Y Holds Seminar Nov. 19; Marriage Problem is Topic

The Jewish viewpoint of marriage and the family was presented by Rabbi Harold M. Kamsler in Bomberger on Wednesday evening, Nov. 19. Room 7 was filled with those students who had come to hear the second in the series of marriage seminars.

Rabbi Kamsler is a graduate of New York University with B.A. and M.A. degrees in the fields of sociology and anthropology. He is secretary of the Commission on Marriage and the Family of the United Synagogue of America, and is the Chairman of the Youth Commission of the Eastern Pennsylvania Region of the United Synagogue of America.

The talk given was divided into two sections. One dealt with the historical background of Judaism and its views on marriage, and the second, with the present day situation. Beginning with Adam and Eve and the creation of a one-partner marriage, Rabbi Kamsler provided the origins of many of the Jewish practices concerning marriage. Some of these are the arrangement of the betrothal and the wedding by the families of the bride and groom, and the later custom of securing the consent of the bride in choosing a husband, the practice of marrying only members of the same faith, and the importance of man and wife remaining faithful to each other.

Throughout the entire discussion, the importance of the closely knit family was emphasized. The need for adjustment and understanding was also stressed. Rabbi Kamsler suggested several things to keep in mind for marriage. Among these are equal mental development and similar interests of the partners, an understanding of the economic situation and budgeting, and friendly relations with in-laws. He felt there is a greater need for preparation before marriage today since not as much home training is given, families are not so close as they had been a generation or two ago, and life's pace is constantly becoming more hectic.

There was a period of questions after the discussion. In answer to the question of in-laws living with the newly-married couple, Rabbi Kamsler felt this should be avoided if possible, for adjustments can be made more quickly alone.

C. Carpenter Has Poem Published in Anthology

Word has been received from the National Poetry Association that "Modern Magnificat" by Carolyn Carpenter has been accepted for publication in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry.

The Anthology is a compilation of the finest poetry written by the college men and women of America, representing every section of the country. Selections were made from thousands of poems submitted.

Miss Carpenter's poem was the only one accepted by entrants from Ursinus. It will appear in the Winter edition of the Lantern, which will be distributed to students on Monday, December 15.

ADMINISTRATIVE REGULATION

In answer to a series of requests for a clear ruling concerning the interpretation of the rule governing absences before holidays, Dean William S. Pettit has stated the following policy:

The students who miss classes during the week preceding the Christmas recess in 1958 will, according to the College rule, be assigned double cuts. If, however, a student submits to the Dean in advance written evidence of his having obtained employment he will be assigned single cuts for the absences during that week.

A student holding a job under the Bureau of Student Employment will be expected to remain on campus through the last day of classes before the recess unless he makes proper arrangement for a substitute.

Are intermarriages acceptable? Historically they are opposed for psychological and sociological reasons. The effects on the families concerned and the children, as well as the attitude of the community, must be recognized.

Is adoption permissible? It is acceptable only if the child is a Jew or is converted.

How does the divorce rate among Jewish homes compare with that of Protestant families? Rabbi Kamsler feels the rate is quickly becoming the same. In the Talmud, there are certain instances stated when divorce is permissible. However, these reasons are interpreted differently between the Orthodox, Conservative and Reformed groups of the faith. The procedure must include a religious as well as a civil divorce.

Rabbi Kamsler feels that the acceptability of a person who has changed his faith is largely determined by the individual family or the community concerned. In the Church, however, the person is no longer a part of the group.

Fireside Chats To Be Held Dec. 3 At Prof's Home

Wednesday evening, December 3, the Campus Affairs Commission of the YM-YWCA will sponsor another of its Fireside Chats. At these chats, students and professors are able to get together on a more informal basis to discuss topics which demand their attention or arouse their interest.

Students wishing to attend the evening's program should arrange to sign up for the professor's home they wish to visit. The students should meet in Bomberger at 6:30 before going to the homes in groups. The evening's program will not last beyond 9 p.m.

The homes which are being visited are those of the MacMurrays, the Storeys, the Stines', the Pancoasts, and Mr. Jones'.

At the Stines' the group will discuss the first folio from the several folios put out by the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The topic discussed in this folio is "What is a Painting?" At later times throughout the school year the other folios will be incorporated into Y activities and discussions.

The other topics at the homes of the other professors will be used as starting points only, from which the students may diverge as their interests lead them. Mr. MacMurray feels that a question sure to be asked him is the origin and reasoning beyond his growth of a moustache.

Dr. Storey will compare his college to Ursinus. Mr. Jones' topic is: The American Novel—Take out the sex and what's left? At the Pancoasts' home the feasibility and/or probability of a third party in American politics will be discussed.

Transportation will be provided to Dr. Storey's home in Trappe.

Under the sponsorship of the Inter-Collegiate Commission of the Y, students are encouraged to attend a conference at the University of Pennsylvania on Saturday, Dec. 6 on the topic of "The Christian View of Man."

The cost for the entire day's program from 10:30 a.m. till 10 p.m. is $2.50. Any student interested in going should contact Paul Constantine or Loretta Witmer.

Speaker for the conference is Dr. William E. Smith, Th.D., the minister of the University Methodist Church, College Park, Md.

NOTICE

All students who will complete the requirements for graduation in January 1959 please report to the Dean's office as soon as possible to register for graduation.

Mayes, Francis '62 Representatives To MSGA

On Thursday, Nov. 13, two new members were elected from the Freshman Class as representatives to the Men's Student Government. The new members are Dick Mayes and Barry Francis. At Ursinus Barry is a member of the band and an active member of his class. In high school Barry was president of the student council. Dick is a chemistry major and a pre-medical student. In high school Dick was president of the student council and his homeroom. He participated in track and the Senior play, also.

The meeting of Nov. 20, 1958 was called to order by the president, Jack Haag, at 6:45. The minutes were read and approved.

The freshman representatives Dick Mayes and Barry Francis, took the oath of office. The committees for the Christmas Dance gave their reports. The dance has been scheduled from 8:30 to 11 p.m. following the banquet.

Bob Barrow and Archie McKown spoke to the Council about a combined radio broadcasting station which they proposed would be set up here on campus. With support from the faculty and student body, the station would broadcast to all the dormitories and eventually extend further around Collegeville. The Council gave them a vote of confidence and promised to take further action when a full report would be available.

Jim Sandercock took charge of the responsibility of making preliminary arrangements for the Lorelei Dance.

The council has received two letters from the National Student Association. There has been nothing definitely proposed, but a delegate is coming to explain to the council the functions of the association.

The speakers for the training room are in the process of being purchased.

Senate

The third bi-weekly Senate meeting was held on November 17 at 4:30 in Room 8 of Bomberger.

Rosalie Bellairs, W.S.G.A. President, called the meeting to order. Secretary Jane Gillingier read the minutes.

The senator from the Day Study announced that any organization wishing to use the Day Study for a meeting must contact Faye Taggart for permission first.

The Constitution Revision Committee announced that it will meet every Monday when the Senate is not meeting. Barbara Romig, the Y Representative, was elected chairman.

De Gaulle and France Topic at Second Forum of Fall Semester

The second Forum of this semester was held on November 12. Mrs. Monique Polgar, a Parisian employed by the French information service, was the main speaker of the evening. She presented a talk on France's present position under the leadership of General Charles De Gaulle. The development of the Fifth Republic of France, from the recent fall of the Fourth Republic to the instituting of the new constitution, was explained.

Mrs. Polgar explained that at the time of his accession, the assembly was divided on its policies towards Tunisia and Algeria. The Algerian revolt resulted in the formation of the Committee of Public Safety to prevent Mollet from becoming premier. DeGaulle's demand that all army officials abstain from participating in governmental affairs led to the resignation of many army leaders and the absolving of the army-supported Public Safety Council.

When DeGaulle first accepted the position as premier of France, the assembly asked him to organize the Fifth Republic, reorganize the government and constitution, and restore good

New Pledges Announced by Alpha Psi Omega

Thursday evening, Nov. 20, at dress rehearsal for the play, Joan of Lorraine, the traditional announcement of those students who will pledge for the national dramatic fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega, was made. Each year at this time the students are chosen because of their activities in Curtain Club productions, the number of points they have obtained from working in the dramatic groups, and the judgement of the current members of Alpha Psi Omega.

Diana Vye, president of Alpha Psi Omega, announced the new pledges. Dr. Storey was made an honorary member. The following are the students who were honored: Jack Elander, Ruth Mercer, Nancy Springer, Lolly Strasser.

Jack Elander, a senior psychology major, is president of the International Relations Club. Jack, in addition to producing Joan of Lorraine, the fall play presented this past week-end, is also a member of Stars and Players.

Ruth Mercer is well-known as make-up committee chairman for Curtain Club productions. In addition to her Curtain Club activities, Ruth is co-chairman of the Inter-Collegiate Commission of the YM-YWCA, secretary for the Committee on Student Activities, a member of Kappa Delta Kappa sorority and a member of the Stars and Players.

Ruth has also just become engaged to Tom Bennignus, a graduate of Ursinus 1958 and a student at Union Theological Seminary in New York City.

Nancy Springer, who served as publicity chairman for the fall play, is a member of Kappa Delta Kappa sorority, the Messiah Chorus, Meistersingers, the International Relations club. Nancy is also active in Stars and Players. Nancy is a junior and is majoring in French. She is the president of the French Club.

Lolly Strasser, a senior English major, is a member of Phi Alpha Psi. Lolly is co-chairman of the Social Responsibilities Commission of the YM-YWCA. She was in charge of staging for the fall play and also leads a modern dance group of her own for any of the Ursinus women who wish to come.

These students are all now pledging and will be initiated on Dec. 9. The current members of the Delta Tau cast of Alpha Psi Omega are Ed Gobrecht, Joan Schaefer, Katrinka Schnabel, Diana Vye, president and honorary member, Mr. H. Lloyd Jones.

Who's Who Honors 12 Leading Ursinus Seniors

Six Ursinus Men and Six Women Win Collegiate Honors For All Around Ability

Twelve seniors have been chosen to appear in the 1958-59 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, the annual publication of the national honorary organization.

These students were chosen by the organization after being nominated by a selection committee from the college composed of officers of the student government councils and of the college administration.

They were nominated on the basis of scholarship, participation and leadership in academic and extra curricular activities; citizenship and service to the school; and promises of future usefulness.

Students chosen from Ursinus are Rosalie Bellairs, Carolyn Carpenter, Walter Christ, Allan Daniels, Samuel Fogal, Frederick Glauser, John Haag, Ted Holcombe, Alice Irwin, Nancy Owen, Joan Schaefer and Diana Vye.

Senior Ball to Be Held at Sunnybrook Dec. 5

The Senior class has announced that the Senior Ball, Fantasy in Frost, will be held at the Sunnybrook Ballroom on Friday evening, December 5.

Matt Gillespie and his orchestra will supply the music for this evening of dancing pleasure which highlights the Fall social season at Ursinus.

Topping the evening of fun and gaiety will be the crowning of the Lord and Lady of the Senior Ball, traditionally the two people who have contributed most to the Senior Class. The permanent class officers are also announced at this time.

Admission to the Senior Ball is free, and formal wear is not required. Programs will be on sale in the supply store beginning Dec. 1.

ATTENTION SENIORS

There will be a brief, but very important meeting of the Senior Class tomorrow evening to nominate candidates for the title of "Lord and Lady" of the Senior Ball.

Petitions for the Permanent Class officers are due at this time also, and the nominees will be announced at this meeting. Seniors please attend.

W.S.G.A. Presents Plaque To Winning Frosh Team

Pearl Cadmus, secretary of the W.S.G.A. on behalf of all women students, sent a congratulatory letter to Dr. Helfferich on his inauguration as President of Ursinus College. Dr. Helfferich sent a thank you note addressed to all of the women students and this letter is printed elsewhere in the Weekly.

The council purchased a plaque to be presented annually to the winning team of the freshman women during Customs. This year's winner was the Black team and Sandy Motta, Soph ruler, presented the plaque to a member of the Black team at last Friday night's pep rally. The freshmen women will have a meeting to decide where they want the plaque permanently placed.

The collection for the payment of the X-ray bill from the incident three weeks ago was very successful. Ten dollars and twenty-five cents was collected; the bill of $10 has been paid and the other twenty-five cents will be placed in the Campus Chest Collection this coming February.

Tau Sigma Gamma

On Thursday evening, November 20, the sisters of Tau Sigma Gamma sorority were guests for the evening at the home of Faye Dietrich in Fleetwood, Pa.

The sorority is also busy making plans for its annual Christmas vacation trip to New York City to see a show and have dinner together.

The sisters of Tau Sigma Gamma would like to extend the best of wishes to Sandy Rinehart on her pinning to George Budd, a graduate of Ursinus 1957 and a brother of Sigma Rho Lambda fraternity.

Rosalie Bellairs, president of the Women's Student Government Association, is an English major and plans to enter business following graduation. Her activities include Messiah, Meistersingers, co-chairman of the Ruby typing staff, and the Ruby feature staff. She is a member of Phi Alpha Psi Sorority and Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary social science fraternity, and has been a member of the Senate and on the Dean's List.

Carolyn Carpenter, president of the Young Women's Christian Association, is a biology major and plans to do graduate work in occupational therapy. During college her activities have included being vice president and secretary of the YWCA, women's sports editor of both the Weekly and the 1959 Ruby, and a member of the women's basketball, tennis and hockey teams. She was also a member of Meistersingers, Messiah and the band.

Walter Christ, president of the Pre-Medical Society and captain of the baseball team, is a pre-medical major. He has been active in the Cub and Key Society, Beardwood Chemical Society and Delta Mu Sigma Fraternity. He is sports editor of the 1959 Ruby, and a member of the basketball team and Varsity Club.

Allan E. Daniels, senior class president, is a business major and plans to do advertising work. His activities included class treasurer, Stuics, Spirit Committee vice president, Business staff of the Ruby and secretary and vice president of Sigma Lambda fraternity.

Samuel Fogal, co-editor of the 1959 Ruby, and student director and president of the Meistersingers, is a history major. After graduation he plans to enter the seminary. His activities at Ursinus include student director and past president of the band, business manager of the Meistersingers and president of Pi Nu Epsilon, national honorary music fraternity.

Sam has been treasurer and vice president of the YM-YWCA and is co-chairman of the reception committee. He was also treasurer of Chi Alpha Society.

Frederick Glauser, editor-in-chief of the Weekly, is a member of Cub and Key Society, and the photography staff of the 1959 Ruby. He is past president of the Men's Student Government Association and this Fall was co-director of the Curtain Club's performance, "Under Milkwood". Fred is a pre-medical major and plans to enter Hahnemann Hospital for further training following graduation.

John Haag, president of the Men's Student Government Association, is an economics major and plans to enter the teaching profession. His activities include Lantern Business staff, Business Club, Curtain Club, baseball and soccer. He is a member of the Student Professional Education Association and Sigma Rho Lambda Fraternity.

Ted S. Holcombe, vice president of the senior class and president of the Cub and Key Society, is a political science major. He is a representative to the Men's Student Government Association and subscription manager of the 1959 Ruby. A member of Varsity Club, he is head waiter and a member of Zeta Chi Fraternity.

Ted has been secretary-treasurer.

“Thanksgiving”

This Thursday America will celebrate another Thanksgiving holiday—and remember the feast the New England Pilgrims shared with the Indians who had given them help and food during their initial struggle in the New World.

It is perhaps fitting that we consider just how a nation such as ours, blessed as it is with great resources of all kinds, ought to conduct itself in a way designed to humbly show that it deserves these blessings and knows how to use them to the best ends.

We must recall to mind one of the basic needs of man—a religious faith—a God—something to guide him and be the bulwark in time of trouble.

Our fathers came to this land with religious convictions, often forced here because of them, and built for their children a wonderful country.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Women of Ursinus:

Mrs. Helfferich and I were warmed by the cordial expressions of congratulations and well wishes you sent to us on behalf of the young ladies of Ursinus.

I shall strive to fulfill the hopes we all have for our College.

Sincerely yours, D. L. Helfferich President

To the Curtain Club:

We would like to commend the Curtain Club on its choice and excellent performance of the Joan of Lorraine.

Please know our gratitude and appreciation for the contribution you are making to the college community.

Be assured of our continued admiration and support in your worthy endeavor to bring outstanding drama to Ursinus.

Sincerely yours, The YM-YWCA Cabinet

Dear Editor:

Why detract from a diversely interesting and consistently informative Weekly by printing certain grossly distasteful cartoons that lack wit and cleverness and that embody the most childish form of criticism?

Review: “Joan of Lorraine”

by Bruce P. Sherman

Ah, well, perhaps the long-awaited maturation of the Ursinus stage is about to happen. With the exception of the script itself, the play, as I saw it, was excellent by amateur standards.

The leads, Jimmy Masters (Tim Combe) and Mary Grey and Joan of Arc (Flora McQueen) were excellent and they handled their parts well, even though “new meaning” tripped up the former on Friday night.

The play itself is a completely ridiculous blurb about some pure and shining actress who refuses to play the lead in a play about Joan of Arc because she has to contend with “dishonesty in high places” in not only securing a theater to give the play, but also in portraying Joan as compromising a completely corrupt prospective king of France.

The analogy between the two is all right as an analogy, but why did the girl have to alternately spew modern day practicality with mid-15th century religious philosophy.

The first act wasn't too bad, but the second act! It was worse than having religious maxims beating on your ears for a week straight.

All that I can say is that the play, taken from the viewpoint of acting was very good. I feel sure, that with an appropriate script, Ursinus College can come up with a first-rate, top hole theater company.

By the way, I would personally like to thank Loretta Podolak for providing me with a free seat, even though I had to sweat blood and spit wooden nickles to finally get it.

by John Swinton

On Friday and Saturday evenings, November 21 and 22, The Curtain Club of Ursinus College dramatized Maxwell Anderson's Joan of Lorraine.

Flora McQueen's dual portrayal of Saint Joan and actress Mary Grey was both realistic and professional. She played the exacting parts with the precise spirit called for, while her poise and enunciation were perfect.

As is frequently the case in amateur productions, some of the actors with lesser supporting roles had difficulty achieving the correct mood and vocal inflection; consequently some of the characters were recited with little vitality.

The rest of the cast acted in minor roles flawlessly. Marty Paxson delivered her altogether too few lines with disarming wit, while William Van Horn's executioner appeared startlingly sadistic.

Joan of Lorraine, a play within a play, concerns a problem of the director encounters with his leading lady while staging an adaptation of the legend of Joan of Arc.

An amateur group, under any circumstances, could produce the play satisfactorily only with difficulty. It is a credit to the

by Sam Miller

The performance on Saturday evening was, as may be expected, better than the one on Friday. In fact, it was downright good. With a play such as this, holding the audience was hard, yet except for a few instances, one tended to give full attention to the action on stage.

In the scene where Joan met the court poet on the road, one might have felt that things were getting dull and one's attention and eyes wandered over to Tessie, the assistant stage manager, who was writing at a table on one side.

The humor was not as good as might have been expected, yet was nevertheless enjoyable. The scene of the court at Orleans was perhaps the best in this respect. It opens with Al, the stage manager, imitating cathedral chimes and this, of course, was worth a good laugh.

During one of the interludes, Tim Combe as Masters walked to the rear of the auditorium and if any link was needed between the audience and the actors, this walk made that link.

Slightly Allegorical

by A. McWilliams & C. Schmidt

It was but a few weeks ago as I remember—about the time the menu in the dining hall began to include more fresh fruit—namely apples: the list of the tell tale signs.

About this time I noticed many of the roadside stands advertising homebrewed apple cider. I use the term ‘notice’ loosely, for I had no other alternative BUT to notice, or to face my car into the oncoming traffic.

I returned one afternoon after class to my room only to find my roommate a victim of the roadside salesmanship. Superior to the floor sat a gallon jug of it.

Escape was the thought foremost in my mind. I fled down the stairs and out to the back steps of the dorm. Heaving a sigh of relief I sat down on the cold steps—free from my persecutor. I breathed in deeply—ah, that cool, fresh . . . that smell—it's familiar—no it couldn't be—but it was—along side of me was that fearful jug.

During one of the interludes, Tim Combe as Masters walked to the rear of the auditorium and if any link was needed between the audience and the actors, this walk made that link.

U. C. Soccermen Lose Last Three Games; Finish 2-6-1

On Saturday, Nov. 22, the Ursinus Soccer Team played its last game of the 1958 season. It lost to F. & M., 3-1, in what was probably the roughest game of the season.

On the first Ursinus drive down the field, the F. & M. goalie collided with an advancing U.C. lineman and hurt his knee so badly that he was forced to retire from the game. This started the series of injuries which marked the contest, although, fortunately, no one else was forced to leave the game.

Shortly after this unfortunate incident, F. & M. broke the ice with the game's first goal. Center Forward Quinn headed a ball across from the outside, but, on the next series of plays, however, the Bears brought the ball down field. Then, after Bobby Angstadt was fouled just outside the penalty area, Mike Blewett placed the penalty kick into the lower left hand corner of the goal to tie the score. After that, the game went on an even keel for quite a while. Then, shortly before the end of the first quarter, the F. & M. booters put two quick ones through the goal to take a quick lead which they never relinquished.

In the process of scoring their second two goals, F. & M. injured U.C. goalie Jack Schumacher on several plays. This slowed him down, but was not enough either to put him out of the game or to weaken him enough that he could not effectively defend the goal throughout the rest of the game. In fact, he did not allow another goal.

The second quarter went quickly and scorelessly, leaving the score at halftime 3-1 in favor of the F. & M. team.

With the coming of the second half, neither team picked up any new pointers on how to break through the other team's defense.

The fourth quarter was a different story, although it made no difference in the game's final outcome. With half of the U.C. eleven realizing that they were going into their final quarter, the team really started to click. The offense began to move the ball well and several times broke the defensive line of F. & M. entirely, but were unable to score the big two goals. Throughout the entire quarter, the team was on the offensive with very few breaks by the F. & M. line. But in spite of the quantity of shots which the Forward line set up for itself, the quality was poor and not one counted for anything. When the final buzzer rang, the score remained just as it had been at the end of the first quarter, 3-1, in favor of F. & M.

The graduating seniors are co-captains Bobby Angstadt and Bobby Schmoey, halfbacks Reigh Harrison and Jay Salwen, and linemen Benny Settles and Ken Bailey. This leaves quite a hole in the squad to be filled next year.

On Wednesday, Nov. 12, the Bear soccermen ventured into the lair of the Northern division soccer leaders and gave Lehigh quite a scare. Lehigh, showing the cockiness of a team which had been beaten only once in eight previous games were quite shocked to find a persistent aggregation of Bears who showed early that they had not traveled to Bethlehem just for the ride.

The first quarter appeared quite even with both teams making several deep penetrations only to have the superlative play of both defense repel the opposing offense. The passing of both teams was sharp but Lehigh had a commanding edge in head balls. They constantly out-jumped the UC players and greatly changed the tide of battle because they did. Although Lehigh controlled about 80% of the head balls, the Bears compensated for their weakness in this field by the use of exceptional hustle. At the end of the quarter the score was a 0-0 tie.

The second quarter was also evenly played with perhaps a slight edge to Lehigh. Their reserves applied added pressure against the tiring Bears. Both teams made several valiant but futile attempts to score. Lehigh twice had men behind the defense but the defense each time recouped quickly enough to turn aside the thrusts. Once Lehigh even broke three men loose against Goalie Schumacher only to have him stop them. Again neither team could score.

In the third quarter the story was different. Lehigh center forward Fred Bayer broke through the defense and rammed on through the goal for the first score of the game.

The Bears then entered the last period down by one big goal. With about ten minutes to go in the game, Ben Settles, taking the ball from the UC secondary, carried down field and crossed the ball into the center. Then, after several short passes by Blewett and Fernandez,

Prospects For U.C. Basketball Team Looking Up

Prospects for the year's Ursinus basketball team look a lot better than in previous seasons. If pre-game victories mean anything, head coach Paul Zdanowicz and company should fare pretty well in its first game at Rutgers on Dec. 4; provided a few major problems can be solved.

In its pre-season games, the Ursinus cagemen played a far-superior brand of ball than that exhibited by any squad in recent years. Although the varsity lost its first two pre-openers against the Tally-ho Motel, the Ursinusmen showed their worth with two straight wins over the National Paint Team of Norristown and Eastern Baptist College. Coach Zdanowicz stated that with the improved ball handling exhibited thus far and the infusion of new and better material, this year's team should produce a better record than that of last season's 1-15 log. At any rate, as the coach said, "There's only one way to go and that's up."

Last year's problems were poor ball handling, which is no problem this season, and lack of rebounding power. The latter question mark will depend largely on the performance of Dennis Gould, 6' 4" sophomore. Along with Gould under the basket will be Mike Becker, who has really sparkled in the scrimages, and who will be capably assisted by Jim Wenhold. Other valuable assets are Freshman Curt Conn, who poured in 20 points in a pre-season game, tricky "Inky" Wagner, Wally Crist and his all-around play, set-shot artist Doug Harper, lanky Pete Wise, returning letterman Tom Winchester, jump shooter Glen Snyder, and colorful Marv Koff.

The outlook for this season's basketball team seems pretty good and with a few breaks, Ursinus should do quite well provided there are no injuries.

Varsity Hockey Finishes with 4-2-1; J.V. is 6-0-1

The Varsity hockey team has finished their season in fine style by winning their last two games, making the record for the season 4-2-1. On Tuesday, November 11, the Belles won a hard-fought tilt at Beaver by the score of 1-0, the lone goal being scored by Junior Susie Wagner early in the first half. The defense played extremely well, holding on firmly to that one goal lead. The same day the J.V. scored a decisive win over the Beaver J.V. team. Joanne Lewis and Carolyn Boyer both scored one goal, and Nancy Krombolz scored twice.

On Monday the J.V. travelled to Rosemont and romped over their Varsity 6-1. Judy Detwiler, left in; Nancy Krombolz, center; and Jeanne LeCato, right in, each scored twice. In the last few minutes Rosemont also was able to score, keeping the game from becoming a shut-out. The third team then fought to a 0-0 tie with the Rosemont J.V.

On Thursday, November 13, the Varsity defeated Penn 6-0 in their last game of the season. The goals were well spread out, being scored by Liz Wheeler, Faye Bardman, Susie Knowel, Judy Detwiler and Lynne Crosley.

On Monday, November 17, the undefeated J.V. team will meet Gerald Mercy at home and on November 19, Chestnut Hill at Chestnut Hill.

On Wednesday, November 19, the Junior Varsity put the final touch on their undefeated season by defeating Chestnut Hill's Varsity 2-0. The first half was a see-saw battle, both teams being hampered by the muddy field. The teams appeared well-matched, and neither was able to score. In the second half the Ursinus team displayed the will to win that turned the tide in their favor. About ten minutes into the second half, Jeanne LeCato scored on a perfect pass from halfback, Gail Rice. Near the end of the game Liz Wheeler added another goal for insurance.

The Junior Varsity's record for the season was six wins, no losses, and one tie. They defeated Swarthmore's J.V. 6-0, Temple's J.V. 5-2, West Chester's J.V. 3-1, Rosemont's Varsity 6-1, Beaver's J.V. 4-0, and Chestnut Hill's Varsity 2-0. They tied East Stroudsburg, 0-0.

Bears Drop 13th in Row Over 2-Yr. Period; Cianci Prutzman, Drewniak, Wilson, Terry Play Last Game

Saturday, Nov. 15. Two second half tallies allowed a confident Lebanon Valley team (5-4) to defeat a threatening Ursinus College eleven (0-7) in a well-played contest.

Lebanon Valley's Verne Magnuson late in the third period outran the Ursinus secondary for a twenty-nine yard, back-breaking touchdown. On the first play of the fourth quarter fullback Irvin Legay plunged two yards for Lebanon Valley's second score. Both extra point attempts, a kick and a pass, failed.

The game was played on a neutral field in Middleton. The game was a benefit event sponsored by the Middleton Rotary Club. A light rain persisted throughout the contest. The rain, however, had little effect on the play as evidenced by Lebanon Valley's strong passing attack. The Dutchmen's coach had planned to use a two platoon system favoring the team which played the better ball. However, the coach was forced to abandon the idea in the early minutes because of a seventy-yard Ursinus drive. The Bears rolled seemingly effortlessly over the extremely large Dutchman line, which was led by 310 pound Longenecker. But the Ursinus attack bogged down on the 20 yard line when a Kershner Sunday school pass was intercepted in the end zone.

Despite many gambles by Lebanon Valley, Ursinus held them scoreless in the first half. Twice in the second quarter Lebanon Valley disregarded the Ursinus defensive potential and gambled successfully on fourth down with one yard to go for the first down. Lebanon Valley fumbles proved costly as guard Tony Cianci recovered a Dutchman fumble while co-captain Bob Petersen, playing his usual stand-on defensive game, fell on two other Lebanon Valley miscues. The second period ended with Ursinus holding the Dutchmen to a frustrating scoreless half.

In the second half Lebanon Valley's quarterback Bill De Liberty broke up the game with a fine passing attack. Again Ursinus's pass defense failed as De Liberty completed eight of eleven passes to set up both tallies. The tiring Bear team, using only four substitutes throughout the game, was unable to stop the heavier opponent's drives. Co-captain Mike Drewniak, Petersen, Cianci, and Dick Boggio saw sixty minutes of grueling action. U.C. remained in the game by playing steady ball. Ursinus did not fumble, received only one penalty, and had a fine punting game. Ursinus outdid the opponents in the number of first downs and in the net yards gained rushing.

Ursinus's offense was sparked by runs of twenty-five and eighteen yards by steady-playing Boggio and Freshman Jack McCrae respectively. Dutchman Magnuson provided thrills by his two twenty-nine yard runs, one of which resulted in a touchdown. The most outstanding, however, was Lebanon Valley's Bill De Liberty, who passed for 149 yards and U.C.'s Bob Petersen whose play was awarded with an honorable mention on the weekly All-East team.

Dickinson College closed its football season with a four won, four lost record Saturday by walloping winless Ursinus College, 34-6.

Scoring in every quarter, Dickinson rolled for 253 yards on the ground and 127 yards on 9 completions of 14 passes to hand Ursinus its eighth straight defeat in the loser's season finale.

The running and passing of brothers, Dave and Bob Wachter, highlighted the Dickinson victory. Ursinus was scoreless until the final two minutes when reserve quarterback John Detweiler passed 54 yards for a TD to halfback Dick Boggio.

Dickinson scored almost every time it got its hands on the ball on drives of 75, 49, 14, 57 and 63 yards. Bob Harlowe scored Dickinson's first TD in the first quarter on a 53-yard pass-run play from Dave Wachter. In the second quarter, Bob Worthington tallied his two TDs.

Spanish Club

Under the tutelage of Mr. Wilcox, head of the romance language department, the recently revived Spanish Club has held three meetings. The aim of this group is to fan interest in the Spanish people, their language and their culture.

At the first meeting Cherrie Soper was elected president and Ruth Ann Spencer secretary. Both girls spent their junior years at the University of Madrid, Spain. The girls took a general course of Spanish studies, which included the history, literature, art, grammar, geography and poetry of Spain.

Since their initial meeting, the group has devoted a program to music, both singing Spanish songs and listening to selections on the guitar by Dave Williams.

At their most recent meeting, Cherrie and Ruth Ann showed slides and photographs from Spain and spoke about their year of study there. The next meeting (this evening, November 24) will feature a discussion of Spanish poetry and more songs. Members of the group will participate in the readings.

The meeting this evening will be at the home of Mr. Wilcox at 7:30 p.m.

CHI ALPHA

Why are we pre-theos? Are we really suited for this vocation? As pre-theos, is it better to stay in campus organizations whose principles we may not always agree with or to get out entirely? Should we have to compromise our principles in order to be popular? What does a pretheo do when he finds he no longer believes in God? These are just few of the questions that will be discussed at the next meeting of Chi Alpha on Tuesday, November 25, at 7 p.m. in the Faculty Room of the Library. Bill McQuoid will be moderator.

French Club

Rene Coulet du Gard, a Frenchman who recently became an American citizen, will speak to the French Club on Tuesday, November 25, at 7:30 p.m. in the Girls' Day Study. His topic will be on conditions in North Africa with emphasis on the territory of Morocco.

As a foreign correspondent for French publications, Mr. du Gard has traveled widely in Europe, the Near East, and Africa. His literary interests also extend to writing novels, short stories, and poetry.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Cyclone winds have been known to whirl at a rate of 200 to 300 miles per hour.

American Hist. Students Begin Tour Program

The Tour Program which the students of American History 113 will take part in is the combined effort of Ursinus College and the H. F. DuPont Winterthur Museum.

The subject of the tour is the decorative and practical arts of early America. Speaking on this topic is Dr. E. McClung Fleming, who is the Education Director of the Winterthur Museum. There will be a slide talk on Monday, November 17, 1958 at 9:15 a.m. in S 12. This talk is primarily for the students of the American History course, but it is open to all students, faculty or friends. On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, November 18, 19, and 20, student tours will be conducted of representative rooms and exhibits at the Winterthur Museum just outside of Wilmington, Del.

The purpose of these tours is to present a facet of American social history which is too often neglected and to suggest new fields of inquiry for anyone interested.

This trip is now a permanent part of History 113 course requirements, and the Winterthur facilities have been made available as part of the resource material of this area in hopes of arousing additional interest in local and regional history.

Bobby Angstadt blasted the tying goal through.

Lehigh retaliated with the deciding goal several minutes later.

The Bears vainly tried to pull the game out of the fire with several late scoring threats. But each time the Lehigh defense held. It was the Bears fourth defeat of the year.

On Saturday, November 15, the U.C. soccer team played and lost its last home game of the season. The final score was LaSalle 5, Ursinus 3.

The game was one of the hardest fought and most evenly matched contests of the season. Both offenses were working well and the defenses had a hard time holding the score down. LaSalle opened the scoring in the first quarter and went ahead 1-0. It did not take long for the Bears to tie it up. Mike Blewett, taking a penalty kick, blasted the first U.C. goal through. For a while it looked as if the Bears were really about to roll, but they could not get that extra inch needed to push one past the LaSalle goalie.

Meanwhile LaSalle was not marking time. They pressed the bear defense hard and often, and by the end of the half had accumulated a 3-1 lead. What seemed to upset the Bears most by halftime was the fact that they were not being decidedly out-played on the field and they felt that, but for very little, the score could be reversed.

When they came out of the dressing room after half-time, the Bears were determined to get rolling, but things did not go as they had hoped. LaSalle, not satisfied with the way things were going and anxious to ice the game quickly, rammed their fourth goal of the game through the U.C. posts. This aggravated the already wounded Bears enough to galvanize them into action. They brought the score up to 4-2 when Benny Settles crashed through the LaSalle defense to score. Shortly after that, the Bears raised their total to 3 when Blewett scored his second goal of the game. And the bears were still rolling with over ten minutes left to play in the game. Then, suddenly, the LaSalle forward line broke through the U.C. defense and scored. With the tally 5-3 the game appeared iced for the visitors. And it was, in spite of extended drives for the remainder of the game, the Bears could do no more scoring and lost their final home game of the season, 5-3.

Fine Art of Dating

We recommend to all our readers an unusual book which we first saw a few days ago. "The Fine Art of Dating" contains vital information for every red-blooded male and female on campus who likes to date, and we assume that is most of us.

Even the most socially happy and adaptable members of our campus have at some time experienced moments of awkwardness, sadness or general tribulations because of the opposite sex.

This book tackles every aspect of the man-women relationship, from social manners to the large problems of religions, differences in economic backgrounds, and sex. Some subjects covered are: blind dating, pick-ups, overcoming shyness, how to be popular, the much older fellow, when the women is older, problems in interfaith dating, crossing lines of nationality or race, getting into another social class, the bad reputation, when the girl says "no", is he or she too popular, breaking dates, parking and petting, drinking and sex, unrequited love, what is infatuation, recovering from an infatuation, back in circulation, dating security, breaking off the affair, getting married while still in school, when he's off to the service, etc.

Whether you are short, tall, fat, thin, poor or rich, in fact if you are just single, male or female, you will find this book interesting and frank. The author of this book is Mrs. Joy Duvall, who has written numerous other novels. This book is available in a specially prepared paperback edition at your local Keepsake Diamond Ring jeweler for $5.00, a substantial reduction from the $2.50 price for the hard-cover edition sold elsewhere.

SYMPOSIUM

Fifty-three members of the Pre-Medical Society attended the 1958 medical symposium at the University of Pennsylvania. Our cordial hosts, A.E.D. service fraternity, relegated two guides per small group which spent the morning touring the various buildings.

Highlights of the tours were the gross anatomy, histology and research labs. Detailed discussions of procedures and the interpretation of the results of equipment such as the Van Slyks and the electron microscope were given.

The hosts attempted a picture of both the type of life in which the medical student participates (socially and scholastically) and the unity of the medical profession by the fusion of the highly specialized aspects of medicine.

A medical movie was shown in the afternoon preceding a discussion session in which many doctors from all of the Philadelphia Medical Schools discussed the qualities desired in selection of a medical student and the future that one may have in the profession.

this scene. The lighting here needed improvement for there were sharp shadows on her face, and the shadows ought to have been soft—to compliment the mood of her prayer. Yet despite all this, it was done beautifully.

The third scene was done very well, so well in fact, that one tended to forget the crude stage of a rehearsal, and only the scribe dipping his pen into a bottle of ink that was not there reminded one of the reality, as did the imaginary instruments of the executioner. Yet it was in this scene that the theme and other elements of the play fell together and blended into the whole.

In the prison scene, there were again shadows on the players' faces; yet perhaps these shadows were appropriate for such a scene. The "voices from heaven" were clear this time, and could be understood even in the rear of the auditorium. Perhaps some choir music at the close might have been the appropriate way to close the scene, but this was not done.

All in all, the job was well done, even with a script that was lacking on several points, a good show was produced. The principals, Flora McQueen (Joan) and Tim Combe (Masters) kept up that atmosphere of conflict between the forces of good and evil—and the problem of compromising with evil to gain a good end. For those who failed to see the play, they missed something—a drama of one who strives in life for the impossible possibility of perfection.

This continuity and generally keen timing, combined with the undeniable natural acting abilities of Miss McQueen and Combe, rendered Joan of Lorraine a most acceptable production, deserving of more than the sparse crowd that attended.

percent of the population of France and Algeria voted in favor of the new constitution; the complete Moslem support of the constitution revealed that they are tired of war with France and think it better, for the present, to vote in support of the constitution. With better relations with Algeria restored, a representative from Algeria will be sent to the French government.

Many new provisions have been added to the constitution of the Fifth Republic, the main one being the separation of power between the legislative and executive branches. Formerly the assembly had both powers. Succession of governmental positions is now provided for, as well as a system of checks and balances to maintain stability in the government.

The result of the renewed confidence in the French government caused inflation for awhile and a somewhat unstable economy, but at the present time, France's economy is leveling off, aided by the great increase in industrial expansion.
