Daniels, Brenner Chosen King and Queen at Prom

Amid an enchanted forest of magical pines and wild deer, Allan Daniels and Linda Brenner were crowned Lord and Lady of the Senior Ball, Frost and Fantasy, at Sunnybrook Ballroom on Friday evening, Dec. 5.

Dean Pettit and Mrs. Donald L. Helfferich crowned the Lady and Lord, respectively. The young couple was chosen for their outstanding contributions to the senior class.

Al, who was selected to represent Ursinus in the Who Who's in American Universities and Colleges, is a business major. He has been active as class treasurer, Stuics, Spirit Committee Vice President, Business Staff of the Ruby, and secretary and vice president of Sigma Rho Lambda fraternity.

Linda Brenner, a history major, is president of Omega Chi sorority, the president of the Inter-Sorority Council, secretary of the senior class, a cheerleader, in the Messiah, and was a member of the Junior Prom Court.

Also announced during intermission were the permanent officers of the senior class. The officers are: President, Allan Daniels; Secretary, Diana Vye; Loyalty Fund Chairman, Samuel Fogel; and Reunion Chairman, Merle Anderson.

Diana Vye, selected to be in the Who's Who, is the co-captain of the cheerleaders, president of the Spirit Committee, co-editor of the 1959 Ruby typing staff, president of Alpha Psi Omega, a member of Pi Gamma Mu, vice president of the Curtain Club, a member of the SEAP, and a sister of Phi Alpha Psi sorority. Diana is a history major.

Rev. O. Rowland To Speak at Marriage Seminar

The Rev. Osborne Rowland of the Lower Providence Presbyterian Church, will speak this Wednesday evening, Dec. 10, on "The Protestant Point of View of Marriage." The Rev. Rowland's address will be the third in a series of marriage seminars being sponsored by the YM-YWCA. The two previous seminars featured Dr. R. K. Greenback who spoke of "The Sociological Viewpoint of Marriage" and Rabbi Harold M. Kamsler who addressed the students on "The Jewish Viewpoint of Marriage." Still to come in the series is an address by a Jesuit priest on "The Roman Catholic Point of View of Marriage." This week's program will be held in Bomberger, Room 7, at 6:45 p.m.

Following the address, an informal reception and questioning period will be held in the Student Union.

A graduate of Mildmay College and of New College, London, England, the Rev. Rowland first did youth work in a church in North Ireland. He was sent by the government of Ireland to the United States to make a study of how the United States handled its problems with youth. In 1948 he took a church in Philadelphia, and then came to this area. He has a Sunday School program at Lower Providence for the Ursinus students.

Students are reminded of the opportunities the Y provides for those interested in going on a Week-end Work Camp in the

NEWMAN CLUB

On Sunday morning, Dec. 7, members of the Newman Club attended services at St. John's Greek Catholic Church in Pottstown. Newman Club members spoke to the Rev. John Macko, pastor of St. John's, who explained the services. Afterwards the members enjoyed a delicious breakfast at the home of Mary Neborak.

Merle Anderson, a biology major who is pre-med, is a brother of Delta Mu Sigma fraternity, a member of the Brownback-Anders Pre-Medical Society, and the business manager of the Weekly.

Matt Gillespie and his orchestra supplied the music for the formal dance which lasted from nine o'clock Friday evening until one o'clock Saturday morning.

Chaperones for the highlight of Ursinus College's fall social calendar were Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Miller and Dr. and Mrs. R. P. Staiger.

Guests to the event were Dean Stahr, Dr. and Mrs. G. S. Pancoast and Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Dolman.

Senior chairman of the dance committees were Janet Alexander, programs; Richard Maddock, publicity; Trudy Lawrence, decorations; and Linda Brenner, chaperones.

European Job Opportunities Announced

Job opportunities in Europe this summer . . . Want to work this summer on a German farm in Bavaria, at a resort in Sweden, on the French seacoast looking after children, on construction in the Rhineland, on reforestation in the mountains, or in the fishing industry of Norway?

Well, these and many other jobs in Italy, Spain, England, and Switzerland are open by the consent of the governments of these countries to American university students coming to Europe the summer of 1959.

Last year, the first group of American students made their way across the Atlantic to take part in the actual life of the people of these countries. The success of this project last summer has caused a great deal of enthusiastic interest and support both in America and Europe.

This year, the program has been expanded to include many more students and jobs. American-European Student Foundation (a non-profit organization) is offering these jobs to students for Germany, Scandinavia, England, Austria, Switzerland, Italy, France, and Spain. The jobs consist of forestry work, child care work (females only), farm work, hotel work (limited number available), construction work and some other more qualified jobs requiring more specialized training.

The purpose of this program is to afford the student an opportunity to get into real living contact with the peoples and customs of Europe. In this way, a concrete effort can be made to learn something of the culture of Europe. In return for his or her work, the student will receive

PRE-MEDICAL SOCIETY

At the recent meeting of the Pre-Medical society held on Thursday evening, Dec. 4, Dr. Ben Souders, an ophthalmologist from Reading addressed the group. Dr. Souders, in beginning his talk, spoke in general on the diseases of the eye and then later went into fuller discussion of glaucoma and cataracts. He discussed the ages at which the conditions usually occur.

The same evening a movie on the surgical removal of cataracts was shown. The film showed quite accurately the steps which take place in an operation of this type, showing the incision made to cut out part of the iris in order to remove the lens and relieve the pressure on the eye.

CANTERBURY CLUB

This evening at 8 p.m. in the Girls' Day Study, the Canterbury Club of Ursinus will hear Bishop A.Y. Tsu, who will speak on the problems of China and Southwest Asia. Bishop Tsu, previous to his appointment in the United States, worked quite extensively in these areas. The Canterbury Club invites all who are interested in hearing this talk to attend.

Handel's "Messiah" to Be Presented Dec. 11

der Derian, Kriese, Mayer, Watson Soloists; Members of Phila. Orchestra Perform

Ursinus College will present the twenty-first annual rendition of Handel's "Messiah" in Bomberger Hall on the evening of Dec. 11. In what has now become a full-fledged tradition at Ursinus, Dr. William F. Philip, director of music at Ursinus, will lead a chorus of 237 voices and an orchestra consisting both of Ursinus students and of members of the Philadelphia Orchestra in the world-famous oratorio. As is also customary, visiting soloists, members of the National Broadcasting Company Opera Company of New York, will perform with the Ursinus student chorus.

The 21st annual performance of Handel's "Messiah" will be presented Thursday evening,

Dec. 11, in Bomberger Chapel at 8:15 p.m. This event, which has become a Christmas tradition at Ursinus, is presented by the campus music organizations. The chorus itself is made up of the students who have been in rehearsal for the presentation. Unfortunately, many students were prevented from taking part in the performance because of the fire prevention laws which permit only so many people to be in Bomberger at one time.

Dr. William F. Philip, Music Director at Ursinus, will again conduct the chorus and orchestra in this presentation. Dr. Philip has been assisted throughout the entire rehearsal period by Sam Fogal, student director; sectional leaders Ginny Keller and Bill Miller; and accompanists Laverne Joseph, Christine Freed and Mary Pennington. The four guest soloists will be Suzanne der Derian, Gladys Kriese, Frederick Mayer and Chester Watson.

Suzanne der Derian, soprano, has appeared with many of the symphony orchestras, oratorio societies, and opera companies of national renown. Her performances have been widely acclaimed by leading music critics of the country. Gladys Kriese, contralto, won the 1958 Career Performance of the Chicago Theater of the Air, and in 1954 was awarded the Women's First Award of the "Singing Stars of Tomorrow" in Toronto, Canada. At present she is contralto soloist at the Rutgers Presbyterian Church in New York City and fulfills many oratorio and recital engagements throughout the East. Frederick D. Mayer, tenor, has had numerous concert, oratorio, opera and TV appearances including those on "Omnibus", "The Arthur Godfrey Show" and "The Ed Sullivan Show". Chester Watson, bass baritone, was featured on several coast to coast broadcasts including world radio premieres: Walt Whitman's "When Lilacs Last in the Door Yard Bloomed", music by Paul Hindemith, and "El Retablo" by deFalla. He brings to his audiences an extensive repertoire of oratorios, operatic roles.

The orchestra is composed of musicians from the Philadelphia Orchestra and Ursinus College. Howard L. Gamble, organist, is a member of the Fellow American Guild of Organists in which he holds the Choirmaster degree. He has had a varied and extensive career in music and has been a recitalist and lecturer throughout the East.

CIRCLE CLUB

At the recent meeting of the Ursinus Women's Circle Club held at Studio Cottage, Dec. 4, 1958, John Heilemann, a freshman math major and son of Dr. John Heilemann, head of the physics department, gave a concert on the piano.

The pieces he rendered were "Passacaglia in G. Minor" by Handel, "Waltz in E. minor" by Chopin, "Adagio from 'Pathetique' Sonata" by Beethoven, "The Banana Tree" and "The Banjo" by Louis Gottschalk.

John showed excellent technique combined with a singing tone and a strong feeling for contrasts and climax.

SEAP Shows Movie; Stars and Players Plans Convention

A movie, Skip and the Three R's, was one of the highlights of the SEAP meeting which took place on Tuesday, Dec. 2. This motion picture primarily advocated progressive education in the public schools.

The SEAP convention which is to be held in the spring, was one of the topics under discussion. Al Wilson is the president of the Southeastern division, and, since the convention is usually held at the school which the president attends, Ursinus should be host this year. The members examined the possibilities of having such a convention here or at another college in this area.

There was a discussion of ways in which students could gain actual experience in teaching thru the college itself. Tutoring other students was the most favorable suggestion offered.

At the November 4 meeting, Mrs. Betty Cronin, an exchange teacher from England, spoke to the group. Her talk included a comparison of the education in England with that in America. At present, Mrs. Cronin is at Germantown Friends School.

MS-WSGA Hold Annual Banquet; Plan Christmas Dance December 17

On Monday evening, Dec. 8, at 7 p.m., the Men's Student Government in conjunction with the Women's Student Government will hold their annual banquet. Dean Stahr, Dean of Women, and Dean Pancoast, Dean of Men, will be present at the supper.

A speaker from the National Student Association will be the main attraction at the dinner. At present Ursinus is not a member of this nation-wide organization for the benefit of student governments. In the past few years the Men's Government has been discussing the advantages and disadvantages of joining this organization. It is hoped that this speaker will be able to clear up a number of points for both governments.

At the last meeting of the Men's Student Government, the Christmas Dance was discussed. It was decided to obtain a tree at the usual place. A committee was set up to chop down and haul the tree back to Ursinus so it could be put up and decorated for the Christmas Dance on Stars and Players had a meeting on Tuesday, December 2, 1958, to award points to the cast and committee members of Joan of Lorraine and for those of Under Milkwood and The Short Happy Journey from Trenton to Camden. A list of the awarded points will be posted on the bulletin board in Bomberger and on the outside bulletin board.

The people in the casts who were also members of Stars and Players were given their points in the meeting of Alpha Psi Omega which followed the Stars and Players meeting. Final plans for the testing and initiation of Alpha Psi pledges were completed at this meeting for the ceremonies which will take place on Tuesday evening, December 9. The pledges are required to spend a period of absolute silence starting at noon on December 9. The people pledged at this time were: Lolly Strasser, Nancy Springer, Jack Elander, Ruth Mercer and Dr. George Storey.

The Play Reading Committee for the two spring one act plays met last week. No decision was reached, but a comedy and a Greek Tragedy are under careful consideration.

Wednesday, Dec. 17. The Jay Hecker Combo will also play at this affair.

Before the dance a banquet will be held separately for both men and women. The men will have their banquet downstairs in Freeland and the women upstairs. Speaking at the men's banquet will be the Rev. Rowland, who will speak to the YM-YWCA this week.

After the dance, the men will carol at the different women's dormitories until 12:00. After this the women will have their parties and then they will serenade the boys.

A date for Lorelei was also obtained. This year the annual "women ask men" dance will be held on February 20, at Sunnybrook Ballroom.

The last item on the agenda was the replacing of a MSGA representative. Bob Leonard, sophomore member of the Men's Government, has dropped out of school and another man will have to replace him. This will be done in the very near future.

NOTICE

Greek 8 will be offered during the second semester, 1958-59 by Dr. David W. Baker. The emphasis in the course will be different from that of preceding years. There is no prerequisite—the course will be open to all students who wish to enroll.

Students who wish to enter the course should register at the Dean's office before Christmas vacation.

"Isolation"

Have you noticed the "wall" around Ursinus? We are a distinct, self-centered, self-conscious, and isolated community. Only occasionally do we extend our wall—sometimes it includes Collegeville!

Now, this wall isn't impenetrable. Several times a week a bus breaks through a tiny chink in it. This bus offers an escape—an adventure. Take it and go to Philadelphia. True, Philadelphia is not a New York City, but it is not a Collegeville. Philadelphia has concerts, museums, shows; it has buildings, doorways, and opportunities. Just go for a walk in Philly and look around you—at the people and places.

And in this wall there is also a window which is always open. This is the library. But how many of us use this library for anything more than a place where we can meet, make time, or make a date with a friend of the opposite sex. All we have done in this use of the library is to transfer the Upper Drug to an on-campus location.

The library subscribes to some of the best periodicals—TIME, NEWSWEEK, THE NEW YORKER, ART NEWS, HARPER'S, and even the new magazine of the arts, HORIZON. The shelves are filled with some of the greatest of man's accomplishments. The thoughts of great men are there for us to delve into. And all of this searching and learning is not punishment—it is enjoyment. This searching may often reward us with an answer to a most persistent problem. Poetry, plays, fiction, art—all are there. A walk around the library will reveal to us some of the many treasures the world holds. The NEW YORK TIMES is also there for the perusal of the conscientious, up-to-date student. But, alas, where is this interested, curious, and searching student? At the Drug, I'll bet!

Socializing at the Drug is not to be condemned. There's nothing like a good bull session, if you're discussing something valuable. But it helps to have some knowledge and equipment with which to work. This is one time when a student isn't being marked on his knowledge, and the lack of this threat does not require the student to bring his "silver shovel". He can discuss solely on his own thoughts, opinions and ideas, and not be forced to give back only what the professor wants. Where's his curiosity—his "search for knowledge"?

Doesn't a student have a responsibility to earn the tuition fee that's been invested in his education—to make use of this opportunity to grow? Isn't his responsibility to become concerned about his fellow man and to learn of him? He can do this by reading a newspaper, turning on a radio for the news, and reading a news magazine. He can also learn of people by associating with them—getting to know all the kinds there are in the world.

Ursinus is a small place. But, though limited in some facilities as compared to a mammoth "education factory" like Penn, she has some distinct advantages. Students at Ursinus can get to know one another so much better. Professors may be approached in a more personal atmosphere. Problems can be shared and discussed. Perhaps our campus doesn't resemble Yale's, and maybe we are not "ivy", but we are certainly capable of thought and learning. It doesn't take an elaborate physical campus to create an educational institution of learning, growing, searching, thinking people. So, let's get to it!

Work Camps

The week-end of November 14, 15 and 16, six Ursinus students representing the Social Responsibilities Commission attended work camps in Philadelphia. Work week-ends are sponsored by the Quakers and afford college students an opportunity to work with and help others as well as to meet other college students. The work camp attended was at the Universal Church of Christ, which is located almost in the middle of the Temple University Campus. When we arrived at the church on Friday night, dinner was being served. The hours following the meal were spent in getting acquainted with the others and in general discussion about work camps—their purpose and their accomplishments. After dishes were washed, we spent the rest of the evening looking at slides of other work camps throughout the world. It was enlightening to see the poor living conditions existing in most of the countries of the world today. In India, for example, a work group helped the natives fill in part of a road that had become flooded in the monsoon season. In other countries the workers cut wheat, help build homes or churches and dig wells. These people show much enthusiasm and happiness at the appearance of the work camp workers. They are desperately in need of help—any kind or amount at all.

In the slums of Philadelphia, we had the privilege of giving a helping hand to the more underprivileged people. The people were contacted beforehand and were thus prepared for our visit. In one home where my partner and I helped paint, plaster, and in general clean up, there were ten small children, and every time they looked into the kitchen they exclaimed how beautiful it looked.

In the afternoon, we returned with ladders, paint brushes, and plaster buckets to the church where dinner was waiting for us. Discussion followed on the work of the day.

Sunday morning the group attended a Negro Baptist Church, after which they went on a tour of the city of Philadelphia to see the work that the different work camps and community groups were doing. Much effort is being exerted in Philadelphia to clean up the slums and make them better and healthier places in which to live.

After the tour the group attended a hearing of one of the courts. From here we returned to the Universal Church of Christ for dinner.

Work week-ends are held every week-end, and anyone who is interested in going to one can do so by contacting Bill McQuoid or Lolly Strasser.

IRC

The next meeting of the International Relations Committee will be held on Monday, Dec. 15, at 7 o'clock in the faculty room of the library. The IRC and the German Club will combine for this meeting to present a discussion about the Berlin question. An outside speaker from the German Consular Service will present his views about the problem. In case of his absence, Franz Haberl and Emil Bretzger will discuss the Berlin question. IRC and German Club members are urged to attend this meeting. All other people interested are welcome. At the last meeting of the IRC Timothy Combe gave his views on the Cyprus question.

Guardian Angels

by Betty Heale

Guardian angels may or may not exist. This article won't prove or disprove their existence. But if they do exist, some of our professors' actions may be attributed to them. Let's just suppose our professors know they exist and keep in contact with them.

If a prof's eyes keep glancing up as if he were looking at a fly circling above him, couldn't the prof be merely watching his guardian angel flying around the room?

Although we may think a prof is nervous if he keeps jerking his ear, he might be trying to hear his angel's advice on how to wake some oblivious members of the class. Sometimes even guardian angels can be noisy in their methods—especially when they advocate dropping a table on a stone floor!

Some Guardian angels seem to stand at a distance to direct their charges. Perhaps that's the reason some of our profs fixedly stare at the back wall of the classroom.

At times a guardian angel may become tired and so he will sit down in a one armed chair. The angel will just be ready for a nap when lo and behold, it appears that his ward has become so enthralled by his topic, that he has pushed his reading stand to the edge of the platform. Obviously if the angel doesn't get to work immediately, the professor, his dignity, and his stand, will ingloriously topple from their perch.

Generally speaking (in spite of hazards) guardian angels do a fine job for our professors, bless them!

Futility

Intelligence, Heredity
They simply do not interest me.
Who cares why some are wise?
And why some others are not?
I must be of the latter sort,
At least I know I haven't got
An aptitude to learn these things—

These important facts to know:
What is a personality, how smart are we?
And what can be the reason some of us are slow?
Does environment affect behavior?

The answer's clear to see,
But why spend fifty periods
Teaching it to me?

Why do people act "that way"?
I'm sorry that I cannot say,
And sorrier that I do not care,
Yet must admit, if I dare,
That I often fall asleep in class
While discussing Freud or Hull—
Repressed urges, dream analysis

Forces that work inside your skull.

I'd rather have mythology, history, biology,
Than this dull course, Psychology.

"Comparisons"

by Anne McWilliams

Most college evaluations are carried out beyond the student's ears. Only the final results are released. However, we of the Weekly felt that we would like to know more about our college and how it compares with other American colleges. In this light, we decided to call representative students and discover how they felt that Ursinus compared to their previous expectations to the picture they received on visits to other colleges. We realize that these are inadequate criteria, but they would give us an idea of the student's thoughts. Also, we decided to interview some professors and obtain their evaluations of Ursinus by comparing our college with other colleges they had been acquainted with, either as students or as teachers. This is the first of the series:

Someone once said that comparisons are odious. Be that as it may, comparisons still fascinate people. In fact, many find value in comparison, for if something is wrong, comparisons may show us the way to remedy a lack.

When Dr. Maurice Armstrong, professor of history, was asked to compare Ursinus to other colleges, he quickly replied that none of the professors would be here if they didn't like it. Moreover, the professors would be blowing their own horns if they said it was a good college.

In reply to a question on what he thought about Ursinus students, Dr. Armstrong said that he gave them marks.

Dr. Armstrong thought the library's facilities were quite adequate but he also voiced the opinion that students didn't read half the books there.

"Word"

by Betty Heale

It has been said that the English and Americans would get along better if they spoke a different language. However, differences between their form of English and ours can be rather amusing.

The first word difference we encountered was "housie-housie" which was printed on a Cunard program for our first day at sea. We finally learned that "housie-housie" means bingo.

An iron monger is no more than a hardware store.

If someone told you he was going to see his turf accountant, he'd be going to his bookie to place a bet. In England betting is legal and so deserves a more dignified word than our term bookie.

Although you may gape in wonderment when someone says he'll give you a tinkle, it is merely a commonplace way of saying "I'll call you up".

Signs in England can also be a delight to the American visitor. We especially liked the inn in Wales which was called "The Gold Digger's Arms". In Scotland there was a pub called "The Tight Line".

We heard of one sign which said "J. Death—Family Butcher".

Perhaps the most amusing sign we saw was one in the little town where we stayed. In neat black letters on a white background, a road sign pointed the way to a boys' school and a horse farm. The sign said "Orchard Court, Boys' Preparatory School, Stud Farm".

:: SPORTS TALK ::

For their play during this past football and soccer season, two of our players were recognized by the ECAC and MAC respectively. The football player was Bob Petersen, who was first string center in the Eastern College Athletic Conference team, and the soccer player was Bob Schmoyer, who was second string right fullback on the Middle Atlantic Conference team.

Petersen's award came after winning weekly awards after five of the team's eight games. Bob's hard tackling and consistently key blocking are the ball playing traits which actually won his position for him.

But there is more to the game than natural athletic ability. Natural ability can carry a player just so far but it alone has never won an award on an All-Star team. There always must be a drive behind the ability to make it produce results. Bob has an intense desire to win. This desire to win showed itself in every tackle and block which Petersen threw this past season and it did not let up because the team fell behind and the game was almost over. Certainly this drive alone could not have won the award, but, just as certainly, the award could not have been one without it.

Much the same thing can be said about Bob Schmoyer. At times his hustle seemed almost reckless, but this was not the case. On the field Bob never stopped thinking about his position. Not only in relation to the opposition's attack, but also in relation to the other members of his backfield. To play an aggressive game is good, but it cannot be thoughtless.

What can be said of one of these boys can be said of both because it takes a unique combination of abilities to win a place on these all-star teams. In addition to pure muscular co-ordination, the will to win and clear thought at all times are necessary to drive and govern the athletic ability.

Congratulations to Bob Petersen and Bob Schmoyer on their fine seasons for their respective U.C. teams.

Wrestling Team Begins Practice For '59 Season

As the winter sports season rolls around, we find our wrestling team shaping up into fine form. Coached by Mr. Richard Schellhase, the grapplers have been working out every day in the gym for the last two weeks. It appears that we will have a team that will match last season's six and one record.

Pacing the team is Jack Prutzman, captain and returning letterman. Jack, who placed high in the mid-Atlantic tournament last year, wrestles in the 157 pound class. In the lower weights, Miles Dechant and Joe Davies head the 123 pound class. Freshman, Don Smith and John Dempsey are tops in the 130 pound class, while a battle royal between Bob Turnbull, Karl Luck, Roger Eichland and Paul Hill is occurring in the 137 lb. group. Tony Cianci heads the 147 pound class followed by Dave Rush. Prutz and freshman Bob Newbauer are dominant in the 157 group while Miller Preston and Dave Williams are engaged in a duel for the 167 spot. In the higher weights, we find Paul Simpson, Will Abele, Wally Nielson and Tom Engle competing for the heavyweight and 177 berths. These spots will be determined by the weights of these boys as they are all over-weight at the present time.

Academic ineligibility has been a thorn in the side of Coach Schellhase so far this year. There are many fine boys out for wrestling who will not be able to compete until the second semester and even next year.

Ineligibility and possible injuries are the only stumbling blocks in the way of another excellent season. Coach Schellhase feels that "we should equal or better last season's mark." He states further that "any boy interested in wrestling, no matter how inexperienced, should come down to the gym. If someone has guts and brains, he can become a good wrestler."

Although our first match is not until Jan. 10, with Haverford, wrestling fans will not have to wait that long. Coach Schellhase plans a wrestle-off in which our boys will compete for starting berths. A tentative date

Schmoyer Places On MAC 2d Team; Drexel's 1st Team

Robert Schmoyer of the Ursinus soccer team has been awarded a position on the All Middle Atlantic Conference second team. This past season was Bob's fourth and last playing Right Fullback, the position at which he was awarded the honor, for the UC team.

Bob won the award for his hard, aggressive play and general effectiveness in defending the Ursinus goal. As playmaker for the Bear backfield he not only controlled the defense, but started many plays for the forward line.

Bob is a senior math major and a member of Demas fraternity.

Also elected to the team were five players from Drexel Tech's undefeated championship soccer team who made the first team of the All Middle Atlantic Conference, it was announced today. Selected by coaches of the Conference's 24 teams, the quintet includes sophomore Igor Lissy, the individual scoring leader, and All Americans Stan Dlugosz and Ozzie Jethon, who accounted for 47 goals in ten Conference games. Fullback Bob Muschek and outside right George Sawchuk are the other Dragon choices. Swarthmore, 1957 titlists, placed two boys on the first team and two on the second.

The selections:

Courtmen Win First Game of Season, 78-46

Wagner, Wenhold, Becker Top Scoring; Bears Drop First Tilt to Rutgers

Last Saturday night the Ursinus Bears opened their home season by dealing the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science a 78-46 setback. By Controlling both boards and getting a fine all-around team effort in scoring, the Bears gave Ursinus fans signs that better things are to come in basketball and the 1958-59 season should be an exciting one.

Ursinus won the opening tap-off but lost possession, and PCP drew first blood. However, the early seconds of the game were the only heartening one for the Philadelphians, for after Bob Wagner broke the ice for Ursinus, Mike Becker followed with two foul conversions and Tom Wenhold jumped for a goal that put Ursinus into the lead 6-4, and the Bears were never headed after that. A free throw by Becker, two Wenhold goals, and a tap in by lanky Dan Gould, gave Ursinus a 13-6 margin. After a PCP spurt, Becker and Wenhold hit consecutive goals to keep the Bears out in front 17-11. Then Tom Wenhold got hot and contributed five points, followed by a Wagner goal to give Ursinus a commanding 27-15 lead with only a few minutes left until half time. A goal by Snyder, who had just replaced Mike Becker and another five points by big Tom Wenhold closed out first half action with the Bears out in front by 13, 34-19. Tom Wenhold and Mike Becker were the big guns for Ursinus in the first half with 13 and 10 points respectively.

Girls Begin Practice for Basketball

The first basketball practice was held December 1st at 4 o'clock in the T-G gym under the supervision of Miss Eleanor Snell. The girls went through drills and skills at first, and later they scrimmaged.

Suzie Wagner competently captains this vivacious group of basket-bound athletes. Letterwomen returning this season include Faye Bardman, Louie Magness, Joyce Gilbert, Margie Cramer and Pat Hoehl. The new hopefuls are Joan Fry, Lorie Hamilton, Ace Burgoon, Sylvia Ibbs, Joanne Lewis, Lynne Crosley, Flora McQueen, Nancy Jones, Barbara Eichel, Doris Sfenburg, Sue Knowles, Sue Schnabel, Anne Sansenbach, Ruth Fatscher, Judy Schultz, Judy Nelson, Mai Vilmas, and Sally Bastow. The manager is Jill Carter, who is assisted by Judy Schultz and Flora McQueen.

The skilled returners along with the newly discovered talent and potential should combine to form another triumphant Ursinus girls' season on the court. Miss Snell sees great promise for the 1959 season, and all participants are optimistically working toward the possibility of an undefeated team.

The halftime intermission didn't seem to cool the Bears off but made them hotter as they really began popping them in from the floor in the second period. Ursinus again won the tap-off and scored on Becker's jumper. A goal by Gould and Winchester's first two points of the evening netted the Bears a 44-23 margin, then Bob "Inky" Wagner got a hot hand and dumped in six in a row to keep Ursinus way out in front by 23, 50-27. After four points by Gould and a goal

Bears End Season With 0-8 Record; '59 Looks Better

The 1958 football season is now a thing of the past for the Ursinus Bears. The season was one of the toughest recorded for the past several years. The final record stands at 0 wins and 8 losses. Ursinus scored only 18 points all season while the opposition registered 160. Throughout the year the Bears were hampered by lack of depth and size. This was especially true at the tackle and halfback positions.

Even though the Bears were smaller and outweighed by every opposing team, they showed their ability by throwing a tight defense around the opposing teams, but, because they generally had a substantial offense, the opposing teams were able to pound and eventually wear down the Bear defense. In total offense the Bears gained only 980, while the opposition ran around and through them for a total of 2330. McCrae led the team in net yards gained with 280 yards while Rich Boggio was a close second with 262. In scoring McCrae led with 12 points and Boggio was second this time with 6 points to his credit. In the punting department, Ted Kershner led the team with a 29.9 yard average. The team did not pass too much this season. It attempted 75 and completed only 18 for a net gain of 222 yards. The reason for such a poor offensive attack cannot be certain, but quite possibly it stems back to occurrences during the pre-season drills.

The 1959 season, however, could be brighter. The Bears will lose only four lettermen through graduation. But these four seniors, Mike Drewniak, Tony Ci-

Ursinus Grad. Gains Position In Ghana

A minister's widow who has taught in schools of nursing in America for 30 years, has been appointed missionary to Ghana by the Board of International Missions of the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Mrs. Gladys Boorem Yost, Cresco, Pa., an educational director of schools of nursing in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Ohio, will probably serve in a nurses' training school in Ghana, the Board has announced.

Mrs. Yost, whose late husband, the Rev. Ethelbert B. Yost was the pastor of St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Knauertown, Pa., for 23 years, points out she has always had an interest in missions. Some people predicted long ago she would be a missionary, she relates. Her husband, before she married him, had been a short-term missionary in China.

Mr. Yost was the son of the late Calvin Yost and brother of Calvin Yost Jr., a faculty member of Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa.

A graduate of Ursinus College, Mrs. Yost earned her R.N. from the University of Pennsylvania Hospital and a Master of Science degree in nursing education from the university. She was educational director in the Muhlenberg Hospital School of Nursing, Plainfield, N. J., and in a number of other institutions.

PHI PSI

The sister of Phi Alpha Psi would like to congratulate their nineteen new rushees. Also, best wishes are extended to Millie Hartzell on her engagement to Dean Bankert, to Mary Pennington on her pinning to John Schumacher, to Nancy Van Buskirk on her pinning to Bob Schmoyer, to Carol Bentley on her pinning to Bob Petersen, to Nancy Faust on her pinning to Ted Holcombe and to Marty Paxson on her pinning to Ken Grundy.

Homecoming luncheon at Bridge Hotel proved to be very enjoyable for the Phi Psiers with a good turnout of 29 alumnae. On Friday, November 14, the sisters held a "get-acquainted" party at the home of Terry Jacobs in Akron, Pa.

Nineteen pledges became official members of Phi Alpha Psi sorority on Sunday evening, Dec. 7. This formal initiation was held at 6:45 in the Faculty Room of the Alumni Memorial Library. The nineteen members who were formally installed under the leadership of Nancy Owen, sorority president, are: Georgia Alexander, Marian Bair, Carol Bentley, Nancy Craft, Sue Cohen, Dorothy D'Agostino, Barbara Dean, Judy Meyer, Catherine Nicolai, Eleanor Rankin, Sue Scherr, Sandy Stevens, Gail Trippian, Nancy Ellen Van Buskirk.

Bear's Football . . .

anci, Jack Prutzman, and Al Wilson have been mainstays for the Ursinus eleven for the past four years and will be tough to replace. Returning to help fill up the gap will be Bob Petersen, who has been chosen for several all-star teams during the course of the season.

Looking ahead to 1959 the experiences acquired in 1958 should make the returning team much stronger. The potential for a better team is there. Strong desire, and good conditioning are the most important qualities which must be developed if the team can be expected to run up a better record in the coming season.

CHRISTMAS INVITATION

All junior and sophomore women are invited to attend a Christmas party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Donald L. Helfferich on Monday evening, Dec. 15, 1958, at 6:30 p.m. Plan to go and enjoy one of the activities that makes the Christmas tradition at Ursinus so memorable.

"ART NEWS"

The Philadelphia Museum of Art will open up a new exhibition on December 5th with a display of Prints and Drawings by Charles Nicolas Cochin, the Younger (1715-1790). Cochin was one of the most influential and important artists at the court of Louis XV. He was a close friend of the Marquis de Marigny and of Madame Pompadour; he was ennobled by the King. He was Secretary of the Royal Academy of Painting and Sculpture, and Curator of the Royal Collection of Drawings. Descended from a long line of engravers—both his father and his mother and his uncles and aunts engraved—he engraved invitations and depicted the court balls and fetes for the King. He designed or engraved great quantities of illustrations, and he undertook to publish the large engravings of the Ports of France after the popular painter, Joseph Vernet. His duties at the court in later years prevented him from engraving very much himself, but he made innumerable drawings, including an ambitious series of portraits of notables of his time, which were engraved by other artists and which comprise an artistic iconography of the XVIII century comparable in scope and importance to that made by Van Dyck in the XVII century.

During this past year the Museum acquired a collection of Cochin's work which forms the basis of the present exhibition. The collection has a very special provenance, for there is every reason to suppose that it was the artist's personal collection. Apparently he assembled his prints and mounted them on uniform sheets of heavy handmade paper in roughly chronological order with annotations in his own handwriting. There is a sketch for a title page using one of his old engraved borders and the following lettering in his own hand: "Oeuvre de Charles Nic: Cochin Le Fils". The collection thus contains many great rarities, drawings, early trial proofs, and the like, as well as priceless documentary material. It presumably was referred to by Cochin in his will: "I give and bequeath to the Royal Academy of Painting and Sculpture, as a mark of my affection, the folio volume in which I have mounted my work, which will be completed, as far as it will be possible, with scattered prints as they may turn up at my house." Owing to the disturbed conditions at the time of his death in 1790, neither the engraving collection nor the allegorical drawings which he intended for the Cabinet des Dessains du Roi ever found their place in the official collections according to the research of Rocheblave. No trace of the drawings has been found. All in all there are 69 original drawings related to prints and 758 engravings in the Cochin Collection. This has been supplemented by the Museum's previous holdings in the field, such as the rare trial proofs of the Conquests of the Chinese Emperor and the incomparable group of medallion portraits of distinguished personages given by the Philip H. and A. S. Rosenbach Foundation. Altogether the Cochin Collection at the Philadelphia Museum is undoubtedly the most important and extensive in America, if not in the world, being surpassed in quantity only by the Bibliothèque Nationale in Paris.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY

This evening, Monday, Dec. 8, the Chemical Society will hear Dr. Frederick Owens speak on "The Conformation of Organic Compounds". A graduate of Ursinus College, Dr. Owens received his Ph.D. at the University of Illinois and is now employed by the Rohm and Haas Co. The meeting will be held in S12 at 7:30.

by Snyder, Pete Wise replaced Tom Wenhold who left the game with 15 big points. Bob Wagner, high man for the evening, hit his 16th point to widen the score to 65-37 and sophomore Jim Detweiler then replaced the back court ace who had played a nifty game for the Bears. After a long jump shot by freshman Curt Conn, Detweiler got into the scoring column with a goal and two foul conversions. Pete Wise followed through with a beautiful tap-in and a foul conversion to cap a 78-46 Ursinus romp.

In earlier action, the Ursinus J.V.'s, with five players hitting in double figures, routed the PCP junior varsity, 75-53.

On Thursday night, an injury-riddled U.C. basketball team journeyed to Camden to meet Rutgers of South Jersey in the season's opener. The game played at Camden Convention Hall was for the benefit of the Frank Ryan Drop-A-Buck Club. A sell-out crowd was on hand as Rutgers jumped into an early lead. The Bears fell behind by twelve points midway through the second quarter, but a rally brought them within two points as the first half ended.

Rutgers again took command at the start of the second half. Led by their ace Joe Bretschneider, they compiled a 21 point lead with nine minutes left in the game. Again the Bears rallied, but the rally was cut short by the buzzer, ending the game. The final score: Rutgers (S.J.) 79, U.C. 70.

"Inky" Wagner led the Bears with 18 points, while Jim Wenhold had 14. Bretschneider was high for Rutgers with 25 points.

Business Administration Club

Open for membership to all Business Administration majors, the Business Administration Club is anxious to have some freshmen members. The purpose of the club is to bring to the campus men who have achieved success in various business fields for discussion of career opportunities. Its special programs of films and speakers are open to the entire student body.

On Wednesday, December 10, at 8 p.m., Dr. Helfferich will be the speaker, discussing a phase of banking.

During the week of Dec. 8, the club will be in charge of distributing job guidance booklets, entitled "Careers," to all senior men.

Ursinus Host to CDA Last Week

Ursinus College last week played host to the Civil Defense Administration of Montgomery County in its training program in radioactivity detection and problems arising from potential enemy nuclear attack. During campus on Wednesday and sessions held at Ursinus on Thursday, representatives, including science teachers from twenty-seven Montgomery County senior high schools, were given instruction in the operation of radioactivity-measuring devices and in the solution of the problems of defense against and the treatment of injuries and damage caused by explosions and fall-out in the event of an enemy nuclear attack.

The teachers and others are thus now qualified to instruct others in these matters, which officials contend would probably be encountered in the Montgomery County locale because of its proximity to the industrial areas about Philadelphia and even in the considerations of the scientists acquainted with the behavior of nuclear fall-out—its proximity to the Pittsburgh area.

President Donald L. Helfferich of Ursinus College made the address of welcome to the visiting group. General Norman Cota, county director of civil defense, also spoke to the group. Instructions were then given by Dr. Evan S. Snyder, assistant professor of physics at Ursinus College; Admiral Charles Will, assistant county director of civil defense; Colonel Edward Feathers, state director of radiological training for civil defense; and Dr. John T. Brackin, Glenside, radiologist at Abington Memorial Hospital. Dr. Brackin presented the medical problems of fall-out.

APO

The pledge class of Alpha Phi Omega has completed its project of decorating the tower of Pfahler for Christmas. Colored cellophane in the shapes of candles and Christmas trees was put on the windows and illuminated from behind with spotlights. The regular members have put a huge wreath between the columns of Freeland to help the campus get into the Christmas spirit.

The first coat of paint was put on the benches at the bus stops in Collegeville last Saturday, with a second coat to be put on soon. Also last Saturday a group of APO members raked leaves and pruned trees at SGF farm. Before the Senior Ball, APO conducted the election for the Lord and Lady and permanent class officers of the Senior class.

A Christmas party is being planned for the last Thursday before Christmas vacation. Each member will bring fifty cents which will be given to the Care Food Crusade; the members feel that this money which would have been spent for presents will be going to an excellent cause. Each $1.00 Food Crusade package sends twenty-two pounds of food overseas—enough to feed four persons for a month. Care gets the food from the United States Government surplus stocks and the $1.00 covers the cost of shipping and delivering the food overseas. APO invites other campus organizations to join them in giving to Care.
