Junior Class "Goes Parisian" For Sunnybrook Event Friday

Junior Prom Recreates Paris in Pottstown

by Geoffrey Bloom

Les Champs Elysees, the glittering main street of Paris, will be temporarily transferred to the Sunnybrook Ballroom, Friday, April 13, for the annual Junior Prom. A Decorating Committee made up of Dottie Detwiler, Grace Folwell, Alice Marple, Roger Brown, and Dick Dean, have combined their vast knowledge of continental flavor and have reproduced the road in its every detail as it passes through the famous Arc of Triumph. Those couples fortunate enough to gain admission, which is free, by the way, will have the privilege of viewing this splendor from the intimate booths of a Parisian Cafe.

The cohesive force for the evening will be supplied by the celestial strains of Paris' own Al Raymond and orchestra who, thanks to better than a year of bickering by Terry Kearney and his orchestra committee, has consented to play from nine until one. During this time the Cub and Key members will be announced.

Queen to be Crowned

At the height of the festivities, the Junior Prom queen will be crowned. In order that the young ladies present will have a suitable amount of time to regain their composure after this veritable orgy of merry-making, two o'clock permissions will be granted.

The lavish publicity, which so tastefully adorns the campus, comes about through the labors of Linda Blew, Geoff Bloom, and their publicity committee. The svelte programs, made of only the finest materials, were designed and printed under the supervision of John Piston and Yvonne Finne-meyer.

After the candles have burned down and the afore-mentioned programs have been nestled safely in a scrapbook, those two muscle-bound paragons of sanitation and maintenance, Roy DeBeer and Dave Hall, will lead their loyal clean-up committee in the monumental task of cleaning up after the thousands of students and Alumnae who will have flocked to "Paris in Pottstown."

Under the able supervision of Cliff Kuhn and Cal Moyer, the election of the Queen was a precision operation. The discriminating Junior men elected, in alphabetical order, Sandy Fix, Sue Higley, Jane Mikuliak, Sue Miller, and Judy Rudolph. The queen will be selected from among these five young ladies, and the remaining four will make up the court.

The Queen Candidates

Sandy Fix is a biology major from Reading, Pa., and is parliamentary of Omega Chi, and a member of the chapel choir and Messiah Chorus. Sue Higley is secretary of Sig Nu, active in the Young Republicans, and member of the Messiah Chorus and Spirit Committee. Jane Mikuliak, also a biology major, comes from Trenton, New Jersey. Jane is corresponding secretary of Omega Chi, a member of the Y. Cabinet, and serves as a Junior advisor. Sue Miller, a political science major from Johnstown, Pa., is recording secretary of Tau Sig, a member of the Mes-

Steve Wurster, elected President of the YMCA last Wednesday.

Wurster Elected YMCA President

On April 4 Steve Wurster was elected President of the YMCA for the coming year; Larry Coon Vice President; and Kent Ferguson, Treasurer.

Wurster told the Weekly that he plans to "... maintain Christian, but not necessarily ecclesiastical routine." Basically, he will continue the same program exemplified in the past year, with an emphasis on trying to reach each student at Ursinus. Steve is also business manager of the Meistersingers, co-editor of the 1963 Ruby, a member of the Curtain Club, the Chapel Choir, the Messiah Chorus, and the tennis team. He is a brother of both Sig Rho and Alpha Phi Omega.

Larry Coon, a psychology major from Norwich, N. Y., will serve as the new vice president. Larry is active in the intramural wrestling program, and is chairman for Sophomore Weekend. A brother of APO, he is employed on campus as a waiter.

Treasurer of the Y for next year will be Kent Ferguson. Kent is freshman class treasurer, a member of MSGA, and athletic trainer, and a pledge of Demas fraternity. He resides in Springfield, Pa.

Major spring elections to fill offices in the women's organizations for the 1962-63 academic year were held on Wednesday, April 4. An election run-off for several positions was held on Thursday, April 5. Major offices for WSGA, YWCA, and WAA were filled at these times.

Newly elected president of the WSGA is Sally Andrews, a health and physical education major from Moorestown, N. J. Sally held the position of secretary of the WSGA during her sophomore year and was the junior class representative this year. She was also head of the junior advisory committee. Sally's other activities include treasurer of Tau Sigma Gamma, WAA, a sophomore ruler for two years, and she is active in sports. When questioned about next year, Sally replied that she is looking forward to a good year and is hoping for good results.

Sophomore Sue Honeysett was elected vice-president of the WSGA. This year Sue served as secretary to the WSGA. She was representative to the YMCA and MSGA in her freshman year. A math major from Plymouth meeting. Sue has also been a sophomore ruler, a member of P.S.E.A., and is on varsity hockey, swimming, and lacrosse teams. She is a sister of Tau Sig.

Filling the position of WSGA secretary is freshman Betsy Pearson. Her activities include freshman representative to WSGA, central nominating committee, P.S.E.A., and Messiah Chorus. She is a history major from Glenside.

Next year's WSGA treasurer is Carol DeSilvia. Her activities include central nominating committee, Messiah Chorus, Spring Festival, sophomore ruler, and Weekly news staff. She is a sister of Phi Psi. In her freshman year Carol was freshman representative to WAA. She is an English major.

Heading the YWCA as president is Lois Hartzell. This year she was vice-president of the same organization. Lois is a sister of Tau Sigma Gamma, a member of Meistersingers, Messiah Chorus, Chapel Choir, and P.S.E.A. A math major from Chester, Lois said that she hopes she can live up to Judy Nelson's accomplishments as president of the Y.

Joan Kleinhoff was victorious in the contest for the vice-presidency. This year she was secretary of the Y. She is also secretary of the sophomore class, a member of PSEA and Messiah, and a sister of Tau Sig. Joanie also does volunteer work at the Audubon Protectory.

YWCA secretary for next year will be Jean Dawson, a freshman French major from Elmira, N.Y.

ATTENTION ALL STUDENTS: REGISTER THIS WEEK

All students should register early in the week of April 9. See your adviser and plan your schedule for the coming academic year.

It is important that your list of courses be arranged with care inasmuch as a fine will be imposed for certain changes that are made subsequent to the week of registration.

Pre-medicals Hear Hahneman's Bondi On Chemotherapy

"Chemotherapy of Infectious Disease" was the topic of discussion presented by Dr. Amadeo Bondi at the Thursday, April 5, meeting of the Brownback-Anders Pre-Medical Society.

In his talk, Dr. Bondi, who is Professor and Chairman of Department of Microbiology at the Hahnemann Medical College, defined a Chemotherapeutic Agent as a chemical which, when administered by any route, has a specific affinity to certain micro-organisms. These, he explained, are different from anti-microbial agents which are general protoplasmic

Sophomores Slate Weekend Wingding

The Sophomore Class is presently engaged in organizing what they hope will be a first for Ursinus—a successful Sophomore Weekend. The underlying purpose of the project, according to the publicity committee, is to accomplish a stronger feeling of unification of the class through an affair which will also benefit the entire student body.

Soph Weekend will officially begin on April 14, the Saturday following the Junior Prom, with a picnic to be held at Montgomery County Park. Attendance for this event will be limited to Sophomores and their guests. Mr. Lynch of the kitchen staff has offered to supply the food for the planned cookout.

Rock and Roll Party

Saturday evening a casual rock-and-roll party will be open

Thousands Visit Science Fair at Ursinus College

During spring vacation Ursinus acted as host to the annual Montgomery County Science Fair. Thousands of persons visited the College gyms to examine the special science projects entered by pupils of the county's secondary schools.

Edgar Mitchell, Upper Moreland High School, won first place for boys in the senior high division with his exhibit, "Solar-Geo Relations". Astrid Hausch, Lower Moreland High School, was the first place girl winner. Her exhibit was entitled, "The Effect of Shock Intensity and Number of Pairings in the Condition of Planaria."

Lower Moreland Dominates Lower Moreland High School won the Luther M. Bingaman Trophy for the senior high school receiving the greatest number of points for its exhibits. Eisenhower High School placed second and North Penn High School, third.

David Gleiter, Keith Junior High School, Hatboro-Horsham, won first place in the junior high judging for boys for his display, "Photoconductors Controlled Devices: A New Concept in Light." Donna Osman, of the same high school, won first place for girls. Her exhibit: "Can the Cambium Layer be Isolated and Polyploid Induced."

Forum to Present Sokoloffs In Piano Recital Wednesday

For those who enjoy excellent piano recitals, the Forum Committee at Ursinus has arranged an entertaining evening to be held Wednesday evening, April 11, in Bomberger Chapel. Vladimir and Eleanor Sokoloff, a husband and wife team well-known in Philadelphia concert circles, will present their program of "Original Works for Four Hands at One Piano."

Pi Nu Will Sponsor Music Month Here

The Ursinus chapter of Pi Nu Epsilon, national honorary music fraternity, is sponsoring the month of April as Music Month on the Ursinus Campus. Many activities concerned with music will occur this month.

The Meistersingers will tour New England during April 5 to April 12. This active singing group will also give a concert in Bomberger Chapel after their return from the tour. This event has been scheduled for April 26.

Greek Contest Planned

The honorary fraternity is also sponsoring a contest between the individual sororities and fraternities on April 17 at 6:45 p.m. in Bomberger Chapel. Ursinus students are invited to watch these sorority sisters and fraternity brothers sing out for the trophy to be awarded to one sorority and one fraternity on the basis of a faculty committee's decision.

Weekly Banquet is Swint's Swansong

Freeland Banquet Hall was the scene, Thursday evening, March 22, of the annual Weekly banquet. Guests of honor included the new editors, John Piston, Craig Garner, Caroline Moretz, and Sharon Robbins, as well as members of The Collegeville Independent staff, Mr. Jay Howard Fenstermacher, Mrs. Kathy Russo, Mr. Paul Knoll, and Mr. Henry Muehe.

A Bit of Ceremony

The retiring editor of The Weekly, John Swinton, made a short speech and presented Piston, ceremoniously, with the key to the College's newspaper office.

Mr. Sokoloff, a native of Russia, attended Moscow University and the Museum Art Theatre. He received a Ph.D. degree in literature from the university, but his true interest lay in dramatics. He studied acting under Stanislavsky and became a member of the Kamerny Theatre. He has played in Berlin, Vienna, and Salzburg.

In 1927 he came to New York with the Reinhardt company and gave outstanding performances in Midsummer Night's Dream, Everyman, and Danton's Death. Later he traveled to Hollywood and played in the motion picture entitled "The Life of Emile Zola." His best known performances were in Orson Welle's Mercury Theatre productions of Danton's Death, Crime and Punishment, and The Madwomen of Chaillot.

Joined by Wife

Later he turned to a field of music in which he and his wife have added to their already considerable fame. On Wednesday evening the Ursinus student body will have the opportunity of seeing this couple perform the quite complicated technique of playing over and around each other's hands. This will also be one of the rare opportunities to hear the works of great composers designed for four hands. The Wednesday program in Bomberger Chapel starting at 8:00 p.m., will include:

- Fantasia, No. 1 in F minor, Kochel 594
- Allegro Lebensstürme, Opus 144
- Sonata
- Six epigraphes antiques
- Hungarian Dances, Book 1
-Brahms

Moll Announces MSGA Now Accepting Petitions For 1962 Membership

Tom Moll, President of the Men's Student Government Association, announces that petitions may now be circulated for nominations of MSGA Council members for next year. Petitions shall consist of the signatures of 15 men of the candidate's class, plus the candidate's own signature. These petitions may be given to any officer on or before Friday, April 13, 1962.

The Council consists of 4 seniors, 3 juniors, 3 sophomores, 2 freshmen (to be elected next year) and one day student. The elections will be held on Monday, April 12.

SELF-HELP NOTICE

All students interested in holding Student Employment positions during the Fall Term 1962 and the Spring Term 1963 should apply now by letter. Address your letters to the person who supervises the work in which you are interested. Contracts will be signed beginning April 25th.

EDITORIAL

A Matter of Policy

It seems to have become customary for the new editor to present, in the substance of the first editorial, the policy which will govern the school newspaper throughout his term as editor-in-chief. In concordance with this custom, we wish to discourse somewhat on the subject of WEEKLY policy to be manifested in the next twenty-two odd issues.

Might we point out, first of all, that it will be no easy matter to succeed John Swinton. Having pulled the WEEKLY up by its bootstraps, John retires from this position perhaps not fully appreciated by the student body. This sometime-idol of ours once remarked that the average student has no reasonable idea of the amount of work involved in putting out even one issue of the paper. He has suggested that we could profit from his mistakes and improve the WEEKLY in the several areas remaining which demand attention.

The positions of associate editors for both the news and feature staffs will evolve into something new for the Ursinus WEEKLY. These associate editorships will be occasionally filled from the ranks of the underclassmen (in certain instances) on a revolving basis. That is, promising underclassmen will be allowed to function in these capacities for short periods during the college year. These appointments will be determined largely by the editors of the various staffs, with an eye on future advancement possibilities. In short, here is the opportunity for interested and capable underclassmen to prove themselves on a working basis.

In recent years the editors have, for one reason or another, assumed overwhelming burdens upon their own shoulders. This is to their credit, but we feel that a more widespread delegation of responsibility is in order.

This new system of organization and delegation of responsibility, it is hoped, will be an improvement in at least one area. Beyond that, photographic coverage will be expanded (even more so than during the past year). As the saying goes, "One picture is worth . . ." The WEEKLY feature staff plans to run a series on unusual aspects of campus life, little-known to most students. Forthcoming articles on the College Museum and the Catholic Rectory are examples.

In regard to the freedom of the press (presently a controversial subject in several of our area colleges) it should be pointed out that the WEEKLY never has been, is not, and never should be an instrument of some influential group to a disproportionate degree. The WEEKLY is primarily published BY and FOR the students of Ursinus College. Censorship will be exercised along the lines of good taste.

In conclusion, the WEEKLY will, as it should, attempt to present an interesting journal of activities at Ursinus, through straightforward unbiased reporting.

* * * *

Is It Worth It, Men?

It has been brought to our attention that the pranks which have enlivened this campus throughout the past few months are going to boomerang right back into the laps of the male contingent of the student body. The College has every intention of assessing the men right down the line for each and every prank which runs into money for repairs. That catch-all on the semester bills termed "damage assessment" will be followed by a surprisingly high figure.

It might sound trite if we suggest that it is a shame that ALL the men are going to be assessed for the damage done by only a few. But so it is.

Can't something be done, MSGA?

Dear Editor:

What is wrong with the "men" of Ursinus? This is what I keep asking myself. This is what I keep asking my friends. This is what my parents keep asking me.

Week after week I sit here, with loads of company, in the confines of my dormitory room. Girls mope up and down the hall, back and forth . . . with a defeated look on their faces.

I consider myself an attractive female. Like the girls on other campuses (which our fellows seem to delight in dating) I have two legs, two arms, two eyes, etc. I have been told that I have a pleasing personality. Then why is it that I am so often dateless?

Shame, men of Ursinus. Social life on this campus is bad enough as it is, without your sitting in your dorms every weekend while the girls sit in theirs. Why don't we get together?

With a note of hope,
A disgruntled female

Dear Editor:

Although the final tabulation has not been made and money still trickles into our hands, with the official closing of the Campus Chest campaign we would like to express our sincere thanks to those who made this campaign a success: student body, faculty, administration, maintenance, and the many others associated with the campaign. The fact that we will fall short of our goal does not indicate lack of interest or support on the part of students. Student organizations, particularly fraternities and sororities, were instrumental in helping us achieve what we did.

It was our pleasure and privilege to head the central committee of willing and hard-working people who did so much to ensure a successful drive. Our gratitude also to producers, Winnie Miller and Sandy Holl, and directors John Swinton and Meridy Murphy of the Student-Faculty Show. We are indebted to the students and faculty members who gave their time and talent to make such a fine production.

The true spirit of Ursinus is invariably shown in this annual two-week drive. Please accept our sincere feeling of gratitude and pleasure for a job well done by all of you.

Respectfully yours,

Jean is on the Spirit Committee, central nominating committee, and a member of Messiah Chorus. She was a basketball team manager, plays softball, and appeared in the one-act play "The Next War."

Running unopposed for the presidency of WAA was Carol Taney. "T" quipped that she didn't sleep well until the final results were in. Carol plays hockey, basketball, and softball and is associate sports editor of the Weekly. She has held the position of sophomore ruler and is currently the treasurer of Stauffer Hall. She is a sister of Phi Alpha Psi.

Vice-president of WAA is Bonnie Fisher, a transfer student from Tufts University. A health and physical education major, Bonnie is a sister of Phi Psi, a member of the hockey and swimming teams, and Messiah.

WAA secretary is Judy Smiley, a health and physical education major from Kimberton, Pa. She has played hockey, basketball, lacrosse, and softball. She is a member of the central nominating committee and P.S.E.A.

Lee Spahr, freshman health and phys. ed. major from Gladwyne, Pa., will hold the office of WAA treasurer. Lee plays hockey, basketball, and lacrosse. She is a member of P.S.E.A., and she was WAA dormitory representative from Rimby's.

Next War Praised
Bravo for Mackey

by Dave Carter

War, death, and women without men were a few of the dramatic themes which the Curtain Club tackled in its March 20th presentation of "The Next War," a tragedy by Hans Gross.

The play was written on the eve of World War II as a prediction of the nature of that conflict. Playwright Gross predicted that the war would be fought with guided missiles carrying warheads containing poison gas. He further imagined that the trenches would be neutral zones inhabited by women and children of each warring nation. The men would live in the cities, the real war zones, and hurl poison gas rockets at men living in enemy cities.

Audience Identification

The appeal of the play lies in the similarity of its action to what could occur in a nuclear war that may mushroom any moment during these tense times. Because of this similarity, the audience identification with the characters on stage was very close, and contributed toward making the production a tremendous success.

The scene of the play is an underground trench somewhere on the border between Germany and France. The trench is inhabited by German women and children attempting to live their lives as normal as is possible under such circumstances. The petty, everyday motions of these people presents a stark contrast to the horror of the conflict being waged in the world outside.

Evie, a little girl, played by Ellie Bottiglier, complains about her schoolwork. Senta, a sour maid played by Alice Marple, performs household chores. Anna, the mother (as played by Barbara Rupp), is the indomitable head of the family.

The tranquility of the scene is broken when a man (portrayed by Pete Mackey), brandishing a rifle, bursts into the room. He is a German from the South Seas who has returned to Europe to fight for his fatherland. He has courage, determination, and a weapon. He has searched in vain for the German armies. Where are they? Anna patiently explains to him that guns are no longer used in warfare. Soldiers must now be trained in order to assist the scientists in the development of newer and more deadly gases. Knowing this, the man realizes that he is useless to his country. His inability to cope with his environment has a parallel in the plight of people today as they fear destruction by a force against which they are powerless.

Nevertheless, the man is still a man, and the women have been alone for a long time. Anna's daughter Maria (played by Jeanne Dawson) throws herself at him with the passion of man-hungry lust. A french woman, played by Julie Huttel, makes a purring play for him with a delightful French accent.

His confusion, however, places him beyond the lure of feminine wiles. When he sees a small boy (played by Jon Zizelman) reprimanded for playing with a discarded rifle, the situation is incomprehensible to him, and he rushes out the door, never to return. Bravo for Pete Mackey.

The action reaches the dramatic peak when a letter informs Anna that her husband has been killed in a recent gas attack. Barbara Rupp ably carried the high tragedy of this moment that brought down the curtain on an excellent performance.

The audience of about one hundred persons enjoyed the play, judging from their applause. But many remarked that the production was too short. This reviewer agrees.

A Meistersinger Reports Progress
Of New England Tour Via Phone Call

The Meistersingers, 45 strong, departed by bus from this campus at exactly 5:47 last Thursday afternoon, bound for New England on the annual tour. Meistersinger Sharon Robbins, ALSO the WEEKLY Feature Editor, made a pre-arranged long distance telephone call back to Ursinus late Sunday afternoon with news of the group's progress. Following is the substance of our telephone conversation, slightly paraphrased by this reporter.

Student conductors Judy Nelson and John Hope pose for the "Weekly" photographer while boarding bus for Meistersinger tour.

Thursday evening the Meistersingers motelled in Albany, New York, en route to New England. This overnight stay was a welcome chance to rest up from that long bus ride. A lot of the kids played bridge, while some of the others decided to do a little "partying."

Friday morning we departed for Woodstock, Vermont, passing through Bennington Battle-field, the roaming place of the Green Mountain Boys during the Revolutionary War.

Arriving at Woodstock, we presented a concert in the First Congregational Church at 8 p.m. Woodstock, a small but wealthy town, is one of the homes of Lawrence Rockefeller. We ran into snow here, but nothing slows down the Meistersingers.

There is yet hope for Philadelphia to destroy the image that everything closes down on weekends. Here in Woodstock things seem to close down at 7:00 p.m. After the concert, a group of our fellows (Stu Glasby, Jed Lippy, Carl Berlinger, Dave Stewart, and Jerry Rosenberger), seeking a little excitement, ended up drinking Coke and watching television in the local laundromat. See what I mean?

Saturday morning we left for Keene, New Hampshire, where I'm calling from now. A lot of the kids bought maple syrup along the way. This is where it's made, you know.

Conservative Coed Goes Dixie-Way

by Marion Pollanick

Armed with our college blazers, comfortable shoes, and suitcases, my companion and I took the Greyhound's offer of "leaving the driving to us" and headed for St. Petersburg as "delegates" from UC to the "convention" of college students in Florida. The prospects of a thirty-hour bus ride from noon Friday until Saturday night sounded like a grueling price to pay for sun, sand, and the Gulf of Mexico, but this proved to be one of the most remembered parts of our vacation.

"Never Again"

The breakfast stop comes at 5:30 (I will never again complain of UC's breakfast at 7:15) but is a welcome change from trying to sleep on a bus which grinds to a stop at every railroad track all through the night.

The next time we go south we plan to take an interpreter. Milk costs "tin cen" and two post cards, "sic cen," to say nothing of the long southern drawl which pages the buses at the terminals!

Saturday morning, the magic word "Florida" became a reality—royal palms, Spanish moss, and semi-tropical greenery. Going from winter to spring and green grass and blooming azaleas in a matter of hours was a wonderful feeling, and a sight upon which to feast our hungry eyes.

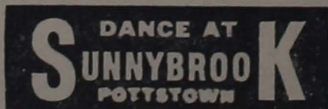

St. Pete, A Showplace

St. Pete is really a showplace of modern buildings, well deserving the title of "the city of banks and churches." (There are more here per capita than in any other city.) Each one is a picture of individualistic modern design. The Security Federal Bank is a small U.N. on one side and top-heavy semi-circular cylinder on the other, lighted in blue after dark. The Sunken Gardens, Nature Trail, and one of Ponce de Leon's Fountains of Youth are only a few of the many attractions.

(The conclusion of Miss Pollanick's article, including her experiences with servicemen along the way, will appear next week.—ed. note.)

Fighting Shaner Leads Siebmen in Sloppy 11-7 Victory Over Dickinson

by Ed Leister

The Ursinus College baseball team opened its season on Thursday afternoon, by defeating visiting Dickinson College 11 to 7 in a game marred by errors and mental lapses. The two teams showed very little effectiveness either at the plate or in the field. Errors set up many scoring opportunities for both teams.

The shining lights in the Bears attack were Doug Harper and Bill Graver, who contributed three hits and two hits respectively. Tom Hermann, a Dickinson freshman, led the visitors' attack with three hits, including a tree-run homer.

Terry Shaner, the veteran Ursinus moundsman, went the distance allowing seven runs and eleven hits in registering his first victory of the season. He was in trouble on numerous occasions, but he managed to pitch well in the clutch. Shaner seemed to get more effective as the game went along. Dickinson used four hurlers and they were unable to find a consistent performer in the group, as they suffered their third defeat of the season.

The Bears did not look impressive in their inaugural, but they did manage to win the game. If the underclassmen develop as expected and Barry Williamson's injury heals completely, Ursinus should experience a winning season in baseball.

Coach Pancoasts' baseballers journey to PMC for their next game on Tuesday afternoon. Saturday's game with Albright was cancelled because of rain.

TENNIS PLAYERS NEEDED

Coach Quinn of the men's tennis team urges all those with any tennis experience to attend the practice sessions held each weekday at 4:00. Every position is open on the team, and all new participants will be appreciated.

CRAM COURSE NO. 2: BIOLOGY

The grisly shadow of final exams looms over us, so today in this column instead of merry quips and homely saws, you will find hard facts—quick cram courses to help you through the ordeal ahead.

Last week I gave you a rapid survey of Modern European History. Now let us turn to Biology.

Biology is divided into several phyla, or classes. First is the protozoa, or one-celled animal. All life stems from the one-celled animal. Over a space of millions of years, life slowly evolved until today we have animals with as many as 12 cells. Some larger mammals claim they have 14 to 16 cells, but you know how larger mammals lie.

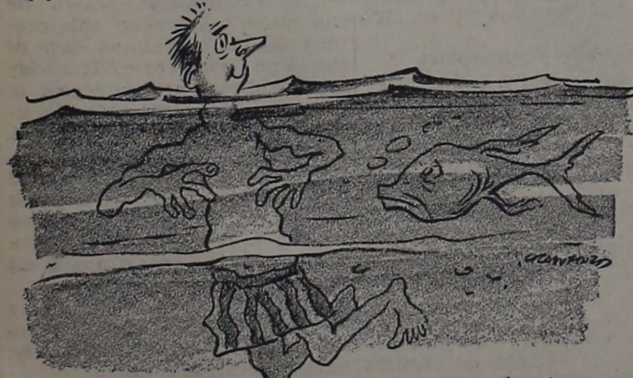

The second class of animals is the periphera—a shadowy category that borders often on the vegetable. Take, for example, the sponge. The sponge is definitely an animal. The washcloth, on the other hand, is definitely not.

Next we come to the arthropoda, or insects. Most people, of course, find insects fairly repulsive—and yet, if one will but look, there is exquisite beauty in the insect world. Who does not remember the lovely insect poems of William Cullen Sigafoos—such enchanting lyrics as Tumbling Along with the Tumbling Tumblebug, Fly Gently, Sweet Aphid, and Gnats My Mother Taught Me. Mr. Sigafoos has been inactive since the invention of DDT.

Our next category is the mollusca—lobsters, shrimp, and the like. Lobsters are generally found under rocky projections on the ocean bottom. Shrimp are generally found in a circle around a small bowl containing cocktail sauce. Marlboro Cigarettes are generally found at any tobacco counter or vending machine.

What have Marlboro Cigarettes got to do with biology? Well, actually, not very much. It must be remembered, however, that the makers of Marlboro pay me for writing this column, and they are inclined to get surly if I fail to mention their product.

Mind you, I enjoy singing the praises of Marlboro—and so will you once you try that flavorful tobacco, that fine filter which lets the flavor come through undiminished. It is a great pleasure to smoke Marlboros and a great pleasure to write about them, but sometimes, I must confess, I find it a bit difficult to work the commercial into the column. Some years ago, for example, I did a piece about Alexander the Great, and, believe you me, it took a heap of stretching to drop in a plug for Marlboro. The way I finally managed it was to have Alexander go to the Oracle at Delphi and say, "Oracle, I have conquered the world and tasted all its pleasures, but somehow I am not content. I know that somewhere there must be a joy I have not yet experienced." To which the Oracle replied,

There is no great difficulty distinguishing the two

"Yes, Alexander, there is such a joy, but, alas, the time is not yet. I refer to Marlboro Cigarettes which will not be invented for another 2500 years." Whereupon Alexander fell into a sulk from which he never recovered... Well sir, there is no question I sold a lot of cigarettes with this ingenious commercial, but the gang down at the American Academy of Arts and Letters gave me a mighty good razzing, you may be sure.

But I digress. Back to biology, and the most advanced phylum of all—the chordata, or vertebrates. There are two kinds of vertebrates—those whose backbones run horizontally and those whose backbones run vertically. Generally, there is no great difficulty in distinguishing the two varieties. A fish, for instance, has a horizontal backbone, and a man has a vertical backbone. Occasionally, however, you run into a problem—like a fish who swims upright and a man who spends most of his time in the sack. How, in such a case, do you tell one from another? Science struggled with this sticky question for centuries, but finally Sigafoos of M.I.T. came up with a brilliantly simple answer. Offer the creature a Marlboro. If it is a fish, it will refuse. If it is Homo sapiens, it will accept. In fact, the more sapient, the quicker the acceptance.

The makers of Marlboro, upright vertebrates all, remind you that their fine cigarettes are available in pack or box wherever cigarettes are sold in any of the 50 states.

Cindermen Drop Practice Meet to Lehighers, 64 to 54

Friday afternoon the Ursinus track squad hosted a strong cinder team from Lehigh in a practice meet. Still far from being polished or in top shape, Ursinus stayed in contention throughout before dropping a decision. Even though the meet was not official, there were several fine performances.

Freshman Pete Dunn posted a good time of 51.7 seconds in the 440 to grab first place. Senior Dick Woodruff jumped 21 feet for first place in the broad jump. Tony Sermarini threw the javelin 172 feet for a respectable first place.

Peter Wise grabbed a first in the high hurdles and a second in the low hurdles. The shot-put looked strong with Richard Carney taking second with a toss of 47 feet and Denny Wilson taking third with a toss of 44 feet, 6 inches.

Surprise of the Day

The surprise of the day came when Rocco Swinton, former Weekly editor, stumbled to a second place on the two mile event with the unbelievable time of 13 minutes.

The Ursinus squad will officially open its outdoor season Wednesday afternoon when it travels to Haverford College. This year's squad will be bothered by weaknesses in the dashes and the distance events, but will be strong in all the field events. With a few surprises and breaks, the cindermen could improve on last year's .500 record.

INTRAMURAL CORNER

Brodbeck I was crowned College Champion as they upended previously undefeated Demas 72-64 in an exciting title game. In the consolidated finals, Curtis I downed last year's champions, Alpha Phi Epsilon 57-50, while the Dormitory All-Stars defeated the Fraternity All-Stars 78-62 to conclude the Intramural Department's 80-game basketball schedule.

Demas Surrenders Title

Brodbeck I, trailing 16-11 midway through the first half, exploded behind the shooting of Tom Wise and Bob Kenschaft to gain a 35-27 halftime lead. With Judd Kintzley controlling the defensive boards, Brodbeck I was able to hold the lead throughout the second half, even though Wise, the tourney's MVP, fouled out with seven minutes to play.

Demas, hampered by the absence of high scoring Mike Bernstein, was led by Tom Santucci's 19 points, while Barnstein's replacement, Jay Bosniak, played an outstanding game and netted 15 markers. Bernie Master and Geoff Bloom also hit in double figures for the losers.

In the consolation game, Toby Gelfand and Tom Davis dropped in 45 points between them to lead Curtis I to their victory over the APES. Bill Graver with 18 points led the losers while Denny Wilson added 12 and Bill Davis 10.

All-Star Game Exciting

The All-Star game produced exciting basketball as the lead changed hands ten times in the first half before the dormitory squad ran off 12 straight points and were never headed again. Tom Wise was high for the winners with 22 points. Al Hakanson and Ed Leister added 17 and 16 points respectively to the winners' cause, and Doug Harper turned in an exceptional defensive game.

Rocky Roberts paced the losers with 16 points from the outside, while Ron Emmert hit for 15 from hte pivot. Tom Santucci and Mike Bernstein also hit in double figures for the fraternity squad, but the superior bench strength of the dormitory team prevailed.

In tourney semi-final games Brodbeck I had edged Curtis I 56-52 while Demas routed the APES 75-38. Wise led Brodbeck with 25 points while George Brackin paced the losers with 16. Demas, the Fraternity League Champions, had four players in double figures while Denny Wilson's 13 points were high for the APES.

In the Fraternity competition, Demas went undefeated and replaced the APES as champions. The APES were second and were followed by Zeta Chi, Sig Rho, and Beta Sig in that order. The top ten men in scoring were:

1. Bernstein (Demas)	101
2. Santucci (Demas)	97
3. Emmert (ZX)	90
4. Wilson (APES)	72
5. Wurster (Sig Rho)	70
6. Davis (APES)	69
7. Master (Demas)	66
Worth (Sig Rho)	66
9. White (ZX)	64
10. Wiest (APES)	63

the PRESSBOX

by Craig Garner
Sports Editor

Jerry Morita completed his column with the last issue. Now I have the pleasure of surveying the Ursinus sports scene. It will be a tedious task, and I certainly hope that the Pressbox will be a perceptive and interesting presentation.

It will be difficult to duplicate Jerry Morita's two years of excellent sports writing. He consistently produced enlightening, and at times, controversial articles. Jerry's opinions were sound, and I heartily agree with his view that a limited scholarship program would enhance Ursinus' prestige. The sports facilities could also be expanded and improved immensely to compliment a more progressive sports program.

However, even if UC has its athletic limitations, it also boasts individual stars and prospective winning teams. The girls invariably field near unconquerable, ranging from badminton to lacrosse. The male crews do not compile such awesome records, but every outfit has a bright future. The football team should have a better than .500 record; the basketball team can go nowhere but up; wrestling, our lone successful sport, looks powerful once again with the entire varsity returning plus a large crop of prospective freshmen grapplers; the tennis team has a desperate lack of participants, but the talent is there; the baseball club has pitching depth which will carry it a long way next season; and the track team contains a fresh array of new talent which will blossom with experience.

Perhaps the preceding predictions will go awry, but I sincerely look forward to steady improvement in Ursinus sports for the next two seasons.

Dryfoos Named Outstanding Player By Coaches of MAC College Division

Ursinus' Walt Dryfoos added yet another laurel to his mounting array of trophies by being named the outstanding basketball player in the Southern Division of the Middle Atlantic Conference College Division. Dryfoos captured the scoring title by bucketing 271 points for a 20.8 average in 13 league contests. This was the second consecutive season that Walt has wrapped up the point crown. Once again he assumed the "iron man" role on UC's starting five by playing the most minutes, and he also was the team's leading rebounder for the third year in succession.

In addition, Dryfoos was the top choice of coaches on the Southern Division All-Star team. Others selected to the gleam team were Bob Aldemann and Gene Zuecca of Pennsylvania Military College, Hi Fitzgerald of Lebanon Valley, and Tom O'Malley of Western Maryland. The double honor of being selected as the outstanding player and gaining a position on the All-Star team is a fitting tribute to the UC star, since he battled through the 1961-62 season under adverse conditions.

Alpha Sigma Nu

The sisters of Alpha Sigma Nu extend best wishes to Carolyn Weller on her recent engagement to Tom Hanna, who is a student at Lehigh University, and to Anne Lewis on her pinning to Charlie Leidenberger, a member of Delta Pi Sigma fraternity. Also, best wishes to Mary Anne Hommel, who was recently pinned to Tom Santucci, a brother of Demas. Alpha Sigma Nu is pleased to announce its Third Annual Work Week from Saturday, April 7, to Saturday, April 14. If you have any odd jobs to be done, please see a Sig Nuer.

Delta Pi Sigma

Congratulations to John Heilemann, who was pinned to Sandy Robinson and to Charlie Leidenberger on his pinning to Anne Lewis, a sister of Alpha Sigma Nu. Also, the brothers extend best wishes to Dave Clayton, proud father of a new born son, Jeffrey David. Brothers Win Boyer, Bob Neubauer and Brent Euler, and Pledges Tom Bachelor and Jeff Hallinger went to Ocean City during the vacation to help out the citizens in the disaster area.

Kappa Delta Kappa

The KDK sisters extend their best wishes to Leanne Fowler on her engagement to Bob Bennett and to Marion Behler who was pinned to Charlie Hentz, president of Alpha Phi Omega. Also, congratulations to Marion on her induction into the Whittians, and to Sharon Robbins, the newly appointed Feature Editor of the Weekly. Informal initiation of new sisters was held last Tuesday night and formal initiation is planned for Thursday, April 12, at Janice Boyer's house.

Omega Chi

Best wishes to Karen Entrenkin on her pinning to Dave Hall, a brother of Alpha Phi Epsilon, and to Gail Brinton on her pinning to Dick Allebach, also a brother of APE.

Phi Alpha Psi

Phi Psi extends their best wishes to Barbara Sheese, who was engaged to Bob Wilson and to Pauline Moock on her engagement to Ron Cassel, a brother of Demas, Class of '61.

Sigma Rho Lambda

Congratulations to Doug Connor, who was pinned to Joyce Maloney.

Tau Sigma Gamma

Congratulations to Margie Peffe who was admitted into the Whittians; to Gail Rice, a graduate of '61 who became engaged to Barrie Williamson, a brother of Alpha Phi Epsilon, and to Sue Miller for her election to the Junior Prom Court. Also Caroline Moretz on her appointment as News Editor of the Weekly; Sally Andrews, the new WSGA president, and Sue Honeysett, the vice president; and Lois Hartzell, the new "Y" president and Joan Kleinhoff, the vice president. The sisters had a party with ZX Saturday afternoon and are planning to have an Easter orphans' party with them. Tau Sig's rushing party will be April 11 in the Girls' Day Study. All freshmen and interested upper classmen are welcome.

The evening's festivities are to be held at the East Norriton Fire Hall, and tickets will be sold to non-Sophomores for a nominal fee in advance. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Chapel Service Planned

Soph Weekend will draw to a close with a chapel service to be held Sunday morning. A speaker from the class will be featured, and this innovation to class weekends is expected to be well-attended.

The Sophomore Class officers and Larry Coon (chairman for the Weekend project) have been working on the affair for the past few weeks. In addition, Ken Woodward is serving as chairman of the picnic committee, and Bob Gladstone as chairman of the evening committee. Carol Heber is in charge of the Sunday chapel service.

Keith Junior High School won the Allen C. Harman trophy for the junior high school with the most points. Shady Grove Junior High School, of Ambler, was second and Bala - Cynwyd, third.

Scholarship to be Awarded

Ursinus College, host and one of the co-sponsors, will award a full tuition four-year scholarship to a qualified winner in the fair. Each of the top three finalists is eligible to compete for the scholarships. In past years, present Ursinus students Wade Alexander, Craig Heller, and Ginny Yates have received such scholarships. Other sponsors of the fair are the Montgomery County Association of Manufacturers and the Montgomery County Science Teachers' Association.

Dr. William S. Pettit, Dean of the College, gave a welcome address as the awards ceremony Saturday morning, March 24, at 10 a.m.

The long list of judges included Dr. Donald Fortnum, of the Ursinus College faculty.

Dr. Russell D. Sturgis, head of the Department of Chemistry at the college, served as the college's official representative.

Ursinus students Bob Mulford, Fred Yocum, Craig Heller, Chris Fuges, Charlie Fox, and Doug Connor were employed for the duration of the Fair in various capacities.

Final Student Concert Spots Prokofieff Work

On March 26th, during Spring Vacation, the last in the series of Students Concerts was held at the Academy of Music. Ursinus attendance was small because most of the students lived too far away to come.

Since Mr. Eugene Ormandy was ill, Mr. William Smith, his assistant, conducted the concert.

On the program were Corelli's Concerto Grosso, Op 6, No. 3, Haydn's Concerto for Trumpet and Orchestra with Wilmer Wise as soloist, Mozart's Symphony No. 30 in D major, K. 202, Prokofieff's Concerto No. 2 in G minor for Piano and Orchestra, Op. 16 with Arthur Fennimore as soloist, and finally Leonard Bernstein's Overture to "Candide". This alst selection was repeated since it was so short and since the audience enjoyed it so much.

In all, it was a wonderful evening for those who were able to come. The student concerts will also be held next year for those who are interested.

Graduate Grants

by Ben Fisher

Marshall Scholarships for Study at British Universities

As a gesture of thanks for Marshall Aid, the British government offers scholarships for Americans to study at British Universities. Men and women under 26 years of age (exceptions may be made because of service in the Armed Forces) holding a first degree are eligible. Selections are made on a regional basis.

The values of the scholarship are:

- (a) personal allowance of 550 pounds per annum.
- (b) tuition (not residential) fees as approved.
- (c) grants up to 25 pounds for books and a similar grant for travel connected with study.

The scholarships are tenable for two or possibly three years at the discretion of the Commission.

Information may be obtained from:

- 1. Campus scholarship advisors.
- 2. The nearest British Consulate.
- 3. British Information Service, 45 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20, New York.
