McClure Releases Statement on New Funds for UC

Dr. Norman E. McClure, president of Ursinus College, has announced that during the two fiscal years ending June 30, 1956, $500,000 had been added to the college's endowment funds and that $350,000 more has been added since July 1, 1956. These increases have been made possible by the gifts of nearly two thousand alumni and many others, including several industries in this area. Of these increases, $110,000 is the first installment of a grant made by the Ford Foundation.

Dr. McClure announced also that Ralph F. Wismer, prominent Norristown attorney-at-law and treasurer of Ursinus College, has recently given to the college the four houses at 646, 724, 942, and 944 Main Street, Collegeville. President McClure reported that the Reverend Dr. John Lentz, of Collegeville, former vice-president of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, and a member of the Board of Directors of the college, has recently made a gift of $50,000 to the college; and that Mr. Alves L. Raynor, of Collegeville, has made a gift of $60,000 in memory of his son, Eugene Richard Raynor (1926-1940).

Dr. McClure said that it is expected that three new dormitories, now under construction, which will cost about $1,000,000, and which will house 250 students, will be completed by September, 1957. These new dormitories will enable Ursinus to accommodate a greater number of students on campus.

UC Evaluation to Be Held in Feb.

According to Dean William S. Pettit, Ursinus College is soon to be host to a group of educators from eastern colleges in the final stage of an evaluation and re-accreditation of the College.

The accreditation of American colleges is today conducted by regional organizations, such as the Commission on Higher Education of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools which was founded in 1921 and of which Ursinus College is a charter member. Ursinus has requested that its approval be re-affirmed by the association.

For the past year and a half the faculty and the administrative officers have been engaged in a thorough self-evaluation of all phases of the college's activities — including the academic program, athletics, finances, resources, and alumni affairs. (It is generally believed that a detailed self-scrutiny is a valuable instrument for the improvement of the total program of an institution.)

Now that the study has been completed and an elaborate and complete report prepared, the association has been requested by President N. E. McClure to send a visiting team of teachers and administrators from colleges and universities within the middle states region to the Ursinus campus for a three day period.

The dates which have been set for the visit are February 18, 19, and 20, 1957.

The College has been notified that the team will be composed of the following persons:

- President John C. Adams, Hofstra College, Hempstead, New York
- Dean Joseph J. Romoda, St. Lawrence University, Canton, New York
- Mr. Willard G. Smith, Treasurer and Business Mgr., Houghton College, Houghton, New York
- Dr. L. R. Shero, Prof. of Greek, Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pa.

Committee Begins Work On Campus Chest Plans

According to Joseph W. Atkins, Jr., the chairman of the 1957 Ursinus Campus Chest Committee, plans are now being drawn up for the annual Campus Chest Drive which will take place in the early part of the second semester.

At present, the Campus Chest Committee is preparing a list of the charities toward the support of which the funds raised during the drive will be contributed. Also, they are attempting to decide by what means the money is to be raised and by which methods it is most feasible to publicize the campaign.

As presently constituted, the committee consists of members of the Junior and Senior Classes only; however, the committee members themselves are attempting to arouse interest in the Campus Chest Among members of the Freshman and Sophomore Classes. Persons who wish to become members of the committee should contact the chairman as soon as possible.

WSGA Plan Forum On Student Gov't.

The Women's Student Government Council is formulating plans for an open forum to be held in the spring term for the purpose of answering students' questions and hearing student opinion concerning the Student Government. At the same time, the council hopes to explain the policy of the government. President Betty Taves is planning to conduct the Men's Student Council in order to make the plan into a joint project. The exact date has not yet been set, but the forum will probably take place at the beginning of the second semester.

It was the feeling of the council, according to Miss Taves, that there is dissatisfaction among students concerning the student government. Therefore, the council decided that an open forum would be beneficial to both students and government, that it would promote better understanding and a closer relationship. The members of the council state that they hope that students will seriously consider their questions or problems and will feel free to bring them to this forum.

It was announced that on Sunday, January 27, 1957, there will be a Corporate Communion at 8:00 a.m. for Episcopal students at Ursinus. Following the service there will be a breakfast.

The Communion Service and breakfast will take place at St. James' Episcopal Church in Evansburg.

Washington Trip Planned by WRC

The annual "between semesters" trip has been announced by the World Relatedness Commission of the YM-YWCA. This year, a visit will be made to Washington, D. C., from Monday, February 4 to Wednesday, February 6. Plans are being made by the flexible sight-seeing tour. Dr. D. G. Baker, commission faculty sponsor, will accompany the group.

MSGC Council Discusses Plans for Second Semester

At the last meeting of the Men's Student Government Association council, the fraternity problem and the IFC constitution were again discussed.

Ben Napier's band was acquired for the Lorelei on February 15.

The MSGC asked for cooperation from the students in keeping quiet in the dormitories during the period of final examinations.

A motion was made to install an outside phone booth on campus.

A check list for dances and parties can be obtained from the Committee on Student Activities.

A motion was made to place a speaker in the athletes' dining room and a dispenser outside the coffee room. Members of the council will see if this is possible.

It was noted that the money in a class's treasury could be used in any way the class desired. Also, the dropping of a calendar date is permissible, provided the Committee on Student Activities is informed in advance.

Once again, parking difficulties were discussed. In the future, the owners of cars without stickers will be warned; if they do not procure them a heavy fine will be imposed. The same goes for illegal parking.

Chi Alpha to Hear Views On Evangelism Tonight

According to Fred Kurkowski, the vice-moderator of the Chi Alpha Society, the program for the January meeting of the society will be an informal debate-discussion on the methods of evangelism most suitable to the Ursinus student community.

Society members Lawrence Foard, Jr., and William Kenney will begin the program by presenting their individual views on the topic. Then, each will have an opportunity to discuss the other's argument. Finally, members of the society will be given the chance to question the two panelists.

The meeting itself will be held at 7:30 this evening in the women's day study in the basement of Bomberger Hall.

The members of the Kappa Delta Kappa sorority have expressed their appreciation for the support of the students of this Hungary clothing drive. The American Friends Service Committee reported that 300 pounds of clothing were turned over to them by KDK. The committee stated that any help they receive to relieve suffering and ease tensions among individuals is deeply appreciated.

Last Thursday evening, January 10, 1957, the sisters of KDK had an informal gathering at the Collegville Inn for dinner. The advisors and several alumnae were present to enjoy the smorgasbord with the members.

Noted Showman to Talk at Feb. Forum

The Ursinus College Forum Committee has announced that St. John (pronounced Sin-jin) Terrell of the Lambertville Music Circus will speak at the February session of the forum. He will be one of several speakers whom the committee will present at various times next semester in Bomberger Chapel.

St. John Terrell is probably best known for his contributions to drama and music—especially as an organizer and producer. His first attempt in this regard was in 1939 when he started the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope, Pennsylvania. After a stint as US Air Force pilot in World War II he tried to interest someone in backing him in founding a "music circus." Finally, he was able with the organizing of a music circus at Lambertville, New Jersey, in 1949 to originate a form of entertainment which has become very popular in recent years. In the eight years since 1949, the Lambertville Music Circus has drawn crowds to see such popular shows as Kismet, Wish You Were Here, Carmen Jones and Die Fledermaus.

In the last few years Terrell has brought his music circuses to more and more cities. In 1949 and 1950, he started a music circus in Miami, Florida; in 1951, he started one in Sacramento, California; and, in 1952, one in Neptune, New Jersey, and one in Dallas, Texas.

He has worked on radio, television, and in the movies, too. From 1934, when he portrayed "Jack Armstrong—All-American Boy," to the present, he has always worked as an actor or a producer. His most important film was Tickets Please which he made for Warner Brothers.

St. John Terrell has also made a name for himself in business. He started and is now co-owner and general manager of Rita Terrell Perfumes in New York City.

Some Comments on Culture

One of the concomitants of a college education-in-progress is the opportunity to participate, by one means or another, in the very best that human experience and the human mind have produced, to study or watch or listen to those things which are the finest products of highly civilized living.

Now it is true, as our old friends the complainers point out every so often, that Ursinus does not have a number of endowed lecture and concert series as is the case in some other colleges; nor is there, at present, any ready means of access to the 'cultural opportunities' in nearby Philadelphia. These are facts and cannot be overlooked.

But to argue—and this argument is not unknown—that the college is completely lacking, therefore, in 'cultural opportunities' is fallacious and somewhat stupid. The simple truth of the matter is that Ursinus students have any number of 'cultural opportunities'—too many of which are overlooked only too often.

The extra-curricular program of the college offers more than a few opportunities for cultural advancement, all of which are well-known and well publicized. But the Ursinus Forum remains poorly attended; the record collection in the music room of the library remains unheard by most; and the Lantern remains unread by at least fifty per cent. of the student body.

In the fall of last year, the leaders of the student Worship Commission of the YM-YWCA went to a great deal of expense and trouble to obtain three very excellent speakers as a part of its "Religious Emphasis Week": not over fifty persons heard any one of the talks.

The problem would seem to be not so much one of a lack of 'cultural opportunities' as one of lack of interest in 'cultural opportunities'. Yet we owe it to ourselves, as educated men and women, as civilized beings, to acquaint ourselves with "the very best that human experience and the human mind have produced." Otherwise, we are not educated; we are merely trained.

Not only are a number of cultural opportunities supplied us in various ways, but we are supplied, too, with opportunities for self-expression. But, once again, far too many of us fail to take advantage of what is offered.

The Curtain Club, for example, could expand its program if more people interested in dramatics would join its ranks; Ursinus could have the long talked of Sunday afternoon concerts if enough amateur musicians would become a part of the Music Organizations; the Lantern and the feature page of the Weekly would show much more variety in writing and in thinking if more of the writers on campus would take an active interest in the student publications. Classes and social organizations tend to overdo parties and dances and to forget that shows are a legitimate form of social affair too.

The intellectually profitable seminar-type group is found in only five or six organizations.

The campus community allows far too few to bear the responsibility for far too much—and then, having shirked its own duty to itself, cries about the paucity of 'cultural opportunities.'

If Ursinus is to have a better cultural life—and there is, of course, room for improvement, then the college community cannot be a "community of spectators" any more than it can be a "community of the apathetic" to use the time-honored terminology of the Stoics and Weekly editorial writers.

Letters to Editor

To the Editor:

Your editorial entitled "The Mare's Nest" in the November 12 issue of The Ursinus Weekly has me greatly perturbed. Perhaps you will consider this matter none of my business. On the contrary this is very much my business.

The subject was introduced at our recent annual Alumni Cub and Key Society meeting, and it was discussed at great length. While I can only express my personal feelings in this letter, it is the intention of the Cub and Key to investigate the matter more fully in the hope that we may be able to offer some concrete, constructive program.

You speak of the Ursinus community! Let me quote from the dictionary the definition of the word "community." It is "a body of persons having common rights, interests and privileges." In a democracy we are proud of the freedom with which we may pursue our interests, enjoy our privileges. But we, as a social group, must be constantly solicitous to protect against violation of the rights of others. This is all wrapped up in the term "good citizenship" and is one of the primary objectives of a college education.

Mathematically, we know that the whole is equal to the sum of its parts. This indicates that if Ursinus is to enjoy a good reputation it must be so established through the individual efforts of the student body, the college officials and the alumni. For THIS IS URSINUS.

General conditions today indicate a let down on the part of the individual. It is a difficult job to get people to accept responsibility. It is often a real task to get them to handle regular assignments. Businessmen look with hope to our colleges and universities to provide ma-

"Love Conquereth All"

by Bel Dillio

(Editor's Note: The following article is an extended excerpt from a speech delivered by Mr. Bel Dillio, the custodian of the Thompson-Gay Gymnasium, at the Ursinus employees' Christmas dinner. This excerpt is reprinted here with Mr. Dillio's permission and upon the recommendation of several members of the college faculty.)

Last year, about this time, I came before you and gave a speech about love, friendship and our Lord; I shall continue to speak about love, friendship and it is very important in order to live peacefully among our friends and community. Sometimes people confuse the word "love" with romantic love.

Some time ago, I read an article that Dr. Smiley Blanton wrote, titled "Love or Perish", and here are some of his quotations: "Most people understand love to mean simply love between the sexes. It does mean this but also much more. On the deepest level, love is an instinctive force present in every person from birth to death. It is a profound urge to preserve and extend life by means of union with another living force, and it expresses itself through an exchange of energy that mutually strengthens and rejuvenates. Love is born when the child rests in its mother's arms. From this beginning love grows until it includes the love of family and friends, of the community and country. Love also means love of self. This is an aspect often ignored, yet it is of basic importance, for without healthy self-love, one cannot love anyone else. Love also means Love of God, a love that sustains us when human relationships crumble. That one will perish without love does not mean that everyone without adequate love dies. Many do, for without love the will to live is often impaired to such an extent that a person's resistance is critically lowered and death follows. But most of the time, lack of love makes people depressed, anxious, and without zest for life. They remain lonely and unhappy, without friends or the work they care for. Their life is a barren treadmill, stripped of all creative action and joy."

Now, I want to say a few words about the ones who live and work among us. You people are my guinea pigs! I am watching and listening to what you say and making a comparison to our standard code of good friendship. You and I know very well that if you love a person, you are not going to pass an offensive remark to another person about the person whom you love. It's that person whom you don't think a hell of a lot of (excuse me for using that word), that you pass the offensive remark about. Sooner or later, that person will find it out and, then, he will start to use offensive remarks and, in the end, you will hate each other!!! If there were true love this would not happen. We cannot expect all the people to do things or think the way we do. We are not a machine; we are individuals. We have a mind of our own and act according to our mind. Therefore, if we want other people to respect our opinion (sometimes it may be different from theirs), then we should also respect their opinion. We must practice love toward our friends and neighbors. Start at home first to show to the world that it can be done. . . .

ture men and women who understand the need for individual endeavor and hold sacred personal pride in a job well done.

Business psychologists tell us that habit is 90% attitude, 7% knowledge, 3% skill. What kind of habits will the members of your Ursinus community exhibit when they leave the sanctity of the college and face the world? Congratulations on recognizing the situation and attempting to get action.

Yours very truly,
George E. Saurman,
President
Alumni Cub and Key Society
(Editor's Note: It would seem, to use Mr. Saurman's words, that we can "get action" only by showing individuals that they do have a responsibility—in fact, many responsibilities—to the "community." And therein lies the problem!

The American Theatre: Sophistication or Drama

by W. W. Montgomery

The theatre in the United States has not the Midas touch of by-gone days, there is, rather, a heavy-handed drag in the direction of art that satisfies a few—but which is resulting in an ignorance of the theatre in the youth of today. This ignorance encompasses not only the aesthetic value, but also the practical, tangible rewards which can be gained from the knowledge of plays, players, and the mechanics of the theatre.

New York is the center of the theatre for the United States. True, there must be a hub on which the spokes will attach themselves, but also, the interdependence of one on the other is of primary importance. The aim, or goal, of the young dedicated to the theatre should naturally be centered in New York, but his aim should be able to mature through good, active theatre groups throughout the United States. Of these there are all too few! In the summer, small companies opening up at vacation resorts give mediocre, rushed performances with one "name" star to compensate for the absence of thought and planning.

While production is lavish in New York and try-out towns, the more numerous hometown elements see only a hasty, unconvincing production which can leave little satisfaction no matter how acutely the momentary self-projection of the audience may make the play seem alive. Rural districts, however, seem to have grasped the necessary elements of production, and with numerous amateur groups expending the sweat and tears of production, one step toward the ideal concept of the theatre has been realized. The enthusiasm of these people remains strong only when applied to small local productions, for when a knowledge of the politics of the so-called "real" theatre has been obtained, the obstacles seem unsurmountable, and their knowledge dies in infancy.

The life of the theatre depends upon the quality of plays produced. This statement would appear elementary, but a survey of plays produced in the last few years reveals a dearth of good plays. The theatre is now playing to the audience's taste, which is, of course, fine, but the tendency has been to lower that appreciation instead of building on the foundation.

The so-called city-sophisticates are demanding light, airy, non-argumentative works, and they tend to regard the theatre only as a divertissement between supper and the night club. Small town audiences, who cannot have the great selection of offerings that is given to the city dwellers, tend to choose a timely comedy, or a play that has proven its worth many times.

The last to be satisfied is the student-intellectual who tries to beat "city hall" by wanting to witness that phase of the theatre that has come to us from the past. This interest encompasses the period from Sophocles to Shaw; the weighty themes are absorbed by immature minds. A transposition of the ideal from the city-sophisticate to the student-intellectual would most certainly be an answer.

Writers could remedy the trends of society, but authors have to eat, and the "child" of their pens must be accepted before it can live to support the parent. With the art of conversation steadily declining, a realistic monosyllabic type of play has superseded the witty piece de resistance of our forbearers. Therefore, producers are reluctant to present anything that may appear too controversial because, in order to make money, a play must run a year or more, and the cost of production may prohibit the experiment—hence the artistic successes and financial failures which are the nemesis of producers and "angels."

The future of the theatre lies with the audience. Through gradual conditioning, on the part of the producers and writers, the audience can lift the theatre up; then a revival of interest will take place in our theatre. The play, most certainly, is the thing, and the realization that drama has a recognized place in our society can only be brought about by those individuals who are interested and dedicated to the purpose—and who are not afraid!

Behind the Sporting Scene!

by Bruce MacGregor, Sports Editor

There's no doubt about it — the fans like wrestling! I've never heard such yelling and screaming as I did at last Saturday's wrestling match. Fred Roedel started the ball rolling, bringing the fans to their feet with an unusual but exciting pin over his opponent. Don Knauf put on his usual thrilling performance of unbelievable reversals, staving off several near pins. He ran his opponent to a 15-10 point score before succumbing to a half nelson-body press in the final period.

Then came poor Hooty. Battling a much more experienced wrestler, Hooty's job was not to get pinned. He did everything he knew how to keep off his back, and was successful, to the liking of the crowd. He was the hero of the afternoon, although I doubt if he felt like one at the end of the battle. Then referee Dean Shenton stepped in and admitted an error on his part, disqualifying our hero.

Then the fans stepped in, showing their bad side, by calling the alarmed Mr. Shenton any name they could think of. Shenton admitted his mistake as one of very few in his twenty years of refereeing, but his aggravators were determined to make him pay for his mistake. Let's hope Mr. Shenton doesn't let the words of a few make him think twice before returning to Ursinus.

I was informed last week that gridders Bob Famous, Harry Donnelly and Jerry Nunn had all received Honorable Mention on the Williamson 1956 Little All-American Balanced Poll. This poll, one of the most complete in the nation, was conducted through a vast polling system of colleges all over the nation by the Williamson Rating System of Houston, Texas. This seems to be quite an accomplishment. Donnelly also finished 23rd in the nation in pass receiving revealed in the final Small College N.C.A.A. statistics.

Tonight the Bruin five will attempt to bring home their first victory of the season. They travel to Chester, Pa., to take on the Cadets of P.M.C., who were defeated by Drexel last Saturday night. The matmen travel to Swarthmore tomorrow night in their first night match of the season. The contest will start at 8:00.

Drexel, Delaware Hand J.V. Cagers First Two Defeats

Last Wednesday Coach Reid Watson's junior varsity five dropped their first game of the season to a strong Drexel Jayvee, 79-61.

Leading the Cubs with numerous drives and set shots was freshman Tom Winchester, who clicked for 16 points. Winchester was followed by Jon Myers and Warren Buckingham, each with 11 points.

The Cubs dropped their second tilt of the season last Saturday, being on the short end of a 78-65 final score. Delaware took an early lead and held it through the entire contest, leading 45-33 at halftime. Ursinus freshman Rolph Johnson took scoring honors for the night with 19 points.

Badminton Belles Begin Practice

The badminton Belles, coached by Jen P. Shillingford, have begun their winter practices in preparation for the season's opener next semester. The squad is aiming to equal or better the 5-1 record posted by last year's varsity. The Belles have lost only one match in the past two years, and this lone defeat was at the hands of Swarthmore last year by a 3-2 score.

The squad, in addition to consisting of many promising freshmen, has five veterans returning from last year's varsity. Connie Cross and Vonnie Gros played first and second singles, and Carol LeCato, Pat Woodbury, and Marge Dawkins are returning doubles players. The following are also either varsity or JV hopefuls: Liz Wheeler, Bunny Alexander, Faye Dietrich, Nancy Gilmore, Laura Loncy, Carol Williamson, Barbara Brecht, Carol Anne Gingery, Mary Lou Mook, Jeanne LeCato, Martha Menchey, Sandy Narehood, Anne Markland, Margaret Smith, Sandy Rinehart, Tama Williams, Jane Dunn, Dot McKnight, Sue Wagner, Gail Sangree, and Marylou Adam. Connie Cross is manager and is assisted by Mary Schulz.

Bailey Gains New Post in E.C.A.C.

Professor Thomas D. Bolles, Director of Athletics at Harvard University and president of the Eastern College Athletic Conference recently announced the appointment of Everett M. (Ace) Bailey, Ursinus Athletic Director and Professor of Physical Education, to the Eligibility Committee of the E.C.A.C. for the coming year.

On January 1, 1957 this Conference began its twentieth year of operation with a record total of 107 colleges on the roll of members which it serves.

The Committee on Eligibility is composed of six members and Commissioner Asa Bushnell, and has the sole and exclusive authority to interpret the rules of eligibility of the Conference and to investigate, hear, and determine all disputes arising between members concerning interpretation or application of any or all rules.

Mr. Bailey is Past President of the Middle Atlantic College Athletic Conference, and served on the Executive Committee or as an officer of that organization for the past ten years. He held the position of secretary-treasurer of the Middle Atlantic Wrestling Association for many years until that organization joined with the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate Football Association. Currently he is serving on the board of directors of that group and is a member of the Middle Atlantic Basketball Selection Committee for both the N.C.A.A. College Division and University Division Tournaments.

Heavyweight Forfeit Gives Fords 18-18 Tie With Bruin Matmen Sat.

Before a capacity crowd last Saturday afternoon, the Ursinus grapplers battled the Fords of Haverford to an 18-18 stalemate. It was the heavyweight contest between Bruin matman Hooty Houser and Haverford's Jim Katowitz that decided the tying score, Houser being forced to forfeit the match. It was the opening match for Ursinus, while Haverford holds a 0-2-1 slate.

Roedel and Padula Pin

Haverford's Harry Leeser opened the match with a 123 lb. decision over Bear Don Durr, 6-3. One hundred and thirty-three pounder Fred Roedel gave Ursinus their lead, pinning Malcolm Goggin with a "stack up" in 2:30 of the second period.

Middle Atlantic Champion Dick Padula remained undefeated in college competition pinning Haverford's Gregory Goggin in 1:05 of the second period.

In the 147 pound class, Ursinus' Dick Briner copped a 6-2 decision over Franklin Pennell, while 157 pounder Jack Prutzman followed up with a 3:35 pin over Ford's Gary Olson.

Haverford scored their first pin of the day when Hollis Price put down Ursinus's Don Hartman in 8:40 in the 167 lb. bout. Teammate Ralph Boyd followed up in the 177 lb. contest with an exciting pin over Bruin Don Knauf in :40 of the third period, with a half nelson-body press.

Holding an 18-13 lead, Ursinus sent rookie Hooty Houser into the heavyweight bout against Jim Katowitz. Tiring early, Houser was forced to fight a defensive bout. Valiantly staving off a five point pin, which would tie the match, Houser drew three stalling penalties, but seemingly emerged a loser by decision (11-0). Referee Dean Shenton came back after the end of the match and admitted a mistake on his part in interpreting the "stalling" rules as to penalties. Houser was forced to forfeit the match, giving Haverford five points, thus tying the final score, 18-18.

The Summaries:

123—Harry Leeser, Haverford, decided Don Durr, 6-3.
133—Fred Roedel, Ursinus, pinned Malcolm Goggin, 5:30.
137—Dick Padula, Ursinus, pinned Gregory Goggin, 4:05.

Losing Streak Goes to 7 as Cagers Lose to Drexel, Hens

by Chris Rohm and Warren Rybak

Newcomer Wayne Williams and Bill Delany teamed forces with Dave Burger, Don Sowers, and Walt Christ to help the Bruin five put on their most impressive showing of the current season against Drexel on the home court. The Dragons emerged victorious over the Bruins, 64-49.

The first half was a see-saw battle with the lead changing hands three times. Ursinus took its largest lead late in the second quarter, holding a 27-23 margin. A quick rally from the Dragons gave them a 29-27 lead at intermission.

Dragons Rally in 2nd Half

Drexel continued to hold the lead throughout the second half, with the Bruins only coming as close as three big points. At this point the Dragons began their rally. Sparked by 18 - pointer Charlie Morrow and 12-pointer Bob Buckley, Drexel continued to build its lead, its greatest being at the final buzzer, 15 points.

Captain Dave Burger led the Bruins with 16 points, with Don Sowers and Wayne Williams following up with 12 and 8 points respectively.

Williams also led the field in rebounds, pulling down twelve.

Bruins Drop Seventh

Don Sowers dumped in 20 big points for the Bears in a losing battle against the Blue Hens of Delaware (3-2) on Saturday as Ursinus went down to their seventh straight defeat, two of them in M.A.C. competition. Five of the Blue Hens hit the basket for double figures which was more than enough to overcome the sharp eye of Sowers.

Blue Hens Hold Lead

Delaware took an early lead of 13-4 in the first period. Ursinus failed to come within striking distance and at half-time the score was 38-27, the Blue Hens commanding.

The second half the Hens were stronger yet as they scored 50 more points before the final whistle, while the best the Bears could dunk was 35.

Jimmy Smith with 17 and Skip Crawford with 16 set the mad pace for Delaware and Jack Taylor followed behind Sowers with 17 for the "Grizzly five".

Better than average shooting on both squads helped in the final tally. Ursinus had 37 free throws and dropped in 22 while the Hens toed the line 31 times and made 24.

To the Editor:

Enclosed you will find a receipt for your generous contribution to aid Hungarian students. On behalf of these brave young people who have shown such courage and devotion to the cause of freedom, World University Service thanks you.

I am writing to advise you that as funds are received, they are being cabled to Europe, where a WUS field representative is working among Hungarian students escapees.

WUS is one of three organizations participating in an international coordinating committee set up in Vienna on November 16 by a conference of fourteen National Unions of Students. All programs for aid to Hungarian student refugees are being coordinated by this Committee, which is cooperating with the established voluntary agencies now working in Austria.

Gifts channeled through WUS are being used to provide immediate relief, including maintenance, transportation, clothing, miscellaneous effects, books, instruction materials, and personnel; to establish and operate for three months a special camp for student refugees, who must be housed until they are resettled; to provide basic maintenance when the current one-month feeding program of the Red Cross is terminated; and to meet such long-term needs as resettlement and scholarship aid.

It is still hoped that a way may be found to assure the distribution of relief safely and in accordance with WUS principles to university students remaining in Hungary. At the time of writing, however, such channels do not appear to be assured.

We shall keep you informed of subsequent developments. Meanwhile, you have our deep appreciation for the sympathy and concrete support you have given to these brave and deserving students.

Sincerely yours,
W. J. Kitchen
