Radio Station to be Set-up With Student Body Consent

Plans for the Ursinus College radio station are now under way, and last Wednesday evening, Jan. 7, a meeting was called inviting all those interested to attend and sign up for participation. Mr. Robert MacMurray, one of the faculty advisors (the other being Dr. Evan Snyder, of the Physics Department) spoke to the group and pointed out that, while the idea is good, it might not be practical for several reasons. First of all, it means a lot of work on the part of those interested, and this in the face of a student body who might not even bother to tune in the programs. Another reason is the financial feasibility of such a station. Broadcasting equipment will cost money. Would the students contribute to this project?

Other considerations are: What type programs do the students want to hear? When are the best hours to broadcast? It was decided that such questions could be settled only by the students themselves, and to serve this end a poll is to be taken tomorrow evening at supper. Papers distributed to each table will contain questions designed to determine if the students really want and need such a campus organization. The students may write in what they would like to hear, the types of music they will listen to, or perhaps news analyses and sports reviews. How each student responds will largely determine whether or not such a station will come into existence at Ursinus.

If response is favorable, the station is to be organized on corporate principles with a board of directors to set up initial policies and organization and the various officers and members of each department: technical, production and business. Officers will have definite authority and will be responsible directly to the board of directors.

A transmitter can be built during the recess between semesters and additional equipment such as a turntable, amplifier and phono cartridges can be had from radio station WHOL in Allentown, Pa. This station will also give aid and send engineers to run the FCC tests. Call letters and a position on the dial is yet unknown. Re-

Summer Study Abroad Announced By IIE

Potential historians sociologists, poets and other liberal arts students can combine summer study with vacation travel abroad by enrolling in a British or Austrian summer school program. Applications of American students are now being accepted by the Institute of International Education.

The British University Summer Schools offer six-week courses in various subjects. Students at Stratford-upon-Avon will study Shakespeare and Elizabethan drama; in London, one can study either Literature, Art and Social Change in 19th Century England or Aspects of English Law and Jurisprudence; at Oxford, students will cover English History, Literature and the Arts from 1870 to the Present. The European Inheritance will be the theme of the Edinburgh School. Although the courses are designed for graduate students, undergraduates in their last two years at a university will be considered. However, those studying "Aspects of English Law and

BETA SIG

The Brothers of Beta Sigma Lambda fraternity would like to congratulate several of their brothers who were either pinned or engaged during the recent Christmas holidays. James Terry announced his engagement to Miss Metty Lou Hurling.

Those brothers who were pinned were Richard DeEustachio to Sandra Motta; Bruce Drobnyck to Barbara Booth, Springfield, N. J.; and Gerald Schrefler.

ception is expected to be rather strong and will be placed at some point on the A.M. dial where no interference is to be met. The transmitter is to be of carrier-current type and will use the electric light and power lines as an antenna.

Again we must realize that if student response is poor, the efforts of this club might well be directed into another channel, such as having broadcasting where the interests of its members will be better served. It is up to you, the student, the individual. It is suggested that you give careful consideration to this matter and its consequences. Do you want a campus radio station. Will you give it support? What do you want to hear?

Petersen and Drewniak Are Honored by MAC

A 15-member All College Division team of the Middle Atlantic Conference was selected by the football coaches of the member schools. Close voting among the 25 members balloting resulted in the selection of four tackles and four halfbacks.

Haverford College's Mike Kaback was the popular choice for the quarterback slot. Kaback had the conference's greatest throwing accuracy, connecting on 48 percent of his shots and the high passing distance of 703 yards. Franklin and Marshall's George Darrah, the conference's top punter, won the fullback choice.

The team:
Ends—Al Ferrie, Wagner, and Ted Robinson, Haverford.
Tackles—Herm Feldhusen, Swarthmore; Jim Kelley, Johns Hopkins; Jim Pusey, Western Maryland; and John Irwin, Franklin and Marshall.

Guards—Alex Green, Haverford and Al Hillman, Franklin and Marshall.
Center—Herm Sweeney, PMC.
Quarterback—Mike Kaback, Haverford.

Halfbacks—John Grier, Lycoming; Eddie Cocco, PMC; Vern Magnuson, Lebanon Valley, and Bob Ortman, Haverford.

Fullback—George Darrah, Franklin and Marshall.
Mentioned on the honorable mention list were Pete Petersen for his fine play at Center this past season and Mike Drewniak, guard.

In addition to this, Petersen was honorable mention center on Williamson's 1958 Little All-American Balanced Poll. This team is not limited to the Middle Atlantic Conference or even to the Eastern seaboard, but is a national rating.

MAY DAY

A prize of $25 is offered by the Ursinus Circle each year to the writer of the May Day pageant which is chosen by the committee for presentation. All Ursinus women are urged to put their creative talents to work and to write a pageant. The judging will take place in February, so why not write your pageant during the semester vacation?

The pageants are judged by the following criteria: plot or theme and handling of the plot or theme, including dramatic movement, costuming, music, background and narrative.

Canterbury

This evening the Canterbury Club of Ursinus College will have as its guest, Noble Smith, an Ursinus graduate of 1956, who will address the group on his life as a student at the Philadelphia Divinity School. Noble now a senior, is president of his class at PDS.

The group will also make arrangements for the Communion Breakfast which will be held the Sunday before finals.

Chi Alpha

There will be a Chi Alpha meeting on Thursday, Jan. 13, at 7 p.m. in the Faculty Room of the Library.

Marv Koff will join Chi Alpha in a discussion of "Determinism and Religion."

Air Force Offers Commissions to College Grads

The United States Air Force will offer commissions as Second Lieutenants to a limited number of College graduates next year in a new program announced recently by Colonel Carl C. Cameron, Commander of Air Force Recruiting for Southeastern Pennsylvania and Northern Delaware.

The gold bars will be available for selected civilian applicants if they have a degree from an accredited College or University, Colonel Cameron said.

Although the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFROTC) program will continue to be the Air Force's major source for high quality young officers, the new Officer Training School program will be used to fill specialized Officer short-ages and furnish needed officers to meet requirements perceived on short notice.

The plan calls for accepted applicants to complete a three month training course at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas. The first students will begin training in November 1959. Upon completion of the course, they will be commissioned Second Lieutenants.

Although the number of applicants who will get commissions through this plan is small, the Air Force reported that there are thousands of young men throughout the country who can meet the requirements.

Applications will be accepted after April 1, 1959. In no case will they be accepted before that date. Civilian applicants will be able to apply through Air Force Recruiting Offices.

The newly commissioned Reserve Officers will have a three year active duty commitment, and upon completion of their training at Lackland, will be assigned direct to duty or to specialized training courses.

Applicants must be male U.S. citizens between 20½ and 27½ years of age at the time of application. There is no restriction on marital status.

Colonel Cameron pointed out that, as some of the new Lieutenants will be eligible for flying training, this provides a new means by which married men, providing they are College graduates, can receive training as Pilots or Navigators.

Inquiries concerning the OTS Program should be made at any USAF Recruiting Office, or information may be obtained by writing OTS, Room 512, LaFayette Building, 5th & Chestnut Streets, Phila. 6, Pa.

Frosh Present Marooned On Friday, Jan. 16

The Freshman class has chosen "Marooned" for the theme of its first function, a dance, to be held in the T-G gym. This will prove to be a unique and well-planned affair. Plans have been made to transform the T-G gym into a beautiful, tropical paradise.

"The Collegians", a very capable eight piece orchestra, who have not been heard here at Ursinus, will supply the music for your "Marooned" evening. During the intermission some members of the class will provide enjoyable entertainment and other "natives" will serve refreshments.

One of the ways in which "Marooned" will be unique is in the dress. Each couple is asked to be dressed appropriately for the occasion, as if they were really "marooned". But for the more conservative vein of the student population, suits are acceptable. However, a prize will be given to one couple in each class who typifies the "most appropriately dressed 'marooned' couple.

This dance will prove to be one no Ursinus student should miss. It will be a "breather" from finals and enjoyable. Thus, to be marooned for an evening between 8 and 12:00, buy a ticket for $1.50 from a freshman and come to the T-G gym on Friday, Jan. 16, to be "marooned."

Everyone is invited to come out and enjoy themselves before the "Reign of Terror".

Prof. H. C. Symons Elected Pres. Of School Board

Professor Harry C. Symons, of the Department of Economics of Ursinus College, has been elected President of the North Chester County Joint School Board at the meeting held on the evening of December 11. Mr. Symons, who has been Director from the South Coventry District for the past eleven years and President of the same board for the past eight years, succeeds to the Presidency of the Joint Board from the Vice-Presidency.

Professor Symons has been one of the most versatile and active of Ursinus faculty members. Besides holding the position of Assistant Professor of Economics at Ursinus and teaching in both day and evening classes, he has held many posts in business, governmental, and educational institutions. During 1956 and 1957 he held the position of Consultant to the Secretary of the (State) Administration in Harrisburg. Since that time he has been a stand-by Consultant to the (Pennsylvania) Department of Revenue, Division of Tax Research and the Milk Control Commission. Since 1957 he has been a member of the Board of Trustees of West Chester State Teachers' College.

Mr. Symons, who graduated from the Pennsylvania State University in 1946 with a Bachelor of Arts Degree and who holds a Master of Arts Degree from the same University, lives on and operates his own farm near Pughtown with his wife and two children.

Summer Job Guide Ready

Want a free trip to a faraway place with a strange-sounding name? Or do you want to be a stay-at-home money-maker this summer?

No matter what your inclination, every teacher, college student and professor will have a choice from over 12,000 summer earning opportunities described in the new and expanded 1959 World—Wide Summer Placement Directory.

The Directory lists specific jobs in 20 foreign countries and all 49 U.S. States. They range from steamships to dude ranches, from work-travel trips overseas to summer theatres, from study projects to research, from camps to national and state parks.

Each listing includes a description of the job, the necessary qualifications, the salary, and the name and address of the employer. Information is also given on how to apply for positions with a sample resume to assist applicants. The best summer jobs are filled early in 1959, so job seekers should apply as soon as possible.

In response to requests from students, the Directory has added a section especially for them. It lists training programs, an asset to future careers, in hundreds of firms and the U.S. Government.

Copies of the Directory may be examined at most University Placement or Dean's Offices, Libraries and School Superintendent's Offices, or may be obtained for $3 each by writing to The Advancement and Placement Institute, Box 99K, Station G, Brooklyn 22, N. Y.

A current up-to-date Summer Placement Directory is published each year by the Institute, a non commercial advisory service for the field of education since 1952. The Institute also publishes the monthly Crusade Journal, which lists positions for educators, and the annual World-Wide Graduate Award Directory.

There are no fees for any positions obtained through the Institute and its service publications.

This book will do more to expand our scientific horizons than a dozen previous attempts." The Manus Weekly says, "this book opens the way to an entirely new kind of psychology."

YM-YWCA Plans for Spring Semester

The YM-YWCA, having almost completed its fall semester of programs, is now planning for the spring semester. Before completing its fall program, however, it has several activities scheduled.

The Campus Affairs Commission still has tickets available for the Community Concert series. The tickets cost fifty cents each and six are available for each concert. Some of the concerts coming in the near future are: Jan. 12, Gold and Fildale, a piano duo, given at Norris-town; Feb. 2, Festival Quartet, Pottstown; Feb. 3, Lin and Alexander, a dance team, at Conestoga.

Next semester the Y calendar will feature the spring retreat and a religious emphasis week. However, one of the first important events is the bloodmobile which will be on campus on Feb. 25, a Wednesday. The Social Responsibilities Commission is sponsoring the Bloodmobile and all are urged to donate.

All students are urged to encourage and attend Y programs, and to volunteer suggestions, information and constructive criticism. If you have any ideas, offer them.

Note: There will be no commission meetings on Wednesday, Jan. 14.

Radio Station

It appears that Ursinus is trying finally to catch up with the outside world. We have been known to be a "backward" college in many instances, but slowly and surely we are progressing. Among the numerous activities that add to our progress is the newly proposed radio station. Most colleges, even the smaller ones, have on-campus radio facilities. We believe that in some remote past Ursinus also had this facility, but it was dropped due to some circumstance or other. Now a group of interested students are trying to reinstate this radio station, but they are worried. They have a fear that the students won't be interested (students have been known to lack interest in a number of activities on this campus). If the students have no interest in a radio station then the idea will be tossed out and the students will lose another opportunity for widening their interests.

In consideration of these facts the people who are sponsoring this radio station are taking a poll and asking the students whether they want a radio station, and if so what type of programs they would like on. It would be a crime if the student body of the college vetoed a radio station, for the simple reason that it will probably be one of the very few positive organizations on campus which the students won't have to work on, but only listen to. This doesn't mean that every student should sit back and show no interest in the organizational aspects of the station—far from it. Those who are interested (and truly interested) should volunteer their help, for it will be needed.

The other members of the student body can sit back, relax, and listen. Instead of hearing rock-and-roll and commercials all day, the students can tune in on the Ursinus station and hear jazz, classical, or popular music. If the students are interested, news of the world and local and campus affairs can also be broadcast over the air. One suggestion the WEEKLY has is that sports events could be covered and broadcast to the students on campus who are not able to attend the event. Ursinus is conspicuous for the lack of attention sports announcers give to it when relating scores of games. Possibly the radio station could interview professors or other members of the administration and campus concerning their views on different subjects.

These are only a few of the suggestions that we have, and we're sure the students have many more. The WEEKLY is highly in favor of the proposed radio station and adds its support to those already behind the program. It is now up to the students to decide whether they are interested in such a worthwhile project. If they do vote yes it would then be a shame for them not to work, and let this organization shrivel away as many organizations and clubs on this campus have already done.

"Student Opinion"

by Anne McWilliams

My interview this week was with Cherrie Soper. Cherrie is a senior and last year she studied at the University of Madrid.

The first thing we talked about was the relationship at Ursinus between the professors and the students. She felt that if a student doesn't get to know his professor it may be because the student doesn't try. She said "The students should really put out more. But I think you can get help from any professor here if you take the trouble. That's one of the things I like best about Ursinus. There is more of a close relationship in American Universities and Colleges than in European ones. Over there it's all business in the classroom; the professor teaches the subject and not the student.

When we discussed degrees, Cherrie said she didn't place too much importance on the Ph.D., but she could see both sides. In her choice of a college, the degrees of the professors as listed in the catalogue didn't mean too much. But to many prospective students and their parents, it does indicate the amount of education and the professional capabilities, though maybe it is not always a true indication.

We were talking about the inferiority complex that is recognizable among a great number of students at Ursinus. Cherrie said, a lot of it is due to misplaced values. "There is too much emphasis on extra-curricular activities here. I like to see our teams win, but I don't think the school's falling into ruins because we have a lousy football team. I don't see why people choose a college for its teams, anyway." When you're off campus, on vacation or such, and someone asks where you go to college, and you reply "Ursinus", and they reply "Where's that?", it puts a dent in your already unsupported pride, and Cherrie and I agreed that this greatly contributes to the mass inferiority complex felt at Ursinus about Ursinus. "I think the history department is excellent; English is pretty good, can't say too much about science, but have heard it's good. I think the language department does pretty well for its facilities, but it could use a language laboratory for conversational purposes.

Academically, I think Ursinus is a very good school. If a student doesn't try to pick snap courses and slide by, he can gain a lot, for there is a lot to offer for the student willing to work. In your junior and senior years especially, there's much opportunity to pick electives after you have completed all your required courses. On the whole, the students, myself included, tend to place some blame on the school for their own shortcomings. It's true, you can only get out of anything what you put into it."

Cherrie said she didn't have too much criticism about Ursinus, but on the whole American School System. She felt that to have some recognition of academic achievements, it's getting to the point where one needs a M.A.; the B.A. no longer means that much. She felt also that a lot of people were graduating from college who shouldn't. It's getting too easy, partly because of the over emphasis on things other than academic pursuits. How about the student who likes to read instead of playing basketball or bridge; he or she is called "out of it" or a "book-worm". There's a tendency for college students and graduates to judge and be too much judged by things other than achievements in learning.

"I think the students here are babied too much. Cuts are ridiculous. We're paying our money, and if we waste it, that's our stupidity. There is no point to cuts. There are some courses you can learn as much from the book as the class. If people did not appear at a class the professor ought to realize there's something wrong with his method of presentation. And if we are going to use the cut system, it should at least be our decision when. If we save them for before or after a vacation, we ought to be able to use them then."

Cherrie thinks that there are enough social activities on campus. There are many programs presented here which are not taken advantage of. "You notice a student getting all upset when no one supports a football game, but few worry because others

"Prof's Opinion"

by Mr. R. MacMurray
Asst. Prof. of Economics

"What do you think of Ursinus as compared with other colleges?" This question assumes that direct comparison can be made—when in fact, it cannot. "How do you think Ursinus achieves its purpose, and what do you think of those purposes, as compared with other colleges' purposes and achievements?" is better designed to elicit the answer you want.

Frankly, I do not have access to sufficient information to make such a pronouncement. Despite that, I do firmly believe in the principles which guide Ursinus, and, in view of:

1. the high marriage, and extremely low divorce rates of Ursinus graduates;
2. the well-dressed and well-fed appearance of alumni and children on a number of Alumni Days;
3. the civic and religious participation of alumni (reported in Alumni Journals);
4. the total absence of criminal prosecution and conviction of alumni (which would be reported in the press);
5. personal knowledge of a number of alumni, I think well of Ursinus College, its purposes, and achievements.

My opinion of students, academically, is recorded at regular intervals. Socially? Certain lack of social grace is obvious, but will no doubt diminish in time. Also some of our student population seems to reflect an unfortunate attitude gaining ground throughout the nation—"What will be done for me?" Not all, mind you, but a few, too many do.

As to "Are you satisfied here?", I do not know what you mean by "satisfied". Establishing a scale of satisfaction, we find a large range, or area, of acceptability, bounded at its extremes by areas or ranges of great satisfaction and great dissatisfaction. I suggest that we never deceive ourselves with the concept of absolute satisfaction. Something can always be improved, and we eventually find that such improvement begins in ourselves.

You ask again, "Are you satisfied here?" Yes, I am greatly satisfied here.

Now "What would you like to change?" For one thing I would like to change the milkops attitude "What can be done for me?" which prevails in so many students. It colors study habits, class participation and social behavior. In the first instance, a number of my students had some reading difficulty earlier in the year. Some of them decided to beat their problem, and have done so, with varying degrees of success. They realized that no one could do it for them—and so they did it for themselves!

In the latter case (social behavior) there is a lot of rot about "The failure of the administration to give us a good athletic program by subsidizing athletics". Good Heavens, it's tough enough to educate, must we also amuse, with paid entertainers?

Realization that it is your own education at stake, that your opportunity to equip yourself to lead a life in the pursuit of happiness, (as meant by the authors and signers of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution) depends upon you, and no one else, should guide your actions here. I'd like to see that attitude in an ever increasing number of students, and I hope to be instrumental in achieving that change.

don't attend the forums or movies or hear the speakers presented at Ursinus. It is the student's fault for not taking advantage of the adequate opportunities here."

"Fraternities and sororities don't do that much. The only good they serve is that they may help bring some kids out who were unknown before, and they make a student feel a part of things. They hurt many people, especially when rushing comes around—they actually have no real purpose. As to chapel, customs and conformity, I'm sick of them! Everywhere, everybody's always talking about them."

"On the whole," Cherrie said, "for the facilities which Ursinus possesses, I think it does a very good job."

Resolutions

by Betty Heale

Happy New Year, Hoppy New Year, Hap- -pey New Year!!! Anyhow, do have a grand one. At this time of year, many of us decide to better ourselves. We start off quite well, but as we go along, our determination usually weakens. We've made a standard revision of resolutions. However, if you're not standard, this doesn't apply to you. As you read these items, don't be discouraged. Remember one thing, there's always next year!

Here's the resolution:
December 31—Get eight hours of sleep each night.

But here's what happens:
January 1—Buy large size of No-Doz.

Dec. 31 — Do all subjects on time. Get a thorough first-hand knowledge of each one.
Jan. 1—Go down to Leary's and buy some College Outline Series books.

Dec. 31—Write home from College once a week.
Jan. 1—Make collect calls home when necessary.

Dec. 31—Be ready on time for all dates.

Jan. 1—Get a copy of Harper's Sports Illustrated, Fortune, or Playboy, according to the interests of your date. Leave the magazine downstairs so he can pass the time fairly happily. However, we offer no solutions on how to pry him away if it proves more interesting than you do.

Dec. 31—Pay strict attention in class; don't fall asleep. It is most embarrassing for all concerned.

Jan. 1—To keep awake, try doodling. Who knows you may prove to be another Leonardo da Vinci—well, anyway you might some day reach Grandma Moses' level.

Dear Editor:
We would like to thank the administration and especially the men in the boiler room for supplying us with an abundance of heat and hot water in the last week. Once again thanks.
The Men of Brodbeck and Curtis

To the Editor:
I want to thank all the students from the bottom of my heart for the beautiful reclining chair that you gave me as a Christmas gift. I never dreamed that I had so many students that loved me; I was emotionally upset with joy: That day I could not sleep all night; I had to wipe tears from my face several times during the night from joy. I said to myself, "Here those boys and girls of mine, coming from an average family of hard working parents who are sacrificing to save some in order to send their children to college, and these boys and girls of mine, from their own spending money, chipped in, in order to buy me that beautiful Christmas gift.

The first night that I laid down on that reclining chair I closed my eyes to rest. There I saw a vision before me with the boys and girls near me with smiles on their faces, saying to me, "Hello, Bell. How are you?", every time they pass by. In that state of mind, how in hell can you stop those tears coming out of my eyes from joy. So I want to send a million thanks to all the boys and girls of mine.
Your sincere Amico,
Bell

SPORTS TALK

On Saturday night Ursinus played its best game of the season only to lose to Haverford in the last two seconds of the game by a score of 65 to 64.

M. W.—Staff

The same afternoon, the Bear wrestling squad came from behind to beat Haverford 18-16. While the various Bear teams have often rallied late in the game to make it close, this is one of the few times in recent seasons in which such a last ditch effort was successful.

Soccer Team Chooses '59 Captains

Last week the Soccer team chose the men who are to be its leaders next season. The co-captains will be Jack Schumacher and Bob Fulton. "Shoey", who was rather a novice at the goalie position at the beginning of this past season, developed quickly under the fire of the opposition.

At the same time the team chose its Most Valuable Player for the past season. He is Robert Schmoyer, who did his work for the team from the fullback position.

Badminton Team Practices for New Season

Hoping to equal its past two season's undefeated records, the girls' badminton team, under the coaching of Jen Shillingford, began practice the week before Thanksgiving vacation.

Coach Shillingford has every varsity player of last year's team returning. These include seniors—Bunny Alexander, Faye Dietrich, Carol LeCato, Liz Wheeler, and Carol Williamson; juniors—Jeanne LeCato and Sandy Rinehart; and sophomore—Carol Heffelfinger.

Returning from last year's junior varsity are sophomores—Robin Forepaugh, Ardith Mum-bauer, Sue Pontius and Adele Statzel. Newcomers who will be challenging for junior varsity positions are Weezie Sperber, Carol Jones, Joni Meszaros, Sharyn Sands, Sandy Stevens, Phil Furst, Leanne Harten, Di-anna Kyak, Phil Longmire, Barbara Peitsch, Kay Ridyard, Janet Schneider, Judy Schultz, Marilyn Sheerbaum, Mimi Schumaker, and Bev Zinger.

Courtmen Drop Close Tilt to Fords by 65-64

Becker Leads Bear Five with 19 Points; Squad Lose to Garnet and Dickinson

The Bears' basketball team, leading in the final minute of play, by virtue of a brilliant second half spurt, lost a 65-64 squeaker to Haverford as the visitors' Larry Foreman sank a two-pointer with only five seconds remaining.

Behind 38-25 at the start of the third quarter, Ursinus whittled away at the lead. Marv Koff hit for two, and so did Wagner and Becker. Koff hit again, and "Inky" nonchalantly lofted a 30-foot set shot through the hoop, cutting the score still more.

Unfortunately for the Bears, the visitors kept a "cool head" and played deliberate ball, looking for the sure basket. It paid off as Haverford reeled off five straight points.

Grapplers Win Over Haverford By 18-16

Amid cries of "Come on Man Mountain", and "Let's go Haystacks", Wally Nielsen came through for a second period pin to give Ursinus a come-from-behind, 18-16 victory in Saturday's season-opening wrestling match.

now playing for the opening, and with Becker doing the "lion's share" of the scoring, Fords were only ahead by one, 54-53. But Haverford was not to be contained as they ran off seven consecutive points.

In the first half, Haverford dominated as they streaked to a 16-5 lead, and the quarter ended 38-25 in favor of the Fords. For the Bears, Becker was high with nineteen big points, followed by Jim Wenhold with 15 counters and 19 rebounds.

Wednesday, Jan. 7. Today the Ursinus netmen traveled to Swarthmore College and stayed there long enough to lose their first game of the new year and fifth game of the season.

The first half went well for the Ursinus team. Playing against a one-two-two defense the netmen clicked. They were able to feed Jim Wenhold who was playing the post position with relative ease.

The second half told a different story. Swarthmore opened the half with a new defense. They dropped another man back to guard Wenhold and set up a two-one-two which proved effective in halting the Bear attack.

"Amico Speaks"

Good evening to everyone and welcome to our annual Christmas party. It is a great pleasure for me to come before you this evening and say a few words about this annual Christmas dance.

As you and I know, Christmas is the celebration of the birth of our Lord Jesus and of joy to the world. It is a special day for reverence and gaiety—for play and for prayer. It is a day among all others when each of us feels closer to the other—family closer to family and the elder closer to the young.

Now then, if we seek happiness we must love each other from the bottom of our hearts, the way our Lord Jesus taught us. We all know that none of us is perfect. Many times we say evil things to each other. Who is going to pass judgment? Only our Lord can do that, not us.

I would like to say a few words about the New Year which is coming soon. You know the old saying, when the new year comes turn over a new page and make a new resolution. Make a promise to yourself not to do this or that, or to do this or that.

Now on my part, the promise that I am going to make for the New Year is this: I am going to adopt all of you as my children. To you it may sound like a silly statement, but to me it is not. Actually it is impossible but spiritually it is possible. When you have the spirit and the will in you, you can overcome many physical obstacles.

Lester Lanin, the No. 1 college bandleader in America, will be leading his entire Epic recording orchestra at the Sunnybrook Ballroom in Pottstown on Jan. 17. This will mark the first time that Lester's danceable music has been made available in this area and a record breaking crowd is expected.

Lester Lanin To Be At Sunnybrook

Lester Lanin, the No. 1 college bandleader in America, will be leading his entire Epic recording orchestra at the Sunnybrook Ballroom in Pottstown on Jan. 17. This will mark the first time that Lester's danceable music has been made available in this area and a record breaking crowd is expected.

Due to the great success of the Epic recording "Lester Lanin Goes to College", released 18 months ago, the society bandman's appeal to college students had increased notably.

Lester's fabulous career began on the Main Line of his native Philadelphia and today extends from coast to coast. The Lanin band travels by air on a schedule that often means Palm Beach one evening, Beverly Hills the next, then, back to New York (his home base) for a mammoth charity ball, on to a debut in Detroit, a wedding in Chicago, a cotillion in Atlanta and a yacht club dance in Nantucket.

The key to Lanin's popularity is, as he calls it, "tailor-made music." For example, playing for a cafe society crowd at El Morocco, where he once held forth, is not the same as playing for a Princeton prom, the college set prefers it slower and dreamier, and far different from playing for a society affair where the music has to have lift, gaiety and party atmosphere.

Lester's popularity has broadened considerably since the release of his first dance album two years ago. His latest release, "Have Band Will Travel", continues along the best selling formulas of his first four albums—popular standards by leading composers played without gimmicks.

were three points behind where they had been nine points in front. The game stayed tight until the last few minutes although the Ursinus basketballers were never able to catch up and take the lead back from the revitalized Swarthmore team.

On Wednesday, Dec. 16, the Ursinus Bears played their second home game of the year. This time it did not fare so well. The netmen lost to Dickinson 72-63.

The first half went along at a slow and even pace. Neither team was able to break far enough into the lead to lose the opposing team in its dust. When either team threatened to break away, the other would rally and quickly even up the score once more.

The second half started off at a much faster pace than that played in the first half. The Bears stuck close to Dickinson, but shortly began to tire. And it soon began to show up in the score. By the fourth quarter the visitors had piled up an eight point lead and were not to be headed from there.

could not pull any closer to the leaders. The final score was 72-63.

The big difference between the two teams was two boys who were playing for Dickinson. Joe Elinski lead both teams with twenty-eight points. He was followed by playmaker John Valenti who hit for 17 points.

Inky Wagner was leading scorer for the Bears with 18 while Jim Wenhold followed him with 11.
