Evolution Of Man' Monday Evening, Dec. 14

On Monday evening, December 14, at 8:15 p.m., in the Smith Auditorium at Bowdoin College, Professor Alfred Sherwood Romer will lecture on the "Evolution of Man."

Dr. Romer, a noted paleontologist, is Director of the Museum of Comparative Zoology at Harvard University where he is also Alexander B. Woodward Professor of Zoology. He is a graduate of Amherst College, and received his doctorate from Columbia University in 1921. During the First World War, he was a member of the American Field Service, driving an Ambulance in the front.

First Debate For Mitchell Trophy Pits Beta And T.D.

On December 9 the first of the interfraternity debates for the Wilmut Brookings Mitchell Trophy was held at Bowdoin College. This first contest matched Beta Theta Pi fraternity against Theta Delta Chi. On succeeding Wednesday evenings the other ten fraternities and the non-fraternity group will be matched, one debate being held each week.

It is hoped that the quarter finals, semi finals, and finals will be staged in March, with the final debate, open to the public, to be held on March 22.

The Wilmut Brookings Mitchell Trophy recognizes that famous Bowdoin teacher's contribution to the growth of interest in the speech arts, particularly in debating, during his 46 years of teaching at Bowdoin. It was given by an anonymous donor and is to be awarded this year for the first time. It is the wish of the donor to encourage undergraduate interest in topics of current concern and to stimulate informal debate and discussion on the campus. The debates, brief and informally conducted, will be followed by group discussions.

Mitchell Honored

Professor Mitchell, who still lives in Brunswick, graduated from Bowdoin in 1890 and returned to his alma mater in 1893 as an instructor in rhetoric. In 1897 he became

Dr. Hanley Attends Meeting Of College Physicians At Yale

Dr. D. F. Hanley, College Physician, attended a meeting of New England college doctors last Saturday at Yale University in New Haven, Conn.

The group meets to discuss problems which medical staffs have in common. Last Saturday's discussion was confined to athletic injuries, mental health, and two diseases common in every college in the fall: infectious hepatitis and infectious mononucleosis.

Attends Confab

The prize, awarded to an undergraduate writing the best poem, was established in 1920 by the late Mrs. Helen Rickard of Denver, Colorado in memory of her stepson. In later years the prize was continued by Mrs. Roscoe J. Ham of Brunswick and President Emeritus Kenneth C. M. Sills.

Tillotson Praises Glee Club In Opener

"Almost in top mid-season form," according to Director Frederic Tillotson, the Bowdoin Glee Club opened the current season at Farmington, November 21. "This is one of the best operators we have ever had," said Professor Tillotson. "It turned out remarkably well and promises the best for the rest of the season. We had balance, pitch, tone and confidence."

College Medley Song

Featured in the concert were the Meddiebumpers, the Chapel Choir conducted by Robert Beckwith, and the traditional College Medley, which was conducted by Gordon Stearns, Jr. '54.

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, December 9, 1953 No. 15

Editor-in-Chief
Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55
Managing Editor
John B. Goodrich '55
News Editors
David R. Anderson '55 Thomas L. Spence '57
George I. Rockwood '56 Richard M. Catalano '55
Franklin G. Davis '54 Donald W. Blodgett '54
John M. Belka '54 Gerard L. Dube '54
Joe H. Hupper '54 David G. Lavender '55
Edward N. Cotter '56 Benjamin G. M. Priest '56

Assistant News Editors
Carroll E. Pennell '56
Feature Writers
Russell B. Crowell '55
James P. Gaston '54
Staff
Peter Schmalzer, Jr. '57
Edward P. Parsons '57
John Ralettt '57
John R. Withers '57
Richard B. Lyman '57
Thomas R. Merrill '57

Sports Editor
Robert M. Hurst '54
Assistant Sports Editor
Joseph Y. Rogers '55
Sports Staff
Sam L. H. Cohen '57
Russell B. Crowell '55
James P. Gaston '54

Business Manager
Bruce N. Cooper '54
Assistant Business Managers
C. Richard Thurston '54
Harold R. Beacham, Jr. '54
David H. Dott '57
Peter F. Gass '57

Advertising Manager
James A. Cook '54
Advertising Staff
Peter M. Pirnie '55
Harry G. Carpenter '57

Directors
Professor Athern P. Daggett, Professor James A. Storer
Ernie N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilley '54, Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55, Charles Ralettt '54

BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Representatives for National Advertisers
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representatives
400 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO - BOSTON - LOS ANGELES - SAN FRANCISCO

Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semester by the students of Bowdoin College. Address news communications to the Editor and subscription communications to the Business Manager of the Bowdoin Publishing Company at the ORIENT Office in Moore Hall, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. Entries to second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three dollars.

Young Republican Club Sends Delegates To New England Congress

Representatives from the Young Republican Club of Bowdoin College attended a Congress of the New England College Young Republicans at Harvard College this past week end, Dec. 5-6. The members of the Congress held committee meetings and met in joint sessions which brought the reports of the committees to a vote. The various committees in which Bowdoin was represented were as follows: Labor, Industry and Tariffs, Fred O. Smith II '56, Chairman; Campus Organization and Fund Raising, Robert Wagg '57; and Public Rights in Investigations, Tom Dwight '54. There were sixty-six students from around twenty-five colleges present at the Congress, representing all the New England States. The first session was opened with the formation of the rules of order, and was followed by a speech from Chester E. Merrow, United States Representative from New Hampshire, who spoke on "Today, one of the Three Great Landmarks in the History of the United States," he stated that the other two landmarks were the framing of the Constitution, followed by the precedents that Washington set as our first president, and the Civil War, which resulted in uniting this country into a strong union. After the Saturday session of the Congress and the various committee meetings there was an evening discussion at Radcliffe College, followed by a reception for the delegates. Due to the success of the Congress it was decided that another one should be held next year at Trinity College in Hartford, Conn., although it had been the custom in the past to only hold such a congress every four years. The next meeting of the Young Republican Club of Bowdoin College will be held at 8 o'clock, tonight in the Moulton Union.

It's the week before Christmas
Your money is low,
Just a little pot-luck,
And away you go!

Home for Christmas by GREYHOUND

Boston	3.50
New York City	8.00
Hartford, Ct.	6.35
Albany, N. Y.	7.75
New Haven	6.85
Philadelphia	10.10
Providence	4.65

Owen's Taxi Service
149 1/2 Maine Street Phone 567
GREYHOUND

Library And Chemistry Buildings Feature Unusual Exhibitions

A colorful collection of mezzotints of English Shakespearean actors and a display of handbills and programs of recent performances of Shakespeare's dramas at the various London theatres is currently on display in the exhibition cases in Hubbard Hall. The samplings of hand-colored mezzotints were reproduced from sketches of the leading members of the Stratford Memorial Theater and were made in the theater during action. They are the same temporary equivalents of the actual eighteenth century originals of which there are several specimens in this exhibit. Recently, many of London's theaters have attempted to, bring back the spirit of the Elizabethan stage. The famous "Old Vic," for instance, has established a five-year plan whereby all of Shakespeare's 36 plays will be performed commencing with Hamlet this season. The Mermaid Company of London has erected in the Royal Exchange a replica of the famous Globe Theater and will put on performances of Macbeth and As You Like It. The beautiful Stratford Memorial Theater has terraces and promenades overlooking the Avon. Several open-air theaters have been established in the vicinity of the Elizabethan stage with "groundlings" in the pit being served ale during the acts. This exhibit exemplifies the spirit of the British, as Londoners of all levels of sophistication look now as in the Elizabethan age to see Shakespeare's plays. Chemistry Displays
The Chemistry Department has set out on display in Cleaveland Hall objects from the Champlin Budge Collection, given to the college in February, 1951. These archaeological relics were collected from the Mound Builder Sites near Marietta, Ohio. It was supposedly the custom of an ancient tribe inhabiting the area to build burial mounds for their dead and to leave with them various items and utensils of stone. Some of the oldest artifacts found in this collection are represented in this exhibit. Folsom points or arrowheads of various sizes and shapes comprise a large part of the display, along with blades, celts, and axes. Curious-looking gorgets were used as ornaments and wore evidently worn over the chest. Highly-polished plummets were possibly used for fishing, but more probably were superstitious charms of phallic worship. Pestles, pokers and pipes make up the rest of the collection.

Three out of four traffic accidents involve passenger cars.

Be Careful, Joe
Senator Joseph McCarthy's charges against Harvard University indicate the extent to which communist hunters have pushed their way behind the Ivy Curtain. When a Harvard professor, Wendell H. Furry, refused to testify before McCarthy's House Un-American Activities Committee on the basis of the Fifth Amendment, the Senator telegraphed President Pusey to ask what action the University was going to take in Furry's case. McCarthy stated that Dr. Pusey's reply would be particularly important since Harvard, to some extent at least, is supported by government funds — tax exemptions, land grants, government projects, and so forth. The Senator also charged that the University was a "smelly mess," where members of the communist party currently on the faculty were feeding students "communist philosophy." These are serious charges. The first threatens to harness academic freedom to a congressional committee. The second is equally terrifying. To accuse one of the nation's leading universities of being a hot bed of communism without offering any tangible proof is a dangerous way to mold public opinion. McCarthy did not stop there. He also maintained that there was a large group of professors "whom

Behind The Ivy Curtain

By David R. Anderson '55

The name of a Bowdoin man occasionally appears in one of the other college newspapers. However, I was quite surprised when the Mt. Holyoke News honored the late Dr. Hyde. Says the author of that paper's humor column, "Learned friends, we give you Dr. Hyde. We don't want him." The reason for this blasphemy stems from a speech our late president made at Mt. Holyoke back in 1904: "Women of course should be kept up to a reasonable standard of attainment. But they should be subjected to no artificial stimulus; in fact, by the offer of no prizes; never told their rank in comparison with others; relieved of all competitive considerations; encouraged to take a four-year program in five years. . . . Productive scholarship, the power to grasp a subject in all its relations, to add to it and so vigorously react upon it that ever after it bears the individual scholar's stamp — this is almost man's sphere. Few women have capacity for it. . . . For the girls the Doctor recommended: . . . oral reading, the rendering of music, certain forms of art, story telling, delineations of character and natural scenery, and especially teaching. . . ."

Messiah, Jazz Concert And Dance Highlights

Following the "Messiah" a small but boisterous dance was held in the lounge of the Moulton Union. With all the noise, however, the large crowd seemed to enjoy themselves dancing to the music of Ole Sawyer and his band from Portland and listening to the Meddies: Following the dance there were the usual round of parties and sing-groups at several of the fraternities.

Dixieland Jam Session At A.R.U. House

A contingent of the Polar Bear Five playing jazz hot before a large group of dixie fans at the A.R.U. House last Saturday afternoon. Cornetist Wally Harper (extreme left), drummer Charlie Chapman (foreground), and clarinetist Bruce Young (right) are pictured above. Not shown in this "drummer's-eye-view" are Ward Kennedy, trombone and Bert Lipas, piano.

Early Sunday morning a few hardy souls who had given dates ventured over to the Union to watch the buses depart for Wheelock and Pembroke. In spite of the shortness of the week end and the inevitable blind date

Marine Procurement Team Interviews Here

[Continued from Page 1]
The candidate has the option of resigning anytime he sees fit. He will be dropped if he allows his grades to fall below a C average. About 80 to 90 percent successfully complete the PIC course. During the first 6-week period the PLC student is a corporal and receives pay for that grade. In his final training session he is a sergeant and receives appropriate pay. The OCC student receives privates' pay for initial training period plus allowances for any dependents.

Beeson Cops Prize In Speaking Contest

[Continued from Page 1]
presented "Mr. Stryver's Marriage Proposal" by Charles Dickens. The final speeches of the evening were Charles N. Janson-LaPalme's '55 rendition of "An Expedition Concerning Aunt Tabitha and Chowder" by Tobias Smollett, and Paul A. Durrant Jr.'s '56 "Slave Ship at Night," a selection from "John Brown's Body" by Stephen V. Benet. The judges for the contest were Mrs. John Cummins, Miss Phyllis Wright, and Mr. Edwin G. Walker. troubles most of the students felt that it was a success. Last year was the third consecutive year of increase in the traffic death toll.

GOOD LOOKS PLUS COMFORT

Rate An A-Plus On Our Tremendous Variety Of Flannel Shirts Priced as low as 2.49

Phil's Surplus Store
78 Maine Street Brunswick

Student Patronage Solicited

First National Bank
Brunswick, Maine

Member of the Federal Reserve System and Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

BOOKS FOR Christmas Giving

We will gift wrap and mail your purchases at no extra charge. Let us help you choose the right books.

PALMER'S BOOK SHOP
Next To Bowdoin — On Maine Street

BOWDOIN GLASSWARE

College Seal In White

14 Ounce Highball	5.00 dozen
12 Ounce Highball	5.00 dozen
9 1/2 Ounce Highball	5.00 dozen
Old-Fashioned	5.00 dozen
Old-Fashioned With Platinum Edge	7.50 dozen
Cocktail	5.00 dozen
Cocktail Shaker	5.00 each

Glasses sold only in cartons of one dozen
Bowdoin Chair . . . 24.50

MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE

Champions' Choice!

Flexible Flyer
SPLITKEM
Laminated Skis

- Lively and flexible, but not too soft.
- Laminated for greater strength with less weight.
- Perfectly matched in grain, weight and camber.
- For extra speed and durability, steel or duralumin edges are available, as are

MICARTA Plastic Solos

How the stars got started

LIZABETH SCOTT says: "I got my theatrical training in the school of hard knocks. Summer stock first. Once I sat for 7 months as an understudy. I stuck it out — studied, posed for fashion pictures. Then, signed for a tiny film part, I was switched to leading lady. My career had begun!"

Lizabeth Scott
LOVELY MOVIE STAR

I CHANGED TO CAMELS BECAUSE IN EVERY WAY THEY SUIT MY TASTE BETTER THAN OTHER CIGARETTES I'VE TRIED. I SUGGEST YOU TRY CAMELS!

Start smoking Camels yourself!

Smoke only Camels for 30 days and find out why Camels are first in mind, favor and popularity! See how much pure pleasure a cigarette can give you!

CAMELS AGREE WITH MORE PEOPLE THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

S. L. ALLEN & CO., Inc.
487 Elmwood Ave., Plain, 40, Pa.
Makers of world famous Flexible Flyer Skis and Flaxey Rows

Varsity Hoopsters To Play Colby, Bates And U Of Maine

Nip Clark On Foul Shots In Final Few Seconds; Bow In Close Games To Trinity, New Hampshire

After winning one out of their first three games against out-of-state teams, the varsity cagers open up the basketball season tonight against Bates in a home game, before encountering Maine and Colby on Friday and Saturday respectively, with Bowdoin considered to have an excellent chance of winning the nine-game series.

Bowdoin opened its 1953-54 basketball season by dropping a close 92-90 decision to New Hampshire in the Bowdoin gym last Wednesday night. Ron Goz had tied the score at 90 all with two foul shots. With seconds remaining, Billy Pappas drove down the floor and hit on a one-hand jump shot to win the game. The one foul shot was the highest scoring game in the history of the Sargent Gym. Pappas of UNH took the scoring honors with 13 field goals and 8 foul shots for a total of 34 points. Ron Goz scored 31 points for Bowdoin.

The Polar Bears played by Bill Fraser and Goz led 31-21 at the end of the first quarter. In the second period Bowdoin's field goal output was held to four while New Hampshire's Pappas, Michel and Trudell were hitting to cut Bowdoin's lead to five points at half time.

Lead Slimmed

The third period saw Bowdoin hampered by sloppy passing and ball handling, enabling the Wildcats to slim the Polar Bears' lead down to two points. The final period was a thriller with the lead changing hands several times. Pappas and Goz matched baskets with Pappas putting in 14 and Goz 13.

On Friday the Combsmen traveled down to Worcester to play Clark University. The White squeaked by 70-69 on Ron Goz's foul shot with seven seconds remaining. Ron Janelle, John Libby and Phil Day combined to score six from the floor for a total of 16 to give the Polar Bears a brief 16-14 lead. Clark went ahead in the second period as the White offense hopped down. The Polar Bears could score only one basket by George Mitchell and five foul shots while Clark was busy pouring through 19 on baskets by Gibbons, Flint and Sanders to give the home team a 33-22 advantage at half time. Bill Fraser and the sophomores got rolling in the third period, hitting with seven field goals and six fouls and picking up three points on the leaders. Bowdoin burned up the floor in the final period as Goz pumped in nine and Libby and Flaker, six, to pull ahead of Clark by one point and win the game 70-69.

Following Clark, the White moved to Hartford to take on a tough Trinity quintet. Trinity seemed to have little trouble with the Polar Bears as they led in every period. Ronnie Goz again led the scoring with 17 points on seven field goals and three fouls. Close behind were Trinity's Mazurek and Eustia with 16 and 15 points respectively. Goz opened the scoring with two foul shots. Then Libby hit for two and Goz followed with four and Bill Fraser hit for two more. Barton paced Trinity's opening quarter with nine points to give the Hill-toppers an 18-10 lead.

Libby, Janelle Score

Libby opened with a long set for two in the second quarter and then Janelle hit four for five, but the Polar Bears could only score 15 while Mazurek and Company scored another 15 to give them a 36-24 lead at the half.

Libby again opened the scoring in the third period with two followed by Phil Day and Ron Goz's sets for six more points. Janelle then hit for two, followed by baskets by Libby and Day. The Hill-toppers were slowed down in this period as Bowdoin pulled up within five points when the final buzzer sounded. The final score was 63-57.

Totman '54 Recipient Of Special Award

At the suggestion of Track Coach Jack Magee, a special award for excellence in athletics was presented last week to Melvin T. Totman '54, Co-Captain of the Varsity Football squad this fall. The award consisted of an appropriate piece of athletic gear to be kept by Totman as a token of the appreciation of the Athletic Department.

One Record Set, Another Broken

The ninety points racked up by the Bowdoin five in a losing cause against New Hampshire was the highest the team has ever scored in a single contest. The winners' total of 92 may well be the all-time opponents' mark.

When star sophomore Ronny Goz poured 31 markers in that same game, he came within five points of tying the all-time individual record held by senior center Bill Fraser. With almost three years to go, he should have little trouble in making shambles of Bowdoin individual scoring records.

Hockey Prospects Bright With 7 Veterans; Rogerson Is Captain

There are 21 skaters trying out for the Bowdoin hockey team, which opens its season Jan. 7 against Norwich.

Captain Danny MacFayden has seven lettersmen returning from last year's varsity and two veterans who were not able to perform in '52. He is particularly pleased with the prospect of once again having a first line with a great scoring punch. Capt. Dave Rogerson will be flanked by Dick McCusker and Dave Mellicoff to form the starting line if MacFayden decides not to stagger the best puckmen.

Bob Hazard definitely may prove good enough to move into this first line, but he should be the mainstay of the second line. Other prospects who are expected to bolster the scoring attack are Don Blodgett, Paul Doherty, Dick McCabe, Pete Pirnie and Jack Swenson.

The defense positions appear to be filled already barring injuries by two experienced hockey players, Larry Dwight and Dave Coe. Both these men are being heavily counted on, since there is a decided lack of depth in this department. Rogerson may alternate with these men when he is not at center. Other defensive hopefuls are Bob Burr, Frank Davis, Danny King and Frank Metz.

There are three goalies on the team now. Skip Howard, Pete Rigby and Punchy Testa. Howard saw a lot of service last year and probably will handle most of the chores in front of the cage this winter. Rigby might replace Howard or split the duties with him, since he is in excellent condition.

The candidates are exercising in back of the library daily and are occasionally trekking to St. Dom's arena in Lewiston, where there is ice. They are to return for practice early from the Christmas vacation so they should be in fine shape for the season's opener.

Frosh Cagers Open Season By Winning First Two Tilts

Conquer Lewiston, 62-47, And Bridgton, 87-74; Fraser, Finn, Carpenter And Johnson Standouts

A 23-point spurt in the second period overcame Lewiston High's early lead and started off the frosh basketball campaign on a winning note, 62-47, on Wednesday, Dec. 1, in the Sargent Gymnasium.

Sensational shooting from the outside by Bob Johnson, Bowdoin high scorer with 14 markers, paced the frosh in the first half. Center John Finn, who finished with one less, sparked the second-half offensive.

Second Period Spurt

The losers started fast, holding a 16-8 lead just before the end of the first quarter. But Lewiston was held to one field goal in the next period against Bowdoin's nine; at the half the frosh were ahead, 33-22, never to be again seriously threatened.

Grabbing a safe lead in the second period and holding about a ten-point advantage the rest of the way, the Bowdoin frosh cagers knocked off an undermanned Bridgton squad, 87-74, on Saturday, Dec. 5, at the winners' court.

With John Finn's injured knee keeping him out of action and promising backcourt man Bob Johnson having an off-day, Tom Fraser, Dick Drenzek, and Harry Carpenter took up scoring duties. Tom, Dick and Harry accounted for 52 points among them, with Fraser personally responsible for 25.

Almost A Three-Man Team

Because the December college boards were being held, Bridgton sent down only an eight-man team. Two of their starters fouled out, leaving only six, one of whom

Team	G	F	P	Pts
Bowdoin	2	1	1	119
Fraser	11	3	2	62
Bancroft	1	0	0	0
Wishart	1	0	0	0
Levy	0	0	0	0
Carpenter	1	0	0	0
Pickett	1	0	0	0
Conner	2	1	5	15
Johnson	3	2	8	14
Eaton	0	0	0	0
Smith	0	0	0	0
McGoldrick	1	0	2	2
Totals	32	23	87	247

Interfraternity Basketball Begins

Glover, Nieman Hit For Twenty

The interfraternity basketball league opened its season last week as all twelve fraternities played. Following are the box scores:

Team	G	F	P	A	D	Pts
Beta	5	3	13	1	1	24
Gamma	5	2	12	1	1	21
Delta	4	0	8	1	1	15
Epsilon	4	0	8	1	1	15
Zeta	2	0	2	1	1	2
Eta	2	0	4	1	1	2
Theta	2	0	4	1	1	2
Iota	2	0	4	1	1	2
Kappa	2	0	4	1	1	2
Lambda	2	0	4	1	1	2
Mu	2	0	4	1	1	2
Nu	2	0	4	1	1	2
Totals	28	6	58	12	12	57

TD Nips Kappa Sig By One Point

TD Nips Kappa Sig by one point in a game that was a thriller until the final minutes.

Team	G	F	P	Pts
TD	1	0	1	1
Kappa Sig	1	0	0	0
Totals	2	0	1	1

Standings

Team	W	L	Pct
Zeta Psi	1	0	1.000
Beta	1	0	1.000
Sigma Nu	1	0	1.000
TD	1	0	1.000
ARU	1	0	1.000
Chi Psi	1	0	1.000
EKE	0	1	.000
Kappa Sig	0	1	.000
ATO	0	1	.000
Delta Sig	0	1	.000
Psi U	0	1	.000
AD	0	1	.000

Points Games

Player	Points	Games
Nieman, AD	20	1
Glover, Chi Psi	20	1
Vecella, Sigma Nu	19	1
Cosgrove, Kappa Sig	17	1
DuPlessis, Beta	16	1

Next Week's Games

Monday: Psi U vs. Zeta ATO vs. Beta
Tuesday: Delta Sig vs. Chi Psi *Kappa Sig vs. ARU
Thursday: AD vs Sigma Nu Deke vs. TD
*Game of the week

DAVE'S TAILOR SHOP
Alterations - Repairing - Cleansing - Pressing
Suits Made To Measure
76 Maine Street Phone 1468

Merrymeeting Gift Shop
185 Park Row
Greeting Cards --- Gifts
Free Gift Wrapping

HALLMARK CHRISTMAS CARDS
SMITH'S PHOTO SHOP
146 MAINE STREET BRUNSWICK, MAINE

"Matchless Service"

Sales and Service
Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed
USED CARS
Maine's Most Modern Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop
Complete Front End and Frame Alignment
Wesley H. Smart
87 PLEASANT STREET - BRUNSWICK, MAINE

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it...
Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money.
TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY
ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS
The Record Office
Paul K. Niven Jerry Wilkes
Printers Of The Orient

EXCLUSIVE!!!

Well-Known Reindeer Tells All

NORTH POLE, ARCTIC. Looking very dapper for an 18-point buck with chalked muzzle and matching white tail assembly, Dasher, famous front-running reindeer for the S. Claus Parcel Service, stated today:

- Conditions on the northern tundra are pretty much the same as ever. No-o, TV hadn't affected the grazing habits of the middle-class herds.
- That despite reports to the contrary, you don't ever thoroughly adjust to sub-zero weather, regardless of the warm estem people hold you in.
- Rumors of a reindeer strike for Christmas Eve are unfounded. Somebody's got a termite in his antler.

When asked about the most popular Christmas gift down through the years he replied without hesitation: "Menswear by Manhattan. I've helped haul Mr. Claus's sled, roe and buck, night unto forever... so I ought to know... nothing makes a man happier than shirts, sportshirts, ties, pajamas, beachwear or underwear labeled Manhattan. Don't know whether it's the live style that makes a man look and feel so good, whether it's the traditional tailoring detail, or the array of fabrics, patterns and colors that are all so unmistakably quality. I'll admit one thing. I've kind of wished sometimes that Manhattan would make deerwear."

BOWL-MOR Alleys
AUTOMATIC PIN SETTERS
Hot Dogs
Italian Sandwiches
Cold Drinks
Coffee
Ice Cream
Operated by Al Tobey, Class of '50

BOWDOIN PRINTS
Unframed
Bowdoin College in 1821 5.00
Bowdoin College in 1860 5.00
BOWDOIN COCKTAIL TRAY
Beautiful Crafted Picture Tray With Full Color View Of Bowdoin College in 1821
Waterproof, Cocktail-Proof Finish
When not used as a tray, can be hung on wall (Hanger hook on back) 4.50
MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE

How silent is the night?
Watching the serenity of Christmas skies we are conscious of deep silence. Yet the stars are talking to us all the while—talking in radio waves that are full of meaning to scientists probing the depths of space.

The important discovery that some stars produce radio waves was made by a Bell Laboratories scientist while exploring atmospheric disturbances which might interfere with transoceanic telephone service. His discovery marked the birth of the fast-growing science of radio astronomy. It is telling us of mysterious light-less stars that broadcast radio waves, and it promises exciting revelations about vast regions of space concealed by clouds of cosmic dust.

And so from the probings and skills of Bell System scientists and engineers has come another tool to help man understand better the universe in which he lives. These men are a proud team—members of a still larger team engaged in research, engineering and administration and working on telephone problems in all parts of the country. We would like you to consider joining them.

There are employment opportunities with the companies that provide telephone service, with Western Electric, and with the Bell Laboratories. We need young men for the leaders in tomorrow's Bell Telephone System. Check today with your Placement Officer for details.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

CUMBERLAND THEATRE
Brunswick, Maine
Wednesday-Thursday December 9-10 SABRE JET with Robert Stack Coleen Gray
News Short Subjects
Friday-Saturday December 11-12 THE GLASS WEB with Edward G. Robinson
News Short Subjects
Sunday-Monday-Tuesday December 13-14-15 BOTANY BAY with Alan Ladd James Mason
News Short Subjects
Wednesday-Thursday December 16-17 THOSE REDHEADS FROM SEATTLE with Rhonda Fleming Gene Barry
News Short Subjects

Chi Psi First In Swimming Meet; Only Two Lettermen On Varsity

With the graduation of such stars as Bob McGrath, Larry Boyle, Charlie Hildreth, Tom Lyndon, and Bob Saunders, many of the places in this year's meet were taken by freshmen and sophomores. On the Polar Bear varsity this season are only three swimmers who have had experience before coming to Bowdoin. The remainder of the swimmers have been developed under the watchful eye of Capt. Bob Arwezon. Although some of them are progressing rapidly, Bowdoin will have one of the most inexperienced teams in years.

The squad's greatest disappointment, however, is the absence of Coach Bob Miller, whose recent illness has kept him from the helm of the Bowdoin aquatic team. Miller's coaching, needed more than ever during a building season, may not be available for some time to come. Arwezon has been leading the practices and will continue to do so until Coach Miller's return.

Future Outlook Is Dim
Returning from last year's team are Bob Arwezon, whose stellar performances were the high spots of a successful season; Ken Brigham, a promising sprinter; along with Ted DeWinter and George Jackson. Of these, Arwezon and Brigham are the only lettermen. Up from the freshman team are Bob Glover, a three-stroke swimmer; Clark Mill, a promising man in the breaststroke; and Lloyd Willey in the backstroke and medley. Kurt Herman, Steve Morse, and Cal Hindall will figure in the building of the team, as they are all sophomores. Larry Johnston, sophomore winner of the interfraternity diving, will be diving with the varsity this year.

The Chi Psi members, taking first places in five of the ten events, and rolling up a total of 63 points, gained permanent possession of the Robert Pennell Memorial Trophy as three time winner of the Interfraternity Swimming Meet.

Taking first, second, and third place sweeps in both the 100 and 200 yard freestyles, as well as a victory in the final relay, the Purple and Gold swimmers piled up 38 of their point total. Wins in the sprint and the quarter-mile by Chi Psi, and seconds and thirds spread evenly throughout the meet accounted for the remainder of the Chi Psi points.

Zeta Psi finished in second place with a total of 39 points.

Three Double Winners
There were three double winners in the meet. Captain Bob Arwezon, an All-American and a winner of the National Long Distance Championship, splashed his way to easy victories in both the 220 and 440, finishing up full pool length in front of his nearest competitor.

The other double winners in the meet were sophomores Bob Glover and Clark Mill. Glover winning the 50 and 100 yard sprints, with Mill taking firsts in the breaststroke and individual medley. The only freshman winner was Tom Merrill, who took first place in the backstroke.

Judging from the performances in the Interfraternity Meet and from the small return of lettermen, Bowdoin's swimming outlook is rather dark. This year's team can not compare with the teams of the most recent times, but it should win its share of meets. The team opens against Dartmouth at Hanover, N. H., on December 12.

Twenty-Four Awarded Varsity Grid Letters; Numerals Given To 17

Malcolm E. Morrell, Director of Athletics at Bowdoin College, announced the names of 24 men awarded varsity football letters and 17 men awarded varsity football numerals. In addition, two men received football managers' letters and eight men football managers' numerals. Of the 24 lettermen 8 will be lost by graduation, 10 more will be seniors next fall, and six will be juniors.

Of the 17 men awarded their numerals, 3 are juniors and 14 are sophomores. Next year Coach

Adam Walsh will have a nucleus of 16 lettermen to build around, but his losses by graduation will be great. In June the following lettermen will graduate: Atkins, Friedlander, Farrington, Goldstein, Cosgrove, Larcom, Garland, and Totman — an end, a tackle, two guards, and four backfield men.

The list of lettermen follows:
Atkins, E. E., Jr. '54; Cecelski, A. R. '55; Cosgrove, J. F. '54; Coukos, F. '55; Day, P. S. '55; Dyer, L. E. '56; Farrington, A. S. '54; Friedlander, W. J. '54; Garland, P. A. '54; Ingraham, J. H. '55; Jeon, D. T. '55; Kowal, S. A. '56; Larcom, G. D. '54; Libby, J. T. '56; McCabe, S. J. '56; Murray, A. I. '56; Peluso, G. C. '55; Pratt, L. G. '55; Roux, D. A. '55; Stephens, H. B. '55; Testa, P. E. '55; Totman, M. A. '54; Williamson, A. W. '55.

Football Managers receiving letters are:
Joy, W. T. '54; Philbrook, W. W. '55.

Winners of numerals are:
Anthony, H. W. '55; Barton, B. K. '56; Berkeley, J. L. '56; Chapman, P. A. '56; Collette, R. C. '56;

Football managers receiving numerals are:
Mather, W. L. '56; Bond, R. M. '56; Herrman, C. R. '55; McDonough, E. D. '57; Langbein, E. E. '57; Barbeau, R. D. '57; Spence, T. L. '57; Durst, W. H. '56.

Compagnone, S. J. '56; Gelinas, G. S. '56; Gorman, L. A. '56; Hovey, B. B. '55; Howe, T. H. '55; Johnson, R. L., Jr. '56; McGinley, F. L. '56; O'Rourke, P. J. '56; Patterson, D. H. '55; Stagnone, J. J. '55; Stearns, T. B. '56; Woodbury, T. K. '56.

Consult Your Campus Agent
GEORGE W. GRAHAM '55
About Life Insurance
Provident Mutual Of Philadelphia

Bowdoin College's 1953-54 varsity basketball squad, composed mostly of underclassmen. Front row, Philip A. Weiner '55, James R. Flaker '54, George J. Mitchell Jr. '54, John A. Kreider '56, Edward M. Kenney '56, John T. Libby '56, G. Curtis Webber '55, Kenneth B. Miller '54. Second row, Frank A. Paul Jr. '55, Roland H. Janelle '56, Richard W. Kurtz '56, Captain William J. Frazer '54, Ferrin Allen '56, Harlan I. Prater III '56, Ronald A. Golz '56, John S. Marr '55, Russell B. Crowell '55. Not present for picture, Philip S. Day '55.

Bowdoin To Sponsor School Track Meet

Bowdoin College Athletic Director Mal Morrell has announced that invitations have been sent to high schools and preparatory schools throughout New England, inviting them to the 38th annual Bowdoin College Interscholastic Track Meet. This will be held on March 6, 1954, at the Hyde Athletic Cage in Brunswick.

Any school is eligible to enter this meet upon certification by its principal. Teams competing in the relay races are chosen by invitation.

Principal speakers at the dinner were Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick of Bowdoin; Walter Brown, President of the Boston Garden Corporation, a close friend of Magee; and Mal Morrell, Bowdoin's Athletic Director.

Following these speakers Coach Adam Walsh presented pictures of his Bowdoin football team in action, for the benefit of the alumni and several high school students who had been invited.

Magee, who came to Bowdoin in 1913 from the Powder Point School in Duxbury, Mass., has been Olympic Coach five times, is a past president of the Association of Collegiate Track Coaches of America, is a member of the Maine Boxing Commission, and was recently

"Doodlesack" is a colloquial name for bagpipes.

Coach Magee Honored For 40 Years' Service At Testimonial Dinner

The Student Curriculum Committee is now considering the possibility of instituting a course in Ancient History.

In reviewing its work of the semester thus far the following statements were stressed. The Committee was organized and functions as a representative body for expressing general student opinion on academic questions. The Committee has a considerable number of topics to study for the semester and year. Some of these are of the nature that does not bring immediate response from the faculty or administration; yet they are vital. However, the Committee wants to be sure it is reporting on the topics of most interest and real concern to the students. It is sincerely hoped that any suggestions are the scores:

Magee, who came to Bowdoin in 1913 from the Powder Point School in Duxbury, Mass., has been Olympic Coach five times, is a past president of the Association of Collegiate Track Coaches of America, is a member of the Maine Boxing Commission, and was recently

Principal speakers at the dinner were Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick of Bowdoin; Walter Brown, President of the Boston Garden Corporation, a close friend of Magee; and Mal Morrell, Bowdoin's Athletic Director.

Following these speakers Coach Adam Walsh presented pictures of his Bowdoin football team in action, for the benefit of the alumni and several high school students who had been invited.

Magee, who came to Bowdoin in 1913 from the Powder Point School in Duxbury, Mass., has been Olympic Coach five times, is a past president of the Association of Collegiate Track Coaches of America, is a member of the Maine Boxing Commission, and was recently

Curriculum Committee Considers Instituting Ancient History Course

The Student Curriculum Committee is now considering the possibility of instituting a course in Ancient History.

In reviewing its work of the semester thus far the following statements were stressed. The Committee was organized and functions as a representative body for expressing general student opinion on academic questions. The Committee has a considerable number of topics to study for the semester and year. Some of these are of the nature that does not bring immediate response from the faculty or administration; yet they are vital. However, the Committee wants to be sure it is reporting on the topics of most interest and real concern to the students. It is sincerely hoped that any suggestions are the scores:

Magee, who came to Bowdoin in 1913 from the Powder Point School in Duxbury, Mass., has been Olympic Coach five times, is a past president of the Association of Collegiate Track Coaches of America, is a member of the Maine Boxing Commission, and was recently

POLAR BEARINGS

By Robert M. Hurst '54, ORIENT Sports Editor
Bowdoin basketball has suddenly taken a turn for the better. Coach Bezer Coombs has come up with a team that is potentially the best in the state and without too much trouble should take the state series. The team is mostly made up of sophomores centered around captain Bill Frasier the only senior on the starting five. The remainder of the starting quintet is made up of sophomores Ron Golz, Rolfe Janelle, Johnny Libby, and Johnny Kreider. Backing up this starting five is Johnny Marr, a junior, George Mitchell, a senior, and sophomores Kenny, Frazer, and Kurtz. The Whiz Kids begin their quest for the state title against Bates Wednesday. Bates is the best of the other three Maine colleges so the Polar Bears should be in top form for this game.

Colby has lost the services of its skyline crew of Ted Lallier, Frank Piacentini, Ted Weigand, Ron Nagle, and Ted Hawes. Loud Lee Williams is in for a dismal season with only three returning veterans of dubious quality on the squad. Maine is also in a similar situation with the double loss of Norris and Churchill. If everything runs true to form the Polar Bears will be at the top of the heap as far as Maine collegiate basketball is concerned.

Mei Totman and Art Cecelski were named by the Portland Press Herald on their annual All-Maine team. Totman climaxed three years of brilliant varsity duty and made the team for the second straight year. Totman, a senior, was the workhorse for the Polar Bears this fall although he was out for the Williams and Amherst game with a dislocated elbow. He topped off his career on the gridiron for the Polar Bears with a dazzling 95-yard kickoff in the rain and mud at Maine.

Cecelski also returned to the Herald's team for the second year although only a junior this year. Art was one of the few bright spots in a Bowdoin line that was outweighed in practically every game. Coach Adam Walsh will be faced with the same situation next year and once again will have to center his line play around the aggressive guard.

Some of the best basketball around can be seen in the interfraternity games this year. Already two of last year's top four play-off teams have been beaten in only a preview of what is to come. This year's teams are better balanced and every game is a thriller. For some of you basketball fans who like to see fast, aggressive games drop over to the gym during the week and have a look.

Bowling, Volleyball Leagues Have Begun

Last week marked the opening of the interfraternity bowling league schedule. Six matches were bowled as all twelve fraternities saw action.

As the volleyball season began last week, five interfraternity matches were played. Following are the scores:

Kappa Sigma 2	Theta Delta Chi 0
Delta Kappa Epsilon 0	Sigma Nu 2
Alpha Delta Phi 2	Beta Theta Phi 1
Delta Sigma 2	Zeta Psi 0
Alpha Rho Upsilon 2	Alpha Tau Omega 0

The men winning their numerals were:

Twenty-Nine Freshmen Get Football Letters

Twenty-nine men have been awarded their freshman football numerals at Bowdoin College, according to an announcement by Malcolm E. Morrell, Director of Athletics.

The men winning their numerals were:
Gregory F. Abbott '56, Richard Armstrong, John W. Collins, Hartley S. Conzett, Michael A. Coster, Carl J. Deubois, Richard Dreznick, Donald E. Dyer, Robert A. Estes, Richard K. Fickett, Werner F. Fischer, Walter L. Hardie, Kent G. Hobby, William B. Hird, George F. Howland, Allen M. Laues, Paul J. McGoldrick, John J. Manning, John T. Morrison, Walter Moses, Arthur L. Perry, Robert E. Poole, Deique S. Potter Jr., David G. Roundy, Richard W. Smith, John Snow, Arthur E. Strout, Joseph G. Wade, and David K. Watson, all of the Class of 1957.

This Ad Good For 1.00

On Any Pipe 3.50 Or More

Morton's
208 MAINE STREET
BRUNSWICK, MAINE

We Deliver To College

HOT DOGS
ITALIAN SANDWICHES
(Made with ham or salami)

BEER and ALE
TO TAKE OUT

HOOD'S PLACE
Phone 787-M
180 Maine Street
Brunswick, Maine

Outfitters To Bowdoin Men

A Remarkably Fine
Button Down Oxford Shirt
for only 395

Fine, sanforized oxford in white or blue. The collar in length and spread is exactly the style college men prefer. Full comfortable cut and French fronts are tailoring refinements of higher price shirts.

Silk Repp Neckwear . . . 2.00 and 2.50

MAINE STREET

PHONE 200

BRUNSWICK

YOUNG AMERICA GOES CHESTERFIELD

FOR THE FIFTH STRAIGHT YEAR
CHESTERFIELD

IS THE LARGEST SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA'S COLLEGES . . .

by a 1953 survey audit of actual sales in more than 800 college co-ops and campus stores from coast to coast. Yes, for the fifth straight year Chesterfield is the college favorite.

CHESTERFIELD IS THE ONLY CIGARETTE EVER TO GIVE YOU PROOF OF HIGHEST QUALITY—LOW NICOTINE

Change to Chesterfield today — get smoking pleasure all the way!

"At the colleges and wherever we play, I find more and more young men and women going for Chesterfield."

Ray Anthony

CHESTERFIELD
BEST FOR YOU

Commander MacMillan Feted With The Bowdoin Prize, Highest Honor Bestowed

Renowned Over The Whole World Concerning Arctic Explorations

President James S. Coles announced today in the regular chapel service that the College's greatest distinction, the Bowdoin Prize, has been awarded for 1953 to Commander Donald Bexter MacMillan of the Class of 1895...

graduate. One fall night in 1894 a freshman class flag was placed on the spire of the Chapel on the campus. The very next night MacMillan removed this flag and installed in its place not only the flag of the sophomore class but also a plumed hat, then the symbol of sophomore superiority. This feat has not, fortunately, been attempted much in recent years.

Prof. Daggett Gives Talk To Observe Human Rights Day

The discussion of the American tradition "which believes in the inherent right of the individual as an individual" was the theme of Professor Athern P. Daggett's chapel talk in observance of Human Rights Day, December 10.

Beeson and Wilkins Cop Honors In Alex. Prize Speaking Contest

William Beeson, III, a sophomore from Wayne, Pa., won the Alexander Prize Speaking Contest in Memorial Hall, Bowdoin College, Monday evening. He delivered a selection entitled "When the Wife's Away," from George Axelrod's recent play "The Seven Year Itch."

Work While At Bowdoin

Professor Russell came to Bowdoin in 1939 as Instructor of Biblical Literature, was promoted to assistant professor in 1946, and to associate professor in 1949. During 1944-45 he was with UNRRA (United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration) and the American Friends Service Committee in Egypt.

Funeral Oration

From Greece comes Pericles' oration given on a day for the commemoration of those who had died defending the state, in which he discusses the qualities which made Athens great. "Our laws secure equal justice for all in their private disputes. We have no black looks or angry words for our neighbors if they enjoy themselves in their own way..."

Alpha Sigma Pi at Middlebury College

Alpha Sigma Pi at Middlebury College turned in its national charter. Soon taking similar action was Alpha Chi Sigma at MIT, Alpha Triton chapter of Psi Sigma Kappa at Wesleyan University, and Kappa Delta Rho at Albany, New York, State Teachers College.

Conservative Tradition

Professor Daggett, who was chairman of the committee for proposal, will also serve as Chairman of the Committee on Self-Study Bowdoin. The name, in fact, points out that its distinctive characteristic is its "maintenance" of the conservative tradition.

Prof. Russell Retires From Faculty; Accepts Finance Post

Henry Griffen Russell, Associate Professor of Religion at Bowdoin College, has resigned to accept a new position in the finance department of the American Friends Service Committee in Philadelphia.

BCA Conducts Service; Kenneth Miller Speaks On The Youth Of Today

On Sunday, December 13, the morning service at the First Parish Church was conducted by the Bowdoin Christian Association. George A. Harvey, '55, gave the Call to Worship, the Invocation, and the Responsive Reading.

Harvard Educational Report Causes Lively Discussion In Brunswick

A report on the curriculum of Brunswick Public Schools, recently made as the result of a survey by the Harvard School of Education, has lately caused a good deal of discussion here.

Troubled Due For Greek Letter Societies; Must End Race Discrimination

H. Edward Born '57 It would seem that we are at the advent of a new era: a new chapter in the history of Greek letter societies is about to be written, especially for those fraternities and sororities on the campuses of many New England and New York colleges.

Allen And Pillsbury Represent Bowdoin At West Point Conference

West Point, N. Y., 5 Dec. Mr. Richard H. Allen and Mr. Robert W. Pillsbury represented Bowdoin College at the fifth Student Conference on United States Affairs which was brought to a close today after its four day session at the United States Military Academy, West Point, New York.

Williamson Attends N.Y. Meeting

Andrew W. Williamson III '55 represented Bowdoin College at the 58th Congress of American Industry of the National Association of Manufacturers at the Waldorf Astoria in New York from December 2 to 5.

Two Boys Honored By Awards From Kappa Sigma Fraternity

Two Maine boys were honored today by scholarship - leadership awards made by the national Kappa Sigma Fraternity. The ceremony took place following the evening meal at the local chapter house at Bowdoin College in Brunswick. The boys were Roland G. Ware, Jr. of Rockland and Ronald B. Gray of South Brewer, both members of the senior class.

Pres. Coles Attends Government-University Meeting In Washington

On December 8, President James S. Coles attended the first meeting of the National Science Foundation Advisory Committee on Government - University Relationships, in Washington, D. C.

Beeson and Wilkins Cop Honors In Alex. Prize Speaking Contest

William Beeson, III, a sophomore from Wayne, Pa., won the Alexander Prize Speaking Contest in Memorial Hall, Bowdoin College, Monday evening. He delivered a selection entitled "When the Wife's Away," from George Axelrod's recent play "The Seven Year Itch."

Trouble Due For Greek Letter Societies; Must End Race Discrimination

H. Edward Born '57 It would seem that we are at the advent of a new era: a new chapter in the history of Greek letter societies is about to be written, especially for those fraternities and sororities on the campuses of many New England and New York colleges.

Bowdoin Among Colleges, Universities Chosen As Recipients Of Special Grant

Harvard Educational Report Causes Lively Discussion In Brunswick

A report on the curriculum of Brunswick Public Schools, recently made as the result of a survey by the Harvard School of Education, has lately caused a good deal of discussion here.

Would Establish Self-Survey Of The Liberal Arts Program Here

Bowdoin College has been selected as one of sixteen colleges and universities throughout the United States granted a total of approximately $280,000 by the Fund for the Advancement of Education. Each of these institutions will make a self-survey of some aspect of its liberal arts education program. The grants were made under the Program for College Self-Studies initiated by the Fund last year.

Williamson Attends N.Y. Meeting

Andrew W. Williamson III '55 represented Bowdoin College at the 58th Congress of American Industry of the National Association of Manufacturers at the Waldorf Astoria in New York from December 2 to 5.

Allen And Pillsbury Represent Bowdoin At West Point Conference

West Point, N. Y., 5 Dec. Mr. Richard H. Allen and Mr. Robert W. Pillsbury represented Bowdoin College at the fifth Student Conference on United States Affairs which was brought to a close today after its four day session at the United States Military Academy, West Point, New York.

Prof. Daggett Gives Talk To Observe Human Rights Day

The discussion of the American tradition "which believes in the inherent right of the individual as an individual" was the theme of Professor Athern P. Daggett's chapel talk in observance of Human Rights Day, December 10.

Prof. Romer Lectures In Smith Auditorium On "Evolution Of Man"

On Monday evening, December 14, Professor Alfred Sherman Romer lectured in the Smith Auditorium at Bowdoin College on the "Evolution of Man."

BCA Conducts Service; Kenneth Miller Speaks On The Youth Of Today

On Sunday, December 13, the morning service at the First Parish Church was conducted by the Bowdoin Christian Association. George A. Harvey, '55, gave the Call to Worship, the Invocation, and the Responsive Reading.

Williamson Attends N.Y. Meeting

Andrew W. Williamson III '55 represented Bowdoin College at the 58th Congress of American Industry of the National Association of Manufacturers at the Waldorf Astoria in New York from December 2 to 5.

Allen And Pillsbury Represent Bowdoin At West Point Conference

West Point, N. Y., 5 Dec. Mr. Richard H. Allen and Mr. Robert W. Pillsbury represented Bowdoin College at the fifth Student Conference on United States Affairs which was brought to a close today after its four day session at the United States Military Academy, West Point, New York.

Would Establish Self-Survey Of The Liberal Arts Program Here

Bowdoin College has been selected as one of sixteen colleges and universities throughout the United States granted a total of approximately $280,000 by the Fund for the Advancement of Education. Each of these institutions will make a self-survey of some aspect of its liberal arts education program. The grants were made under the Program for College Self-Studies initiated by the Fund last year.

Beeson and Wilkins Cop Honors In Alex. Prize Speaking Contest

William Beeson, III, a sophomore from Wayne, Pa., won the Alexander Prize Speaking Contest in Memorial Hall, Bowdoin College, Monday evening. He delivered a selection entitled "When the Wife's Away," from George Axelrod's recent play "The Seven Year Itch."

Troubled Due For Greek Letter Societies; Must End Race Discrimination

H. Edward Born '57 It would seem that we are at the advent of a new era: a new chapter in the history of Greek letter societies is about to be written, especially for those fraternities and sororities on the campuses of many New England and New York colleges.

Harvard Educational Report Causes Lively Discussion In Brunswick

A report on the curriculum of Brunswick Public Schools, recently made as the result of a survey by the Harvard School of Education, has lately caused a good deal of discussion here.

Would Establish Self-Survey Of The Liberal Arts Program Here

Bowdoin College has been selected as one of sixteen colleges and universities throughout the United States granted a total of approximately $280,000 by the Fund for the Advancement of Education. Each of these institutions will make a self-survey of some aspect of its liberal arts education program. The grants were made under the Program for College Self-Studies initiated by the Fund last year.

Williamson Attends N.Y. Meeting

Andrew W. Williamson III '55 represented Bowdoin College at the 58th Congress of American Industry of the National Association of Manufacturers at the Waldorf Astoria in New York from December 2 to 5.

Allen And Pillsbury Represent Bowdoin At West Point Conference

West Point, N. Y., 5 Dec. Mr. Richard H. Allen and Mr. Robert W. Pillsbury represented Bowdoin College at the fifth Student Conference on United States Affairs which was brought to a close today after its four day session at the United States Military Academy, West Point, New York.

Prof. Daggett Gives Talk To Observe Human Rights Day

The discussion of the American tradition "which believes in the inherent right of the individual as an individual" was the theme of Professor Athern P. Daggett's chapel talk in observance of Human Rights Day, December 10.

Prof. Romer Lectures In Smith Auditorium On "Evolution Of Man"

On Monday evening, December 14, Professor Alfred Sherman Romer lectured in the Smith Auditorium at Bowdoin College on the "Evolution of Man."

BCA Conducts Service; Kenneth Miller Speaks On The Youth Of Today

On Sunday, December 13, the morning service at the First Parish Church was conducted by the Bowdoin Christian Association. George A. Harvey, '55, gave the Call to Worship, the Invocation, and the Responsive Reading.

Williamson Attends N.Y. Meeting

Andrew W. Williamson III '55 represented Bowdoin College at the 58th Congress of American Industry of the National Association of Manufacturers at the Waldorf Astoria in New York from December 2 to 5.

Allen And Pillsbury Represent Bowdoin At West Point Conference

West Point, N. Y., 5 Dec. Mr. Richard H. Allen and Mr. Robert W. Pillsbury represented Bowdoin College at the fifth Student Conference on United States Affairs which was brought to a close today after its four day session at the United States Military Academy, West Point, New York.

Would Establish Self-Survey Of The Liberal Arts Program Here

Bowdoin College has been selected as one of sixteen colleges and universities throughout the United States granted a total of approximately $280,000 by the Fund for the Advancement of Education. Each of these institutions will make a self-survey of some aspect of its liberal arts education program. The grants were made under the Program for College Self-Studies initiated by the Fund last year.

Beeson and Wilkins Cop Honors In Alex. Prize Speaking Contest

William Beeson, III, a sophomore from Wayne, Pa., won the Alexander Prize Speaking Contest in Memorial Hall, Bowdoin College, Monday evening. He delivered a selection entitled "When the Wife's Away," from George Axelrod's recent play "The Seven Year Itch."

Troubled Due For Greek Letter Societies; Must End Race Discrimination

H. Edward Born '57 It would seem that we are at the advent of a new era: a new chapter in the history of Greek letter societies is about to be written, especially for those fraternities and sororities on the campuses of many New England and New York colleges.

Harvard Educational Report Causes Lively Discussion In Brunswick

A report on the curriculum of Brunswick Public Schools, recently made as the result of a survey by the Harvard School of Education, has lately caused a good deal of discussion here.

Would Establish Self-Survey Of The Liberal Arts Program Here

Bowdoin College has been selected as one of sixteen colleges and universities throughout the United States granted a total of approximately $280,000 by the Fund for the Advancement of Education. Each of these institutions will make a self-survey of some aspect of its liberal arts education program. The grants were made under the Program for College Self-Studies initiated by the Fund last year.

Williamson Attends N.Y. Meeting

Andrew W. Williamson III '55 represented Bowdoin College at the 58th Congress of American Industry of the National Association of Manufacturers at the Waldorf Astoria in New York from December 2 to 5.

Allen And Pillsbury Represent Bowdoin At West Point Conference

West Point, N. Y., 5 Dec. Mr. Richard H. Allen and Mr. Robert W. Pillsbury represented Bowdoin College at the fifth Student Conference on United States Affairs which was brought to a close today after its four day session at the United States Military Academy, West Point, New York.

Prof. Daggett Gives Talk To Observe Human Rights Day

The discussion of the American tradition "which believes in the inherent right of the individual as an individual" was the theme of Professor Athern P. Daggett's chapel talk in observance of Human Rights Day, December 10.

Prof. Romer Lectures In Smith Auditorium On "Evolution Of Man"

On Monday evening, December 14, Professor Alfred Sherman Romer lectured in the Smith Auditorium at Bowdoin College on the "Evolution of Man."

BCA Conducts Service; Kenneth Miller Speaks On The Youth Of Today

On Sunday, December 13, the morning service at the First Parish Church was conducted by the Bowdoin Christian Association. George A. Harvey, '55, gave the Call to Worship, the Invocation, and the Responsive Reading.

Williamson Attends N.Y. Meeting

Andrew W. Williamson III '55 represented Bowdoin College at the 58th Congress of American Industry of the National Association of Manufacturers at the Waldorf Astoria in New York from December 2 to 5.

Allen And Pillsbury Represent Bowdoin At West Point Conference

West Point, N. Y., 5 Dec. Mr. Richard H. Allen and Mr. Robert W. Pillsbury represented Bowdoin College at the fifth Student Conference on United States Affairs which was brought to a close today after its four day session at the United States Military Academy, West Point, New York.

Would Establish Self-Survey Of The Liberal Arts Program Here

Bowdoin College has been selected as one of sixteen colleges and universities throughout the United States granted a total of approximately $280,000 by the Fund for the Advancement of Education. Each of these institutions will make a self-survey of some aspect of its liberal arts education program. The grants were made under the Program for College Self-Studies initiated by the Fund last year.

Beeson and Wilkins Cop Honors In Alex. Prize Speaking Contest

William Beeson, III, a sophomore from Wayne, Pa., won the Alexander Prize Speaking Contest in Memorial Hall, Bowdoin College, Monday evening. He delivered a selection entitled "When the Wife's Away," from George Axelrod's recent play "The Seven Year Itch."

Troubled Due For Greek Letter Societies; Must End Race Discrimination

H. Edward Born '57 It would seem that we are at the advent of a new era: a new chapter in the history of Greek letter societies is about to be written, especially for those fraternities and sororities on the campuses of many New England and New York colleges.

Harvard Educational Report Causes Lively Discussion In Brunswick

A report on the curriculum of Brunswick Public Schools, recently made as the result of a survey by the Harvard School of Education, has lately caused a good deal of discussion here.

Would Establish Self-Survey Of The Liberal Arts Program Here

Bowdoin College has been selected as one of sixteen colleges and universities throughout the United States granted a total of approximately $280,000 by the Fund for the Advancement of Education. Each of these institutions will make a self-survey of some aspect of its liberal arts education program. The grants were made under the Program for College Self-Studies initiated by the Fund last year.

Continued on Page 4

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT The Customs And Curriculum Of Bradford Junior College

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, December 16, 1953 No. 16

Editor-In-Chief
Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55
Managing Editor
John B. Goodrich '55
News Editors
David R. Anderson '55 Thomas L. Spence '57 James Anwyll, Jr. '55
Assistant News Editors
George I. Rockwood '56 Carroll E. Pennell '56
Edward N. Cotter '56 Richard M. Catalano '55

Feature Writers
Franklin G. Davis '54 Donald W. Blodgett '54
John M. Belka '54 David G. Lavender '55

Sports Editor
Benjamin G. M. Priest '56
Assistant Sports Editor
Robert M. Hurst '54
Sports Staff
Joseph Y. Rogers '55
Saul H. Cohen '57 James L. Doherty '55

Photographer
Russell B. Crowell '55
Staff
James P. Gaston '54

Business Manager
Bruce N. Cooper '54
Assistant Business Managers
James A. Cook '54 C. Richard Thurston '54
Advertising Manager Peter M. Pirnie '55
Circulation Manager Harold R. Beacham, Jr. '56
Business Assistants
Harry G. Carpenter '57 David H. Dott '57
Peter F. Gass '57

BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Directors... Professor Ather P. Daggett, Professor James A. Storer
Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilley '54, Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55, Charles Ranlett '54.

REGISTRATION FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY THE STUDENTS OF BOWDOIN COLLEGE. Address here communications to the Editor and subscriptions to the Bowdoin Orient. Address here communications to the Business Manager of the Bowdoin Publishing Company at the Orient, c/o Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three dollars.

D. Hamilton Attends Williamstown Confab Of Beta Theta Pi

David S. Hamilton, '55, represented the Bowdoin Chapter of the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity in Williamstown, Mass., at a meeting on December 5, the main purpose of which was to condemn racial and religious discrimination in fraternities.

Representatives from eight other New England colleges, including Amherst, Brown, Dartmouth, Maine, M.I.T., Wesleyan, Williams and Yale, passed a resolution suggesting to the Beta National Fraternity that in the forthcoming National Interfraternity Council Meeting, they support a clause which would outlaw "restraint... on the individual chapter with regards to pledging."

Beta Theta Pi itself has no racial discrimination clause in its own constitution; it was the purpose of the meeting at Williams to get the National Interfraternity Council to adopt the resolution so that there would be no such discrimination in any fraternity.

Marsh Continuing Visits To Alumni

Seward J. Marsh of the American Alumni Council has just returned from visiting two Alumni Council districts, and now is looking forward to his next tour in January and February which will cover the other seven districts located in all parts of the country.

Mr. Marsh is making visits to each district headquarters as part of his duties as president of the Council. He has recently journeyed to District Five in Ames, Iowa. Back at Bowdoin now, Mr. Marsh is preparing for his nation-wide circuit to begin early next month. His tour of duties will be with District Two at Atlantic City, District One at Northampton, Mass.; District Three at Greenville, S.C.; District Four at Fayetteville, Ark.; District Eight at Riverside, Calif.; District Nine at Eugene, Ore.; and District Seven at Boulder, Colo.

Term Expires Soon

Mr. Marsh's presidential term will expire at the General Conference of the American Alumni Council to be held at Edgewater Gulf, Miss. The president-elect is

Consult Your Campus Agent
GEORGE W. GRAHAM '55
About Life Insurance
Provident Mutual Of Philadelphia

BOWL-MOR Alleys
AUTOMATIC PIN SETTERS
Hot Dogs
Italian Sandwiches
Cold Drinks
Coffee
Ice Cream
Operated by Al Tobey, Class of '50

Meddies To Entertain European Armed Forces This Summer

The Meddiebempsters, Bowdoin's ambassadors of good will, have done it again: upon the invitation of the Department of Defense, they will make their fifth appearance in Europe this summer entertaining our armed forces.

Last summer, under the direction of Dave Osgood '53, the Meddiebempsters completed a very successful tour of Germany, France, and then back to Germany again. While in France they performed in Paris, Cherbourg, Orleans, Poitiers, Tours, La Rochelle, Bordeaux and Verdun, giving six and sometimes seven nightly shows. Other members of last year's Meddiebempsters were Frank Farrington '53, Bob Hinckley '55, who with Osgood composed the bass section in the baritone section were Bob Forsberg '53 and Terry Stenberg '56. The tenors were Al Hetherington and Art Grove, this year's Meddie leader. Both men are seniors this year. In the first tenor section were George Graham and Bill Cale.

Besides bringing Bowdoin's name to distant places, the Meddiebempsters have, over the years, gained valuable extracurricular elements of a liberal education.

Loren L. Nickerson of the University of Iowa.

Mr. Marsh says that in addition to his presidential duties, his hope is to acquaint more people with Bowdoin and, in particular, how to pronounce it.

Prof. Henry Russell Announces Retirement

Prof. Henry Russell, who has taught in the Bowdoin classroom and in the community a moderate, thoughtful and scholarly approach which will be difficult to replace. He has always presented to his classes an appreciation of the total breadth of human religious experience. He will be missed by the faculty, students and his many friends.

CHRISTMAS CARDS PHOTO SUPPLIES
SMITH'S PHOTO SHOP
146 MAINE STREET BRUNSWICK, MAINE

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it... Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money.

TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY
ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS

The Record Office
Paul K. Niven Jerry Wilkes
• Printers Of The Orient •

Students approaching the entrance of Academy Hall, the main building at Bradford, from Hasseltine Hall where laboratories and classrooms are located. Also on the front campus is Denworth Hall which houses the auditorium, studios for art, music, and speech, theatre workshop, and recreation room.

Student Council Clears Up Misunderstanding Of Its Position On Hazing

In a lengthy meeting Monday afternoon the Student Council attempted to clarify and explain their purpose as a planning group on campus.

The Council's discussion was caused by a student misunderstanding of their position in the current hazing problem. Speaking for the Council, President David S. Rogerson '54 stated that the Council did more than simply collect and express student opinion. For, according to its constitution, "It shall be the purpose of the Student Council to serve as the overall planning group on campus, to regulate student activities within its jurisdiction as it shall deem necessary, and to serve as an intermediary body between the students and faculty." It shall also have the power, "to pass and administer such regulation as it deems proper, subject to review by the student body and the college administration."

Purpose: To Make Regulations

In carrying out its campus function of this present hazing situation, therefore, the Council would, as a result of student discussion, policies of the administration, and their own discussion and deliberation, attempt to formulate such regulations as they see necessary.

These regulations would be in the hands of the students and administration for either acceptance or rejection. If at this point, according to Article VI of the Student Council Constitution, the students were opposed to the legislation they could, by getting a petition signed by 20% of the student body, cause the legislation passed by the Council to be brought to a student vote. If a two-thirds of the total number voting voted against the particular piece of legislation it would then become void.

Bradford Dance Students, who put on several programs each year, are taught by Ella Lukk, (whose arm appears to the right). She has given dance performances in Europe and in this country.

Jim Crow Problem Bothers Fraternities

(Continued from Page 1)

self the anti-segregation fraternity. Here at Bowdoin, we can be proud that we have at least two progressive fraternities, — Delta Sigma and Alpha Rho Upsilon. Perhaps, instead of worrying as much about the hazing activities of our fraternities, we should go deeper and investigate the clauses against race equality for all before we have a problem on our hands.

Professor P. C. Beam Lectures At Portland School Of Art

Philip C. Beam, Professor of Art at Bowdoin College, and Director of its Museum of Fine Arts, lectured this afternoon to the students of the Portland School of Art, under the auspices of the Portland Museum of Art.

Professor Beam's lecture, entitled "What is Drawing?" was illustrated by a group of slides from the Art Department's collection at Bowdoin. He discussed the many kinds of styles possible in drawing. Expressive drawing, he stated, does not necessarily imitate nature

DAVE'S TAILOR SHOP
Alterations - Repairing - Cleansing - Pressing
Suits Made To Measure
76 Maine Street Phone 1468

CHRISTMAS CARDS PHOTO SUPPLIES
SMITH'S PHOTO SHOP
146 MAINE STREET BRUNSWICK, MAINE

Education, Culture, Attractive Undergrads, Features Of School

(the second in a series of articles on women's colleges)
By David R. Anderson '55 and James Anwyll, Jr. '55

Bradford Junior College, heir-ess to the renowned historical and cultural traditions of Andover and Lexington, Gloucester and Newburyport, has matured naturally into a school of the best liberal tradition.

Bradford's 305 part undergraduates are more than willing to talk about their campus and traditions. A group of six Barnstable shorts clad girls took time out from a Snack Bar television football game to tell us about the Senior Cookie, the honor system, Lake Tupelo, Academy Hall and Bradford's impressive liberal arts curriculum.

Very Eligible

The traits which mark today's Bradford girl are as appealing as the story about her college. Judged by herself or with a group of her school mates, she goes far toward dispelling the superstition that women's colleges are a great many spinsters. In the first place it is hard to find more than two girls from the same home town. Accents point out girls from Denver and Honolulu, Louisville, Chicago and Boston. Admissions officers are particularly impressed by, as well as scholastic adaptability, means that the student body is as a whole, very eligible. Equally impressive is the high percentage of goodlooking Bradford undergraduates. Equipped with the qualifications Bradford dates are sought after at every men's college in the Northeast. It takes but a moment for Bradfordites to recall week-ends with a Cadet or a Princetonian, a Lord Jeff or a Bowdoin man. A fact which puts them at a disadvantage when it comes to deciding which men's college is their favorite.

For Girls Only

The school, the oldest in New England for the higher education of women, got off to a co-educational start as Bradford Academy in 1803. At that time 30 members of the Parish of Bradford decided to build a school for their children. Men, according to the catalogue, were "withdrawn" 33 years later. It fails to state, however, what, if any, arrangements were made for the schoolboys. Yet, the boys were not the only ones to be withdrawn from the school. Men, according to the catalogue, were "withdrawn" 33 years later. It fails to state, however, what, if any, arrangements were made for the schoolboys. Yet, the boys were not the only ones to be withdrawn from the school.

In 1902 Bradford began a highly important stage of its development. It adopted the Junior College philosophy of a curriculum specifically designed for high school graduates. This was a marked departure from the regular college preparatory program then in style. The name Bradford Junior College was first officially used in 1932, although it had been, for many years, a junior college in all but name.

The Liberal Tradition As a Junior College Bradford

slavishly. Drawing to express a feeling about nature rather than to create a photographic reality. A Harvard graduate in 1933, Beam came to Bowdoin in 1936 and became a full professor in 1949. He is a native of Dallas, Texas, and before coming to Bowdoin, he was Assistant to the Director of William Rockhill Nelson Gallery of Art in Kansas City, Missouri.

A picturesque spot on Lake Tupelo part of Bradford's 42 acre campus. Here, barring mosquitoes, the romantically inclined are capable of finding some solitude.

The Honor System

It was largely due to this fact that the Student Government played a commanding part in the initiating of an honor system at Bradford in the Spring of 1952. The students are likewise responsible for the high degree of success already attributed to the program. Last year's senior class, which had one year of each system, felt that the honor system cut down cheating offenses. When asked the reason for this success one girl replied, "People like to feel trusted."

Not for Knowledge

Socially, Bradford is right in the midst of things. Depending on your point of view, it is 101 miles south of Brunswick, 32 miles north of Cambridge, 95 miles south east of Hanover and 150 miles north east of New Haven. Social regulations at Bradford are somewhat more restricting than at most four-year women's colleges. As the college rules state, "Bradford wishes to build up that inner control which will function in the absence of external compulsion and which keeps a girl true to her best self." The rules themselves limit a freshman to five overnights a semester and seniors to six. In each case an average of "C" or better earns the scholar a bonus in overnights. The girls aren't allowed cars or the right to wear bandanas to Sunday dinner. If you want to keep your Bradford date out of trouble get her home by midnight Friday or I am Saturday.

Delicious Dinners

The Bradford Student Handbook suggests the following "Campus Caper for your date." "Take him to the Little Red School House where, 'you'll find delicious dinners and afternoon snacks.'" We

Most any time in their new snack bar, Bradford girls and boys are watching TV, knitting, or discussing the affairs of the day over a cup of coffee.

In contact with many other areas of the arts. On the strength of their Bradford background, approximately 75 per cent of the school's graduates go on to other colleges. A third of them to professional schools and the others to liberal arts colleges.

Second Year Seniors

In keeping with these ideas is the college belief that academic and nonacademic activities are part of the same "two-year experience in living." Thus, the powers of Bradford's student government are very great. According to the college rule the student government is under the jurisdiction of the administration. Undergraduate opinions and decisions formulated through Student Government, are, however, usually honored by the administration. Dean Frederick Ferry attributes much of the girls' competence in such matters to the presence of the "second-year seniors." Instead of being sophomores and able to depend on upperclassmen leadership, Bradford's second year student finds herself holding the reigns. It has been the experience at Bradford that the one year transition from freshman to senior successfully avoids sophomore behavior and develops early high degree of leadership.

Seen left to right in a Little Red School House gathering are: Barbara Hano, Bradford '55, Kathy Russell, Bradford '55, Peter M. Pirnie '55 and his date Carolyn Cannon, Bradford '55, and Robert Delaney '55 and his friend from Bradford Martha Fuller.

How the stars got started...

Tyrone Power says: "I had it tough bucking 'tradition' to get into movies. First, a famous great-grandfather actor, same name. Grandfather and Dad, too — both big in the theatre. I was barker at a Fair before anyone gave me a chance. Then, bit player, understudy, hard work and eventually I made it!"

Tyrone Power
FAMOUS MOVIE STAR

I TRIED CAMELS FOR 30 DAYS. THEY HAVE THE MILDNESS I WANT AND THE RICH FLAVOR THAT SUITS ME TO A T! THEY'LL SUIT YOU, TOO!

CAMEL
CHOICE QUALITY

CAMELS AGREE WITH MORE PEOPLE THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

Bowdoin Frosh Unbeaten, Defeat E.L., Brunswick

James L. Doherty '55
Louis Audet's charges romped to an 83-62 victory Saturday over a terribly weak Brunswick High School five.

Bowdoin jumped off to an 11-1 lead before the local high school outfit could get its bearings. If it hadn't been for Ron LeClair who has started for Brunswick against our freshmen for three years, the opponents would have offered no trouble.

Four Cubs got into the double figures. Hank Carpenter garnered 24 points, as he was extremely effective around the backboards. He is a good rebounder and will be counted on heavily in the future for work under the baskets. Bob Johnson, Tom Frazer and George Helzel also were prominent in the scoring column for Bowdoin, the latter converting an exceptional percentage of his shots into field goals.

Substitutes were used freely in the Cub victory. Jacky Eaton paced the reserves during the last two periods with some stunning defensive efforts.

Edward Little High School from nearby Auburn succumbed to the Bowdoin freshman basketball team, as the Cubs ran up their third consecutive win.

It appeared that the contest would be very close as the visitors matched the home club basket for basket in the initial session. However, Coach Audet altered his strategy, and the revamped Cubs went on to win with ease. The winners took advantage of their

Polar Bears Set Back Bates, Maine

Frazer, Kenny Score 55 Points In Frazer, Day, Libby Lead The Way In Edging Bates Bobcats, 63-59

After checking a fourth quarter rally to overcome Bates on Wednesday, the White moved to Orono on Saturday in quest of their second-straight victory. Frazer, led by Bill Frazer's 35-point effort, was able to sustain a 26-point last quarter by the Black Bears and go on to win 87-76. Ted Kenny's field goals in the second and third quarters aided the White to build up an impressive 22-point lead at the close of the third stanza.

The opening ten minutes were played fairly even. Frazer sparked the Combsmen with five field goals. He was aided by four points from Libby, three by Janelle, and two foul shots by Phil Day. The score was scoring with Mahaney, Philbrick, and Seavey. The quarter ended with the visitors on top 23-17.

The second quarter saw the White open brilliantly. Frazer had scored two goals and Ted Kenny one before Maine could get into Mahaney. Bowdoin dominated the boards and, aided by Frazer and eagle-eyed Ted Kenny, was able to stretch their lead to 16. Maine had trouble in this quarter, scoring only three from the floor. The score when the teams left the floor was 45-29.

Tall Bill Frazer matched baskets for the White with Ted Kenny. This pair's accuracy counted for 16 points. Janelle, Praeter and Kreider were also scoring to keep the Bears' substantial lead intact. Maine's Nix was hitting on nice sets and coupled with scores from Dana, Seavey and Mahaney gave the pale blue a 21-point period. This was not quite enough, however, as the visitors' effort produced 24.

The fourth quarter found Bowdoin in hot water. It is interesting to note that in the last three final quarters the Combsmen have averaged only a little better than ten points. Maine took advantage of Bowdoin's 14-point output as they scored 26. The entrance of Folsom into the game added a vital spark to the Maine offense. Only one starter was in when this new scoring machine cut Bowdoin's lead to six. Coach Bezer Combs

Last Wednesday evening Bowdoin opened its 1953-54 State Series competition by overcoming Bates College 63-59. The Polar Bears dominated until the fourth quarter when failure to rebound and a flurry of baskets by Schroeder and McKinnon reduced their 18-point lead to three. Rollie Janelle's one-hander and two foul shots by Phil Day put the game on ice.

The first quarter was all Bowdoin as the home team rang up 20 points while Bates failed to score a goal from the floor. Janelle opened with a long push shot which was followed by a Frazer foul shot and a jump shot by John Libby. At the three-minute mark Schroeder scored on a foul. The rest of the quarter saw Bates hitting on six more foul shots while Libby, Day and Bill Frazer were scoring on fast break plays.

Bates finally got a field goal on Schroeder's set. Frazer followed a Day jump shot before the Bobcats opened a seven-point rally including scores by McKinnon, Duan and Schroeder. John Kreider hit on a jump shot and then set Ron Golt on a beautiful pass into the bucket. The Polar Bears' fast break started to roll and, enabled by good rebounding, combined the home team to stave off a late rally by Bates and to lead 38-26 at the buzzer.

The White opened the second half with a bang. Stealing the ball and fast breaking, Day, Libby and Frazer scored eight points in the first two minutes to give the home team a 20-point margin. McKinnon and Schroeder began to find the range and Libby passed on a pass from Ron Golt. With both teams playing very rough ball, the teams exchanged an almost equal number of foul shots enabling the Combsmen to end the stanza leading 56-38.

Ward's field goal opened the scoring in the fourth and final quarter of a game which looked like the easiest Bowdoin victory of the year. The Polar Bears lost countless rebounds and their play in this quarter was characterized by sloppy passing and ball handling. After Janelle's foul shot the Bobcats came to life and opened a nine-point offensive before Bowdoin could score again. George Schroeder led this drive with a tap, two fouls and a set. Libby and Frazer hit on foul tries, while Schroeder and McKinnon cut the home team lead to three. After Janelle's one-hander and two Day fouls, McKinnon and Ward put together a four-point rally. This was not enough and the White went on to win 63-59.

Freshman Basketball Averages

Table with columns: Player, G, Q, FGA, FC, Pct., FTA, FT, Pct., RB, PF, TP. Lists averages for players like Frazer, Tom, Carpenter, Harry, Johnson, Bob, etc.

Bowdoin Subdued By Dartmouth Swimmers

Dartmouth, with a host of returning lettermen paced by All-American John Glover and Captain John Heyn, handed the Polar Bear mermen by the score of 54-30 in the seasons opener at Hanover on Saturday. The Dartmouth swimmers showed a definite superiority in depth and experience, and were certainly in better swimming condition than the Bowdoin crew.

Cecelski, Testa Picked As Co-Captains At Banquet

Two Massachusetts linemen, Art Cecelski of Salem and Paul Testa of Medford, were elected co-captains of the 1954 football team at the annual win-lose-or-draw dinner.

Art Cecelski Paul Testa

POLAR BEARINGS

By Robert M. Hurst '54, ORIENT Sports Editor
To the Sports Editor:
In the Bowdoin-Bates basketball program of December 9, 1953, an article appeared concerning the treatment of visiting teams and officials.

J.V. Swimming

Jan. 8 Edwar Little H 7:30
Jan. 14 Deering H 3:00
Jan. 16 Andover A 2:30
Jan. 19 Hebron H 3:30
Feb. 12 Portland H 3:00
Feb. 17 Brunswick H 7:30
Feb. 20 Exeter H 9:45
Feb. 26 Hebron A 3:30

Varsity Track

Jan. 9 YMCA Track Meet - Boston
Jan. 16 K of C Track Meet - Boston
Jan. 23 M.I.T. H 2:00
Feb. 20 Bates H 12:30
Feb. 27 Colby H 12:30

Three Teams Tie For Lead In Fraternity Basketball

LAST WEEK'S RESULTS
Zeta Psi 36 - Psi U 35
Beta 56 - ATO 26
Chi Psi 35 - Delta Sigma 55
Kappa Sigma 52 - ARU 41
Sigma Nu 54 - AD 34
DKE 57 - TD 43

Standings table for Fraternity Basketball with columns for Team, W, L, Pct.

ARU, AD, Delta Sigma Lead In Interfraternity Volleyball Standings

ARU, AD and Delta Sigma currently lead the Interfraternity Volleyball League, being undefeated in their first two games.

Standings table for Interfraternity Volleyball with columns for Team, W, L.

Zetes, Beta, Hold Top Positions In Bowling; Dekes Snare Third Place

Following the last week's bowling matches, Zeta Psi and Beta Theta Pi strengthened their joint hold on first place in the interfraternity bowling league.

Standings table for Bowling with columns for Team, W, L, A.D., etc.

By Robert M. Hurst '54, ORIENT Sports Editor
To the Sports Editor:
In the Bowdoin-Bates basketball program of December 9, 1953, an article appeared concerning the treatment of visiting teams and officials.

They succeeded as co-leaders' backs that Totman, Houlton, and Jack Cosgrove, Arlington, Mass., of the eleven which won four, lost three and finished second in the State Series.

Other speakers were President James S. Coles, Vice President Bela W. Norton, Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick, Athletic Director Mal Morrill, Cosgrove and Manager Williams. Courtesy of the Portland Press Herald

Advertisements for Outfitters To Bowdoin Men, featuring a Santa Claus illustration and various clothing items.

Duty number four says, "The officials assigned here today are men of high standing in their community and they give of their time to help the game of basketball grow. Yes, it is true they receive a fee for their services, but men of character will not subject themselves to ill treatment for the sake of a fee. Respect their opinion and judgment and realize they have a difficult job to perform."

They served as alternate center this year and started the Bates and Maine games, playing most of the way in the latter contest. He added offensive pivot duties to his experience as an alternate line-backer in 1952. He was regarded as one of Bowdoin's smartest and hardest hitting linemen. He's a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Advertisement for "Matchless Service" featuring a Ford logo and text about used cars and sales and service.

Advertisement for Benoit's gift boxes, listing various items like Dart shirts, Repp ties, and pajamas with prices.

Advertisement for Brunswick Branch of First-Auburn Trust Company, listing various banking services.

Advertisement for Harry H. Smart, a body repair and paint shop, listing services like complete front end and frame alignment.

Advertisement for Varsity Track and J.V. Swimming, listing dates and locations for various events.

Advertisement for Benoit's gift boxes, featuring the Benoit's logo and contact information.

Ice Cubes On Toast

By Benjamin G. M. Priest '53

We've been away collecting all sorts of goodies for our reader(s), and now we're back. Isn't that nice?

Yeah, well anyway, we got a lot of stuff here that we picked up around all over, and which we thought that you might enjoy. News, people, facts, clubbiness, pictures, and a New Contest. We are a veritable 10c vest-pocket size Magazine. We are chock. (We are also getting damn tired of being plural.) So to horse with the first issue of...

CUBE

The Mag that is ever Square News: Tolley, Fredes Man Brunswick, Me. Mr. Eugene K. Man of the Phi Phi Frat Lodge received a phone call here today. The call, which came from Bradford, Mass., was placed by a Miss Lorraine Tolley, a student at a well known girls' school thereabouts. "I'll be damned," said Miss Tolley, "I'll come down to your old Winter House Party, anyway."

People: Artemus Q. Fweck "Honest Art" Fweck is perhaps best remembered for his discovery of water in 1827. His words on that occasion were "By Gad, you can drink this stuff straight." He is also noted for his memorable "Advice to My Son, Herbert, Upon his Having Reached the Age of Twenty-one." "Herbert," so runs the most oft-quoted epigram, "you are a Human Being."

If Fweck were alive today, he would be 189 years old. He died, unfortunately, in 1832 at the age of 68, just three days before his birthday.

Eight Fraternities To Hold Xmas Parties

Eight Bowdoin fraternities are holding the customary Christmas parties for underprivileged children of Brunswick.

The AD's entertained 20 children today with refreshments and games. The Psi U's played host for about 24 youngsters. Some 25 children attended the TD party, while the Kappa Sigs entertained 22 with movies on Tuesday. The Sigma Nu's also served refreshments for 22 Brunswick children.

The ATO's gave a party at the Hawthorne School for about 12 on Tuesday afternoon. Tomorrow the ARU's plan to have 20 children at their house. The Delta Sigs entertained about 15 today with movies.

In the above order of Houses, the following amply filled the part of Santa Claus: Ben Priest '56; Bill Hird '57; Bill Fickett '54; Floyd Gilmore, the cook; Jim Babcock; Tom Merrill '57; Dave Carlson '54; and John Morris '56.

SENIOR NOTICE

Attention Seniors! The Placement Bureau announces that L. Bamberger & Company, Newark, New Jersey, is sponsoring a Career Open House, Monday, December 28 through Wednesday, December 30, for the purpose of acquainting seniors with career opportunities in this large merchandising organization. Bamberger's plans to open two new stores in the New Jersey area soon, and their executive training course will offer real opportunities for those interested in merchandising as a career. A behind-the-scenes visit will be arranged by the executives of the store and candidates will have an opportunity for individual interviews with trained department executives. Further information may be obtained by consulting the Placement Bureau. Candidates planning a merchandise career are urged to take advantage of this Career Open House invitation.

CUMBERLAND THEATRE

Brunswick, Maine

Wednesday-Thursday December 16-17

THOSE REDHEADS FROM SEATTLE

with Rhonda Fleming Gene Barry also

News Short Subjects

Friday-Saturday December 18-19

STRANGER WORE A GUN

with Randolph Scott Claire Trevor also

News Short Subjects

Sunday-Monday-Tuesday December 20-21-22

THE CRUEL SEA

with Jack Hawkins Donald Sladen also

News Short Subject

Wednesday-Thursday December 23-24

THUNDER OVER THE PLAINS

with Randolph Scott Phyllis Kirk also

News Short Subject

Masque And Gown Announces Judges For One-Act Play Contest

The Masque and Gown has announced as judges for the 20th annual one-act play contest Mrs. Myron Jeppesen, who has played in several college and town productions—notably in the title role of Shaw's "Candide"; Vice-President Bela Norton, who will be witnessing his first contest; Professor Robert Beckwith of the Music Department, who assisted in the direction of plays at Amherst College, from which he came to Bowdoin. This panel of judges will read all scripts submitted on or before January 11 and will announce their choice of three or four to be produced on January 21. Since all plays are to be signed with pseudonyms, the judges will not know the actual authors of the plays until after they are chosen.

Judges of Plays The plays to be produced will be presented in Memorial Hall on March 8 before a panel of judges consisting of Mrs. Charles Benson, who will be remembered in the notable "We're Just Wild About Tea" scene of "It's a Fact" two years ago; Professor Walter Solmitz of the German Department; and Dr. Richard Schonefeld of the History Department. This panel will pick the recipients of cash prizes for the best direction and the best acting. They will also present the winning playwrights with the Masque and Gown "Oscar".

State Announces Tests For Several Positions

The State of Maine, Department of Personnel, has advised the Placement Bureau of several job opportunities with the State for members of the Class of 1954. The positions require no experience beyond the college level; college attendance in the State of Maine fulfills State requirements. State employment offers promotions, vacations, sick leave, military leave, retirement and disability benefits.

Two Maine Boys Win Kappa Sigma Awards

Gray is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd G. Gray of R.F.D. 3, South Brewer. He prepared at Bangor High School and came to Bowdoin as the winner of a State of Maine scholarship in the state-wide competition. He too has been on the work at Georgetown University.

College Art Museum Exhibits Watercolors

The Bowdoin College Museum of Fine Arts is exhibiting through December 20 a group of watercolors by Eliot O'Hara, Washington, D.C., artist, who from 1931 until 1947 operated a school of watercolor painting at Goose Rocks Beach in Maine, near Kennebunkport. This school became well known and highly thought of all over the United States. It burned to the ground in 1947.

The Walker Art Building, where the O'Hara watercolors are on exhibit, is open to the public with no admission charge from 10 to 12 and 2 to 4 on weekdays, and from 2 to 4 on Sundays.

Pres. Coles Attends Government-University Meeting In Washington

President Coles attended the National Collegiate Athletic Association and annual Football Coaches Meeting in Cincinnati from January 5 to 8. He is Chairman of the National Football Coaches Committee on Public Relations and Press.

Mary C. Ham, Wife Of Former Bowdoin Professor, Dies

Mary C. Ham, wife of Professor Roscoe J. Ham, died suddenly Tuesday, December 8. She was 80 years old. Services were held at St. Charles Church, Friday, December 11. Pall bearers were Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick, Professor Orren C. Hormel, Professor Noel C. Little, Professor Fritz C. Koelln, Professor Athern P. Daggett, and Professor Eaton Leith. Interment was at Pine Grove Cemetery.

Bowdoin Alumnus Wins Award For Exploration

Professor Emeritus and Mrs. Alfred O. Gross sailed from Jersey City on the American Export Line's S. S. Excambur which will put in at Barcelona, Spain on the 14th, Marseilles, France on the 15th, and Naples on the 17th. It will also stop in Alexandria, Egypt on the 20th and Beirut, Lebanon on the 23rd of December.

Former Prof. Gross And Wife Sail For European Trip

Professor Emeritus and Mrs. Alfred O. Gross sailed from Jersey City on the American Export Line's S. S. Excambur which will put in at Barcelona, Spain on the 14th, Marseilles, France on the 15th, and Naples on the 17th. It will also stop in Alexandria, Egypt on the 20th and Beirut, Lebanon on the 23rd of December.

Lewiston And Keene Students Tie For Debating Honors

Lewiston and Keene, New Hampshire, High Schools tied Saturday in the senior division of the 24th annual Bowdoin Intercollegiate Debate Forum which was held in Sills Hall.

Bowdoin Seniors Take Part In West Point Government Conferences

Soviet Orbit — The Soviets are not likely to risk world war to advance their ultimate objective without strong indications of easy and total success. Therefore, American Policy should aim toward the economic growth, unity of purpose and defensive strength of the free world.

Speaking Engagements Keep Adam Walsh Busy

For those who might think that all a football coach has to do is coach football a portion of months a year, here is a couple of Adam Walsh's extra-curricular schedule this fall. These were almost all speaking engagements: September 25, Bowdoin Club of Boston; October 5, Springfield Industrial Association, West Springfield, Mass.; October 24, Bowdoin Fathers Association; October 28, Bowdoin Club of Portland; November 5, Penobscot Bowdoin Club; November 16, Football Officials and Coaches Association of Eastern Maine; November 17, Maine Intercollegiate Conference, regular fall meeting in Waterville; November 18, Belfast High School; December 1, Kennett High School, North Conway, N.H.; December 8, Bowdoin football dinner; December 11, Portland Rotary Club.

Mary C. Ham, Wife Of Former Bowdoin Professor, Dies

Mary C. Ham, wife of Professor Roscoe J. Ham, died suddenly Tuesday, December 8. She was 80 years old. Services were held at St. Charles Church, Friday, December 11. Pall bearers were Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick, Professor Orren C. Hormel, Professor Noel C. Little, Professor Fritz C. Koelln, Professor Athern P. Daggett, and Professor Eaton Leith. Interment was at Pine Grove Cemetery.

Bowdoin Alumnus Wins Award For Exploration

Professor Emeritus and Mrs. Alfred O. Gross sailed from Jersey City on the American Export Line's S. S. Excambur which will put in at Barcelona, Spain on the 14th, Marseilles, France on the 15th, and Naples on the 17th. It will also stop in Alexandria, Egypt on the 20th and Beirut, Lebanon on the 23rd of December.

Former Prof. Gross And Wife Sail For European Trip

Professor Emeritus and Mrs. Alfred O. Gross sailed from Jersey City on the American Export Line's S. S. Excambur which will put in at Barcelona, Spain on the 14th, Marseilles, France on the 15th, and Naples on the 17th. It will also stop in Alexandria, Egypt on the 20th and Beirut, Lebanon on the 23rd of December.

Lewiston And Keene Students Tie For Debating Honors

Lewiston and Keene, New Hampshire, High Schools tied Saturday in the senior division of the 24th annual Bowdoin Intercollegiate Debate Forum which was held in Sills Hall.

Bowdoin Seniors Take Part In West Point Government Conferences

Soviet Orbit — The Soviets are not likely to risk world war to advance their ultimate objective without strong indications of easy and total success. Therefore, American Policy should aim toward the economic growth, unity of purpose and defensive strength of the free world.

Speaking Engagements Keep Adam Walsh Busy

For those who might think that all a football coach has to do is coach football a portion of months a year, here is a couple of Adam Walsh's extra-curricular schedule this fall. These were almost all speaking engagements: September 25, Bowdoin Club of Boston; October 5, Springfield Industrial Association, West Springfield, Mass.; October 24, Bowdoin Fathers Association; October 28, Bowdoin Club of Portland; November 5, Penobscot Bowdoin Club; November 16, Football Officials and Coaches Association of Eastern Maine; November 17, Maine Intercollegiate Conference, regular fall meeting in Waterville; November 18, Belfast High School; December 1, Kennett High School, North Conway, N.H.; December 8, Bowdoin football dinner; December 11, Portland Rotary Club.

Varsity Swimming

Jan. 9 Tufts	H 2:00
Jan. 15 Boston U.	A 3:30
Jan. 16 Trinity	A 2:30
Feb. 13 Williams	H 2:00
Feb. 20 Connecticut	H 2:00
Mar. 7 Amherst	A 2:30
Mar. 6 U. of Mass.	H 2:00
Mar. 12-13 New England at Conn.

Merrymeeting Gift Shop
185 Park Row
Greeting Cards --- Gifts
Free Gift Wrapping

Student Patronage Solicited
First National Bank
Brunswick, Maine
Member of the Federal Reserve System and Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Shop At Your Store For The Entire Family
We have gifts for every member of the family. No need to be pushed around by crowds. Do all your shopping in one store — YOUR STORE on the campus.
MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE

The Record I'm most proud of

Chesterfield
is the largest-selling cigarette in America's colleges for the FIFTH straight Year

Again, in 1953, they've made a survey audit of actual sales in more than 800 co-ops and campus stores from coast to coast. And again, Chesterfield tops 'em all.

Only Chesterfield gives you proof of highest quality — low nicotine. Proof that comes from actual "tobacco tests" in which all leading brands were chemically analyzed.

Perry Como

Chesterfield's Perry Como Show. All the Top Tunes on TV — Now on Radio. TV-CBS Network — Radio-Mutual Network.

CHESTERFIELD
BEST FOR YOU

Polar Bear Five Entertain At Bermuda Air Force Base

Join College Groups For Seven Christmas Shows

The island of Bermuda provided the setting for the music of the Polar Bear Five this Christmas, as the College Dixieland band joined forces with a group of students from other colleges to entertain U. S. Air Force personnel on the island.

Following an engagement at a debutante party in Pittsburgh, Pa., the Polar Bears united again in Amherst, Mass., the day after Christmas to meet for the first time the other members of the tour. The entire group, under the direction of Dr. Clement Schuler, Music Director at Amherst High School, consisted of forty-two students. Included were an orchestra made up of Amherst College and High School students, the Octavians from Smith College, glee singers from the University of Massachusetts, the U.S. champion baton twirler from the University of Miami, a girl vocalist, a male vocalist, and an M.C. Magician from Amherst College.

First Concert In Amherst
The first mass rehearsal took place on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 26, in preparation for the first concert that night. During the actual concerts the Polar Bears played only four songs, including a vocal by singer Norm Farwell from the University of Massachusetts. The first show was rough in spots, but improvement was noted with each succeeding concert. Following this first show, the entire group was transported by bus to Westover Field in Chichester, Mass. The flight to Bermuda was scheduled for the next day, but was delayed by the group at Westover until late Monday evening. A show was arranged for Sunday night at the Officers' Club at Westover.

After more delay due to unforeseen engine repairs, the flight to Bermuda finally got underway Monday. With instruments, baggage and forty-five passengers aboard the Army C-54 took off about ten-thirty p.m. Rough weather was encountered, however, and many students became the victims of air sickness. The flight was rough in spots, but improvement was noted with each succeeding concert. Following this first show, the entire group was transported by bus to Westover Field in Chichester, Mass. The flight to Bermuda was scheduled for the next day, but was delayed by the group at Westover until late Monday evening. A show was arranged for Sunday night at the Officers' Club at Westover.

All Expenses Paid
The Air Force undertook all the expenses of the tour including quarters, meals and transportation. On Tuesday, Dec. 29, a second short

USAF Interviews This Week In Moulton Union
Captain Frank Chandler of the United States Air Force will visit the college from January 13 to 15, to interview any students interested in pilot and observer training, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. in Conference Room "A" of the Moulton Union.

After taking mental and physical examinations, those meeting the requirements will be given a draft deferment and a letter of acceptance to the USAF. An accepted student, however, will be under no obligations to the service; even after graduation, he may, if he wishes, refuse assignment to a Cadet Training Class, or he may accept an assignment and enlist for two years as an Aviation Cadet. This, of course, is the same period of time required by Selective Service. After completing his flying education, a man will receive a starting salary of $5300 per year.

An applicant going to the Examination Board for qualification will have all his meals and travel expenses paid by the Government. Any interested student may see Captain Chandler in the Union for full particulars on this Air Force "no obligation" program.

Scholarships Subject Of Recent Discussion

Informal discussions on scholarships with administrative officials of colleges in three New England states was the purpose of a trip made recently by Mr. Philip S. Wilder, Assistant to the President. Mr. Wilder returned to work at the college Saturday morning after his talks with officials at Amherst College, Brown University, Harvard University, and Yale University. During the trip he compared notes with the officials of the other colleges and sought new angles on the various phases of scholarships which may be useful to Bowdoin.

Bowdoin, Other Colleges, Share In duPont Grant For Chemistry Uses

Bowdoin College is one of the 40 private institutions, primarily liberal arts colleges, sharing in a fund of $238,500 for grants by the duPont Company of Wilmington, Del. The largest portion of the fund, which is to aid scientific education, will go toward advancing the teaching of chemistry in colleges. Other parts of the fund are for post-graduate teaching fellowships in chemistry, for summer research grants for chemistry teachers in universities, and for fellowships for master's degree training of high school students and mathematicians.

President Coles' Comment
In acknowledging the grant of $2500 for advancing the teaching of chemistry at Bowdoin, President James Stacy Coles said, "I am very happy to accept this grant on behalf of the College for the Department of Chemistry. More impressive to me than this award in itself is the underlying significance of the support always given by the duPont Company to higher education. Most understandingly this has, in the past, been limited to the stimulation of work in chemistry or allied sciences. However, the generosity of the company in making these awards, and the complete freedom from interference by duPont with the program of the award, has been exemplary for many other corporate benefactors in many fields of education."

Attention Faculty And Staff! Students Waiting For Your Play

A group of the faculty met last Sunday and formed a list of three plays from which, one will be selected and cast for this year's faculty play.

Moliere's "School for Wives", Jonson's "The Alchemist", and Synge's "The Playboy of the Western World" constitute the list of possible plays.

To Decide Jan. 24
Members of the college faculty and staff will find these books on closed reserve in the library for the next ten days. On January 24 there will be a meeting in the Recreational Room at 3:00 p.m. in order to reach a decision on which play is preferred and to learn whether the play can be cast. Prof. Quinby urges "all members of the faculty and staff who wish to join in the project to attend this meeting or to notify the director of dramas."

Undergraduates unaware of the talents among our faculty will be interested in previous performances. Shaw's "Devil's Disciple" was given in the early 1930's. O'Neill's "Emperor Jones" in 1937. Moliere's "Tartuffe" in 1941, and Maughan's "The Circle" in 1946. It is hoped that a faculty play can be presented every four years.

The Student Union Committee announces through President Lawrence Dwight '54 that Charlie Spivak and his 15 piece nationally known New York orchestra has been secured for the formal dance in the Bowdoin Gym on Friday night, February 12. Charlie Spivak is called "the man who plays the sweetest trumpet in the world."

Outstanding personal appearances of Charlie Spivak include the Shamrock Hotel, the Hotel Commodore, New York City, Glen Island Casino, New Rochelle, Paramount Theatre, New York City, Sherman Hotel and Chicago Theatre, and the Palladium, Hollywood. His band has supplied music for the motion pictures "Pin-up Girl" and "Follow the Girls". A highlight was Charlie Spivak's award by Downbeat Magazine as the top "sweet band" of America.

The dance committee headed by Robert F. Hinchley '54 is now at work on decorations for the gym. The Winter House Party weekend this year will be an eventful one with varsity hockey, track, swimming and basketball scheduled. The always popular Masque and Gown production will take place early Saturday evening before the house dances. This year the play is George Bernard Shaw's "Misalliance".

In Bermuda Over Christmas Vacation

The Polar Bear Five, who spent the latter part of the Christmas vacation in Bermuda, are (left to right), Bert Lipas, Wally Harper, Ward Kennedy, Charlie Chapman and Bruce Young. The band was part of a large group of college students who entertained at the U. S. Air Force Base on the island.

Student Council Suggests Review Of Quests; Compromise Rejected

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a verbatim report by the student council on the subject of hazing. It in no way reflects the opinions of the ORIENT and is not a news article; rather, it is the result of the Student Council's investigation into this problem and their conclusions following the voting of the student body on the proposed legislation attempting to solve the hazing question.

The Student Council after careful and extensive study of the problem of hazing on the Bowdoin campus submits a report of its decisions and findings on this subject. After taking this problem from a student committee which had organized to stimulate interest in this problem, we met with the President and with a number of the student body at an open meeting. From the President and various faculty members the Council fully realized the problem of detrimental hazing practices and their influence on the reputation of the College. We are submitting this report because, although the decisions of the Council as finally arrived at may not prove to be adequate, the material and basis for these decisions may shed some light on this subject as a whole.

The students' interest was easily aroused on this matter and much discussion was forthcoming after the student committee's report appeared in the Orient last November. After various straw votes and polls among the students, it was found that most everyone realized the problems which were effected by hazing practices. The students appeared willing to back some sort of modification in the present hazing practices provided that they did not do away with practices which many houses deemed essential to their fraternity pre-initiation training.

The problem of hazing was seen to exist on the campus in many respects. These three aspects were: house hazing, walks, and quests. They are the courses were listed under the History Department, they were taught by the Classics Professor Smith. The enrollment in these courses was considerably smaller than that for the previous semester. . . . It is entirely possible that these two courses were taught in an extremely difficult and often unusual manner, which would account for the small enrollment. . . .

Courses At Other Colleges
"Seventeen colleges were studied. They were picked as being generally similar to Bowdoin. Of these, only one did not offer some type of ancient history or classical civilization course. . . .

Practical Considerations
"Length and General Scope— Obviously these two considerations are interrelated. Similar courses in other colleges are both one and two semesters in length. If the course is for a single semester only it is usually limited to a study of the Grecian and Roman cultures. For fully semester courses, studies include some of the more eastern areas and those of earlier times. The Committee suggests that the course be first instituted for a single semester; and later, depending on its success, demand, etc. be extended to necessary two semesters.

Prerequisites— Since this study depends on no other history course offered at present for its background information, it is suggested that no prerequisites be stipulated.

The student body was polled as to those interested in seeing a course in ancient history included

Coles Praises 'Lessening Of Government Controls' In '53

New ROTC Course To Replace Present Unit

Effective September, 1954, the Bowdoin ROTC unit will receive a new classification and will no longer be primarily a Transportation Corp. unit.

The new classification is that of General Military Science. No longer will the students be qualified for only the Transportation Corps. Under the new program, students will be able to choose from the Infantry, Artillery, Armor, Medical, Adjutant General, Transportation, Signal, Engineering, Chemistry, Ordnance, or Military Police Corps.

Academically Equipped
Students will be interviewed by both faculty and officers in their junior year in order to determine his qualifications for the field which he has chosen. Obviously, a student majoring in foreign languages would not be considered qualified to be a Second Lieutenant in the Chemical Corp.

Rabbi David B. Alpert, Boston City Hospital Chaplain, Speaks Here

Rabbi David B. Alpert, Chaplain of the Boston City Hospital, spoke here under the auspices of the Jewish Chautauque Society at the regular Sunday afternoon Chapel service January 10, and on the following day as guest speaker at one of Professor Henry G. Russell's religion classes.

Graduate of B.U.
Rabbi Alpert is a graduate of Boston University with additional study at the Harvard Divinity School and at the Divinity School of the University of Chicago. He is ordained rabbi and master of Hebrew literature in the Jewish Institute of Religion in 1927.

After serving as spiritual leader in small communities in Pennsylvania, New York, and Texas, he returned to his native state of Massachusetts, where from 1942 to 1946 he was assistant at Temple Israel in Boston. Since 1946 he has devoted himself to helping sick people and their families.

Memorial Service Held In Chapel For Roscoe J. Ham

College Mourns Death

On January 5 Bowdoin College faculty members and students honored the late Professor Roscoe J. Ham, who died in Ann Arbor, Michigan, on December 26.

Taught For 40 Years
Fritz C. A. Koellin, Professor of German, delivered a moving tribute at the morning chapel exercises, set aside as a memorial service to Professor Ham and to his wife, Mrs. Mary C. Ham, who died in Brunswick, December 8.

Taught For 40 Years
Professor and Mrs. Ham were married in Brunswick in September of 1901, the year he began teaching at Bowdoin as Instructor in Romance Languages. With the exception of two years spent at Trinity College in 1907-09, he remained in Brunswick the rest of their lives. Their home at 3 Beth Street, Professor Koellin recalled, was a center of intellectual and cultural activities for well over 40 years. Professor Ham, he stated, was the tenth Bowdoin teacher in his long history to be honored for having completed 40 years of active teaching.

Professor Ham was buried in the faculty row beside his wife in the Pine Grove Cemetery near the Bowdoin campus on December 30.

Sees Foreign Policy Strengthened; Reduction Of Federal Expenditure

Reviewing 1953 in broad perspective, President James S. Coles, described it as "essentially a year of harmony and positive progress towards well-defined goals" in addressing students Jan. 4 at the opening Chapel service of the New Year.

"Contrarywise to the gloomy prospect held by many," he said, "we have witnessed a remarkably smooth transition from an essentially single administration of more than 20 years duration, to a new and necessarily inexperienced administration. In spite of the clamorous bickering of each day, this new government has taken hold and has made several remarkable achievements."

"The most significant aspect of this lessening of governmental control is that it has been done at the same time the great social gains of the last twenty years have been left unimpeded. It seems obvious that the political moderates have been in control, and that extremists either on the right or on the left, while having had much to say, have had but little influence."

"There have been some twenty or thirty odd investigating committees in our Congress, as there have been in most Congresses. Two or three of these make constant headlines and have yet to prove the significance of their contributions over and above those of the regular investigative agencies. But the others have all been working steadily to the advantage of the Republic. Looked at in perspective, congressional investigations are nothing new."

"In its foreign policy, the United States had made no basic change with the change in administration. Our policy has been consistently one of containment of communism. However, our strategy in foreign relations has changed, and we have taken a much stronger position than previously. Our impatience with friendly nations who have taken part at a host of treaties has been apparent, most notably in the case of France. This may, in the long run, prove to help such nations strengthen themselves. We have determined to give substantial military aid to Pakistan, where Ambassador Hilsenrath is an advisor and Overseer of Bowdoin College, has undoubtedly been influential in the negotiation of this aid. During the year, the Point Four program and other foreign aid programs began to pay huge dividends on relatively small investments. A major part of the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations reveals that an expenditure of $40,000,000 several years ago has enabled the corn farmers in Europe to add $24,000,000 to the value of their crop in 1952.

"Federal spending has been reduced. Many economies have been realized. The costs of maintaining our Armed Services are cut, and at the same time, the number of wings in the Air Force have been increased from 110 to 116. The Army and Navy have been especially found more efficient means of operating, leaving behind the previous policy merely to do things in the fastest or easiest way. Repercussions of these economies are widespread, and have already reached our own campus at Bowdoin; the College is cooperating in a recent

"Federal spending has been reduced. Many economies have been realized. The costs of maintaining our Armed Services are cut, and at the same time, the number of wings in the Air Force have been increased from 110 to 116. The Army and Navy have been especially found more efficient means of operating, leaving behind the previous policy merely to do things in the fastest or easiest way. Repercussions of these economies are widespread, and have already reached our own campus at Bowdoin; the College is cooperating in a recent

'Misalliance' To Be Played Soon

"Misalliance," which will be presented by the Masque and Gown on Jan. 20 at 8:15 in Memorial Hall, is the first play by George Bernard Shaw to have been staged at Bowdoin.

Many of Shaw's plays are so elaborate that production is almost impossible. But "Misalliance" shows him as the master craftsman in that the play takes place not only within a single setting, but within the actual time required for its action. Although a full length farce, with the exaggerated and comical characters and situations expected in that form, Shaw wrote it without any act breaks. For the comicalities in the play will have an intermission.

Skillful With Cast
Shaw was also extremely skillful in limiting his cast to six men and three women, among whom are many of his favorite types. "New money" who considers marriage degrading, the girl who pursues her man, the socialist, the English nobleman, and the intellectual. Shaw manages to appeal as steadily to the intellect as to the commoner.

For the performance as well as the regular Winter House Parties, Memorial Hall will be divided into reserve and rush sections. Students will be admitted on presentation of the Blanket Tag to 60 seats and may reserve seats at 83 cents each by telephoning 83-M on the evenings of January 17 and 18.

(Continued on Page 2)

Charlie Spivak

Roscoe J. Ham

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, January 13, 1954 No. 17

Editor-In-Chief
Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55

Managing Editor
John E. Goodrich '55

News Editors
David R. Anderson '55 James Anwyll, Jr. '55

Assistant News Editors
Thomas L. Spence '57
Edward N. Cotter '56

Feature Writers
Franklin G. Davis '54
John M. Belka '54

Sports Editor
Robert M. Hurst '54

Assistant Sports Editor
Joseph Y. Rogers '55

Sports Staff
Saul H. Cohen '57
Russell B. Crowell '55

Photographer
James P. Gaston '54

Staff
John W. Albert '57
H. Edward Born '57
Francis M. Kinney '57
Edward R. Williams '57
Charles Janson-LaPalme '55
Peter Schmalzer, Jr. '57

Business Manager
Bruce N. Cooper '54

Assistant Business Managers
James A. Cook '54
Advertising Manager Peter M. Farnie '55

Business Assistants
Harry G. Carpenter '57

Circulation Manager
Richard Thurston '54

Circulation Manager
Harold R. Beacham, Jr. '56

David H. Dott '57

Peter F. Gass '57

BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Directors: Professor Athern P. Daggett, Professor James A. Storer, Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilley '54, Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55, Charles Ranlett '54.

Represented for National Advertising by
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representatives
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO - BOSTON - LOS ANGELES - SAN FRANCISCO

Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semesters by the students of Bowdoin College. Address news communications to the Editor and subscription communications to the Business Manager of the Bowdoin Publishing Company at the ORIENT Office in Moore Hall, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three ($3) dollars.

ATO Marks 25th ROTC Unit Changes Year With Party

Alpha Tau Omega celebrated its silver anniversary at Bowdoin on Saturday with a cocktail party, banquet, and dancing.

Following the banquet President James S. Coles and Professor Herbert R. Brown gave short speeches of congratulation. David B. Starkweather, '55, introduced the speakers.

Among those present at the cocktail party before the banquet were President and Mrs. Coles, Professor Brown, Professor and Mrs. William C. Root, Professor and Mrs. Thomas Means, Professor and Mrs. Nathan Dane II, Professor and Mrs. Frederic E. T. Tillotson, Professor and Mrs. Edward S. Hammond, and Professor Samuel E. Kamerling. Professor Lawrence L. Pelletier, on leave of absence this year, travelled from New York for the occasion.

A band consisting of James P. Kushner, '57, Fertil A. Lipas, '55, Charles A. Chapman, '57, and Richard H. Allen, '54, augmented at various times by other members of the Polar Bear Five, entertained from 9:00 to 1:00 in the chapter hall, which was decorated like a Parisian Cafe.

R. John Foltz, '54, was in charge of plans for the weekend.

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it . . .

Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money.

TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY
ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS

The Record Office
Paul K. Niven Jerry Wilkes
• Printers Of The Orient •

Student Council Favors 'Review' Of Quests; Compromise Rejected

(Continued from Page 1)

the same fate as the one proposed by the Council is obvious. First of all, as with all rules, the Houses would probably act accordingly; but, if it were desired, a loophole could easily be found in any compromise proposal of this sort. Secondly, while the proposal of regulations may fit the quest program of some Houses, it would not fit that of others. That is why Article III was turned down 9 to 1 with 85% of the students in any vote. Summing it up, the reason that this proposal was defeated was not because the students wanted to keep the detrimental aspect in quests, but because the students saw that any regulations which would truly do away with what the administration has termed detrimental hazing, would defeat the purposes for having quests. The students insist upon quests, but they fully realize the bad publicity which can be gained by a poorly planned and executed quest; for this reason, we believe that some sort of review might be instituted by the Council to keep quests on a sound, unharshful basis.

In concluding this work on the problem of quests the Student Council is heartily behind the students in that we believe they were wise in accepting Articles I and II and that we believe they had good and sufficient reason in defeating any regulation on the present quest system at Bowdoin. It should be pointed out that the student committee that opened the question of hazing expressed the views of a minority; however, they did start the ball rolling and gave everyone a chance to think about the matter and to decide for themselves. The Council has been able to sell many good ideas and suggestions to the Houses. It has worked to give the Houses a better insight into the hazing problem in the hope that in the future much more care and consideration will be taken in the carrying out of a quest so as not to bring criticism on the fraternities or the College. We do not believe that there has been any failure on the part of the Council in the investigation of this problem for only through the many discussions in the Council and in the Houses were we able to reflect what the students truly believe.

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced a new Elementary Teacher examination for filling positions in Indian Schools throughout the United States and in Alaska. The salary is $3,410 a year.

Pastel, Given To College In Memory Of Alumnus, Is Now On Display In Walker Art Building

(Continued from Page 1)

A pastel entitled Mother and Child by Mary Cassatt has just been given to Bowdoin College by Mrs. Murray S. Danforth of Providence, Rhode Island as a memorial to her husband, a member of the Class of 1901, Professor Philip C. Beam, Director of the Museum of Fine Arts at Bowdoin, announced today. The gift will be exhibited in the Boyd Gallery of the Walker Art Building beginning Monday, December 21.

In announcing the gift, Professor Beam expressed great pleasure in this latest acquisition since the College has not previously possessed an example of the full-color pastel medium.

"Excellent Addition"
"Mrs. Danforth's gift," he said, "now gives us a good example by a master of that art. Inasmuch as we have not had a representative and excellent example of either French Impressionist or American Impressionist painting, this picture fills the latter gap and fits neatly into our sequence of American paintings."

"It is thus an excellent addition to our Museum Collections and will distinctly enhance our teaching program. Most important of all, quite apart from its historical or educational value, it is a very handsome picture in its own right, a work of fine art."

Friend of Degas
Miss Cassatt, whose work is now represented in the Bowdoin Collection, was a member of an old Philadelphia family. She went to Paris in the late 19th century, when it was unusual for one in her circumstances to study-art in

Political Forum Meeting Is Held

(Continued from Page 1)

The Political Forum met Thursday at the Moulton Union. The chief business was the election of new officers for the coming semester, and setting up of new committees.

Officers elected were Charles S. Christie, '56, President; Morton L. Price '56, Vice-President; Robert A. Wagg '57, Secretary; and Norman P. Cohen '56, Treasurer. Richard J. Dale '54, was elected member-at-large. Committee chairmen are: Allan B. Reiskin '57, Speakers; Richard Dale '54, Films; and Morton L. Price '56, Discussions.

Plans are being made for the Forum to present a regular program of speakers, discussions, and films in the coming semester.

Faculty adviser for the Forum is Professor Athern P. Daggett.

Miami Beach, Fla., has no cemetery, no airport, no railroad, and is not believed to have any manufacturing plants.

American College of Surgeons, and other professional organizations, have served the Rhode Island Medical Society for several years as Vice President and was elected to the Presidency three days before his death, June 5, 1943.

Ancient History

(Continued from Page 1)

"III. Students Eligible— . . . It might be valuable to open the course to all classes, with the object of allowing freshmen to take it as background for the many fields for which it is useful, and upperclassmen to take it as a special field in the history or classics major. Against this suggestion are the present limitations in freshmen course electives, and the fact that freshmen take two semester courses almost exclusively.

"IV. Department— The Committee is well aware of the misunderstandings in the teaching of the course in previous years. With these in mind it recommends that the course be placed in the History Department, where it, by course nature, belongs. To be more specific, the Committee understands that Professor Van Cleave is retiring at the end of the present academic year. Possibly the faculty could pick his successor with the teaching of the course in mind. Another possibility is to acquire a person trained in both ancient history and classical languages. . . .

"V. Major Credit— It is suggested that the course be credit in both the History and Classics Majors. The Classics Department has indicated that it would strongly recommend the course for the students of that major.

Prof. Thayer, Bowdoin English Instructor, Is Named To Speech Comm.

(Continued from Page 1)

Professor Albert R. Thayer of the Bowdoin English Department has been named to the Committee on Speech Education of the Speech Association of the Eastern States. This was announced today.

Thayer, a Bowdoin graduate in the Class of 1922, has been teaching at his alma mater since 1939. Before that he taught at Lafayette College and at Woodmere Academy in New York. He holds a master of arts degree for Emerson College and has done graduate work at Harvard Law School and Columbia University. At Bowdoin he is Professor of Speech and Coach of Debating.

At the recent annual meeting of the American Speech Association at the Hotel Statler in New York City, Professor Thayer was a member of a panel which discussed "The Course in Argumentation."

Conclusion
"With these considerations in mind, the Student Curriculum Committee recommends that the faculty and boards add the indicated course in Ancient History to the college curriculum."

"Matchless Service"

Sales and Service
Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed
USED CARS

Maine's Most Modern Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop

Complete Front End and Frame Alignment

Harry W. Smart, Inc.
PHONE 566
87 PLEASANT STREET - BRUNSWICK, MAINE

We Deliver To College
HOT DOGS
ITALIAN SANDWICHES (Made with ham or salami)
BEER and ALE TO TAKE OUT

HOOD'S PLACE
Phone 787-M
180 Maine Street
Brunswick, Maine

BOWL-MOR Alleys
AUTOMATIC PIN SETTERS
Hot Dogs
Italian Sandwiches
Cold Drinks
Coffee
Ice Cream
Operated by Al Tobey, Class of '50

Student Patronage Solicited

First National Bank
Brunswick, Maine

Member of the Federal Reserve System and Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Merrymeeting Gift Shop
185 Park Row
Greeting Cards --- Gifts
Free Gift Wrapping

How the stars got started...

Sauter-Finegan Orchestra
AMERICA'S NEWEST, MOST COLORFUL DANCE BAND

Eddie Sauter and Bill Finegan, leaders of America's most excitingly-different dance band, met in 1939 as struggling young arrangers. Ed had studied trumpet and drum at college, worked up to arranging for "name" bands; Bill had studied in Paris, won a spot with Tommy Dorsey. After 13 years of pooling new ideas, they formed their own band. It clicked!

For Mildness and Flavor

Camels agree with more people THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

START SMOKING CAMELS YOURSELF! Smoke only Camels for 30 days and find out why Camels are first in mildness, flavor and popularity! See how much pure pleasure a cigarette can give you!

Bill Finegan says: "WITH ME, CAMELS CLICKED INSTANTLY. THE FLAVOR'S HOW I LIKE IT, THE MILDNESS JUST RIGHT."

Eddie Sauter says: "I'VE TRIED MANY BRANDS, BUT I GET MOST PLEASURE FROM CAMELS. YOU WILL, TOO!"

THEY STARTED OUT EVEN AT GRADUATION: Why is one doing better now?

You may not see it in their outward appearances — but there's a big difference between these young men. One has held three jobs in the five years since graduation. He's still looking for a job that offers him a lifetime career. The other has been with a Bell Telephone Company during that time. He's on his way up!

You Grow with a Growing Business — The Bell System is one of the fastest growing businesses in the world. Since the end of World War II, it has spent about nine billion dollars for new construction. The past five years have seen the introduction of network TV transmission, dialing of Long Distance calls and the development of the remarkable transistor. And the next five years will bring many more changes. In addition, each year the number of college people hired is related to estimates of the number of future management positions to be available.

Telephone Work Is Interesting — You may train to supervise forces engaged in constructing, installing or maintaining telephone facilities; or to manage groups of people handling customer contact, accounting or statistical work. You may work on engineering problems or be engaged in planning or other important staff activities, such as personnel relations, public relations, or revenue studies.

No matter what your military status, it's worth inquiring about Bell System employment opportunities. Your Placement Officer has the details. See him soon. And be sure to talk to our employment representatives when they visit the campus. The time to plan your future is now!

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

Bowdoin Cagers Edged By Colby, 76-74; Victorious Over Amherst Five, 87-81

By Russell B. Crowell '55

Bowdoin saw its State Series hopes temporarily darkened as the Colby Mules held of a late White rally and went on to win 76-74 at Waterville. Colby managed to maintain a slim margin despite a fiery 26 point last quarter...

Two other Polar Bears broke into double figures, Libby getting 18 and Janelle 13. Libby and Kreider played a fine defensive effort holding Amherst's Captain Tony Mahar to one field goal from the floor.

PLACEMENT BUREAU NOTICE The Placement Bureau announces that Mr. Howard E. Clark, representing the Albany Felt Company of Albany, New York, will conduct interviews on January 19 in the Faculty Room.

The Annual Meeting of the MASQUE & GOWN will be held in the Moulton Union Lounge, on Monday, January 18th, at 4:30 P.M., for the election of new officers...

Table with columns for Bowdoin (77) and Amherst (81) showing player statistics for points, rebounds, and assists.

Notice The Annual Meeting of the MASQUE & GOWN will be held in the Moulton Union Lounge, on Monday, January 18th, at 4:30 P.M., for the election of new officers...

Standings table for various sports including basketball, football, and hockey.

Varsity Basketball Averages

Table showing Varsity Basketball Statistics for individual players, including field goals, fouls, and total points.

*Only players averaging more than two points a game are listed.

ZETES VICTORIOUS IN ATHLETIC TROPHY COMPETITION

Table showing Final Standings of Fraternities for 1952-1953 across various sports.

Three points for varsity letters in baseball, basketball, football, hockey, swimming, and track...

THE STANDINGS SINCE ITS CONCEPTION

Large table showing the historical standings of various fraternities from 1949 to 1952 across multiple sports.

Sigma Nu Still Undefeated; Three-Way Tie For Second

LAST WEEK'S RESULTS TD 53 - Chi Psi 25 DKE 33 - Zeta Psi 30 Psi U 51 - Beta 39 Kappa Sig 60 - ATO 27 DKE 60 - ATO 44 AD 44 - Delta Sig 27 Kappa Sig 67 - Chi Psi 20 Sigma Nu 69 - Beta 46 TD 42 - Psi U 37 ARU 52 - Zeta Psi 27

Standings table for Sigma Nu, DKE, Kappa Sigma, Psi U, and ATO.

LEADING SCORERS Games Pt. Avg. Seull, Psi U 4 58 14.5 Dabney, DKE 4 48 12.0 Cosgrove, Kappa Sig 4 48 12.0 Friedlander, Beta 3 47 15.6 Veech, Sigma Nu 3 44 14.6

NEXT WEEK'S GAMES Tues. - AD vs. Zeta ATO vs. TD Wed. - Chi Psi vs. ARU DKE vs. Psi U Thurs. - Kappa Sig vs. Sigma Nu Beta vs. Delta Sig

Standings table for Rodman, Goodfriend, Fratelli, Goodman, Tassak, Kappa Sigma, and Chi Psi.

Reproductions of Pompeii Shown Reproductions from the Rare Book Room of Pompeian frescoes are currently being displayed in the library.

Pompeii, once a popular resort for wealthy Romans, was located on the Bay of Naples and contained many elegant villas, an amphitheatre and a zoo.

Other current exhibits include Indian relics from the Burrage collection in Parker Cleveland Hall, and memorable photographs from Life magazine in Sills Hall.

REPRODUCTION OF POMPEII SHOWN Reproductions from the Rare Book Room of Pompeian frescoes are currently being displayed in the library.

Standings table for Sigma Nu, Beta, Psi U, and ATO.

Consult Your Campus Agent GEORGE W. GRAHAM '55 About Life Insurance Provident Mutual of Philadelphia

POLAR BEARINGS

THERE IS NO SANTA FOR POLAR BEARS 'Twas long after Christmas when all through the house Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse. The White Bears were losing to Norwich again. And the 400 fans were silent and grim.

On a goal by Bob Hazard, a man of good speed, Those on the bench, and those all around, Commenced to cry out with the victory sound. Down on the bench where the spare pucksters in lot, Gave cheers for a goal that Melincoff got. One wondered a bit at this wonderful lead, Had Bowdoin a team of professional speed. But soon 'round the rink the good tidings spread, A score from McCusker whom many'd thought dead. He'd returned to the North in response to a plea, From Deacon MacFadden, the Bowdoin M.C. And now he was present, a White Shirt once more, Older and bolder but a pro to the core. And then in the middle of period two, The visitors suddenly saw what to do. The Gold Knights of Norwich chopped ice with such speed, That when the scene cleared they had cut down the lead. But then of a sudden and though Xmas was past, A new Santa appeared though not in the cast. He wore a striped shirt not one of the white, His pants were coal-black and so was the night. He blew on the whistle and sent to the pokey, Rough Larry Dwight for being so plucky. He penalized Larry for tripping a man, And the groans of the crowd could be heard o'er the land. And Norwich gave hope by this ornery bird, Went ahead and scored twice more in the third. So instead of a win and a better position, The White lost 5-3 and couldn't help kickin'.

*Idea borrowed from Clement Moore via Jerry Mitchell

Advertisement for Bowdoin Muffler, 6 Feet Long, Black and White, 4 50. Includes contact information for Moulton Union Bookstore.

Advertisement for Cumberland Theatre, Brunswick, Maine, listing plays like 'The Bigamist' and 'Jack Slade'.

Advertisement for 'Save 20% on LPs' featuring a cartoon illustration of a man and a woman.

Advertisement for 'Your hands on the Future!' promoting Air Force training opportunities.

Advertisement for 'Your hands on the Future!' featuring a large illustration of a pilot in a cockpit.

Advertisement for 'The Orchestra Pit' at the 1920 Beacon Street, listing various musical recordings.

Advertisement for 'Save 20% on LPs' with a list of classical music recordings and their prices.

Advertisement for 'Your hands on the Future!' with detailed information about Air Force training, including 'Win an Air Force Commission' and 'Earn over $5,000 A Year'.

Behind The Ivy Curtain

By David R. Anderson '55

Amherst undergraduates watched a tradition fade into history recently when their administration cancelled plans for the 68th running of the Zephaniah Swift Moore Drinking Contest. The Decency League, sponsors of the drink-fest in recent years, told a reporter for the Amherst Student, "the bout derives its name from the first college president who reputedly walked all the way to Athol (30 miles) in the midst of a raging blizzard to get a jug of beer."

Three-man teams from each house were to have competed for the original jug, annually awarded to that team which could drink the most nine ounce glasses of beer the fastest.

League plans for this year's rivalry called for a period of general drinking before the match to "set the proper mood."

College Calendar

Start the new year right. Send for your copy of the latest girly calendar on the market and hope you don't see a picture of your winter houseparties date on it. Three 20-year-old University of New Mexico juniors have left school to market a new calendar featuring a co-ed a month. The idea, born in a bull session, reached the copyright and marketing stage after the pictures of the scantily-clad coeds passed university censors.

Wally Decket, spokesman for the group, told an AP reporter, "This isn't just a crazy Joe College stunt..." The trio had to convince the parents of 11 of the 12 models who were under 21 that the scheme was on the up and up. Decket summed up other official reactions like this, "The university was tough, the censors were a cinch, but the censorship board — oh, brother!" (Two deans and one student made up this board.)

The calendar will be marketed nationally in 1955 if present plans work out.

New Channel

Television is replacing the slide rule and microscopes at the Naval Academy, at least that's the indication. Midgies will be watching their own special shows on 21-inch screens located in 19 different classrooms. The present schedule lists several 15-minute programs a week featuring such intricate gadgets as tiny transistors, vacuum peanut tubes and iron filings to demonstrate magnetic forces for say Report fame, graduated from electronics classes. Lessons for South Orange (N.J.) High School.

sea to shore are planned for the future.

Shakespeare and Friend A recent Reuters dispatch from Johannesburg, South Africa, reads, "Two laborers named Charlie Chaplin and William Shakespeare were arraigned before a Johannesburg magistrate."

Chaplin, charged with being drunk and disorderly in a Johannesburg main street at night was fined $5.60 and told to avoid — City Lights.

"Shakespeare, charged with 'disturbing the peace by shouting, swearing and screaming and making a noise in public,' said he was provoked by people who accused him of throwing rubbish down a drain.

"Fining him $28.80, the magistrate said, 'I hope that this is — As You Like It.'"

Promised Land Oh! Take me to the Promised Land where the River Brandy flows; Where the little Gin Rickies grow on trees and the Highballs bounce on the ground.

That's the song that came to mind when we read the following item about the Hotel Terminus in Dijon, France. The hotel has placed spigots in each room which pour out not water but good red and white wine. The wine is free. All the guests have to do is to turn the spigot. The hotel places no limit on consumption. The town, 163 miles southeast of Paris, is located in Burgundy. I wonder what the rates are?

Out of the Forest The director of conservation for the state of Indiana has issued a call to college men to return to the raccoon coats so popular a generation ago. The state has an over-population of the fur coated animals, and the hungry 'coons are causing big crop losses. Hunters can't keep up with the rising number of raccoons. If the skins were marketable, that is, if they could be turned into great coats for this silent generation, Indiana farmers would have one less problem on their hands.

A second fashion note comes from London where Britain's arbiter of men's high fashions claims that the figured silk vest has become too popular. The authority predicts that the fancy cummerbunds will replace the vest on the well dressed man. If you're thinking of changing you have a choice of cummerbunds in stripes, spots, or even plain.

Alumni Corner If you didn't read this in TIME or Reader's Digest:

When Alfred C. Kinsey, of Kinsey Report fame, graduated from South Orange (N.J.) High School.

White Swimmers Top Tufts, 48-35

Overcoming a 15 yard deficit in the final relay, the Bowdoin Mermen sunk Tufts in one of the most breathtaking finishes ever staged at Curtis Pool. Going into the last event, the score was Bowdoin 41, Tufts 35, making the seven points of the final relay the deciding factor of the meet. After Captain Arzewon had made up 10 yards of the deficit, Bob Glover, sophomore anchorman, overtook Tufts' Bill Wright in the last few yards of the race to ice the relay and the meet for the Polar Bears with a final score of 48-35.

Under Coach Bob Miller who worked the team into shape last week the Bowdoin Swim Team showed definite signs of improvement. Bob Arzewon floated through two easy victories in the 220 yard freestyle and 200 yard breaststroke events, saving his strength for a strong 3rd leg of the final relay. Bob Glover, dropping his hundred time down to a 54.9, took first places in the 50 yard and 100 yard sprints and anchored the winning Polar Bear relay.

The only other first places for Bowdoin were by Clark Neill in the 150 Individual Medley and by Jim Williams in the gruelling quarter mile. Neill, after pulling out in front with a strong breaststroke and holding Wright of Tufts to a 2 yard lead at the backstroke finished strong to take a close first place. Williams stayed behind Brito for twelve of the seventeen laps and then stroked his way out front to win by half a pool length.

Other point scores for Bowdoin were Ken Brigham in the 50 yard and 100 yard sprints, Lloyd Willey in the medley, Steve Morse in the breaststroke, Dave Pyle in the backstroke, and Ted deWinter in the quarter.

There were no divers competing for Bowdoin in the meet, which meant that Tufts was given 8 points for entering two men. Having no divers, puts the swimming team 8 points down everytime it swims.

The Polar Bear Mermen will be working out for its two away meets next Saturday with Boston University at Boston, and Trinity College at Hartford.

Bowdoin Jayvee swimmers chalked up their second straight victory of the year over Edward Little High School by the score of 48-35. Bowdoin swimmers in the class of 1912, yearbook editors put this wildly unprophectic line from "Hamlet" under his picture: "Man delights not me; no, nor woman either." — TIME.

45 to 30. Collier and Merrill were the only double winners of the meet. Collier, taking first in the 50 and 100 yard freestyle, turned in his best times for these distances. Merrill, after an easy win in the 150 yard medley, turned in the excellent time of 1:04.7 in the hundred yard backstroke.

The only winners for Edward Little High School were Dick Oum with a fast time of 2:11.5 in the 200 yard freestyle, and St. Pierre in the 100 yard breaststroke.

The Polar Cubs will face Deering High at home on Thursday and Andover Academy at Andover on Saturday.

Dave Pyle is shown above in the 200-yard backstroke, in which he placed second. In all, the Bowdoin swimmers took seven first places in defeating Tufts 48-35.

ROTC RIFLE TEAM BEGINS SEASON

The Bowdoin ROTC Rifle Team has just completed firing in the William Randolph Hearst Rifle Competition, according to an announcement today by Lt. Col. Will R. Winfrey, in charge of the ROTC unit at Bowdoin. Sixteen hundred teams throughout the United States participated in this competition.

Members of the team include Karl M. Pearson, Jr., captain; Robert K. Windsor, manager; Henry M. Britt, Francis H. Taggart, G. Frederick Lombard, John C. Brewer, Roswell Moore, Jr., Philip K. Russell, Arthur R. Chavonelle, David Dott, Richard Nasson, Arnold Goldman and Howard C. Jacobsen. M/Sgt. Clifford L. Keasling, U.S. Army, supervises the team.

Pucksters Lose 5-3 To Norwich

The Bowdoin hockey team opened its season with a 5-3 loss to a fast skating Norwich outfit.

The White got off to a surprising start with three quick scores in the early part of the first period. Bob Hazzard garnered the first goal driving in on a solo. The first line then tallied with two quick counters. The second goal by Melineoff came on a fine pass play, as he was set up next to the Norwich crease, and McCusker scored only a minute later.

Then the roof fell in. The Norwich pucksters controlled the play from then on; it was only rarely that Bowdoin could muster a sustained offensive attack. The White forward line kept well back of their blue line so that whenever the center wings got hold of the puck they had to drive the length of the ice.

Norwich scored twice in both the first and third periods and once in the second. The visitors had a number of very fast skaters who could break quickly. As a result they fired at will at Goalie "Skip" Howard, who managed to turn back 32 of the shots. If it were not for the able defensive work of Larry Dwight, Dave Coe, and Dave Rogerson the final score would have been more lopsided.

The Polar Bears certainly showed their lack of training and depth in the first encounter. With only three days' training behind them, the White fatigued quickly, and with only one forward line that can play good college hockey, the team ran out of steam. The starting line-up for Bowdoin is highly capable, but the quality of the reserves except Hazzard is substandard. With the first two lines on the ice for all but five minutes their speed was cut down considerably as time progressed, and a scoring punch was lacking in the third period.

Although Dwight and Coe played practically the entire game, they provided a very effective defense for Howard. Except for screening Howard occasionally, the defense played a fine game. On at least two Norwich goals Howard never saw the disc enter the cage, and his services were outstanding considering the poor arena lighting and his constantly having the opponents in front of him.

It is believed that the balloon was invented in France in 1782. John Bunyan wrote "Pilgrim's Progress" while in prison.

Freshman Cagers Win Sixth In Row

The Bowdoin Freshmen won their fifth and sixth consecutive games this season without a defeat by turning back Stephens High of Rumford last Saturday and South Portland High Tuesday.

The contest against Stephens was close until the last quarter, when the Frosh opened up with a 25-point barrage to win by a comfortable margin. At the end of the first quarter, the Rumford players were ahead 16-8, mainly on the shooting of Pete Pepin and Danny Orino. Bowdoin kept whittling away at the deficit during the second quarter, and found themselves trailing by only one point at half-time, 26-25.

The third canto was fairly even as both teams practically matched each other point for point. Stephens picked up a two-point spread at the end of the third period. Then the roof fell in during the last period. With Bob Johnson, Tom Fraser, and Jack Eaton paving the way, the Frosh quickly opened up a comfortable lead and won by eleven points, 64-53.

Topping the scoring for the Bowdoin Frosh were Johnson, who was high for the game with 18 points, Fraser with 17 points, and Eaton with a total of 13 tallies. Pepin was the only Stephen cager to reach double figures as he led the scoring for his team with 15 points.

Frosh Stop So. Portland, 56-43 The Polar Cubs managed to turn back South Portland without too much trouble as they drew away in the second half to post their sixth straight win.

The Frosh were trailing by three at the first quarter mark but managed to garner a three point lead at the half. A 17-point output in the third quarter put Bowdoin out in front by twelve at the start of the last period. South Portland couldn't overcome this lead and were able to pick up only one point on the Cubs in the final frame. Bill Fraser led the Freshmen

Summary table for Stephens H.S. (53) vs Bowdoin Fresh (64). Columns include G, F, P for both teams. Total score 64-53.

Summary table for So. Portland (43) vs Bowdoin Fresh (56). Columns include G, F, P for both teams. Total score 56-43.

Morrell and Walsh Attend NCAA and AFCA Meeting In Cincinnati

Athletic Director Mal Morrell and Football Coach Adam Walsh of Bowdoin attended meetings of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the American Football Coaches Association the week of January 6. The sessions were held through Friday in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Morrell is attending as a member of the executive committee of the College Committee of the NCAA. This committee is designed to give the smaller colleges of the Association, such as Bowdoin, greater representation on all committees of the NCAA. Walsh is chairman of the Public Relations Committee of the AFCA. He also was the featured speaker at a meeting of the Cleveland Bowdoin Club on Monday night.

Advertisement for Benoit's Sport Coats. Features the Benoit's logo, the number 82, and the text 'BENOIT SPORT COATS REDUCED TO $22 and $33'. Includes a list of coat sizes and prices, a size scale table, and the company name 'A. H. BENOIT & CO.' with 'Pray For Peace' and 'Phone 200'.

Advertisement for Chesterfield cigarettes. Features a man in a suit, the text 'The Record I'm most proud of - Chesterfield is the largest-selling cigarette in America's colleges for the FIFTH straight Year', and images of Chesterfield cigarette packs. Includes the text 'Perry Como' and 'CHESTERFIELD BEST FOR YOU'.

Nine Fraternity Presidents Chosen, More Elections Due

Nine of Bowdoin's fraternities have elected their officers for the spring semester; those houses which have not yet completed their elections will do so tonight.

The list of newly chosen presidents is as follows: Alpha Delta Phi, James A. Cook '54; Psi Upsilon, Robert Pillsbury '54; Chi Psi, Peter B. Fowell '54; Zeta Psi, Michael J. McCabe '54; Kappa Sigma, Robert E. Boyle Jr. '54; Beta Theta Pi, Camille F. Sarrauf '55; Alpha Rho Upsilon, Jerome B. Gracey '55; Delta Sigma, James W. Stagnone '55; and Sigma Nu, Frank J. Vecella '54.

Camille F. Sarrauf '55 is the newly-elected president of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity. The Beta is also elected David S. Hamilton '55, vice president; Paul D. Potter '55, president; Ellsworth B. Clark '56, corresponding secretary; Jack W. Swenson '55, recording secretary.

Filling other posts are Walter W. Rick '56, steward; Frederick C. Wilkins '56, librarian; Thomas C. Kane, Jr. '55, Student Council representative; Paul I. Kingsbury, Jr. '57, Student Union representative; John J. Manning '57, White Key representative; and Robert A. Keay, rushing chairman and alumni secretary.

Sarrauf has been active in Masque and Gown activities for the past three years and has won the Lockwood Fairbanks Prize in public speaking as a freshman. He is on the staff of W.B.O.A., and is a member of the Interfraternity Debating Council. He has also been quite active in interfraternity athletics, and this year captains the Beta basketball squad.

McCabe '54 Chosen To Head Zeta Psi This Term
Zeta Psi elected Michael J. McCabe '54 House President on January 13. Other officers chosen at that time were David K. Hutchins '55, vice president; Charles E. Orcutt '54, recording secretary; Paul DuBrule '56, corresponding secretary; Raymond T. Adams '56, historian; Henry J. Starr '55, Student Curriculum Committee representative; and Supreme Council members Preston L. Smith '54, Joel H. Graham '54, and Richard C. Gibson '54.

McCabe has been on the varsity track team and is a former president of the Bowdoin Christian Association. He has held the House offices of secretary, Supreme Council Member, and Curriculum Committee representative. A pre-med student, he will attend Yale Medical School next year.

Vice-President Hutchins played freshman football besides being active in interfraternity sports. Orcutt has been president of the Debating Council, House Corresponding Secretary, and at present is vice president of the Student Council. DuBrule is a James Bowdoin School, B.O.T.A. announcer, and debater.

Cook Elected New AD President; Cleaves V.P.
James A. Cook '54 was elected President of Alpha Delta Phi Fraternity in last Wednesday evening's house meeting.

Cook, who has been captain of the Golf Team for the past two years, is a graduate of Shady Side Academy in Pittsburgh, Pa. He is also an Assistant Business Manager of the ORIENT. A member of

Notice
A Navy Aviation Cadet Procurement team will visit Bowdoin on January 21 to discuss the Navy's Aviation Cadet program with interested students.

The program is open to young men between the ages of 18 and 23 who have completed at least two years or sixty semester hours at an accredited college or university, and are unmarried.

Bugle Editor Robert C. Burr '55 Announces Change Of Publishers

Under the editorship of Robert C. Burr '55, the 1954 Bowdoin Bugle, which will be published by Bradbury, Sayles and O'Neill of New York, instead of the Stobbs Press of Worcester, Mass., is expected to be ready on Ivy Week end.

The decision to change publishers was chiefly because of the fact that Bradbury, Sayles and O'Neill will be less expensive than Stobbs Press, who did the printing last year, while still maintaining the high quality of former "Bugles". Also, Bradbury will take care of both the publishing and the photographic parts of the book, where these two functions formerly had to be separated.

This year the fraternity representatives were chosen by the Bugle staff, instead of being elected by the separate houses, thus assuring the yearbook of having capable men to do the job. The representatives are: Alpha Delta Phi, Warren A. Slesinger '56; Psi Upsilon, Lloyd G. Bishop '55; Chi Psi, Carl S. Techant '55; Delta Kappa Epsilon, James L. Doherty '55; Theta Delta Chi, John O. Kaler '54; Zeta Psi, William C. Hays '55; Kappa Sigma, Joseph F. Tecce '55; Beta Theta Pi, James F. Wilson '54; Alpha Nu, Frank J. Vecella '54; Sigma Tau Omega, Spencer

Lieut. Colonel Stern, Joins Bowdoin ROTC

Lieutenant Colonel Gates B. Stern has come to the Bowdoin ROTC Unit to serve as an Assistant Professor of Military Science and Tactics.

A native of Uniontown, Pa., he graduated from the Uniontown Senior High School in 1932 and from Lehigh University in 1936, receiving his B.A. A major in Business Administration, he was also a Second Lieutenant in the Infantry Reserve, and after graduation he took a Course in Command at the General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kans.

He worked for his family in Athens, Ohio, and later was with the May Co. in Denver, and served two years with the Civilian Conservation Corps.

He began active duty with the Army in June, 1942, and was sent to Great Britain with the First Amphibious Brigade. He was later transferred to Oran, Algeria, where he was concerned with the movement of cargo in and out of the port until January of 1945.

He then was transferred to France where he established a Depot in Leon to outfit the French Divisions, and later moved to Marseilles where he was Port Transportation Officer.

In February of 1946 he was again a civilian, and again worked in the family concern.

Joins ROTC Staff

The new Student Council member from the A.D. house, replacing retiring President David S. Rogerson '54, is Bruce N. Cooper '54. A graduate of the Kings School, he is the Business Manager of the ORIENT and a member of the Bowdoin Publishing Co. Cooper is a member of the ROTC and has been on the Track Team for three years.

Dramatic Club Picks Officers; Presents Shaw Play Tonight
The annual meeting of the Masque and Gown was held in the Moulton Union lounge on Monday, January 18, in order to elect the officers for the spring semester, 1954 and the fall semester, 1954.

The officers chosen were Camille F. Sarrauf, President, Nell Alter, Secretary, Robert C. Hawley, Production Advisor, Donald M. Brewer, Senior Member at Large, and John D. Gignac, as Production Manager. Also runners-up were two sophomores elected were Willis H. West at '53, as Publicity Manager and William Besson, III, as the Junior Member at Large.

It was also announced that the first production of G. B. Shaw's "Misalliance" will be held in Memorial Hall at 7:30 p.m. This first performance will give the students of the college an opportunity to see the play in order that they may decide whether or not they would like to take their dates to see it during the Winter Houseparties.

One Act Plays
President William A. Hoffman also announced the winners of the One Act Play Contest. There were nine plays submitted this year. William Besson, III took first honors by having two plays, "Dark Ladies" and "The Man Who Was Out to Lunch", selected for production. The other two plays selected for production were "But of These Three", by Donald M. Brewer, and "Allen Hetherington's".

Springfield College Team To Give Gym Show In Brunswick

The Springfield College gym team will give two exhibition performances at the Brunswick Recreation Center on Friday, January 22.

The first performance will be at 3:45 p.m. at $3.00 a ticket, and the second performance at 8:15 p.m. at $1.20 a ticket, tax included.

The exhibition is sponsored by the Brunswick Rotary Club through the recreation center. Proceeds are to be used for community service projects.

The gym team is famous both nationally and internationally. The show itself consists of several aspects of gymnastics. First is apparatus work involving parallel bars, side horses, the spring board, and trapezine. Next is tumbling, rhythmic dancing and team drill. Judo and jiu-jitsu form a third phase of gymnastics to be presented, with the high bar and tableu work completing the show. For the tableu, the team paints their bodies in gold, and with the lights dimmed, make an interesting sight.

Coch of the Springfield team is Leslie J. Judd of the athletic department at Springfield College. Mr. Judd is the former trainer-director for the world-famous Ice Capades. His reputation as a coach and trainer has earned him much praise during the past few years. The team has traveled abroad and throughout the country.

Large Prize Offered Photo Contest Winners
The Bowdoin Camera Club will hold a photographic contest during Winter House Party Weekend, February 14.

Administration Abolishes Quests, Paddling; Stops 'Other Hazing Or Initiation Activities' Causing Possible Physical Harm Or Damage To College

Spivak Band, Fraternity Dances To Highlight Winter Houseparties

On the weekend of the thirteenth, thirteenth, and fourteenth of February approximately 550 female guests are expected to grace the campus to partake in the carefree frivolous of Winter Houseparties. A multitude of activities have been scheduled by both the College and individual fraternities throughout the entire weekend.

The formal, which will be held Friday evening, is being planned by the Student Union Committee and will supplement the various parties at the respective fraternities. The dance, which begins at 9 p.m. and runs until 1 a.m., features Charlie Spivak and his orchestra. Each house will send its house queen to the Sargent Gymnasium to be voted for among the candidates as the houseparty queen. At this time the winner will be presented with a cup by the chairman of the Student Union Committee. Director, Art Grove, has announced that the Meddlemops will entertain the dancers at approximately 11:00 p.m.

Hockey Game Scheduled
The Bowdoin hockey team will act as hosts to the University of New Hampshire hockey team Friday afternoon at two-thirty. This will be the first of two games this weekend. The second will be played against Amherst Saturday evening at seven-thirty.

Friday before the dance virtually every fraternity on campus has planned a formal cocktail party, followed by a formal banquet. At this time the houses provide food and drink for the brothers, dates

Students Register Surprise, Rejection; Special Meeting Called; Riot Attempted

By a vote of the Faculty Administrative Committee, announced by Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick in the Student Council meeting last Monday, the following College regulations are now in effect:

1. Quests are abolished.
2. Paddling is abolished.
3. Any other hazing or initiation activities which manifestly involve danger of physical injury or damage to the reputation of the College are forbidden.
4. Within the above limits, for the observance of which individuals and groups will be held responsible, rules and suggestions regarding hazing or initiation activities are referred to a Joint Faculty-student Committee composed of three members of the Administrative Committee of the Faculty and three students appointed by the Student Council.

House Presidents Meet
Monday evening the fraternity presidents and several other students, among them some members of the Student Council, held an informal meeting at the Psi U house to discuss the consequences of the above regulations. It was decided that the administration should definitely clarify the meaning of the third section of the new rules. They interpreted the fourth section as meaning that a tie vote in the proposed committee, barring a harmonious decision, would be sent to the dean for a final ruling. An informal committee of four was selected to discuss with the administration the clarification of the third section. The group felt that a student could unwittingly violate this ruling because the phraseology is too general. Members of the committee are Robert W. Pillsbury '54, James A. Cook '54, Paul P. Broutas '54 and Michael James McCabe '54.

Dean Tries To Clarify Hazing Rules Muddle

Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick spoke over WBOA last evening at

Delivers Final Word
The T.D. House is planning its usual party and banquet Friday night, and a skating party is planned for Saturday afternoon. There will be a dance band Saturday night.

The Psi U house will have a roller skating party Saturday afternoon from two to five. Jimmy Hanson's band will entertain the group from nine to one.

The Psi U house will hold two cocktail parties, one Friday afternoon and one Saturday afternoon. A dance band has been arranged for later in the evening.

Many other houses are in the process of making arrangements for their respective cocktail parties during the weekend, but as yet plans have not been finally decided.

Students Attempt Riot
Late Monday night the chapel bells were rung and a fairly large number of students gathered in front of the chapel. They started to march toward President James S. Coles' house, but were persuaded by the dean and several students to break up and go home. Dean Kendrick told the throng that the students would have ample opportunity to discuss the problem with administration officials. He said he was convinced that the students did not want to do anything which would be detrimental to the College.

The hazing question arose last fall when several students published a report in the ORIENT designed to persuade the students as a whole to meet the administration half-way on the specific question of quests.

College Governing Boards Will Vote Degrees In February

The Governing Boards of Bowdoin College will meet here on February 5 and 6 to carry out the business of the college.

Double degrees earned in courses will be voted at the February meetings, no Commencement exercises will be held, as the number of men concerned is very small. Men whose degrees are voted will be invited to participate in the regular Commencement exercises in June and to receive their diplomas at that time.

Notice

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced a new Elementary Teacher examination for filling positions in Indian Schools throughout the United States and in Alaska. The salary is $3,410 a year.

Orient Notice

There will be an important meeting of the entire ORIENT staff at 7:00 p.m., Thursday, February 11, in the ORIENT office in the basement of Moore Hall. New men will be most welcome. There are positions open in every department, especially news and sports writing. Advancement to more responsible positions will be rapid for those who show interest and ability.

Notice

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced a new Elementary Teacher examination for filling positions in Indian Schools throughout the United States and in Alaska. The salary is $3,410 a year.

Anna Stone Is Tribute To Bygone Ceremonial

Even the most casual campus stroller has probably noticed the stone near Massachusetts Hall that bears the inscription "Anna Lytics". To find the reason for this headstone, one must trace back about 80 years when college students were considered to be "of strange sort" and odd tales came forth from behind the ivy-covered walls of the Eastern colleges.

Back in the second half of the nineteenth century, most of the existing colleges had some customs or traditions that seem very weird to the student of today. One of Bowdoin's more well known ceremonies was that held annually in honor of "Anna Lytics".

After this ceremony, the class retired to Lemont Hall for a supper. Here appropriate toasts were offered and responded to. Programs were printed for the entire affair, but since only 100 of these existed this particular year they were very scarce and the object of much bartering. The following song is reprinted from one of those programs.

(To be sung upon arriving at the pry)
Concretum Annae Lyticoem
 AIR..... "Peyel's Hymn"

Lurid red, the torch's ray,
 Gleaming across our midnight way,
 As with songs and dirges sad,
 Mourn we "Anna Lytics" dead.

Hushed is now the busy world,
 And the day's bright banner
 is furled;
 Weeping Sophomores, draw near:
 See our "Anna" on her bier.

When the greedy flame shall eat
 Coffin, pall, and winding sheet,
 Still we'll chant our solemn lays,
 Mindful of her pristine days.

Dean N. C. Kendrick

ten-thirty in an attempt to clarify the position of the administrative committee's actions in passing the recent hazing restrictions.

With Douglas Reid '54 moderating the discussion, Dean Kendrick stated that the action was a long time in coming, and that the administrative committee had felt that the students were given ample time with which to come up with their own proposals. He emphasized that the final word by the committee was held off until the Student Council issued their final statement last week. The Dean also said that the restriction on paddling was aimed primarily at the exception which often brings misfortune. He concluded by saying that the joint student-faculty jurisdiction committee would be a temporary one, set up only when needed.

Pres. Coles Attends Cincinnati Lib. Arts Finance Convention

Bowdoin's President James S. Coles met with college presidents at a conference of the American Alumni Council at Northampton, Mass. The purpose of this meeting, attended by alumni secretaries and others from New England colleges, was to discuss how to make the best type of alumni organizations for both the alumni and the colleges.

Coles Participates In Panel
President Coles participated in a Presidential Panel on January 12, discussing the topic, "Undergraduate Four Years, Alumni for Fifty." Other panel members were President Charles Cole of Amherst, Mrs. Gregory May, Academic Dean of Wheaton College; and President Benjamin F. Wright, Smith College.

Seward J. Marsh '12, Alumni Secretary of Bowdoin and President of the American Alumni Council, spoke to the conference on January 10.

The theme running through this

Sunday Chapel Speaker Gives His Reflections About God's Purposes

The Reverend George M. Hooten '47 spoke in chapel Sunday on "What Some People Expect From Being Good."

Rev. Hooten, besides being a Bowdoin graduate, graduated from the Bangor Theological Seminary and formerly was the pastor of the Congregational Church in Yorkmouth. Since 1948, Rev. Hooten has been the pastor of the Franklin Street Congregational Church in Manchester, N.H.

International Living Expert Will Address Chapel Goers Soon

Gordon Boyce, Director of the Experiment in International Living, will speak in Chapel Tuesday, February 9.

The topic of Mr. Boyce's speech hasn't been determined, but it is hoped that he will discuss his activities with the organization. Tuesday afternoon Mr. Boyce will speak with students in the Moulton Union.

Famous LIFE Photos Now On Exhibition In Classroom Building

Now on exhibit in Sills Hall are over sixty photographs from "Life" magazine.

The showing is sponsored by the American Federation of Arts, with exhibition headquarters at New York 28, N.Y. Many of the pictures are concerned with people and subject matter ranges from war to sports, or from African tribesmen to modern industry. The exhibition is intended to show the photographic journalism practiced by "Life" in the past fifteen years.

A cross section of the quality, range and scope of the work done by the "Life" staff photographers, or those on special assignment, is presented. Among the prominent photographers whose work is shown are: Alfred Eisenstaedt, Eric Shaal, Ralph Crane, Andres Brelner, Thomas D. McAvoy and Carl Mydans.

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, January 20, 1954 No. 18

Editor-in-Chief
Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55

Managing Editor
John B. Goodrich '55

News Editors
David R. Anderson '55
George I. Rockwood '56
Franklin G. Davis '54
John M. Belka '54

Editorial Staff
James Anwyll, Jr. '55
Thomas L. Sweeney '57
Assistant News Editor
Edward N. Cotter '56
Feature Writers
Benjamin G. M. Priest '56
Sports Editor
Robert M. Hurst '54
Assistant Sports Editor
Joseph Y. Rogers '55
Business Manager
Bruce N. Cooper '54
Assistant Business Managers
James A. Cook '54
Advertising Manager
Peter M. Pirnie '55
Harry G. Carpenter '57

Business Assistants
C. Richard Thurston '54
Circulation Managers
Harold R. Beacham, Jr. '56
David H. Dott '57
Peter F. Gass '57

BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Directors: Professor Athern P. Daggett, Professor James A. Storser, Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilley '54, Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55, Charles Ranlett '54.

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO - BOSTON - LOS ANGELES - SAN FRANCISCO

Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semesters by the students of Bowdoin College. Address news communications to the Editor and subscription communications to the Business Manager of the Bowdoin Publishing Company at the ORIENT Office in Morse Hall, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three ($3) dollars.

Method, Not Matter, Merits Alarm

Monday's pronouncement that quests, paddling, and "Any other hazing or initiation activities which manifestly involve danger or physical injury or damage to the reputation of the College" are outlawed was followed by campus-wide protests and amazement.

The decree of the Faculty Administrative Committee was presented to the Student Council bare of any attempt to justify the new bans with college policy. Nowhere in the official release did there appear the words, "It is in the best interests of the College that..." or "Abuses of certain hazing practices require that the following modifications be enforced." Instead, the laws were presented as the final, self-explanatory action by this committee.

The proposals, or rather the rules, if effected, will completely alter the complexion of hazing at Bowdoin. Fire Drills, razzos, walks, hitch-hiking as well as quests and paddling have become punishable by social probation for the fraternities and suspension for individuals involved if the administration so desires.

It is my understanding that the decree was drawn up during Christmas vacation. Final alterations may have been more recent. At any rate, no advance notice, other than in the matter of quests, was made to the student body. Is student responsibility at such a low ebb that the administration is justified in going completely over our head in this matter? I don't think so.

It seems logical to assume, although there was no administration statement on the matter, that these measures are necessary to correct some wrong in our hazing system. The wrong must have been of great importance to justify this sudden ablation of Bowdoin hazing practices. The corrections must have been deemed essential to the well being of the college. If the situation was so critical, why weren't we notified?

The student view point, while it may lack the perspective of our elders, is, nevertheless, worthy of consideration. At Monday night's mass meeting Dean Kendrick promised us an explanation. It seems to me that the time for joint faculty-student committee action was before the decree, not after.

I am also confident that much of the student antagonism toward these new rules stems not from rational disagreement, but rather from a sense of having been slighted in a matter which is vital to them. We are used to having a hand in making the laws which govern our community. We are not used to being dictated to. The presentation of the hazing bans, coming as it did, had more the tone of an eviction notice than of reasonably enacted legislation.

I like to think that my interest in the college justifies, at least through the representative undergraduate bodies, a consideration of my opinions in decisions of this nature. I would not knowingly pursue a course of action that I believed was detrimental to the aims of the college. A large majority of undergraduates do, I believe, have similar opinions. College problems and College policies regarding fraternity activities, social codes, and curriculum changes generally receive student consideration. For better or for worse this consideration ought to be an acknowledged aspect of administration planning.

The latest decision ignored my say and yours. At the same time it served notice that we must anticipate any further changes, and prepare our views well in advance of what new action may be taken, if we are to be considered at all. In this respect, an administration statement regarding long range policies of the college is essential to the formulation of student opinion in this area.

D. R. A.

Union To Stay Open

As an experiment during the mid-year examinations the Union will be kept open one hour later for undergraduates staying up late to study. There will be no service at the cafeteria counter or grill after 1:00 a.m. A schedule will be posted in the Union and it is planned to carry out this new arrangement during the period of heavy concentration of student examinations. The trial schedule will start Friday, January 22nd and the termination date will be determined by the amount the Union is used during the period. Saturday night closings will be at 12:00 midnight as in the past.

EXAM TIME IS OUTLINE TIME

COMPLETE STOCK of HYMARX BARNES & NOBLE
LITTLEFIELD
MORTON'S
MOUTON UNION BOOKSTORE

This Ad Good For 1.00 On Any Pipe 3.50 Or More
Morton's
208 MAINE STREET
BRUNSWICK, MAINE

Fear Of Tyranny Blocks Self-rule

Mr. Anderson's editorial appears to me to mirror the somewhat hasty and irrational opinions and reflections of the student body as a whole. It may not be good editorial policy to paint side by side two conflicting views by two members of the editorial staff, but in this case it seems important that both sides of the hazing legislation be examined.

Unable to use the infamous "Editorial WE", I am therefore forced to rely on an "Editorial I" for the purposes of this, the presentation of my opinion. "I" am not, from the beginning, an "administrative tool", nor am I a blind sympathizer to dictatorial and tyrannical government by the administration. However, after much deliberation and consideration of all aspects of the new legislation, and of the problems it has attempted to solve, I offer my observations to the readers of the ORIENT.

True, the new law, which for all practical purposes goes into immediate effect, is not complete. The third clause is wide open to the misconception of the meaning of favorable and unfavorable incidents. This clause must be more accurately defined and clarified, lest an individual or a fraternity break rules without his or their knowledge. We must have a concrete set of rules pointing out what's allowed and what is forbidden. These rules, I believe, should be the product of a compromise between the administration and the students. Already a seven-man student committee is at work on their suggestions for clarification.

The argument that the new legislation comes as a completely underhanded conspiratory movement by the administration holds little water. The issue brought before the students and Student Council by the independent student committee last fall dealt with "hazing practices" in general. Only the students themselves chose to narrow their concern to "quests" alone, a minute part of hazing. Paddling was dropped from discussions as a minute aspect of hazing unworthy of attention. The students were made aware that some changes were needed in our system. They were given a full chance to make their own suggestions as to changes. They knew that, should the student body fail to reach definite proposals and decisions, they could expect action from the administration. Instead, however, the students chose to fight any proposals that resembled compromising with the administration, or which looked like falling into the "administrative trap." They blindly fought the administration merely for the sake of fighting. They stood fast on their desires to see no changes made. The Student Council reflected this stand in their final statement in last week's ORIENT.

It appears to me that the student body is afraid — sorely afraid of a "raw deal" from the administration. They seem to suspect a tyrannical revolt toward the students and fraternities by the new administration. Many of them argue against the "underhanded" way in which the dry rushing rule was put through. They feel that without quests and paddling hazing is gone and that fraternities have been robbed of their most precious weapon: the paddle. They are frightened lest all social rules and regulations which set Bowdoin apart and above most other colleges be thrown out and replaced by "prep school" restrictions.

I cannot agree as to there being any substantial arguments that the new rules represent a spontaneous move by the administration, nor can I see the legislation as an administrative trick to "pull a fast one" on the students or the fraternities. No student of any college should doubt the grounds and bases for administrative action on any issue. By the virtue of their being students there they accept and respect the judgment and foresight of the college lawmakers. If a college administration is to be feared and blindly fought, then there's something wrong in the overall attitudes of either the student body or the administration. Here I believe the student body is guilty of irrational and narrow thinking.

They argue that quests should stay, in spite of the fact that quests carry with them the possibilities of danger in hitch-hiking, etc. and the potential bad publicity for the college name. Little value can be attached to quests, and much harm can arise from them, yet the student body failed to see the desirability of their abolishment.

As for paddling, many students maintain that they are a constructive part of hazing. They scream "Take away the paddle and we have no weapon left against the freshman pledges

Ice Cubes On Toast

(Well, somebody had to do it.)
Farewell to Quails
A Stirring Drama of Today's Flaming College Youth
Their life and problems
By F. Clive Fitz-erp

(As the curtain rises, we see the Administration Person: Stop stage. There are things on it here and there, good plain typical college things — a soda bottle, skip ropes, a small piano, flares, hand-full of jacks, and several Guy Lombardo records balanced on edge at the right center. The drop represents a college scene, and is done in finger paint on hile blue cloth. Off left (out of sight of the audience) there is an old withered oak. It cannot be seen, but from time to time, we can hear it sigh to itself as it parts with a little acorn. Right stage has been tastefully painted to represent a College Building of block (crumbling) and desperately clinging ivy leaves. The latter rustle from time to time. There is, at left center, a Bench which just sits there at the opening but will presently hold two College Students if you will be patient. Their names are Chucky and Butchy. They will be heard to speak, from time to time.)
(Chucky speaks...)
(Chucky?)
BUTCHY: Yes, Chucky?
CHU: Butchy aren't you just so glad you came to College you could scream?
BUTCHY: Oh yes, Chucky.
CHU: Me too. Let's.
(They scream)
(A burly Administration Person appears, flying out of the College Building in a towering rage.)

Administration Person: Stop that, you two (He snarls). There will be no More of That.
(They do and there is.)
CHU & BUT TOGETHER: Oh sir, we didn't mean...
ADMINISTRATION PERSON: That will be enough. Quite enough. I shall teach you to talk back to a Person of my ilk. And to create a disturbance here on Campus — Why, if anyone had heard you — Just think, it might even have Reflected Upon the College! (he shudders.)
CHU & BUT TOGETHER: Oh sir! (They sob, realizing the enormity, etc.)
ADMINISTRATION PERSON: Sufficient! (He makes a Coptic Sign back toward the college building. Immediately, in a puff of yellowish smoke, a sinister individual appears at his side... He carries a whip which he rubs with garlic from time to time. The garlic is concealed in his off hand. He speaks...)
SINISTER INDIVIDUAL: What is the matter, Boss, is there something Highly Irregular here?
ADMINISTRATION PERSON: Quite.
SIN IND: Shall I whip 'em, Boss...?
ADMINISTRATION PERSON: No, they must indeed be taught a lesson... Into the Fraternities with them.
CHU & BUT TOGETHER: Oh whup us, whup us, Please... But not (shudder) the Frat Places! (They convulse) except the black-bell." This sort of statement is indeed disturbing; if upperclassmen in a fraternity have the intelligence and the insight to constructively indoctrinate their pledges into their fraternity and their college, then part of the purpose of a fraternity is ignored. If a freshman has a wise-acre attitude mainly because he's "snowed" by everything at once, then it's up to the active members of the fraternity to straighten him out in a constructive manner, not by childish and outmoded physical punishment. That the backbone of the hazing system as we know it goes out with the paddle is an immature and ridiculous statement; but many students have expressed this belief over and over again.

Immaturity and irrationality were again exhibited Monday night when a riot to the President's house was attempted. It's too bad that we, the students ourselves, could not see the need for reforms in our hazing system. It's a shame that too many of us mistook constructive investigation of a pertinent problem for administrative meddling, and instead of reaching definite ends turned away and blindly fought back.

W. R. H., Jr.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS

WHITE COTTON TWILL
SKI PARKAS
1.98

Phil's Surplus Store
78 Maine Street Brunswick

ADMIN PERS: I have spoke. (INDICATES OFF LEFT) See to it...
SIN IND: Yes, Boss (Exits off left with the boys, kicking and screaming. He chuckles.)
CHU & BUT TOGETHER: Oh no, the Frats... Oh no the Frats... etc.
ADMIN PERS: (Stands looking after them chucking paternally. He turns back to go into the College Building, but stops enroute to squoosh a Caterpillar which has, since the opening of the play, been inching its way across stage, left to right. You know how caterpillars are.)
CATERPILLAR: (Is squooshed, screams in agony, and dies.)
ADMIN PERS: (Humms to self and disappears within.)
The stage is now deserted, except for a group of 30 Good Students who enter on tippy-toe and proceed to play a quiet game of Hopscotch around the bench which is still there too. We can no longer see the caterpillar, but we must remember him because he was probably Freudian Symbolism for something. As the curtain falls, we hear the Little Acorns dropping from the oak left Oak, the ivy rustling disconsolately on the walls, and the scuffle, scuffle of the Good Students shoes as they Hop.)
Oh Jadaloons
mass demonstration to protest ill treatment by the authorities
Wednesday evening, by the Androscoggin
Bring your barricades and the children
Fun for all rise

Student Patronage Solicited

First National Bank
Brunswick, Maine

Member of the Federal Reserve System and Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

THE MAN WHO PLAYS THE SWEETEST TRUMPET IN THE WORLD

Charlie Spillak
AND HIS ORCHESTRA

Kappa Sigma Holds Faculty Party Jan. 15

On Friday evening, January 15, from 7:30 to 10:00 p.m., the Kappa Sigma Fraternity held its annual Faculty party. All members of the Bowdoin Faculty and their wives were invited. Even though many other social and athletic events were being held on the same night, the party was well attended. Among those present were the Nathaniel C. Kendricks and the Phillip S. Wilders, Mrs. Raymond Bourneque and Mrs. Donovan D. Lancaster poured the coffee and served punch and cookies. The Kappa Sigma House was decorated with spring flowers.

Midway through the evening, John W. Parent, II, '55, entertained the guests with card tricks and other magical stunts. The party was thoroughly enjoyed by all, as most of the guests remained after 11:00 p.m.

Nearly 750,000 persons were injured in weekend traffic accidents last year.

HOW THE STARS GOT STARTED...

Donna Atwood
AMERICA'S NO. 1 "QUEEN OF THE ICE"

DONNA ATWOOD says:
"I was 13 before I put on skates. I'd had dancing lessons and this was fun! In three months, I surprised even myself by winning the Pacific Coast novice championship. Three years later — the National Singles and Pairs. Then I joined the Ice Capades. Skating's still fun!"

I STARTED SMOKING CAMELS ABOUT NINE YEARS AGO. I FIND CAMELS' DELIGHTFUL MILDNESS AND FLAVOR SUIT ME JUST RIGHT, YEAR AFTER YEAR! YOU SHOULD TRY CAMELS!

Start smoking Camels yourself!
Make the 30-day Camel Mildness Test. Smoke only Camels for 30 days — see for yourself why Camels' cool mildness and rich flavor agree with more people than any other cigarette!

for Mildness and Flavor
CAMELS AGREE WITH MORE PEOPLE
THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

POLAR BEARINGS

By Robert M. Hurst '54, ORIENT Sports Editor
So far 1954 has been kind to Bowdoin as far as athletics are concerned. The Polar Bears have won a total of fifteen contests while losing only two.

Bowdoin Leads In State Series

Captain Bill Fraser tosses up a one-hander from the corner in the Colby game as Ron Golz (15) watches. Colby players left to right are Raymond, Bruns, and Cross.

Golz And Kreider Lead White To 87-69 Win Over Maine; Libby Paces Hoopsters In Win Over Colby

By Russell B. Crowell '55
Bowdoin's Polar Bear Hoopsters won a decisive 87-69 victory over the Black Bears of Maine yesterday afternoon.

Pucksters Win Three In Row Defeating UNH, Colby, MIT

By James L. Doherty '55
The Bowdoin hockey team eked out a 7-5 win over the New Hampshire sextet last Tuesday with two goals in the last minutes of the third period.

Sigma Nu Holds Lead Under Nets

Last Week's Meeting
Delta Sigma 41; Sigma Nu 46
ARU 47; AD 44
AD 53; Zeta 36
TD 45; AFO 43
ARU 86; Chi Psi 89
Psi U 49; DKE 45
Delta Sig 47; Beta 44

Bowdoin Frosh Defeat Cheverus High, 51-37; Weis, Moltrom, Huleatt, And Trecartin Combine To Win K Of C Relay

Limited to only 18 points in the entire first half—as many as they should score in a quarter—by their own sloppy play, the frosh came on to subdue still winless Cheverus High, 51-37, on January 16.

Weis, Moltrom, Huleatt, And Trecartin Combine To Win K Of C Relay

Bowdoin runners Dave Weis, Philip Moltrom, Edward Trecartin, and Hugh Huleatt captured the varsity mile relay in the Knights of Columbus track meet at the Boston Garden, Saturday night, January 16.

Mermen Beat Boston University, Lose To Trinity; Arwezon, Glover Double Winners In Both Meets

Bowdoin Varsity Mermen split a weekend doubleheader, defeating Boston University, 46-34, and losing to Trinity College, 29-54. The varsity had little trouble with B.U., but the veteran-studded Trinity team had too much depth for the comparatively inexperienced Bowdoin team.

AD's, ARU's Tied For 1st In Bowling League

The intercollegiate bowling matches of the past two weeks reached a climax as A.R.U. bowlers shut out the Betas thus knocking them out of first place.

Eighty per cent of vehicles involved in fatal traffic accidents in 1952 were traveling straight ahead.

Singapore, one of the world's great ports, was developed from an unhealthy and sparsely populated island.

CUMBERLAND THEATRE Brunswick, Maine. Wed. Thurs. Jan. 20-21 BAD FOR EACH OTHER with Charleton Heston Elizabeth Scott News Short Subjects Fri. Sat. Jan. 22-23 GIVE A GIRL A BREAK with MARGE GOWER CHAMPION News Short Subjects Sun. Mon. Tues. Jan. 24-25-26 EASY TO LOVE with Esther Williams Van Johnson News Short Subjects Wed. Thurs. Jan. 27-28 RED SKELTON in THE GREAT DIAMOND ROBBERY News Short Subjects

Complete and Friendly Banking Services Student Accounts Welcomed Brunswick Branch FIRST-AUBURN TRUST COMPANY Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it... Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short-cuts in time and save you money. TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS The Record Office Paul K. Niven Jerry Wilkes Printers Of The Orient

"Matchless Service" Ford Sales and Service Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed USED CARS Maine's Most Modern Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop Complete Front End and Frame Alignment Harry W. Smart, Inc. 67 PLEASANT STREET - BRUNSWICK, MAINE

A CAMPUS-TO-CAREER CASE HISTORY "The interview was the tip-off" Ed Barner, '52, watched the way job interviewers were conducted before choosing his job. Let him tell you how it worked out. (Reading time: 21 seconds) "During the spring of '52—my last year at the University of Maryland—I was interviewed by a number of companies. I was about to get my B.S. degree in accounting. "It seemed to me that there was a great deal to be learned from the way I was interviewed. Bell System interviewers took their time about job offers. They didn't rush me or themselves. "I had two talks with the Bell interviewers and then was invited to meet and talk with department heads. Not only did they get a chance to look me over, but I also had an opportunity to get a closer look at their operation. I figured if the Bell System was that careful in selecting its men, it is careful in other things. The interview was the tip-off. "That's why I'm working here in Washington, D. C., for one of the Bell Companies—The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company. My first job—after general training—was supervising a billing unit with 20 employees. "Since then I have assisted on internal audits in all departments. I've helped with special studies for management and have become better acquainted with operations of the entire company. Now I'm working on the general books as an accounting supervisor. "That Bell System interview has certainly meant a lot to me." Ed Barner is moving forward. His experience is typical of the engineering, physical science, arts and social science, and business administration graduates who join the Bell System. He was with an operating telephone company. There also are opportunities with the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and General Corporation.

Kappa Sigma Elects Boyle '54 Spring Prexy

Kappa Sigma recently named Robert E. Boyle '54, as its new president. Others elected were...

The Sigma Nu's elected Frank J. Vecella '54, as president; David F. Coe '55, vice president; and Donald A. Roux '55, steward.

They have postponed the election of the other House officers until a later date.

Pillsbury Elected

Robert W. Pillsbury '54 was elected president of the local Psi Upsilon house at its regular meeting Wednesday night.

The new vice president, John Belka, is an ORIENT feature writer and has served in several capacities in the fraternity.

C.P. Picks Powell

Peter B. Powell '54 was elected president of the Chi Psi for his third consecutive term in last Wednesday's house meeting.

Powell is editor of the Quill this year. He has been active in the Masque and Gown and is in the cast of Shaw's 'Misalliance' which is being presented tonight.

Alpha Rho Upsilon, at a recent election of House officers, selected Jerome B. Gracey '55 as its new president; Daniel A. Miller '54, vice president; Joseph L. Rooks '55, treasurer; Morton L. Price '56, corresponding secretary; Roderic M. Stimpson '54, recording secretary; John M. Maloney '56, Student Council representative; Richard B. Rodman '56, Student Union representative; Marvin Kaitz '54, historian; David A. Carlson '54, Sargent-at-Arms; and Alan J. Werksman '54, White Key representative.

Delta Sigma

James W. Stagnone '55 is the new president of Delta Sigma Fraternity. He was chosen along with ten others to fill the House offices for the next term.

The others are vice president and Student Council representative, Michael J. Batal, Jr. '54; secretary, Robert E. Hamilton '56; treasurer, John F. Bowler, Jr. '55; steward, Charles W. Jordan, Jr. '55; librarian, Melvin E. Hodgkins '55; Christus, Gordon W. Stearns, Jr. '54; Sargent-at-Arms, Julius W. Emmert '54; Student Union representative, Robert F. Hinckley '55; and White Key representative, Charles W. Jordan, Jr. '55.

Masque And Gown

Professor Quimby said, "These are four plays of excellent caliber and of varied mood, which should result in a very interesting evening. At least two of the other plays were of such quality that the judges very much regretted that they could not be produced also."

Frosh Tracksters Beat Deering H.S., 85-16

Bowdoin's freshman track team had little trouble in defeating Portland and Deering High Schools at Brunswick last Friday afternoon. Showing better balance and more depth than in past years, the frosh piled up a total of 85 points to 16 for Deering and seven for Portland.

Hoopsters' Victory Over Colby Earns Series 1st

The crowd enthusiastically welcomed the Coombes back on the floor for the second half. After John Kreider's jump shot giving Bowdoin a one point edge the White was never again behind. The main difference between this and last year's teams is that this year all on the starting five are potential high scorers.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor: BELIEVING FIRMLY IN OUR RIGHT AND ABILITY TO GOVERN OURSELVES, WE THE STUDENTS OF BOWDOIN COLLEGE...

The above was taken directly from the preamble to the Constitution of the Student Council...

Independents Down Psi U. In Debate

The Independents defeated the Psi U's Wednesday night in the fourth round of the Wilmot Brookings Mitchell Trophy Intramural Debates.

Masque And Gown

Professor Quimby said, "These are four plays of excellent caliber and of varied mood, which should result in a very interesting evening. At least two of the other plays were of such quality that the judges very much regretted that they could not be produced also."

Frosh Tracksters Beat Deering H.S., 85-16

Bowdoin's freshman track team had little trouble in defeating Portland and Deering High Schools at Brunswick last Friday afternoon. Showing better balance and more depth than in past years, the frosh piled up a total of 85 points to 16 for Deering and seven for Portland.

Hoopsters' Victory Over Colby Earns Series 1st

The crowd enthusiastically welcomed the Coombes back on the floor for the second half. After John Kreider's jump shot giving Bowdoin a one point edge the White was never again behind. The main difference between this and last year's teams is that this year all on the starting five are potential high scorers.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor: BELIEVING FIRMLY IN OUR RIGHT AND ABILITY TO GOVERN OURSELVES, WE THE STUDENTS OF BOWDOIN COLLEGE...

The above was taken directly from the preamble to the Constitution of the Student Council...

Gym Team In Action

CLOWNING AND TOMFOOLERY. Above is a pair of talented members of the Springfield College 30-man exhibition gym team which will appear at two shows on Friday, Jan. 22, at the Brunswick Recreation Center.

A.R.U., Beta, Psi U Lead In Volleyball League

Continuing their unbeaten record, the A.R.U. team took a firm hold on first place in the interfraternity volleyball league.

Table with columns for team names (Psi P, A.T.O., A.R.U., Beta 2, Delta Sigma 2, Kappa Sigma 2, Chi Psi 0) and scores.

Table with columns for team names (Psi U, A.R.U., A.T.O., Beta 2, Delta Sigma 1, Chi Psi 0) and scores.

Table with columns for team names (A.R.U., Beta, Psi U, A.D., Kappa Sigma, Delta Sigma, A.T.O., Sigma Nu, Zete, Deke, Chi Psi) and win/loss records.

Hoopsters' Victory Over Colby Earns Series 1st

The crowd enthusiastically welcomed the Coombes back on the floor for the second half. After John Kreider's jump shot giving Bowdoin a one point edge the White was never again behind.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor: BELIEVING FIRMLY IN OUR RIGHT AND ABILITY TO GOVERN OURSELVES, WE THE STUDENTS OF BOWDOIN COLLEGE...

Advertisement for BOWL-MOR Alleys, featuring automatic pin setters, hot dogs, Italian sandwiches, cold drinks, coffee, and ice cream.

Young Republicans Blast McCarthyism At Recent Meeting

At a meeting Tuesday night, the Bowdoin Young Republican Club discussed the methods and aims of Senator Joseph McCarthy.

As a result of the well attended meeting, the Young Republicans denounced the methods used by the Senator in his investigations of Government, industry, and education.

His present investigations are comparable to a one-man jury. What he tells us about Communists, whether we either have to accept or refute, but which ever course we take we often have only his word.

Communism must be stamped out of the government, but this can be done more effectively by means other than those utilized by Senator McCarthy.

Seeley '56, Powell '54 Star In 'Misalliance' Tonight In Mem. Hall

"Misalliance," to be presented in Memorial Hall tonight at 8:15, is the first George Bernard Shaw play to be acted by a cast of Bowdoin students.

About 20 years ago Shaw's "Devil's Disciple" was done by the faculty. Professor George H. Quimby said, "It is very much to the credit of the executive committee of the Dramatic Club to have decided to do a Shaw play."

Most of the cast of "Misalliance" has played for the Masque and Gown before. Maynard A. Seeley '56 was in "Murder in the Cathedral" last year.

Acting for the first time in the Dramatic Club are John S. LaCasce '56 and Jacqueline Soucie, a high school senior.

WRONG COLOR SCHEME

Frankish painting by Colby students early Saturday morning of Bowdoin buildings proved premature and untimely.

There were 127,400 more persons injured in U.S. motor vehicle accidents last year than in 1951.

Strange Headstone On Anna Lytics

Though, through many a weary night, She's disturbed our slumber light, Yet we'll sing right mournfully, "Requiescat in pace."

At present, no actual account can be found of the "Anna 77" stone being set at that time, but it is known that Robert E. Peary, '77, and some classmates returned to Bowdoin for the Commencement of the Class of '97, and their twentieth reunion.

WRONG COLOR SCHEME. Frankish painting by Colby students early Saturday morning of Bowdoin buildings proved premature and untimely.

There were 127,400 more persons injured in U.S. motor vehicle accidents last year than in 1951.

187 Of Best Photos Of Life Are Shown In Sills Hall

Beginning Friday, January 15 and extending through January 29 Bowdoin College will present an exhibit of memorable LIFE magazine photographs.

This exhibition, the largest yet undertaken by LIFE, contains 187 photographs, all of them published in the magazine between 1936 and 1951.

Open To Public. The exhibit is being held in Sills Hall on the Bowdoin campus. Sixty panels, each 27 inches by 38 inches will be hung on both the main floor and the basement corridor.

Camera Club Contest. All students are urged to submit their best photographs to James P. Gaston '54, photographer for the ORIENT.

J.V. Swimmers Drown Deering H.S., 42-30

The Bowdoin JV swimmers, after defeating Deering High 42-30, dropped their first meet of the season to a strong Andover team (53-22) at the Andover Pool.

BOWDOIN JV (22) vs. ANDOVER (53). 100 yard medley relay - Won by Andover (Pierce, Burke Kelley). Time 1:24.7.

BOWDOIN JV (42) vs. DEERING (30). 100 yard medley relay - Won by Deering (Parent, Webster, Collins). Time 1:21.

Camera Club Contest

All students are urged to submit their best photographs to James P. Gaston '54, photographer for the ORIENT.

Large advertisement for Chesterfield cigarettes. Text includes: 'SMOKE REGULAR OR KING-SIZE CHESTERFIELD... AMERICA'S MOST POPULAR 2-WAY CIGARETTE'. It features a diagram of the human respiratory system and a pack of Chesterfield cigarettes.

'Religion And World Unrest' To Be Religious Forum Topic

"Religion and World Unrest" will be the topic of the 1954 Bowdoin Religious Forum which this year will be held from Sunday through Tuesday, February 21-23.

Dr. Ronald P. Bridges '30, visiting professor of Religion on the Tallman Foundation, has been selected as keynote speaker for the forum which is sponsored annually by the Bowdoin Christian Association. His address, to be given in Sunday Chapel, will open a three-day period of discussions centering around religion, its role in the individual and in the world.

Fraternity representatives include Henry M. Haskel '56 and Peter F. Gass '57, Alpha Delta Phi; David R. Anderson, Psi Upsilon; Chester M. Day Jr. '56, Chi Psi; Lon B. Southerland, Delta Kappa Epsilon; Aaron J. Shalkin '56, Theta Delta Chi; Michael J. McCabe '54, Zeta Psi; Walter C. Tomlinson Jr. '55, Kappa Sigma; Kenneth B. Miller, Beta Theta Pi; John R. Hovey, Sigma Nu; Edward B. Blackman '56, Alpha Tau Omega; Alan W. Maxwell '54, Alpha Rho Upsilon; and Melvin E. Hodgkins '55, Delta Sigma.

On Monday afternoon visiting and local clergy will meet with faculty and student religious groups at a reception in the Peucinian Room. The guest clergymen will live at the respective fraternities during their stay and will be discussion leaders on Monday and Tuesday evenings. Students will also have an opportunity of meeting and talking with them in private.

Some of the suggested sub-topics for discussion concern missionaries and world politics, conflict among the various religious sects, and Communism and religion.

The visiting clergymen include Rev. Leonard G. Clough, member of the staff of the Student Christian Association in New England; Rev. Robert C. Holtzapple Jr., of the Westminster Foundation (Presbyterian) Boston, Mass.; Rev. James V. Miller, Bates College Department of Philosophy and Religion; Rev. Clarence W. Fuller, pastor of the First Congregational Church, Melrose, Mass.; Rev. George Lawlor, Boston College Department of Biology; Rabbi Herman E. Snyder, spiritual leader of Sinai Temple, Springfield, Mass.; Rev. G. R. Johnson, University of New Hampshire; Rev. Milton H. Hadley, First Baptist Church, Durham; Rev. J. Arthur Samuelson, pastor of the First Parish Church, Brunswick; Rev. Edgar R. Fehlau, Grace Lutheran Church, Lewiston; Rev. Harold B. Keir, Executive Secretary of the Greater Springfield Council of Churches; and Lieutenant Richard T. Schell, chaplain of the Brunswick Naval Air Station.

Rev. Mr. Samuelson will conduct the daily chapel service on Monday and Rabbi Snyder will lead the Tuesday service.

The committee in charge of the forum are Kenneth B. Miller '54, Lon B. Southerland '55, David R. Anderson '56, George A. Harvey '55, and John R. Hovey '55.

Wilmot B. Mitchell Speaker At Annual Phi Beta Dinner

On Monday evening, Feb. 15, the faculty and students of Bowdoin College were privileged to hear Professor Emeritus Wilmot B. Mitchell deliver the traditional Phi Beta Dinner address at the Moulton Union.

Professor Mitchell graduated from Bowdoin in 1893, returned later to serve in a number of capacities on the faculty, and to act as Dean of the College on four different occasions. He has been a member of the National Council of Churches, his course here, Contemporary Christianity, is "an examination of the Christian Church as a factor in shaping the American pattern."

Wilmot B. Mitchell

Bowdoin ROTC Drill Team To Appear On WCSH-TV Tonight

Cadets from the Reserve Officers Training Corps unit will appear over WCSH-TV (Channel 6) on Wednesday, February 10, and on four succeeding Wednesdays at 6 p. m. Lt. Col. Will R. Winfrey announced today.

These appearances are in connection with the 13-week program intended to emphasize Civil Defense. Radio stations, newspapers, and so forth are also cooperating in this effort.

Thought For The Week
Wednesday's program will include a ROTC drill team of four members and a drill master and vocal selections by Frederick Wilkins, '56, accompanied by Gordon W. Stearns Jr. of West Hartford, Conn. Philip S. Wilder, Assistant to the President, will present the closing "Thought for the Week."

Dr. Ronald Bridges '30 Elected Tallman Professor For Semester

Dr. Ronald Perkins Bridges, L.H.D., Litt. D., D.D., of Sanford, Maine, has been appointed Visiting Professor of Religion on the Tallman Foundation at Bowdoin College, according to an announcement made January 30 from President James S. Coles.

Dr. Bridges during the spring semester will teach a course in Contemporary Christianity, "An examination of the Christian Church as a factor in shaping the American pattern." All students except freshmen may enroll in the course.

President of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, he is the fifth layman to head that organization in its more than 140 years. He is also Executive Director of the Central Department of Broadcasting and Films of the National Council of Churches, with headquarters in New York.

Bowdoin Graduate
Dr. Bridges graduated from Bowdoin in 1930, received a master's degree from Harvard in 1932, and has been a teacher at all levels of education, from the district school to college and theological school. From 1945 until 1950 he was president of the Pacific School of Religion in California; been invited to speak at this meeting.

The subject of Professor Mitchell's talk was "Samuel Sewall and His Diary." He first spoke of the time in 1925 when he escorted Carl Sandberg on a tour of the Bowdoin campus. Sandberg's prime desire was to see Samuel Sewall's diary. The speaker then read a poem by John G. Whittier which painted better than any other a genuine picture of Sewall's character.

The American Samuel Pepps Sewall, who is considered to be the American Samuel Pepps, presents in his diary the events, the customs, and the virtues and vices of New England Colonial life from 1670 to 1730. His interest in the new country, his contributions to the progress of the community in which he lived, his personal characteristics both creditable and otherwise, and his attitudes toward the prevailing political, social and religious conditions are ingeniously disclosed in this most informative work.

Meddies Will Appear With Robert Frost On National TV Show

The Middlebumpsters will make an appearance with poet Robert Frost on the TV program "Frontiers of Faith" on Sunday, March 21, Professor Frederic Tillotson announced today.

The program is sponsored by the Broadcasting and Film Commission of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America.

Frost will read some of his poetry which has a particular and implicit application to the religious principles for which Protestantism stands. He is an honorary graduate of Bowdoin, having received a Doctor of Letters degree in 1926 as the "generous and inspiring teacher of things of the spirit to American youth in different collegiate centers."

Alred on NBC
"Frontiers of Faith" is one of the television offerings of the National Council of Churches, which is the national organization that represents the thirty major historic Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations in the United States with a combined membership of better than 35,000,000 constituents. The program, aired over NBC from 1:30 to 2:00 p. m. every Sunday, is carried by 73 stations with an estimated listener audience of approximately 3,000,000 people.

Six Changes In Faculty Recorded As Semester Gets Underway Here

By John Ranlett '57
The appointments of Dr. Ronald Perkins Bridges, Master Sergeant Frank L. Doggett, and Professor Edward F. Dow, the resignation of Professor Thomas Means, the promotion of Mr. H. Berkeley Peabody, and the return from sabbatical leave of Professor Jean L. Darbelnet, are the spring semester faculty changes.

Teaching Religion 10 at Dr. Ronald Perkins Bridges, Dr. W. B. Mitchell, Professor of Religion on the Tallman Foundation. Dr. Bridges, a graduate of Bowdoin in the class of 1930, received his master's of arts degree from Harvard, and has had a varied educational experience including teaching at the Arizona State Teachers' College and the presidency of the Pacific School of Religion in California.

Candidate For Congress
A brother of Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, he has been managing editor of the national Young Republican magazine, and was, in 1936, a candidate for Congress. He is President of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions and executive director of the Central Department of Broadcasting and Films of the National Council of Churches. His course here, Contemporary Christianity, is "an examination of the Christian Church as a factor in shaping the American pattern."

Gung Ho!
In charge of the ROTC Drill Team and assisting with the Rifle Team is Master Sergeant Frank L. Doggett whose appointment to Bowdoin's military staff was recently announced. Sergeant Doggett, who served in Burma during World War II with the famed "Merrill's Marauders," was promoted from active duty as a first lieutenant in the infantry on January 11 of this year and re-enlisted the following day as a master sergeant. Next fall he will teach the use of individual and crew-served weapons.

Main Man
Teaching Government 6, a course dealing with problems of municipal administration, is Adjunct Professor of Government Edward F. Dow, head of the History and Government Department at the University of Maine. Professor Dow, a Bowdoin graduate in the class of 1925 and a recipient of master's of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees from Harvard, is taking over from Roy H. Owsley, City Manager of Portland, who taught the course during the first semester but is now returning to Louisville, Kentucky. In 1945 at the University of Maine he established a Public Management Program, devoted to the training of town and city managers, which was at that time the only strictly undergraduate program being offered in the United States in this field. In 1952 he was granted a leave of absence from the University of Maine to serve as Executive Secretary of the "Little Hoover Commission." Professor Dow has also taught at Western Reserve and Dartmouth. He will spend Tuesday afternoon in Brunswick each week and will be assisted in his course by Mr. William S.

Will Seat 600
The new theater as planned will have an auditorium seating over 600 at a level approximately ten feet closer to the ground than the present one. The floor will slant to provide good sight lines, and the balcony will be enlarged. The stage will be separated from the audience by a small orchestra pit. The stage floor will be 55 feet wide by 30 feet deep and will be seen through a proscenium arch, the width of which can be adjusted from 20 feet to 48 feet. 200

CRITIC CALLS 'MISALLIANCE' SUCCESS FOR BOTH PLAYERS AND AUDIENCE

By Gerard L. Dube '55

G. B. S.'s "Misalliance" was played to a partly happy, enthusiastic audience last Saturday evening in Memorial Hall. In many ways, the presentation of last year's Broadway success was a significant one. Excepting one faculty production of the great Shaw, "Misalliance" represented the first Bowdoin encounter with Shaw's merger of wit, ideas, and drama. The encounter was a successful one. In addition to a superb set which colorfully walled in more than two hours of good conversation, the casting proved excellent in most cases, the direction smooth, and the pace good during the last two acts. The successful production of this particular play is proof enough that Bowdoin's thespians and spectators have reached that degree of artistic maturity where they need no longer be tortured or titillated by a series of potboilers like "The Hearty Heart and Rascally Jack" or "The Good and Beautiful Drama." It will be expected. Absolution will no longer be given to the pedestrian theater encouraged in recent years by the Masque & Gown.

Shaw, as usual, has a message in "Misalliance." His play is a form as an instrument of social propaganda in Ibsenque, but his tradition is clearly more akin to that of the great satirists of the 18th century whose intent is to provide a reform of human follies.

More Fraternity Elections Held; ATO, TD Still To Select Leaders

By George L. Beckwood '56
Five fraternities completed their house elections for the spring of 1954 at the end of last semester.

Alpha Delta Phi chose men for five previously unfilled positions. James R. Flaker '54, and William J. Sands '54, were elected as members-at-large to the Executive Committee; William E. Nieman '55 is the new White Key representative; William H. Freeman '56 is Chronos; and Frederick G. P. Thorn '57, won the coveted position of Keeper-of-the-Hall.

For Psi Upsilon, Harold S. Skelton, will serve as the new Secretary, while Wallace R. Harper '55, is Treasurer. Harper is the newest player for the Polar Bear Five, and is the past Editor-in-Chief of the ORIENT. Peter J. Rigby '56, was chosen to represent Psi Upsilon on the Student Council; Douglas L. Morton '55, and Ronald R. English '55 will both be elected to the new Executive and Union Committees and the White Key respectively. Loring G. Pratt '55, is Kyrex.

Lilly Elected
At the Delta Kappa Epsilon elections held last semester, Albert F. Lilly '54, of Bethel, Me., was elected to serve a second term. Lilly graduated from Woodrow Wilson High School in Washington, D.C. before coming to Bowdoin. Here, he has been Business Manager of the ORIENT, and a member of last year's Ivy Day Committee; he played Fresh-

Governing Boards Give Go-Ahead On College Theater Construction

Over the past year plans for remodeling Memorial Hall into a combination theatre and concert hall were studied by a committee of the boards and finally accepted. Dr. James S. Coles, told members of the New York Bowdoin Club at a dinner at the Music Room of the Biltmore Hotel Friday, January 29.

"Colleges are just plain up against it," he stated. "Tuition charges have been increased so much it is safe to increase them without making the private colleges a haven for the wealthy. Colleges have pared operating budgets until they can be pared no further. Time after time business management firms have investigated the business operation and spending of the college plant with but few suggestions on how it could be improved. In fact, Beardsley Ruml states that most colleges would put most businesses to shame in terms of the efficiency of plant operation."

Citing the plight of the college professor, he said, "In 1939-40, the cost of fuel to heat Bowdoin College was 2 1/2 times a professor's salary. In 1952-53 fuel costs were 3.16 times a professor's salary, and this year they have gone up more than 50 per cent. To put it another way, there are 2.6 more professors going up the flue in 1952-53 than there were in 1939-40."

Stating that colleges will be "almost forced to turn to the federal government for support," President Coles declared, "No matter how long you argue, there can be no question that once the government provides support, it will eventually grasp control. If any of you doubt it, recall just a few months ago when a United States Senator questioned the propriety

Orcutt, Batal, Arwezon Elected New Student Council Officers

Charles E. Orcutt '54 was elected president of the Student Council at the meeting of Monday, February 8.

Michael J. Batal, Jr. '54 was chosen vice-president and Robert K. G. Arwezon, Jr. '53 is the new secretary-treasurer.

Orcutt, a member of the Zeta Psi fraternity, was president of the debating team last year. A member of the ROTC, he has served as recording secretary, historian, and chairman of the corresponding secretary for his fraternity.

Batal, a member of Delta Sigma, is a dean's list student and a James Bowdoin scholar. He is the head of the ROTC drill team and a company commander. In the recent house election, he was chosen vice-president of his fraternity.

Arwezon, a member of Chi Psi, is the captain of the varsity swimming team. He holds three Bowdoin pool records: the 440 yard free-style, the 200 yard breast, and the 150 yard individual medley.

In other business Batal was appointed chairman of the Campus Chest committee. He is already making plans for the charity weekend which is coming up the weekend of March 12-14.

The Council voted $150 from Blanket Tax funds to feed and transport the two 40-man leg clubs which will sing in Portland for the benefit of the Heart Fund. One of the singing groups will be composed of ROTC members who will appear in their uniforms.

Dixieland, Dance, And Sports Among Major Attractions At Winter Houseparty Weekend

Five New Members Join Eleven Others In Phi Beta Kappa

Professor Nathan Dane, II, announced last week at the morning Chapel service that five seniors have been elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary fraternity for the recognition and promotion of scholarship.

The men are Angelo Eraklis, James R. Flaker, Richard S. Harrison, Gordon W. Stearns, Jr., and Lewis B. Leitch.

In addition to these five, eleven other seniors are members of the Society.

Eraklis has served as treasurer of the Classical Club and has recently been elected Grand Master Beta Theta Pi student society, Kappa Sigma. A biology major, he has been consistently on the Dean's List and has three times been named a James Bowdoin Scholar. He is a member of the Transportation Corps ROTC unit and last spring was elected a Distinguished Military Student.

Money Grants Needed, President Coles Tells Gotham Bowdoin Club

Liberal arts colleges must have support from corporations or they will be forced to turn to the federal government for assistance. Dr. James S. Coles, told members of the New York Bowdoin Club at a dinner at the Music Room of the Biltmore Hotel Friday, January 29.

"Colleges are just plain up against it," he stated. "Tuition charges have been increased so much it is safe to increase them without making the private colleges a haven for the wealthy. Colleges have pared operating budgets until they can be pared no further. Time after time business management firms have investigated the business operation and spending of the college plant with but few suggestions on how it could be improved. In fact, Beardsley Ruml states that most colleges would put most businesses to shame in terms of the efficiency of plant operation."

Citing the plight of the college professor, he said, "In 1939-40, the cost of fuel to heat Bowdoin College was 2 1/2 times a professor's salary. In 1952-53 fuel costs were 3.16 times a professor's salary, and this year they have gone up more than 50 per cent. To put it another way, there are 2.6 more professors going up the flue in 1952-53 than there were in 1939-40."

John B. Goodrich '55 Elected ORIENT Editor; Anwyll, Anderson Upped

John B. Goodrich '55, was elected Editor-in-Chief of the ORIENT by the members of the Bowdoin Publishing Company last week to replace Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55, retiring Editor.

Goodrich, who was the Managing Editor last semester, is a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity.

John B. Goodrich '55 Elected ORIENT Editor; Anwyll, Anderson Upped

John B. Goodrich '55, was elected Editor-in-Chief of the ORIENT by the members of the Bowdoin Publishing Company last week to replace Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55, retiring Editor.

Goodrich, who was the Managing Editor last semester, is a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity.

Pre-Med Student
Anwyll, who comes from Holyoke, Mass., is social chairman for the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. He is a member of the house executive committee and is the house corresponding secretary. A pre-med student Anwyll is majoring in English.

Two-Platoon Man
Garland is a football letterman. Under two-platoon football in 1952 he played as a defensive back, and this past fall saw offensive and defensive action. He expects to be called to active duty with the Transportation Corps sometime in March.

William E. Curran was the leader of the Band during his college days. He came to Bowdoin as the winner of an Alumni Fund Scholarship. Curran expects to be called to active duty with the Army.

Join Eleven Others In Phi Beta Kappa

Professor Nathan Dane, II, announced last week at the morning Chapel service that five seniors have been elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary fraternity for the recognition and promotion of scholarship.

The men are Angelo Eraklis, James R. Flaker, Richard S. Harrison, Gordon W. Stearns, Jr., and Lewis B. Leitch.

In addition to these five, eleven other seniors are members of the Society.

Eraklis has served as treasurer of the Classical Club and has recently been elected Grand Master Beta Theta Pi student society, Kappa Sigma. A biology major, he has been consistently on the Dean's List and has three times been named a James Bowdoin Scholar. He is a member of the Transportation Corps ROTC unit and last spring was elected a Distinguished Military Student.

Money Grants Needed, President Coles Tells Gotham Bowdoin Club

Liberal arts colleges must have support from corporations or they will be forced to turn to the federal government for assistance. Dr. James S. Coles, told members of the New York Bowdoin Club at a dinner at the Music Room of the Biltmore Hotel Friday, January 29.

"Colleges are just plain up against it," he stated. "Tuition charges have been increased so much it is safe to increase them without making the private colleges a haven for the wealthy. Colleges have pared operating budgets until they can be pared no further. Time after time business management firms have investigated the business operation and spending of the college plant with but few suggestions on how it could be improved. In fact, Beardsley Ruml states that most colleges would put most businesses to shame in terms of the efficiency of plant operation."

Citing the plight of the college professor, he said, "In 1939-40, the cost of fuel to heat Bowdoin College was 2 1/2 times a professor's salary. In 1952-53 fuel costs were 3.16 times a professor's salary, and this year they have gone up more than 50 per cent. To put it another way, there are 2.6 more professors going up the flue in 1952-53 than there were in 1939-40."

John B. Goodrich '55 Elected ORIENT Editor; Anwyll, Anderson Upped

John B. Goodrich '55, was elected Editor-in-Chief of the ORIENT by the members of the Bowdoin Publishing Company last week to replace Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55, retiring Editor.

Goodrich, who was the Managing Editor last semester, is a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity.

John B. Goodrich '55 Elected ORIENT Editor; Anwyll, Anderson Upped

John B. Goodrich '55, was elected Editor-in-Chief of the ORIENT by the members of the Bowdoin Publishing Company last week to replace Wallace R. Harper, Jr. '55, retiring Editor.

Goodrich, who was the Managing Editor last semester, is a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity.

Pre-Med Student
Anwyll, who comes from Holyoke, Mass., is social chairman for the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. He is a member of the house executive committee and is the house corresponding secretary. A pre-med student Anwyll is majoring in English.

Two-Platoon Man
Garland is a football letterman. Under two-platoon football in 1952 he played as a defensive back, and this past fall saw offensive and defensive action. He expects to be called to active duty with the Transportation Corps sometime in March.

William E. Curran was the leader of the Band during his college days. He came to Bowdoin as the winner of an Alumni Fund Scholarship. Curran expects to be called to active duty with the Army.

Among Major Attractions At Winter Houseparty Weekend

Jazz bands, a gym dance, and several athletic events sparked the 1954 edition of Winter Houseparties, one of Bowdoin College's greatest social events.

Friday evening, Charlie Spivak and his band took over Sargeant Gymnasium and thrilled some 425 couples that braved the cold weather and slippery paths. Every credit is due to Robert F. Hinckley '55 and his committee for the splendid work they did in arranging such a successful dance. The gym was decorated in a French sidewalk cafe motif, set off by a replica of the Arc de Triomphe.

The dance Friday night was preceded by the usual cocktail parties and banquets in the respective houses. Here queens were picked from among the over-5000 dates on campus to represent the various fraternities in the final balloting at the dance.

Miss Diana Garon was awarded the cup as Winter Houseparty Queen. She is from Portland and Clark University. Her date was Philip A. Weiner, '55, of the Alpha Rho Upsilon Fraternity. The judges in this final balloting were Vice-President Bela W. Norton, and Professors Athern P. Daggett and Richard L. Chittim. Chaperones at the dance were Messdames Bela W. Norton, Donovan D. Lancaster, Athern P. Daggett, Richard L. Chittim, and Edwin B. Benjamin.

"Molly Malone"
After the queen was crowned the festivities were entertained by the enthusiastic crowd for the remainder of the intermission. The group maintained its excellent reputation by giving an outstanding performance. Especially enjoyed was the new version of "Molly Malone," sung by Bill Perkins.

Saturday afternoon was devoted mainly to sporting events and jazz. A large crowd filled the gym to watch the basketball team in action against Williams College. Cheers could be heard from the cage as the track team tried to shake off the effects of the rainy night in its meet against M.I.T. The swimming team performed before a packed crowd in the warm pool. They played host to Williams. Outdoors, the hockey team found the weather a little chilly in their game with Amherst. It took a break to face those near-zero gusts of wind.

But athletics weren't all that went on Saturday afternoon. The members of Zeta Psi entertained an over-flow crowd as the Polar Bear Five swung into its famous line of Dixieland. Numerous other couples found the cold weather a challenge too great. Many of the houses were kept warm by roaring fires and students and their dates were kept warm by other means.

Shortly after dinner the Polar Bear Five arrived at the T.D. house, and all floor space was again taken as the popular group appeared. This is one thing the dates could not get enough of during the weekend. At approximately 8:30 both the audience and the band decided to return to their respective houses for the remainder of the evening. Dance bands were found in nearly every house by 10 o'clock, although the A.T.O. house featured still another jazz band. This aggregation from Portland turned out one of the best parties to be found on campus Saturday night.

Twelve Colleges Ready To Adopt The New Advanced Study Report

Bowdoin is one of 12 Eastern Colleges that has accepted a plan whereby entering freshmen may present high school courses for college graduation credit. Dean Kendrick announced recently.

The program is the result of the School Study of Admission with Advanced Standing. Its provisions make it possible for a freshman to receive credit in 11 different areas of study providing the work has been completed under carefully controlled provisions.

Beginning in January, 1951, at a conference called by Gordon K. Chalmers, president of Kenyon College, when the heads of several of the nation's leading colleges met to consider the program, various committees have been examining the ways and means to initiate such a program. A majority of these people were on the staffs of the 12

David R. Anderson '55 and James Anwyll, Jr. '55, have been elevated to the position of Managing Editor. Anderson is the secretary of the Bowdoin Christian Association and is a member of the executive committee of the interfraternity debating council. A member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity Anderson is the house corresponding secretary. He hails from Carrou, Maine.

Pre-Med Student
Anwyll, who comes from Holyoke, Mass., is social chairman for the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. He is a member of the house executive committee and is the house corresponding secretary. A pre-med student Anwyll is majoring in English.

Five Seniors Are Commissioned By ROTC As Second Lieutenants In TC

Five seniors were commissioned second lieutenants in the Transportation Corps, USA, in the Moulton Union on February 5, according to an announcement by Lt. Col. Will R. Winfrey, commanding officer of the ROTC unit.

In a brief ceremony at 4:15 Colonel Walter H. Kennett, TC, USA, (Ret.) of Topham presented commissions to William E. Curran, William A. Fickett, Philip A. Garland, Charles E. Godfrey and Elyse A. Thurston.

Phillip A. Garland a member of Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, has served as circulation manager of the Bowdoin Bugle, and this past fall has been his house's representative on the White Key.

Garland is a football letterman. Under two-platoon football in 1952 he played as a defensive back, and this past fall saw offensive and defensive action. He expects to be called to active duty with the Transportation Corps sometime in March.

William E. Curran was the leader of the Band during his college days. He came to Bowdoin as the winner of an Alumni Fund Scholarship. Curran expects to be called to active duty with the Army.

Charles E. Godfrey is also a member of Alpha Delta Phi fraternity and has played varsity golf at Bowdoin. He is married and has plans to return to a party to active duty in the Army sometime in March. He has finished all of his requirements for graduation but has chosen to graduate formally with his class in June.

Elyse A. Thurston is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. Sometime in March he expects to be called to active duty with the Army.

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, February 17, 1954 No. 19

Editor-in-Chief
John H. Goodrich '55

Managing Editors
David R. Anderson '55 James Anwyll Jr. '55

News Editors
Carroll E. Pennell '56 George J. Rockwood '56

Thomas L. Spence '57
Assistant News Editors
Richard M. Catalano '55 C. William Cooke '57

Copy Editors
John W. Albert '57 Richard B. Lyman Jr. '57

H. Edward Born '57
Feature Writers
John M. Belka '54 Donald W. Blodgett '54
Franklin G. Davis '54 Benjamin G. M. Priest '55
Gerard L. Dube '55

Sports Editor
Joseph Y. Rogers '55

Sports Staff
Russell B. Crowell '55 James I. Doherty '55
Elisworth B. Clark '55 Robert H. Glover '55
Saul H. Cohen '57 Delcours S. Potter Jr. '57

Gerald M. Werksman '57
Reporters
Howard C. Jacobson '57 Thomas M. Kinney '57
Charles Janon-LaPalme '55 Thomas R. Merrill '57
Herbert A. Miller '57 Edward P. Parsons '57
John Ranlett '57 Peter Schmalzer Jr. '57
Robert A. Wagg Jr. '57 John R. Withers '57

Business Manager
Bruce N. Cooper '54

Assistant Business Managers
James A. Cooke '54 C. Richard Thurston '54

Advertising Manager
Peter M. Pirmie '55

Circulation Manager
Harold R. Beauchamp Jr. '55

Business Assistants
Harry G. Carpenter '57 David H. Dott '57
Peter P. Gass '57 Paul J. O'Neil '57

BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Professor Athern P. Daggett, Professor James A. Storor, Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilley '54, Wallace R. Harper Jr. '55, John B. Goodrich '55

REPRODUCED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representatives
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO - BOSTON - LOS ANGELES - SAN FRANCISCO

Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semesters by the students of Bowdoin College. Address news communications to the Editor and subscription communications to the Business Manager of the Bowdoin Orient, Brunswick, Maine. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three dollars.

Rev. MacDonald Talks On Man's Purposes In Chapel Speech Here

[Continued from Page 1]

"Man's Purpose in Life" was the theme of the Sunday, February 15 chapel talk by Reverend Joseph Cony MacDonald, 15, D.D., of the Union Church in Waban, Massachusetts, and a member of the Board of Overseas of Bowdoin.

The speaker told a story about some natives in Africa who were asked by David Livingstone where the great Blue Nile River went. Having never seen its mouth on the Mediterranean, they replied that it was lost in the sands of the north.

Where Does Life Lead?
Dr. MacDonald compared this answer to that which many of us give when we ask ourselves where life leads. We become discouraged and decide that in our brief time of love, beauty and goodness are actually "bits of eternity".

According to Dr. MacDonald, we work hard in life because we hope that we will accomplish something God's plan. If we strive for accomplishment we are building God's world here and hereafter. Our deeds and time and life itself are the essence of eternity. All the apparently small, unattached bits of love, beauty and goodness are actually "bits of eternity", and must be thought of as a part of a much greater whole.

Purpose of Earthly Life
The Lord is a God who cares for us and understands, who judges our motives as well as our actions. Life here on earth is only a small part of our eternity with God. The lives of men flow into each other and the combined result becomes part of His universal plan. "The rivers of life find their fulfillment in the mighty seas of God," the speaker put it. Our spirits accomplish their purpose as they mingle with others.

The choir sang "The Lord Shall Hear Thee", by Schulz.

Shaw's Combination Of Wit, Ideas, And Drama Successfully Presented

[Continued from Page 1]

This emphasis on crisp dialogue separated the men from the boys last Saturday night. Those who were intellectually enchanted stayed through the scattered and rather crude stage action Shaw serves up as violent contrast to his dialogue left after the first act.

G. B. Q.'s casting for Misalliance was fortunate in most cases. A less birdlike and slightly more vital creature might have been found than Miss Soucie for the role of Hypatia. Bill Beeson was not a little of body as might have been wished, but his performance was skillful enough to imaginatively evoke a physical smallness which was not there.

A word of praise goes to the designers and builders of the stage set. Particularly striking was the backdrop which combined blues and greens to strike the proper note of fantasy peculiar to the play.

Direction was good in handling the flow of people about the set, but there was a little too much of the preconcerted mechanical of the movement of characters. The curtain freezes were noticeably incongruous with the play's ideal of duty towards Mother and his anarchistic aspirations was crystallized with a great deal of skill.

John LaCase as a hard-headed statesman unable to discipline his son was played with an interesting combination of jaded worldly wisdom and naive senile sentimentality. John's nonchalance as a man of the world unfortunately extended itself to an indifference in clear enunciation of lines, but the part was played with satisfying depth. Maynard Seelye as the elder Tardelton might have been acted with a little more bluster, but the contrast of the successful "inen-dra-der" with the man of destiny and noble aspirations was brought out sharply. Calvin Kendall and Peter Powell were adequate.

Mary Chittim, who has a natural talent for playing earthy parts, seemed earmarked for the acrobatic, athletic, and terrifying vigorous Lina Szecepanowska. The part demanded a certain fresh, unrestrained, breezy, quality and Mary, who hasn't changed from the days of "It's A Fact", provided much verve and gusto to the part. Mrs. Young was extremely funny as the conventional matron who won't hear talk about drainage and who objects to strong words. Her sentimental affection for poor afflicted males provided some of the high spots of the evening. Miss Soucie was convincing at times, but

Semester Grades Are 'Pretty Satisfactory' Dean Kendrick States

Official reports from the Dean's office state that the mid-term grades are on a par with those of last year which were considered a good year scholastically.

In the words of the Dean the results were "pretty satisfactory." There were 22 straight "A" men, a large number but below that of last year. There were, however, only 41 major warnings given as compared to 47 for the same period last year—a student receives a major warning if he has failed two or more courses and a minor warning if he has failed one. The minor warnings, nevertheless, registered a slight increase over last year.

A run-down of the major warnings in respect to the fraternities shows: Beta, 8; Zeta, 7; Kappa Sigma, 6; Sigma Nu, 5; A.R.U., 4; Delta Sigma, 3; Ind., 3; A.D., 2; Psi U, 1; A.T.O., 1; D.K.E., 1; T.D., 0; Chi Psi, 0.

New Pickard Theater Is Given

[Continued from Page 1]

persons can be seated on it in view of the audience. It will be equipped with sound baffles to serve as a music shell. The gridiron, from which the scenery will be hung, will be 45 feet above the stage. A counterweight system will operate lines for handling scenery. A light bridge will serve the double purpose of lighting the stage, from the most efficient position and of transporting scenery to and from the loft, which will continue to be used above the auditorium.

Between the floor of the loft and the ceiling of the auditorium, special spotlights will be installed for lighting the forestage; and the switchboard will be operated from a booth above the balcony. Adequate spaces and equipment for dressing rooms, lounge and other audience accommodations will be provided in the classroom. The exterior of the building will be little changed except for an addition to the main entrance and dormers over the sides of the stage space, but the interior will be completely altered except for the loft over the auditorium.

To Start Work in June
It is hoped that work may be started on the job in June, but the task of removing the present interior finish and construction will probably delay any actual reconstruction until fall.

By the present scheme, a building in one of the best locations on campus will be used to full capacity rather than be maintained partially empty. The college is replacing a dangerous and inaccessible auditorium which has often been overcrowded with a safe and easily reached theater, concert, or lecture hall which can seat the entire college. Little will be added.

There are now 1,048 Americans in the Congo.

Advanced Credit Study Plan To Be Adopted; 12 Colleges Enrolled

[Continued from Page 1]

colleges which have adopted the Study report. These schools include Brown, Carleton, Haverford, Kenyon, MIT, Middlebury, Oberlin, Swarthmore, Wabash, Wesleyan and Williams. The project was made possible largely through a grant from the Fund for the Advancement of Education.

Eleven sub-committees composed of representatives of the member colleges and secondary schools, have defined the standards for advanced-credit training in English composition, literature, Latin, French, German, Spanish, history, mathematics, physics, biology and chemistry. Members of the Bowdoin faculty who served as members or correspondents on these sub-committees include: Professors Edward S. Hammond, Herbert R. Brown, Fritz A. Koelln, Ernst C. Helmreich, Samuel E. Kammerling, Eaton Leitch, Alton H. Gustafson; Associate Professors Dan E. Christie, Lawrence S. Hall and Nathan Dane III.

The work was co-ordinated by the Central committee of which Dean Nathaniel Kendrick is a member.

Forensic Plans For Spring Announced; Five Debates Entered

A vigorous program of debating and speech contests for the second semester, ranging from local competition to a national debating contest in New York City, has been announced by Mr. Sweet and Mr. Thayer.

The first of this series took place on Thursday, when the freshmen debaters discussed some aspect of Free Trade for five minutes apiece.

On the same day the Forensic Society held for the Bradbury Prize Debate. Open to students of the upper three classes, this contest has a prize of $80.00. The finals will be held on February 25.

Two teams from the University of Connecticut are scheduled to compete here on March 6. The following week, two Bowdoin teams will travel to the national tournament at Brooklyn University, in which more than 60 colleges are entered.

Next comes the Varsity State Intercollegiate Tournament at Brunswick on March 20, followed by the Freshman State Intercollegiate Tournament sometime in April.

The last intercollegiate competition planned for the spring semester is the New England Forensic Tournament at Cambridge on April 2 and 3. The college will enter two debating teams and, in addition, men in extemporaneous speaking, interpretive reading, and oratory.

Those interested in the oratory division should notify Mr. Sweet or Mr. Thayer at once.

Two speaking contests with sizable prizes are planned for local debaters. On March 8, speakers will be selected for the finals of the Class of 1868 Prize Speaking Contest and for the Stanley Plummer Prize Speaking Contest. The former, worth $50, is open to Seniors; the latter, with a prize of $45 to Juniors. The finals for the senior competition will be held on April 26 and for the junior contest on April 15.

President Coles States Colleges Need Grants

[Continued from Page 1]

of the tax-exempt status of a great university because the governing boards of that university did not happen to agree with his point of view.

Relation To Businesses
Business leaders, on the other hand, "recognize that they would be doing a disservice to the basic freedoms and the future development of the United States if they were to attempt to control the thought or teaching of colleges which they might support. They realize that often their best friend is their harshest critic."

He went on to say, "A recent survey of 33,500 business executives have shown that 88% of them are holders of college degrees and 71% are graduates of small liberal arts colleges."

"The doctors who take care of a corporation's employees, the teachers who teach the children of these employees, the lawyers who serve as counsel for these corporations are, for the most part, graduates of liberal arts colleges. But on top of all this remains the one fact which is being recognized above all others. That is that the American free enterprise system and our system of American government have been nurtured throughout the life of this country by the liberal arts colleges."

Reasons For Appeal
Commenting upon the reasons behind the colleges' appeal to corporations, Dr. Coles said, "These demands have developed out of the growing realization of the importance of liberal education to business and out of the change in the distribution of our wealth

Graphic Art Exhibit At College Museum

The college Museum of Fine Arts is showing through February 28 an exhibition of graphic art by contemporary printmakers. Curator Carl N. Schmalz, Jr., announced today.

through change in tax structure. The individual who collected wealth in the past no longer does so. Gifts by business charitable institutions are encouraged by federal tax laws. Actually such gifts avoid one step in the taxation process."

He mentioned the DuPont grants of more than $700,000 for this year; the Union Carbide $500,000 program providing 400 scholarships a year for more than 30 colleges to administer with no restrictions of any kind; the Ford Motor Company scholarships, which provide full grants for children of employees to attend any college of their choice, with a direct grant made by Ford to the college attended, in recognition of the fact that tuition does not cover much more than half of the cost of the student's education.

"Those businessmen who have assumed a position of leadership in the support of the colleges certainly go far beyond that businessman described by Tacitus almost 2,000 years ago who 'had talents equal to business, and aspired no higher.'"

Concert Tonight To Feature Opera Star, Miss Nell Tangeman

Nell Tangeman, mezzo-soprano, will return to Bowdoin College tonight, February 17, to present another concert, which will be open to the public with no admission charge.

She will sing selections by Henry Purcell, Richard Strauss, Mozart, Debussy, and a group of American folk songs arranged by Aaron Copland. The program will begin at 8:15.

Miss Tangeman, who has appeared at Bowdoin several times in the past and has received warm praise for her singing, made her New York recital debut in Town Hall in 1948. Since then she has appeared as soloist with the New York Philharmonic Symphony, the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Los Angeles Philharmonic, the Cincinnati Symphony, the Boston Symphony, and other orchestras in the United States. In Europe she has been soloist with the Orchestre Nationale in Paris, the Berlin Philharmonic, and the Santa Cecilia Symphony in Rome.

Equally at home in the field of opera, Miss Tangeman was one of the leading singers in the world premiere of Igor Stravinsky's "The Rake's Progress," in Venice, Italy. She created the leading role in Leonard Bernstein's latest opera, "Trouble in Tahiti," and for the past two summers has been a guest artist in the International Opera Festival in Aix en Provence, France.

Two Top Performances Bill Beeson and Ben G. M. Priest Deserve Special Mention

Bill Beeson and Ben G. M. Priest deserve special mention for their fine performances. As the brainy Bentley Summerhays, a success at ideas and a failure at underwear, Beeson played him with convincing emotional immaturity. As a specimen of decadent aristocracy, the weak character of Bentley produced by his father's inability to exert any parental control was consistently developed.

To a fine climax in Bentley's submission to the strong woman of the head or gesture turned in a highly diverting scene as the frustrated clerk with leftist tendencies. The incongruousness of his bourgeois ideal of duty towards Mother and his anarchistic aspirations was crystallized with a great deal of skill.

Several New Faculty Members Added Here As Semester Starts

[Continued from Page 1]

Flash, instructor in Government. Rhodes Scholar

The resignation from the faculty of Thomas Means, Joseph E. Merrill Professor of the Greek Language and Literature, was accepted at the midwinter meeting of the Governing Board. Professor Means, a Yale graduate and Rhodes Scholar who first became Professor of Greek here in 1926, will not teach during the semester and will retire in the fall of 1954.

Dr. Berkeley Peabody, a Bowdoin graduate in the class of 1950, has been promoted to instructor in the Classics. He was, during the fall semester, a Teaching Fellow in the Classics.

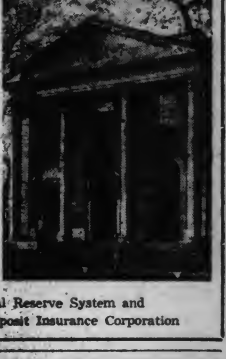

Professor Jean L. Darbelnet, professor of French, has returned to the campus after a first semester sabbatical leave.

her basic lack of exuberance unwilling to be stifled by the staid life of her environment never allowed her to fully realize the part.

Student Patronage Solicited

First National Bank
Brunswick, Maine

Member of the Federal Reserve System and Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Telephone 8-1911

BILL'S

Our Specialties:
Italian Spaghetti Pizza
Hot Pastormi
Steaks and Chops

REGULAR DINNERS

"Bowdoin Men's Favorite Restaurant"

Beer and Ale on Draft and in Bottles

6 1/2 ELM STREET
BRUNSWICK MAINE

BOWL-MOR

Alleys

AUTOMATIC PIN SETTERS

Hot Dogs
Italian Sandwiches
Cold Drinks
Coffee
Ice Cream

Operated by Al Tobey, Class of '50

"Matchless Service"

Ford

Sales and Service

Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed

USED CARS

Maine's Most Modern Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop

Complete Front End and Frame Alignment

Harry H. Smart, Inc.

PHONE 549

87 PLEASANT STREET - BRUNSWICK, MAINE

How the stars got started...

WILLIAM HOLDEN says: "My Dad, a chemist, wanted me to follow in the business. But I got the play-acting bug in school and college. I was in a small part at the Pasadena Playhouse when they picked me to test for 'Golden Boy'. I never worked so hard in my life. But the success of the picture made it worth it!"

I'M FOR CAMELS! I'VE FOUND THEY GIVE ME EVERYTHING I LIKE IN A CIGARETTE—GENUINE MILDNESS, REAL FLAVOR. YOU'LL LIKE CAMELS, TOO!

William Holden
Star of "Forever Female"

Start smoking Camels yourself! Make the 30-day Camel Mildness Test. Smoke only Camels for 30 days — see for yourself why Camels' cool mildness and rich flavor agree with more people than any other cigarette!

for Mildness and Flavor

CAMELS AGREE WITH MORE PEOPLE THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

White Courtsters Lose To Williams, Engineers

Bowdoin's rapidly improving basketball team resumed action Saturday afternoon after a long layoff of more than two weeks. Injured Phil Day was back in action again but the Polar Bears encountered a fatal fourth period and lost to the highly rated Ephman by the score 67-64. The home team displayed remarkable accuracy and ball handling in the latter half of two periods, enabling them to lead by as much as twelve points in the second quarter. Then, with a substantial lead, the Bears played possession type ball hoping to pull the Williams' defense apart and drive to set up Ron Galt and Bill Frasier who were playing under the high scoring Williams, who had previously beaten Army, was temporarily throttled and the Combsmen showed an eight point advantage at the half. It is interesting to note that during the first half Williams collected only ten rebounds while the shorter Bowdoin team garnered 35.

The second half was a different story. An inspired Williams team was quick to start rebounding and making the most of their few throw opportunities. Tall Tom Wilson scored a quick five field goals and aided by scoring of teammates Jack Henry and Walt Creer, evaded the score at 45-45 at the end of the third stanza. Williams continued to lead and Galt and Frasier, who were playing under the field goal in the entire second half. The only effective Bowdoin scorer was John Libby, whose nine field goals in the second half kept the Polar Bears in the running. The

Frosh Defeat Hebron, Beaten By Westbrook

Westbrook High School snapped a seven game winning streak and marred a perfect record at the same time by handing the Bowdoin frosh a 58-46 drubbing on January 20 at the Polar Bear gym, their first loss of the season. Coach Lou Audet's charges entered the last quarter behind by 11 points. They were able to cut the Bowdoin lead to three, 46-43, midway in the frame, but Bill Bragdon and Rollie Nelson combined for six straight points to assure a Westbrook victory.

Bill MacHardy of Westbrook captured individual scoring honors with a 17 point output. Jack Eaton was high for Bowdoin with sixteen. Bill Hamilton and Nelson were the other players who hit double figures, with 13 and 12 points respectively.

Cubs Tip Hebron, 64-60
Returning to action after the winter lay-off, the Bowdoin frosh basketball squad resumed their winning ways with a 64-60 triumph over Hebron Academy at Hebron last Wednesday.

The junior bears were behind throughout the game and took a one point lead on a foul shot by Tom Frasier with a minute and a half left in the last period. A foul shot by Jack Eaton and a goal by Harry Carpenter sewed up the game. The Polar Cubs now have a record of eight wins and a single loss.

Hebron took an early lead on goals by Hazzard and McLennon and ended the first quarter with a six point lead, 19-13. Bowdoin cut the lead to four points at half time, 36-32, but in a low scoring third quarter Hebron boosted its lead back to six points, 47-41. Carpenter led the frosh attack in the crucial last quarter, scoring twelve of Bowdoin's 23 points. Pinch has 10 points for Hebron in the fourth canto.

Pinch and Carpenter shared spring honors with 18 points apiece. Hazzard had 17 for Hebron while Frasier, who fouled out late in the last quarter, had 14.

We Deliver To College
HOT DOGS
ITALIAN SANDWICHES
(Made with ham or salami)
BEER and ALE
TO TAKE OUT
HOOD'S PLACE
Phone 787-M
180 Maine Street
Brunswick, Maine

BAND OPPORTUNITY
Popular Connecticut summer resort offering season contract to good 6 piece college band. Members also assist social department and enjoy guest privileges.
Write of band experience, instrumentation and a short resume of each member in first letter.

SUMMER POSITIONS
Maintenance, driving, kitchen, front office. Guest privileges. Write age, qualifications, available dates
ADDRESS
W. WRIGHT
Happy Acres
Middlefield, Conn.

Varsity Trackmen Beaten By MIT; Cameron Sets New 2-Mile Record

A well-balanced MIT track squad handed Bowdoin a 76-41 defeat last Saturday in an indoor meet at the Bowdoin gym, capturing nine firsts and nine seconds in thirteen events.

Frank Cameron of Bowdoin set a local indoor record in the two-mile run with a time of 9:47.8. This bettered by more than seven seconds the old record set by Bob Ford in 1951. Cameron's victory in an otherwise disastrous afternoon for Bowdoin was Bill Coperthwaite's victory in the pole vault. Coperthwaite scaled the bar at 12 feet.

Morefield of MIT was the only double winner of the day, copping firsts in the shot put and 35 pound weight. Williams, also of MIT, won the 600 yard run and tied with Klein, another Engineer, in the 200 yard run.

Freshman Wm Triangular Meet Capturing firsts in all but the high and low hurdles, the Bowdoin frosh track squad beat South Portland and Thornton Academy in a triangular meet at Bowdoin last Friday.

The Polar Bears had 741 points, South Portland 291 and Thornton 171. Both hurdle contests were won by Dick Tuttle of South Portland.

Six Bowdoin tracksters combined for ten firsts. Bill McWilliams won the shot and discus, John Herrick copped the mile and 1000, Les Leonetti won the dash and 300 while Dick Bell won the high jump and tied with Dwight Eaton in the pole vault. Eaton was first in the broad jump, while McDaniel placed first in the 600 yard run.

J. V. Swimmers Conquer Hebron, Varsity; Freshmen Lose Contests

The Bowdoin College Mermen were no match for the power and depth of the defending New England Interscholastic "Champions" from Williams College, as Williams poured it on for a 52-30 win. Although most of the Williams times were fast, by far the most outstanding performance was that of Co-captain Charlie Douglas who swam a pool record-breaking 2:22.9 in the 200 Breast. Jenks was the only double winner for the Purple with first places in the 50 and 100 yard sprints.

The only bright spot for the Millermen was in the double win of Captain Bob Arzewon. In the 150 Individual Medley Arzewon moved out in front with teammate Clark Neill at the end of the breaststroke, and finished with a strong freestyle for the fast time of 1:40.5. Then against Williams great quarter-miler, Charlie Beard, Arzewon posted his second win of the afternoon with the time of 5:08.8.

Although the Bowdoin Mermen were definitely outclassed there were definite signs of improvement, which could very well put the team into the running in the last three meets of the season. Pyle and Willey have been improving steadily in the backstroke; breast-strokers Morse and Neill, and sprinter Ken Brigham have all showed improvement.

The next meet for the Bowdoin swimmers will be at home next Saturday against the University of Connecticut.

Portland Stops Cubs, 41-33
Swimming against the perpetual strong Portland High team, the Polar Cubs dropped their second meet of the season by the score of 41-33. Close finishes in both the 100 and 200 yard freestyle events proved to be the deciding factor in the meet, as Portland took both events.

Veteran sprinter, Bill Sanford, was the big gun for Portland with firsts in both the 50 and 100. Sanford's 55.8 in the 100 just gave him the touch over John Collier in a real close finish. The finish in the 200 Free was no less thrilling, as Wescott of Portland just touched out Bowdoin's Dick Davis.

The only double winner in the meet for Bowdoin was Tom Merrill who swam for Portland High last year. He registered wins over his last year's teammates in the 150 yard medley and in the 100 backstroke. Merrill swam an excellent 1:04.5 backstroke to beat out Portland's Litrocapas.

A well-balanced junior varsity swimming team handed Hebron Academy a 41-34 defeat at the Curtis pool, January 19, with two junior Polar Bears turning in double wins.

John Collier copped firsts in the 50 and 100 yard dash while his teammate Tom Merrill won the 100 yard backstroke and the 150 yard medley win. Dick Davis took a first place for Bowdoin in the 200 yard free style.

Hebron excelled in the relays winning both the 200 and 150 medley. The Academy picked up eight points in the 100 yard breast stroke on the strength of a first by White and a second by Savage.

The date on which a voice was first broadcast by radio is in dispute, some believing it was 1892 and others 1906.

Hockey Team Ties UNH, 6-6; Loses To Amherst

The Hockey team showed its comeback capabilities, as the pucksters scored three goals in the last half of the third period to end a thrilling engagement with New Hampshire in a 6-5 stalemate last Friday night at Bowdoin.

The first line predominated for the Polar Bears in the tie. "Bald Eagle" McCusker, a label with which he was endowed in this encounter, led the Bowdoin skaters with three goals. Ever dependable Dave Rogerson supported the cause with two markers, while fast improving Larry Dwight got the last one with but two minutes of play remaining.

On Saturday Amherst visited our campus and went away with a 3-2 victory.

The teams were evenly matched, but the first line for Bowdoin was overworked and lost some of its competence as time progressed. The two White tallies were the result of fine passing. The first came on a backhand by McCusker on a setup by Rogerson about twelve feet from the cage. The disc flew through the outstretched legs of the Amherst goaltender.

With our pucksters down 3-1 in the third period Melincoff shot a pass out from a corner to Rogerson who slapped it into an empty net. The rugged playing of the previous evening gradually affected the hockey men and so the play became a bit ragged.

The Bowdoin defensive unit of Dwight and Coy played particularly well. These linemen closely resembled former greats of yesteryear with their vigorous checking and fierce charging. Dwight has played practically every minute the White has been on the ice and should receive some sort of recognition in the all-star selections made by hockey coaches and writers later in the spring.

There are four games left for the team this season. Two of these are against Tufts and are well worth seeing, since the Jumbos are rated more highly than the rest of the outfits the White has been scheduled to meet excepting Norwich.

Sigma Nu Retains Lead In Basketball Standings

TEAM STANDINGS

TEAM	W	L	Pct.	GB
Sigma Nu	6	1	.857	-
Kappa Sigma	5	2	.714	1
TU	5	2	.714	1
Delta Sig	4	2	.666	1 1/2
ARU	4	2	.666	1 1/2
Beta	3	3	.500	2 1/2
DKE	3	3	.500	2 1/2
Psi U	3	3	.500	2 1/2
Phi Psi	2	4	.333	3 1/2
ATO	0	7	.000	6

PLAYER OF THE WEEK
Ray Mouton, Beta Delta Chi (48)
DKE (47)

NAME	G	F	P	Pts
Dabney	2	7	11	Freidlander	8	2	15
Ladd	2	7	11	Freidlander	8	2	15
Fickard	1	3	7	Stambore	2	1	5
Hewston	5	2	12	Randall	3	1	7
Seward	1	0	2	Meloin	3	0	6
Hammill	0	2	2	DuPlessis	1	3	5
Neenan	3	0	6	Parsons	1	0	2
Doberty	1	0	2	Payne	1	0	2
Totals	16	15	47	Totals	30	8	68

ARU (43)

NAME	G	F	P	Pts
Rodman	4	2	10	Gellins	5	3	9
Werkman	3	2	8	Moran	4	6	14
Miller	0	0	2	Koch	3	1	7
Koof'nd	0	0	2	Chapman	3	1	7
Lines	5	0	10	Paul	2	2	6
Hampshire	1	1	2	Giordano	1	1	2
Totals	13	7	33	Totals	16	13	45

Sigma Nu (28)

NAME	G	F	P	Pts
Veebla	8	2	18	Drake	4	12	12
Farre	4	0	8	Wirth	1	3	3
Boas	3	0	6	Metzger	5	1	11
O'Rourke	2	0	4	Langbein	4	10	8
Mannheimam	3	0	6	Shepherd	1	0	2
Kaploff	4	2	10	Winston	1	0	2
Greene	2	1	3	McClearen	4	2	10
Snow	2	1	3	Totals	37	8	78
Totals	37	8	78	Totals	118	46	146

ARU (43)

NAME	G	F	P	Pts
Rodman	4	2	10	Gellins	5	3	9
Werkman	3	2	8	Moran	4	6	14
Miller	0	0	2	Koch	3	1	7
Koof'nd	0	0	2	Chapman	3	1	7
Lines	5	0	10	Paul	2	2	6
Hampshire	1	1	2	Giordano	1	1	2
Totals	13	7	33	Totals	16	13	45

Sigma Nu (28)

NAME	G	F	P	Pts
Veebla	4	5	15	Cogrove	3	3	9
Boas	3	0	6	Gaultier	1	1	2
Mannheimam	1	0	2	Greenwood	0	1	1
O'Rourke	2	0	4	Blaise	4	12	12
Payne	3	1	7	Ware	1	2	4
Totals	10	6	28	Totals	11	13	34

Kappa Sigma (24)

NAME	G	F	P	Pts
Veebla	4	5	15	Cogrove	3	3	9
Boas	3	0	6	Gaultier	1	1	2
Mannheimam	1	0	2	Greenwood	0	1	1
O'Rourke	2	0	4	Blaise	4	12	12
Payne	3	1	7	Ware	1	2	4
Totals	10	6	28	Totals	11	13	34

Next Week's Results: (including games played before exams)
TU vs. ATO 5:30
Chi Psi vs. Delta Sig 6:00
DKE vs. Delta Sig 8:30
Kappa Sig vs. Beta 4:00
ARU vs. Psi U 4:00
Sigma Nu vs. TU 7:30
Psi U vs. Delta Sig 8:30
Kappa Sig vs. Sigma Nu 2:00
TU vs. ARU 3:30
Sigma Nu vs. ATO 4:00
TU vs. Chi Psi 1:30
Beta 48 - DKE 47
The ARU's AD game was protested by the AD's and upheld by the White Key. All scoring will be eliminated and the game will be replayed at a later date.

LEADING SCORERS

NAME	G	F	P	Pts
Nieman	AD	151	7	18.7
Friedlander	Beta	117	7	16.7
Veebla	Sigma Nu	112	7	16.7
Sevill	Psi U	97	7	13.8
Seward	DKE	85	2	11.7

Next Week's Games

DATE	TIME	HOME	AWAY
Tue.	Chi Psi vs. Beta	Chi Psi	Beta
Wed.	Delta Sigma vs. ARU	Delta Sigma	ARU
Wed.	Zeta vs. Sigma Nu	Zeta	Sigma Nu
Thurs.	DKE vs. Kappa Sigma	DKE	Kappa Sigma
Thurs.	ATO vs. Psi U	ATO	Psi U
AD vs. TU

Game of the week - DKE vs. Kappa Sigma

POLAR BEARINGS

ORIENT Sports Editor
of space available, combined with the number of sports events which possible to include everything. An attempt is therefore made to bring out the highlights of the event in the story itself, rather than add the line-ups at the end. While the author of the above letter has made a "constructive suggestion," we hope that he and others who share his point of view will realize the importance of the event in the story itself, rather than add the line-ups at the end. While the author of the above letter has made a "constructive suggestion," we hope that he and others who share his point of view will realize the importance of the event in the story itself, rather than add the line-ups at the end. While the author of the above letter has made a "constructive suggestion," we hope that he and others who share his point of view will realize the importance of the event in the story itself, rather than add the line-ups at the end.

Psi Upsilon has instituted a trophy to be given annually to the champions of interfraternity basketball in tribute to Martin C. Mitchell '54, who drowned during the Spring Vacation of last year. Marty was graduated from Brunswick High, where in addition to playing basketball, he was President of the Senior Class. He was also very active in interfraternity sports here at Bowdoin before the accident.

The trophy will be awarded to the winner of the Interfraternity Basketball League, and can not be revived by winning it in so many successive years. The inscription on the trophy reads, "Dedicated to the Memory of Martin C. Mitchell '54 by his Brothers of Psi Upsilon. To the Interfraternity Basketball Champions."

Probably there are many readers who have wondered why the line-ups and box scores of hockey games, as well as other sports, have not been included. The reason for their omission is due to the lack of space; having only one page for sports, of which a good share is reserved for advertisement, it is possible to edit only so much material.

Hockey Statistics

Team Standings

TEAM	W	L	Pct.	GB
McClusker	5	1	.833	-
Rogerson	4	2	.666	1
Melincoff	3	2	.600	2
Hazzard	2	3	.400	3
Doberty	2	3	.400	3
Dwight	1	2	.333	4

Series Standings

Team Standings

TEAM	W	L	Pct.	GB
Bowdoin	5	1	.833	-
Colby	3	2	.600	1
Maine	2	3	.400	2
Bates	0	6	.000	5

Twenty-five per cent of all drivers involved in fatal auto accidents in the U.S. last year were under 25 years old.

Merrymeeting Gift Shop

185 Park Row
Greeting Cards --- Gifts
Free Gift Wrapping

Outfitters To Bowdoin Men...

Early Spring Arrivals

are making style news at Benoit's. Here are a few of the carefully selected ideas that introduce the spring season.

Pure English Wool Challis Ties

Hand blocked in England, these are traditional favorites on or off the campus.
$2.00

Soft Cotton Argyle Hose

In colors and patterns that look like expensive wool hose — but are actually pre-shrunk, long wearing cotton.
$1.25

BENOIT'S

120 MAINE STREET Phone 200 BRUNSWICK

College Men! Fly with the Finest in the Air Force

QUALIFIED APPLICANTS WIN WINGS AS AIR FORCE LIEUTENANTS, EARN OVER $5,000 A YEAR!

- Pilot training begins at Lackland Air Force Base, where Aviation Cadets get 3 months of officer indoctrination.
- It's a hard grind, but Cadets also find time to relax.
- In primary training the Cadet flies his first planes, a Piper Cub, and this T-6. Later he will fly the more advanced T-28.
- After flying conventional planes, he moves on to jets... going up with an instructor in this T-33 trainer.
- He wins his wings as an Air Force officer, earning over $5,000 a year.
- Then winds up his training with the latest and fastest planes in the air.
- He's tested those silver wings... And won the respect and admiration that go to every jet pilot in the United States Air Force! From now on he'll rule the skies in an Air Force jet.

AND A PILOT IS BORN!

How to qualify for Pilot Training as an Aviation Cadet!
To qualify, you must be at least a high school graduate. However, you will be of more value to the Air Force if you stay in college, graduate, and then volunteer for training. In addition, you must be between the ages of 19 and 26 1/2, and in top physical condition. If you think you are eligible, here's what you do: Take your high school diploma or certificate of graduation together with a copy of your birth certificate down to your nearest Air Force base or recruiting station. Fill out the application they give you. If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet Training Class.

WHERE TO GET MORE DETAILS:
Contact your nearest Aviation Cadet Selection Team, Air Force ROTC Unit, or Air Force Recruiting Officer. Or write to: Aviation Cadet Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Washington 25, D. C.

Behind The Ivy Curtain

By David E. Anderson '55

A clever burlesque of Tennessee Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire" highlighted the Bradford Freshman Show held last Friday.

Foreign student, "Dutchie," was the crowd's favorite in this production of a "Subway" called "Passion." These scenes, which shifted from fraternity party to the Sahara Desert and back again, depicted a generally arid locale.

On Thursday, Dec. 10, officials at the University of Connecticut cancelled all fraternity rushing. A violation of the school's drinking regulations caused the suspension.

Two Colby fraternities are in a similar situation. The Lambda Chi's are on pro for the rest of the year for a violation of the Inter Fraternity Council's rushing code.

The Harvard Crimson went to the rescue of New York newspaper readers during the recent strike. In an editorial the Crimson staff stated that they had "stood by silent and tight-lipped while New Yorkers have done without."

Bridge Tournament The following announcements appeared in the Mt. Holyoke and Wellesley newspapers respectively. "Mount Holyoke is one of more than 600 colleges and universities throughout the United States invited to compete in the 1954 National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament."

King For a Day Robert Luckie was the president of the Wesleyan Junior class, or at least that's what election officials said. It was not until a humble

Consult Your Campus Agent GEORGE W. GRAHAM '55 About Life Insurance Provident Mutual Of Philadelphia.

CUMBERLAND THEATRE Brunswick, Maine Wed. - Thurs. Feb. 17-18 HELL'S HALF ACRE with WENDELL COREY EVELYN KEYES also Short Subjects News Frl. - Sat. Feb. 19-20 SAADIA with WENDELL COREY MEL FERRER also Short Subjects News Sun.-Mon.-Tues. Feb. 21-23-24 PARATROOPER with ALAN LADD - LEO GENN also Short Subject News Wed. - Thurs. Feb. 24-25 WALT DISNEY'S PINOCCHIO

also Short Subjects News

and Black" editorial campaign against racial segregation: "With communism knocking at the negro's back door, we can not afford to let educational barriers stand. It is as plain as the red flag in Russia, that continued segregation and suppression can and will cause the death of democracy by the hands of its own leaders."

The Silent Generation is going to have to do more than sit by and watch if we are going to preserve the freedom of the press, academic freedom, the Bill of Rights, bars, hazing, etc., etc.

The word is that students at Cornell, the college on the hills, have found a new means of snow transportation. Aluminum trays which disappear from college dining rooms are next seen spinning in the class-bound student's hands.

Alumni Council Meeting Scheduled On Week End; 35 Members Expected

The Bowdoin Alumni Council will hold their annual midwinter session at the college on February 19-20. About 35 Council members are expected to attend the busy two day convalesce.

The session starts at 2 p.m. on Friday with a meeting of the Council in Massachusetts Hall, at which time the different Council Committees will make their reports. This will take up Friday afternoon.

At 9:15 the group will return to Mass. Hall to listen to Vice-President Bela W. Norton speak on "The Development Program to Date and Some Physical Needs of the College." After Mr. Norton's talk, the group will have an informal gathering at Philip Wilder's home.

The schedule for Saturday starts out at 8:00 a.m. with breakfast at the Union, and Chapel at 10:30. At 10:45 President Coles will address the Council, concluding the business end of the gathering.

Brunswick Coal & Lumber Co. FUEL - BUILDING SUPPLIES Brunswick, Maine

A CAMPUS-TO-CAREER CASE HISTORY

He had a head start. It took a class reunion to show Ed Mahler, '50, that all first jobs are not alike. He tells us why. (Reading time: 33 seconds)

The class reunion at his alma mater, Swarthmore College, was an eye-opener for Ed Mahler. The talk among the Class of '50 switched to jobs. Ed had taken it for granted that everybody was happy with his work.

Then he found that some of his classmates had had two or three jobs since leaving school. Others had kept the same one but weren't satisfied. By sticking with his first job and intending to make it a lifetime career, Ed suddenly discovered he had a head start.

After being graduated with a B.A. in Economics, he went to work for Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania in 1950. He reports he chose the Telephone Company because it seemed to offer the best chance for a career.

After a year of training in which he worked in each of the departments—installing telephones, handling business contacts with customers—Ed felt he had a good look at the entire company.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

College Hears Of Death Of Two Notable Sons Early In February

Philip Dana, a prominent industrialist, died at his home in Portland February 5. He was a Bowdoin graduate, and long associated with the college.

Dana was given a Master of Arts Degree in 1926. Bowdoin's President at the time, Kenneth Morton Sills, presented Dana the Degree with these words: "Philip Dana, of the Class of 1896; Treasurer of the College, who performs the exacting duties and responsibilities of that office to the complete satisfaction of everyone but himself; a model captain of industry whose dealings with his men and with his competitors are marked by the spirit of fair play; modest, generous, loyal-hearted son of Bowdoin." Dana, a member of the Theta Delta Chi Fraternity, was active while at Bowdoin, both as an undergraduate, and as an alumnus. Dana was a member of the Bowdoin Alumni Board of Overseers from 1917 to 1924.

From 1924 through 1949, Dana was the college treasurer, and also a trustee in charge of investments. In 1949, Dana was made trustee emeritus. Dana was also a former chairman of the Alumni Fund.

George Rowland Walker The college received word last week of the death in New York on February 4 of George Rowland Walker of the Class of 1902, a member of the Board of Overseers of the College from 1919 until June of 1953, when he resigned and became an Overseer Emeritus.

From 1939 until 1943 Mr. Walker was President of the Board. He was a member of many important committees and also served the College as an Alumni Council member from 1917 until 1920.

One of the most active and popular undergraduates of his college generation, he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and graduated with summa cum laude honors. As a student, he has greatly in demand as orator on special occasions, such as the freshman banquet and Class Day.

Day. He also participated in numerous debates and prize speaking contests.

Continuing on to Harvard Law School, he received his LL.B. degree in 1905. Since his graduation he had been engaged in the practice of law and in the profession of banking in New York City. His undergraduate fraternity was Delta Kappa Epsilon.

Mr. Walker is survived by his wife, Ruth S. Walker, and by two daughters and a son, George Jr., who attended Bowdoin in the Class of 1945.

Student Counseling Office To Be Center For Law School Test

The Student Counseling Office of Bowdoin College has been designated as a testing center for the nation-wide administration of the Law School Admission Test on February 20 and April 10.

Dr. David L. Russell, Director of Student Counseling, announced today. Depending upon the law school to which they wish to make application, college seniors, juniors, and in some instances sophomores are eligible to take the tests. Each applicant should find out as soon as possible from the law schools in which he is interested whether he should take the test and on what date. The Law School Admission Test is prepared and administered four times a year, in November, February, April and August by Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J.

Application Rules Application blanks and a Bulletin of Information describing registration procedures and containing sample test questions should be obtained four or five weeks in advance of the testing date from Dr. Russell's office or directly from the Law School Admission Test, Educational Testing Service, P.O. Box 592, Princeton, N.J. Applications must be mailed so as to be received at the Princeton office not later than ten days prior to the testing date chosen.

Charlie Jordan Voted White Key President In Recent Elections Charlie Jordan, Delta Sigma, was elected president of the White Key in a recent meeting. Parker McLaren, ATO, is the new vice-president, while Ron English, Psi U, was chosen secretary.

Other recent topics of discussion are the planning of the annual White Key-sponsored basketball game, tentatively scheduled as an interfraternity all star versus freshmen tilt, and also the work-weekend under White Key auspices of the details of a dance topics.

House Elections

Filling other positions are: Donald E. Guida '57, Recording Secretary; John E. O'Brien '55, Treasurer; Frederick O. Smith '56, Reporter; Frank D. Beveridge '56, Sentinel; Harlan I. Prater '56, Marshall; Donald E. Roux, '53 Steward. George J. Mitchell '54, Peter J. O'Rourke '56, and Fred Coukos '55, are the representatives to the Student Council, Student Union Committee, and White Key, respectively.

The only two houses which have not yet held their Spring Semester elections are Alpha Tau Omega and Theta Delta Chi. The ATO's will choose their new officers tonight, while Theta Delt will wait until their first meeting in March.

John B. Goodrich '55 Elected O.R.E. Editor

News Editors for the spring semester are Carol E. Pennell '56, George I. Rockwood '56 and Thomas L. Spence '57. Holding the position of Assistant News Editor are Richard M. Catalano '55 and C. William Cooke '57. John W. Albert '57, H. Edward Born '57 and Richard B. Lyman, Jr. '57 have been appointed Copy Editors.

The new editor of the sports staff is Joseph Y. Rogers '56 who comes from Portland, Maine. He replaces Robert M. Hurst '54 who has been editor for the past two semesters.

In the business department Bruce N. Cooper '54 will continue as Business Manager until the end of the current volume. James A. Cook '54 and C. Richard Thurston '54 are the Assistant Business managers. Peter M. Pirnie '55 will continue as Advertising manager and Harold R. Beachem, Jr. '56 will retain his position as Circulation Manager.

Representatives to the committee in drawing up this list may include several suggestions which, although of interest to students, could not be easily studied by such a student group.

Reports prepared by the committee which was established one year ago, include those concerning the science requirement, the final examination period, the typing course, the five course requirement of the Sophomore year, the language requirement, and a possible course in ancient history.

Under favorable conditions, bacteria multiply so rapidly that a single individual can develop into one billion individuals in 15 hours.

Edward F. Spicer '54 Voted New Curriculum Committee Chairman

Elected chairman of the Student Curriculum Committee for the Spring Semester at the group's first meeting of the term was Edward F. Spicer '54 who succeeds David B. Starkweather '55.

Spicer, a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity and a former O.R.E. News Editor, is a resident of Darien Connecticut. Named by the committee at the same time as Secretary-Treasurer was Charles Ranlett '54, former O.R.E. Editor and a member of Delta Sigma.

The first project of the new semester for the Student Curriculum Committee will be a list of topics or questions which it is felt the Faculty Committee for Self-Study should cover in their report.

The committee in drawing up this list may include several suggestions which, although of interest to students, could not be easily studied by such a student group.

Reports prepared by the committee which was established one year ago, include those concerning the science requirement, the final examination period, the typing course, the five course requirement of the Sophomore year, the language requirement, and a possible course in ancient history.

Representatives to the committee by fraternities are: Alpha Delta Phi, Edward F. Spicer '54; Psi Upsilon, Loring G. Pratt '55; Chi Psi, (to be elected); Delta Kappa Epsilon, William L. Kimball '55; Theta Delta Chi, Lewis P. Welch '54; Zeta Psi, Henry J. Starr '55; Kappa Sigma, Joseph J. Tece '55; Beta Theta Pi, Andrew W. Williamson, III '55; Sigma Nu, (to be elected); Alpha Tau Omega, (to be elected); Alpha Rho Upsilon, Howard S. Levin '54; Delta Sigma, Charles Ranlett '54; Independents, Miguel E. de la Fe '54.

Today's Chesterfield is the Best Cigarette Ever Made!

"Chesterfields for Me!" Michael O'Shea The cigarette tested and approved by 30 years of scientific tobacco research. "Chesterfields for Me!" Deborah Kerr The cigarette with a proven good record with smokers. Here is the record. Bi-monthly examinations of a group of smokers show no adverse effects to nose, throat and sinuses from smoking Chesterfield. Deborah Kerr stars in the Broadway Hit "Tea and Sympathy" "Chesterfields for Me!" Ray Anthony The cigarette that gives you proof of highest quality—low nicotine—the taste you want—the mildness you want. Smoke America's Most Popular 2-Way Cigarette CHESTERFIELD BEST FOR YOU

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, February 24, 1954 No. 26

Editor-in-Chief
John B. Goodrich '55
Managing Editors
James Anwyll Jr. '56
George L. Rockwood '56

News Editors
Thomas L. Spence '57
Assistant News Editors
C. William Cooke '57

Copy Editors
Richard B. Lyman Jr. '57
H. Edward Born '57
Feature Writers
Donald W. Blodgett '54
Franklin G. Davis '54
Benjamin G. M. Priest '55

Photographer
James P. Castro '54
Sports Editor
Joseph Y. Rogers '55
Sports Staff
James L. Doherty '55
Robert H. Glover '56
Gerald M. Werksman '57

Reporters
Francis M. Kinnely '57
Thomas R. Merrill '57
Edward P. Parsons '57
Peter Schmalzer Jr. '57
John R. Withers '57

Business Manager
Bruce N. Cooper '54
Assistant Business Managers
C. Richard Thurston '54
Peter M. Pirmie '55
Circulation Manager
Harold R. Beacham Jr. '56
Business Assistants
David H. Dott '57
Paul J. O'Neil '57

Harry G. Carpenter '57
Peter F. Gass '57

BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Professor Athem P. Daggett, Professor James A. Storer, Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilley '54, Wallace R. Harper Jr. '55, John B. Goodrich '55

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
120 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO - BOSTON - LOS ANGELES - SAN FRANCISCO

Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semesters by subscription to the Business Manager of the Bowdoin Publishing Company at the Orient Office in Moore Hall, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three ($3) dollars.

Lack Of Prose Fiction Pointed Out By Critic In Last Quill Publication

(Continued from Page 1)
Blake was a prophet has little to back it up.

Hetherington Returns
Mr. Hetherington returns to the pages of the QUILL with two short poems, "Prayer" and "Revelation," both poems seem to be minor exercises. "Prayer" is a metrically interesting plea for life, but unfortunately breaks up in the last stanza with these grammatically confusing lines:
"and I mere man, believe that in the natural struggle of birth and living of pursuing my spirit then it to its Maker giving man has no right to my life unless

In a poem as short as "Prayer," concision is of maximum importance. The inversion beginning with "then it" overthrows the delicate balance of the poem, and much of the effect is lost. In "Revelation," a clear, but deeply into the nature of loneliness, but insists on a pedestrian technique — a technique, or lack of technique, that can only slow down or atrophy the reader's appreciation of the poem as a whole.

Bill Succeeded
As the article on Blake fails, Mr. Hill's essay on Irving's "The Alhambra" succeeds. The prose style is spare and telling and the subject is contained nicely in the essay's length. Mr. Hill has expressed a desire to show the circumstances that gave rise to the creation of this novel and has also tried to place the work in its proper relationship to the Romantic tradition. Both of these things he has done with clarity and intelligence. The insights into the ambiguous nature of Irving's social and intellectual maturity are sound. Mr. Hill has captured, too, the romantic flavor of "The Alhambra" with his careful use of quotations.

The cockroach drawings by Mr. Bruz are as cheerful as anything in the magazine. Although the medium seems to hold its limitations fairly firmly within its bounds, the four examples capture with the utmost economy of line the humors of the four types. I have some doubts about the editorial assumption that the little fellows are "originally and peculiarly . . . gallier," but "Le Shook" is certainly peculiarly and originally amusing. The QUILL gives poetry a three-to-two preference over prose in this issue. It is a preference which surprises me very much because in many ways the poetry does not live up to the promise of the "Table of Contents." In the most general way, I believe that the difficulty, or at least the most glaring difficulty, lies in the fact that free verse adherents very seldom recognize the fact that the form grew from the tradition of English prosody and is itself, a precedent phenomenon, peculiarly "modern." It may be nothing more than carping on my part, but in almost every free verse poem printed, I feel an extremely tangible lack of formal polish. The analogy, proffered too often applied, of the abstract painter who has not bothered to learn to draw, is however appropriate in some cases here. Although it can indeed be dull work, study of the sonnet would afford several of the poets printed in the QUILL.

Beeson Ambitious
By far the most ambitious of the men who have written poems for this number is Mr. Beeson, contributing two rather long works. The first "The Nature of Hell," opens with a quatrain in French. The dove motif of this opening is carried through the whole poem without direct reference again to the bird. The flight suggestions are numerous. The lines become shorter as the rather lush nature of Hell is exposed. The poem is directed to another individual and at times such distressingly topical lines as "You have not forgotten, you have transgressed The boundaries round one mo-

Young Republicans Announce The Platform For Portland Convention

The Young Republican Club of Bowdoin College draws up a platform for the Young Republican State Convention this weekend at Portland.

We, the Young Republican Club of Bowdoin College, present the following proposals for the Young GOP Platform of Maine in February, 1954:

1. The lowering of the voting age to 18 years in both State and National elections.
2. An annual meeting of the legislature without any time limit.
3. A four year term of office for the Governor with the provision that he may not succeed himself.
4. That the Ninety-seventh Session of Legislature take definite action on the problem of water pollution in Maine.
5. That the State election dates not be changed.
6. That the next session of legislature take definite action on the long overdue re-apportionment of state representatives, as discussed in the Ninety-sixth Legislature.
7. That the State investigate the possibility of undiscovered mineral resources in Maine, and investigate ment pressed."

This sort of thing can only hurt the whole effect of the poem. The opening quatrain in English is sound and pictorial. The resolving quatrain punctuates the idea of the hellishness of dying love. The reader wishes that the poet had been able to sustain the tone all of the way through.

In his second contribution, "Epi-taph For A Prodigal," Mr. Beeson addresses the ghost of Thomas Chatterton. The rhetorical excesses and the jittery metrical setup of the poem suggest rather well the addled individual who took down the arsenic bottle almost two hundred years ago. This poem on the whole seems to be inferior to the more carefully thought out "The Nature of Hell." The third apostrophe of the Chatterton poem tells us that the poet should have lived in the Nineteen-Twenties and young Tom's paradoxical nature is stated in this manner:

"Jazz would've slayed him,
Bathtub gin seduced him,
Flappers amused him,
In his fitful, trembling yell,
Pages 18 and 19 of the QUILL contain four poems; two by Mr. Slesinger and two by Mr. Carhart. These pages are very good. Mr. Slesinger is evidently greatly influenced by the Imagist school, but has, within this framework, produced two fine little poems. "Follow Me" is a nearly perfect recapturing of the moment of dawn and the litch in a young man to move. The poem forms an exact circle. From the last line, we return immediately to the title and the impression becomes one and self-contained. The word "sought," a jarringly archaic word, calls unfortunate attention to its own wit by its reference to the first two words of the third line of the first stanza. With some reworking of this minor point, the poem would stand solidly in any professional publication. Mr. Slesinger's second poem, "Progression," is an interesting exercise in the two line image usually associated with Ezra Pound a nod to the master is always present in two line poems, but as imitation, this couplet must certainly stand in favorable comparison to the model.

Mr. Carhart's poems show an originality that sets them considerably above most of the other poems in this issue. There is a hint, and only a hint, of indebtedness to Dylan Thomas in "Burning, My Father

Ice Cubes On Toast

By Benjamin G. M. Priest '56

"Men seldom make passes at the porch of her dorm swapping the usual lies about how nice it was to have met each other and want a good time we'd had and stuff like that, when oliver sudden I made a Vague Movement in her direction. A Vague Movement mind you. Quick as a flash she moved her head, caught the reflection of the porch light on her glasses, bounced it into my eyes and dam near blinded me. By the time I could see again, she'd shaken my hand, muttered goodnight and scuttled off into the dorm leaving me standing there in mid pucker. Not too peeved."

On the other paw, and somewhat inconspicuously I guess, it rather annoys me when the Girl on the Porch assumes the initiative and very deliberately reaches up and wipes the glasses off the bridge of her nose, squints, closes her eyes, and puckers expectantly. Makes me feel like asking for a receipt, or something. Oh well.

Results Announced For Bradbury Debate Trial
(Continued from Page 1)
Alpha Rho Upsilon fraternity. He has been active on the Debating Council and is on the Dean's List. Kowal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon J. Kowal of 23 Stafford Road, Newton Center, Mass., is a member of Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. He has been active in football and hockey. He is enrolled in the ROTC.

Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Black of 48 Clarendon Street, Malden, Mass., is a member of Alpha Rho Upsilon fraternity. He is enrolled in the ROTC.

I remember once I had a blindfold from somewhere who wore glasses about an inch thick. Magnificent piece . . . of optical work that is. Well, she and I were standing on

Students Will Suffer From Self Study Requirements

Last December the college announced that Bowdoin was one of 16 colleges and universities to receive a grant totalling $280,000 from the Fund for the Advancement of Education to make a self-survey of the curriculum. At the same time the composition of the then Self-study Committee, recently renamed the Committee on Self Study, was released. The committee, headed by Professor Daggett, includes Professors Abrahamson, H. R. Brown, Gustafson and Kirkland and Assistant Professor Carre. Dean Kendrick "will serve in a consultative capacity."

There is no doubt in our minds that the members of this committee include some of the outstanding members of the faculty. Daggett, Brown, and Gustafson are chairmen of the Government, English and Biology departments, respectively.

But unfortunately for the student body, because of the time required to carry out the curriculum evaluation, all the committee members except Professor Daggett will be teaching only part time. Daggett will not teach at all.

Although we recognize the importance of such a study, particularly with the recent change in the college administration, we don't see why so many professors of such merit should be taken away from their teaching duties at the same time. It is true that such a study requires men who are familiar with both its advantages and disadvantages. The members of the Committee on Self Study certainly meet this qualification. But why do so many students have to suffer because the curriculum is being reviewed?

Let us look ahead to next year. In History, with Professor Van Cleve retiring and Professor Kirkland teaching only half time, the present personnel will provide only half the teaching strength that they have in past years. In Government the only full professor will not teach at all. The same situation exists to a lesser extent in the Economics, English, Biology and French departments.

What does this mean for the students? It simply means that many who have planned to take courses with the professors on the committee must either rearrange their schedules or follow their original plan and hope they get a good replacement. In any case it will be pretty difficult to find adequate replacements for some of the professors in question.

Next year's seniors will be particularly affected. Many students are unable to take many elective courses until their senior year. When they do, they usually try to choose courses in which the professor has a good reputation. Next year, however, their range of selectivity will be seriously limited.

We strongly urge the administration to consider this side of the question if it is not too late. Since we have reason to believe that this complaint is supported by the students, we feel that it is our duty to register it now.

Letter From Prof. Gross

January 17, 1954
Editor of the Orient
Bowdoin College
Brunswick, Maine
Dear Sir:
I am sending you a copy of the "Outlook" the paper issued by the American University of Bieriet, Lebanon, which may be of interest to you, especially the article "The Ideology of an American" written by David C. Gordon.

Mrs. Gross and I have spent a month at the American University and we are greatly impressed with the institution and what it is doing for the young men and women of the Middle East. It now has more than 3000 students representing 47 countries and 19 religious groups. The faculty now numbers 340. The teaching and research work of the Biology Department with which I am now most familiar, is excellent.

The more than 50 buildings of the University cover an area of 70 acres overlooking the Mediterranean. The major university buildings stretch in a long, irregular line surrounded by towering trees. There are beautiful shaded walks and semi-tropical gardens.

Athletics are popular and facilities are provided for soccer, football, basketball, volleyball, tennis, track, and swimming.

We trust all is going well at Bowdoin as usual.

Sincerely yours,
Alfred O. Gross

Consult Your Campus Agent
GEORGE W. GRAHAM '55
About Life Insurance
Provident Mutual Of Philadelphia

Notice

Dean Kendrick announced today that due to an administrative error, there was a mistake in the list of major warnings published by the ORIENT last week. The ORIENT listed the Zetes with seven major warnings and the Sigma Ius with five. This order should have been reversed.

Student Patronage Solicited

First National Bank
Brunswick, Maine

Member of the Federal Reserve System and Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Critic Lauds Tangeman Skill And Selections

(Continued from Page 1)
"Non so piu, cosa son, cosa faccio" from "The Marriage of Figaro," "Voi che sapete," from "The Marriage of Figaro," "Smanie implacabili," "Così fan tutte," by Mozart.

"Proses Lyriques, De reve, De Greve, De fleurs, De soir," by Debussy.

Old American Folk Songs, "The Dotman's Dance," "The Dodger," "Long Time Ago," "Simple Gifts," "I Bought Me a Cat," arranged by Aaron Copland.

Matchless Service

Ford

"Matchless Service"

Complete Front End and Frame Alignment

Complete Stock of Titles on Hand

Giant $2.45
Regular 1.25
College Edition 65c & 75c

Effective April 1, 1954 the regular edition will retail for $1.45

MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE

A CAMPUS-TO-CAREER CASE HISTORY

"My first assignment at Bell Labs"

Fresh out of school, Bob Wilson, '53, was put to work on a Transistor project at Bell Laboratories. He explains why he never had time to be awed.

(Reading Time: 39 seconds)

Bob Wilson works on a "breadboard" circuit, studying the electrical properties of a carrier system.

Notice

House representatives in charge of interfraternity singing should turn in their selections for the singing to Mr. Beckwith as soon as possible. The list of songs will then be posted on the bulletin board.

Modern Library

Complete Stock of Titles on Hand

Giant $2.45
Regular 1.25
College Edition 65c & 75c

Effective April 1, 1954 the regular edition will retail for $1.45

MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE

Sales and Service

Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed USED CARS

Maine's Most Modern Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop

Complete Front End and Frame Alignment

Harry H. Smart, Inc.
PHONE 569
67 PLEASANT STREET - BRUNSWICK, MAINE

In some ways it was hard to believe. I had received my B.E.E. at the University of Delaware in June, 1953, and a week later I was working in the world-famous Bell Laboratories.

"But I didn't have time to be awed because they put me right to work. They gave me responsibility fast.

"My group was working on the experimental application of transistors to carrier systems. My assignment was the electrical design of a varioloser for the compressor and for the expander to be located in the terminals.

"The supervision I received and the equipment I had were tops. I quickly discovered that I had to rely on my ingenuity as much as on the college courses I had taken. Perhaps that's one reason for the great new discoveries continually turned out by the Labs.

"Now, I'm in the Communication Development Training Program, continuing my technical education and learning what all the Laboratories sections do and how their work is integrated.

"In a year I'll be back working with the group with which I started."

Assuming responsibility fast is a common experience among the engineering, physical science, arts and social science, and business administration graduates who join the Bell System. Bob Wilson went with Bell Laboratories. There also are job opportunities with the operating telephone companies, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

POLAR BEARINGS

By Joseph V. Rogers '55, ORIENT Sports Editor
The 1953-54 hockey team has just completed its most successful season to date, winning six, losing two, and tying one. The season opened with a loss to Norwich, 5-3, after Bowdoin had registered the first three goals. Next came a win over UNH, 7-5, followed by a 7-3 victory at the expense of Colby, MIT was next to fall before the White, losing 7-3. Bowdoin then lost their second and last game of the season to Amherst 3-2, and in a second encounter with UNH, held them to a 6-6 tie. They then romped over Colby, 10-5, and playing Tufts in their final two games, won them both, 6-2 and 4-3.

This in itself speaks exceptionally well for the team; but when consideration is taken that only about a dozen practices were held all season, and only five before the first game, it becomes all the more deserving of praise. Due to adverse weather conditions, the team was forced to forgo many practices which would otherwise have been held. On three occasions the players spent all night flooding the rink so that it would be in a playable condition. Some of the practices were held at Lewiston and Hebron because of the lack of ice. These are some of the disadvantages which arise when natural ice must be relied upon.

Rogerson Sparks Club
The team was led by Capt. Dave Rogerson, who finished as high man with 30 points on 13 goals and 17 assists. Coach Danny MacFayden stated that "he could make any big college team, and the offensive load was on his shoulders, along with Dick McCusker." They did most of the scoring, getting between them 29 of the 51 goals scored. "Dave is one of the finest captains I've had since I've been here — cooperative, and sets a good example for the rest of the team." MacFayden compares him with Stubby King and Jim Fife, past stars of Bowdoin hockey teams, saying that Rogerson is as good as either of them.

Dick McCusker and Dave Melincoff, along with Rogerson, comprise the first line due to their outstanding offensive play. McCusker had 16 goals and 12 assists for 28 points, while Melincoff finished with 15 points on eight goals and seven assists. The second line of Butch McCabe, Paul Doherty, and Bob Hazzard turned in fine performances defensively, while the third line of Jack Swenson, Bill Freeman, and Pete Pirnie, which concentrated mainly on defense while giving the other lines a breather, did more than a creditable job in holding their own.

The difficult task of playing goals was well done by Skip Howard and Pete Rigby. Howard gave up 13 goals combined with 119 saves, while Rigby was scored upon 19 times and turned away 171 shots. Howard and Rigby, along with Larry Dwight, were the mainstays on defense. The goalie position will be, well fortified next year with Rigby and Paul Testa, who played that spot some this year and should see plenty of action in the future. Others who starred for the most part one defense were Denny King, Frank Metz, Dave Coe, and Sandy Kowal.

There is no freshman hockey team, but four first-year men practiced throughout the season with the varsity and should be a big help in the next few years. Linemen Dave Ham, Art Perry, Fred Thorne, and defenseman George Crane have been getting valuable experience although seeing no action.

Spirit, Determination Pay Dividends
One thing which should be noted is the way in which the team won many of their games. In four games they rallied to win in the closing minutes. In the MIT contest, they broke a tie going into the final quarter and won by three goals. Against UNH they scored four goals in the final period to win 7-5. In both contests with Tufts, scores in the last quarter accounted for the victories. MacFayden attributes this to the spirit and determination of the team, and says that "while they didn't have the ability some of the other teams had they really did a terrific job in the final periods to win or tie in most cases. The fact that they showed hustle and determination although they were outskated in every game shows they're a bunch of good competitors — you can't say enough for them." They may have been outskated but they certainly weren't outplayed.

Danny MacFayden deserves a lot of credit for the work he has done with the players. Faced with many difficulties, such as lack of ice and consequently a lack of practice, he has completed one of his most successful years. It is true that his players had the spirit and determination to win, but it's the coach who gives them this attitude.

Skiers Compete In Two Contests; Marshall Sets State Meet Record

Over the past two weekends the ski team has competed in its two most important meets of the year — The class B divisional championships at Lyndonville, and the State meet at Colby. Although a few individual accomplishments were gratifying, the over all picture reflected our loss of some of last year's best material. We placed seventh out of nine in the divisional meet and second out of three in the state meet. As usual, cross country proved our downfall in both meets. In the State meet Maine started off by taking the first four places in this event, picking up a 20 point lead. Although we topped them in jumping their Nordic, their combined score still exceeded ours by eight points. Thus, their cross country gave them a 28 point lead which we were able to cut to only 14 even though we won four out of six events.

In the divisional meet, captain Dick Marshall supported the team with our only really commendable results, taking second in the jump, third in the Nordic combined, fifth in downhill and fifth in Alpine combined.

Despite our rout in the cross country, the state meet provided some pleasant surprises and a touch of humor. Wind swept and frozen, the snow was much like rough ice — commonly called "ice plates." Keeping our inexperienced record nearly perfect, we used the wrong wax in the cross country with made it almost impossible to go uphill. The trail was not well marked, and several competitors, taking a wrong turn, were later bewildered to meet up with their competitors coming the other way. A few of the better racers were confused by passing the same men twice on different parts of the trail. Shut out by the Maine cross country team, Marshall nevertheless beat the rest of the field to finish first in this event. Though he took first in slalom, second in downhill, first in Alpine combined and second in Nordic Combined, Marshall deserves greatest acclaim for winning the jump and setting a new hill record of 117 feet.

ARU Remains Unbeaten In Volleyball League

	W	L
ARU	8	0
Beta	5	1
Kappa Sigma	4	1
AD	5	2
ATO	4	2
Psi U	4	3
Delta Sigma	3	3
Sigma Nu	2	4
TD	1	5
Zeta	1	5
Delta	-1	6
Chi Psi	0	6

POLAR BEARS OVERCOME COAST GUARD; DROP GAMES TO BRANDEIS AND TUFTS

By Russell B. Crowell '55
The Bowdoin basketball team, which has been having difficulty winning games since the finish of exams, experienced more trouble this week as they lost to Brandeis and Tufts and were able to beat only the hapless Coast Guard Academy who haven't won a game yet this season. The Combsmen weren't figured to beat highly rated Brandeis last Tuesday night but their loss to MIT the night before came as a blow to some of the fans here. Bowdoin played fairly well at Waltham and the fact that they lost by 15 points cannot be called a disappointment.

After a two-day rest, the Polar Bears met their hosts at the Coast Guard Academy here Friday night. It was this game that saw two scoring records fall: total points for one game (both teams) and most points scored by one team. The White won it 94-89. The previous high was set in the New Hampshire game this year when the Whites won 92-90. It was a scrappy game as is indicated in the fact that the whistle blowers had their work cut out for them. Referees Crozier and Lee called a total of 49 fouls throughout the game. Bowdoin jumped off to an early lead and was never threatened. Coach Beezer Coombs played the first few minutes of the game until the fourth quarter when most of the bench made an appearance. In the scoring department it was John Libby, who has been one of the few bright spots in the gloomy period since exams, with ten field goals and six fouls for a total of 26 points. He was followed by Bowdoin's Ronnie Golz who hit for 22. Ernie Allen with 18 was high for the visitors. Coombs built up a sizeable margin before the starters made way for Curt Webber, Dick Kurtz, Ken Miller, Jim Flaker and Phil Day. Although this five didn't do much scoring they were able to preserve the victory and Bowdoin won by five.

White Loses To Tufts 76-67
On Saturday night a fair crowd turned out to see what had promised to be a thriller between the Jumbos of Tufts and Bowdoin. The White looked a little tired and had trouble scoring in the first few minutes as Tufts jumped out in front; they were never behind although a Bowdoin rally in the third period tied the score twice. It

Freshman Team Splits; Upsets Portland Y, Loses To Exeter By 2

Last Wednesday evening the Bowdoin Freshmen overcame a strong Portland Y quintet 71-69 at Brunswick. The Polar Cubs ended a nineteen-game winning streak for the visitors. The outstanding performer of the evening was little Bobby Johnson of Bowdoin who collected nine field goals and thirteen foul tries for a total of 31 points. The ex-Deering High School ace was particularly effective with an overhead set shot. He was aided in the scoring department by Tom Fraser and Jack Eaton who had ten points apiece. The visitors, loaded with ex-schoolboy and former college stars, were behind most of the game and when they did threaten the Polar Cubs, the fast break was most effective. For Portland it was Jim Curtin and Ray Bicknell who had 13 each.

Notice
Bowdoin's Thirty-Second Annual Interfraternity track meet will be held in the cage on the evening of Friday, March 5. This event, one of the highlights of the interfraternity competition, is mainly an intrasquad meet. This year's freshmen squad is very well balanced and should give the varsity performers trouble in some events. Other members of the college may participate if they comply with the following regulations. All men will be issued uniforms through the track office and must report to ten practices before the meet. Each man will also have to undergo a brief physical at the infirmary.

Merrymeeting Gift Shop

185 Park Row
Greeting Cards --- Gifts
Free Gift Wrapping

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it . . .

Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money.

- TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY
- ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS

The Record Office
Paul K. Nivon Jerry Wilcox
• Printers Of The Orient •

Trackmen In Double Win; Defeat Bates Varsity, Frosh

By Gerald M. Werksman '57
Bowdoin's varsity track squad won a narrow victory over Bates, 65-61, while the frosh romped to a 78-39 win over the Bates juniors in a simultaneously-run meet at the Bowdoin indoor track last Saturday.

Bates took an early lead capturing the first two places in three field events. Ed Holmes won both the 35-pound weight and the discus. Billy Kent and John Lind placed one-two for Bates in the pole vault.

The Polar Bears showed well in the track events. Carl Knight turned in firsts in both the 45 low and high hurdles. His 5.6 effort in the low hurdles equalled a meet record. The final in the 40-yard dash was captured by Dave Wies after Jim Upton of Bates had equalled the 4.7 record in the trials. Wies copied a second in the 300-yard run.

By placing in two events apiece Hugh Huleatt, Ed Treccartin and Frank Cameron contributed 22 points apiece to the Bowdoin cause. Huleatt won the 1000-yard run and

Pucksters End Winning Season With Victories Over Colby, Tufts

By James L. Doherty '55
Last Saturday night Bowdoin's hockey team overcame a strong Tufts sextet in Lynn to bring to a close one of the most successful seasons in recent years. The club was fortunate in having good luck for most of the season and only one game had to be cancelled because of poor playing conditions.

Tuesday afternoon a spirited Bowdoin team completely outclassed a scrappy Colby six up at St. Dom's Arena. The White jumped to an early lead and were never threatened as they went on to win 10-5. Dick McCusker turned in the outstanding performance of the afternoon scoring five goals and two assists. Also figuring in the Bowdoin scoring were Dave Melincoff, Dick McCabe, and Sandy Kowal. Larry Dwight and Dave Coe turned in fine efforts on the defense while Pete Rigby turned back a host of Colby shots in the goal.

The following afternoon Bowdoin opened the first of a home-and-home series with Tufts at Lewiston. Bowdoin came out on top 5-2. The visitors tallied first team-mate Bop Phillippe had also broken the old record. His heave was 52 feet 8 1/2 inches. McWilliams also won the 35-pound weight.

Bates had one double winner in Paul Kimball who turned in an admirable performance in winning both the 45-yard high and low hurdles. Kimball's 5.5 seconds in the low cut one-tenth off the old record. His 6.2 in the high was equal to the winning time in the varsity meet.

Dick Bell, John Herriek, Les Leonetti and Mike Coster all turned in stand-out performances for the Polar Cubs. Bell won the pole vault and shared first place in the high jump with Coster. Besides the tie for first in the high jump Coster placed second in the high hurdles and third in the low's. Herriek took first in both the mile and 1000-yard runs. Leonetti won the forty-yard dash and tied for first in the 300-yard run.

Bates had double placers in Bob Kenney and Al MacDonald. Kenney won the broad jump and placed second in the 40-yard dash, while MacDonald captured the discus and placed third in the shot put.

Speeding on U.S. streets and highways injured nearly 600,000 men, women and children.

Beta First In Bowling Standings; ARU, Psi U Follow Close Behind
A well balanced Beta bowling team took over the top spot in the hotly contested Interfraternity Bowling League. The ARU's, who held the lead last week, dropped to second place, while the Psi U's maintained the third place position. The TD's are pressing the Chi Psi's for the cellar.

Beta	28	6
ARU	24	8
Psi U	23	9
Kappa Sig	21	11
AD	18	14
Zetes	17	15
Delta Sig	15	17
ATO	14	18
DeKes	13	19
Sigma Nu	11	21
TD	7	25
Chi Psi	3	29

Dave Weis of Bowdoin winning 40 yard dash in Saturday's meet with Bates. Center Portland Press Herald. Second is Jim Upton of the Bobcats.

ers had trouble getting started and before they got going they found themselves trailing 40-27 at the half. Russ Washburn opened an offensive in the third stanza which clipped four points off Bowdoin's lead. Portland rallied in the fourth and came within five points but once again the hustling John-

Sigma Nu, Kappa Sigma, TD, Delta Sigma Lead Way In I-F Basketball

TEAM	STANDINGS	W	L	Pct.	GB
Sigma Nu		7	1	.857	—
Kappa Sigma		6	1	.857	1
TD		6	2	.750	1
Delta Sigma		5	3	.625	2
AD		4	3	.571	2
ARU		4	3	.571	2
Beta		4	4	.500	3
DKE		3	4	.428	3
Psi U		3	5	.375	4
Zete		2	5	.285	4
Chi Psi		2	6	.250	5
ATO		0	8	.000	7

We Deliver To College
HOT DOGS
ITALIAN SANDWICHES
(Made with ham or salami)
BEER and ALE
TO TAKE OUT
HOOD'S PLACE
Phone 787-M
180 Maine Street
Brunswick, Maine

The Aircraft Observer... eyes... ears... brains... of the Air Force Team!

What is the Aircraft Observer?
He's a Radar Officer . . . employing an all seeing eye that penetrates where human sight fails.
He's an Aircraft Performance Engineer Officer . . . knowing everything there is to know about his plane . . . keeping it fit for the skies and ready for action.
He's a Navigation Officer . . . plotting his plane's course . . . with an entire crew depending on him for a safe flight.

What the Aircraft Observer gets
He earns over $5,000 a year. His silver Aircraft Observer wings give him prestige and distinction, and he wears the bars of an Air Force Lieutenant. They mark him as the eyes, ears, and brains of America's Number One flying team.

WHERE TO GET MORE DETAILS:
Contact your nearest Aviation Cadet Selection Team, Air Force ROTC Unit or Air Force Recruiting Office. Or write to: Aviation Cadet Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Washington 25, D. C.

DAVE'S TAILOR SHOP
Alterations - Repairing - Cleansing - Pressing
Suits Made To Measure
76 Maine Street Phone 1468

Behind The Ivy Curtain

By David R. Anderson '55

In spite of curfew restrictions, over zealous house mothers, and campus cops, girls colleges still come up with some pretty good week ends. The point in case this week is Mt. Holyoke's Snowball which provided good entertainment without a bit of snow. Most everyone agreed that the prematurely spring-like weather was an excellent substitute. Among the parties highlights

Bowdoin Mermen Lose; Exeter Beats Jayvees, Cubs Defeat Brunswick

The University of Connecticut posted a 53-30 win over the Bowdoin varsity swimming squad at the Polar Bear pool last Saturday. Bruce Maxwell and Jeff Beckingham turned in standout performances for the U Conn. Maxwell, highly touted in New England swimming circles, won both the 50 and 100 yard freestyle races. He was anchor-man on the winning 400 yard relay. Beckingham captured a first in the 200 backstroke and paced the 300 yard medley team to a victory.

Captain Bob Arzewon of Bowdoin was his team's lone double winner. Arzewon took first in the 150 medley and the 440 freestyle. Team-mate Bob Glover placed first in the 220 freestyle and took a second in the 100.

Jayvees Split in Two Meets

The Jayvee swimming squad played host to Brunswick High School and Phillips Exeter Academy last week, edging the former team and bowing to the latter.

Tom Merrill and John Collier each took two firsts to help the Bowdoin cause against Brunswick. Merrill won the 150 medley swim and did not repeat in the 100 yard backstroke. Collier scored ten points with firsts in the 50 and 100 yard freestyles.

Exeter posted a 40-35 win, sweeping both the diving and breaststroke events. Bowdoin won the 100 yard medley, but a disqualification of Merrill posted wins in the medley swim and the backstroke, the Cubs' only double winner. Collier captured the 50 freestyle for the only other Bowdoin first.

Freshman Team Splits; Beats Y; Bows To Exeter

(Continued from Page 3)

son contributed eight points in the closing minutes to give Bowdoin a well-earned 71-64 triumph.

Exeter Wins Thriller, 71-75

Tom Bernheim's tap of a shot by John Bitzer gave Exeter Academy a 77-75 victory over the Bowdoin Freshmen Saturday in the Sargent Gymnasium.

A large week-end crowd was on hand to witness what was probably the most thrilling sporting event of the week end. This is indicated by the fact that the score was tied sixteen times. Exeter went into the game with a 6-3 record while the Polar Cubs had lost only to Westbrook medley.

A field goal by Eaton and a foul shot by Harry Carpenter enabled the Cubs to post a one-point margin at the end of the first period of play. Johnson did most of the scoring in that period having three field goals and a foul for seven. He was helped considerably by the rebounding and scoring of Tom Fraser. Both clubs slowed down in the second frame as Louie Aude's charges could only score four goals from the floor while Brad Stover, former star at Morse High, scored seven to give the visitors a 35-33 tie at halftime.

As the third quarter got underway, Exeter's Stan Wilkens, a capable sub for first stringer Tom Bernheim, combined with Stover to score 13 between them to give Exeter a 55-53 edge as that period ended. Eaton and Fraser were also scoring to keep Bowdoin within reach.

The fourth was really a thriller. Bowdoin was trailing by one with about thirty seconds to go when Harry Carpenter drew two foul shots. The rancy center missed the first but dropped in the second to tie the game at 75 apiece. Exeter took the ball out and went into a freeze waiting to take the last shot. Then with the game almost over Bernheim's rebound gave the visitors a hard-fought victory.

of the girl's equivalent of our Interfraternity sing, the formal dance with Ralph Stuart's orchestra playing the music, and a three hour jazz concert Sunday afternoon. Another standout was the young man in a immaculate sweat-shirt which was decorated with four bright blue letters, "YALE." The Tiger Paws, a six-piece group from Princeton featuring an electric mandolin, two banjos, guitar, piano and drums, provided their own type of unique entertainment. House dances, off campus cocktail parties, and beer on a bridge kept the weekend moving. Very noticeable at the jazz concert were seven or eight local school children who sported cigars, high-flung collars, and an irrepressible tendency to keep time to the music by beating dishes on the table and by shouting "Yahoo!" in a desperately gung up way. The band leader effectively silenced them, after a Princeton grad failed by indicating that they might play the next number.

Requirement Changed

Earlier this year the faculty of Dartmouth College voted to replace the required freshman hygiene course with a course known as the Individual and the College class. The new addition will help accomplish three objectives: 1) to communicate to freshmen as clearly and as effectively as possible at least the elementary concepts of the purposes, opportunities, and meaning of a liberal education; 2) to provide information that will be useful to students in maintaining normal health; 3) to relate what is known about the development of proper adjustment to the problems that confront students in their early college years.

The class will meet two hours a week for the first semester Dartmouth undergraduate, and will replace the 55 year old hygiene requirement. The change has been discussed at meetings of Dartmouth's Academic Committee of the Undergraduate Council since 1948, but did not gain sufficient support for adoption until this year. This idea has not been discussed here, to my knowledge, but might supply our Student Curriculum Committee with some interesting research.

Bang Bang Bang

The Maine Campus newspaper at the University of Maine, features a roving reporter column titled, "Opinionettes." The issue of January 28 contained several answers to this question: "What would you do if Estabrooke Hall (that's one of the women's dorms) were snowed in and completely isolated from the outside world for a week?" Barb Ross, a sophomore, had it all figured out. "I'd sit in my room and shoot mice with my .22," she said. (hmm...)

Activities To Include Two Concerts, Dance, Feature Cage Battle

(Continued from Page 1)

The annual Glee Club concert, which the hilarious battle two years ago achieved. The "Zany Committee," meeting at 6 1/2 Elm Street recently completed arrangements for a special entertainment during the half time ceremonies. Robert M. Hurst '54, Zeta, has charge of other arrangements for this event. Opening scheduled event for Saturday will be a Student Union Committee movie at 1:30 in the Smith Auditorium. Robert F. Hinckley '55, DS, is in charge of arrangements.

The Polar Bear Five, Bowdoin's internationally-minded Dixieland jazz band, will give a concert at the Delta Sigma house at 3:30 p.m. J. Ward Kennedy '55, DKE, is handling this event.

With Connecticut College

The annual Glee Club Concert will take place at 8:00 p.m. in Memorial Hall with the combined glee clubs of Bowdoin and Connecticut College taking part. Professor Frederic E. T. Tiltonson will lead the group in the Brahms Requiem. Gordon W. Stearns Jr. '54, DS, is acting as student coordinator for this event.

Public Invited

The general public is invited to all events with tickets being $5.00 for each individual event except for the Campus Concert which will be $1.20.

Comdr. Robert E. Feary discovered the North Pole on April

Industrial Firms On Campus To Interview Interested Seniors

The Placement Bureau announced that during the past two weeks a number of industrial firms have visited the campus including the Albany Felt Company, Albany, N.Y.; Esso Laboratories, Linden, N.J.; Smith, Kline and French Laboratories, Philadelphia; The National City Bank of New York, N.Y.; General Cable Corporation, Perth Amboy, N.J.; The Equitable Life Assurance Society, Portland, Me.; Sears, Roebuck and Company, Philadelphia, Pa. (Eastern Division); Aetna Life Insurance Company, Hartford, Conn. (Group Division); and the International Business Machines Corporation, New York, N.Y. (Eastern Division).

During the week of February 22, Richard R. Bowman will be interviewing for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Eastern Division, New York, N.Y.; Richard Boyd, representing the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company, will discuss career opportunities with insurance-minded seniors on February 25; physicists and science majors will be interviewed by H.K. Weidmann of the Naval Research Laboratory, Washington, D.C.; Ernest A. Wood, representing the Weather Bureau, U. S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., will be on the campus for interviews on February 26. On March 1, J. Robert Smith, American Cyanamid Company, Lancaster, Pennsylvania, will be at the Placement Bureau to be followed on the 3rd of March by representatives of Ford International and Mercantile Stores Company of New York. On March 4, the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Connecticut, will interview seniors to be followed on the 5th by H. E. Brewer of the Vice Chemical Company.

Maine Government Topic Of Talk

(Continued from Page 1)

the last legislature passed a $2400 minimum wage for teachers with degrees.

Federal Power Projects

Asked to give his views on Federal power projects, Governor Cross stated that power companies should be built by the states or private companies rather than by the National Government. The only time the latter is justified in construction power companies is when they're on an international basis such as arises under the Passamaquoddy Project, which concerns Canada and the U.S.

The Governor further went on to say that he believes the problem of pollution of the rivers will be taken care of in the next legislature. Asked his opinion on a four year term of governor in Maine, he said it was a growing trend with the only opposition to it being political. The Governor also explained the potato situation in Aroostook County and the reason for the poor economic condition of Washington County.

Finally Governor Cross said that he was one of twenty-nine governors in favor of lowering the voting age to eighteen.

The week end will be climaxed by the Campus Chest booth dance in the Sargent Gym at 9:30. Featured by at least 12 booths and by a dance band, the evening will include the drawing of the raffle. The Student Council fraternity representatives will coordinate activities and arrangements for this highlight event.

Working under the general chairman, Batal, is a flexible committee set up with additional men to be added. In addition to those previously mentioned, those assisting include: Charles Ranlett '54, DS, publicity chairman; and Frank A. MacDonald '54, Chi Psi, Leonidas B. Southerland III '55, DKE, and Richard W. Loughry '56, DS, posters.

CUMBERLAND THEATRE
Brunswick, Maine

Wednesday-Thursday
February 24-25
Walt Disney's PINOCCHIO also Short Subjects

Friday-Saturday
February 26-27
RIOT IN CELL BLOCK 11 with Neville Brand Leo Gordon also Short Subject

Sunday-Monday-Tuesday
February 28-March 1-2
MISS SADIE THOMPSON with Rita Hayworth Jose Ferrer also News

Wednesday-Thursday
March 3-4
WORLD FOR RANSOM with Dan Duryea Gene Lockhart also Short Subjects

Prof. Bridges Speaks; Students React Favorably To Discussions

(Continued from Page 1)

our missionary activity in China. It was agreed that the role of the missionary in the Far East is as important as that of an ambassador. The missionary is an important figure in world politics and in the formation of our foreign policy. The Christian missionaries are the greatest ambassadors of good will the United States has.

Sigma Nu

Lt. Richard T. Schellhase, Evangelical and Reformed Chaplain for the Brunswick Air Base, led a discussion at the Sigma Nu House on "What Does God Mean to Me in My Personal Life?" Lt. Schellhase wanted to know where we are as individuals. When we have settled our own personal problems we will be more equipped to settle world problems. He stressed the important role of religion in one's personal life.

At all of these houses there was a healthy response to the questions asked by both the discussion leaders and the students. It would appear from this enthusiasm that Bowdoin has concluded another successful religious forum.

Third Subfresh Weekend 'Very Successful' Says Admissions Head Shaw

Bowdoin College's third and final sub-freshman weekend, February 20 and 21, was "very successful" according to Director of Admissions Hubert S. Shaw.

About 75 men, divided among the fraternities for guidance around campus, visited Bowdoin during this period. Many men were here on invitations from the individual fraternities, notably the Beta and TD houses.

Shaw Leads Undergrads

"The houses handled things very well and we heard good reports from the visitors about the courtesy and friendliness of students," said Mr. Shaw. "We appreciate the time and the arrangements of the fraternities."

The athletic department cooperated as usual by letting the sub-freshmen into all athletic events without charge during the course of the weekend. These included three basketball games, one track meet and two swimming meets.

4 One-Act Plays Will Be Presented March 8

(Continued from Page 1)

problems." It is interesting to note that all of the characters in this play are ghosts.

Both of Beeson's plays are tragedies. "The Man Who Was out of Luck" is a tragic comedy. The story of a man who is too wrapped up in himself and his career to pay any attention to his wife. The theme of "Dark Ladies" revolves around two ladies of contrasting character who fight for the love of a young poet.

Heathington and Brewer were both participants in last year's One Act Play Contest. Heathington won the contest with his play "Twenty Minutes to Go". Beeson, besides having two of his one act plays chosen for production, has collaborated with Wilkinson in a full length musical which will be produced by The Masque and Gown at Ivy.

The One Act Play Contest, which was originated by The Masque and Gown in 1933 to encourage the writing of plays by undergraduates, has produced two important results: first, nearly all of the full length plays which were given their premiere by The Masque and Gown have been written by former participants in the contest; second, the faculty was so impressed by the quality of plays submitted that in 1949 they instituted a course in play-writing.

President Announces Makeup Of Various Self-Study Committees

(Continued from Page 1)

Livingston, Thomas C. Van Cleve, Assistant Professors Robert H. Ivy, Walter M. Solnitz, Richard C. Thittim, Associate Professors Thomas A. Riley, Mr. Kenneth O. Ainsworth, and Mr. Charles E. Huntington.

Tripartite Choice

The Tripartite Choice: Dean Kendrick (Chairman), Professor Philip M. Brown, Associate Professor Dane, Professor Cecil T. Holmes, Mr. Frangon L. Jones, Professor Samuel E. Kametling, Professor Reinhard L. Korgen. The Freshman Elective: Professor Gustafson (Chairman), Assistant Professor John P. Day, Mr. William S. Flash, Professor Ernst C. Heimreich, Professor Myron A. Johnson, Assistant Professor Ernest P. Johnson, Professor William C. Root, Mr. Carl N. Schmalz, Assistant Professor James A. Storer, Professor Taylor, and Professor Perley S. Turner.

Reading, Writing, Speaking

Professor H. R. Brown (Chairman), Assistant Professor Charles S. Benson, Professor Ronald Bridges, Associate Professor Lawrence S. Hall, Professor Edward S. Hammond, Mr. David L. Russell, Mr. Richard L. Schoenwald, Assistant Professor John S. Sweet, and Professor Albert R. Thayer.

Distribution

The Distribution Requirement: Professor Abrahamson (Chairman), Assistant Professor Robert K. Beckwith, Professor H. R. Brown, Mr. Charles W. Carruthers, Assistant Professor Walter I. Merrill, Mr. James M. Moulton, Professor-Munn, Mr. Ira L. Reiss, Professor Root, Associate Professor Henry G. Russell, Mr. James F. Tierney, and Assistant Professor William B. Whiteside.

Major Requirements and Honors Work: Professor Daggett (Chairman), Professor Beam, Assistant Professor Edwin B. Benjamin, Assistant Professor Raymond Bourneque, Professor Morgan B. Cunningham, Professor Little, Professor

Van Cleve, History Professor, Announces Retirement In June

(Continued from Page 1)

Chief of the 2nd Brigade Intelligence Section; as assistant to the Chief of Intelligence of the 1st Division; and as Acting Chief of the Intelligence Section. He participated in the Battles of Cantigny, Soissons, Saizeris, and St. Mihiel. On August 25 he was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant and less than a month later to that of captain in the Infantry. After the Armistice he served with the Intelligence Section of the General Staff of the A. E. F., as Chief of the German-Austrian Section of Press Review. In August of 1919 he returned to the United States. He was personally cited for "distinguished, efficient and meritorious service in the Cantigny, Soissons, and Saizeris sectors."

In 1942 Professor Van Cleve again left his teaching duties. As a major he was recalled to active duty and assigned to the Office of Strategic Services in Washington, D. C., but shortly afterwards he was attached to the AC of S-G-2 War Department. In the following year he was promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel and in 1946 to colonel. He saw overseas service with Allied Force Headquarters in Egypt, North Africa, Italy, France, Germany and Luxembourg. He was the recipient of a War Department Citation and a Commendation Ribbon for meritorious and exceptional service to the Military Intelligence Service. He was retired from the military service in 1950 and listed in the "Official Army Register" as Colonel M. I. in the Officers' Honorary Retired List.

FOR UMIT

Since the war Professor Van Livingston, Assistant Professor Poles, Professor Frederic E. T. Tiltonson, and Professor Van Cleves. Admissions: Mr. Shaw (Chairman), Mr. Arthur L. Greason, Professor Hammond, Mr. Paul V. Hazelton, Professor Helmreich, Mr. Morrell, Professor George H. Quinby, and Professor Turner.

Alumni Gathering Attended By Thirty

(Continued From Page 1)

Lewiston, Maine; Nathaniel Barker '29, Presque Isle, Maine; Charles M. Barbour, Jr., '33, West Hartford, Conn.

Edward A. Richards, Jr., '44, Augusta, Maine; Frederick H. Bird '30, Rockland, Maine; Frank A. St. Clair '21, Millburn, N. J.; Arthur E. Fischer '38, Upperville, Montclair, N. J.; Leland W. Hovey '26, Cynwyd, Penna.; Elmer E. Tufts '13, Providence, R. I.; S. Kirby Hight '38, Skowhegan, Maine; Vincent B. Welch '38, Washington, D. C.; Cloyd E. Small '20, Worcester, Mass.

From Brunswick Seward J. Marsh '12, Glenn R. McIntire '25, George H. Quinby '23, From Topsham, Bela W. Norton '18.

Today's Chesterfield is the Best Cigarette Ever Made!

"Chesterfields for Me!"
Ray Anthony

The cigarette that gives you proof of highest quality—low nicotine—the taste you want—the mildness you want.

"Chesterfields for Me!"
Deborah Kerr

The cigarette with a proven good record with smokers. Here is the record. Bi-monthly examinations of a group of smokers show no adverse effects to nose, throat and sinuses from smoking Chesterfield.

Deborah Kerr stars in the Broadway Hit "Tea and Sympathy"

Smoke America's Most Popular 2-Way Cigarette

CHESTERFIELD BEST FOR YOU

Copyright 1954, LUCY & NILES TOBACCO CO.

Brunswick Coal & Lumber Co.

FUEL - BUILDING SUPPLIES
Brunswick, Maine

Complete and Friendly
Banking Services

Student Accounts
Welcomed

Brunswick Branch
FIRST-AUBURN TRUST COMPANY
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

BOWL-MOR Alleys

AUTOMATIC PIN SETTERS

Hot Dogs
Italian Sandwiches
Cold Drinks
Coffee
Ice Cream

Operated by Al Tobey, Class of '60

President Talks On Alumni Participation In College

How the Alumni of Bowdoin Can Participate in Its Government... President Coles met with the Bowdoin Club of St. Petersburg...

Speaks In Chapel

President Coles

Drill Team To Compete On TV Against 9 Units

Three drill teams led by Master Sergeant Frank L. Doggett from the ROTC unit are in competition on television with nine other drill teams from military units in the States...

Teams from the 103rd Regimental Combat Team, National Guard; U. S. Marine Corps Training Center, Marine Reserve; U. S. Naval Reserve Training Center, Naval Reserve; and the Bowdoin College ROTC appear for three minute drill sessions on the 6 p.m. telecast over WCHS-TV (Channel 6)...

Preliminary Round Of Interfraternity Debating Completed

The preliminary round of the Interfraternity Debating Program for the Wilmont Brookings Mitchell Trophy has been completed... The quarter finals will begin tonight with a debate between Alpha Tau Omega and Phi Kappa Phi...

Two High Schools Tie In Scholastic Effort For Abraxas Trophy

Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick announced today that Beverly High School and Westport High School in Massachusetts finished in a tie for first place in the Abraxas Cup standing, each with an average of 2.900.

Many New England School Stars Slated For Saturday's Scholastics

Phil Reavis, the lone title holder in the Bowdoin Interscholastic Track Meet, may again steal the spotlight at the 39th annual indoor meet this Saturday... National AAU Champ Reavis has won the National AAU and Massachusetts State championships with identical jumps of 6 feet 3 3/4 inches.

College Receives Rare Dickens Items From Mrs. Adriel U. Bird

Mrs. Adriel U. Bird of Boston has presented the library three valuable Charles Dickens items, Librarian Kenneth J. Boyer announced today... One noted, signed by Dickens, was written from the Parker House in Boston, when he was in this country on a speaking tour late in his life.

Faculty Play To Be Presented; One-Act Plays To Be Held Soon

The One-Act Play Contest which will celebrate its 200th anniversary on March 8 at 8:15 p.m. in Memorial Hall was begun by a group of undergraduates in the Masque and Gown to create interest in dramatic writing... It has always been held early in the second semester and with this contest will have seen 70 One-Act plays in production.

Jazz, Fraternity Booths, Charities Await Socialites On Campus Chest Week End

ARU Frosh Top Others; ARU's Edge ATO's For Student Council Cup

Winning the Student Council Cup for excellence in scholarship for the third consecutive semester, the Alpha Rho Upsilon Fraternity compiled an average of 2.480 to nose out its most persistent rival, Alpha Tau Omega... Grades are figured on the basis of 4 for an "A", 3 for a "B", 2 for a "C", 1 for a "D", and 0 for an "E".

Charity Drive Week End Set To Top Former Mark

The goal of a 100% record among the students of the college for the purchase of the general Campus Chest Week End admission tickets has been set by the sponsor of the annual two day event, the Student Council... James E. Bassett '34 Will Direct Publicity For Republican Party

Table with 2 columns: Members, Standings. Lists fraternities like Alpha Rho Upsilon, Alpha Tau Omega, etc. with their respective scores.

Table with 2 columns: Members, Standings. Lists fraternities like Alpha Rho Upsilon, Alpha Tau Omega, etc. with their respective scores.

Polar Bear Five To Go To Bermuda Over The Spring Vacation

The Polar Bear Five will again travel to Bermuda with the same old-timers group with which they performed for U. S. Air Force personnel at the base there during Christmas, this time over the spring vacation... The tour, which starts March 21 and lasts for thirteen days, will take the group to the Azore Islands and Madeira.

Activities for the week end include a Faculty-Student "Battle of Wits", the Interfraternity All-Stars-Faculty basketball game with special and "zany" half time ceremonies, a Student Union Committee movie, a $30 being given to those two houses which compile the best records for contributions to the Campus Chest... The general public is invited to all events with tickets being $5.00 for each individual event except for the Campus Concert which will be $2.00.

Speakers To Be Chosen For Finals Of Plummer And '68 Prize Speaking

On the evening of March 8 speakers will be chosen for the finals of the Class of 1968 Prize Speaking Contest and for the Stanley Plummer Prize Speaking Contest... The former contest is open for Seniors and the latter to Juniors. The Stanley Plummer Prize Speaking Contest was established by Stanley Plummer '67 "for excellence in original and spoken composition in the English language on the part of the members of the Junior Class".

Dr. Bridges To Start Tallman Lectures; First One To Be Given This Evening

Beginning this evening, Dr. Ronald Bridges, '30, Visiting Professor of Religion on the Tallman Foundation for the Spring Semester, will deliver a series of four lectures in the Moulton Union each Wednesday this month... The subject of Dr. Bridges' first lecture will be "Loyalty Confined". The final three, to be held March 10, 17, and 24, will be on "Brotherhood Confusion", "Friser's Coffin", and "Common Creation".

Lecture Fund was given to Bowdoin by Frank G. Tallman of Wilmington, Delaware in 1928 as a memorial to the Bowdoin members of his family... In addition to offering a course for undergraduates, the Visiting Professors on the Foundation give a series of public lectures on the subjects of their special interest. Dr. Bridges is teaching Religion 10, Contemporary Christianity, which is an examination of the Christian Church as a factor in shaping the American pattern.

College Receives Rare Dickens Items From Mrs. Adriel U. Bird

Mrs. Adriel U. Bird of Boston has presented the library three valuable Charles Dickens items, Librarian Kenneth J. Boyer announced today... One noted, signed by Dickens, was written from the Parker House in Boston, when he was in this country on a speaking tour late in his life.

College Receives Rare Dickens Items From Mrs. Adriel U. Bird

Mrs. Adriel U. Bird of Boston has presented the library three valuable Charles Dickens items, Librarian Kenneth J. Boyer announced today... One noted, signed by Dickens, was written from the Parker House in Boston, when he was in this country on a speaking tour late in his life.

College Receives Rare Dickens Items From Mrs. Adriel U. Bird

Mrs. Adriel U. Bird of Boston has presented the library three valuable Charles Dickens items, Librarian Kenneth J. Boyer announced today... One noted, signed by Dickens, was written from the Parker House in Boston, when he was in this country on a speaking tour late in his life.

College Receives Rare Dickens Items From Mrs. Adriel U. Bird

Mrs. Adriel U. Bird of Boston has presented the library three valuable Charles Dickens items, Librarian Kenneth J. Boyer announced today... One noted, signed by Dickens, was written from the Parker House in Boston, when he was in this country on a speaking tour late in his life.

College Receives Rare Dickens Items From Mrs. Adriel U. Bird

Mrs. Adriel U. Bird of Boston has presented the library three valuable Charles Dickens items, Librarian Kenneth J. Boyer announced today... One noted, signed by Dickens, was written from the Parker House in Boston, when he was in this country on a speaking tour late in his life.

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, March 3, 1954 No. 71

Editor-in-Chief
John B. Goodrich '55

Managing Editors
David R. Anderson '55
Carroll E. Pennell '56

News Editors
Thomas L. Spence '57
Richard M. Catalano '56
John W. Albert '57

Copy Editors
John M. Belka '54
Gerard L. Dube '55

Feature Writers
H. Edward Born '57
Franklin G. Davis '54
Charles N. Janson LaPalme '55

Photographer
James P. Gaston '54

Sports Editor
Joseph Y. Rogers '55

Sports Staff
Russell B. Crowell '55
William E. Clark II '54
Delcour S. Potter Jr. '57

Business Manager
Bruce N. Cooper '54

Assistant Business Managers
C. Richard Thurston '54
Peter M. Pirtine '55
Harold R. Beacham Jr. '56

Business Assistants
David H. Dott '57
Paul J. O'Neil '57

Reporters
Francis M. Kinnely '57
Thomas R. Merrill '57
Edward P. Parsons '57
Peter Schmalzer Jr. '57
John R. Withers '57

BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Professor Athern P. Daggett, Professor James A. Storer, Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilley '54, Wallace R. Harper Jr. '55, John B. Goodrich '55

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY:
National Advertising Service, Inc.
629 MADISON AVE., NEW YORK, N. Y.
Chicago - Boston - Los Angeles - San Francisco

Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semesters by the students of Bowdoin College. Address news communications to the Editor and subscription communications to the Business Manager of the Bowdoin Publishing Company at the Orient Office in Moore Hall, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three dollars.

One-Act Plays Will Be Presented Next Monday; Faculty Production Next

(Continued From Page 1)

and that same year won the headmaster at Leavitt Institute. Another contestant that year was Robert Bliss who has had paintings shown in leading New England galleries and now teaches at Deerfield Academy.

In 1946, the final year of the war, was the only year that a contest has been omitted.

In 1948, Morgandahl's younger brother was the winner while in 1949, Bowdoin plan student, Jose de Tejada won first prize.

In 1950 Peter Poor, who had been runner-up the two preceding years, won the contest and also directed the Ivy play. He has since directed and designed at the Ogunquit Summer Theatre, the Brattle Theatre in Cambridge and in New York.

In 1951, Don Carlo whose "Fiddle and Bell" opened our season this year was the winner, before his departure for graduate work in the Drama Department at the University of Texas. In 1952 Edward Cogan who played Skylark last June won the contest with a play which later received a prize in the national wide competition organized by Samuel French, the New York play publisher. In that same contest Ronald Lander was a contestant, after having his play "It's a Fact" produced for the Win House party.

Last year's winner was Allen Hetherington with Horace Hill, as runnerup and Jim Carson, Don Brewer and Will Fickett as other contestants.

All former contestants have been invited to attend the 20th anniversary and although many of them are too distant to join us for the final showing of one-act plays on the old Memorial Hall stage, they have sent greetings to the few who must represent them.

At least one of the plays originally presented in the contest received much more attention when it was produced and directed by its author or W. H. Brown as part of the Paul Whitman television show and was written up in Life Magazine.

'Love For Love'

Caregrie's famous Restoration comedy "Love for Love," which is generally accepted by literary and dramatic critics as a peak in high comedy, will be played and produced by the faculty of the college under the sponsorship of the Masque and Gown on Monday, March 22 at 8:15 in Memorial Hall.

Appearing in the cast will be Mrs. Edmund Coombs, Mrs. Athern Daggett, Mrs. Myra Jeppesen, Mrs. Wilcott Hokansen, Mrs. Frederic Tillotson, Mrs. Edward Polz. The men will be played by Professor Richard Chittim of the Math Department, Professor Burton Taylor and Mr. Ira Reiss of the Sociology Department, Professors Lawrence Hall, Edwin Benjamin and Roy Gesson of the English Department, Mr. Berkeley Feasbody of the Classics Department, and Professor Raymond Bagnique of the Chemistry Department and Professor Noel Little of the Physics Department who is also stage managing the production.

These actors will be appearing as the fops and wits in the time of Charles II and will be representing the characters made famous for modern readers by "Forever Amber." Complete with snuff boxes and ruffles for the men and with fans and kerchiefs for the women. They will tread the formal pace of that elegant period in contrast to its outspoken concern with the affairs of the heart. The story they will tell deals basically with the pursuit of a handsome heroine by a gay and imprudent wit. To win her he is nearly forced to give up his birthright and he even pretends to go mad.

As important as the central couple are two worldly sisters, a country girl being introduced to city ways, an amusing old nurse, a cynic, a dandy, a sailor fresh from the sea and two old men. Like most important Restoration comedies there is a witty servant, assorted lawyers, and moneylenders.

In 1952, 37,600 Americans were killed in traffic accidents.

Distractions Disturb Music Critic, But Local Group Shows Talent

Charles Janson-LaPalme '55

The Bowdoin College Music Club presented a concert of music by early European composers Tuesday, Feb. 23, in the College chapel. The program, directed by Robert K. Beckwith, consisted of: Magnificat

Marc-Antoine Charpentier 1634-1704
Trio Sonata in E Minor Jean-Baptiste Loeillet, 1653-1728
Die Gerechten Werden Weggerafft Johann Krieger, 1649-1726
Three Motets Cantata No. 38 Johann Sebastian Bach, 1685-1750

The Bowdoin Music Club emerged from a semester of secluded preparation last week and presented an interesting, if not skillful, program of early Eighteenth-Century music. The Club continued its policy of performing seldom-heard works even to the point of singing two anonymously written motets.

Since much of the program consisted of sacred music, Mr. Beckwith used the suitable facilities of our chapel for the concert. But despite the quality of the music and the appropriate setting of the chapel, it seemed that the audience left the performance with a rather hollow feeling instead of the joyous feeling that was to be expected from a combination of fine music and good talent. This wonderful effect that can be created by sacred music was repeatedly cheated of its growth by a series of disturbances caused by the performers and the staging.

The weak entrance of the choir singing the "Magnificat" was perhaps symbolic of these distractions, which when combined with an uncertainty of notes lessened the depth of beauty tended by its composer. Charpentier's stage singing disturbances alluded to earlier were exemplified by the appearance of two soloists who appeared on the balcony at the head of the chapel and proceeded to blow air through their instruments, and tune them with the organ, and slam the balcony door. After this prelude, the flutists, Joel Hupper '54 and Laura Neuhaus, joined with the organist, David Holmes '56, to play the "Trio Sonata in E Minor" by Jean-Baptiste Loeillet, a Flemish composer. The result was an exhibition of considerable talent, especially on the part of Holmes.

Beckwith Hard Worker
In analyzing the performance as a whole, no strong criticisms can be made of the choruses, orchestra, or conductor. The choruses weren't polished, but they sang satisfactorily and the women seemed to outshine the men. The orchestra, with Madeleine Thomas as concertmistress, and organist, Gordon Stearns '54, all played very well; the value of the orchestra was sometimes decreased though by the length of time and the disturbance that resulted from their getting settled and tuned up. Mr. Beckwith obviously put much work into this well-balanced program and presented the College community a rare opportunity of listening to some of the world's finest music.

Paul P. Broutas '54 Wins Bradbury Debate

An affirmative team, composed of William W. Hale, Jr., '56, William C. Hays, '55, and Paul P. Broutas, '54, defeated the negative team of Elliot S. Palais, '55, Warren H. Greene, '56, and Roger E. Gordon, '54, in the Bradbury Prize Debate on Thursday, February 25.

The Bradbury Debating Prize, established in 1901, is awarded to each of the best three debaters, as well as to each man on the winning team. The topic was: "Resolved, that the United States should adopt a policy of Free Trade." The main reasoning of the winners lay in the point that the political and economic policies of the United States need to be joined together, implying that they are not joined now. The negative team based their arguments on the idea that U. S. economy would be hurt by a free trade policy.

Judges for the debate were Mr. J. Weston Welch, a former Bowdoin debater, coach of debating, and publisher, Mr. Phillmore Ross, a former Bowdoin debater, and Mr. John Smith, of the Brunswick High School Faculty. Timekeeper was Norman L. Levy, '57.

Paul P. Broutas was presented first prize as the best speaker of the debate; Warren H. Greene was second, and William C. Hays, third. William W. Hale, Jr. also received a prize as a member of the winning team.

Band Notice

All members of the Band will report to the cage at 7:00 p.m. Friday night for the Interfraternity Track Meet.

A hippopotamus normally stays under water three or four minutes.

Jazz, Varied Activities Set For Campus Chest

(Continued from Page 1)

Following will be a jazz concert in the Delta Sigma house at 3:30 p.m. by the Polar Bear Five, Bowdoin's dixieland jazz band.

Glee Club Concert
In the evening the Bowdoin and Connecticut College glee clubs will combine in the Brahms Requiem under the direction of Professor Frederic E. T. Tillotson. This event, the annual appearance of the Bowdoin Glee Club in Brunswick, will be in Memorial Hall at 8:00 p.m.

Climaxing the week end will be the Campus Chest booth dance in the Sargent Gym at 9:30. Featured will be booths operated by the various fraternities, a dance band, and the drawing of the Bowdoin raffish. Booths are being arranged alphabetically by fraternity, with the individual Student Council representatives coordinating activities and arrangements for this event.

Assisting Batal, in addition to those mentioned in last week's issue of the ORIENT, is a general coordinating committee are Richard D. Adourian '54, David W. Donahue '54, and Denis W. King '56.

Charities aided by the Campus Chest, which is patterned on the lines of a community chest, include the Brunswick Chapter of the American Red Cross, the Pine Tree Society for Crippled Children, the World Student Service Fund, the American Friends Service Committee, the American Heart Association, the Brunswick Chapter of the Salvation Army, the Brunswick Scouting Program, the National Scholarship Fund for Negro Students, Athens College, and the Cumberland County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Other groups aided include the March of Dimes, the Japan Inter-Christian University Foundation Inc., the Save the Children Federation, the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, Inc., the Brunswick Humane Society, Inc., the Maine Cancer Society, and the Cerebral Palsy Fund.

Mr. McKenna, Assistant Librarian At Bowdoin, To Wed Westbrook Girl

Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Duolos of Westbrook announced last Sunday the engagement of their daughter, Miss M. Constance Duolos to Mr. John R. McKenna, assistant librarian at Bowdoin. A late summer wedding is planned.

Miss Duolos was graduated from Westbrook High School and attended Boston University. She is office manager for the advertising firm of Simmonds Payson Co., Portland.

Mr. McKenna received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario, and Bachelor of Library Science from McGill University, Montreal. During World War II he served with the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Dickens' Items

(Continued from Page 1)
Mr. Bird was also a keen student of Charles Dickens and owned a valuable Dickens collection. President Emeritus Sils once characterized him as "warm-hearted, generous to a fault, with hosts of friends in many different walks of life."

He was a valuable member of the Board of Overseers from 1939 until his death and also served as a member and president of the Alumni Council.

Faculty, Students Will Present Various Dramatics Here Soon

(Continued from Page 1)

Dr. and Mrs. Max Hirschler of Lewiston, Maine, have given the college an early portrait by William Merritt Chase (1849-1916), American painter and teacher.

The picture represents one of the very fine paintings in the Hirschler collection and is a valuable addition to the college's group of American portraits, not only because of its inherent value, but also because it is a superior example of a period not well illustrated previously.

The painting portrays a young Munich art dealer named Fleischmann. It was probably painted in about 1875, while Chase, then a student in Germany, was absorbed by the spontaneous style of Kreis von Wilhelm Leibl, and it shows the flickering, dashing brushwork on which Chase's later, better-known style is based. In color, it is rich, in the traditional manner, with reds, whites, and ochres reserved against a dark background.

The new portrait is being exhibited in the Bowdoin Gallery of the Walker Art Building.

New Pastel in Union Of Dr. R. Bridges By Hawthorne Descendant

A new pastel being displayed in the Moulton Union is that of Dr. Ronald Bridges of the Class of 1930, the visiting Professor of Religion on the Tallman Foundation.

The pastel was done by Hawthorne L. Smyth of the Class of 1931, a direct descendant of Nathaniel Hawthorne, 1824, Bowdoin's famed nineteenth century novelist.

Held Important Positions

Since his graduation from Bowdoin, Dr. Bridges has held several positions of great interest and importance. He is the fifth layman to head the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions in its more than 140-year history. He has also served as Executive Director of the Central Department of Broadcasting and Films of the National Council of Churches with headquarters in New York.

He has been a teacher at all levels of education from the district school to college and theological school. From 1945 to 1950 he was President of the Pacific School of Religion in California.

Profs. Thayer And Sweet Announce Debate Team Schedule For Season

Professor Thayer and Professor Sweet have announced the schedule for the Debate team for the rest of the season.

On March 6 Bowdoin will oppose the University of Connecticut in a dual match. Debating for Bowdoin on the affirmative team will be Sanford A. Kowal '56 and Morton L. Price '56; on the negative team, William J. Beckett '57 and George F. Howland '57.

On March 12 and 13 Bowdoin will compete in the Brooklyn Tournament. Last year there were 65 colleges entered in this tournament. Bowdoin will be represented by William W. Hale '56 and Morton L. Price '56 on the affirmative team and Elliot S. Palais '55.

Then coming up on March 20 will be the Maine Intercollegiate Varsity Debate at Bowdoin. There will be three rounds in this tournament beginning at 11:00 a.m. William C. Hays '55 and Paul P. Broutas '54 will be on the affirmative team; Warren H. Greene, Jr. '56 and Roger E. Gordon '54 will be on the negative team.

The last varsity debate tournament of the year for Bowdoin will be the New England Tournament held at King's Points, Long Island. The U. S. Merchant Marine Academy will be host to the Eastern Forensic Association. There will be both debates and extempore speaking at this tournament which begins on April 29. The decisions of the three rounds of debate will be announced on May 1. Hays and Broutas will again be on the affirmative team and Greene and Henry D. Shaw '56 will take the negative.

Sailing Club Elects Five New Officers, Plans Spring Slate

On February 18, the Sailing Club met in Conference Room B in the Moulton Union to elect new officers for the coming year. Among those elected were J. D. Gardner, Commodore; E. B. Clark, Vice-Commodore; E. C. Northrup, Rear-Commodore; R. Nason, Secretary-Treasurer; R. Kurtz, Senior Member-at-Large; and C. Leighton, Junior Member-at-Large.

In addition, the members discussed a schedule for the spring activities, made arrangements for their next meeting which is to be held on March 4, and also talked about the conditions of the boats and other sailing facilities.

Student Complacency Continue To Harass Student Activities

In reviewing the events of last semester, some of which by their nature stimulated student interest, we still have to come to the conclusion that there is generally a disturbing amount of student apathy towards their own activities. This problem has been discussed before here in past issues without results. But we feel it is important enough to keep reminding the student that such a situation does exist.

Student organizations do not hold the prestige they would if they would if they were properly supported. It is indeed a rare occasion here in the ORIENT office when we received a letter from a student concerning student affairs or the college in general. The Student Council seldom receives proposals from a student arising out of his interest in college affairs. Dean Kendrick pointed out in chapel yesterday that he has been the only person to bring action before the Student Judiciary Committee since its inception. No action has ever been initiated by a student or a group of students.

The results of the hazing dispute of last fall only prove that the faith placed in student government is woefully inadequate. The inability of the students to do nothing but reject in the hazing discussion only emphasizes the negative attitude which prevails among the students.

Part of the difficulty arises from the fact that the student has a dual obligation in his extra-curricular activities. He has a responsibility towards his college and his fraternity. The latter seems more important because it is closer. Therefore, the student devotes much of his spare time to fraternity and little to college. As a result a student thinks in terms of his house rather than in terms of the college. The hazing problem was an excellent example of this.

What can be done to stimulate interest in student activities, to eliminate this stagnation in the student body? There is no list of proposals that can be drawn up to solve such a problem. The answer lies with the students themselves. It must come from a few enterprising students who are willing to get the ball rolling.

Certainly some of the so-called "bull-sessions," which go on day and night some place on the campus, must produce a few ideas and criticisms concerning the Student Council. The Student Curriculum Committee, the Student Union Committee and various other activities.

We cannot force the students to take an interest in their own affairs but we can certainly encourage it. We shall be only too happy to print any criticisms and suggestions, specific or otherwise, of anyone who is willing to take the trouble to write them.

Notice

The Student Union movie this Saturday evening will be The Brothers starring two English actors, Patricia Roc and Will Fyffe. The plot of the movie revolves around the fierce battle of two ancient Scottish families over a beautiful orphan girl who comes to work on their remote little island. The first showing will begin at 6:45 p.m. and the second at 9:00. All tickets will cost twenty-five cents and may be obtained at the door. The movie will be shown in Smith Auditorium.

Merrymeeting Gift Shop
185 Park Row
Greeting Cards --- Gifts
Free Gift Wrapping

Stationery

Bowdoin Seal	.89
Polar Bear	.85
Par Value (Plain)	.85
Economy Pack	.59
Fraternity	1.00

MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE

HOOD'S PLACE
Phone 787-M
180 Maine Street
Brunswick, Maine

We Deliver To College
HOT DOGS
ITALIAN SANDWICHES
(Made with ham or salami)
BEER and ALE
TO TAKE OUT

HOW THE STARS GOT STARTED...

MAUREEN O'HARA says:
"My first stage appearance was at age 5—between acts in a school play—reading a poem. I've literally lived acting ever since! First, in clubs, churches, amateur theatricals. I was on the radio at 12; in the Abbey Theatre at 14—had my first screen test at 17. Acting is hard work—but I love it!"

"WHEN I CHANGED TO CAMELS, I FOUND I WAS ENJOYING SMOKING MORE THAN EVER! CAMELS HAVE A WONDERFUL FLAVOR...AND JUST THE RIGHT MILDNESS!"

Maureen O'Hara
Lovely Hollywood Star

START SMOKING CAMELS YOURSELF!
Make the 30-day Camel Mildness Test. Smoke only Camels for 30 days. See for yourself why Camels' cool mildness and rich flavor agree with more people than any other cigarette!

Camels agree with more people THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

POLAR BEARINGS

By Joseph Y. Rogers '55, Orient Sports Editor.

The proposal of a Little Ivy League by Union College of Schenectady, N. Y., is still being discussed, with no definite outcome as yet. A meeting of small college presidents held in Cincinnati disclosed three distinct schools of thought concerning the league. First, there were those who were against the formation of any sort of league among the small colleges. A second group believed the establishment of a league to be a good idea, but would place the emphasis on scholastic problems. While feeling that a union of the colleges would be helpful, they did not feel that athletics should assume too much importance, but rather that scholastic problems be the main reason for the confederation. The third group was highly in favor of the league, saying that it would not only make for better relations among the schools involved but would also be good publicity for the colleges.

The league itself has been unofficially inaugurated with the presentation of the Winne Trophy (the Hederahelk Africanus Ivy plant), and league members have competed in cross-country, basketball, and debating. However, the success of a Little Ivy League is still highly doubtful. Amherst, which won the Winne Trophy, later stated they wouldn't join this league, believing, among other things, that a league would put undue pressure on the member teams, especially those near the bottom of the league. Wesleyan, Williams, and Trinity have repeatedly turned down the idea of joining the league.

Bowdoin's place in the league appears doubtful, as this paper has mentioned before: since we would meet only four of the teams in the league due to our schedule, would we be legally or ethically justified in claiming the championship if we were to win those four games?

Also under consideration is the formation of a smaller league if the proposed 13-team league doesn't materialize, although this embraces a new host of problems. Since many of the schools involved already have commitments with other schools, this would seriously limit the number of colleges able to participate.

All in all, it seems that, although much has been said in its favor, the difficulties to be solved before a Little Ivy League could become a reality will prevent its inception at the present time. In the future there will no doubt be a formation of a league somewhat similar to that being discussed now. While it is only a matter of time, it is probably a little premature at present.

In any case, the publicity which the idea has received in the last three months has certainly not hurt it, and though it may not reach its finished form at this time, it has accomplished a few significant achievements. First, the Potted Ivy Trophy was awarded to Amherst in recognition of its fine season; second, the news and proposals of the League, including pictures, have appeared in eleven college newspapers since the beginning of November, which include Bowdoin, Amherst, Middlebury, Hamilton, Haverford, Hobart, Swarthmore, Trinity, Wesleyan, Williams, and Union; and third, while not all the publicity has been favorable, it at least has provoked a remarkable amount of discussion and interest in the small colleges.

Varsity, Frosh Trackmen Easily Overpower Colby

By James L. Doherty '55

Both the Bowdoin track teams, the varsity and the frosh, romped to easy victories over their Colby rivals last Saturday afternoon at the local gym.

Featuring the White triumph was the performance of Hugh Healey, who turned in a 4:28 mile, which was the best time he had run this distance in the indoor track season. Ed Trearlin and Frank Cameron were not pushed in their specialties, but both hit the wire in respectable times.

The score of the meet found the Polar Bears in complete domination over the Mules 91½-34½. Bowdoin took nine first places compared to their opponents' four. The two-time winners for Bowdoin were Trearlin, who captured both the 600 and the 1,000, and Dave Weis, who snared both the dashes. Bob Jacobs sprinted and jumped well to take firsts for the Mules in the hurdles.

Practically all the races were one-sided except for the 45 yard low hurdles where Jacobs just edged out Carl Knight. The long runs more than compensated for the relative evenness between the Mules and the Polar Bears in the dashes of the weight races.

Cubs Easily Stop Colby 79-35

The freshmen showed a great deal of promise in their 79-35 triumph over the Young Mules. Bill McWilliams accounted for 15 points for the Cubs, outlasting all his competitors in three five events. John Herrick registered an exceptionally fast time in the 1,000 breaking the tape at 2:24.3.

Starring for Colby was Fritz Knight, the brother of our hurdler, Carl. He scored in both the hurdles to gain half the Colby first places.

Other wins for Bowdoin were garnered by Dwight Eaton with a flight of 20 ft. 14 inches. Joe McDaniel in the 600, Herrick in the mile, and Les Leonetti with a 4.8 in the 40 yard dash. Some of the feats turned in by the frosh matched those of the varsity, as McWilliams, Eaton, and Herrick, all bettered the times set by their elders in similar events for the varsity.

Law does not compel husband and wife to live together.

Cubs Win Overtime; Fraser And Gardner Clinch Fifth Period

In their most exciting game and only overtime tilt of the season the Bowdoin frosh wound up their schedule with an 85-84 victory over Bates at the Bowdoin gym. Their final record is 10-4.

Richie Drenzek sunk two foul shots with nine seconds remaining to throw the game into a 78-78 tie. In the five minute overtime Joe Welch and Dick Sullivan missed in foulshots to give Bates a two point lead. Bob Wishart tied it up with a jump shot and Tom Fraser, who was sidelined by a bad ankle until the overtime, put the Cubs ahead with a three point play. Drenzek rebounded and a foul Drenzek caged a foul and Bill Gardner added two set shots to insure a Bowdoin victory.

Jack Hardle of Bates took scoring honors with 26 points, scoring eighteen in the third period. Sullivan had 26 for Bates while Bob Johnson was high for Bowdoin with 23. Jack Eaton had 21 and Gardner 15.

Bates held a 21-18 lead at the first quarter and a one point lead 36-35 at halftime. Bowdoin was ahead by eleven, 58-47, when the fourth period started.

Sigma Nu Holds Lead In Basketball League; Kappa Sig Following

LAST WEEK'S RESULTS:
Delta Sigma vs. ATO 30
TH 29 - Zeta 32
AD 51 - DKE 47
Sigma Nu 12 - Zeta 41
ATO 59 - Zeta 41

TEAM STANDINGS

Team	W	L	Pct.	GB
Sigma Nu	8	1	.888	—
Kappa Sigma	7	2	.777	1
Delta Sigma	6	3	.666	2
ARU	5	4	.555	3
Beta	4	5	.444	4
DKE	3	6	.333	5
Psi U	2	7	.222	6
Chi Psi	1	8	.111	7
ATO	0	9	.000	8

THIS WEEK'S GAMES:
Mon., ATO vs. Zeta; ARU vs. Sigma Nu
Wed., DKE vs. Psi U; Beta vs. TD
Thurs., K.S. vs. Delta; ATO vs. AD
Games of the week:
Friday of the week: Veolia, Sigma Nu

TD (39) vs. Zeta (32)

Player	G	F	P	G	F	P
Paul	1	0	2	2	4	8
Chapman	1	1	1	2	2	2
Koch	2	0	4	3	2	2
Gilman	2	0	4	6	0	0
Marshall	2	0	4	6	0	0
Hyler	0	1	1	2	2	2
Walker	0	1	1	2	2	2
Moran	0	1	1	2	2	2
Total	14	11	39	22	11	32

AD (52) vs. DKE (47)

Player	G	F	P	G	F	P
L.Dyer	3	2	1	2	2	2
Dyer	0	3	1	2	0	4
Wienan	11	2	2	2	2	2
Woodward	4	0	3	2	2	2
Wessinger	1	0	1	2	0	0
Woodbury	2	1	1	2	0	2
Total	21	10	52	21	10	52

Sigma Nu (44) vs. ARU (42)

Player	G	F	P	G	F	P
Veolia	6	7	19	2	2	6
Werkman	7	10	22	2	2	6
Payne	0	12	26	4	2	2
McLaren	0	11	25	1	0	2
Blifford	1	1	3	2	2	2
Bois	1	1	3	2	2	2
O'Rourke	1	0	2	2	0	2
Kanloff	2	2	6	2	2	2
Total	21	54	64	17	8	42

ATO (55) vs. Zeta (41)

Player	G	F	P	G	F	P
Drake	2	2	6	1	0	2
McLaren	2	4	8	1	0	2
Metzger	0	12	26	0	0	0
Lanehein	0	12	26	0	0	0
Metzger	0	12	26	0	0	0
Thurston	2	1	3	2	0	2
Wilson	1	0	1	2	0	2
Kushner	0	0	0	2	0	2
Total	20	39	59	15	0	41

Napoleon called England a "Nation of Shopkeepers."

White Drops in Series Play; Fraser Sets Scoring Records

By Russell B. Crowell '55

The Bowdoin basketball team continued its unwinning ways as it entered the final round of State Series play. The Colby Mules overcame a five-point deficit at the end of three periods and went on to edge the White last-Wednesday night at Waterville.

John Libby opened the scoring for Bowdoin from the foul line followed by John Kreider's set shot. Colby kept pace during the opening minutes by virtue of Bob Raymond's hook shot and fouls by Cross and Jabar. The Mules managed to tie up Bill Fraser but Rolie Janelle and tricky John Kreider enabled the visitors to post a 19-12 edge at the quarter.

Colby raked in the second frame and it was only Bowdoin's accuracy from the foul line that gave them a five-point bulge at the half. Colby's Van Allen, 5'5" sophomore, proved to be a top replacement for Justin Cross, who injured his thumb in a previous encounter. Getting a total of four points in this period, Van Allen kept the Mules within striking distance.

Bowdoin was able to stretch their advantage to, as much as 12 points during this hectic period. Janelle contributed six on a field goal and four out of four from the foul line. Van Allen got hot in the closing minutes to cut Bowdoin's lead back to five.

The fourth period found Bowdoin in trouble. The Combsmen could only get four goals from the floor while Colby got eight. Led by Johnny Van Allen the Mules had a 51% average from the floor in the third and fourth quarters. Bowdoin was game and fought hard all the way. Van Allen registered on 10 out of 12 from the floor and five out of six from the foul line for an evening high of 25 points. John Kreider with 18 was high for Bowdoin.

Maine Edges White 72-70

After losing to Colby, the Bowdoin team moved to Orono on Saturday afternoon hoping to beat the Black Bears and at least salvage a tie for State Series honors. But here the Combsmen found themselves in further difficulty. Bowdoin led most of the way but Rome Rankin's club came up with a 72-70 victory in the last quarter.

Rolie Janelle was the key factor in giving the White a 20-19 edge at the first quarter mark. He was aided in the scoring department by Fraser, Libby and Kreider.

Undeclared ARU Team Continues To Dominate Volleyball League

By defeating the Betas this past week, the undeclared ARU's continue to lead the Interfraternity Volleyball League by a wide margin.

As a result of their loss to ARU, the Betas have dropped from second to fourth place. Although they remained idle this past week, the Kappa Sigma moved from third to second place and still maintain a narrow margin over the AD's, who won their game over DKE by means of a forfeit.

Scores:
ARU 2, Beta 1
AD over DKE (forfeit)
Delta Sigma 2, ATO 1
Zeta 2, TD 0
Sigma Nu 2, Chi Psi 0

STANDINGS

Team	Won	Lost
ARU	9	0
Kappa Sigma	4	2
Beta	5	2
Delta Sigma	4	3
Psi U	4	3
ATO	4	3
Sigma Nu	3	4
Zeta	2	6
DKE	1	7
Chi Psi	0	7

Amherst Swimmers Defeat Varsity; Frosh End Season With Hebron Win

By Gerald M. Werksman '57

The Amherst varsity swimming team scored an impressive 55-29 victory over Bowdoin at the latter's gym last Saturday.

The Lord Jeffs captured eight out of a possible ten firsts and took six out of eight seconds. Beaton tallied eight points for Amherst with a first in the 50 yard freestyle and a tie for first with Ken Brigham in the 100 freestyle. Helmreich, Hollister, and Pray paced the 300 yard medley relay and each turned in a first in his specialty. Helmreich captured the 200 yard breaststroke, Hollister placed first in the 200 backstroke, and Pray won the 150 medley swim.

Bob Arwezon won both of Bowdoin's firsts and was the only undisputed double winner of the day. The dependable and talented Arwezon captured the 200 and 400 freestyles. Hanks of Amherst placed second in both events. Brigham took Bowdoin's second in the 50 yard freestyle.

The Freshmen Mermen wound up a good swimming season Saturday by defeating Hebron 38-35 at Hebron. Once again it was Johnny Collier and Tom Merrill who sparked the Cubs. Collier won both the 50 and 100 yard freestyle, while Merrill was the winner of the 150 yard medley and did a repeat in the 100 yard backstroke. Merrill's victory in the backstroke set a new Hebron pool record. Seconds by Erik Lund, Al Head, and Dick Davis plus a win in the final relay helped to enable the Frosh to wind up the season with a creditable record of 6 wins against only 3 defeats.

Many Students Training For Track Meet

By John E. Simonds '57

During the past two weeks several loyal fraternity men were seen limping around campus, cursing the soft life they had been leading and suffering from the sudden tightening and soreness of long dormant muscles. To the observant upperclassman this was the perennial indication that the Indoor Interfraternity Track Meet was not far away.

The finals of the thirty-second annual indoor meet will begin this Friday evening at 7:30 in the cage of the athletic building. This year marks the largest turnout ever with close to one-hundred entrants in the meet. However, not all of these will be competing, for, although the meet is open to all undergraduates, there are two requirements which must be met by all competitors. First, they must have a physician check-up by the college physician, and second, they must have credit for at least nine days of practice before they can enter the meet. These requirements not only safeguard the entrant's health, but they improve the caliber of the performances in the meet.

According to track coach "Jack" Magee, who inaugurated the meet back in 1922, the purposes of the yearly event are to stimulate friendly rivalry among the houses, to help gain recognition for those who are proficient in track and field, and to serve as a public relations proposition to track-minded spectators from outside of the school by demonstrating the keen interest and competition on the part of the students.

This year the Zetas are heavily favored to win the Kenneth C. M. Sils shield for the greatest total number of points amassed in the meet. Having seventeen entries in the meet, the Zetas are expected to dominate the weight events. Dick Bell in the pole vault, John Herrick in the 880 and the mile, and Dwight Eaton in the broad jump.

The AD's will probably be strong contenders for second place with such strong entrants as Bill Copperthwaite in the pole vault, John Herrick in the 880 and the mile, and Dwight Eaton in the broad jump.

(Continued on Page 4)

STANDINGS

Team	Won	Lost
Beta	29	7
ARU	27	9
Psi U	26	10
Kappa Sigma	22	14
AD	21	15
Delta Sigma	19	17
Zeta	18	18
DKE	16	20
ATO	15	21
Sigma Nu	12	24
TD	8	28
Chi Psi	3	33

Notice

There will be a meeting of all Freshman baseball candidates Monday, March 8 at 4:00 p.m. on the Gym floor.

CUMBERLAND THEATRE
Brunswick, Maine

Wednesday-Thursday March 3-4
WORLD FOR RANSOM
with Dan Duryea Gene Lockhart also News Short Subjects

Friday-Saturday March 5-6
RIDE CLEAR OF DIABLO
with Audie Murphy Susan Cabot also News Cartoon

Sunday-Monday-Tuesday March 7-8-9
THE LONG, LONG TRAILER
with Lucille Ball Best Arnez News Short Subject

Wednesday-Thursday March 10-11
THE WILD ONE
with Marlon Brando Mary Murphy also Fox News Short Subject

"Matchless Service"

Sales and Service
Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed
USED CARS

Maine's Most Modern Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop

Complete Front End and Frame Alignment

Harry H. Smart, Inc.
PHONE 5-6
67 PLEASANT STREET - BRUNSWICK, MAINE

America's Knights of the Sky...

The Spartan Band that held the pass,
The Knights of Arthur's train
The Light Brigade that charged the guns,
Across the battle plain
Can claim no greater glory than
The dedicated few
Who wear the Wings of Silver
... on a field of Air Force Blue.

For Fellowship... High Adventure... and a proud mission... wear the wings of the U. S. Air Force!

● In days gone by, young men in shining armor ruled the age. Today, a new kind of man rules the age—America's Knights of the Sky, the Aviation Cadets! They rule from on high, in flashing silver-winged Air Force jets... a gallant band that all America looks up to! Like the Knights of old, they are few in number, but they represent their Nation's greatest strength.

If you are single, between the ages of 19 and 26½, you can join this select flying team and serve with the finest. You will be given the best jet training in the world and graduate as an Air Force Lieutenant, earning $5,000 a year. Your silver wings will mark you as one of the chosen few, who ride the skies in Air Force jets.

As an Aviation Cadet, your kingdom is space—a jet is your charger and your mission is the highest. You are a key defender of the American faith, with a guaranteed future both in military and commercial aviation.

Join America's Knights of the Sky, new men of a new age. Be an Aviation Cadet!

WHERE TO GET MORE DETAILS:
Contact your nearest Aviation Cadet Selection Team, Air Force R.O.T.C. Unit or Air Force Recruiting Officer. Or write to: Aviation Cadet, Hq., U. S. Air Force, Washington 25, D. C.

Telephone 6-1911
BILL'S

Our Specialties:
Italian Spaghetti Pizza
Hot Pastries
Steaks and Chops

REGULAR DINNERS
"Bowdoin Men's Favorite Restaurant"
Beer and Ale on Draft and in Bottles

6½ ELM STREET
BRUNSWICK MAINE

BOWL-MOR Alleys

AUTOMATIC PIN SETTERS

Hot Dogs
Italian Sandwiches
Cold Drinks
Coffee
Ice Cream

Operated by Al Tobey, Class of '50

Behind The Ivy Curtain

By David R. Anderson '55

One of an undergraduate's pet peeves is the unfamiliarity with or the mispronunciation of the names of his college by the uninitiated. The wrapper of one of the newspapers we received recently carried the most glaring corruption of the name of this fair school that I have ever seen. The paper was addressed to the exchange editor of BOLDWEN College.

Cell Block 11
The students at Shaw College, Raleigh, N.C., staged a strike recently that temporarily upset the peace and tranquility of that university. The chairman of the ten-student strike committee reported that only six or less of the 508 Shaw undergraduates attended classes following an early morning meeting to "consider an administration ultimatum which said those who failed to go to class would place their academic and personal records in jeopardy."

Suspension of six students over the past two weeks gave impetus to the protest which began with a demonstration at the president's home. Four co-ed seniors were dismissed for being off campus without permission and riding in the auto of a woman friend, a graduate of Shaw. Two members of the school's basketball team were suspended after they were accused of setting off fire crackers on campus. A student complaint listed other grievances which included "inadequate heating, lighting and hot water as well as out-moded regulations covering student conduct." Fighting fire with fire the college president had mimeographed leaflets distributed throughout the dormitories stating that the students on the strike committee would be automatically expelled if normal academic routine were not resumed in 24 hours.

From Iowa
A newly appointed history professor at Wellesley was asked to compare that school with the University of Iowa where he was formerly located. The professor stated, "I may sound a little naive here at Wellesley, but I feel mixed classes give both boys and girls more advantages than separated classes. Mixed classes present a more normal situation which will be found in most careers after graduation from college, and moreover, mixed classes arouse a stimulating competition which makes a class more interesting." The professor also stated that while knitting and the casual attire of the Wellesley students didn't bother him; he was concerned about the girl's tendency to ask irrelevant questions and questions designed principally to demonstrate the knowledge of the questioner.

Gift of the Magi
The story goes that a student at New York State Teachers' college had a girl friend and no money to buy her a Christmas present. So he charged fellow students 25 cents to watch while he had all his hair cut off. He wound up with plenty of money and nothing to do but convince his girl that it was worth "it all."

Coles Speaks On Importance Of Alumni Part In Bowdoin Govt.

[Continued from Page 1]
Laude, eight Cum Laude, and 21 men were members of Phi Beta Kappa. Of these men 21 of them hold advanced degrees. "You can see by these facts," said the president, "that a student who is on the Dean's List now has a better chance to be on one of the two governing boards later on. Also it must be pointed out that the men governing Bowdoin are as academically equipped as the faculty." The president then went on to explain that the governing boards are self-perpetual. The members of the Board of Trustees are chosen from the Board of Overseers and the members of the Board of Over-

Several Companies To Be Represented At Bowdoin For Interviews

On March 8 the Hanover Bank of New York, represented by Mr. D. R. Howe, will confer with seniors interested in banking finance. On March 10, Mr. J. H. Hawes, Eastern Division Personnel Manager, W. T. Grant Company, will be visiting the Placement Bureau. On March 11 Mr. G. D. Maxon, representing Montgomery Ward, will be recruiting seniors. Both the Grant Company and Montgomery Ward plan to talk with candidates desirous of a career in merchandising. The Socony-Vacuum Oil Company, represented by Mr. P. W. Boynton, will be a visitor to the Bureau on March 12. The Liberty Mutual Insurance Company of Boston, represented by Mr. Lawrence Usher '32 and Mr. Raymond Wilson, will interview candidates for casualty and fire insurance fields.

Mr. Robert Hoskins, of the School Service Bureau, Windsor, Connecticut, will confer with teacher candidates on the 17th. On March 18, the General Electric Company of Schenectady, New York, will interview candidates interested in the business training program and advertising division and the health and safety division. Mr. J. F. Flowers will represent the company. On the same day, Mr. R. H. Kellogg, of the New York office of S. S. Kresge Company, will talk with merchandising-minded candidates. These interviews to be held in Conference Room A in Moulton Union. In the Chemistry Conference Room the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Springfield, will be represented by Mr. Harry L. Stuckenbruck and Richard (Dick) E. Waite '46.

The Bureau will have a representative on campus on March 19 from the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston, and on the same day, in the Chemistry Conference Room, W. R. Grace and Company will be represented by Mr. Manton Copeland, Jr. The American Insurance Group of New York will send as their representative on March 22, Mr. J. J. Leddy. The Chase National Bank of New York will be represented on campus by Mr. W. E. Bateman, Vice President. Mr. Leslie Clyde of the Westinghouse Manufacturing Company of Pittsburgh, will visit the campus on March 23 to confer with science majors, especially those who majored in physics. On March 24 and 25, Mr. G. E. Brown of the Procter and Gamble Company representing the home office in Cincinnati and the Easter Sales Division will hold interviews with qualified seniors. Mr. Brown will conduct a group seminar meeting on the 24th. On March 25 the Royal Liverpool Insurance Group, represented by Mr. R. C. Burke, will confer with candidates interested in the multiple line insurance field. The majority of the interviews will be held in the Faculty Room in Massachusetts Hall unless otherwise posted.

"Veto" comes from the Latin meaning "I forbid."

Pres. Coles Attends Annual Pentagonal Conference At Wesleyan

Wesleyan University was the setting for a three day pentagonal conference of New England colleges on February 23. Those attending were Amherst, Bowdoin, Dartmouth, Wesleyan, and Williams, all of whom were represented either by their presidents, deans, or treasurers. Topics on the agenda for the session included administrative practices, curriculum, scholarships, and student and faculty affairs. Dr. Victor L. Butterfield, president of Wesleyan, conducted the conference. Bowdoin was represented by President James Coles.

More Music, Less Gab, For WBOA

Program Director, Doug Reid, announces that WBOA has changed its faces to meet the demand of more music, less gab. In an effort to please its listeners, the previous schedule has been altered from five hours in the evening, to four hours, and in addition, a regular afternoon show five days a week, featuring the latest records on all the name discs has been added to meet the listeners' desire for more "pop" music. Two brand new shows have been started on Sunday night. They are two classical musical shows with Charles Janson-LaPalme as host from 8:30 to 9:30, and Gerry Dubé carrying on till 10:30 with a somewhat lighter type of music than the first show. The former World of Opera has been changed to the afternoon on Sunday and taken on the new name of "Your Seat at the Opera." Each week a complete opera will be presented. The big change is the adding of afternoon D-Jing, and these shows will be based on requests from the listening audience. Cards may be mailed to WBOA, Moulton Union, or phone calls for requests will be accepted at the studio.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3
4:00 Polar Bear's Ballroom
5:00 News Summary
5:05 Polar Bear's Ballroom
5:45 Sign Off
7:30 Keep Posted
7:40 Sportlite
7:45 Let's Go To Town
8:00 Luckies Newsight
8:15 News Summary
8:30 Runs, Hits and Errors
9:25 News Summary
9:30 Studytime Serenade
10:30 Polar Bear Varieties
11:00 Luckies News and Sports
11:15 Nitecap
11:30 Sign Off

THURSDAY, MARCH 4
4:00 Polar Bear's Ballroom
5:00 News Summary
5:05 Polar Bear's Ballroom
5:45 Sign Off
7:30 Keep Posted
7:40 Sportlite
7:45 Broadway In Review
8:00 Luckies Newsight
8:15 Piano Portraits
8:30 Street Of Dreams
9:25 News Summary
9:30 Studytime Serenade
10:30 Polar Bear Varieties
11:00 Luckies News and Sports
11:15 Nitecap
11:30 Sign Off

FRIDAY, MARCH 5
4:00 Polar Bear's Ballroom
5:00 News Summary
5:05 Polar Bear's Ballroom
5:45 Sign Off
7:30 Keep Posted
7:40 Sportlite
7:45 Here's To Vets
8:00 Luckies Newsight
8:15 Columbia University Series
8:30 The 44th Request Club
9:25 News Summary
9:30 Studytime Serenade
10:30 Polar Bear Varieties
11:00 Luckies News and Sports
11:15 Nitecap
11:30 Sign Off

SUNDAY, MARCH 7
3:00 Your Seat at the Opera
Romeo and Juliet
5:00 Sign Off
7:30 Keep Posted
7:40 Sportlite
7:45 Join the Navy
8:00 Luckies Newsight
8:15 Percy Faith Performs
8:30 Pizzicato Overtures
9:30 Music Mausoleum - Gerry Dubé
10:30 Masterworks from France
11:00 Luckies News and Sports
11:15 Nitecap
11:30 Sign Off

MONDAY, MARCH 8
4:00 Polar Bear's Ballroom
5:00 News Summary
5:05 Polar Bear's Ballroom
5:45 Sign Off
7:30 Keep Posted
7:40 Sportlite
7:45 Guest Star
8:00 Luckies Newsight
8:15 Glenn Miller Show
8:30 The Pale Dry Show

TUESDAY, MARCH 9
4:00 Polar Bear's Ballroom
5:00 News Summary
5:05 Polar Bear's Ballroom
5:45 Sign Off
7:30 Keep Posted
7:40 Sportlite
7:45 Let's Go To Town
8:30 DJ Parade of Hits

Fraser Sets Records; White Loses To Maine, Colby; Tounces Bates

Bates lost easily to the Polar Bears last evening in a game in which Bill Fraser, playing his last game for Bowdoin, broke two scoring records. The White won handily 97-63. Captain Bill scored 44 points. The former record was held by Rod Simpson of Bates, who scored 41 at the Bowdoin game and a former high of 42 in state series play. Bill scored 32 points in the first half getting seven goals and four fouls in a ragged first quarter giving Bowdoin a 26-12 lead. This was also the final game for other Bowdoin players Jim Flaker, although not scoring, was a big help in feeding Fraser and rebounding. Hard working Ken Miller, who saw action with the varsity only this year, did a commendable job also.

Bates, with several players lost for academic reasons and George Schroeder in the Army, was only able to bring an eight man squad to Brunswick. The Bowdoin starting five had little trouble in jumping to an early lead which they were able to build up throughout the game. Most of the Bates players are relatively inexperienced. Bob Dunn is perhaps the only highlight in the Bates roster. Bob, although only six feet tall, does a splendid job in the pivot and on defense. He's one of the best passers we've seen this year. The fact that the rest of Beezer Coomb's starting five did not figure in the scoring points to the fact that they were feeding Fraser all night. After Bill's high scoring first half the Bobcats had Don Smith and one or two other players on hand. He only got 12 of his 44 total in the second half. The game was poorly played and made interesting only by Fraser's scoring feats.

Gardening is a matter of your enthusiasm holding up until your back gets used to it.

Fraternities Prepare Entries For Coming Interfraternity Meet

Last year's champs, the TD's will be near the top this year if Hugh Huleatt and Eddie Treacartin both come through as expected in the mile, 880, and 440 events, and Herb Urweider continues his performance in the high jump. The Psi U's have an outside chance of finishing in the higher brackets this year. Mel Totman will be carrying most of the burden by competing in the hurdles, broad jump, high jump and the discus. Mike Coster in the hurdles, Skip Pratt in the shot put, and Keith Sturgeon in the dash are all potential point winners. The Betas with Dave Hurley in the dash, Bob Philippe in the weights, and Joe McDaniel in the middle distances; and the Dekes with Carl Knight in the hurdles and Skip Howland in the broad jump will in all probability round out the top six. Other meet hopefuls include Frank Cameron of Sigma Nu, a top heavy favorite in the two mile, Dave Wies of ARU in the dash, Kappa Sig Steve McCabe in the weights, and Maynard Wallace of the Delta Sigs in the Pole vault.

Painting By William Merritt Chase Donated

Mr. Carl Schmalz, instructor in art, has announced the addition of a painting by the late William Merritt Chase. The portrait is the gift of Dr. and Mrs. Max Hirschler of Lewiston. Their son, Carl Ernest Hirschler, was a member of the class of '46. William Chase was a well known American teacher and portrait painter of the late 19th and early 20th century. He studied in Munich during the early 1870s; the picture itself was painted in 1875 when he was beginning to use the loose, spontaneous brush-work that was to characterize his later style.

Brown Lauds Columbia University In Chapel; Contributions Of Import

Speaking in recognition of the Columbia University Bicentennial on Feb. 15 Professor Herbert R. Brown reminded Bowdoin College students that "Columbia is an exciting place of learning where real prestige is enjoyed by those who wish to learn and make their learning relevant to their needs." Stating that no one "has ever accused Columbia of complacency or indifference," Professor Brown recalled that it has contributed the "Great Books" idea to the University of Chicago, the Plan of General Education to Harvard, and its course in Contemporary Civilization to many institutions. Columbia, he stated, "has had the effect of developing an intellectually tough student body who spend most of their time reading, talking and thinking energetically about subjects that will affect them for the rest of their lives. In such a mature atmosphere there are very few who are foolish enough to major in college life. They find the life of the college more rewarding."

Professor Brown, in concluding his tribute to Columbia, from which he holds the Doctor of Philosophy degree, termed it "a great institution of learning which has always remained close to the throbbing heart of man. And in its championing of man's right to knowledge and the free use thereof, Bowdoin wishes it Godspeed."

Frosh Win Overtime

[Continued from Page 3]
Harry played an aggressive game, taking rebounds off both boards. With three minutes left in the first quarter Bowdoin was down 11 points, 22-11. Sparked by Carpenter who scored seven points the Polar Cubs closed the gap to four points, 24-20 in the remaining time. Fraser was the only other Bowdoin player to hit double figures, scoring 11 points.

Today's Chesterfield is the Best Cigarette Ever Made!

"Chesterfields for Me!"
Yvonne De Carlo

The cigarette tested and approved by 30 years of scientific tobacco research.

"Chesterfields for Me!"
John Payne

The cigarette with a proven good record with smokers. Here is the record. Bi-monthly examinations of a group of smokers show no adverse effects to nose, throat and sinuses from smoking Chesterfield.

"Chesterfields for Me!"
Robin Chandler

The cigarette that gives you proof of highest quality—low nicotine—the taste you want—the mildness you want.

Smoke America's Most Popular 2-Way Cigarette

CHESTERFIELD BEST FOR YOU

Copyright 1954, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

TWO CAMPUS FAVORITES

GENUINE LEVI'S
By Levi Strauss Co. 3.98

SANFORIZED CHINO PANTS
Khaki, Grey or Green 2.98 to 3.98

Phil's Surplus Store

78 MAINE STREET BRUNSWICK

DAVE'S TAILOR SHOP

Alterations - Repairing - Cleansing - Pressing
Suits Made To Measure

76 Maine Street Phone 1468

Brunswick Coal & Lumber Co.

FUEL - BUILDING SUPPLIES
Brunswick, Maine

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it . . .

Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money.

TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY
ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS

The Record Office

Paul E. Niven Jerry Wilkes
• Printers Of The Orient •

Allen Hetherington's 'The Sign' Awarded Three Different Prizes

Allen Hetherington's play, 'The Sign,' triumphantly captured three of the four prizes awarded last Monday evening at Bowdoin's twentieth annual student-written one-act play contest, held in Memorial Hall.

His Second Straight

Allen Hetherington's play, 'The Sign,' triumphantly captured three of the four prizes awarded last Monday evening at Bowdoin's twentieth annual student-written one-act play contest, held in Memorial Hall.

William H. Freeman '56 Selected As New Tenor For Meddiebumpsters

William H. Freeman '56, an A.D., has been recently chosen to sing a tenor part for the Meddiebumpsters.

Freeman graduated from Deerfield Academy in 1952, where he was active in track and the Glee Club. He makes his home in Greenfield, Mass. Here at Bowdoin he has been active in other activities besides the Glee Club.

4 ROTC Juniors Picked For Summer Instruction In Military Intelligence

Four Bowdoin ROTC students have received orders to report to the Military Intelligence School at Fort Riley, Kansas, for instruction this summer.

(Continued on Page 4)

Professor Kirkland Hits Methods, Legality Of Investigating Groups

Reprinted from the Brown Daily Herald, March 2 (Issue). Dr. Edward C. Kirkland, professor of history at Bowdoin College, speaking before an open meeting of the Brown University Chapter of the American University Professors last night criticized both the method and the legality of the investigating subcommittee whose members he referred to as "jaegers of the unhampered spirit of free inquiry."

Hubert S. Shaw Gives Orren Hornell Award To John T. Libby '56

Mr. Hubert S. Shaw, Director of Admissions, presented the Orren C. Hornell Award to John T. Libby, '56 in chapel on Monday, March 8.

The award, which was established in 1949 in honor of Professor Orren Chalmers Hornell by the Sigma Nu Fraternity, goes to that member of the Sophomore Class who, during his Freshman year, achieved high scholastic honors, besides displaying skill in athletics.

Professor Hornell came to Bowdoin in 1911, and in 1927 became DeAlva Stanwood Alexander Professor of Government. He was long the Sigma Nu Faculty Advisor, and made significant contributions to the Fraternity by his readiness and willingness to help out anyone with difficulties of any kind.

Notice

Anyone interested in photography and who would like to take pictures for the Sports Department of the BOWDOIN ORIENT, see Joe Rogers, Delta Sigma Epsilon, on campus, for reimbursement, pleasant working conditions. Excellent opportunity to become Photography Editor next fall.

Teachers Obtain Raise, Revaluation Scheduled At Local Town Meeting

In their annual town meeting, which was described as "one of record-breaking length, as oratory, acrimony, and stupidity" prolonged the session, Brunswick citizens last Wednesday night voted to pay that their property was and appropriate $967,183 to finance town affairs for the coming year.

Students Obtain Raise, Revaluation Scheduled At Local Town Meeting

The Student Council held its weekly meeting Monday at 1 p.m. in Conference A of the Moulton Union.

Edwin Benjamin Talks In Chapel On Different Kinds Of Maturity

Last Wednesday Assistant Professor of English Edwin B. Benjamin gave a chapel talk on "Maturity: What It Is and Its Various Forms."

"Maturity a Common Word" "One of the commonest words we hear today," said Professor Benjamin, "is 'maturity.' Formerly it had been used largely in the physical sense; now, however, it has taken on moral implications. Many books are being written on maturity every day, thus adding to the long and honorable tradition of self-help literature."

Intellectual Maturity: A Different Form But Professor Benjamin went on from here stating, "important as all these are, I should like to talk about a different kind of maturity, the maturity of judgment that makes one at home in intellectual situations, an ability to discuss almost anything with almost any of the world ideas."

Campus Chest Week End Plans Ready; Glee Club Concert, Basketball, Dance, Quiz Panel To Highlight Festivities

Student Council Discusses Thefts, Date Conflict For Ivy Week End

The Student Council held its weekly meeting Monday at 1 p.m. in Conference A of the Moulton Union. Michael Batal '54, chairman of the Campus Chest Week End, emphasized the fact that books may be stolen at other colleges, both the Council and Dean Kendrick felt that many women's schools throughout New England have final exams during the last two weeks of May.

Paul Brontas Wins Scholarship

Paul Brontas '54 has been appointed one of the 12 Marshall Scholars in the country according to notification received from Mr. J. F. Foster, secretary of the Marshall Aid Commemoration Commission.

ROTC Adds Sergeant First Class DiVenere, Army Ribbon Winner

The ROTC has recently added to its staff, Sergeant First Class Peter Frank DiVenere, of Bristol, Conn.

Edwin Benjamin Talks In Chapel On Different Kinds Of Maturity

Last Wednesday Assistant Professor of English Edwin B. Benjamin gave a chapel talk on "Maturity: What It Is and Its Various Forms."

Intellectual Maturity: A Different Form But Professor Benjamin went on from here stating, "important as all these are, I should like to talk about a different kind of maturity, the maturity of judgment that makes one at home in intellectual situations, an ability to discuss almost anything with almost any of the world ideas."

Record Intake Seen As All Houses Open; Jazz, Movie Planned

Plans for the annual Campus Chest Week End to be held this Friday and Saturday, March 12 and 13, are nearing completion under the direction of the sponsoring Student Council.

Paul Brontas One Of Twelve In U.S. To Get Marshall Scholarship

Paul Brontas '54 has been appointed one of the 12 Marshall Scholars in the country according to notification received from Mr. J. F. Foster, secretary of the Marshall Aid Commemoration Commission.

ROTC Adds Sergeant First Class DiVenere, Army Ribbon Winner

The ROTC has recently added to its staff, Sergeant First Class Peter Frank DiVenere, of Bristol, Conn.

Edwin Benjamin talks in chapel on different kinds of maturity. Benjamin gave a chapel talk on "Maturity: What It Is and Its Various Forms."

Bowdoin's Uniqueness Main Impression Gained By Brown Forum Representatives

The second Intercollegiate Student Forum on student government held at Brown University last week end, March 5 and 6, was attended by representatives from thirteen colleges and universities throughout the East. Schools attending were: Bates, Bowdoin, Brandeis, Brown, Colby, Columbia, Dartmouth, Middlebury, M.I.T., Pennsylvania, Providence College, Tufts and Rhode Island.

The uniqueness of Bowdoin's position regarding student government was the main impression gathered by the representatives.

'Return To Simpler Life' Subject Of First Tallman Lecture Given By Prof. Bridges

That the people of today need to simplify their lives and regain a strong central responsibility beside which all things are subordinate was the theme of "Loyalty Confounded," a Tallman lecture delivered by Dr. Ronald Bridges '30, Visiting Professor of Religion, Wednesday in the Moulton Union.

much, but he understood what he knew. This gave him a "symmetry of mind and soul, and a solidity of character. He had a good ratio between understanding and obligations. He was not confused."

Applicants For State Of Maine Scholarships Take Exam March 22

Prospective Bowdoin freshmen throughout the state will take the 25th annual competitive State of Maine Scholarship Examinations on Monday, March 22, Director of Admissions Hubert S. Shaw, has announced.

Bowdoin's Uniqueness Main Impression Gained By Brown Forum Representatives

The second Intercollegiate Student Forum on student government held at Brown University last week end, March 5 and 6, was attended by representatives from thirteen colleges and universities throughout the East.

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, March 10, 1954 No. 22

Editor-in-Chief
John E. Goodrich '55
Managing Editors
David R. Anderson '55 James Anwyll Jr. '55
Carroll E. Pennell '56 George I. Rockwood '56
Richard M. Catalano '55 C. William Cooke '37
John W. Albert '57 H. Edward Born '57
John M. Belka '54 Franklin G. Davis '54
Gerard L. Dube '55 Charles N. Janson LaPalme '55
Photographer
James P. Gaston '54
Sports Editor
Joseph Y. Rogers '55
Sports Staff
Russell B. Crowell '55 James L. Doherty '55
John E. Simonds '57 Robert H. Glover '56
Delcour S. Potter Jr. '57 Gerald M. Werksman '57
Saul H. Cohen '57
Reporters
John W. Maloney '56
Edward P. Parsons '57
Peter Schulzner Jr. '57
Robert C. Shepherds '57
Business Manager
Bruce N. Cooper '54
Assistant Business Managers
C. Richard Thurston '54
Advertising Managers
Peter M. Pirnie '55
Circulation Manager
Harold R. Beacham Jr. '56
Business Assistants
David H. Dott '57
Paul J. O'Neil '57

BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Professor Athern P. Daggett, Professor James A. Storen, Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert E. Lilley '54, Wallace R. Harper Jr. '55, John B. Goodrich '55
APPROVED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
620 MADISON AVE., NEW YORK, N. Y.
Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semesters by the students of Bowdoin College. Address news communications to the Editor and subscription communications to the Business Manager of the Bowdoin Publishing Company at the ORIENT OFFICE in Moore Hall, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three ($3) dollars.

Our Intellectual Sterility

Bowdoin Spirit Dead. This three word elegy appeared in the ORIENT last semester introducing an editorial that lamented the passing of the old Bowdoin student, exuding with school spirit, "who emerged from the stands exhausted and hoarse." It occurred to us later that the disappearance of such a Philistine type of college man might be a sign of maturity and not a lack of spirit. Perhaps Bowdoin men were beginning to tire of the prosaic and athletic society in which they existed.

Recent campus events have, however, made this conclusion rather idealistic. Enlightened and engulfed by the archaic and barbaric traditions of their respective fraternities the students rejected all plans for any changes in the hazing policy of the college. Student interest has centered around the paving of the college paths and the acquisition of a hockey rink. How much discussion has there been about improving the library facilities? Or how many students are concerned about Bowdoin's comparatively low faculty salary rate? We need more than new paths and buildings to attract and keep a top-flight faculty.

The student body, as such, has more responsibility than occasionally going to classes. There are lasting intellectual benefits which can be gained from college if the individual is willing to work for them. Our generation falls down when it comes to work. Unlike the "lost generation" we are not enough concerned about our generation's place in society to even become disillusioned. We can sit back and criticize but we do very little to create a lasting set of values for our existence. Religion, art, philosophy, literature have become abstract terms which tag certain vanishing cults.

But what are the causes of this intellectual and spiritual sterility?

One of these causes may be that many of our schools and colleges fail to provide us with the most essential of all things—an education. Our age is an age of specialization. Equipped with the education that many of our secondary schools provide (an education that has neglected the arts and languages and substituted courses in merchandising, problems of democracy and driver training) the average secondary school graduates come to college unaware of anything besides their contemporary existence. Once in college they are forced to specialize and to decide upon a major course for their further study before they have gained the intellectual background to make such a decision. Following the trends set by their contemporaries, then, most of these undergraduates become economists or scientists. Our society, no doubt, needs economists and scientists but it needs economists and scientists who can think beyond the narrow confines of their vocation. As it is now, if a physics professor mentions a lingo or an Arrowsmith, more than half the class does not know what he is talking about.

As students, whether we are music or math majors, we must attempt to understand all cultural levels if we are to understand the implications of the society in which we live. This society may require specialization but such specialization should come from mature understanding and not from social necessity.

As adults our generation must put education back into the schools so that specialization in college can be the result of the individuals desire to investigate some particular field of knowledge and not something he must do to get a degree.

J. A. Jr.

With the Campus Chest Week End this year it's "more money with more fun and less pain."

Telephone 8-1911
BILL'S
Our Specialties:
Italian Spaghetti Pizza
Hot Entrées
Steaks and Chops
REGULAR DINNERS
"Bowdoin Men's Favorite Restaurant"
Beer and Ale on Draft and
in Bottles
6½ ELM STREET
BRUNSWICK, MAINE

Bowdoin Rings
Official Bowdoin College Ring 29.88
Synthetic Ruby Stone Federal Tax Included
Official Bowdoin College Ring 26.90
Onyx Stone Federal Tax Included
An Assortment of Sizes On Hand
MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE

Letters To The Editor

Wants House Treasurers To Discuss Problems

To the Editor:
I would like to know if the other house treasurers would have any interest in meeting as a group once a month for the purpose of discussing financial problems and consolidating policies for greater bargaining power. Such an organization as this was formed about three years ago and was quite successful in obtaining a significant cut in the price of oil from local distributors.
The following questions could be discussed:
a. setting out combined contracts for commodity buying for major repairs, i. e. painting, resurfacing driveways, etc.;
b. making reciprocal agreements with local plumbers and electricians to secure better service within reasonable time limits and reducing prices; and
c. buying in quantity in order to secure better discounts; this may be especially advantageous in buying furniture and house furnishings;
d. improved houseparty entertainment by contact with entertainment booking agents and by wholesale purchase of malt beverages.
James Williams '55
Chi Psi Lodge

Questions Behavior of Psi U's at T.D. Party

March 3, 1954
5 McKean Street
Brunswick, Maine
The Orient
Moore Hall
Brunswick, Maine
Attention: Mr. John M. Belka
Gentlemen:
In regard to an article on the front page of the most recent issue of our college newsgar we should like to make the following brief remarks:
1. In the first place, why do Psi U's wear pink polka-dotted pajamas at 3 p.m. on Sunday afternoon? TD's were at least suitably attired for black coffee on the morning after.
2. Is it possible that the gentlemen from the green garage on Maine Street lack enough sex appeal to get 38 (Editor's note: blind) dates from Bradford on their own?
3. How is it possible that dates were playing Ping Pong on the TD sun porch when the Psi U's had previously and very deviously stolen their ping pong paddles?
4. Is it possible that this article was written in a spirit of vengeance by a member of a fraternity that was viciously massacred in a recent snowball fight?
5. We should also like to ask Mr. Belka if he considers his pre-occupation with a certain numerical configuration such as should be a matter of public distribution and interest.
6. Or can it be that this was written with some degree of rancor and frustration by one who was forced to recognize that he and his fraternity brothers were forced to spend last Saturday night alone?
7. As a parting comment we should like to state categorically, in spite of the fact that competition from other sources than home was ineffectual and might as well have been non-existent, that the Psi U's were resoundingly defeated in the Third Annual Bird-dogging Meet. That's just about what you'd expect.

Blasts Administration For Chapel, Religious Forum

To the Editor of the ORIENT
When I read last week's editorial I found myself in agreement with your statement that lack of student interest in college affairs is deplorable, but I cannot agree with your implied statement that the reason for the disinterest lies in the laziness of the student body. The fault, I am sure, lies with the administration.
It is hard to take an active interest in something which seems to ignore what you have to say. In the past I have made what I thought were constructive criticisms of various facets of the Bowdoin set-up. I got for my trouble either administrative inactivity or either administrative inactivity or the stony silence. When this happens there is nothing for it but to give up the ghost and seek your light in ashes. I have heard many good ideas voiced in bull sessions but when you ask me why they were not written a letter or the Student Council he says, "Aw it won't do any good. Mass. Hall won't listen to ya and what can the Student Council do anyway."
In order to dredge up student interest and here the administration will have to delimit some real power to the Student Council. The students are apathetic because they can effect nothing substantial by themselves. As it now stands the Council is a dead letter as far as passing a resolution and making it stick is concerned. The administration possesses the power of veto over any Student Council decision. A good example of this power was displayed in the recent hazing controversy. The administration, in effect said to the students, "Either you abolish hazing, or we will do it for you." Granted that no intelligent person is an advocate of hazing, the students still should have had more to say than they did about a proposal which affected most of them so closely.
To get the "hazing" as you say, I have two proposals, one concerns Chapel, the other the Religious Forum. My objection to Chapel is that it is a religious service. At daily chapel, hymns are sung and prayers are pronounced. Sunday chapel is even more religious. It consists of a minute or so sermon, responsive reading, hymn singing, choir singing and a benediction. To top it all off there is a gold cross hanging in back of the organ keyboard. It seems strange that persons nowadays should be forced to attend religious services. My objections concern only the religious parts. If the administration wants us to meet together 15 times a semester let them call it Assembly and remove all the religious material.
In the past there have been vague mutterings from Mass. Hall to the effect that to abolish Chapel would necessitate changing the by-laws and obtaining the consent of two legislatures. This is so much whitewash. The Dean is empowered to excuse any man from Chapel. If he can excuse one man he can excuse every man in the college. The Dean can regulate the number of necessary attendances. The Dean could, therefore, establish one attendance per student every seven years. If a man should grad-

Plans For Campus Chest Rapidly Being Completed

(Continued from Page 1)
The plans for the campus chest, which will be completed in a few days, are being completed rapidly. The chest will be a platform system to carry them in the contest.
In order to increase interest in the game one player from each of the 12 fraternity teams has been selected. Although this does not necessarily mean that the best 12 interfraternity players have been picked, most of the league's top soomers and playmakers have been included. Members of the roster are: William E. Nleman Jr. '55, Alpha Delta Phi; John A. Scull '54, Psi Upsilon; James W. Millard '56, Chi Psi; James L. Ladd '54, Delta Kappa Epsilon; Peter A. Chapman '56, Theta Delta Chi; Russell B. Crowell '55, Zeta Psi; John F. Cosgrove '54, Kappa Sigma; Walter J. Friedlander '54, Beta Theta Pi; Frank J. Vecella '54, Sigma Nu; Hank Parker McLaughlin '54, Alpha Tau Omega; Richard B. Rodman, Alpha Rho Upsilon; and David W. Donahue '54, Delta Sigma.
The "Zany" Committee composed of Alden E. Ringquist '56, Donald C. Westman '54, and Ralph "The Heavens" '55 will be in charge in the half time ceremonies. The game two years ago was considered probably the most successful event of the week end, and this year's should be as entertaining.
Movie and Jazz
"Harvard" sponsored by the Student Union Committee will be shown at 1:30, Saturday afternoon, in the Smith Auditorium. This will be followed by the Polar Bear Five jazz concert in the Delta Sigma house at 3:30 p.m.
The annual Campus Concert with the combined glee clubs, Bowdoin College and Connecticut College for Women will present the Brahms Requiem at 8:00 p.m. in Memorial Hall. Conductor for the Connecticut College Glee Club is Arthur Quimby, while Professor Frederic E. T. Tilton is the Director of the Bowdoin Glee Club. Soloists are Donald P. Hayward '54, baritone, and Ruth Powers, soprano, of Topsham.
The glee clubs will be accompanied by an orchestra of forty pieces conducted by Tilton. Accompanist for the concert will be Gordon W. Stearns Jr. '54.
Booth Dance
The week end will be climaxed by the Campus Chest booth dance in the Sargent Gym at 9:30. The "Stardusters" will supply the dance music, and booths operated by each of the fraternities will be featured. The drawing of the raffle is scheduled for 11:30 p.m. close to the end of the dance.
The general public is invited to all events with tickets being $5.00 for each individual event except for the Campus Concert which will be $120 for the public. Students and their dates will be admitted to all events on the $2.50 general admissions ticket.
The houses are again competing against each other for two prizes of $70 and $30 which will go to the two houses compiling the best records for contributions to the Campus Chest.
Winners last year were Delta Sigma and Theta Delta Chi.
Following them in order were Zeta Psi, Alpha Delta Phi, Sigma Nu, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Psi Upsilon, Beta Theta Pi, Alpha Tau Omega and Alpha Rho Upsilon. Last year Psi Upsilon, Kappa Sigma and the Independents.

'Return To Simpler Life' Theme Of Dr. Bridges' Tallman Lecture

(Continued from Page 1)
switch to Calson. Goodyear watches him to make sure he will not switch to Sieberling. His life is controlled by others who are constantly working on him. A sense of shame has been carefully cultivated in him. As an example, he cannot feel well dressed unless he is wearing Arrow shirts, even if other brands look just as good.
Many societies also work on him. Charities force him to take a direct stand. If he will not contribute, it is implied that he is opposed to the ends of that organization. His health is good, but the diseases have been organized against him into a Medical Year. Fisher is living in a weird sort of country fair on the midway with the hucksters and barkers after him all the time.
Bill Fisher has about the same amount of time as his ancestors, but now has a vast series of obligations. The influences of God and country have all but disappeared from his life. His relations with his family are confused and tense.
Clear, definite call
There are two recent experiences of his which point the way towards the solution. During the war, all else stood aside, when his country's need had a clear and definite call for him. The other occurred when his wife became ill and almost died. He had a simplicity and center in his life. Every-

Ice Cubes On Toast

Speaking, as we were the week before last, of the girls who wore glasses and supposedly got passed at, I got to thinking about the other side of the story. Isn't there a thing that goes...
Men who wear specs
Go out with wrecks
Well, now, that ain't exactly the gospel either when you examine all the evidence. Look over the crowd at any college dance. You can find a fair percentage of shell rimmed, thick lensed, anemic type little fellers hopping around the floor with fairly passable looking young animals for dates. Of course, most of these gals are more-than-likely Juniors or something from the creep's home town high, but what the heck. It's probably a thrill for both of them.
What about blind dates, though. Nobody that's a rather touchy subject with some people around this campus after the TD week end, but, just the same, it's a subject that's near to the heart of most of us cute folks here at Bowdoin and all the other ivy covered Resort Bureaus of New England.
They've got to sixty percent of all Blind Dates turn out peachy corker for all parties concerned. Merely so, but like most statistics and surveys, you hear a lot about the results, although you never seem to know anybody who got interviewed on the subject. Anyhow, it isn't the ones that turn out all right that you remember. Contrarywise it's the grim ones that seem to stick in the craw of your memory...
Why, why, why does it always seem that most of the half way decent gals you people have idiots or psychopaths or warmed over zombies for room mates? I remember once I was in the process of being "fixed up" with a roomie type blind date, and the dialogue went like this...
Me: Well, what's this gal's name?
Fixer-Upper: Uh, Marilyn Mundane... She's a good kid!
Me: Yeah, well what's she look like?
Fixer-Upper: She's a good kid!
Me: Hmmm... Can she talk?
Fixer-Upper: She's a good kid!
She was a good kid all right, except she looked like something that ought to be living in a tree. I flinched for a month whenever an Owl hooted within twenty miles of me. Her one abiding passion, from what I gather, was breeding mice. I have no idea what for. She probably ate them.
Then there are cousins. There's danger there too. I once got a date

Dartmouth Group To Discuss Human Rights At April Conferences

The Dartmouth Human Rights Society will have a conference on "Human Rights and the College Student" in Hanover, New Hampshire on April 23rd to the 24th. Besides the discussion itself there will be many other activities. All those interested in attending should see Professor James Moulton.
This conference is one of several to be held this spring. For more information the Treasurer of the Bowdoin Christian Association, George Harvey, should be seen at the Chi Psi Lodge.
Regarding the past religious forum that was held at the college Professor Moulton had this to say: "The officers and members of the BCA are very appreciative of the members of the college in the recent religious forum."

Student Patronage Solicited

First National Bank
Brunswick, Maine

Member of the Federal Reserve System and
Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

How the stars got started.....

Vaughn Monroe
Popular Singing Star

I had a lot to learn before I could lead my own band. I studied singing; eventually did the vocals - and found that the colleges kind of liked my recordings. Been performing for 'em ever since!"

for Mildness and Flavor

CAMELS AGREE WITH MORE PEOPLE THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

START SMOKING CAMELS YOURSELF!
Smoke only Camels for 30 days - see for yourself why Camels' cool, genuine mildness and rich, friendly flavor give more people more pure pleasure than any other cigarette!

I STARTED SMOKING CAMELS 22 YEARS AGO. THEY'VE ALWAYS TASTED BEST, ALWAYS SEEMED MILDST. I THINK CAMELS GIVE ANY SMOKER MORE PLEASURE. WHY NOT TRY THEM?

POLAR BEARINGS

By Joseph Y. Rogers '55, ORIENT Sports Editor. One of the highlights of the Campus Week...

The faculty is well represented this year by such scoring threats as Nathaniel "Bovo" Kendrick...

Dean Kendrick, who is reportedly out to better the old scoring record for the gym, had a few words to say in regard to the coming game...

The Athletic Department has offered to supply any equipment to the faculty which they might need...

All-Opposition Team Picked; Three Teams Place Two Each

With the varsity basketball season ending last Tuesday night, Coach Bezer Coombs selected an All-Opposition team...

At the forwards are Billy Pappas of UNH and Johnny Henegan of Tufts. Pappas was instrumental in giving the Wildcats a 92-90 victory...

In the backcourt we have Franny O'Brien of Tufts and Bill Helmreich of Brandeis. O'Brien was the best backcourt operator we saw all season...

- Team Standings: Sigma Nu, Kappa Sig, Theta Delta Chi in Playoffs; Delta Sigma, Alpha Rho Upsilon Tied For Fourth

Interfraternity Meet With Zetes; Totman Stars

Zeta Psi with 54 points was the outstanding fraternity and Mel Totman with 27 1/2 points the outstanding performer...

The Zetes scored in all but two of the fourteen events, dominating the weights and also winning the relay. Bill McWilliams captured first in the 35-pound weight throw...

The versatile Totman enabled Psi Upsilon to garner second place with 34 1/2 points. Mel captured first in the high and low hurdles...

Trecartin Wins Recognition. Midway in the meet track coach Jack Magee presented Ed Trecartin with the Dr. Frank N. Hutchinson Memorial Trophy...

T.D. gained third place in team competition with 29 1/2 points. Hugh Huleatt, top-scorer for T.D., was third in individual scoring honors...

Bowdoin Suffers Losing Streak; Ends Season 9-9

Bowdoin's basketball season started off the season with several impressive victories, and ending for the mid-semester exam period...

Bowdoin reopened play after a two week layoff and were overcome by Williams late in the second half 67-64 before a large homeparty crowd...

The Polar Bears then slapped the Coast Guard Academy with a 94-89 loss. The game was not as close as the final minutes indicated...

The Polar Bears were on the top of the heap as they went into the final round of State Series competition...

Massachusetts champion and was expected to win easily. Exeter won by a large margin in the Prep School division...

Swimmers Beaten By U MASS; Arwezon Wins Two Events

The University of Massachusetts swimming team scored a decisive victory over the Polar Bear swimmers at the college pool last Saturday afternoon...

ARU, Delta Sigma Hold Lead In Volleyball; Final Week Of Play. ARU remains undefeated in the Interfraternity Volleyball League...

ARU Regains Top Berth In Bowling; Psi U, Beta, Kappa Sigma Follow

With two record-breaking performances, ARU beat AD and regained the lead in interfraternity bowling. The ARU's scored 1270 points in a single string...

Table with columns: Team, Won, Lost. Lists results for ARU, Psi U, Beta, Kappa Sigma, Delta Sigma, AD, Deke, Zeta, Sigma Nu, TD, Chi Psi.

Advertisement for Hood's Place, a printing and stationery business, located at 150 Maine Street, Brunswick, Maine.

Notice

The Second Tallman Lecture will be delivered this evening at 8:15 in the Moulton Union by Professor Ronald Bridges...

Table with columns: Team, G, P, F. Lists statistics for various teams including Psi U, Beta, Kappa Sigma, Delta Sigma, AD, Deke, Zeta, Sigma Nu, TD, Chi Psi.

Advertisement for Bowl-Mor Alloys, featuring automatic pin setters, hot dogs, Italian sandwiches, cold drinks, coffee, and ice cream.

Notice

Stay here this week end. Frankly, this is going to be the greatest Campus Chest.

Advertisement for Matchless Service, offering complete front end and frame alignment for motorcycles.

Outfitters to Bowdoin Men

Speaking of Sport Coats... There's no time like the present to see our brand new spring selection...

Advertisement for Mansfield White Bucks shoes, highlighting their quality and price range from $26.95 to $52.50.

Advertisement for Benoit's, featuring a variety of clothing and accessories, located at 120 Maine Street, Brunswick.

Behind The Ivy Curtain

By David R. Anderson '55

Hop Cats and Kiddies
One of the high school athletes who stayed at the house this week end appeared in an orange coat, black pants and a pair of black suede shoes. This costume, so unusual in local circles, provoked us to make a few inquiries. This cool cat willingly answered our many questions about the clothes, jargon, and habits common to his class.

The well dressed cat at a quiet function would probably have on a pair of black leather shoes set off by a small suede vest. His trousers and white socks, incidentally, are "Joe Campus" trademarks and get a "square" rating. If you're pulling down the losing end of a six-inch knife.

When we finally got ready to leave the cool one he wanted to know if we were going to "die" so early. "Yeah," I replied, "I got hit the lilly whites."
Back To College
At the University of Maine three houses charged with violating the school's regulations concerning the wearing of "square" shoes have been placed on social probation for the rest of the spring semester. The violations did not occur at a regularly scheduled party. A fourth house began a term of social probation which ended after Maine's homecoming week end. The group had committed violations with mixed groups at a regular social function.

Open Season
Rushing is underway at Amherst and, in spite of last year's trouble with the 100 per cent bidding program, 99 per cent of the freshmen rolled into the Amherst Student favored total rushing. Under this year's rushing rules fraternities and members may not pay for freshman entertainment and beer except during formal smokers. There are not permitted to enter the houses, although upperclassmen may visit the freshmen in the dorms. Rushing, which is scheduled to begin on February 11, actually has been going on for some time, according to the Amherst newspaper. "Ride offers, fix-ups, movie nights, parties, visits, drinks and dinner groups," have been the means of pre-season rushing, the paper claimed.

Watch the "Zany" Committee during the Campus Chest Week End. They're going places.
Rindge Tech, Phillips Exeter Finish First In Interscholastics
(Continued from Page 3)
with Reavis, accounted for all of Somerville's points.
Deering High ran the fastest time for Maine teams in the relays to win the highly coveted Portland Evening News trophy. Running in the foursome were Coach Buck Harvell were Phil Haskell, Tommy Baggs, Johnny Baggs and Jim Penza.

Dick Destefano of Barrington won the shot put throw in the high school division with a heave of 49 feet, 5 1/2 inches. Ed Boynton of Governor Dummer won the prep school competition with a toss of 50 feet, 1 1/4 inches.
Larry Fawcett of Huntington was a double winner in the prep school division. Fawcett won the 1000 yard run and also the mile. His time in the mile was 4:48.2. His team-mate Don McCarron was responsible for Huntington's other first with a win in the 600 yard run. McCarron turned in a time of 2:18.8.
Bill Colby of Medford captured the mile run in the high school division with a time of 4 and 1/3 minutes. Baker of Dedham won the 1,000 yard run edging Smith of Rindge.

The team of Mellini, Romas, Desch and Benson won the relay for Exeter with a 2:13.3 time. Huntington did not finish the relay against Exeter. Governor Dummer had the second best time for the prep school meet with a time of 2:15.2. Tabor was behind Dummer, a half of a second slower.

Help your house take the top prize of $70. It's worth it.
'Harvey' To Be Shown
"Harvey," a Pulitzer Prize play made into an entertaining movie, is the title of the film to be shown in Sills Auditorium on Saturday afternoon, March 13.

The story concerns Elwood P. Dowd and his friend, Harvey, a six foot rabbit, who is nearly committed to an asylum by Elwood's bossier family. But Elwood and Harvey turn the tables, with vengeance, while bringing friendship into the lives of all around them at the same time.
The movie is a James Stewart, Peggy Dow, and Josephine Hull.

Professor Russell feels that during our college years we will have that opportunity to learn to know ourselves better. Many avenues will be opened to us for investigation and we learn to accept ourselves as we are, then we will be ready to be judged more frankly by others.

Professor Russell feels that during our college years we will have that opportunity to learn to know ourselves better. Many avenues will be opened to us for investigation and we learn to accept ourselves as we are, then we will be ready to be judged more frankly by others.

Brunswick Coal & Lumber Co.

FUEL - BUILDING SUPPLIES
Brunswick, Maine

Allen Hetherington's 'The Sign' Awarded Three Different Prizes

(Continued from Page 1)

Other characters are mainly elicited to expose the two sides of the father's struggle, the father comes to us, with a power derived from the technique of the play is an interesting one, for the father is fully developed before he appears on the stage through the idea of the conflict of the mother and son. As in classical drama, the soul of the protagonist is seen only in the crisis. The exposition is developed at great length; the father appears and resolves the problem by exemplifying the conflict in a primary rejection of the hold of a grasping faith and then through a really tragic and tremendous counter in Mr. Hetherington's exposition of a basic conflict.

This is a fine morality play, done with a great deal of clarity of characterization of protagonist and the forces of good and evil struggling for his soul. Factors which would not have influenced the decision of the judges were the clearness of intent and extreme clearness of result.
The acting in this play was consistently high. Ann Merrill, as the religiously obsessed mother, skillfully conveyed the strongly emotional nature which finally causes the tragic results. Gesture, line, and emotion were integrated into a highly distinct and strong personality. Albert Farrington, as the father whose being is torn in the religiously obsessed mother, skillfully conveyed the strongly emotional nature which finally causes the tragic results. Gesture, line, and emotion were integrated into a highly distinct and strong personality. Albert Farrington, as the father whose being is torn in the religiously obsessed mother, skillfully conveyed the strongly emotional nature which finally causes the tragic results. Gesture, line, and emotion were integrated into a highly distinct and strong personality.

Bill Beeson's two plays, The Man Who Was Out To Lunch, and Dark Ladies tied the evening delightfully. Following the highly emotional winner, the sophisticated sparkle of Beeson's duo made a great hit. The first play combined wit and feeling to produce a tender domestic piece of pathos. Concerned with the failure of a successful literary man to respond to a love offered him, the sophisticated man 'out to lunch' performed the smoothest performance. Nancy McKeen as the disappointed wife whose love is refused and who turns for affection to a young author portrayed sympathetically a typical role. William Beckwith rounded out the eternal triangle with a somewhat indistinct enunciation although with appropriate warmth and sincerity.
Dark Ladies, the better of Beeson's two plays in my opinion, was an ultra-fanciful study of the woman in a young author's past. The play devotes itself for the most part to the meeting of Jared Turner's literary discovery, Sylvia Traherne, a possessive woman, collector of promising young artists, who, as a young man, who is friend of the young author, who interests herself in the young man and becomes his spiritual and artistic adviser. Connie Aldrich as the catty and grasping Sylvia Traherne brought to the part self-analysis, and grasping egotism effectively, contrasting with Deana Sweet's portrayal of a more human, more charitable and more sympathetic person.

The debating club will send two teams to a Brooklyn tournament on March 12 and March 13. It will also enter two teams in the New England Forensic Tournament held at King's Point, Long Island, April 29-May 1.

The Student Recital group, featuring the same lineup as that which performed at the Union in January, traveled to Hebron on Sunday, March 7, where they put on a concert under the leadership of Robert Beckwith. In the spotlight were Dan Hayward, baritone soloist, and Dave Starkweather, clarinet soloist. Also included were a recorder duet and a six-man brass ensemble.

The annual Spring Tour will open this year on March 25 in Concord, Mass., where the club will give a solo concert. On the following night the singing group will be in Rye, N.Y., for another solo performance. One day later they will be in New York City as guests of Hunter College for a combined Reunion concert. On March 29 the Club will be in Hyattsville, Md., where they will present a solo concert. Back in New York State the following day the group will sing for the ladies of Centenary College. The tour will end in East Orange, N.J., at the Suburban Hotel where the club will again sing alone. Back in Brunswick on April Fool's Day they will sing in Memorial Hall in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the discovery of the North Pole. At the time Commander MacMillan will receive the Bowdoin Prize.

The Meddies, besides appearing at most of the Glee Club concerts, will appear on television twice. On March 15 they will appear on NBC-TV in New York. This program will be carried by 78 TV stations throughout the country. On April 7 they will appear on WCHS-TV in Portland.
Return Engagement
On March 10 the Glee Club will sing again with Hunter College, this time in Massachusetts, before the people at Brandeis College. The Club will sing Brahms Requiem for the last time of the current season with Colby Junior College on May 1 as visitors of this girls' school.
To commence the Ivy House-party festivities the local singers will appear with the Boston Pops on Bowdoin Night, May 20. The club's soloists for the current season are: Fredrick Wilkins '56, James Wilson '54, Albert S. Farrington '54, Dennis King '55 and Philip Stewart '57.

An exhibit of prominent Himalayan mountains composed of photographs, charts, maps and articles is now on display in the front hall of the Parker Cleveland Chemistry Building.
Dr. William C. Root, Professor of Chemistry, and Leroy D. Cross, Faculty Secretary, collected and set up the display from materials on permanent file at the library and from their own collections.
Prominent in the display is a large map of northern India, Pakistan, Burma, Nepal, northeastern Afghanistan, Bhutan and Tibet. Mountains labeled on this map are Everest, 29,141 feet; K2, 28,250; Annapurna, 26,658; and Gasherum II, 26,362. Annapurna and Everest have been conquered in 1950 and 1953 respectively.
World's Highest Mountain
Two of the most striking pictures, showing sunrise on Everest from the Kharta Glacier, and sunset from Rongbuk Valley, are in color. Other pictures of Everest show the north face and northeast spur, and an aerial view of the summit.
K2 is shown from the Godwin-Austen glacier in two panoramic pictures. Another picture is of Mustang Tower, a monolith with no spurs or ridges. Nearby Kangchenjunga, third highest mountain in the world, is shown in several 12 by 18 black and white photographs.

Watch "Halftrack" Ochoa, and other great hoop stars mix up in the Campus Chest basketball tilt Friday evening.

Bowdoin's Uniqueness Impresses Delegates

(Continued from Page 1)

In the miscellaneous discussion group the question of the importance of athletics in the college program was spoken of at some length. The problem of alumni pressure to admit good athletes was considered to be one of the main aspects of the general athletic situation.
Counseling was also discussed in the miscellaneous section. Many schools have student counseling organizations as well as similar faculty groups.
Conclusion
In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

Brewer, King Capture Recent Bridge Tourney
Bowdoin's first bridge tournament of the year was staged by the Student Union Committee on March 1. The winning team was comprised of Dennis King and John Brewer who each received as first prize purchases at the Union Store equivalent to the sum of $3.00.
The runner-up team was made up of Ted Lazo and Bill Gardner each of whom were awarded $2.00 in purchases at the Union Store.
The debating club will send two teams to a Brooklyn tournament on March 12 and March 13. It will also enter two teams in the New England Forensic Tournament held at King's Point, Long Island, April 29-May 1.

The debating club will send two teams to a Brooklyn tournament on March 12 and March 13. It will also enter two teams in the New England Forensic Tournament held at King's Point, Long Island, April 29-May 1.

The debating club will send two teams to a Brooklyn tournament on March 12 and March 13. It will also enter two teams in the New England Forensic Tournament held at King's Point, Long Island, April 29-May 1.

The debating club will send two teams to a Brooklyn tournament on March 12 and March 13. It will also enter two teams in the New England Forensic Tournament held at King's Point, Long Island, April 29-May 1.

The debating club will send two teams to a Brooklyn tournament on March 12 and March 13. It will also enter two teams in the New England Forensic Tournament held at King's Point, Long Island, April 29-May 1.

The debating club will send two teams to a Brooklyn tournament on March 12 and March 13. It will also enter two teams in the New England Forensic Tournament held at King's Point, Long Island, April 29-May 1.

The debating club will send two teams to a Brooklyn tournament on March 12 and March 13. It will also enter two teams in the New England Forensic Tournament held at King's Point, Long Island, April 29-May 1.

The debating club will send two teams to a Brooklyn tournament on March 12 and March 13. It will also enter two teams in the New England Forensic Tournament held at King's Point, Long Island, April 29-May 1.

The debating club will send two teams to a Brooklyn tournament on March 12 and March 13. It will also enter two teams in the New England Forensic Tournament held at King's Point, Long Island, April 29-May 1.

The debating club will send two teams to a Brooklyn tournament on March 12 and March 13. It will also enter two teams in the New England Forensic Tournament held at King's Point, Long Island, April 29-May 1.

Four ROTC Students To Join Intelligence

(Continued from Page 1)

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

Glee Club Begins Baby Tour Soon; Spring Trip To Follow

(Continued from Page 1)

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

In conclusion it must be said that because of the uniqueness of the Bowdoin situation the delegates do not feel that too much was gained from attending the Brown Forum. The delegates would like to see a smaller conference, including colleges whose enrollments are comparable to Bowdoin's, and one that includes colleges in place of a larger conference representing so many divergent problems of colleges varying in size.

MEET YOURSELF - 10 YEARS FROM NOW

Ever wonder what you'll be like when the class of '54 holds its 10th reunion? If you started to work for one of the Bell System companies after graduation, here's a pretty good idea.

INTERESTING, RESPONSIBLE WORK: Perhaps a Commercial Manager, the company's representative and spokesman to as many as fifty thousand customers. Or a Transmission Engineer, helping to provide the telephone needs of an entire state. Or a Supervisor in the Traffic Department, responsible for the speed and quality of local and long distance service in several cities and for the personnel relations of a large number of employees.

WE MAKE SURE THERE ARE PLACES TO GO: The number of college men hired is related to the number of administrative and technical positions expected to be available in the next 10 or 15 years. It is our policy to fill these positions from within our organization.

ARTS, SCIENCE, BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION AND ENGINEERING GRADUATES are among our particular needs. The specific degree is not as important as the total effect of your college training.

NO MATTER WHAT YOUR MILITARY STATUS, contact your Placement Officer soon for details on the opportunities for employment with the Bell System.

Complete and Friendly Banking Services
Student Accounts Welcomed

Brunswick Branch
FIRST-AUBURN TRUST COMPANY
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

CUMBERLAND THEATRE
Brunswick, Maine

Wednesday-Thursday
March 10-11
THE WILD ONE

with Marlon Brando, Mary Murphy, also
News Short Subject

Friday-Saturday
March 12-13
HIS MAJESTY O'KEEFE

with Burt Lancaster, Joan Rice, also
News Cartoon

Sunday-Monday-Tuesday
Wednesday-Thursday
March 14-15-16-17-18

5 DAYS 5
THE GLENN MILLER STORY

with James Stewart, June Allyson, also News

Friday-Saturday
March 19-20
YANKEE PASHA

with Jeff Chandler, Rhonda Fleming

TALLMAN LECTURE EXAMINES PREJUDICE, PARTISANSHIP

By Richard B. Lyman Jr., '57

"Do unto others as ye would that they should do unto you." This is the motto of the Tallman Foundation Lecture given last Wednesday evening by Ronald Bridges '30, Visiting Professor of Religion.

"Prisoner's Coffin" is the title of the third lecture, to be delivered at 8:15 tonight, March 17, in the Moulton Union lounge.

Prejudice is much more intricate and important than it originally seems. Describing it as "piecemeal murder", Dr. Bridges called it the closest to murder of all sins. There is no innocent combatant in the "dying" continues indefinitely.

An idea which has come into the world recently is that we must be brothers to the whole world. We are contemporary with everyone's crises, and so their problems immediately become our problems. Our brotherhood must start at home, for if we cannot love our own brothers, we cannot love all the world. If we profess to do that, we are just practicing a form of escapism.

Sports Biases

The irrelevancies and inconsistencies of loyalties can be seen in sports, where they are not so dangerous. We identify ourselves with teams, and we think the men on those teams can do no wrong. Sometimes, people who are in sports different biases that they don't really know how to be prejudiced. To illustrate this point, Dr. Bridges told a story about a Roman Catholic priest at a football game between Southern Methodist University and Notre Dame. He didn't seem to be very interested in the proceedings, so after about three quarters, an excited spectator next to him asked, "Father, aren't you interested in football? This is a very good game." The priest answered, "Sub, ahm from original." This rather humorous bias in sports carries over to more serious judgments in life.

According to the speaker, the most widespread and deep-seated prejudice is between man and woman. In professions and in society, and even in church and state, there is a great limiting of women's privileges. Often a woman as well qualified for a position as her male competitor will be passed over because she is a woman. No joke is so amusing to another man as one involving a woman. For instance, an automobile accident involving men is serious, but if a woman is involved, the situation becomes funny.

Ridicule of Otherness

Present-day man has a curious pattern of latencies or "otherness" of religion, of physical characteristics and the like. A person who is excluded from a predilection in a light manner because, as an example, he is fat, might just as well be heavily prejudiced against, because often prejudice is not as cut and dried as it seems to be. Intolerance of other people and their actions springs from as normal an influence as those which drive all other sins, but society has created laws to curb all these otherness. Murder of course is illegal, but this partial murder is often not even frowned upon.

Dr. Bridges uses this device to remind himself to judge others objectively. He says all of us have certain areas in which our judgment is nearly pure and that we should project problems into that area of purest motives. He feels he is nearly unbiased with his children, so he judges others in terms of his children. He asks himself, "How would I want my children to be treated?" His golden rule is

Commander MacMillan Will Receive Bowdoin Prize Early In April

The Bowdoin Prize, one of the College's important awards, will be presented to Commander Donald Baxter MacMillan of the Class of 1898 at a special convocation in Memorial Hall on Tuesday, April 6, President James S. Coles announced recently.

Following the presentation, Commander MacMillan will lecture on his Arctic explorations. At the conclusion of the program in Memorial Hall, members of the Eta Charge of Theta Delta Chi, Commander MacMillan's fraternity, will entertain at a reception in honor of Commander and Mrs. MacMillan.

The Bowdoin Prize was established as a memorial to William J. Curtis, LL.D., of the Class of 1875 by the Omega Chapter of the Eta Charge of Theta Delta Chi. It is awarded not often but once in five years to a graduate or former member of the College or a member of its Faculty "who shall have made during the period the most distinctive contribution in any field of human endeavor." The committee, consisting of the Presidents of Harvard and Yale Universities and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of Maine, selected Commander MacMillan for the 1953 award in recognition of his achievements in Arctic exploration.

Commander MacMillan is the fifth graduate of the College to receive this prize, previous recipients having been the late Dr. Fred H. Albee of the Class of 1899, an outstanding orthopedic surgeon; the late Dr. Harvey Dow Gibson of the Class of 1902, a New York banker and for many years a Trustee of the College; Paul Howard Douglas of the Class of 1913, United States Senator from Illinois; and Kenneth C. Mills of the Class of 1901, President-Emeritus.

Faith In God Stressed In Sunday Chapel Talk

The chapel speaker on March 15 was John C. Schroeder, D.D., who is serving in the faculty at Bowdoin College, Yale University.

He commenced his speech by reading the passage from Ecclesiastes which starts "To everything there is a season—A time to be born, and a time to die." Mr. Schroeder believes "that the preacher who writes that passage must have been a gentle cynic who had no sense of life's scabrous letters and arranged them as rationally as he could. He considered the device utilized in the passage useful for resolving tensions between "work and play." Mr. Schroeder feels that there is no sense in either; the passage might lead to the development of a social schizophrenia. Mankind has always tried to find time to do one thing and time to do another.

These schemes or formulas have been sought all through history and though good, are not good enough. They seem to be unnatural. He cites as an example, the boy and his best girl. The boy decides that she is really not too odd looking and that he himself really isn't such a bad sort of person. Finally the boy concludes that since she is as good as he can get, and since he is as good as she can get, maybe

(Please Turn To Page 4)

Bates Team To Beat In State Debate Event; 'Free Trade' Is Topic

The annual State Varsity Debate Event will take place this Saturday in the Smith Auditorium when student debaters from Colby, Bates, Maine, and Bowdoin will discuss the question of Free Trade.

The event, which consists of three rounds, will begin at 11:00 a.m. with four individual debates. At 1:30 p.m. the winners of the first round will meet, and at 3 p.m. the finalists will vie for top honors. College affiliation will not be disclosed and the debaters will be represented by letters.

Bowdoin will be represented by Paul P. Bates and William C. Hays '55 on the affirmative. Taking the negative stand will be Roger E. Gordon '54 and Warren H. Greene '56. Although Bowdoin was victorious in last year's event, Bates is considered to be "the team to beat."

The judges in Saturday's debate are Attorney Robert Donovan of Portland, Waldo Gray of the Portland Press Herald, Attorney Herbert R. Sawyer, John Jaques of Portland Jr. College, and Bowdoin Professors Athos P. Baggett and Cecil T. Holmes. Many of the judges are former debaters.

Jadaloan Notice

Members of the Clear-eyed & Steady-Handed Jadaloan Hunters of America and their Families are invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Winton Navelby Thursday next to view

EASTER EGGS
Nothing will be served.
Informal.

Connecticut College Choir Joins Bowdoin Glee Club In Concert

By Gerard L. Dube '55

The Campus Chest Week end's cultural event was held in Memorial Hall on Saturday evening. The massed voices of the Bowdoin College glee club and the Connecticut College Choir, Donald Hayward and Ruth Powers, soloists Professor Frederic Thillson, conductor and an orchestra of forty pieces, presented Brahms' German Requiem to an unusually large and appreciative audience.

In general, the performance was good in many spots, inspiring to the audience. The soloists, the choruses and orchestra brought a good deal of solid interpretation and performance. The soloists were consistently skillful. To admit that there were salient flaws in the performance is not to deny the cumulative excellence of the presentation. Tilly has shown courage in his willingness to choose any work by Brahms! The complexity of musical structure present in Brahms demands much more effort than a work such as Handel's Messiah. Listening to the difficult orchestral accompaniment and the lush Romantic complexity and interweaving of the vocal parts offer, one must give an extra "Bravo to the performers."

Although the choruses were at a disadvantage in being pushed to the rear of the stage and in having to sing through the curtain supporting the stage lights, they sang solidly and convincingly evoking, some—the solemnity and power of Brahms' moving music. Only in the last chorus did chaos rule when a lack of integration among the respective parts and the orchestra unfortunately spoiled what was otherwise a stirring work.

The orchestra, unusually large, produced some beautiful solo work in the introductory preludes which set the moods for the choral entrances. In their accompaniment, the tendency was towards a domination of the choruses, but this may have been due to the bad acoustical conditions.

Donald Hayward, baritone, was soloist in two sections, and was particularly adroit in his interpretation of his second solo. Ruth Powers, a newcomer to musical circles at Bowdoin, displayed a fine voice, good tone, and sympathetic interpretation.

Faculty Wives Prepare Play Sets

The dormitories will be closed from 8:00 p.m. Friday, March 26 to 8:00 a.m. Monday, April 5, 1954. If it is necessary to remain on campus during the Easter vacation, see William K. Hall, Assistant Bursar, on or before Tuesday, March 23.

Record Sum Of $2900 Goes To Charity From Campus Chest Week End Receipts

A luckless student is shown above attempting to knock down photographic reproductions of faculty visages at the faculty booth in the athletic structure. Observing this action is Coach Adam Walsh and Dean Nathaniel Kendrick.

A. L. Greason Receives Ph.D. From Harvard

Harvard University has recently conferred the degree of Doctor of Philosophy on Arthur LeRoy Greason, Instructor in English.

The Ph.D. culminates almost nine years of post-graduate study. Dr. Greason received his B.A. Degree at Wesleyan College with the class of 1945. Following graduation Dr. Greason worked a year at Wesleyan as an assistant to the Dean. After a year's study at Harvard, he was awarded his Masters Degree in 1947. For the next four years Dr. Greason again returned to Harvard as a teaching fellow. While there he also worked on his Doctorate. Dr. Greason's Doctoral Thesis, on the political journals of Henry Fielding, was completed this past summer and presented early in the fall. An article from his thesis will be published this summer.

To qualify for his Ph.D. Dr. Greason made extensive studies in many of the world's modern and ancient languages. Besides his Doctoral Thesis, the length of which exceeds that of many books, Dr. Greason successfully completed his four hour oral examination in the various aspects of language given by a six man examining board.

S. C. Meeting Short; Week End Clears $2900

The agenda for the Student Council meeting Monday was quite short. Michael Batal '54, chairman of the Campus Chest week end, reported to the Council on the proceeds of the week end.

Totals receipts amounted to $2901.80 and will be dispersed to the various charities immediately after spring vacation. (A complete breakdown of receipts by individual house is contained elsewhere in this week's ORIENT.)

100% Necessary

It was decided that in future years in order to be considered for first or second place prize a house must have 100% sale of general admission tickets. The prizes will be given on the basis of the total amount from the sale of raffle tickets plus booth money.

President Charles Orcutt '54 spoke to Dean Kendrick and Mal Morrell about the problems which arise from the annual interscholastic track meet. Mr. Morrell wishes to make clear the fact that the athletic department will fully compensate the houses for damage done and goods stolen by these high and prep school boys. Beginning next year the Student Council will send strongly worded letters to the various schools participating in the interscholastics advising them of the feeling of the students here and what steps can be taken to improve campus opinion towards this yearly event.

Seven Houses Announce Choice Of Songs For Interfraternity Sing

The Interfraternity Sing, by vote of the student body, has been moved back from April 19 to April 26.

The contest was begun in 1935 by Professor Albert Bates, who established the Wasp Cup in honor of his predecessor, Professor Wass. To acquire the cup, a fraternity must win the contest three times, not particularly in succession. Having received the cup, the fraternity must supply one. President Sills instituted the President's Cup which is awarded to the house that shows the greatest improvement.

Last year as well as many times in the past, Alpha Delta Phi won the Wasp Cup, whereas Beta Theta Pi was awarded the President's Cup. Judgement is primarily based on Enthusiasm, Diction and the General Effect.

The following selections have been officially posted: Psi Upsilon; Shadreck, Meshack, and Abednego; Sunset on the Bowdoin Pines; The Delta Chi; Meadowslands, Stars Abaze, Alpha Tau Omega; I Wish I Were Single Again, Old Alpha, Delta Sigma; Hanover Winter Song, Fraternity Song, Sigma Nu; Halls of Ivy, Delta Kappa Epsilon; "The Bowdoin" by the Bowdoin Song, Zeta Psi; Listen to the Lambs.

Bates Choir To Sing

The Bates forty voice choir will sing during the Sunday evening for the performance next Monday night are Mesdames Martha Coles, Elizabeth Darblent, Louise Helmreich, Margaret Norton, Claire Quinby, Lial Riley and Ely Solmitz. The girls handling the properties are Mesdames Jane Benjamin, Marguerite Little, Barbara Stern, Constance Thayer and Madeleine Tierney.

In charge of costumes are Mesdames Erika Beckwith, Françoise Livingston and Virginia Whiteside.

TD Outbys DS; Zeta In Battle For Highest Contribution Prize

A record smashing total of $2,901.80 in gross receipts, a sum $500 greater than last year, was received for charity as a result of the successful Campus Chest Week End.

The final total was swelled by the top contribution records of Theta Delta Chi and Delta Sigma.

Although Zeta Psi took in $315.35 in receipts, the T.D.'s with their smaller membership took the first prize of $70 with a record of $301.10. The second prize of $30 went to Delta Sigma with a total of $292.05. All three houses compiled a perfect 100% record for general admission tickets with the T.D.'s gaining the edge in raffle and booth receipts. The announcement of the awards was made by Student Council President Charles E. Orcutt '54 and Campus Chest Week End Chairman Michael J. Batal, Jr. '54.

Bursar Offers Sage Advice To Fraternities

In his talk given in King Chapel last Thursday, Mr. Glenn R. McIntire, Bursar of the College, offered some advice which could be followed by the officers of the various fraternities and clubs on the campus.

Mr. McIntire started his talk by telling the story of two men who, fifty-five years ago, bought a small camp in the country. They furnished it with a few essentials and used it for hunting and fishing trips as well as family outings and picnics.

Nearly five generations of the families of the two men who first bought the shack have since used it. Numerous relatives, in-laws, and friends, have also taken advantage of its facilities. A dozen or more Bowdoin alumni have used the camp on one or more occasions.

Two Rules

The original owners of the shack established two rules to be followed by all who used the shack. They were (1) always leave enough firewood for two fires when leaving, and (2) leave a box of matches in a can placed on a shelf for that purpose.

The majority of the users have followed the rule assiduously. But last fall when two members of the younger generation of the owners of the shack returned, they found neither matches nor wood.

The officers and members of every fraternity and student organization can profit by following the essence of the rules which were used to keep the camp in good running order. Instead of firewood the out-going officers of each campus organization could leave enough money in their fraternity or club treasury to get things underway next fall. In place of the matches this year's officers could give next year's officers advice on how to start next year's program off on the right foot.

By doing this the graduating officers will have the satisfaction of knowing that they have contributed substantially to what will be an unusually successful financial year next fall from the point of view of the fraternities as well as the college.

Only through higher productivity can we increase our own standard of living.

Seven Houses Announce Choice Of Songs For Interfraternity Sing

The interfraternity singing contest is planned for April 19, 20 and 22.

The contest was begun in 1935 by Professor Albert Bates, who established the Wasp Cup in honor of his predecessor, Professor Wass. To acquire the cup, a fraternity must win the contest three times, not particularly in succession. Having received the cup, the fraternity must supply one. President Sills instituted the President's Cup which is awarded to the house that shows the greatest improvement.

Newest 'Alumnus' Features Reports Of Three Recent College Deaths

By John R. Mackay '56

particular interest is an excerpt from the Portland "Daily Press" of July 6, 1864, in which an account of a baseball match between the Harvard and the Bowdoin is given. We regret to report that the Bowdoin lost the game, 40 to 13.

This most recent issue of the "Bowdoin Alumnus" is rounded out by such articles as "On the Campus," "Books," "Alumni Clubs," "Neurology," and "News of the Classes."

First Issue Of Alumnus

The first "Bowdoin Alumnus" was published in June of 1927. Austin H. MacCormick '15 was then editor. The magazine was much the same as it is today. As MacCormick wrote in the May 1952 issue, it was "a nice little publication; pretty picture on the cover, good news inside, syntax and prosody strictly kosher, advertisements showing that the young Bowdoin gentlemen who was in the mode rented his tuxedo from Leclair and Gervais, bought his books at Chandler's and his claims at New Meadows, and could while away his idle hours with Dr. Louis Hatch's new history of Bowdoin."

Coles Reports 242 Students Benefit From College Financial Assistance

Nearly one-third of the students at college this year are receiving financial aid from the College, according to President James S. Coles who described the College's program of financial assistance in Chapel last Wednesday.

The total amount of such aid in scholarships, loans, and part-time employment exceeds $210,000.

"During the current year," he said, "scholarship awards have been designed for 242 different undergraduates. This number is 31.6 per cent of the maximum registration of 768 students which occurred at the opening of the college year. Almost one out of three students here at Bowdoin received an award of financial assistance in terms of scholarships or tuition remissions, such as those made to Bowdoin Plan students.

"The total amount of aid made available for scholarships or tuition remissions to undergraduates has been designated at $122,817. The average size of the award granted was $466. In terms of all of the students in College this amounts to about $147 per student. These are outright grants, with no obligation assumed by the recipient except to do his best.

68 Students

"In the freshman class 68 students were granted some form of scholarship assistance during the year, almost a third of the class." Dr. Coles stated that scholarship

Faculty Wives Design Scenery For Play On Monday, March 22

By Franklin G. Davis '54

With a loving care that only faculty wives can bestow, the scenery for the faculty play has been painted onto canvas in a manner so nonchalant, yet so expert, as to amaze old Rudolf Bing himself.

Treating each paintbrush as tenderly as the youngest child's bottle, the unsung heroes of the college, the women behind the men behind the college, quietly splattered paint onto canvas in a manner so nonchalant, yet so expert, as to amaze old Rudolf Bing himself.

Wondrous Women

Here are the names of some of the wondrous women who, although they may not enjoy the audience's applause from the stage, will be able to look up there and know that they played a big part in the production.

The Production Manager is Mrs. Claire Taylor. The Scene Painter for the performance next Monday night are Mesdames Martha Coles, Elizabeth Darblent, Louise Helmreich, Margaret Norton, Claire Quinby, Lial Riley and Ely Solmitz. The girls handling the properties are Mesdames Jane Benjamin, Marguerite Little, Barbara Stern, Constance Thayer and Madeleine Tierney.

In charge of costumes are Mesdames Erika Beckwith, Françoise Livingston and Virginia Whiteside.

Faculty Wives Prepare Play Sets

The dormitories will be closed from 8:00 p.m. Friday, March 26 to 8:00 a.m. Monday, April 5, 1954. If it is necessary to remain on campus during the Easter vacation, see William K. Hall, Assistant Bursar, on or before Tuesday, March 23.

Faculty Wives Design Scenery For Play On Monday, March 22

With a loving care that only faculty wives can bestow, the scenery for the faculty play has been painted onto canvas in a manner so nonchalant, yet so expert, as to amaze old Rudolf Bing himself.

Treating each paintbrush as tenderly as the youngest child's bottle, the unsung heroes of the college, the women behind the men behind the college, quietly splattered paint onto canvas in a manner so nonchalant, yet so expert, as to amaze old Rudolf Bing himself.

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, March 17, 1964 No. 23

- Editor-in-Chief
John B. Goodrich '55
Managing Editors
David R. Anderson '55 James Anwyll Jr. '55
News Editors
H. Edward Born '57 George I. Rockwood '56
Thomas L. Spence '57
Assistant News Editors
C. William Cooke '57 Richard B. Lyman Jr. '57
Carroll E. Pennell '56
Copy Editors
John W. Albert '57 Richard M. Catalano '55
Feature Writers
John M. Belka '54 Franklin G. Davis '54
Gerard L. Dube '55 Benjamin G. M. Priest '55
Photographer
Charles N. Janson LaPalme '55
Sports Editor
James P. Gaston '54
Charles S. Christie '55
Sports Staff
Joseph Y. Rogers '55
Russell B. Crowell '55
John E. Simonds '57
Delcours S. Potter Jr. '57
Saul H. Cohen '57
Reporters
Howard C. Jacobson '57
Herbert A. Miller '57
John Ranlett '57
Werner F. Fischer Jr. '57
P. Jay Howard Jr. '57
Robert C. Shepherd '57
Business Manager
Bruce N. Cooper '54
Assistant Business Managers
James A. Cooke '54 C. Richard Thurston '54
Advertising Manager
Peter M. Pirmie '55
Circulation Manager
Harold R. Beacham Jr. '56
Business Assistants
Harry G. Carpenter '57 David H. Dott '57
Peter F. Gass '57 Paul J. O'Neil '57

BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Professor Athem P. Daggett, Professor James A. Storer, Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilley '54, Wallace R. Harper Jr. '55, John B. Goodrich '55

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representatives
400 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CINCINNATI - KANSAS - LOS ANGELES - SAN FRANCISCO

Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semesters by the students of Bowdoin College. Address news communications to the Editor and subscription communications to the Business Manager of the Bowdoin Publishing Company at the ORIENT Office in Moore Hall, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three dollars ($3.00).

Rude Students Demonstrate Disrespect In Sunday Chapel

After the shameful exhibition which occurred in chapel last Sunday a period of reflective thought should be devoted to our chapel system here at Bowdoin. More important than this, however, is the fact that such rudeness and poor taste should be brought to the attention of the guilty persons involved - most of whom were of the freshman and sophomore class.

Any visitor to the college must have been shocked and dismayed by the gross display of bad manners presented by a small faction of unthinking underclassmen. It seems quite incredulous to think that a harmless, misbehaving puppy could cause such a commotion among the students sitting in the last two sections of chapel. Any student sitting near the dog could have easily taken him out before the whole assembly had centered their attention on him.

Herein an apology to Dr. Schroeder, President Coles, and to any visitors attending Sunday chapel in order to hear Dr. Schroeder's fine message. Not all Bowdoin students, only a very small part of them, are as rude as one would suspect after witnessing the unfortunate occurrence. However, it is too bad that such a small group can give the college an unfavorable name.

The incident itself might have gone unnoticed by the ORIENT had it been the only one of its nature to occur this year. But the problem of poor manners in chapel has become worse and worse each week. To be sure, many chapel talks are anything but inspiring; and many times it is very difficult to hear in the last two sections of the chapel. But that is no license for ungentlemanly conduct.

The problem of poor chapel talks is something which the students cannot correct directly. Perhaps, however, if we showed more interest the speakers might try to be better. On the other hand, Dr. Schroeder's talk was very good; it was something worth listening to. Yet, even with a good speaker the students were deprived of hearing him because of a few unthinking students.

Maybe there is much to be said for the underclassmen who believe that they should not be forced to attend chapel. Many complain that it is too religious for the secular and too secular for the religious. But the fact remains that whether or not we consider the chapel as a House of God, certain respects should be paid to the speaker no matter how good or bad he is. Any student at Bowdoin should possess enough self-restraint to sit still for twenty minutes each day in chapel until he has completed his required number of attendances.

Let us hope that no more such events will happen in the future.

H. E. B.

Charity At Bowdoin: We Like The End But Not The Means

The total receipts from the Campus Chest drive exceeded last year's record total by approximately $500, a fact which is most gratifying. Congratulations are in order to Mike Batal and his committee for the competent job they did in promoting the week end into the success that it was.

But the proportions of our annual-campus charity drive have become so great in such a short period of time that certain problems have arisen which disturb us considerably. Some of the consequences of this successful charity drive are not as pleasant as the results which have been achieved.

The Campus Chest Week End was originally organized so that the college community could raise money for charity in one lump sum over one week end. This eliminated the headache which had harassed the individual fraternities of being solicited by the various charities at different times throughout the college year. It has also increased the contributions to the charities in toto. The ORIENT supported this idea then and continues to support it now.

Two years ago the Student Council instituted a plan for interfraternity competition to stimulate the drive for more charity money. A prize of $70 was offered to the house which raised the most money in proportion to its members. The runner-up would receive $30. Since then the competition has become acute with considerable rivalry developing among the various houses.

We will be the first to condone the idea of competition but only if it is relegated to its proper sphere. A competitive spirit among the several fraternities in singing, athletics, debating, or scholastic achievement is fine; it is something which should be encouraged. But the competitive spirit which now exists in the Campus Chest drive is getting a little out-of-hand.

Charity in our opinion, is something which should be left to the individual. If he wants to give money, we all appreciate his gift because we know for what purpose it will be used and we know that it was given in a voluntary spirit. If he does not want to give money, that is his own concern. He may have some good reason for not contributing, such as financial difficulties. Finally and most important, the amount which he gives is also his own concern.

It is for the above reasons that we strongly disapprove of the current situation on campus. The fellow who doesn't buy a Campus Chest ticket is getting to be a real stinker. He's letting his house down in the pinch. If he doesn't buy a ticket, the house won't have a chance of winning the prize. If the house loses, a part of the responsibility will fall directly on his shoulders.

We cannot tolerate such high pressure tactics as these, even for the sake of charity. Our evidence that such tactics have been used is not hearsay; we witnessed several instances of this kind with our own eyes.

Some will argue that there must be some incentive to encourage people to contribute to charity. But here again we maintain that there is a limit on how far one may go. In community chest drives of various cities and towns there is usually a goal set as to the amount which should be raised. Publicity in all its many forms is used extensively to encourage contributions. But there is no competition among towns or cities in the same geographical area for a monetary prize. No stipulation is set as to the minimum each individual should contribute. Nor do community chest workers go from door to door using high pressure tactics to get contributions. If the situation does not exist in towns and cities, why should it exist on a college campus? Does the incentive have to be so strong to make people contribute? We think not.

We have some suggestions to make which we feel would improve the present situation. First, we would eliminate the monetary prizes. We can't see why a fraternity should be reimbursed just because it contributed the highest percentage of any house on campus.

Secondly, to preserve the Campus Chest Week End as a week end, we would like to see a little more ingenuity and originality as regards the activities offered. The quiz panel and the basketball game were both successful the first time they were presented, but the novelty has worn off.

We are writing this now because we feel that the present situation can grow progressively worse in future years. It is a problem which warrants the attention of every student on this campus.

Silent Synchronization Sets Student Success

The ROTC Drill Teams have done exceedingly well in their appearances on WCHS-TV in Portland. On the basis of their performances, the teams have a very good chance to qualify for the final competition when the best four teams will qualify for first, second, and third places.

The College has already sent two teams to the educational program which WCHS-TV sponsors to acquaint viewers with the functions of the military and civilian defense units in the state. Other teams from Bowdoin will appear on March 17 and April 7. The members of the second team to participate were Drill-Master John D. Gardner, '56, and squad members Benjamin G. M. Priest, '56, John W. Albert, '57, Peter T. C. Bramhall, '56, and Robert P. Warren, '56. The team members are chosen from the ROTC Drill Platoon which practices twice a week to perfect difficult maneuvers which are not contained in the basic drill formations. One of the outstanding features of the team which acquired considerable notice at Portland was the fact that the team synchronized their movements by silent count, rather than by the regular shouted commands.

CUMBERLAND THEATRE
Brunswick, Maine

Wednesday-Thursday
March 17-18
THE GLENN MILLER STORY with James Stewart
June Allyson
also News

Friday-Saturday
March 19-20
YANKEE PASHA with Jeff Chandler
Rhonda Fleming
also News Short Subject

Sunday-Monday-Tuesday
March 21-22-23
MA & PA KETTLE AT HOME
with Marjorie Main
Percy Helbridge
also News Short Subjects

Wednesday-Thursday
March 24-25
JUBILEE TRAIL with Vera-Ellen Forrest Tucker
also News Short Subjects

Letters To The Editor

Batal Delivers Thanks; Calls Week End Success

Michael J. Batal, Jr. '54, chairman of the Campus Chest Committee for the Student Council issued the following statement of acknowledgment for publication in the ORIENT:

"I wish to thank each member of the student body, the Faculty, and the administration for their part in making the Campus Chest Week End the great financial and social success that it was. The total receipts of $2901.89 which topped last year's total by $500, is only one indication that the objectives and purposes of the week end have been met. It is impossible to personally thank each person who aided in the endeavor. However, I would like to acknowledge individually my thanks in this statement to a number of people, realizing full well that I have probably omitted the names of others whose help was indispensable.

"I would like to thank Barry Nichols whose experience and advice based on last year's Campus Chest was of great help. Vice-President Bela Norton of the College and Gerald Lewis of Station WCHS in Portland aided in the publicity of the week end to people outside the college community. "Adding-me in the actual arrangements and program and taking care of the thousand and one little details were Dennis King, Frederick Wilkins, Robert Hurst, Charles Ranlett, Julius Emmert, David Donahue, Richard Assourian, Gregory Abbott, Richard Taylor and Charles Orcutt. Those dates who helped in the successful coat check Saturday night should not be forgotten.

"The 'Zany' Committee of Ralph Heavens, Alden Ringquist, and Donald Westman deserves special thanks for their part as does the Poster Committee of Richard Loughry and Lon Southerland. "Each member of the Student Council aided me no end by making the week end a cooperative effort of the entire campus with each group contributing their share of funds and work.

"Special thanks should go to those members of the Faculty and the administration who willingly subjected themselves to the 'Battle of Wits' and the basketball game. Included should be Professor Quinby whose work with the college architects all day Friday forced his absence from the 'Battle of Wits.' "Finally I would like to thank Donovan Lancaster who headed the Faculty Booth Committee of John Sweet, Adam Walsh, and Walter Szumowski. Gross receipts of this booth were $54.46 with all prizes being contributed by the Moulton Union Dining Service. Mr. Lancaster has asked me to include the names of the booth attendants who aided in the success of the booth Saturday night. They are Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick, Robert Beckwith, Edwin Benjamin, Charles Benson, Raymond Bourne, Arthur Gresson, Dr. Daniel Hanley, Charles Huntington, Parker Johnson, Donovan Lancaster, Eaton Leitch, Walter Merrill, James Moulton, Edward Pals, Ira Reis, David Russell, Carl Schmalz, John Sweet, Adam Walsh, William Whiteside, and others."

Michael J. Batal, Jr.

Ice Cubes On Toast

A LETTER TO LARRY

(No too long ago, a letter came to us, here at the Orient, office. It was a letter which was to bring tears to the steely eyes of even the most cynical and hard-bitten news hound on the staff. Lying there so demurely among the press releases, sheets of foreign dispatches, gum wrappers, flies, and pencil ends on the editor's old oaken desk, who—who pray? — could have guessed that this small little wee gray envelope and its contents would so touch the hearts, renew the faith, change the lives, and raffle off the knitted sleeves of care from around the furrowed brows of these men-of-iron, cynical and hard-bitten as they were? Who would have thought that this letter, product of the simple mind of a simple child, written simply and in simple language, would have wrung eobs from a news editor, tears from a sports writer, who happened in, moans from a copy boy, and an anguished wail arising from the lowest depths of the soul of this columnist?)

Oh, who indeed? Well, anyway, here is the precious thing printed much as we received it. It was written painstakingly in a heavy childish hand and liberally sprinkled with blots of that dear old, written simply and in simple language, would have wrung eobs from a news editor, tears from a sports writer, who happened in, moans from a copy boy, and an anguished wail arising from the lowest depths of the soul of this columnist?)

Well, anyway, here is the precious thing printed much as we received it. It was written painstakingly in a heavy childish hand and liberally sprinkled with blots of that dear old, written simply and in simple language, would have wrung eobs from a news editor, tears from a sports writer, who happened in, moans from a copy boy, and an anguished wail arising from the lowest depths of the soul of this columnist?)

Larry's Little Letter.
The Editor
Dear Editor (blot)
My friends tell me (tear stain) that there is no (blot) Easter Bunny (blot and/or period). My daddy says that if you see it in the orient it (blot) must b(blote) so. Please dear editor is there a Easter Buney
Sincerely
Larry H.

(Notes & Errata:
In line-3 above, for Buney - read Buny
In line-7 above, for Buney - read Buny, too.)
Dear Larry,
Yes, Larry, there is an Easter Bunny (Bun, Bunnie, Buney, etc.). In fact, he was seen right here on the Bowdoin campus just last week end. It was I, indeed, who saw him. Larry and I talked with him. Oh, he has such long

Student Patronage Solicited

First National Bank
Brunswick, Maine

Member of the Federal Reserve System and Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

How the stars got started...

Jane Greer says: "I was a band singer when a picture magazine asked me to pose in the new WAC uniforms. Hollywood saw my picture, liked it and overnight I was in movies. From then on, it was hard work and perseverance."

I STARTED SMOKING CAMELS AFTER TRYING MANY BRANDS. I FOUND CAMELS' MILDNESS AND FLAVOR FAR MORE ENJOYABLE THAN THE REST. YOU WILL, TOO! WHY DON'T YOU TRY CAMELS TODAY?

START SMOKING CAMELS YOURSELF!
Smoke only Camels for 30 days and find out why Camels are America's most popular cigarette. See how mild and flavorful a cigarette can be!

for Mildness and Flavor

CAMELS AGREE WITH MORE PEOPLE THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

Behind The Ivy Curtain

By David B. Anderson '55

In spite of the spread of the McCarthy myth and the occasional bans placed on college newspapers by over-zealous administrators, most undergraduate papers in this country have a high degree of editorial freedom. This is quite evident when the U.S. situation is compared to the plight of the staff of a Brazilian college paper. They went on strike for three days after someone murdered their editor.

The national spotlight focused on the University of New Hampshire last week when it was discovered that one Marvin Hewitt, alias Associate Professor Yates, had misrepresented himself and his records in order to secure a position in the University of New Hampshire physics department. The University received a large quantity of mail following the announcement of Hewitt's resignation. Most of the letters questioned the propriety of releasing the teacher who had self-educated himself after his father had denied him the chance to go to college. Hewitt forged his transcripts because of an "overpowering compulsion" to teach.

For the past ten years Hewitt has been teaching under assumed names at colleges and universities throughout the country. He served as a full professor "at a state university in the west." His record at these colleges was good according to students and faculty members who attended his lectures. Hewitt, taught for a year at U.N.H. under the alias of Dr. Kenneth F. Yates, before a student discovered that they were two Dr. Yates. The undergraduate began an investigation after he discovered the professor's "lack of knowledge in certain very specialized areas and his seeming lack of training in foreign languages" which are required of every Ph.D. candidate. The student reported his findings to the administration where they were again confirmed.

Quota Quilts
Williams College students are currently discussing a new rushing problem which seems to have stemmed from changes made in the rushing system in the past two years. Following the completion of a new student dining room second semester sophomore rushing replaced first week freshmen rushing, the system still favored here.

An alumni committee which studied the problem prepared a majority report which advocated doing away with the present quota system. Under this system each house could pledge a maximum of one-fourteenth of the sophomore class. This limit assured each house that it at least have an opportunity to pledge enough men to keep the house sufficiently solvent to continue operation. Among other things the alumni committee suggested that membership in fraternities be limited to 65% of the enrollment of the three upper classes. One of the reasons given for this recommendation was that it would strengthen the non-affiliate group at Williams which is very weak in comparison with the fraternities. On the other hand the move would probably reduce the size of the average fraternity from 60 to 40 men and thus force the financially unstable houses out of business. For this reason several students interviewed by the Williams RECORD objected to any change in the present quota system.

Sounds Good
A movie which will show the year round activities of the Williams College undergraduate has been contracted for by the admissions office there to assist in the work of attracting prospective freshmen to Williams. The new film will replace the 1940 "Sons of Eph" which has been shown throughout the country to substitute men unable to travel to Williamstown to see the college for themselves. The movie, to be completed by 1955, "will try to present a complete year of college life, including classes, athletics, activities, social life and in general convey the atmosphere of the college and the town." Bowdoin, which is still more remote in terms of miles from any place south, west, and north west of Springfield, Mass., than Williams, might well profit by adopting the movie idea of selling the school to prospective students outside the greater New England area.

Another idea which sounded good is the share-ride agency which was recently established at Purdue. Students who want rides home or to colleges in the vicinity register their requests as do the student drivers who want additional passengers. Three-hundred students made use of the service for rides home. Perhaps Jackie wouldn't be too enthused about the extra bookkeeping, but a ride registry would save many last minute phone calls and the cut desk seems like a good spot to have it. Or, maybe the service could be handled by the Student Union Committee.

Oosters and Roosters
A hundred loyal "oosters"—fans of the Ray Ostling coached Trinity basketball team—recently pulled a "Cousy" at the Trinity-Yale game played in New Haven, Conn. Twelve of the "oosters" carried small canvas satchels into the gym. After Trinity scored its first basket the bags were opened and the dozen bantam roosters which were hidden inside flapped happily around the floor. The game was defused, officials hurried about after the roosters. A Yale was claimed to have remarked, "No one, absolutely no one, has ever done anything like this before."

Bucknell University (co-ed) students auction personal services to help in their fund-raising campaign for the World United Service organization. On the block during the recent campus chess type week end were: bat girls and water girls for the highest bidding interfraternity softball team; girls to do laundry, rides to night o'clock classes, free spaghetti dinners; and an evening for two at one of the professor's homes—unchaperoned.

President Lists Benefits In Chapel Address

[Continued from Page 1]
assistance aggregating $9,900 from the Garolon-Merritt Fund. Six men in graduate school are receiving a total of $3,300 to assist them with their expenses from other endowed funds of the College. President Cole mentioned his concern for students having demonstrable financial need and who have ability but do not demonstrate this ability in terms of their work in class. "It might take as little as five extra hours of study a week to bring their achievement up to scholarship average," he said, "but for some reason or other, this extra five hours a week are not given to study."

In conclusion President Cole stressed "the fine and dignified manner in which assistance is given and received at Bowdoin. One might think that the College could give aid in a magnanimous fashion as a handout to undergraduates. This is not so. Neither is it so that scholarship assistance is accepted by students pusillanimously, nor is it accepted as an expected and foregone right, perhaps with some resentment. On the contrary, such assistance is given by the College as a part of its obligation to maintain the basic American concept of equality of opportunity for all, and the continuance of the freedom of our land deriving from education for all. It is accepted by Bowdoin students as an opportunity for them to achieve for themselves the full reward of their own effort, and thus go on to a life of freedom, courage, and service."

Telephone 8-1911
BILL'S
Our Specialties:
Italian Spaghetti Pizza
Hot Pastromi
Steaks and Chops
REGULAR DINNERS
"Bowdoin Men's Favorite Restaurant"
Beer and Ale on Draft and
in Bottles
6 1/2 ELM STREET
BRUNSWICK MAINE

FLY NORTHEAST
NON-STOP SERVICE
Portland - New York
For Airline Reservations
H. B. STOWE AGENCY
Phone 1163-J

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it . . .
Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money.
TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY
ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS
The Record Office
Paul K. Niven Jerry Wilkes
• Printers Of The Orient •

New Essay Prize To Honor General Dunlap

An award of $100, given to the college in honor of Brigadier General Robert Henry Dunlap, USMC, distinguished member of a family closely connected with the College and the town of Brunswick, will be made to the undergraduate who writes the best essay on some subject related to himself and related to the theme of "Service."

Essays in competition for this award must be submitted to the Office of the Dean not later than May 30th. They must be written in type on 8 1/2 x 11" paper and should be between 3,500 and 5,000 words in length. The theme of "Service" is to be interpreted broadly and developed or illustrated in the manner felt to be most effective by the student.

Essays will be read by three judges and the form, the content and the effectiveness of the essay in illustrating the ideal of "Service" will be considered. The award will be withheld if no essay of sufficient merit is submitted.

General Dunlap (1879-1931) served in the Marine Corps in many campaigns in the Philippines, China, World War I, and Central America. While accomplishing the successful rescue of a French woman caught in a landslide, General Dunlap was himself killed in France in May of 1931. He received many awards in recognition of his distinguished services and these medals are exhibited in the Alumni Room of Hubbard Hall. A brief biographical sketch of General Dunlap is at the Reserve Desk at the Library.

Pres. James S. Coles Appointed Civilian Aide To Army Secretary

President James S. Coles has recently accepted an appointment as Civilian Aide to the Secretary of the Army for the state of Maine, for a two year term.

Notice of the appointment came in a January 16 letter signed by Secretary of the Army Robert Stevens.

Civilian Aides, chosen from leaders and authorities in their communities, are located in all the forty-eight states, and serve to coordinate the various programs of the Army with the general public; they are the "eyes, ears and conscience" of the Secretary of the Army.

Although the form of the structure of the Civilian Aide system has been lately changed, the program actually began in the pre-World War I Plattsburg movement. After the war Secretary John W. Weeks authorized appointment of one Civilian Aide to the Secretary of War from each state. The group of aides performed many important missions in World War II, and served as a nucleus for a new organization of civilian liaison men under Frank Pace.

The American system of government emphasizes the authority of civilians over that of the military, and these aides are greatly helping the Army to appreciate the needs of civilians, and to avoid "possible repercussions of contemplated programs and activities."

Consult Your Campus Agent
GEORGE W. GRAHAM '55
About Life Insurance
Provident Mutual Of Philadelphia

Suggestions To Improve Charity Week End Seek Several Changes

By John M. Bellin '54

Bowdoin's annual Campus Chest week end again proved itself to be both a financial and social success. The credit for this accomplishment goes to the Student Council, Michael Bates and his committee. The preparations for an event of this nature involve as much work, if not more, than the usual week end.

Realizing this fact, we thought it might be wise to offer a few suggestions for next year's program which the recent event is still fresh in mind.

Friday evening's entertainment could be improved on, we feel, if the Battle of Wits and the faculty-student basketball game were either modified or replaced. The one-hour Battle of Wits was in several aspects a disappointment this year. The necessity of making last-minute substitutions in the Wits lineup undoubtedly contributed to this let down. However, this part of the program has one merit of its novelty by the fact of its yearly repetition. Perhaps a faculty club or a restaging of the winning one-act play would be good alternatives for the Battle of Wits.

The need for such a change was pointed to by many undergraduates following what they considered a highly irregular performance by one of the professors on the faculty panel. Many of his remarks had the flavor of personal jibes, ill-timed, and unappreciated by the audience. Certainly, this type of humor is not suited to the occasion.

Sunday's Chapel Talk Stresses Faith In God

[Continued from Page 1]
they had better get married. The speaker considers this a neat plan but not very accurate, since life does not submit to such categorization. Experience is not that tidy; in reality there is no right time to do anything.
Mr. Schroeder goes on to say that a good deed is good because the claim made on it is made at the right time. It is said that people meet vexing problems at convenient times, but this is not true since there is really not a time for one thing or another.
Comradeship with God involves contradictory things: joy and pain, fellowship and alienation. He advises that we adopt a fundamental naturalness that will bring compunction and faith. Life is not meant to be tidy, neat, and precise. If we devote ourselves to God and have faith in him "He will direct the way in which our feet shall go."

Billiard Wizard Starts On 24th Annual Tour; Union Exhibition Soon

Charles C. Peterson, Father of Intercollegiate "Billiards," will soon be here. This season marks the 24th annual tour of colleges by the eminent cue artist, whose trade mark is—"Show Me A Billiard Shot I Can't Make."
Peterson, holder of the World's Fancy Shot Billiard Title, will appear at Moulton Union on Monday, March 22. Mr. Peterson will be available for instruction from 2:00 p.m. until 10 p.m. Exhibition at 3:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m.
His exhibition will include not only his wizardry of the trickiest shots in the Ivory Sport, but a demonstration of world famous shots of other stars past and present, fundamentals of the game, playing lecture and group teaching to students.
Peterson's missionary work for the game he loves has extended into every part of the country. He undoubtedly has taught the fundamentals of the game to more persons than any other man in the world.
He has made it his business while on tour to include in his exhibitions a lecture on the theory and practice of the game, illustrating the various fundamentals so clearly that even one who never had a cue in his hand can grasp the ideas advanced.
Ranked among the greatest billiardists of all time, Peterson comes to Moulton Union under the auspices of the Association of College Unions, who have sponsored his tours since their inauguration at the University of Wisconsin in 1931.
He will show the most daring shots played in championship competition. His repertoire of fancy shots include the greatest in appeal and numbers in cue history. Moreover, Peterson customarily gives individual instructions for an hour or more a day at the rooms where he entertains to anyone interested in improving his game.

The basketball game also was received less favorably than in the past. One of the difficulties seemed to be that the gym was too stuffy and uncomfortable to make the long half-time break tolerable. The contest, which is fun in itself, suffers from this lag. Perhaps a shorter game played with only three two-minute breaks would be more entertaining. Even if this is not possible, each team seemed to have sufficient depth to warrant a faster game.
A great number of dates were to be found on campus Friday night, and by the time the 7:55 train made its entrance it appeared that the week end was sure to be a success. Since the great distances which separate Bowdoin from a large percentage of the popular women's colleges result in either a two-day week end or none at all for many students, the possibility of opening a few houses Friday night might be more seriously considered by the administration. Perhaps, that $3 that was paid to some obliging landlady for a room Friday night would have found its way to charity.
The dance Saturday evening (if the term "dance" is applicable) seemed to be interfering with the general carnival atmosphere prevalent in the gym. Any attempt to dance was continually hampered by the wandering nomads who made the rounds of the midway. The last two booths should be abolished in favor of some semblance of a dance floor. It is also suggested that the customary "thin dime" be universal in regards to the booths. There were some cases where the charitable end did not justify the means.

Notice

Semi-final games for the interfraternity basketball championship will be played Thursday night. Winners will meet in a single deciding game next Tuesday night.

TD Outbuys DS; Zete In Battle For Highest Contribution Prize

[Continued from Page 1]
they attempted to "floor" a picture of their "favorite" professor.
The following table shows the contribution records by fraternities for 1953 and 1954 with the houses listed by their 1954 finish:

Group	1954	1953
TD	$310.10	$288.35
Delta Sigma	292.05	284.25
Zeta Psi	315.33	277.15
Dek	244.95	166.15
Chi Psi	231.00	110.77
ABU	230.65	144.65
AD	207.81	221.54
Psi U	186.16	165.90
Beta	166.16	156.50
Sigma Nu	161.80	172.60
Kappa Sigma	134.00	100.91
Alpha Tau Omega	90.45	149.06
Faculty and Independents	143.52

Additional receipts were obtained from coat checks and coke concessions at the dance and from the sale of tickets to the general public for individual events.

Union Committee Says 'Bright Victory' Coming

The moving picture "Bright Victory" will be presented at 6:45 and 9:00 p.m. on Saturday, March 20, by the Student Union Committee.
With a timely and provocative theme, that of a blinded war veteran and his heroic fight to return to a normal life, it is played against a background of quiet courage, hope, and the love of a veteran for an understanding girl.
Blinded in the Tunisian campaign of World War II, he returns to society as an embittered man. His toughest job is to tell his mother and father and his childhood sweetheart that he is blind.
Through his sweetheart's great devotion and real love, he acquires a new outlook on life and enters school to become a lawyer.

SEBPNJ Notice

Dr. Wyn Storms, ret., song leader and traveling agitator for the Society for the Extension and Benevolence to and Protection of the Native American Jadeloon, will appear on the Art Building dome a week from Saturday night under the auspices of the local SEBPNJ (rhymes with Priest) encampment.
The former doctor will exhibit the pitifully mangled corpses of a number of atrociously slaughtered Jadeloons during his renowned discourse on the "Preservation and Protection of the American Jadeloon, J. Vulgaris Americusus." This speech contains his oft quoted phrase. After the talk Storms has promised to show a wax effigy of Ben G. M. Priest, a local hunter.

Today's Chesterfield is the Best Cigarette Ever Made!

"Chesterfields for Me!"
John Hodiak Starring in "The Coins Mutiny Court Martial"
The cigarette tested and approved by 30 years of scientific tobacco research.

"Chesterfields for Me!"
Patti Page Recording Star
The cigarette with a proven good record with smokers. Here is the record. Bi-monthly examinations of a group of smokers show no adverse effects to nose, throat and sinuses from smoking Chesterfield.

"Chesterfields for Me!"
Eddie Mathews Sensational 3rd Base Man - Milwaukee Braves
The cigarette that gives you proof of highest quality—low nicotine—the taste you want—the mildness you want.

Smoke America's Most Popular 2-Way Cigarette
CHESTERFIELD
BEST FOR YOU
Copyright 1954, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

BOWL-MOR Alleys
AUTOMATIC PIN SETTERS
Hot Dogs
Italian Sandwiches
Cold Drinks
Coffee
Ice Cream
Operated by Al Tobey, Class of '50

WEEK-END GOLFER... OR TITLE HOLDER
THESE CLUBS
WILL SAVE YOU STROKES!
Shooting to break 100...90...80...or to take a title?
Spalding's sensational advance in clubs—new '54 Synchro-Dyned woods and irons—can do more to save you strokes than any other clubs you ever played!
Reason? Try a few swings—and see. Every wood, every iron now has identical contact feel. You naturally swing freer, improve timing... get the ball away straighter and for more distance.
Will you shoot better golf consistently? Ask any golfer who owns a Spalding Synchro-Dyned Top-Flite set... and then have your professional fit you.

SPALDING
Synchro-Dyned
TOP-FLITE
REGISTERED GOLF CLUBS
SOLD THROUGH GOLF PROFESSIONALS ONLY

Katherine Porter To Visit Bowdoin Early In April

Katherine Anne Porter, guest lecturer at the University of Michigan, will give the biennial lecture sponsored by the Society of Bowdoin Women, President James S. Coles announced today.

Author Of Many Short Stories To Discuss One

Among her published works are Flowering Judas, Hacienda, Noon Wine, Pale Horse, A Rider, Preface to Fiesta in November, and The Leaning Tower, a Book of Short Stories.

House Treasurers To Meet In Union; Topic To Be High Fuel Cost

There will be a meeting of all the interested house treasurers this Thursday at 7:00 p.m. in the Conference A of the Moulton Union.

Glee Club Completes 'Baby Tour'; Town Choral Society To Perform

Friday the Bowdoin College Glee Club, under Doctor Frederic Titolston, started on the First Parish Church "Baby Tour," the preliminary to the Spring Tour during spring vacation.

'Prisoner's Coffin' Theme For Third Of Dr. Bridges' Lectures

"Prisoner's Coffin," an examination of intellectual and literary treasures which may serve their possessor in any circumstance, was the third of four Tallman Fund Lectures given by Dr. Ronald Bridges '30, visiting Professor of Religion, last Wednesday in Moulton Union.

Select Six Juniors For Plummer Prize Speaking Contest Final

Six Bowdoin College Juniors have been selected for the finals of the Stanley Plummer Prize Speaking Contest, to be held April 15.

Director John Peabody Of P-Time In Dramatic Movie Experiment

Unknown to many of us in this college community, a pleasant man by the name of John Peabody to be exact, has been conducting an experiment in which all of us are involved.

Dick Marshall Cops Seventh Spot In NCAA Nation-wide Ski Meet

Dick Marshall, the only Bowdoin man competing in the NCAA skiing meet, finished seventh in the mile and three-quarters downhill race with a time of 1:58.

Tells Story of Earth's Creation

The text of Haydn's "Creation" tells the biblical story of the creating of the earth. Milton's "Paradise Lost" and the King James version of the Holy Bible were used as sources for the text.

Wilder Outlines Plan For Getting Financial Help

Assistant to the President, Philip S. Wilder, speaking in chapel Monday as Secretary of the Committee on Student Aid, outlined the procedure which must be followed by those men applying for financial aid at the college next year.

Reverend Fenner Retells Biblical Short Narrative

"The Bible is both venerable and wondrous," said Reverend Fenner in Memorial Hall last Monday evening.

Hoffmann '54 Awarded $1400 National Science Foundation Fellowship

William F. Hoffmann '54 of Manchester, N. H., has been awarded a $1400 National Science Foundation Fellowship for the year 1954-55.

Maine Educators To Hold Conference Here

The State Principals' Association will hold its third annual conference here on March 27. Participants in the conference will be high school principals and representatives of the State Department of Education.

Experiment Successful?

The enthusiasm that students and faculty members showed for last week's presentation, "The Man in the White Suit," indicates that the experiment may prove successful.

Critic Calls 'Love For Love' Dramatic Success Of Season

Bowdoin faculty members and wives proved last Monday evening in Memorial Hall that their talents were not exclusively of an academic nature.

McCarthy's Battle With Army Scored

Discussing the current controversy between the Army and Senator Joseph R. McCarthy in his Chapel talk of Thursday, March 18, President James S. Coles urged that the truth be sought unemotionally, objectively and critically.

Robert Frost Show Presents Meddies To U.S.A. Via TV Sunday

Last Sunday, March 21, the Meddiepsters, Bowdoin's augmented double quartet, appeared with poet Robert Frost and Dr. Ronald Bridges of the faculty on the national program, Frontiers of Faith on NBC-TV.

Maine State Scholarship Exams Administered To Sub-Freshmen

Approximately 60 prospective Bowdoin freshmen took the State of Maine Scholarship examinations on Monday at eleven examination centers throughout the state.

'Salvation Is Created' Sung By Bates Choir

With the members of the Bowdoin Chapel Choir on the New England Customary Tour with the College Glee Club, the Bates College Choir, under the direction of Mr. D. Robert Smith, sang the anthem at the March twenty-first Sunday Chapel Service.

Deplores Lies, Deceit, Blows Below The Belt

The top performances of the evening were given by Berkeley Peabody as Tattle, Roy Greason as the servant, Jeremy, and Edward Benjamin as Foresight.

Cleaver Interpretation

Jerry Greason as the servant, Jeremy, had a minor part, but did it with a clarity of diction added to a clever interpretation of the witty servant type, which made him a solid, if minor, success of the evening.

Hero Of Play

Richard Chittim, the hero of the play, the lover who has run through his money and finds himself incapable of winning America's love, played with varying moods of flippancy, despair, and feigned madness his role with conviction.

Larry Hall Provided Badly-needed Action

Larry Hall provided badly-needed action. As the violent and blustering Sir Samson, Legend, bent on curbing his son's will to his father's, Mr. Hall swaggered and stormed through the scenes with a bluster and emphasis verging at times on what is called "overplaying," but always with the tremendous gusto and lustiness of a character demanding attention.

Ray Bournequie Bow-leggedly Strode Through His Nautical Role

Ray Bournequie bow-leggedly strode through his nautical role and delivered his long series of nautical double-entendres with an energy and awkwardness of movement contrasting dramatically to the grace of the Restoration salon. The incongruity of Ben in a military uniform was a striking contrast.

Reverend Fenner Retells Biblical Short Narrative

"The Bible is both venerable and wondrous," said Reverend Fenner in Memorial Hall last Monday evening.

Hoffmann '54 Awarded $1400 National Science Foundation Fellowship

William F. Hoffmann '54 of Manchester, N. H., has been awarded a $1400 National Science Foundation Fellowship for the year 1954-55.

Maine Educators To Hold Conference Here

The State Principals' Association will hold its third annual conference here on March 27. Participants in the conference will be high school principals and representatives of the State Department of Education.

Experiment Successful?

The enthusiasm that students and faculty members showed for last week's presentation, "The Man in the White Suit," indicates that the experiment may prove successful.

'Salvation Is Created' Sung By Bates Choir

With the members of the Bowdoin Chapel Choir on the New England Customary Tour with the College Glee Club, the Bates College Choir, under the direction of Mr. D. Robert Smith, sang the anthem at the March twenty-first Sunday Chapel Service.

THE BOWDOIN ORIENT

Vol. LXXXIII Wednesday, March 17, 1954 No. 23

- Editor-in-Chief
John B. Goodrich '55
Managing Editors
David R. Anderson '55 James Arwyl Jr. '55
H. Edward Born '57 George I. Rockwood '56
Assistant News Editors
Thomas L. Spence '57 Benjamin G. M. Priest '55
C. William Cooke '57 Richard B. Lyman Jr. '57
Copy Editors
Carroll E. Pennell '56
John W. Albert '57 Richard M. Catalano '55
Feature Writers
John M. Belka '54 Donald W. Blodgett '54
Gerard L. Dube '55 Charles N. Janson LaPalme '55
Photographer
James P. Gaston '54
Sports Editor
Charles S. Christie '55
Sports Staff
Joseph Y. Rogers '55
Russell B. Crowell '55 James I. Doherty '55
John E. Simonds '57 Robert H. Glover '56
Delcour S. Potter Jr. '57 Saul H. Cohen '57
Reporters
Howard C. Jacobson '57 John W. Maloney '56
Herbert A. Miller '57 Edward P. Parsons '57
John Ranlett '57 Peter Schulzner Jr. '57
Werner F. Placher Jr. '57 Richard W. Greene '56
P. Jay Hirsch Jr. '57 John R. MacKay '56
Business Manager
Bruce N. Cooper '54
Assistant Business Manager
C. Richard Thurston '54
Advertising Manager
Peter M. Pirnie '55
Circulation Manager
Harold R. Beacham Jr. '56
Business Assistants
David H. Dott '57
Paul J. O'Neill '57

BOWDOIN PUBLISHING COMPANY
Professor Athern P. Daggett, Professor James A. Storer, Bruce N. Cooper '54, Albert F. Lilley '54, Wallace R. Harper Jr. '55, John B. Goodrich '55

Published weekly when classes are held during the Fall and Spring Semesters by the students of Bowdoin College. Address news communications to the Editor and subscription communications to the Business Manager of the Bowdoin Publishing Company at the ORIENT Office in Moore Hall, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Brunswick, Maine. The subscription rate for one year is three ($3) dollars.

Union Object Of Pride

Recently, a large number of new lamps and lighting fixtures have been installed throughout the first floor of the Moulton Union to afford students, faculty, and guests of the college better light for reading and studying.

New three-way bulbs have been inserted in the reading lamps found in the main lounge. Mr. Lancaster secured lighting engineers to design the new lampshade which can now be seen in the lounge. These changes greatly improve the light available for both day time and night use. Mr. Lancaster is also planning to install small flood lights in the main lounge which will better illuminate the piano and the lecture stand. Students will also notice similar improvements in the small lounge.

The dining room has also undergone various lighting improvements. Indirect lighting fixtures have been installed in the ceiling, giving more light but lessening the glare. A limited number of table lamps placed in the dining room have given it a more intimate atmosphere. Also, the lamp over the main entrance to the Union has been replaced and improved.

All of these changes may not be readily noticeable to the Bowdoin student as he comes dashing in between classes for that morning cup of coffee or while engaging in one of the never ending "bull sessions" which prevail until the closing hours. Nevertheless, the changes have been made, and they have been made in the interest of the students.

When we really begin to think about it, most of us will agree that our Union is something to which we can always point with pride whenever we are entertaining guests on the campus. An underclassman can go into the Union at any hour and he will find it just as clean as the minute it opened early in the morning. We just naturally expect the Union to be clean and neat, but when you begin to think about the large number of students who use its services, you begin to realize that it must be quite a job to keep so clean.

Our union is not a clean and efficient place by accident. The many people on the union staff work endlessly in making it a place which we can be proud of. In turn, we should be very proud of this staff. Much praise should be given to all of them, right from Mr. Lancaster, the director, to the students who proctor the recreation room. Mr. Lancaster is constantly striving to make the Union an even better place for us; and who could replace Steve and the ladies behind the cafeteria counter with more efficient and friendly help?

The Professor Means Story

The ORIENT this week has prepared what we believe is an appropriate sketch of the life and times of Thomas Means, Joseph E. Merrill Professor of Greek Language and Literature.

Professor Means, who has devoted 33 years of his life to Bowdoin and the community, contributed much to the Classics Department as we now know it and to various other Bowdoin activities.

His story appears on page four of this issue. It is both a record of and a tribute to a great Bowdoin personality.

Letters To The Editor

March 10 ORIENT Editorial Praised

To the Editor of the Bowdoin Orient
The editorial in the Orient issue of March 10 by James Arwyl, Jr. on "Our Intellectual Sterility" is not only timely but an intelligent and, in some respects a brilliant, conceived observation of conditions existing, not only at Bowdoin but generally in undergraduate education throughout the country. In my humble opinion this is a serious indictment on the type of education received by graduates of public and private schools, where the emphasis appears to be placed on practical courses rather than those that develop the mind and spirit, course that would prepare the student for higher education. The break down of Latin and the emphasis on applied music in pre-college education are cases in point.
Bowdoin has its share of serious minded students, but it would be gratifying if we could have thinking on the high level of this editorial.

Sincerely yours,
Frederic Tiltonson,
Professor of Music

Further Compliments Received On Editorial

Dear Mr. Arwyl:
I want to take a moment to congratulate you on the fine editorial that you wrote for the March 10th issue of the Bowdoin Orient. A number of other people also praised it in my hearing. So long as there are students like yourself here who are able to write such editorials we are not entirely lost. In fact, I know of a number of students who think as you do and who deserve any encouragement that you and I can give them.
Please keep up the good work and don't give up hope. The voice in the wilderness is not a new phenomenon in civilization and it can do much good if it is strong and clear and courageous.

Sincerely yours,
Philip C. Beam,
Director.

Classical Association Of New England To Convene At Bowdoin

The Classical Association of New England, with 100 members from prep schools, high schools, and colleges, will hold their annual meeting here on April 2 and 3.

The outstanding activity of the week end will be the presentation of a play, the "Medea of Seneca," by the Bowdoin Classics Club at 8:15 Friday evening in the Cleaveland Science Building. The cast will include Mrs. Athern Daggett, Mildred Thalheimer, Director of Dramatics at Brunswick High School, Professor of Dramatics George H. Quinby, Vice-President Bela W. Norton, Harlan B. Peabody, Instructor of Greek, and Edwin B. Benjamin, Assistant Professor of English. Associate Professor of Classics Nathan Dane will direct the play. In 1936, when the Classical Association last met here, Professors Dane and Benjamin appeared in the play as undergraduates. Professor Quinby was the play's director.

The members of the Association will be formally welcomed to the College by President James S. Coles on Friday morning. On Friday afternoon an organ concert will be given by Mr. Peabody, and David W. Holmes '56 will play the chapel chimes at noon on Friday and Saturday.
The week end's activities will also include illustrated talks, panel discussions, exhibits in the Library and Art Building, and a banquet preceding the play on Friday night. Professors Dane and Peabody will make reports on the "Ford Foundation" and "Epic Tradition" respectively.
Members of the Association will be housed in Moore, Hyde and Appleton Halls, and the Moulton Union will serve as headquarters for the conference.

Notice

There will be a meeting of all interested house treasurers this Thursday at 7:00 p.m. in Conference Room A of the Moulton Union. Topic for special consideration will be the present high cost of fuel.

Two Bowdoin Students Write Musical For Annual Spring Play

Students and their dates, the faculty, and the residents of Brunswick will have the opportunity to see an original musical revue by Bowdoin students this spring.

Entirely the work of two sophomores, Fred Wilkins '56 and William Beeson '56, this musical is apart from the usual college comedies, satires on college life. It is an intimate and lively revue cut from the pattern of "Lend An Ear" and "New Faces."

The idea for the show, "While the Cat's Away . . ." had its beginning in the fall of this school year. Beeson and Wilkins worked on it (twisted and music) until its completion in February. Sponsored by the Masque and Gown for performances on the 3rd and 5th of May and Ivy Weekend, the revue will go into production right after spring vacation. Bill Beeson will direct the show. Wilkins will have charge of the orchestra, and Miss Jo-Ann-Prince of Lewiston will do the choreography.

There is a comparatively small cast for this production since the show is written without plot, rather with songs and sketches. Six women and nine men make up the cast: Nancy McKeen, Deana Sweet, Connie Aldrich, Marjorie Tiltonson, Jo-Ann Prince, Sally Higgins, Barry Gilchrist '57, Charles Janson-LaPalme '55, Allan Wright '56, Warren Slesinger '56, Robert Keay '56, Ben Priest '56, Bill Kimball '56, Herb Miller '57 and John Nungesser '54.

Fraser On All-Maine Five With Two Colby Cagers, Two From Maine, Bates

The coaches of the Maine Colledge basketball teams selected an All-Maine club a week ago.

The first five is composed of two Colby hoopers, and one each from the remainder of the colleges. Bill Fraser, who broke the state scoring record with 44 points in a game with Bates, was the lone Polar Bear choice, getting the center slot. The forwards were Bob Raymond of the Mules and George Schroeder of the Bates Bobcats. In the backcourt are Keith Mahaney of Maine and Lou Zambello of Colby.

Mahaney and Schroeder both left their clubs late in the season. Only one player on the elite quintet is a senior, that being Fraser. Mahaney, Zambello, and Schroeder are juniors, while Raymond is a sophomore.

Comdr. MacMillan '98 To Receive Bowdoin Prize At Convocation

Commander Donald B. MacMillan '98, who was awarded the Bowdoin Prize in December, 1953, will come to Brunswick on Tuesday, April 6, to receive the prize and to deliver a lecture.

The convocation, to be held in his honor, will be in Memorial Hall at four o'clock. President Coles will preside and will be assisted by Professor Reinhard Koggen, who will present a brief biographical sketch of Commander MacMillan. The Bowdoin Glee Club will sing Grieg's "Discovery."

An academic procession, composed of Faculty members and the Glee Club, will form at 3:45 p.m. in anticipation of the convocation. The participants of the procession will be seated on the main floor of Memorial Hall in seats reserved for them.

Following the convocation, from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m., Theta Delta Chi will hold a reception in honor of Commander MacMillan and his wife. Later, the MacMillans will be guests for dinner at the President's House.

WCSH To Televis 3rd Drill Team Show Wednesday, April 7

The last of three Bowdoin ROTC drill teams will perform in Portland on WCSH-TV, Wednesday, April 7, at about 6:20 p.m.

This team will have John D. Gardner '56 as Drill-Master. Members of the team will be Chester M. Day '56, Henry M. Haskell '56, Allen F. Wright '56 and Russell H. Longyear '57. All of the members were chosen from the ROTC-Drill Platoon, which practices twice a week to perfect difficult drills not included in the basic drill formations.

The two teams, which preceded this one have both performed very well. Both of the two units have an excellent chance to be chosen to take part in the final competition. At that time the best four of the thirteen teams which have taken part in the weekly telecasts will compete for first, second and third place.

Faculty Show Enjoyed; Love Intriques, Acting, Scenery All Praised

Both Adequats
Burton Taylor was impressive as Scandal, but a hesitancy in lines and a blurred enunciation proved to be a serious defect. His scene with Mrs. Foresight was, however, gracefully handled. Ira Reis had two roles. Both were performed adequately.

Mrs. Daggett performed, with grace and inimitable charm. Her lines were spoken with an ease and with clarity and precision. Shirley Coombs as the heroine, Angelica, came through with coquetry and dalliance in abundance. Her interpretation was fine, but somewhat lessened by a rather weak voice. A little more volume was really needed. Madeleine Jepsen as Mrs. Foresight moved through her world of intrigue with a display of shrewdness evoked clearly in the interpretation of the part.

Country Girl
Frances Hokanson, the silly country girl, provided some of the production's most amusing moments in conjunction with Mr. Tattle. The seduction scene was played with a convincing innocence on her part, and her portrayal a diverting piece of acting.

A word of praise goes to Mrs. Tiltonson as the wadding, matronly nurse, to Mr. Little, the servant who looked remarkably like Ben Franklin, and to Eileen Poirs, the maid.
The prologue and epilogue were especially written for this performance by H. B. Brown. Tattle

Graduate Study Tests For Business School Candidates Scheduled

Bowdoin College has been designated as a testing center for the nationwide administration of the Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business of May 13, 1954. Dr. David L. Russell, Director of Student Counseling, has announced.

The test, administered by the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N.J., is required for admission at the graduate business schools of Columbia University, Harvard University, Northwestern University, Rutgers University, Seton Hall University, University of Chicago, University of Michigan, University of Pennsylvania, and Washington University of St. Louis. Applicants to other schools should check with that school as soon as possible to see whether it now requires the test. Application blanks, which should be mailed so as to be received at the Princeton office no later than April 29, and a Bulletin of Information describing registration procedures and containing sample test questions may be obtained from Dr. Russell. Test will be the last for this academic year.

The Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business will not be designed to test specific knowledge of any academic subject. Anyone with normal undergraduate training should be able to do a good job on the test.

and Prue delivered these to an amused audience which was well pleased at the topicality of Mr. Brown's two pieces.

Student Patronage Solicited

First National Bank
Brunswick, Maine

Member of the Federal Reserve System and Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

After Vacation Will Be Too Late

Take Advantage Of The Old Price Now

MODERN LIBRARY — 1.25
(Regular Edition)

Effective April 1, 1954, the new price will be $1.45

MOULTON UNION BOOKSTORE

How the stars got started ☆☆☆

Alan Ladd says:
"I was a Hollywood stagehand. One day I fell 20 feet off a scaffold. I wasn't hurt, but I decided acting was safer. I went to acting school, played bit parts . . . finally I hit pay dirt in 'This Gun for Hire'."

Alan Ladd
MOVIE STAR

START SMOKING CAMELS YOURSELF! Smoke only Camels for 30 days and find out why Camels are first in mildness, flavor and popularity! See how much pure pleasure a cigarette can give you!

I STARTED SMOKING CAMELS BECAUSE SO MANY OF MY FRIENDS DID. ONCE I STARTED, I KNEW CAMELS WERE FOR ME. FOR MILDNESS AND FLAVOR, YOU CAN'T BEAT 'EM!

for Mildness and Flavor —

CAMELS AGREE WITH MORE PEOPLE

THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

Let us help you plan your printing as well as produce it . . .

Our long experience in producing the following and other kinds of printing for Bowdoin men can show you short cuts in time and save you money.

- TICKETS • POSTERS • STATIONERY
- ALUMNI LETTERS • FRATERNITY FORMS

The Record Office

Paul K. Niven Jerry Wilcox

• Printers Of The Orient •

BOWL-MOR

Alleys
AUTOMATIC PIN SETTERS

Hot Dogs
Italian Sandwiches
Cold Drinks
Coffee
Ice Cream

Operated by Al Tobey, Class of '50

POLAR BEARINGS

By Joseph Y. Rogers '55, ORIENT Sports Editor

There has been much discussion on the quantity and quality of Bowdoin athletes during recent years. Many wonder why every sport isn't equipped with top-flight stars, and those sports which do have one or two star athletes are questioned as to why there aren't more of them. The majority of the students here at Bowdoin sit by and criticize a coach if a winning season is not realized, fervently holding to the belief that if the coach were replaced there would immediately be no more worries as far as producing consistently winning teams. The source of the trouble, however, is not found in the coach but in the apathetic attitude of the students themselves. For the students have wide opportunities to interest athletes in Bowdoin.

The coaches cannot campaign actively for high school athletes; they also cannot be expected to know of all the athletes who would be interested in coming to Bowdoin, if they knew something about it. The initial contact must be made by the student, whether he's on a varsity sport or not. Those who were active in sports before coming to Bowdoin must know some of the athletes in their respective schools. After all, it's the athletes who know the athletes, and as such it is their job to do their share in interesting their former athletic schoolmates in coming to Bowdoin.

The students, whenever possible, should invite athletes from their former schools who have the necessary scholastic standings up here and show them around; explain what scholarships are available to them and how they can help work their way through college, if they are in need of help financially. By introducing these fellows to the coaches of their sports, the coach can then keep in touch with them and do his best to increase their interest in what Bowdoin has to offer. Bowdoin's biggest selling point is Bowdoin itself; by taking an interest in these athletes who are undecided as to where to continue their education and by showing them around the college, much can be done in bringing more athletes to Bowdoin.

How well such a system could work can be exemplified by the efforts of the swimming team. Bob McGrath, Gil Wishart, and Larry Boyle came to Bowdoin due to work by previous members of the team. Bob Arwezon "found" Bowdoin through McGrath; Arwezon, in turn, interested Bob Glover in the advantages of Bowdoin. John Collier and Tom Merrill were influenced by the efforts of Glover in their decision to come here. At present there are at least six outstanding swimmers who are interested in coming here — mainly through the work of the members of the swimming team. Incidentally, one of them is one of the better backstrokers in the country, and a well-known Eastern university has offered him an extremely large scholarship; yet after seeing Coach Miller and Bowdoin, it is believed he may end up here. Thus we have a "chain reaction" existing, where everyone on the team does a little to keep a steady flow of material coming to Bowdoin for the swimming team.

However, it is not up to just those on the varsity sports; it is also the job of anyone who knows of any athletes from his own area who would like to come to Bowdoin if they only knew something about it. Many of them would prefer a small college and its advantages over a large university. There are many who would rather come to Bowdoin and work their way through than coast along on large scholarships at bigger educational institutions.

It should be emphasized that the scholastic standards of the college should not be lowered; athletes who haven't the marks to enter Bowdoin should receive no favored treatment, any more than those who do enter. Also, it should be remembered that all of these potential entrants to Bowdoin are under pressure from other colleges and universities; it's a competitive system. Since many athletes come to Bowdoin when they could get better scholarships somewhere else shows Bowdoin must have something. Our job is to show them what it is.

Freshmen Edge Tufts Track Squad, 50-49; McWilliams Sets Mark

By John E. Simonds '57

The Freshman Track squad finished up a successful season recently with a 50-49 triumph over the Tufts first-year men on the Tufts track.

Bill McWilliams highlighted the field events of the meet by throwing the shot put 49 feet and one-half inch setting a new meet record. He also took second in the 35-pound weight and tied with Dwight Eaton for first in the pole vault with a height of 10 feet 9 inches. Outstanding in the running events was the 300-yard dash, in which the first three men crossed the finish line with only one-half of a second separating the winner from the third man. Wells of Tufts shattered the tape in 35.2. Bowdoin's Les Leonetti was second with a 35.4 time, and Coviello of the home team came home third in 35.7 seconds.

Long-legged Phil Meyers skimmed over the 45-yard high hurdles (Continued on Page 4)

CUMBERLAND THEATRE Brunswick, Maine

Thursday March 25
JUBILEE TRAIL
with Vera Balston Forrest Tucker
News Short Subject

Friday-Saturday March 26-27
CREATURE OF THE BLACK LAGOON with Richard Carlson Julia Adams
News Short Subject

Sunday-Monday-Tuesday March 28-29-30
SASKATCHEWAN
with Alan Ladd Shelley Winters
News Cartoon

Wednesday-Thursday March 31-April 1
TENNESSEE CRAMP
with Shelley Winters Dewey Martin
News Short Subjects

LETTERS, NUMERALS GIVEN IN 4 SPORTS

Bowdoin College Athletic Director Mal Morrill announced last Saturday the award of swimming letters and numerals for the past season. Seven men were awarded letters, with seven more winning their numerals. Twenty freshmen also received numerals. The varsity team, headed by Captain Bob Arwezon, finished in a tie for sixth place among fourteen colleges at the 36th annual New England Intercollegiate Swimming Association championship held at Storrs, Conn., two weeks ago. Coach Bob Miller was unable to travel with the team because of ill health. With all but two members of this year's varsity back, with some solid reinforcements from the freshman ranks, and with Miller fully recovered, the Polar Bear swimmers should have a better season next year.

Varsity letters were awarded to the following: Robert K. G. Arwezon, Providence, R.I.; Kenneth G. Brigham, Brewer, Me.; Theo A. de Winter, Hurlingham, Argentina; Robert H. Glover, Brockton, Mass.; Stephen R. Morse, Newton Centre, Mass.; Clark H. Neill, Cape Cod, Mass.; David A. Pyle, Plymouth, Mass.; William G. Thalhimer of Wilmington, Del., was awarded a varsity manager's letter.

Those awarded varsity numerals were Hugh Courtel, Evanston, Ill.; Ernest G. Flint, Jr., Beverly, Mass.; Philip W. Gilman, Plainfield, N.J.; Kurt Herman, Cambridge, Mass.; Lawrence Johnston, Bar Harbor, Me.; Lloyd E. Willey, Bangor, Me., and H. James Williams, Braintree, Mass.

Freshman numerals went to: John W. Albert, East Orange, N.J.; Richard W. Chase, Milford, Conn.; John F. Collier, Charlestown, Mass.; Alfred C. Darrow Jr., Camden, Me.; Richard G. Davis, Pittsburgh, Penna.; James W. Dewsnapp, West Long Branch, N.J.; Arnold L. Freedland, Manchester, N.H.; Marvin P. Frogel, Quincy, Mass.; Alden L. Head, Bangor, Me.; William S. Howard, Wollaston, Mass.

ARU Wins Interfraternity Bowling Crown; Psi Upsilon, Kappa Sigma, Betas Follow

By Saul H. Cohen '57

Last Wednesday, a high-scoring ARU team overwhelmed the Psi U bowlers to win the Interfraternity Bowling Championship. The Psi U's continued to bowl the high scores which have marked their mid-season drive and they proved even stronger than expected. Particular credit for this fine showing should go to Nate Cushman, who averaged 103 for three strings.

Going into the second string, ARU held a scant eight-point lead. At this point the Psi U's made their bid for the match. Led by Ronnie English who bowled 110 for the second string, Psi U rolled up a total pinfall of 494 for that string as three men topped the century mark. As a result Psi U gained fifteen pins to command a seven-pin lead.

As the third string progressed, the tide began to turn in favor of ARU. (Continued on Page 4)

Baseball Team Opens Drills; Squad Appears Well Balanced

By Russell E. Gosnell '55

In a recent interview, Danny MacFayden reported that about 60 candidates had reported for varsity and freshman baseball practice. Of course, little is known about freshman prospects but we were able to uncover some facts about the varsity. MacFayden said the club, although relatively strong in some departments, would probably not be as good as Bowdoin teams in the last four or five years. The loss of Wally Bartlett, one of the best lead-off hitters the school has had for many years, and hard-hitting Fred Flemming pose problems for the Deacon in the field of capable replacements. At any rate, here is a quick run-down on the team as it looks to us.

The pitching department will certainly be as strong as last year's. Left-handers include veteran Paul Clifford and Lee Dyer. Hal Anthony will probably be the only regular right-handed chucker. In the relief department MacFayden can call on Barry Nichols and Fred Coukos. Also trying for the open spot are Gracy, Al Marshall, Dick Little and Ted Holdrege. The catchers are even stronger. Dick Marshall is back along with Paul Hezelton, a fine receiver up from last year's freshman team.

KS Wins Volleyball; Stops ARU in 2 Games; Cosgrove Leads Way

For the second year in a row, the K.S. won the volleyball championship, beating the ARU's in 2 straight games. Spurred by Jack Cosgrove and Bob Thompson who subbed brilliantly for the injured Hank Shaw, the K.S. romped 15-8, 15-12. Al Werksman and Gerry Goldstein shone for the losers, with Werksman playing perhaps the finest volleyball game that this writer has ever seen.

The K.S. defeated the ATO's and the ARU beat the DS in the semifinals. Both matches were won in 2 straight games. The ATO's forfeited to the DS in the consolation game.

Outstanding players in the league this year were Al Werksman and Gerry Goldstein of the ARU's, Jack Cosgrove and Hank

KAPPA SIGS WIN 56-37 IN BASKETBALL FINAL

By Robert N. Hurst '54

The Kappa Sigs annihilated the Sigma Nu's 56-37 to win their fourth straight interfraternity basketball crown at the Sargent Gym Tuesday night.

The Kappa Sigs, led by Lenny Plasse and Jack Cosgrove, scored 14 points in the first period before the Sigma Nus could out of the cords and were never in danger of losing the lead from that time on. Danny Gulezian started the scoring as he pumped in two quick baskets. Rollie Ware hit for two more points and then Cosgrove and Gulezian sank two foul shots to make it 9-0 before Mark Kaploff put in a foul shot for the Sigma Nus. Lenny Plasse then dunked in five straight points to make it 15-1 before the Sigma Nus knew what happened. At the end of the first period the Kappa Sigs had a commanding 21-8 lead. In that first period the Sigma Nus could only score two field goals, one by Gus Boss and another by Kaploff.

In the second period the Kappa Sigs scored only two from the floor, but managed to boost their lead to 14 points. The Kappa Sigs scored most of their points in this period on foul shots as the Sigma Nus offensive and defensive continued to be ragged.

The third period spelled disaster for the Sigma Nus as starters Paul Clifford and Greg Payne left via the five foul rule and Mark Kaploff, sixth man on the team, quickly followed. At the end of the third period the Kappa Sigs had extended their lead to 19 points, and when the buzzer sounded lead 47-28.

With the Sigma Nu defense going into a man to man the Kappa Sigs were held to three from the floor, but the Sigma Nus hampered by the loss of starters and the injury which forced high scoring Frank Vecella to leave the game, continued to play a ragged game committing personal fouls. The Kappa Sigs took advantage of this and did most of their scoring from the foul line.

Leading the scoring parade for the Kappa Sigs was Lenny Plasse and Rollie Ware, each with 13 points. Plasse had five from the floor and three from the foul line while Ware had six from the floor and one from the foul line. Danny Gulezian also shared scoring honors with Plasse and Ware as he also scored 13 on three from the floor and seven from the foul line. For the Sigma Nus Frank Vecella and Jack Manningham were nigh with eight.

It was not expected to be such a wide open game as was played, for the Kappa Sigs had just squeaked by the Sigma Nus in regular season play for their only loss. Both teams had finished in a dead heat for first place with ten wins and only one loss. However, the Sigma Nus never did get their high powered offense moving and from the opening whistle were never in the game. Much of the Kappa Sigs effectiveness can be attributed to Danny Gulezian's domination of both boards as he hauled down a tremendous number of rebounds.

As the White Key has abolished the Interfraternity Point Cup Trophy the Kappa Sigs will receive just a trophy for their championship in basketball.

Complete and Friendly Banking Services Student Accounts Welcomed

Brunswick Branch FIRST-AUBURN TRUST COMPANY Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

A CAMPUS-TO-CAREER CASE HISTORY

"I didn't know there was such a job."

Emmett Smith supervises operation of this training switchboard, which he originally helped to design.

EMMETT SMITH, E. E., '50, never heard of telephone traffic work, but what he saw of the job intrigued him. He explains how it worked out. (Reading time: 40 seconds)

"Communications have always been one of my main interests—in the Navy and at the University of Michigan. So I was very happy when the Michigan Bell Telephone Company invited me to visit their headquarters to talk about a job.

"In Detroit I had a chance to look at a number of departments, including one I'd never heard of before, the Traffic Department. I found that, in addition to the engineering of switchboards, its work involved the supervision and the actual handling of customer calls. It struck me like a wonderful opportunity to combine staff engineering and field management.

"My first impression was right, too, because my work covered both. First, I had on-the-job training assignments in several different kinds of offices—local, Long Distance, dial and manual. Then

I worked in engineering, translating estimates of future growth into the actual number of circuits and switchboard positions required.

"Now I'm supervising the operation of one of the boards I helped engineer. Briefly, my job is to see that my district gets the kind of equipment it needs and that what we have is functioning properly. Working with people is another major part of my job, too, because I serve in an advisory capacity to the supervisors of the Long Distance operators.

"Needless to say, I'm happy with my job. A job I didn't even know existed."

Emmett Smith's job is with a Bell Telephone Company. There are similar opportunities for college people with Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

Your Wings are your Passport

wherever you go...

Your Air Force wings are your personal passport to universal respect and admiration. They're a sign—recognized everywhere—that mark you as one of America's finest.

To wear them, you must win them... as an Aviation Cadet. They come with the gold bars of an Air Force Lieutenant and earnings of over $5,000 a year! They come complete with the admiration of a grateful Nation.

If you're single, between 19 and 26½, prepare to win this passport to success. Join the Aviation Cadets! For further information, fill out this coupon today.

AVIATION CADET, AFPTR-P-4 Headquarters, U.S.A.F., Washington 25, D.C.

Please send me information on my opportunities as an Air Force Pilot.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____

UNITED STATES AIR FORCE

Ice Cubes On Toast

By Benjamin G. M. Priest '54

Well, Hunters, here it is...The big, all new, Spring Issue of JADALOON PERSPECTIVE.

Jadaloons Perspective, a comprehensive and rather sincere little magazine, occupies a somewhat unique position in the publishing world by virtue of its being the only national quarterly to be issued but once a year. There just isn't that much you could say about Jadaloons that would fill up four issues. Give us credit for one anyway, won't you. And stop that continual grousing. Nag, nag, nag. Honestly!

L. Bugbee McNabb Lancelot Bugbee McNabb, founder of the Clear Eyed and Steady Handed Jadaloons Hunters of America and co-discoverer of war, would have celebrated his two hundred and seventeenth birthday last Monday, had he lived. The annual McNabb Day Parade held in honor of the memory of this great Pioneer was a miserable flop. No-bodies came. Head Hunter for the National Council Christopher Medles shed a few very appropriate words and went home to sulk.

Immediately following this year's signal effort, the Jadaloons Festivities committee got right down to work planning next year's Parade. It should be a corker! The committee divulged.

Poetry Contest Winner
Young, three and a half month old, poet Attaberry Fluke Jr. of Sippawissippi Mississippi wrote the following prize winning poem:
The Nature of an Epitaph for a Frog

(Oeil de boeuf
Lux et veritas
Himmel Herr Gott
E s'empure L'ora
A Birdy with a Yeller Bill
Clumb upon my winder sill
It was a Jadaloons.
On, well down Attaberry. The judges were overjoyed to award you the prize. Unfortunately, it looked so good, they ate it themselves.

Jadaloons Migrations
As many of you folks who follow the Jadaloons in his (or her) wanderings about the country know, our most familiar species, J. Vulgaris Americanus, spends most of its leisure winter months in empty cabs down in New York city. It is the rare hunter who, when in the big city, has not felt the slithering brush against his legs of an escaping 'Loon. We understand that one hunter so far recovered from his surprise at being brushed that he was able to take a lusty swipe at the retreating creature with the handle of his umbrella. Well done.

At any rate, Spring is here again, and once more the Jadaloons are beginning to move North. There is no direct cause for alarm as yet. A typical Jadaloons stands about seven feet three inches tall and has a wing-span of somewhere around three inches. This makes it a bit difficult for him to get about, but they are plucky beasts and should be given credit.

There will be a slight reward offered for the Hunter sighting the first Jadaloons of the season.

Sporting Tips
Hunters, be sure of your Jadaloons. We here on the staff of Jadaloons Perspective want out to interview Coonskin McCafferty, by far the oldest living Hunter. He gave us some tips which we here pass on to you.

1. Never try for the head, wheezed Coonskin, "dern thing too small for a good shot and, besides, them scales shed bullets like water."
2. A shoulder shot is best, if you can get it."
3. Never trust a wounded 'Loon. They'd just as soon charge as look at yuh. Mean devils."

Letters
Address any queries or comments to Ice Cubes, The Orient. We have lots of pamphlets and junk that we are dying to send out.

Jadaloons Notice.
Program for Meetings
4. Month of April
Meeting 1: Discuss March
Meeting 2: Plan for Meeting 3
Meeting 3: Discuss Meeting 2
Meeting 4: Rain

ARU Wins Bowling Play-offs
[Continued from Page 3]
ARU. After Bob Bernson opened the string for ARU, the team steadily and finally clinched the match in an excitingly tight finish as Harvey Levine gained nine points on the final pinfall. The match ended with ARU on the long end of an 1147-1155 score.

The season's records strongly affirm ARU's claim to the championship. ARU definitely did not back into the playoffs but, on the contrary, has proved itself to be the outstanding team in the league.

ARU finished first in the regular season's standings; compiled the season's high team average, two high match totals, and the high single string total. Three men on the team, Bob Bernson, Roger Gordon and Harvey Levine, averaged over 90 to stand well up among the league's top ten bowlers and the fourth man on the squad, Arnie Goldman, was not far behind with an 89 average. Harvey Levine has been particularly outstanding throughout the season as he rolled up the second highest average in the league, and proved to be the season's best clutch bowler.

In the consolation match, Joe Tebbe, with a 91 average for three strings, led the Kappa Sigmas to a 1055-1032 victory over the luckless Betas. As a result Kappa Sigma finished in third place, behind Psi U to whom they lost in the semifinals; the Betas, who lost to ARU in the semi-finals, ended in fourth place.

Braze Young paced Beta with a very respectable 101 average, but he could not overcome the handicap.

Meddies On TV
[Continued from Page 1]
ballads which the group sang were "Light Upon the Shore," and "Swelling in Bush Land."

The entire program will be re-broadcast on Boston's WBZ-TV on Sunday, April 4 at 10:00 a.m. Viewers in this area will be better able to see the show when it is telecast by WCSH-TV of Portland, Sunday, April 13 at 10:00 a.m. A kinescope of the entire broadcast will be exhibited throughout the country during the next six months.

Consult Your Campus Agent
GEORGE W. GRAHAM '55
About Life Insurance
Provident Mutual Of Philadelphia

Telephone 8-1911
BILL'S
Our Specialties:
Italian Spaghetti Pizza
Hot Pastromi
Steaks and Chops
REGULAR DINNERS
"Bowdoin Men's Favorite Restaurant"
Beer and Ale on Draft and in Bottles
6 1/2 ELM STREET
BRUNSWICK MAINE

'Flapper' Flemming At Tigers Spring Training Camp In Florida

Fred 'Flapper' Flemming, re-coined Bowdoin athletic star, is making a determined bid to remain on the Detroit Tigers' roster. Fred is at the Detroit spring training camp at Lakeland, Fla., along with 50 or 60 other recruits.

Flemming comes from New Brunswick, Conn. where his father, Hugh John Flemming, is Premier. While at Bowdoin 'Flapper' was a star athlete, competing in football and baseball. He played end on the '52 championship football team and was appointed to the intercollegiate All-American baseball team.

Before signing with the Tigers, Flemming was sought by eleven other major league clubs.

In the four games so far that he has appeared in Fred has been able to get a single hit in each one. As a pinch hitter in the eighth against the Pittsburgh Pirates he came through with a sharp single. In his first full game, Flemming blasted a single and was robbed of another by Red Schoendienst while playing against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Joe Gordon and Johnny Hoop, Tiger batting and fielding coaches, are pleased with his progress to date and while making no definite statements, admit to the possibility that Flemming could stick with the Tigers this year.

Freshmen Edge Tufts Track Squad, 50-49

[Continued from Page 3]
in 6.5 with teammate Mike Coster right behind him, and Leonetti whisked over the 50-yard dash in 5.7 to give the Polar Cubs thirteen points in the short sprint events.

In the middle distances Joe McDaniels won the 600 in a 1:20 clocking; John Herrick grabbed the runner-up slot behind Tufts' Dahl in a 4:37 mile and also placed third in the 1000-yard run.

Skip Howland outstepped all competitors in the broad jump with a distance of 20 feet one inch, while Dwight Eaton took a third in that event, a first place tie in the pole vault, and deadlocked for second in the high jump with Reece of Tufts. Pepper of the Jumbo Freshmen heaved the 35-pound weight 41 feet 11 inches for first place honors.

McWilliams won a toss of 39 feet 9 and one-half inches and Bob Philippe garnered second and third takes for Bowdoin.

The summary:
45-yard high hurdles - 1. Meyers (B); 2. Coster (B); 3. Watson (T); Time 5.5
50-yard dash - 1. Leonetti (B); 2. Wells (T); 3. Covello (T); Time 5.7 sec.
100-yard run - 1. Langolia (T); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 2:27
200-yard run - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Covello (T); 3. Bye (T); Time 1:20
300-yard run - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 4:37
400-yard run - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 1:55
500-yard run - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 2:32
600-yard run - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 3:57
800-yard run - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 5:37
1000-yard run - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 10:20
1500-yard run - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 17:45
2000-yard run - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 25:10
3000-yard run - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 38:15
4000-yard run - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 51:20
5000-yard run - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 64:25
6000-yard run - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 77:30
7000-yard run - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 90:35
8000-yard run - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 103:40
9000-yard run - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 116:45
10000-yard run - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 129:50
1 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 4:37
2 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 9:40
3 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 14:43
4 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 19:46
5 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 24:49
6 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 29:52
7 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 34:55
8 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 39:58
9 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 45:01
10 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 50:04
11 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 55:07
12 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 60:10
13 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 65:13
14 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 70:16
15 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 75:19
16 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 80:22
17 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 85:25
18 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 90:28
19 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 95:31
20 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 100:34
21 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 105:37
22 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 110:40
23 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 115:43
24 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 120:46
25 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 125:49
26 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 130:52
27 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 135:55
28 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 140:58
29 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 146:01
30 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 151:04
31 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 156:07
32 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 161:10
33 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 166:13
34 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 171:16
35 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 176:19
36 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 181:22
37 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 186:25
38 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 191:28
39 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 196:31
40 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 201:34
41 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 206:37
42 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 211:40
43 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 216:43
44 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 221:46
45 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 226:49
46 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 231:52
47 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 236:55
48 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 241:58
49 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 247:01
50 mile - 1. McDaniels (B); 2. Bradley (T); 3. Herrick (B); Time 252:04

Mass. Alternate is John C. Newman '54, New York, N. Y.

Old Award
This prize is the second oldest undergraduate award in the history of Bowdoin. It is given annually "to that member of the Senior Class who shall write and deliver the best oration." This year the winner will receive an award of $50.

Varsity Debating Team Visits Brooklyn College

On March 12 and 13 the debating team travelled to Brooklyn College, Brooklyn, N. Y., to compete in an intercollegiate debate attended by 59 colleges. On the trip down the team stopped at the American International College of Springfield, Mass. This debate was a non-decision matter.

The students representing Bowdoin in the debate on Free-trade were: for the affirmative - William Hale '56, Morton Price '56; for the negative - Elliot Palmer '55 and Roger Gordon '54.

The negative won three of its five rounds beating Amherst, St. Peter's, and the American International College of Springfield. The affirmative defeated the U.S. Naval Academy.

That evening at the banquet Dr. Howard Piquet and Congressman Jacob Javits spoke on liberalizing the present tariff policy and answered questions from the 300 debaters present.

Letters, Numerals Given In 4 Sports

[Continued from Page 3]
Varsity Basketball Letters: Perry Allen, Phil Day, Jim Flaker, Bill Fraser, Ronnie Goltz, Roland Janelle, Ed Kenney, John Kreider, John Libby, John Marr, and Dave Mitchell, manager for varsity; Dave Donahue, manager for frosh.

Varsity Basketball Numerals: Dick Kurtz, Ken Miller and Curt Webber.

Freshman Basketball Numerals: Ed Kenney, John Kreider, John Eaton, Harry Carpenter, Dick Lockett, Tom Fraser, John Grindol, William Gardner, Gene Helsel, Dave Hunter, Bob Johnson, Norman Levy, Paul McGoldrick, Bob Wishart and John Finn.

William Hale was elected varsity manager in basketball for '54-'55; Kurt Volk was elected Frosh manager for '54-'55.

Varsity Skiing Letters: Bill Clark, Skip Lacon, Charles Christie, Tim Greene, Barry Nichols, Paul DuBrule and Dick Marshall.

New Lamps In Union Guarantee Students More Light, Less Strain

Many new lamps and lighting fixtures have been installed in the Moulton Union to afford students better light for reading and studying.

In the main lounge new three-way bulbs have been inserted in the reading lamps. To improve the every day light and provide a better light for lectures, the Moulton Union, under the direction of Mr. Donovan Lancaster, has engaged lighting engineers who have designed the new lampshades which can be seen there now. The Union is also planning to install small flood lights in the main lounge which will better illuminate the piano and the lecture stand. Similar improvements have been made in the smaller lounge.

The dining room has also had lighting improvements. Indirect lighting fixtures have been installed in the ceiling, giving more light but cutting down the glare. A limited number of table lamps have given the dining room a more intimate atmosphere.

Finally, the lamp over the main entrance has been replaced and improved.

THOMAS MEANS, GREEK PROFESSOR, PRODUCED PLAYS, BUILT DEPARTMENT

By Richard B. Lyman Jr. '57

Thomas Means, Joseph E. Merrill, Professor of Greek Language and Literature, who will complete over 33 years of teaching at Bowdoin next September, has followed a policy he calls "participation in life," which has acquired happiness for him.

Among the areas of participation he includes are those of war and peace, and in social, academic and political activities.

A series of classical plays in the original and in English produced by Professor Means at Bowdoin has been called his "most glorious achievement" by Associate Professor of Classics Nathan Dane II. Beginning in 1922 with the production of Mastellaria by Plautus the series was completed in 1953. This long range plan, believed to be unique, produced at least one play of every classical dramatist with works extant, from Aeschylus to Hrotsvitha. His "most striking success" according to Professor Dane occurred with the production of Oedipus Tyrannus in Professor Means' own translation in the '30's, and The Seven Against Thebes in more recent years. Also memorable was the production of Aristophanes' Lysistrata at Cumberland Theater about 15 years ago.

Building Classics Department
One of Professor Means' great contributions to Bowdoin has been the building of the classical department. During the past one-third of a century and under the tutelage of some 45 to 20 instructors, Bowdoin has developed more classical professors in Philosophy than any other similar New England College.

Some of his former pupils now on the Bowdoin faculty include the following men: Professors Daggett and Quinby; Associate Professors Riley, Russell, Hall and Dane; Assistant Professors Carey, Chittim and Benjamin; and Messrs. Lancaster, McIntire and Peabody.

The five former colleagues, now no longer on active duty here, to whom Professor Means gives credit for the strength of the department are Professors F. E. Woodruff, K. C. M. Sills, F. Nixon, H. B. Dewing, and S. B. Smith, all former professors of classics or chair holders in the department.

Now considered an outstanding authority on Aristotle and Catullus, Professor Means has taught athletics, dramatics, English, French, Greek and Latin in his career.

Much of the Professor's work has been in writing scholarly and literary papers. He has read papers at all classical organizations from local to national groups, and has published in most of the classical journals in the country with several articles pending.

Rhodoss Scholar
Professor Means, a member of the class of 1910 received his college education at Yale University, from which he received two degrees and, at Harvard, where he earned a second Master of Arts degree. From 1911-14 he represented Connecticut on a Rhodes Scholarship at Merton College, Oxford, which now being 69 years old, may possibly be the oldest English-speaking college in the world.

At Yale, Professor Means was a member of Mory's Club in which he holds a life membership. Money and decency were the only requirements for entrance into this group, which was an intellectual and fraternal organization. The men in the club went far out of their way to get a good cross-section of membership.

While at Yale, Professor Means became a member of Sigma Delta Psi, the intercollegiate athletic Phi Beta Kappa.

Although he styles himself a "poor" player, the Rhodes Scholar did represent Oxford against Cambridge in ice hockey. The Oxford student Means also rowed on the Merton College eight, not to be confused with the university varsity.

When he was American Intercollegiate Gymnastic Champion, Professor Means was invited to compete in the equivalent of the Olympics, but says he couldn't have been chosen if he hadn't been the representative of Bowdoin, nevertheless only two persons are chosen each year.

Faculty Committees
Professor Means has served on many faculty committees including such as athletic, curriculum, educational policy, library, major examinations, outing club, and Tallman professorship. He has served on several Rhodes Scholarships committees. He has been Bowdoin chairman, secretary of the Maine State committee, and a member of the New England District committee.

Societies to which he belongs are many, including the American Association of University Professors, the Oxford Society, the Town and College Club. He has served as President of the Classical Association of New England. Professor Means has been an active participant in town-faculty clubs of an intellectual character. He has been the chairman of the classical department of the Maine State Teachers' Association.

At presidential inaugurations of New England Colleges, Professor Means has represented groups to which he belongs. He has represented the American Association of Rhodes Scholars at Bowdoin; the Classical Association of New England at Tufts, and Yale University at Bates.

The "Percolators," a small faculty club with one common denominator - a sense of humor - included Thomas Means among its members. Bringing each other intellectual and witty fun in a friendly spirit, the members subject each other to a merciless roasting on all suitable occasions. One activity is the writing by each man each year of a paper on any topic, which is then discussed rather critically. Others in this informal club at present include Professors Hammond, Brown, Holmes, Koellin, Korgen, Kammerling, and Quinby.

Professor Means has participated actively in politics and local civic organizations. In connection with these functions, he has acted as adjutant to the Commanding Officer in the aircraft observers, as chairman of the Democratic town committee, of the Greek War Relief committee both for money and clothes, and of the War Memorial committee for all service men and women as well as for casualties.

Although he generally supports the Democratic party, Professor Means has voted for the federal Republican and Socialist electors in different years.

150th Anniversary Exhibition Of Merimee Featured In Library

An exhibit commemorating the 150th anniversary of Prosper Merimee, one of France's greatest literary figures, is currently on display in Hubbard Hall.

The exhibition, originally planned for 1953, was not able to be housed in the library before this semester. Enclosed in the two show cases are several of Merimee's books from the collection of the Bowdoin College Library, besides many autographed letters, Merimee's originals, which were loaned by Professor and Mrs. Livingston.

Prosper Merimee was born on September 28, 1803, and since both his parents were painters, he inherited a great deal of artistic ability, as is shown in his many water colors, a few of which are part of the exhibit. However, his interests were far from being confined to painting; architecture also occupied much of his time. Two letters, one of which asserts that the architect of Venice is the "work of tradesmen, not artists", shows this interest.

Merimee was also an archaeologist, and in 1834 was the "Inspektor General des Monuments Historiques," in which position he saved many valuable monuments and old relics from neglect, destruction, faulty restoration, and removal from their original places.

But it is his writing which Merimee is most famous for; the success of his novel, "Chronique du Temps de Charles IX", was probably responsible for his being a writer instead of a dramatist. His greatest novels were "Columba" and "Carmen", a story set in Spain. Among his prominent short stories is "Mateo Falcone", a story of Corsica, which Merimee wrote before he had been to Corsica.

Altogether, the exhibition is quite interesting for anyone interested in seeing some of the original letters of one of the greatest writers of Europe.

The ladies in these U. S. A. use enough lipstick every year to paint 40,000 barns. And some old-fashioned cynics think it would look better on the barns.

Outfitters to Bowdoin Men

Unusually Fine

GREY FLANNEL SLACKS

To the best of our knowledge, slacks of this fine quality flannel generally sell for $22.50.

The pure wool Hannel is the finest made in this country. Frankly, these slacks represent the best slack value we've ever presented. In Oxford and Cambridge gray.

13.⁹⁵

ASK ANY GOLFER WHO OWNS A SET OF SYNCHRO-DYNED CLUBS!

Hundreds of unsolicited testimonials from amateur golfers tell the same story on Spalding Synchro-Dyned woods and irons - golf's more fun now and a lower-scoring game, too!

You'll see why the first time you play these advance-design clubs. Your shots are easier to control, your swing is freer, your timing more uniform - because every wood, every iron has the identical contact feel!

Have your Spalding dealer fit you now.

SPALDING Synchro-Dyned

BOBBY JONES' WOODS & IRONS JIMMY THOMSON' WOODS

MAINE STREET BRUNSWICK

"Matchless Service"

Ford

Sales and Service
Complete Selection A-1 Guaranteed
USED CARS
Maine's Most Modern Auto Body Repair and Paint Shop
Complete Front End and Frame Alignment

Harry H. Smart, Inc.

PHONE 7560
87 PLEASANT STREET • BRUNSWICK, MAINE

Want lower golf scores consistently?

ASK ANY GOLFER WHO OWNS A SET OF SYNCHRO-DYNED CLUBS!

Hundreds of unsolicited testimonials from amateur golfers tell the same story on Spalding Synchro-Dyned woods and irons - golf's more fun now and a lower-scoring game, too!

You'll see why the first time you play these advance-design clubs. Your shots are easier to control, your swing is freer, your timing more uniform - because every wood, every iron has the identical contact feel!

Have your Spalding dealer fit you now.

SPALDING Synchro-Dyned

BOBBY JONES' WOODS & IRONS JIMMY THOMSON' WOODS

MAINE STREET BRUNSWICK