On behalf of the Canada-United States Law Institute, the Journal gratefully acknowledges support from the Government of Canada, and the Department of Foreign Affairs International Trade Canada. The Journal offers a special debt of gratitude for the ongoing support provided by the Consulate General of Canada in Detroit, Michigan, Consul General Roy Norton, and Political, Economic Relations, and Public Affairs Manager George Costaris.

EDITOR'S NOTES

Volume Thirty-Seven, Number One of the Canada-United States Law Journal contains articles written by academics, professionals, and students regarding environmental, economic, and social comparisons and discussions between the United States and Canada. Additionally, this issue includes the Bench Brief and the winning student briefs of the 2012 Niagara International Moot Court Competition. We extend a sincere thank you to each contributing author for his or her insightful and exceptional scholarship.

The publication of this issue could not have taken place without the assistance of a wonderful group of people. First, we extend thanks to the Journal's academic advisor, David Kocan, for his guidance and advice. David has been very supportive of the Journal and we are beyond appreciative of his open-door policy for all things Journal-related. We also wish to thank Chios Carmody for his continued support and enthusiasm at The University of Western Ontario Faculty of Law.

We must thank the Journal editorial members for their hard work. The Executive and Associate Editors have worked diligently for months editing, finding strong supporting authorities, and footnoting. These are time-consuming tasks, and each editor has performed admirably his or her duty in bringing this issue to publication. The Journal could not be published without the tireless work of the editorial members. The Executive Board members, Stuart Sparker and Keith White, were instrumental through their positive cooperation in compiling this issue. Likewise, Sheliza Pyrali, the Canadian Corresponding Editor, was invaluable at Western Ontario and successfully expanded the Western staff's involvement in the Journal's publication.

Special thanks are due to Kelsey Marand and Katlyn Kraus who went above and beyond the call of editorial duty. These individuals willingly performed more than their share of assignments and contributed to the excellent work product in front of you. Thank you all for your attention to detail and for keeping us company in the office.

Additionally, we would like to acknowledge our research librarian, Andrew Dorchak. He is truly a research genius and our staff would be lost without him.

Lastly, and with our biggest thank you of all, we would like to recognize the Managing Editors, John Sawyer and Tyler Talbert. John has been an unfailing support throughout this entire process. His willingness to assume added duties despite his many other non-Journal related responsibilities is much appreciated. Jack, thank you for your dedication, friendship, and tolerating my many frenzied emails, text messages, and phone calls. Tyler ultimately provided the final push in helping to publish this issue and without him, it would not have been possible.

We would also like to thank our family and friends for their support and patience during the publication process. We cannot imagine completing this issue without their encouragement and understanding.

On behalf of the entire Canada-United States Law Journal, we appreciate your continued support and readership. Thank you.
