Students Enjoy Winterthur Visit

by Jean Hunter

On Wednesday, October 10, 32 Ursinus students went to the Henry Francis duPont Winterthur Museum in Winterthur, Delaware. After an hour's drive, and a box lunch provided by the kitchen, they arrived at the rambling mansion that probably contains the world's finest collection of domestic architecture, furniture, ceramics, metal work, textiles, paintings, and prints that might have been found in the homes of Americans during the years 1640-1840.

How They Lived

The house at Winterthur was built in 1839 by an early relative of the duPonts. When it came into the hands of the present owner, Henry Francis duPont, he began, in 1927, to build the Museum by installing the woodwork from old houses from New Hampshire to North Carolina. These rooms he furnished with American antiques which he had been collecting for many years, arranging them as they might have stood in the homes where they were originally used.

He worked with the purpose of showing the way early Americans lived, as well as our country's rich tradition of craftsmanship in architecture and household arts.

In 1951, the museum was opened to the public, and the house was deeded to the Winterthur Corporation, an educational charitable foundation. In the house there are about 100 period rooms, covering the domestic scene from 1640 to 1840. Those on the tour were shown rooms which demonstrated all aspects of life in early America. They varied from the drawing room of a wealthy Philadelphia merchant to the main room of a crude country farmhouse.

The students, mostly from Dr. Parsons' American History class, all felt that they had gained new insight into life as it must have been in this period. They grew to understand and appreciate more the art and artisans of early America.

Pre-Medicals Hear Student Talks

by Ted Wilf

The first Brownback-Anders Pre-Medical Society meeting of the year took place Tuesday, Oct. 9. First, Dr. Wagner gave a brief history of the society, tracing its development from the "Biology Club" to its present status.

Next, four Ursinus students talked about their summer jobs in the medical profession: each had experienced different aspects of medicine. Jane Mikuliak worked as an assistant lab technician at the Mercer Hospital in Trenton; Phil Brackin helped

Recent Spike Convocation Provocative, Analytic

Dr. Robert W. Spike spoke at a Convocation on October 15 concerning secularism in the modern world. Dr. Spike is affiliated with the United Church of Christ and serves the Judson Memorial Church in Greenwich Village.

Dr. Spike feels that today's man must tear down the walls of false distinctions between the sacred and the secular. Certain things are felt to be religious simply because they are labeled so. However, many times there is a conflict because they do not in actuality make for genuine religious thinking. He believes that one cannot have religion in a corner. Man cannot be neutral, but he must be fighting out in words about religious issues.

After the convocation Dr. Spike answered questions from the audience. He feels that students of Ursinus should try to understand the nature of the times and to encourage love and joy of this life.

Gould, Moser, Harris and Miller Elected as Freshman Officers

With the election of officers on Tuesday, October 16, the freshman class came into being as a part of the Ursinus campus.

Tim Cope Elected As MSGA Soph Rep.

Tim Cope, a biology pre-med major, was recently elected to the post of sophomore representative to the MSGA, replacing Kent Ferguson, who is taking a year's leave of absence in Europe.

A manager of the football team, Cope is a member of the Brownback - Anders Pre - Med Society. He hails from Red Lion, Pa.

Cope encourages the sophomore men to give him their opinions concerning major issues so that he will be well prepared to present them.

The new president, Jack Gould, hails from North Wales, Pa., and is a history major. In high school Gould sang in various choruses, played football and was a member of the history club. At Ursinus, he sings in the Messiah Chorus.

Sports-minded Mark Moser, vice-president, is from Long Branch, N. J. Varsity football, wrestling and baseball were his favorite sports in high school. He was also treasurer of the Student Council, president of the Varsity Club, secretary of the Key Club and a member of the Varsity Singers. Here at Ursinus, Moser lends his able support to the football team.

And Two Women

Secretary Ann Harris of Oakhurst, N. J., is a pre-med biology major. Musically talented, Ann has joined the Meistersingers, Messiah Chorus, and the Chapel Choir. In addition, she belongs to the Beardwood Chemical Society. As a high school student, Ann was a member of the National Honor Society, literary editor of the yearbook and held offices in the Biology and Latin Clubs.

Selected to the trusted position of treasurer is pre-med biology major Sally Miller from Coatesville, Pa. While in high school she was president of the Women's Cabinet and a member of the band and the National Honor Society. Here, Sally is a member of the Messiah Chorus and the Beardwood Chemical Society.

Ruby Sales Begin

1963 Ruby sales will begin today.

Editors Kay O'Donnell and Steve Wurster predict that this year will see one of the best editions of the Ruby that has ever been offered. For example, there will be more color and action pictures of campus scenes.

Cole Family Concert Slated for Norristown

Orlando Cole, the renowned cellist whose recital in Bomberger Hall was a highlight last season at Ursinus, will appear at the Octave Club Evening Concert to be held in the Stewart Junior High School of Norristown, on Saturday, Nov. 3, at 8:30 p.m.

With Mr. Cole will be his two sons, flutist and cellist, and Mrs. Cole, pianist. Also assisting will be the brilliant young Philadelphia piano soloist, Marion Zarzeczna, and Lucille Naugle Ringler, lyric soprano.

Friends of Mr. Cole will be delighted to hear him again in solo numbers as well as with his family group. Student and patron tickets may be had at the Studio Cottage on the East Campus or at the door.

JR. - FROSH BANQUET

The Junior Advisory Committee cordially invites all freshman and junior women to the annual Junior-Frosh Breakfast to be held Saturday morning, October 27, at 8:30 a.m. in the upstairs dining room.

The announcement of Senior Sue Miller's election to serve as Homecoming Queen Saturday pleased especially Demas fraternity and Tau Sig sorority, respectively her fraternity sponsor and individual sorority. But others were pleased, also: she seemed to be a favorite of those in the crowd, and who can blame them? She is truly a Queen.

And, oh yes, as one bystander remarked after the crowning, "It's a shame they all can't win . . ."

Queen & Football Victory Highlight Saturday's Homecoming Festivities

by The Weekly News Staff

Weather? Clear. Grads? Present. Excitement? Rampant.

Such was the story Saturday when the campus entertained "oldtimers" on Homecoming Day.

Festivities began in the early morning as women in the off-campus dormitories put the finishing touches on Homecoming decorations. Meanwhile, down on Patterson Field the crepe-paper artists were at work decorating the field for the afternoon game.

Sorority luncheons for returning grads were held in various places throughout the area.

At 2 p.m. Ursinus kicked off against Swarthmore. The Bears were in fine form and posted a 14-8 victory. Receiving the Kenneth E. Walker Memorial Trophy for the most outstanding performance during the game was Ronald Ritz, a junior from Mamaroneck, N. Y.

The half-time show featured the Ursinus Band and its version of "The Peppermint Twist" with the added help of the majorettes.

Perhaps the most anticipated event of the show was the crowning of this year's Homecoming queen. Miss Sue Miller, the winner, was Demas' candidate for the crown this year. Her activities include holding the gavel for Tau Sigma Gamma, participation in the Inter-sorority Council, and captaining the Cheerleaders.

At the conclusion of the game, Open House was held in the dormitories. After parents had deposited food parcels from home, goodbyes were said and the crowds began to thin. Evening festivities included the dance in the T-G Gym (sponsored by the Varsity Club) and fraternity dinners.

'Weekly' Meeting For New Members

The Weekly held an open meeting last Monday for those interested in joining the staff. Approximately 20 persons who attended the recruiting meeting signed their names to staff listings.

Editors and managers of the individual staffs plan to utilize these new members in time. A new staff listing, including the names of promising new writers and members, will replace the present listing on the second page in the coming month.

The Weekly will appear the following Mondays this semester: October 29, November 12 and 19, December 3 and 10, and January 7 and 14.

Sororities Take in 54 Women

Friday, October 12 saw the climax of the first semester sorority rushing season as 54 jubilant pledges were welcomed into Ursinus' five sisterhoods. Out of a total number of 130 women who were eligible to be rushed, 64 received invitations to one or more rushing parties. Of these, 54 signed their bids on Friday ending two weeks of rushing.

The sisters of Alpha Sigma Nu welcome the following women into their group: Mary Jo Banyal, Lynn Belanich, Dorothy Chandler, Edith Clouse, Marilyn Cronmiller, Barbara Hultz, and Virginia Lauer.

Kappa Delta Kappa's new sisters are Bobbi Bew, Carol Boucher, Louise Farwell, Gerri Gehman, Chicki Hamlin, Dottie Kemble, France MacCadden, and Marilyn Thomas.

New additions to Omega Chi are: Betty Belmonte, Sherry Clinchard, Susan Harmon, Joyce Maloney, Susan Mills, Sandy Taylor, and Deanna Walker.

Dawson and King Chosen for Cheerleading Squad

The cheerleading squad was enlarged recently to include two alternate cheerleaders, Jeanne Dawson and Peggy King. Try-outs took place Wednesday, October 17, in the T. G. Gym.

PSEA Meeting Opens Season

On Tuesday evening, October 9, Charles Hentz called the first meeting of the Ursinus chapter of the PSEA to order. This organization, which is a student chapter of the National Education Association, exists chiefly "to produce teachers of a high caliber." In order to secure all interested students, the organization is conducting a membership drive from October 9 to October 26. During this time all students will be contacted by a dormitory representative.

The PSEA completed plans for this coming year's activities. Be-

Millers Join "Koffee Klatch" Opener

Dr. Jessie and Eugene Miller listen attentively to a question being posed to them Friday afternoon during the season's first "koffee klatch," at which they were the guests of honor.

"I knew India was there, but not much more. How many Americans do know very much about India," questioned Mrs. Miller in an informal "koffee klatch" held last Friday. Dr. Eugene Miller, Fulbright Scholar back from India, and his wife, Jessie, and enthusiastic students discussed many and varied topics ranging from Indian music to education and religion. The Millers stressed the poverty of the people. However, they feel that the idea of people dying in the street like flies is an exaggeration.

It was also mentioned that India is trying to do much for the population in the form of education and social welfare. Mrs. Miller mentioned that she felt the Indian government was

A Broken Back

When this editor came to Ursinus in the fall of 1959 one of the most repugnant aspects of college life he found was the Customs Program. What an INSULT to human dignity. What a way for Ursinus to greet its new students. What "friendliness" on the part of upperclassmen. So we thought at the time.

Our feelings are different at this stage of the game. That they have mellowed with time is probable. But rather, we think that, having seen the program repeated for the past three years, our attitude has changed.

Carlton Dingman, head male "soph ruler" (those in authority please excuse my sentimental insistence on the term) feels strongly about this year's program. (Read his article elsewhere in the paper.) We admire him for his honesty and pure guts to say what he really thinks, and to say it publicly. This is more than we can say of certain members of the faculty and administration (many of them newcomers to the campus) who snidely berate the program in private and haven't quite got the same honesty and guts to come out in the open with THEIR opinions.

Perhaps there ARE drawbacks to the Customs Program in its traditional form: this we WILL admit. But the lack of unified campus spirit which typifies practically all upperclassmen and organizations is THIS year already evident in the freshman class, and it is unfortunate. As Dingman says, pressure from upper ranks has broken the back of the Customs Program.

We lament the death.

UC Coed Writes of Summer Experiences at Reform School

by Barbara Gettys

The Glen Mills School, where I worked this summer as a student social worker, is a self-supporting, privately endowed reformatory for juvenile delinquent boys between the ages of eight and sixteen. This institution, which was established in the late 1800's is situated on approximately three hundred acres of rolling ground in the small community of Glen Mills, located between Media and West Chester.

The institution's capacity is 280 boys, approximately 200 of whom are Negro. The majority of these boys come from the Philadelphia area and can be termed "hardened" juvenile delinquents with records that average three type-written pages including such charges as burglary, larceny, incorrigibility, truancy, rape, and homosexuality. Most are "institution-wise," each having been incarcerated in as many as three institutions previously; however, the "graduate" of Glen Mills often finds to his shock that the next step is prison.

The life of the reformatory is organized according to a system known as Week I and Week II, in which the boys work one week at a trade that could include anything from carpentry or printing to the raising of chickens. The alternate week is spent in school, where the classes are grouped according to ability and scholastic attainment.

The boys earn their release from Glen Mills on the basis of a point system whereby each boy is rated numerically, according to his adjustment, by his supervisors in the three areas of work, school and cottage life. Release can be obtained only in a minimum of eleven months after a boy has gained the required 140 points for discharge. The average period of incarceration is fifteen months to two years; however, the majority of boys do not approve of this system and take it upon themselves to attempt to run away, or "skip" as it is termed.

It might be interesting to the reader to note the social grouping of the boys, which is known as the "shot system." It is easily seen as an attempt by the boys to maintain status and identity similar to that of the gangs of Philadelphia. A shot who has reached this awe-inspiring position by brute force runs the cottage in which he lives. If the cottage parents, who supervise and live with the

A Report on the Customs Program

Each year, at the conclusion of the Customs program, the Dean of Men asks the head male soph counselor to summarize the program in a short report, giving opinions and making suggestions towards the program for the coming year.

Carlton Dingman gave us a carbon copy of that report, feeling that the students might be interested in what he, speaking for the other sophomore counselors, had to say. We trust that each reader will seek to understand the problems involved in such a program, and thus analyze Dingman's remarks with an open mind.

The Customs period for 1962 was a failure. Some of the basic points of the program were accomplished, but no class spirit developed among the Class of 1966, nor did much in the way of school spirit appear. A few leaders did stand out, but although many upperclassmen recognize them, the freshman class does not.

The reasons for this failure are manifold and complex. To a large degree the blame may be laid at my feet. But to an even larger degree the fault lies indirectly at the feet of the faculty. In the past three or four years the Customs program has been reduced to a minuteness which makes it completely ineffective. The length of time has been reduced drastically as have been the measures that the Soph Counselors can employ to enforce the traditions that we hope the freshmen will follow.

I respectfully submit that the faculty and the administration of Ursinus College have broken Customs' back, and as I see the situation, they have but three paths which can be followed. First, they may humely "shoot it in the head" and save it from its present agony. Secondly, they may allow it to die by inches as it appears to be doing. Or, thirdly, they may put Customs in a "cast," so to speak, and help it along the road to recovery. It is this last answer which I advocate.

In the Customs this year we tried many new things — some worked and some did not — but at least we tried them. We charged each freshman one additional dollar so that we could present it to them in their class treasury; we took them on a walk about campus to familiarize them with the buildings; we had them play juvenile organization games to get to know one another; we had fewer step shows, and we asked the junior class to take over a two week "guidance period" after the sophomore program was completed. In addition we had hoped to do many things around campus on Clean-Up Day and to form a Dink Corps which, if good enough, might have even put on a demonstration at half-time on Parents' Day. We felt these were ideas that would aid the program and give the freshmen something to rally behind, but we simply didn't have the time or the tools to implement them.

My relations with this year's program have given me a good many ideas which I feel should be used in the future. Primarily I feel that the whole Committee and especially the Head Sophomore Counselor should be picked much earlier in the spring term. Last year I had but three or four weeks to work out the

The company which has been selected to produce this yearbook is the Keller Publishing Co. of Buffalo, N. Y. They are noted for fine production— which is quite evident in their annual production of the Naval Academy Book.

Subscription rates are as follows:

Plan 1: pay for entire book at once: $6.50.

Plan 2: installment plan—$2 down, and the difference by February, 1963; total cost, $7.

As an additional service to underclassmen, the Keller Co. will mail the yearbook to your home during the summer for an extra $.50. This fee includes mailing costs and insurance.

whole program. It simply was not enough time. During the planning period I feel that all Soph Counselors should be talked to by the faculty, not in terms of objections to the program but in terms of objectives to be achieved. LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUSDr. Eugene Miller Reports On India in Recent Forum

by Sharon Rothenberger

"India is a free country still experimenting in democracy," Dr. Eugene Miller told his audience during the first Forum program of the year held on October 10 in Bomberger Chapel. Dr. Miller, who returned to his Political Science classes at Ursinus after spending a year as a Fulbright lecturer at the University of Jadvapur in Calcutta, centered his speech around the topic, "From the Perkiomen to the Ganges."

In reference to his topic, Dr. Miller stated that Ganges River is a holy river. A good Hindu believes that if he bathes in and drinks from this river, only good can come to him. Continuing what resulted in a very interesting and educational discourse of the domestic, economic and political aspects of Indian life, Dr. Miller informed us that there are many Indias. On a ship taking them to Bombay, he and his family were introduced to the modern India. Here the people are much like us — informed, outgoing, hospitable and friendly.

The Old India

From Bombay to Calcutta, where the Millers took up residence for the year, they observed the India of villages. In Calcutta one finds the old India, the home of the Hindu Orthodox. During this sect's religion.

The Weekly Interviews 3 of our 9 Foreign Students

by Carol Lane

There are nine foreign students attending Ursinus this semester. Two of them are returnees, while the other seven are new students. Beginning with this issue, the WEEKLY will run a series of three articles presenting the backgrounds and opinions of each of the foreign students. THIS interview will cover Stephen Blickman, David Oh-hira, and Michael Munro.

Among UC's foreign students this year is Steven Blickman, from the Hague, Netherlands. Blickman heard of Ursinus through the Institute of International Education and applied for a scholarship. Through this means Blickman will be able to spend one year at Ursinus. Before he arrived on campus he corresponded with his faculty advisor, Dr. Rice. He likes Ursinus very much, and before returning to the Netherlands he would like to travel in this country.

And From Tokyo

On May 19, 1962, David Ohhira arrived in the United States from his hometown of Tokyo, Japan. Thus, he finally achieved his childhood desire of coming to this country. Although he already has his B.S., he is majoring in economics in order to enter business upon his return to Tokyo. A teacher in St. Paul's University in Tokyo suggested that David come to Ursinus. He traveled extensively in the United States before settling down at Ursinus.

Recovering From Mono

Michael Munro, whose home is in Bermuda, has spent his last three years attending the Wyoming Seminary in the United States. From one of his teachers and several of the students there, he heard about Ursinus and thus applied for admission. Recovering from mononucleosis, Munro is not permitted to go out for soccer and wrestling, his athletic interests. Although an undesignated major at present, he will become a psychology or business administration major in preparation for law school. He likes the campus and prefers living in the United States to Bermuda.

UC Downs Swarthmore 14-8

by Ed Leister

The Ursinus College football team knocked Swarthmore from the ranks of the unbeaten with a 14-8 victory before a large Homecoming crowd on Saturday afternoon.

Coach Whatley's charges rebounded from the Wilkes defeat with a dazzling performance to defeat a strong Swarthmore squad. The Bear defense was outstanding as they thwarted many Swarthmore drives with clutch tackling and fumble recoveries. In winning their second game of the season, the Bears gained sweet revenge for last year's 6-0 defeat at Swarthmore.

Early Lead

The Bears returned the opening kickoff to the 34, and immediately they drove 66 yards to gain an early 6-0 lead. Ronnie Ritz did the TD honors on a six-yard run.

Near the end of the second quarter, the Bears scored again when Ron Emmert hit Tony Sermarini with a sixteen-yard TD strike. The same passing duo was good for two additional points, and at halftime the Bears led 14-0.

The Bears had dominated the first half, but they were forced to play a strong defensive game in the second half to preserve the victory.

Ernie Templemeier scooped up a blocked punt and ran sixteen yards early in the third quarter to register Swarthmore's only TD. Howard Peelle passed to Bernie Beitman for the two point conversion. The Bears' defensive gang, featuring a rugged interior line, preserved the victory from this point, and the final score showed UC the victor 14-8.

Fine Ground Attack

Ursinus displayed a fine ground attack and an especially good defense throughout the game. It was a great team effort, and the Bears really deserved this hard-fought victory. Ronnie Ritz, who is always outstanding, received the Kenneth E. Walker Trophy as the outstanding player of the day.

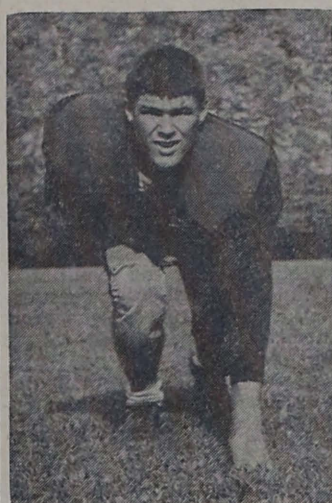

All in all, it was a happy Homecoming for Ursinus College, as the Bears pinned the first loss of the season on the Garnets of Swarthmore and their very talkative coach, Lew Elverson. Ursinus 6 9 0 0-14 Swarthmore 0 0 8 0-8

The Wagner Seahawks have always been a tough club for anyone to edge, and this year is no different. They come to Paterson Field with a 2-3 skein, but they'll be in the mood to crack skulls. Two weeks ago they held the vaunted Susquehanna machine to a field goal and lost by only 3-0. This near upset, added to two shutouts against Haverford and Upsala, demonstrates that the Green and White have a formidable defensive unit.

Players of the Week . . .

Sermarini & Ritz Real Hustlers

Ritz and Sermarini have formed a devastating tandem ever since their initial playing days three years ago. They were starters in their first collegiate games as freshmen, and under great fire, produced admirably. Sermarini and Ritz never stop hustling, and their all-round abilities are unsurpassed. Teaming with Emmert and Degenhardt, these two give Ursinus the best offensive striking unit in the conference.

Small But Great

Tony Sermarini, at 5' 8" and 155 pounds, is the smallest man on the squad, yet he possesses amazing talent. On offense he has the speed and balance to break away at any moment, plus the fact that he's an adept pass receiver. Defensively, Tony is the deep safety on the left and he is one of the two best open field tacklers on the squad.

His selection as a Player of the Week is long overdue. He receives this honor for an all-out effort in a losing cause against Wilkes. All season he has been hampered by injuries, yet he was a demon on defense against Johns Hopkins; set up UC's one score at Wilkes by grabbing a pass; and spun away from a Swarthmore defensive back after latching onto a pass and scoring from 16 yards out (a TD which proved to be the clincher).

One of the Best

Ron Ritz, from Mamaroneck, N.Y. (5' 9"—180), is one of the best players ever to don an Ursinus uniform. He has drive, stamina, balance, instinct, and most of all, wonderful desire. For his outstanding performance against Swarthmore he re- (Continued on page 4)

Soccermen Defeat East Baptist, Delaware, to Remain Undefeated

The soccer team recently defeated both Delaware and Eastern Baptist to remain undefeated in their first week of conference play.

In the opening game of the season on Saturday, October 13, Ursinus ran up three straight scores against an experienced Eastern Baptist team before the latter was able to penetrate the Bears backfield and tally twice in the last quarter of the game.

Hockeyettes Down WC & Swarthmore

The hockey squad of Coach Eleanor Snell made the visiting team from West Chester stand up and take notice Wednesday as the Ursinus women scooped up victory number one. The Ursinus belles turned on the steam early in the clash to claim a nifty 4-2 decision. There was never any doubt as to whom the victory laurels were to be given as the Collegeville team outplayed and out-classed the Chester County gals.

Sue Day racked up the first goal of the '62 season as she flicked a near corner shot past the visiting goalie. The nimble right inner later surprised the West Chester goalie for another score in the first stanza of action. Carol Devlin, left inner for the WC clan, posted a goal in retaliation to make the halftime score read 2-1.

Second Frame

In the early minutes of the second frame, Sallie Andrews scored a clean shot from the edge of the paydirt circle. The UC kids were still eager to wrap up the tussle and Judy Tignor insured the victory as she chalked in a final goal late in the last period. West Chester tried to regain a chance to match the score but fell two goals short.

The win was an impressive and an important one for the local gals, as the rivalry rides high between the two colleges. Using every bit of energy they could muster, the Ursinus team got together for the big punch.

The might and determination of the Ursinus squad was weakly challenged by the Swarthmore hockeyettes as the UC team handed the visitors a 7-0 defeat in the second game of the current season on Friday. Bothering the Swarthmore players with a keen open and passing game, the UC kids scored almost at will in the lopsided contest. It was Ursinus' game to win from the opening whistle until the last play.

Freshman Sue Day led the scoring parade again as she posted three goals. June Ritting added another pair of goals. Sallie Andrews and Judy Tignor scored a goal apiece to send Swarthmore home in defeat.

Phil Brackin aided the Ursinus cause with two goals, one on a penalty shot, and Pete Dunn banged one into the nets to provide the winning margin.

Down With The Hens

The Blue Hens of Delaware journeyed to the Collegeville campus on Tuesday October 16, and met defeat at the hands of the Bears for the first time in four years. The Ursinus backfield, aided by a stellar performance by goalie Cliff Kuhn, stymied the Delaware booters long enough for Chris Fuges to nail down two tallies and Phil Brackin to head in a Pete Dunn corner kick. Fuges' first score came on a beautiful assist from Gunnar Pihlgren. The final score was 3-1.

And The Alumni

It was a day for the alumni on Homecoming when they tripped up the varsity by a two to one score. Ken Bailey scored twice in the second half for the alumni after Pete Dunn ripped the nets in the first half for the lone varsity tally.

Berlinger Asset On Soccer Field

Since the soccer team opened this season by winning its first two games, it seems appropriate that we recognize individually those who have made the start of the season a success. Contributing extensively to the team effort of the Ursinus eleven is this week's Player of the Week, Carl Berlinger.

Carl is no newcomer to the sport of soccer, for he has had five years previous experience—three years as a member of the Abington High School team and two years as a member of the Ursinus Varsity. In the half-back position, he is required to play in both a defensive and offensive capacity, which often makes it necessary for him to traverse a large section of the field over a long period of time—88 minutes to be exact.

In the opening game of the season with Eastern Baptist, Carl's defensive game was at its best. His passing was good, and quite often it could be noticed that his "foot" was the start of many offensive drives. During the next game, with Delaware, it was Carl's "cross" from the side line that set up one of the three goals of the day.

As a halfback, he has proven a major asset to the Ursinus team. With the confidence and drive which both Carl and the team possess, it appears that indeed this will be a great season.

...for a life of pride and purpose

Among the young people being graduated from college in these times, there are some who think and feel—perhaps a little more deeply than the others—about the world we live in, the future we face. They ask, "How can I make my career really meaningful? More than just personally rewarding?"

And many of today's most successful young people are finding a fulfilling answer to these questions as officers on the Aerospace Team... the United States Air Force. They can tell you that no career could better combine the opportunity for achievement—and the deep inner satisfaction of knowing that they are helping preserve the very future of America.

How can you become an Air Force Officer?

If you are a college senior and not currently enrolled in ROTC, Air Force Officer Training School provides an opportunity to qualify for a wide variety of career fields. The graduate of this three-month course receives a commission as a second lieutenant. As the Air Force continues its technological advance, officers with college training will move into positions of increasing importance.

For full information—including the opportunity to earn graduate degrees at Air Force expense—see the Air Force Selection Team when it visits your college, visit your local Air Force Recruiting Office, or write: Air Force Officer Career Information, Dept. SC210, Box 805, New York 1, New York.

Alpha Phi Epsilon
The Apes were pleased to support Jean Dillin, a pledge of Tau Sigma Gamma sorority as their Homecoming Queen candidate. Congratulations to George Rutledge, alias 'Charley Schroeder,' captain of the JV football squad, and to Walter 'Hunt' Dryfoos, who will once again captain the UC basketball squad.

Alpha Phi Omega
Current activities of APO include the conducting of several elections: permanent officers of the Class of 1963, sophomore representative to the MSGA, and, of course, this year's Homecoming Queen. The brothers have also been spending Saturdays at Camp Mensch Mill, preparing it for the winter.

Delta Pi Sigma
The brothers wish to congratulate Ray Cameron for his summer pining to Jill Selgrade. Best wishes also go to Enos Russell for his summer marriage to the former Enid Clinchard. The brothers held their fall rushing stag last Tuesday night at the Perkiomen Bridge Hotel.

Delta Mu Sigma
The brothers of Demas were pleased to support Sue Miller, president of Tau Sig, as their Homecoming Queen candidate. Congratulations are extended to their alumni who were married over the summer: Calvin Griffin, Barry Francis, Larry Koch, an Bernie Master. Best wishes to Geoff Bloom and Mrs. Bloom, the former Kathy Keeney, who were also married this past summer. Curt Conn and Margie Peffle were engaged recently, as well as Mike Bernstein and Helaine Siegal of NYU. Roses have been sent to Nancy Holochuk, Lora Hartman, and Connie Laughlin, pinned respectively by Jack Travis, Karl Luck, and Cliff Kuhn; and to Gail Gray, Millersville State College, pinned by Don Stock.

Kappa Delta Kappa
We're glad to welcome all our new sisters into KDK; Bobbie Bew, Carol Boucher, Louise Farwell, Gerri Gehman, Chickie Hamlin, Dottie Kemble, Fran MacCadden, and Marilyn Thomas. Congratulations are extended to Dottie Kemble who was recently pinned to Tommy Bannar, a student at Wittenburg. We were glad to welcome back Peggy Thomas, who is now teaching at Spring-Ford, and Sherry Schwaber, who is now attending American University. The KDKers entertained their new sisters at a pizza party at their first business meeting. They didn't get much business done, but the pizza at Perrotto's was delicious.

Omega Chi
O Chi welcomes their new sisters: Betty Belmonte, Sherry Clinchard, Sue Harmon, Joyce Maloney, Sue Mills, Sandy Taylor, and Dee Walker. Congratulations go to Joanne Schwarz on her recent engagement. Thanks are in store for Skip Killough Kundrat and Nan Easter Ruth, who each entertained the sisters at their homes recently.

Phi Alpha Psi
The sisters of Phi Alpha Psi extend best wishes to Lora Hartman on her recent pinning by Karl Luck, a brother of Demas, and to Dayle Stapleton on her pinning by Bill Laughlin, a midshipman at Anapolis.

Tau Sigma Gamma
The sisters wish to thank Susie Wagner Lupking for the hospitality she extended to them at their rushing party. Congratulations to the 17 new pledges. The sisters held their annual Homecoming luncheon at Lakeside Inn. Congratulations to Jean Dillin, Ape's Homecoming Queen, and Sue Miller, Demas' Homecoming Queen.

gious festival, constant drumming persists for three days and nights. Dr. Miller commented that every morning at 5 a.m. during this festival, he was awakened by the Hindu priests who marched through the streets chanting prayers. At the conclusion of the festival, the 2,000 images worshipped by the people are immersed in the river with a procession of dancers following each image.

Sidewalk living marks the India of poverty. One such family lived next to Dr. Miller. They obtained much of their food from the garbage cans on the street corners, and brass trays, battered cooking utensils and a few rocks comprised the majority of their worldly possessions. The financial center of Calcutta, according to Dr. Miller, reminds one of London and is appropriately named British India. Located in this area is the University of Jadvapour and a large park at the edge of which is found the Anglican Cathedral where the Millers attended a candlelight service at Christmas. Customs . . .
girls now have, would have been extremely helpful and perhaps it should be the job of the preceding year's Head Counselor.

Finally, relating to the length of the Customs program, I feel strongly that one of two things must be done to save this tradition from extinction. Either the period during the school session must be lengthened to carry out an enlightening program with set objectives and faculty approval, or the possibility of one week for ordination-customs before school opens must be considered seriously. The latter has many distinct advantages, among them the simple fact that it will in no way inhibit studies. It will permit the freshmen to know one another before upperclassmen arrive, and the very fact that few upperclassmen will be on campus will aid the committee in its job.

Those are my candid thoughts on the Customs program both now and in the future. I believe in them personally and I know that some of my rulers agree with me. Customs can achieve a class unity and school spirit among the freshmen, but only if it is raised from its present agonies by a helpful faculty.

quarterback and he'll be joined in the backfield by pony-size backs Jim Drumgoole, Joe Amato, and co-captain Dick Schlenker.

The flanks are outstanding, particularly on defense, and feature Jim McCabe, Lee Acanfrio, and Vin Riccardella. The tackles are pro size with John Pietracatella (235), Ron Dario (240), and Paul Perret (230). The rest of the line is led by co-captain guard Frank Spero and sophomore George Cruzado.

Forte Is Defense
Wagner should vary their attack and a passing game is not unlikely; but their forte is defense where they try to make their own breaks. Look for a tight, low scoring battle with the Bears coming out on top if they don't become complacent over their Swarthmore victory.

Voting . . .
should write a short note to his County Board of Elections in his County Seat explaining that he will not be in the county on Election Day and requesting an application. This letter should include the person's name, home address, voting ward and/or district, and should be mailed before October 30. The student should complete his application and return it immediately to receive his ballot. All ballots must be postmarked before November 6.

For Jersey Students
For New Jersey residents the process is very similar. In applying, students should write to either their County Seat or to their Borough Clerk using the same form as the Pennsylvania students. All applications should be returned by October 30. When a New Jersey resident receives his ballot, he should mark it and return it to his County Clerk before November 6.

Coming Symposium
Next in the program, President Toby Gelfand reminded the pre-medical students to come to a symposium at Temple Medical School on Nov. 3. Students will be able to tour the facilities of Temple and discuss questions with representatives from every medical and dental school in Philadelphia.

Finally, students were invited to attend the next Pre-Med Society meeting which will take place on Thursday night, Oct. 25th at 7:30 p.m. Dr. Immanuel Hudock, a consultant in internal medicine at Montgomery and Sacred Heart Hospitals, will speak on the development of the electrocardiograph.

Future Speakers
Guest speakers have also been chosen for future meetings. Dr. Marcus Konick will speak about teaching machines on November 13. At the February meeting Mr. Lewis Adler will speak about a teacher's legal responsibilities. Another interesting program is planned for December 11 when Jim Sandercock, an Ursinus graduate of the class of '61, will speak on the experiences of a new teacher.
All students are cordially invited to attend any or all meetings of the PSEA.

Every time that extra yard was needed it was number 42 off tackle for the timely first down. Ron doesn't possess real good speed, but his balance and power are wonderful to behold. On defense he doesn't mind cracking helmets and he holds down the difficult corner position. Ritz has started every game in his UC career, but he never slows up. It seems that he just gets better with age.
