Bears Annex First MAC Championship

Sparked by the fabulous relay quartet of Tony Sermarini, Tom Walter, Bill Cooper, and Pete Dunn, Ursinus carried off the Middle Atlantic Conference College track and field championship at LaSalle's McCarthy Stadium.

This was the Bears first MAC title in track and field, and marked the first time that any squad other than West Chester State has won the College Division.

Sophomores Cooper and Dunn were Coach Ray Gurzynski's outstanding performers, with Cooper annexing the 880 yard run title with a 1:56.3 clocking, and Dunn capturing the 440 yard dash crown with a :49.9 time. Cooper added a silver medal finish in the mile run and Dunn garnered a fourth place in the 220 yard dash, and both teamed with Sermarini and Walter to capture the mile relay with a 3:24 flat clocking.

Sermarini also had a day to be proud of as he finished second to the record-breaking Stu Levitt of Haverford in the javelin, placed fourth in the quarter, and his opening leg effort in the relay gave the Bears a lead they never relinquished. Walter gained the silver medal in the 220 yard low hurdles, and also gained the finals of the 100 yard dash in which he placed sixth.

Junior John Hunsicker grabbed the third place bronze medal in the 120 yard high hurdles and was sixth in the finals of the 220 yard low hurdles. Junior Bob Gladstone leaped 20'8" to grab sixth place in the finals of the broad jump, while seniors Dave Bonner and Cliff Kuhn just missed gaining a place in the high jump.

Some times you win and some times you don't, and the Bears feared 1-2 punch in the shot put in the persons of Al Hakanson and Denny Wilson have seen better days, as Hakanson placed fifth and Wilson seventh in their specialty. Wilson gained sixth place in the javelin finals, as Levitt set the only record of the day with a throw of 230 feet one-half inch to garner Haverford's only gold medal.

Gurzynski's gladiators garnered 35 points to edge Swarthmore which was runnerup with 33 points. The remaining scorers were Juniata 29½; Albright 24; tie between Lebanon Valley and PMC 18; F & M 15; tie between Haverford and Hofstra 13; Wagner 10½; Dickinson 8; West Chester 7; Lycoming 1; Upsala and Western Maryland 0.

A WINNER
Miss Joyce Maloney '65, who will compete for the Miss Pennsylvania title in June.

Joyce Maloney Wins Title of Miss Montgomery County

The Maloneys and Ursinus College have done it again. Miss Joyce Maloney, following in the footsteps of her sister, was crowned Miss Montgomery County on Saturday, May 4.

In a contest held at the North Penn High School in Lansdale, she competed with thirteen girls for the coveted title. With her beauty, personality, and talent, she convinced the judges that she was the one to hold the same title which her sister Lynn had held two years ago. Joyce performed a modern dance to a song from "Breakfast at Tiffany's."

Will Joyce continue to follow her sister and become Miss Pennsylvania? Everyone is hoping that she will. The contest will be held June 28 and 29. Twenty girls will be competing and the ten semi-finalists will appear on television June 29 for the climax of the contest.

Joyce is looking forward to the contest but feels as if she has been quite lucky already, having won an evening gown, a fur cape, and a $100 savings bond—and the title of Miss Montgomery County.

Angelo Cutone, Custodian, Plans Return to Italy

Angelo Cutone, the custodian of the girls new dormitories is going back to Italy this summer from June 20th to July 20th. He is flying to Isernia which is approximately ninety miles from Rome. Accompanying him will be his wife and sister-in-law. His step-son is also going, but by boat. He and Angie hope to meet each other there.

Angie is traveling to Italy for the purpose of transferring ownership of the real estate he possesses there to his nieces and nephews. Touring will also be a major part of his agenda.

This is Angie's second return trip to Italy. He was there previously in 1956. Angie makes his home at 3800 Ridge Pike in Collegeville.

Pre-Med Society Selects Officers

At their meeting of May 7, the Brownback-Anders Pre-Medical Society elected its officers for the year to come. Don Stock was selected president, and he will be aided by vice-president Lincoln Spurgeon, and secretary-treasurer Paul Sparks.

The Pre-Med Society, as an organization, is designed to acquaint students in all the aspects of medicine.

Throughout the year it has presented a series of interesting speakers, all experts in their fields, who have spoken to the future doctors of Ursinus about their specialty. The Society plans to continue having the best speakers possible in the year to come.

Sir George Thomson, Famed Physicist to Speak at Commencement Exercises

Sir George Paget Thomson, Nobel Prize winning physicist and son of a Nobel Prize winner, the late Sir Joseph John Thomson, will deliver the commencement address at Ursinus College Monday, June 3, at 11:00 a.m.

The British scientist is not a stranger to Collegeville. His son, John A. Thomson, Esq., a member of the staff of the British Embassy in Washington, was married August 8, 1953 to Elizabeth Ann McClure, daughter of Mrs. and the late Dr. Norman E. McClure, former president of the college. The wedding took place at St. James Episcopal Church, Evansburg, with the reception following in the college library. Sir George was present for the wedding.

He received the Nobel Prize in physics in 1937 for work on electron diffraction which proved that electrons, although particles, behave as waves. During World War II he headed the British committee which in 1944 reported favorably on the prospects of an atom bomb. After the war he participated in theoretical work on the possibilities of obtaining nuclear power from heavy hydrogen. In 1946-47 he served as scientific adviser of the British delegation to the United Nations Atomic Commission. He was knighted in 1943.

Sir George was born in Cambridge, England, May 3, 1892, son of the late Sir Joseph John and Rose Elizabeth Paget Thomson. He took his bachelor's degree from the Perse School, Cambridge, and his master's degree from Trinity College at the same university. He holds

Cold Weather Doesn't Freeze "Mississippi Mud"

by Carol DeSilva

Preceded by a week of warm, sunny weather, May 11, the date for Ursinus' 1963 Spring Festival, turned out to be an unusually cold and damp winter day.

The long over due thunder showers of the previous night threatened to ruin the set on Paterson Field but members of Grounds Committee heaved a sigh of relief when seeing the flags still up and flying Saturday morning on their well pictured Southern river boat.

This year's theme entitled "Mississippi Mud," was centered around the gay old South when the river boats traveled down the Mississippi and stopped at various towns along the way to put on a show for the inhabitants.

Ursinus' river boat, however, entertained not only the townsfolk, but a very special group of beautiful young ladies as well. Miss Grace Folwell, reigning as Queen of this year's Spring Festival, boarded the river boat with the members of her court, Sue Higley, Jane Mikuliak, Nancy Holochuk, Carol DeSilva, Anne Weisel, Jean Dillin, Sue Raffauf, and Mary Ann Holmgren, and viewed the show as guests of honor.

Senior Show Slated for May 16

The class of 1963 will present the annual Senior Show on Thursday, May 16, at 8:00 in the T-G gym.

Anne Thorburn will be directing the presentation. The Senior show is noted for its humor and wit.

Come out and see some of our pompous (and not so pompous) seniors' parting stab at Ursinus. It's all in good fun.

Members of the Court and Cast of the Spring Festival listen to Sue Harman as the Showboat rolls down the Mississippi.

Registration Open for Summer School

The Ursinus College Summer School for 1963 will open on June 10 and will run until August 30. The plan is for three semester hour courses in three weeks, six semester hour courses in six weeks, and eight semester hour courses in eight weeks. No more than one course can be scheduled in any one session. The tuition will be $27.50 per semester hour and there will be no laboratory charges. The minimum charge for room and board will be $27.50 per week.

All classes will meet from 9 a.m. to 12 noon daily. Laboratory sessions will meet from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Sessions A, B, C, and D will be three week sessions, running consecutively from June 10 to August 30. The two four-week sessions, E and F, will run from July 1 to August 23.

Courses are open to all Ursinus students, to college graduates, and to students in good standing at other colleges upon the written approval of their Dean. Applications should be mailed to Director of Admissions, Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa. Bulletins listing the courses offered and containing additional information can be obtained at the Office of the Dean.

Music Club Names 1963-64 Officers

The Music Club Banquet was held at the beautiful Spring Mountain House last Thursday evening, May 9. Eighty students, members of Meistersingers, Band, and Color Guard, attended this annual affair. Guests for the evening were Dr. Wagner, Dr. Phillip, Mr. Horton, and their wives, Mr. Jones, and the bus driver who drove the Meistersingers on tour and his wife.

After dinner Steve Wurster, president of Meistersingers, introduced Dr. Wagner and Dr. Phillip, who gave short speeches. Annual awards for service were presented to the senior officers of the three music organizations. The Meistersingers presented Dr. Phillip with a gift, and the Band and Color Guard likewise honored Mr. Horton.

The new officers for each organization were announced: Bob Livingston is the new President of Meistersingers, Bob Campbell is now the head of the Band, and Meridy Murphy is Captain of the Color Guard. Everyone participated in singing and then movies of the Meistersingers tour were shown. All who attended the banquet had an enjoyable two and a half hours.

Shinnick, Kelly, Gould Elected Class Presidents

Emerging victorious from the class elections held last Wednesday, were Jim Shinnick, Mike Kelly, and Jack Gould, who next year will lead the Senior, Junior and Sophomore classes respectively.

Whitians Elect 1963-64 Leaders

The Whitians of Ursinus College have announced the election of their officers for 1963-64.

Patti Hill, a history major from Oreland, Pa., has been selected as president. She is an assistant for the history department, has played varsity lacrosse for three years and has sung in the Messiah Chorus. She will be president of Omega Chi and of the Inter-Sorority Council next year.

Math major Arlene Vogel was chosen as vice president. She hails from Newtown Square, Pa. and is social chairman for KDK. Arlene is Weekly circulation manager, sings in the Messiah Chorus, is secretary of evening school, and next year will be secretary-treasurer of Shreiner.

Jackie Kroschwitz, a Chem major from Trenton, N. J., will be secretary-treasurer. She is a sister of Tau Sig, a member of Beardwood Chem Society, a lab assistant and a waiter in the dining room. She won the Freshmen Chemistry Achievement Award and the Freshman Whitian Award and was also Head Soph Ruler.

The purpose of the Whitians is to give recognition to the junior women who have maintained an excellent scholastic average and have actively participated in and contributed to college organizations.

Constitution revision has taken place. This point system for admission has been drastically revised this year, and there is no longer any limitations as to the number of new Whitians that can be admitted each year. There were a few other minor changes.

Shinnick, a Biology Pre-Med major from Oaklyn, N. J., has served as president of his class for the past two years, and in his freshman year, held the vice presidential position. He was a Soph Ruler, and is a member of the Brownback-Anders Pre-Medical Society.

Also a Biology major and hailing from Hackettstown, N.J., Mike Kelly will serve in the executive capacity for the third consecutive year, as he is the present president of the Sophomore class and served as vice-president in his freshman year. A former member of the track team, Kelly was a Soph Ruler this year and is presently assistant head waiter in the dining hall.

Re-elected as the president of the Class of '66, Jack Gould has also been chosen to serve on the Men's Custom Committee for next year. He is a History major from North Wales, Pa.

Other class positions filled were: in the Class of '64, for Vice President, Tom Sandhoff; Secretary, Joan Kleinhoff; Treasurer, Nancy Holochuk.

The Class of '65 chose Curt Martin as Vice President, Kathy Dolman as Secretary, and Jerry Rosenberger as Treasurer.

Completing the slate of officers for the Class of '66 are Bob Larzelere, Anne Harris and Gene Swann, who were elected to the positions of Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer, respectively.

Election returns showed a rather poor representation of the three classes. The Freshman class turnout was the most enthusiastic with sixty-five percent of its members casting ballots. However, only forty-three percent of the Juniors voted and forty-nine percent of the Sophomores.

EDITORIAL

The Cindermen have accomplished a feat which no athletic group from UC has been able to accomplish previously. They won a Middle Atlantic States Conference Championship. There is not strong emphasis on sports at Ursinus; sometimes one might think there is none. Athletic scholarships are not given; a minimal budget is allotted both men's and women's athletics; the equipment is not always the best; and the student support is not always enthusiastic. In spite of these drawbacks, certain teams continue to win. Last year the baseball team was first in the Middle Atlantic States Southern Conference. This year the track team won top honors in the MAC. They have had winning seasons since 1959.

Congratulations to the team for a fine season. The last home meet of the year is Wednesday. Come out and support the team which worked together to bring Ursinus honor.

The MSGA in the report issued in April, requested that an additional study day be allotted for final exams. As exams draw nearer, every student feels the need for this extra time. If it is too late to cancel classes next Tuesday or to make attendance voluntary, without cuts, (and we hope it is not) perhaps students will remember the plight early next semester and makes their wishes heard.

At least one Campus problem is solved for the coming year. Dr. Calvin Yost has announced that the library will be open Saturday afternoons from one to five. This is in answer to student requests as shown in data gained from a WEEKLY questionnaire. As this plan goes into operation, two points will be demonstrated: 1) student needs and wishes can be and are heard, 2) students who are concerned and work toward a goal, do exist on this Campus. One point remains to be proven: Will the students support the achievement and use the additional hours to advantage?

Dr. Steere Urges Understanding

The Public Affairs Commission of the YM-YWCA sponsored its second program on the subject of religious union May 8, in Bomberger Chapel, with Douglas V. Steere as its speaker. Dr. Steere, PhD, DD, LHD, and Professor of Philosophy at Haverford College, had as his topic, "Creative Encounter with World Religions." Minimizing the value of church institutions and a union with constitutionally defined doctrine, he emphasized the importance of meeting various philosophies, especially those from Eastern cultures, open mindedly.

He illustrates this interaction of thought with the story of a Norwegian pastor who was assigned to serve in an area of China in which Buddhism of the Hinayana sect was prevalent. He studied the writings of Buddhism and built a library containing Chinese translations of his own Christian classics. By acting as a host to wandering monks, he gained a respect for their tradition and they for his.

Of the several ways in which "competing" religions can deal with one another, "mutual extermination," "blending," or "co-existence," Dr. Steere believes that only through "mutual irradiation" or mutual enlightenment can benefit be gained. By exposing oneself to other religions, an individual will come away somewhat affected by them. Understanding will result from extensive study and association, and the strongest and most universal of these religions may eventually polarize to some extent around a particular system of thought.

With the theory of "irradiation," Dr. Steere acknowledges two risks to his approach: namely, that by allowing polarization of thought to take its natural course, we can never be certain that Christianity will triumph. Also, "there can be no assurance that Christ will not become merely another figure in philosophic history."

In commenting on Christianity today, Dr. Steere expressed concern about the over-emphasis of the "uniqueness" of Christ and the tendency to "institutionalize" religion. He stressed the importance of realizing Christ's universality, and His ability "to penetrate into all aspects of human society."

The gamblers entice heavy betting on the Showboat.

Thomson . . .

the honorary Doctor of Science degree from Lisbon, Cambridge, Sheffield, and Dublin Universities, and an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Aberdeen University in Scotland.

His educational career was interrupted by World War I during which he served first in a British infantry division in France and from 1915 to 1919 in the Royal Air Force.

He was a Fellow and an instructor at Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, in 1914 and resumed this connection for the period 1919-22. From then on his career as an educator included a professorship in natural philosophy, Aberdeen University, 1922-30; professorship in physics, London's University's Imperial College of Science and Technology, 1930-52. In 1952 he was made Master of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, where he has continued to serve.

He was Baker lecturer at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., 1929-30.

Among his many professional and civic associations and honors he became a member of the governing board of the National Institute for Nuclear Research in 1957, a year later became president of the Institute of Physics, and the following year was chosen president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science.

He is the author of three volumes on aerodynamics, electricity, and atomic power, a volume entitled "The Foreseeable Future," and co-author of two other volumes on electricity and electronics. He contributed an article on "What You Should Know About Physics," which was one of the "Adventures of the Mind" series published several years ago by the Saturday Evening Post.

Peggy Cooper New Head Cheerleader

The long awaited announcement of the captain of next year's cheerleading squad was made at the Spirit Committee Banquet last Wednesday, May 8. Peggy Cooper was elected by her fellow cheerleaders to hold this position. She is a Pol. Sci. major from Williamstown, Pa.

A member of the Spirit Committee for which she served as treasurer, Peggy is also in the Messiah, a waiter in the dining room, and a sister of Tau Sig. She is looking forward to a busy year and has high hopes that the cheerleading squad for 1963-1964 will be the best yet.

GOPElectsOfficers

The Young Republican Club held an election meeting on Monday, May 6. The following people were elected as next year's officers: President, Bob Campbell; Vice President, Charlie Spinier; Treasurer, Jerry Rosenburger; Secretary, Bobbie Cavender; Public Relations Director, Linda Deardorff. Also, plans were made for a picnic at the home of Dr. D. Zucker. The Young Democrats, IRC and ICG will also be present.

New Officers

The Curtain Club presented "The Staring Match" on May 10, 11.

At a recent organizational meeting, the club selected its officers for the year to come. The president will be Meridy Murphy, who will be assisted by vice-president Jim Barrett. Bobbie Hiller was elected secretary, Jon Zizzleman, treasurer, and Sue Yost, Historian. Congratulations are in order to the new officers and thanks to those who have done a fine job this year. The Club is looking forward to another busy season, with the usual fall and spring productions, and the group productions throughout the year.

Festival . . .

Everyone of the various dances depicted a specific group of persons living during those romantic days: the dock workers, the boatmen, the dapper gentlemen and demur young ladies, the children playing in the streets, and the happy colorful old darkies.

The river boat's show displayed its typical characters as well, from the bouncing waiters, to the roudy gamblers and alluring dance hall girls. To top it all off, there was a special number by Miss Sue Harmon in the style of the famous torch light singers.

In the end, the cold weather did not prove detrimental, and the 1963 Festival was a success to Margie Peffe, student director, Mrs. Connie Poley, producer, Helen Hutcheson, dance director, and each and every student who participated in the show and its various committees.

As Helfferich Leaves Girard Tr.

by Cindy Swan

President Helfferich doesn't want his resignation from the vice-presidency of the Girard Trust Corn Exchange Bank to create the "grandfather image" usually evoked by a man in retirement. He will use the time formerly spent at Girard to raise additional funds for Ursinus.

Before resigning last month as a senior vice-president at Girard, Dr. Helfferich was active in policy-making there. His experience in banking has helped him with the complicated problems of college administration. Dr. Helfferich's association with the bank was quite profitable for Ursinus. He formerly worked with the Upper Darby National Bank, in which the college had a large block of stock. When the Upper Darby bank was merged with the Girard, Ursinus gained almost half a million dollars. But the profits from Dr. Helfferich's business life were not all financial; he also learned much about understanding people.

The President feels that his liberal arts education plus the extra-curricular activities he participated in at Ursinus prepared him for any vocation. Any good student who has the right attitudes, strives for mastery in his courses, and engages in varied extracurricular activities can develop this aptitude for many positions. Debating, dramatics, and musical activities pursued in his college years have proved most useful in his adult life. The resident life of the campus trains students to exercise judgment and to make fast decisions. Dr. Helfferich has proved the versatility of a liberal arts education by doing everything from managing a farm to arbitrating strikes.

Summer Jobs Available in Europe

As an aid to American students planning summer study abroad, the March issue of Overseas, a monthly magazine of educational exchange, features a special supplementary section on available foreign study opportunities. This supplement, "Summer Study Abroad, 1963", contains a comprehensive listing of summer study programs conducted in Canada and in 25 countries throughout Europe, Latin America and the Far East including those sponsored by American educational institutions. Also included are articles by U.S. and European educators dealing with the merits and problems of academic study abroad.

This special issue of Overseas is now on sale and is available for thirty-five cents from the Institute of International Education, 800 Second Ave., New York 17, N. Y. The annual subscription rate for the publication is $2.00.

Greek Gleanings

Omega Chi

The sisters of O Chi wish to congratulate Patti Hill who was recently elected President of the Whitiens for next year.

Phi Alpha Psi

Best wishes are extended to Diane Eichelberger named Waiter of the Year at the recent Waiters' banquet. Congratulations are extended to Phi Psi's holding offices next year—Sue Musselman, senior representative to the WSGA; Valerie Moritz, treasurer of the WSGA; and Bonnie Fisher, newly installed president of the WAA.

Phi Psi is looking forward to two big events, shore weekend for which five alumni are returning, and a party for the seniors to be held at the home of Bonnie Fisher on Monday, May 20.

Best wishes are extended to Pauline Mook on her forthcoming marriage to Ron Cassel, a brother of Demas.

Phi Psi was represented in the Spring Festival Court by Carol DeSilva, a junior representative, and Ann Weisel, a sophomore representative.

Tau Sigma Gamma

The seniors wish to thank the sophomores for the party held in their honor at the home of Kathy Dolman. Congratulations to Peggy Cooper, recently elected Captain of the Cheerleaders; to Nancy Holochuk and Joan Kleinhoff, treasurer and secretary of the class of 1964; to Kathy Dolman, elected secretary of the class of 1965; to June Ritting and Sue Honeysett, who won the blazer award of the WAA. Congratulations to next year's officers.

Tau Sig's new officers who were announced at the Dinner-Dance last Friday are: president, Nancy Holochuk; vice-president, Peggy Cooper; recording secretary, Kathy Dolman; corresponding secretary, Kathy Steele; treasurer, Kathie Stamford; social chairmen, Sue Maze and Carol Ort; rushing chairmen, Nancy Fraser and Judy Smiley; pledgemistress, Lee Spahr; chaplain, Connie Laughlin; keeper of the archives, Betsy Pearson.

Zeta Chi

Congratulations to Gene Swann on his election as treasurer of the Sophomore class and to Ron Emmert on his election as "I-F Weekend's Hero" for the second straight year. The great cooperative spirit of the brothers has been shown in their participation in intramural baseball. No less than two brothers have been present at any game.

Alpha Sigma Nu

Last Friday evening the sisters shared an unforgettable evening at Stokesay Inn in Reading at their annual dinner dance. It was at this time the officers for next year were announced. Congratulations and best wishes to: Diane Williams, president; Joanne Dieffenderfer, vice president; Marilyn Crommiller, recording secretary; Edie Clouse, treasurer; Judy Lance, historian; Judy Hennessey, chaplain; Lynn Belanich and Ginny Lauer, co-social chairmen. A special congratulations to Barbara Shearer, honored as "The Sister of the Year."

Beta Sigma Lambda

Congratulations to Brian Dittenhafer who was recently elected President of the ICG.

Delta Pi Sigma

The brothers had an enjoyable evening at their annual Gala Occasion. After a fine meal serv-

Peek Around The Campus

by Carl Peek

Spring has sprung, the grass has ris: I wonder where the lawnmower is? It is probably under some open classroom window; however, if it is not there now, it probably will be there during the final exam period. It would appear to be advantageous to both teachers and student if cutting campus with lawn mowers during finals were forbidden. It is hoped that whoever has the authority to do so will keep lawnmowers (and air hammers) away from college buildings during exams.

A letter appeared in the last issue of the Weekly, opposing compulsory attendance at Forum programs. Whether compulsory attendance is justifiable is a moot question, one I fear, that will not soon be settled. At first I considered compulsory attendance justifiable, but after serious thought I have come to the conclusion that compulsory attendance at a Forum is not justifiable. (1) A Forum is extracurricular, not a part of the academic program. (2) An audience of uninterested people who are compelled to sit through a lecture is often more harmful to the speaker than the would be sight of a small crowd. (3) Blackmail, in any form is not a good thing, and though the deeds of two Wednesday nights ago may be "euphonized" blackmail was essentially what occurred.

Another point we ought to realize, I think, is that big crowds are no more indicative of anything than big names: bigness is not the basis for "goodness." It is true that large, overflowing mobs tend to offer a good impression to an outside speaker, but the forceful methods used to create these crowds seem to me to be a violation of the academic freedom granted by a liberal arts institution.

I, just as much as anyone else, would like to see large crowds at Forum programs. Compelled attendance, however, appears to create contempt for the situation, and may in the long run do more harm than good. To coin a word, if I may, "compellion" leads to rebellion.

ed by the George Washington Country Club staff, the brothers and their dates danced to the music of Jim Colasanti and his Royal Bel-Airs.

Kappa Delta Kappa

Congratulations to Arlene Vogel, who was recently elected Vice President of the Whitiens for next year. Best wishes are also extended to Urve Viitel, graduate of '62, and Cal Moyer who will be married June 1. KDK thanks all those who bought pretzels at the Spring Festival and wishes to announce that they will be sold during finals so the girls have something to nibble on in the wee hours of the morning. The sisters are looking forward to next weekend which they will spend in Ocean City—their annual shore weekend marked with fun and merriment.

UC Band Presents Spring Concert

by Stu Glasby

Last Saturday evening in Bomberger Chapel, the musically talented of Ursinus College once again proved to their devotees that instrumental excellence, too, can be bred in an environment of cultural indifference.

This most pleasant musical performance given by a corps of die-hard musicians known as the Ursinus College Band, under the able directorship of Mr. Damon Holton and the rallying leadership of Bob Campbell, showed a versatility for which not many bands are known. Their pieces ranged from such popular standards as the "Atlantis Suite" by Safranek to the most contemporary abstracts of Perschetti and Erickson.

The superb technique and interpretation by Manny Abrahamson on the piano in his renditions of the "Sonata in C Maior" by Mozart with band accompaniment and "Fantasie-stuckle" by Schumann demonstrated a fine musicianship.

The Brass Sextet plus two did a commendable job in their performance of "Prelude in C Sharp Minor" by Rachmaninoff; however, their presentation of Verdi's "Triumphal March (from Aida)" was weak.

Some other noteworthy selections highlighting the Woodwind section were "Clarinet Escapade" by Ward and "Wagery for Woodwinds" by Walters.

It is truly amazing what this small group has done under its "revere" handicaps. One can only conjecture their potential if they had the full support of the administration, faculty, and student body. They have the potential; let's give them their due support.

TILL WE MEET AGAIN

With today's installment I complete my ninth year of writing columns in your college newspaper for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes. In view of the occasion, I hope I may be forgiven if I get a little misty.

These nine years have passed like nine minutes. In fact, I would not believe that so much time has gone by except that I have my wife nearby as a handy reference. When I started columning for Marlboros, she was a slip of a girl—supple as a reed and fair as the sunrise. Today she is gnarled, lumpy, and given to biting the postman. Still, I count myself lucky. Most of my friends who were married at the same time have wives who chase cars all day. I myself have never had this trouble and I attribute my good fortune to the fact that I have never struck my wife with my hand. I have always used a folded newspaper—even throughout the prolonged newspaper strike in New York. During this period I had the airmail edition of the Manchester Guardian flown in daily from England. I must confess, however, that it was not entirely satisfactory. The airmail edition of the Guardian is printed on paper so light and flimsy that it makes little or no impression when one slaps one's wife. Mine, in fact, thought it was some kind of game, and tore several pairs of my trousers.

But I digress. I was saying what a pleasure it has been to write this column for the last nine years for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes—a fine group of men, as anyone who has sampled their wares would suspect. They are as mellow as the aged tobaccos they blend. They are as pure as the white cellulose filter they have devised. They are loyal, true, companionable, and constant, and I have never for an instant wavered in my belief that some day they will pay me for these last nine years.

But working for the makers of Marlboro has not been the greatest of my pleasures over the last nine years. The chief satisfaction has been writing for you—the college population of America. It is a rare and lucky columnist who can find an audience so full of intelligence and verve. I would like very much to show my appreciation by asking you all over to my house for tea and oatmeal cookies, but there is no telling how many of you my wife would bite.

For many of you this is the last year of college. This is especially true for seniors. To those I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will find the world outside a happy valley. To juniors I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will become seniors. To sophomores I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will become juniors. To freshmen I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will become sophomores. To those of you going on into graduate school I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will marry money.

To all of you let me say one thing: during the year I have been frivolous and funny during the past year—possibly less often than I have imagined—but the time has now come for some serious talk. Whatever your status, whatever your plans, I hope that success will attend your ventures.

Stay happy. Stay loose.

©1963 Max Shulman

We, the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes, confess to more than a few nervous moments during the nine years we have sponsored this uninhibited and uncensored column. But in the main, we have had fun and so, we hope, have you. Let us add our good wishes to Old Max's: stay happy; stay loose.

Minutes of MSGA Tibetan Lamas

Old Business

1. The following will represent the MSGA: Frank Stratton on the Faculty Discipline Committee; Noll Evans on the Faculty Committee on Student Activities; David Kohr on the Faculty Committee on Rules; Ken Woodward on the Committee on Athletics; Roy Christman on Forum Committee; Les Rudnyansky on the Home Town Publicity Committee; and Gene Swann on the Parent's Day Committee.

2. Noll Evans and Ken Woodward are responsible for the printing of sufficient copies of the recent MSGA report for the entire student body.

3. The faculty rejected the request of the MSGA for a representative on the faculty review of trials. However, the faculty will gladly accept from the MSGA, any material pertinent to a case. The faculty is sending a letter of explanation.

4. A member of the Student Activities Committee stated that in order to secure a $10 increase in the student activities fee, a formal request must successfully pass the Faculty Committee on Student Activities, Dr. Helfferich, and the Board of Directors. President Stratton proposed to present the committee with a request which he had written. Noll Evans moved that the letter stand approved as read. The motion was carried.

5. President Stratton asked if there were any questions about the procedure of defending and prosecuting attorneys for the defendants brought before the MSGA. David Kohr moved that we adopt the system as described in the recent MSGA report. The motion was carried.

New Business

1. Lyle Saylor questioned whether any action was taken on the improvements requested by the Day Students for the Day Study. It was suggested that the Council delay definite action until it has seen what improvements will be made during the summer.

The meeting was adjourned.

On Friday, May 10, four lamas of the Tibetan branch of Buddhism visited the Ursinus Campus from their monastery in New Freedom, New Jersey, to talk to Dr. Miller's Far East class at 2 p.m. and then to answer questions at a Kaffee Klatch at 3:30 p.m.

Three of them arrived in this country from Tibet just one year ago. They are Sherka toku who is 15 years old, Kungo toku and Kamlung toku. The word "toku" (pronounced dogu) signifies their status as monks. The fourth member of the group has been in the U.S. for some time; he is originally from Mongolia—then part of the USSR—but moved to Tibet when Communism came into his country and from Tibet he came to the monastery in New Freedom where he is the abbot. His name is Geshe Wanggal—"Geshe" signifies his status as abbot.

Interesting news for upper-classmen came with the lamas. Lobsang Labden, brother of the Dalai Lama and a former student at Ursinus, was married recently in India.

Lamas initiate their training for monastic life at the early age of five or six years. There is no coercion and a student lama may leave the monastery at any time. There are five basic areas of study for lamas, one of which—philosophy—takes twenty years of study to complete.

Basically the religion which these lamas follow is Buddhism, but like most great religions, there are different orders within the religion. Different monasteries and monastic orders have their own slight variations in ritual and prayer procedures. The Dalai Lama is the spiritual head of the Tibetan "church" as well as the temporal leader of Tibet—that is before the 1958 Communist take over. Each new Dalai Lama is taken from the masses by means of oracles and prophesy, and is raised and educated to assume his new position.

When questioned about the state of their country today, the three lamas from Lhasa, the capital of Tibet, stated that they hoped to return someday after the Dalai Lama ends his exile in India. They added, however, that they receive little information from the interior of Tibet through the "bamboo curtain" and that they have little idea what is going on inside their country. Interestingly, it was pointed out that in 1904 Tibet gained its independence and that in 1919 it successfully waged a war against democratic Nationalist China.

Hard Work Yields Results

Roy DeBeer and Larry Myers, Mr. White and Mr. Black, rehearse for the "Staring Match" which was presented this past weekend.

Fine Casting and Producing Lead "Staring Match" to Success

by Carl Peck

The Curtain Club's production of Jerry McNeely's STARING MATCH won approval from its audience as a well produced and well acted play.

The production receives its name from the staring match between Mr. Black (Larry Meyers) and Mr. White (Roy DeBeer) who are representatives of heaven and hell, respectively; they were sent to find sufficient water for a drought ridden town. Both Mr. Black and Mr. White are capable of giving the community its needed supply of water, but if aid is taken from the messenger of the devil, the villagers must pay for it with their souls. The villagers must decide whether Mr. Black or Mr. White represents the forces of evil.

Linus Allen Hobbs (Don Matusow) suggested that a staring match reveal which of the two represented hell. This critic was led to believe for awhile, however, that both Mr. Black and Mr. White were representatives of the devil, for Roy DeBeer with his impressive and effective satanic smile looked like evil personified, which, according to the play he was, by portraying Mr. White. Mr. Black, although he was, according to the casting of his part, supposed to appear angelic, was not so much this way as he could have been.

It is unfortunate that his acting was not able to overcome, until about three-quarters of the way through the production, the effects of the black suit he wore. He was not as angelic as he should have been in appearance and attitude.

In his portrayal of Linus, Don Matusow's acting ability was most apparent in the fourth scene of the second act. It was in this scene that he explained to Molly Mae, his daughter (Linda Pottelger), the reasons for belief in God even if the staring match continued to inhuman lengths; after all, Mr. Black and Mr. White were not human. Linda Pottelger portraying Molly Mae did so excellently: there was no evidence of tension or strain, fulfilling the requirements of her part. Often appearing with a non-understanding inquisitive facial expression she seemed to be, in actuality, an "innocent country girl," the "sweet young thing" variety.

Rev. (John Piston) Ashburn assumed with ease the gentle fatherly attitude necessary for the role of a country parson; he was gentle, but not "wishy-washy."

Ginny Yates, Neil Edgell, and John Zizelmann performed well. John Zizelmann as "Will" was a quite stupid country bumpkin, a crackerbarrel sage, always ready with important advice, but readier to allow someone else to follow it. With his red plaid shirt he added a touch of gaiety and life to a purportedly serious problem: the lack of water. Ginny Yates, acting as a back country busybody was extremely so; her snapping voice and fierce frown, her sharp motions, and sharper tongue added to the scene the female gossip who is a necessary part of every small town. George (Neil Edgell) said little in the production but his acting more than compensated for the lack of verbal expression: it was apparent that his staring at the staring match gained more attention from the audience than did the match itself. Whether it should have or not, will be left to the director and the audience to decide. It is evident that his natural instinct for attracting attention could be put to good use in future plays.

Of Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs, Don Matusow and Meridy Murphy, let this be said: they were consistent. If they had put more Linus and Mattie and less Don and Meridy into their portrayals they would have been much better than they were, although their acting was not bad, nor mediocre, but was a trifle under the mark of excellence. More enthusiasm would have probably lifted them over the highest mark.

Honors of the evening for a fine performance should go to Roy DeBeer for his "histrionic" monologue at the end of the play, if for nothing else. It is doubtful if Jerry McNeely made provisions for the whistling of "The High and the Mighty," but added to Mr. DeBeer's satanic smile, his expression of superiority over and utter contempt for all that might be good, it causes wonder as to how Mr. Black did overcome him. The devil himself could not have appeared more satanical.

The play as a whole was well done, humorous, and interesting; lines were spoken well and these appeared to be no tenseless among the actors.

Lighting, sound effects, scenery, and properties were excellent, as was makeup and costuming; the program was technically fine.

Ursinus Smites Fiery Dragon 8-1; Bears Give Explorers Victory 9-5

On Monday, May 6, the Bears snuffed out the Dragon's fire, 8-1. Dick Geesaman pitched the Bears to their seventh league victory against three defeats. It was another superb effort on the part of Geesaman. The pitching staff has certainly been doing a tremendous job this season and warrants commendation.

The Bears socked out nine hits for their eight runs. Williamson and Egolf both connected for home-runs, Williamson's with two men on, Egolf's with the bases empty. The Phillies should take lessons.

The Bears commenced their scoring in the second when Scholl was safe on an error and scored on singles by Quinn and Stock.

The Dragons tied the score in their half of the third, but Egolf's home-run with one out in the fourth put the Bears ahead to stay.

In the fifth, the Bears added two more insurance runs when Weaver singled and advanced on a single by Graver. Weaver scored on Williamson's single and Graver scored on an error by the Drexel catcher.

The Bears added their final touches in the sixth as Geesaman was hit by a pitch, advanced to second on a sacrifice by Wighton, and scored on a single by Weaver. Graver walked, and Williamson connected for his home-run and three RBI's.

Haverford Beaten Second Time, 6-2

Ursinus kept its MAC college division title hopes alive Saturday when the Bears coasted past Haverford, 6-2, on the strength of the hot bats of Bill Scholl and Jack Parker. Parker also hurled a strong 7 innings of 4-hit ball, and Dick Geesaman finished out the game in his usual overpowering fashion by fanning 5 in 2 frames. Contrary to last week's Pressbox the Bears are still in the thick of the race (Western Maryland boasts a record of 7-2 with 3 conference games left while UC has a 9-3 log and 3 games remaining.)

The Siebman jumped on the Fords' starting pitcher, Steve Davallio, for two runs in the top half of the second. It took just two powerful sweeps of the bat—Barrie Williamson banked a triple and jogged home on Bill Scholl's booming home run. In the opening half of the fourth inning the Bears salted the contest away with a three spot. Pitcher Wheaties Parker delivered the key blow, a 2-run producing single in the midst of the rally.

Just for safe keeping Ursinus added its sixth tally in the sixth on a sacrifice fly by freshman catcher Jim Egolf. Haverford picked up its two runs in the bottom of the sixth when 6' 6" Hunter Rawlings polled a circuit-blast with a man aboard. Parker gained his second league victory and looked strong in his seven inning stint—striking out five and walking four. Geesaman proved his value once again by relieving in the eighth and breezing through the Haverford batting order.

UC Shears Ewes

The Ursinus softball team scored two runs in the first inning and three in the second which proved to be all they needed to defeat West Chester, 5-4, on its home field on May 7. In the first inning, Sue Day, reaching second on an error, went to third when Judy Smiley bunted safely, and stole home. June Ritting's single drove in Smiley for the second run. Singles by Carol Taney, Sue Day, and Judy Smiley, plus two errors by West Chester, allowing the next two batters to get on base, accounted for the three runs in Wednesday, May 10, the Bears blew another game which they should have won. Granted that it is easy to sit back and criticize, but when games have been lost because of unearned runs, what more can be said?

The final score was nine-five in favor of LaSalle. The Explorers scored three runs legitimately while collecting six freebies and a ball game. Granted that the LaSalle men were hitting the Bear's pitching, two home runs, two triples and a double but most of their big hits came after the inning should have been over.

The Siebmen scored in the fourth as Scholl walked and advanced to second on an error. Stock singled, scoring Scholl. With the bases loaded Weaver drew a walk and Stoch jogged home.

In the fifth Williamson and Scholl walked, Quinn singled and Williamson scored on an error by the Explorer's Third baseman. The Bears concluded their scoring in the sixth on a single by Graver and a single by Scholl. At this point it appeared that the Bears might win for they were leading five to three, then came the tragic eighth and ninth innings when LaSalle collected its six freebies.

Bears Drop Shoremen From Undefeated Ranks

Ursinus' trackmen downed previously undefeated Washington College 73-58 to raise their record to 7-1. Four new meet marks were established by the Grizzlies, as the relay team broke the tap in 3:28.1; Pete Dunn blazed the quarter in :50.2; Tony Sermarini hurled the javelin 193'8½" and Cliff Kuhn leaped 5' 10" to win the high jump.

The feature event of the afternoon was the mile relay, for it was there some Shoremen from Chestertown, Maryland, who had upset the Bears in the A. W. "Pop" Haddleton Memorial Mile Relay in the recent Penn Relays. With Tony Sermarini opening up a lead, Tom Walter, Bill Cooper and Pete Dunn followed suit and the Bears had gained revenge with a convincing sixty yard victory.

Cooper scored his usual double, remaining undefeated in both the 880 yard run and the mile run. Harry Pote placed third in the mile and Sermarini grabbed second place in the 880. Frosh Ray Ruberg raced to a victory in the two-mile with a time of 11:27.5 to gain his initial victory as a Bear.

Dunn, in addition to his record-setting race, also paced second in the 220 yard dash with frosh Neil O'Leary third. Walter placed second in the 100 yard dash and nearly deadheaded for first in the 220 yard low hurdles with the excellent time of :25.1. John Hunsicker placed third in both the highs and lows.

Captain Denny Wilson won the discus and sophomore Hal Fullam gained third place while the shot put saw a one-two-three sweep for the Bears, as Al Hakanson won the specialty with a chuck of 46' 10", and was followed by Wilson and Fullam. Junior Ron Ritz scored his initial victory of the year in the pole vault, while frosh Jon Katz gained third place. Junior Bob Gladstone leaped 20'10" to gain third place in the broad jump.

West Chester picked up 3 runs on 2 hits and an error in the first inning, but fine pitching by Carol Taney prevented them from scoring again until the sixth inning. UC thwarted the West Chester rally with only one out, but Taney forced the next batter to hit a short fly to left field and get the last out on a ground ball hit to third. The team record is 3 wins, no losses, and the next game will be against Beaver on May 15.

Tennis Team Trims the Main Line

May 7 set the scene for Ursinus' victory over Bryn Mawr. The girls demonstrated their Ursinus spirit by defeating their opponents 3-2. Contributing to the victorious score were Diane Register, who won 6-4, 3-6, 6-3; Darlene Miller, winning 6-4, 6-1; and the combination of Chris Bottiger and Jan Kuntz, scoring a 6-3, 6-2 win. An impressive but unfortunate showing was made by Ginny Gross, who lost 6-2, 2-6, 4-6, and the team of Jane Eyre and Sue Musselman were defeated 5-7, 3-6.

Ursinus served as host to Rosemont College on May 9 and defeated them 3-2. Diane Register began the action by winning 6-0, 6-3. Ginny Gross was faced with a tough competitor who defeated her 6-0, 6-3. Darlene Miller struck back and won 6-0, 6-4. The doubles consisted of Chris Bottiger and Jan Kuntz, who lost 3-6, 6-0, 3-6, and Jane Eyre and Sue Musselman, who won 5-7, 9-7, 6-4 and scored the deciding point for Ursinus.

The girls will try for their final victory of the year against Temple on May 16.

Congratulations to the Cindermen

Lacrosse Team Drops WC, 6-4

The women's lacrosse team met and beat a hard-fighting West Chester twelve Thursday, May 9. The West Chester girls were out to avenge a 10-4 loss suffered at the hands of the UC girls last Friday. They fought hard, but even their best effort was not sufficient to overcome the desire and skill of this Ursinus team. The Ursinus attack scored six goals, and the defense held West Chester to four goals. Freshman Sue Day scored four goals, two in the first half and two crucial goals in the second half. Lee Saphr scored the other two goals.

The game was hotly contested even though Ursinus was on the attack most of the game. The Ursinus offense played well and utilized short passes and well-timed cuts to confuse the West Chester defense. The UC defense played very well, continually coming up with key interceptions to thwart a hungry West Chester attack.

"Marge's Charges" will play Drexel at home on Friday, May 17.

Freshman find, Jim Egolf, who has become the regular backstop for the Bears.

Jim Egolf: Freshman Find

Freshman Jim Egolf has nudged last year's All-MAC catcher, Bill Graver, into the outfield and has taken over as Sieb's regular backstop. He is probably the finest addition to the Bears squad along with lefty flinger Dick Geesaman (who is playing out his last year of eligibility). Egolf impressed Coach Pancoast immediately and Sieb finally worked the squat receiver into the opening lineup against Johns Hopkins, the seventh game of the season. Egolf established himself as a regular after the Wilkes and Drexel contests.

The well-built Chemistry major from Boyertown, already has acquired a sterling reputation with the glove. He's low to the ground; possesses a strong, accurate arm; quick as a cat behind the dish; and a fine handler of pitchers. Jim got off to a slow start with the stick, but he has shown potential by blasting a round-tripper against Drexel and chipping in with a run-producing single against LaSalle. Yet, the intangible which Egolf boasts is his constant hustling style, and attribute which should keep him in the Ursinus lineup for the next three years.

Ursinus Racketeers Stumble

After three straight victories, the Ursinus men's tennis team met rough sailing last week. Last Tuesday, May 7, the Bears lost at home to Wilkes College, 7-2, with Ky Coon salvaging the only singles victory (5-7, 6-2, 6-1) and Coon and Bob Bole copped one of the three doubles contests (6-3, 1-6, 12-10). The following Thursday in an away match UC bowed to Moravian, 7-2; and Saturday Elizabeth-town turned back the Ursinus visitors, 8-1.

the PRESSBOX

by Cheryl Siegal

Why did "Big Daddy" Lipscomb die? Here was a fine athlete, still in his prime. At 31, Gene Lipscomb was one of the best defensive tackles in the NFL. Lipscomb was invaluable as a pass defender. He rushed the offense and pounced on the quarterback like a tiger, to the delight of spectators. It was difficult, if not close to impossible to get away from Lipscomb's mobile 288 pounds on a six foot six inch frame.

Lipscomb was one of very few players in pro football who never played college ball. He joined the Rams after doing time with the Marines. He was later traded to the Colts where he proved to be a valuable asset in their championship years. In 1961 he was traded to the Pittsburgh Steelers in a deal which cost Weeb Ewbank his coaching job.

Last Friday in Baltimore, Lipscomb died in the apartment of a friend. He was found unconscious slumped in a chair. There were hypodermic puncture marks in his arms. A homemade syringe found in a waste-basket tested negative for narcotics, but doctors say that death was probably caused by an over-dose of heroin. Many of "Big Daddy's" fellow football players have told of his refusals to take a shot to deaden pain. Yet, this man obviously had injected dope into his veins, or had someone else done it? Was Lipscomb a dope addict or was he murdered?

Lipscomb lived his life as he played his football—fast and tough. He liked fancy clothes and cars that moved. He liked fun and parties. Maybe cars became too slow and parties became too dull. Dope can fix many problems. Lipscomb was not on dope during the 1963 football season; his fellow players would have noticed. The rumor is he got hooked on a trip to the West Coast two or three months ago. It takes a while for addicts to start "main-lining" the drug. If he administered that last, fatal dose himself, he was really a confirmed addict. If this is true, then it is possible to think Lipscomb could have been murdered.

No matter what the medical or legal judgment is, the Lipscomb death is on its way to providing the NFL with its second big scandal in less than two months. Betting on games is usual, but, when it happens within the ranks and a name like Hornung is involved, the opponents of the game have something to bite into. Lipscomb's death by narcotics rocks the boat a little more.
