National Library Week

Sources

In conjunction with National Library Week 2000 and the bicentennial celebration of the Library of Congress, the Armed Forces Staff College Library created the attached display. This three dimensional display features the U.S. postage stamp issued to commemorate the 200th birthday of the Library of Congress and items from the American Treasures collection. Ron Eicholtz, Visual Information Specialist, designed the display as a backdrop for our information desk so that library patrons will see it when they approach the desk.

Although the celebrations are over, the display remains in place as a reminder to all that the Library of Congress collection is well worth a trip to Washington D.C.
